"GIVE ME LIBERTY, OR GIVE ME DEATH!" INDEPENDENCE DAY

"Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?
Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me,
GIVE ME LIBERTY, OR GIVE ME DEATH!"

Adoption of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress, July 4, 1776.

Nazi Bombs Kill 20 in Prolonged Raid on Britain

First Attack On Moving Train Kills Engineer

Anti-Aircraft Guns, Fighter Planes Bring Down Six Bombers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON, July 4 (Thursday)—The first German bombing of a moving train in Great Britain killed the engineer with bomb fragments in the climax of prolonged raids unleashed by the Nazi air force yesterday and last night against the British Isles.

Seven persons were reported killed and 77 wounded in the day's aerial attacks, putting the 24-hour total of air raid casualties at 20 dead and 197 wounded.

British anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes brought down six and damaged four of the German bombers that roared solo and in waves in the day-long raids yesterday and last night.

The only passengers on the bombed train were two women and two children.

"It was a miracle that we escaped and I put it down to our presence of mind in crouching near the floor," said one of the women, Mrs. P. Steward.

The toe of her right shoe was blown off. The train was filled with fragments of flying glass.

Mrs. Steward said she heard two explosions, then saw a plane swoop down. A number of bombs were dropped along the tracks.

The sixth Nazi plane to fall was shot down in the evening by a British fighter over southeast England, the air ministry announced.

The raiders ranged all over England, from Scotland to the

1,000 Persons Lost as U-Boat Sinks Liner

Report Most of Those Drowned to Be Nazi, Italian War Prisoners

LONDON, July 3 (AP)—One thousand persons, most of them Italian and German prisoners of war, were reported tonight to have drowned when a German submarine torpedo sank the British liner Arandora Star off Ireland as it was taking 1,500 enemy aliens and others to Canada for internment.

The luxury liner, stripped of her finery for prison-ship service, carried about 1,500 internees and 500 guards. This presumably was the second consignment of prisoners for Canada, where the first contingent arrived last week.

It was attacked just after daylight (presumably yesterday) without any warning, and some of the 1,000 survivors who reached Scotland tonight said many prisoners were killed in a mad fight for places in the lifeboats.

One estimate put the number of prisoners killed at 968.

A German communique had announced the sinking of the 15,501-ton liner a few hours before the bedraggled survivors reached a safe harbor in a Canadian rescue vessel.

Witnesses said the submarine struck without warning but that the heavy loss of life was due to a great degree to the "hysterical scramble" afterward.

The Canadian vessel, first to answer the SOS, reached the scene quickly.

"She loaded herself to the hilt with men plucked from the water by whaler boats she sent out," a survivor said.

Leaders Plan to Converge on Chicago For Formation of Tentative Platform

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—With one principal uncertainty to keep them guessing, democratic leaders prepared today to converge on Chicago at the end of this week, to get a tentative platform on paper before the national convention meets July 15 and to make all arrangements for the big party meeting.

Charles Michelson, publicity director for the party, said that the national committee's headquarters would move on from Washington to the convention city on Sunday, and Senator Wagner (D-NY), in charge of the platform, announced he would follow them a day or so later for pre-convention conferences with other platform drafters.

The one chief uncertainty was, of course, the question whether President Roosevelt would accept the nomination which, for lack of any deterring word from him, the convention is obviously ready to bestow upon him. Other uncertainties deal with the selection of a vice-presidential candidate and details of the platform.

Wagner, who was chairman of the platform committee in 1936 as well, has already been holding some preliminary conferences on the subject and expects to have a rough draft ready to take to Chicago with him early next week.

Associates said it would be a

Let Soldiers Demand Union With Russia

STOCKHOLM, July 3 (AP)—Nearly 10,000 Lithuanian soldiers were reported tonight to have marched from the Kaunas garrison and demanded formal union of their country with Soviet Russia.

The correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen reported from Kaunas that the soldiers congregated in Kaunas sports palace and cheered Russian military speakers. The men were said to have carried huge portraits of Lenin and Stalin, Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and Klementi E. Voroshiloff, chairman of a Russian committee of defense and former war commissar.

Officers attempted briefly to interfere with the demonstration but it was carried out with untoward incident.

The soldiers demanded the removal of reactionaries in the army and it was reported that eight high officers had been discharged.

The new Lithuanian government, like Estonia and Latvia, has begun reorganizing the army along soviet lines, press dispatches said.

Emissaries from Moscow are arriving almost daily to further negotiations with the new Baltic regimes and dispatches from the three capitals list a growing number of discharged officials.

The Tidningen dispatch said that Vice Minister of Agriculture Elsborgas was discharged today for telling the press that Lithuania intended to confiscate large estates.

A Lithuanian spokesman declared the government had not decided the estates question.

The Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet had been informed that the estates were to be broken up among the peasants with no compensation to the owners.

Aftonbladet also was told that political commissars have been assigned to the Lithuanian, Latvian and Estonian armies as a part of their reorganization.

English Ministry of Information Reports Struggle off African Coast Between Former Allies

Action Is Result of Great Britain's Effort to Keep French Navy From Falling Into Axis Hands

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON, July 4 (Thursday)—French and British warships are fighting each other off the north coast of Africa, the British ministry of information reported today, as a result of Great Britain's renewed efforts to keep the navy of her conquered ally, by force or agreement, from falling into the hands of Germany and Italy.

The British reported that a sudden move to place all French warships in British ports under control of the royal navy was completed successfully with "only two casualties."

However, action had to be taken in the locality of Oran, Algeria, because the French admiral in command would not accept British conditions. The ministry of information said the operation off Oran is continuing.

The ministry said action had to be taken against French ships in the vicinity of Oran, on the Mediterranean coast of Algeria, because the French admiral in command there would not accept the British conditions.

The operations of bringing the scattered sections of the French war fleet under British control still are proceeding, the ministry said.

The ministry statement follows:

"It will be recalled that the French government, relying upon the promises of Germany and Italy not to use her fleet against France's former ally, undertook by the terms of the armistice to allow their fleet to pass into the hands of the enemy.

"His majesty's government having lost all faith in promises made by the governments of Germany and Italy felt that they were compelled, not only in their own interests, but also in the hope of restoring the independence of France and the integrity of the French empire, to take steps before it was too late to ensure that the French fleet should not be used against them by the common enemy.

"With this object in view steps were taken in the early morning of July third to place all French men of war in British ports under British control.

"This operation was successfully carried out with only two casualties, which occurred owing to a misunderstanding at the same time French vessels in ports of North Africa were offered certain conditions designed solely for the purpose of keeping them out of German hands.

Fear Use Against Britain
"It was explained to the officer in command that if none of these conditions were accepted Great Britain was prepared to take every step in order to ensure that none of these vessels should be used against her for the future prosecution of the war."

Patriotism Is Fourth Keynote

Expect Preparation for National Defense To Highlight Independence Day

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A solemn theme of patriotism and preparation for national defense is expected to be the keynote of the thousands of Fourth of July celebrations which will be held today.

The traditional fireworks and red-white-and-blue decorations are planned, as usual, but threatening world events are expected to give a significance to the serious side of the celebrations which they have not had in decades.

The declaration of independence, which was approved by congress on this date, will be read tonight

Plan Mass Purchases of Planes, Tanks, Guns

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—Another $5,000,000,000 defense program — to finance the first great stride toward a 50,000-plane air force and to buy tanks and guns in mass production quantities—is to be laid before congress next week.

The plan was approved today by President Roosevelt and his immediate lieutenants of the defense organization. If approved by congress, it will run the section's total defense authorizations and appropriations above $10,000,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt talked the program over with his advisors, while the senate naval committee was voting 9 to 5 to approve the nomination of Col. Frank Knox as his secretary of the navy, the second of two republican cabinet appointees to receive committee endorsement in as many days.

On behalf of the committee majority, a statement was issued that the group would have withheld its approval if it had found Knox to be an "interventionist." Questioning had revealed him to be in favor of "moral and economic" aid to the allies by American citizens and not by the American government, the statement said. It added that he was opposed to any action which would involve this country in the war.

On the senate floor, Senator Barkley (D-Ky) announced that the Knox nomination, and that of Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war—approved yesterday by the military committee—would be brought up next Monday. To the

Nazis Claim British Sought German Action

BERLIN, July 3 (AP)—Documents purporting to show that the allies planned early this year to "bear down" Germany by "cutting off or destroying" the reich's ore and oil sources in foreign countries and entangling neutrals in the war were published here today.

Scandinavia, Rumania, Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia were named as objects of allied attention.

The official German news agency, DNB, said the documents were seized by German troops in the conquest of France.

One of them, purporting to have been signed by Generalissimo Maurice Gamelin three weeks before Germany invaded Denmark and Norway, asserted that "Germany must be forced to come out of its present waiting position."

This urgently advocated activation of the war was to be achieved, DNB quoted Gamelin as recommending, by bombing Russian oil fields and the Russian oil ports of Baku and Batum, by seizing Norwegian harbors to cut the ore supply route from Sweden and by entangling other countries in the war.

Congress has provided money under contract.

The new $5,000,000,000 defense item, which may be divided about equally between outright appropriations and authorizations for later appropriations supplements a total of $5,082,210,080 already approved at this session of congress.

It was predicted that a message would go to congress on the new program next Monday. While most factors involved had been worked out, it was said, several naval angles had still to receive final approval, and hence the delay.

The Packwash of Profound Thinking—

Independence Day--1940

Nothing Significant

Independence Day, 1940.

On this particular day we should be able to think of something significant to say, but that's a tough assignment these days.

Some of them might bear repeating, but the American public has become so accustomed to thinking in terms of significant things that the world has lost its potent suggestiveness.

"Significant thoughts" tumble off the American back like water off a duck's back.

We won't bore anybody with sentimentalities dating to the American Revolution. Nobody today can feel about 1776 as the American founders felt in 1776.

Besides, America just isn't sentimentally inclined.

We shan't attempt to draw a parallel between the American Revolution against England and the American Revolution against Anti-Democratic Influences that fill our modern world.

There are plenty of editors who will do that today, anyway.

And it would be useless to warn the nation against world war mongers, congratulate the nation on its enviable position of peace on this particular day or advise the nation on any of its pressing problems.

We've been doing that for weeks.

Our point of view today isn't intended to be cynical; we'd rather that it be considered realistic, realistic because the significant things that editors say these days have become an American tradition like hot dogs, Saturday night and Charlie McCarthy.

But we're at ease today about a lot of things that may or may not be significant:

That we're spending the day over here, and not within hearing distance of Der Fuehrer, Il Duce or Uncle Joe—over here where if we get killed within the next 48 hours, it probably will be our own fault.

That our desire for a cigaret today, or to see Shirley Temple or Clark Gable won't be thwarted too much by Uncle Sam's tax to hang on to our Lucky Strikes and Hollywood.

That if we want to join the navy tomorrow, we can; if we don't want to, we won't be shot for treason.

That you can get a candy bar for a nickel.

That there's no paper tomorrow.

And that if this discourse turns out to be too insignificant to be worth bothering about, you can have the pleasure of telling the editor so.

We're not cynical. We're just happy about the whole thing.

THE SPIRIT OF '76 IN '40

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

England, Then

RUSSIA for Hitler

WASHINGTON — Hitler has been figuring he would get through with the British and be ready for Russia before September 1—and he has a few interesting things in mind for the Soviets then.

Not ask how such things are known here, but it is the official business of this government to try to find out more than is public knowledge about what is going on in the world.

An ambassador of a Baltic nation rushed to Berlin immediately after the reds moved into Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia. He saw von Ribbentrop and asked for advice as to what his country should do to resist the reds.

Von Ribbentrop suggested a passive course for the present but promised definite help later. He said the German military plan contemplated conquest of Britain and peace there before the end of next month, at which time, Hitler will seek a new understanding with Russia—the kind he has inflicted on France.

He prophesied the establishment of a Hitler puppet government in Moscow, either by revolution or after German invasion. Conquest of the Russian capital might be necessary, and September 1 is a little late in the year for inaugurating military adventures so far north, but he anticipated little resistance from the weak red army.

QUESTION OF SWEDEN

The Baltic bone of contention between Berlin and Moscow is Sweden, as the invisible diplomatic wave lengths report the story. The original von Ribbentrop-Stalin agreement in September apparently did not settle Sweden's future status. (It settled Poland, Ukraine, Bessarabia.) Obviously German ambitions for Sweden have expanded since the start of the war, and especially since the conquest of France. The excuse for whatever Hitler wants to do in Russia can easily be found in that situation.

COFFEE PLANS

The coffee conference, New York agents of South American producers and their governments, sounded authorities here a week ago regarding establishment of a cartel for coffee. The scheme would follow the line of the Stevenson plan which the reconstruction finance corporation is setting up for purchases of rubber and tin.

Word was sent back from on high here through an intermediary that such a project would be looked upon with favor.

A coup of the coffee market would vitally strengthen this hemisphere's economic defenses. Presumably the arrangement would call for the United States to purchase this surplus key crop of South America's second largest nation, our best friend there. Production, price and distribution would be planned. If anyone wanted coffee anywhere in the world they would have to get it here.

GERMAN AIR MIGHT

Latest confidential count has given Germany roughly two to one superiority over the British in the fighting power that both nations can put in the air. The rough estimate included not only planes but pilots and ground crews.

The British defensive system has been further complicated by the length of its coastline. The attacking force could concentrate at a few points, but the British landing fields had to be scattered so as to meet possible threats at every point.

INVASION PLANS

Military scouts have suggested Hitler's war plan probably called for attempted landings at numerous advantageous coastal points in Britain after thorough aerial bombardment. While his military men have not hoped that all of these could be successful, they have figured that if only two or three landing parties were able to establish themselves on British soil temporarily, the bulk of German fighting power could be thrown in behind them at these points.

WILLKIE PUSHERS

A couple of non-Willkie congressmen compared telegrams they received at the Philadelphia republican convention from people back home urging selection of the Hoosier nominee. They changed their minds about the telegrams being manufactured when both were able to identify persons whom they knew could not have been influenced by any lobby.

It's getting so a Hollywood producer doesn't feel he has won his spurs unless he has produced a movie about the life of Abraham Lincoln.

We knew Finland's magnificent showing against Russia would inspire others. Just the other day the lowly Philadelphia Athletics beat the Yankees.

A genius is a man, says Zerk Dumbkopf, who can convince everyone he is great—including his wife.

On the Publishing Front--

PM Laughs at Anything

PM, the New York daily newspaper which appeared for the first time two weeks ago, continues to appear. With no advertising, PM anticipates a subscription list large enough to pay its way.

And PM, tremendously prompted beforehand as something startlingly new in newspaper circles, can take it. Through the comment and letter-to-the-editor columns, the new daily has pointed out that its easy to laugh, even when the laugh is on yourself.

You see a lot of people didn't like PM. They proceeded to write to the editor about it, and the editor (who is Ralph Ingersoll) wasn't at all disturbed.

In reply to the irate customers who declared for example, that PM resembled a cross between the Daily News and a campus weekly, the editor said, "Sorry. That's a cross we'll have to bear."

And that sort of an attitude has a wholesome effect on readers as a whole. It does on us, at least.

But the thing about PM which is most pleasing is its freshness of editorialization, in news AND comment columns. Time-like in its style, PM has things to say, and says them interestingly.

And in so doing, PM illustrates that it really isn't necessary to have anything to say in order to say it interestingly.

So, willing to take the risk that we're on PM's payroll, take a look at this editorial from the issue of June 26. We believe it's at once stimulating and refreshing, not to say downright potent in its competent yet casual satire:

VAIN SEARCH

"Until it becomes your job to read hundreds and hundreds of Letters to the Editor, you can have no idea how many, many things are wrong with the world. Things that, to you, seem utterly harmless and even wholly delightful turn out to be, for others, as loathsome as the black plague or as vicious as a mad dog.

"In fact, after encountering letters that railed against everything from open taxicabs to backgammon, from the Parthenon to Palisades Park, it amused us to try to think of something that everybody must like. The most obvious thing, of course, was a beautiful girl. But while that might go for all the men in the world, it certainly doesn't go for all the women. We have known homely girls (and homely girls' mothers) to whom a beautiful girl was worse than a red rag to a bull. As for the most beautiful girl that ever lived—Helen of Troy—virtually nobody, Trojan or Greek, had a good word to say for her.

Not Money, Either

In one sense, perhaps, everybody likes money. But money isn't a thing; it merely represents all the hundreds of things that we need, and want, and benefit by in life. For a minute we thought we were pretty safe in thinking that everybody liked very cold water on a hot day, or a good warm coat on a cold one. But we ourselves have known people who insisted on "water from the faucet" when the temperature was 99 degrees in the shade; and we have seen health cranks going about in nothing much more than a pair of linen drawers when it was 10 degrees above zero.

"We once even knew a man who didn't like steak; and we have heard that some of her Republican relatives don't like Eleanor Roosevelt.

We Racked Our Brains

"The more we racked our brains, the more we wondered whether anything existed that everybody liked. As a matter of fact, while we were racking our brains we discovered that we ourselves weren't very keen on a great many of the things that appear to be most popular. Fat men, for example, or Jimmy Durante. Not to speak of Southern accents, widow's peaks, watermelon and almost every gadget that was ever invented.

"There are, however, a few things that we can't remember anyone objecting to, and can't believe any one would: Strauss waltzes, or Mickey Mouse, or locomotive engines, or Currier and Ives prints, or wire-haired terrier puppies, or indirect lighting, or thoroughbred horses. But there are probably dozens of people (whom we shall hear from all too soon) who dislike, not one of these, but all of them.

"The search goes on, however. We shall not give up until we have found something—we care not what—that is right in this worst of all possible worlds.—L. K."

A Man About MANHATTAN

Looking for Gold—

And Looking for God

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is, I believe, the root of a sermon or an editorial in this scrap of conversation . . . Carl Erbe and this reporter overheard it the other night at the Riviera bar . . . It was between shows . . . It was about 11 o'clock in the night . . . Four or five men, two of them obviously of Spanish ancestry, were in a little cluster at one end of the bar, talking . . .

"This is what I mean," one of them said, gesturing with his free hand to the crowd. "Look at those people. They are well dressed. They are happy. They drove out here in their own automobiles. The same is true not only in New York but in other sections of this country. Your standard of living is so much higher than ours. Yet my country has many natural resources too. Why have you progressed so far beyond us?"

For a moment, for just one little moment there was one of those infinitesimal fractions of silence that sometimes can seem an eternity; then came the answer.

"Two or three hundred years ago," his companion replied. "The Spaniards landed on your shores, looking for gold . . . About the same time a handful of Puritans landed on these shores, looking for God."

Carl Erbe himself is one of those peculiar and often inexplicable parts that go to make up the world we call Broadway . . . He used to be a hobo . . . For awhile he was a guide in Yellowstone National park . . . He has thirsted in the wide deserts of Mexico, and lingered at sidewalk cafe tables in what used to be Paris . . . A couple of years ago he invited me to take the inland waterway route

Paul Whiteman in Hollywood—

By ROBBIN COULS
HOLLYWOOD — Paul Whiteman brought his genial double chin and band—beg pardon, orchestra—to town to "Strike Up the Band."
His stay, this time, was different. The last time he made a movie in Hollywood he and the gang stayed a while. Their latest visit was for a mere five days, or long enough to do their sequences for the Mickey Rooney-Judy Garland musical. Metro did not bother, as Universal once did, to throw up a lavish rustic bungalow to accommodate them. The movie business has changed, but the King of Jazz, himself, has changed little.
He still doesn't fancy himself as a movie actor, although "The King of Jazz," his one starring picture, finally grossed somewhere around $4,000,000 throughout the world.
"Here's one fiddler," he said, "who isn't looking for a chance to act. If they give me any dialogue, they'll have to tell me how to say it."

Whiteman and orchestra pioneered in making jazz respectable, "way back in the twenties. Through changing musical eras and fads, the plump maestro has stuck to music and shied away from "novelties," while still keeping abreast of the trends. He "says it with music" rather than with the cacophonous beating of chains or the wrecking of kitchen stoves.
The jitterbug, Whiteman observed, is a vanishing species, mostly prevalent now among youngsters of high school and early college years.
In "Strike Up the Band," Rooney plays the leader of an amateur orchestra who is offered a job by Whiteman when the kids take over during an intermission. Mickey, a song-writer and no mean musician himself on the side, learned a few things from Whiteman during his visit.
Mickey was sitting behind the camera tapping a rhythm on his knees, when Whiteman came over and challenged him. "Can you do this one?"
Whiteman sat down and began a complicated series of toe-tappings, hand-clapping, and knee-slappings. Mickey tried it, while a crowd gathered around, and he got nowhere. He tried it again, and again, and still didn't make it.
"That," said Whiteman, "is what I ask my boys when they think they know more about rhythm than I do."

Word Received Here of Recent Weddings of Former Students

G. Herrick, A. Jebens G. Herrick, A. Jebens Among Marriages

Word has been received here recently of the weddings and approaching marriages of university graduates and former students.

Olson-Holbrook

July 13 is the date announced for the wedding of Vinnie Elizabeth Olson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Peter J. Olson of Winnepeg, Manitoba, Can., and John Aridon Holbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal H. Holbrook of Cedar Rapids. The ceremony will be held in the Plymouth Congregational church in Fargo, N. D.

The couple will live in Lakeville, Minn., after Aug. 1. Miss Olson has been teaching in the schools there after having been graduated from Iowa State college at Ames. She is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mr. Holbrook is a graduate of the university here and is affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is now a representative of the Campbell Heating company of Des Moines in Minnesota and North Dakota.

Herrick-Jebens

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Herrick of Pleasant Valley have announced the marriage of their daughter, Gennett, and Arthur B. Jebens, son of Mrs. Anna Jebens of Davenport. The two were married last Tuesday in St. Mark's Lutheran church in Davenport by the Rev. Mark A. Getzendaner officiating.

The bride was graduated from the Davenport high school and received her B.A. degree from the university here. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has taught in the Tipton high school. Mr. Jebens attended the Davenport high school and St. Ambrose college there. He was graduated from the university here and was editor of the Iowa Law Review for two years. He is affiliated with Gamma Eta Gamma legal fraternity and was admitted to the Iowa Bar association in 1939.

The couple will be at home in Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Jebens will do legal work for the League of Minnesota Municipalities at the state university there.

Bode-Lindsay

In a single ring ceremony June 26, Lucile Bode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Bode of Algona and Arthur Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Lindsay of Ft. Dodge, were married in the Sacred Heart church in Ft. Dodge.

Mr. Lindsay was graduated from the university here where he is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity. He is employed in the traffic department of the Brady Transfer and Storage company.

Anthe-Gibson

Beatrice A. Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Gibson of Spencer, and John A. Anthe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Anthe of Emmetsburg, were married June 20 in the Sacred Heart church in Spencer. The couple is now at home at 500 Moorehead street in Ida Grove.

Mr. Anthe attended the university here and is now a linotype operator with the Pioneer Record in Ida Grove.

Nelson-Graber

In a candlelight ceremony Herriet Nelson, daughter of Mrs. Maude Nelson of Story City, and Paul Graber, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Graber of Cedar Falls, were married June 22. The Rev. H. O. Oppedal, assisted by the Rev. Odean Monson, officiated.

After July 10 the couple will be at home in Superior, Wis., where Mr. Graber has a teaching position. He received his M.A. degree from the university here. Mrs. Graber also attended the university.

Goodman-Darling

The Presbyterian church in Leon was the setting for the wedding of Dorothy Goodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goodman of that city, and Stephen George Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Darling of Moline, Ill. The ceremony took place June 25 with the Rev. I. T. Jones of the First Presbyterian church here officiating.

The couple left, after an informal reception on the lawn of the bride's parents' home, for a wedding trip through the Rocky mountains. They will be at home at 706 College here after July 20.

Mrs. Darling is a graduate of the university here and has taught in Longfellow school. Her husband received his B.A. degree from the university college of commerce and is now connected with the Koser real estate company here. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Mrs. Roy Joselyn, and Mrs. Iliot T. Jones and daughters.

Buech-Nelson

The wedding of Dorothy Buech, daughter of Mrs. Clara Buech of Ogden, and Leonard Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nelson of Boone, was held in the Immanuel Lutheran church in Ogden, June 22. The Rev. William Eldien officiated.

The bride attended the Boone junior college and Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls. Mr. Nelson also attended the junior college and was graduated from the university college of law. He is affiliated with Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Phi fraternities.

The couple will live in Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Nelson has recently accepted a position with the Retail Lumberman's Insurance exchange.

Best-Moeller

June 10 was the date of the wedding of Sara Miller Best, daughter of Mrs. Arthur S. Best of Washington, Ky., and Lloyd Moeller of Millersburg, Ky., son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Moeller of Waterloo. The couple was married in the home of the bride's mother and will be at home in Millersburg.

Mr. Moeller was graduated from Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls and received his M.A. degree from the university here. For the past four years he has been an instructor in the Millersburg Military institute. Mrs. Moeller was private secretary to Col. W. R. Nelson, head of the institute.

Indians and Tribe Stop St. Louis, 5 to 2

Indians Get League Lead Back Again

Young Bob Limits Browns to 7 Hits For 13th Triumph

CLEVELAND, July 3 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians called upon young Bob Feller today to stop the St. Louis Browns from kicking them around. Feller responded with a seven-hit, 5 to 2 triumph which returned the Indians to the American league lead they lost to Detroit yesterday.

It was the 13th triumph of the season for the kingpin of Cleveland's casting corps, who whiffed 11 batters and encountered trouble in only the sixth inning. The Browns, who took the series two games to one, tallied both their runs in the sixth on two walks mixed with singles by George McQuinn and Johnny Berardino.

The Indians, meanwhile, pecked away at Pitcher Bob Harris for ten hits to snap their losing streak of three straight. Home run smashes by Ken Keltner and Ray Mack, both with bases empty, paced the Cleveland triumph.

Since Detroit lost a slugfest to Chicago, the Tigers dropped back to second place after only a day as leaders. Cleveland and Detroit tangle in a crucial bargain bill at Detroit tomorrow to determine the July 4 leader, which according to baseball tradition usually ends the year in first place.

The Indians' extra-base hitting didn't hurt their cause any today. Eight of their 10 blows were good for more than a single. In addition to the two homers, Hal Trosky banged out three doubles, Ben Chapman got a pair and Roy Weatherly one. Cleveland, which left 26 men on base in its two previous setbacks to the Browns, was hitting in the clutch today. Only six were left stranded.

Foxx Belts Number 19 Ninth Inning Homer Brings Sox Win Over Athletics, 12-11

BOSTON, July 3 (AP)—The Red Sox spotted the Philadelphia Athletics the first eight runs today and then set off enough fireworks to gain a 12-11 victory that was decided by Captain Jimmy Foxx's ninth inning homer, his 19th of the season.

Insco and Margaret Lawrence became the first equine papa and mama to have a son win the Kentucky derby and a daughter take the equally famed Kentucky Oaks.

Produced Lawrin Lawrin is the couple's most noted offspring. He dominated the 1938 Florida season and came north to the bluegrass classic. Woolf, who at 12 bought a nag for $35 and sold it four months later for $75, sat in a box and is reported to have collected $150,000 in bets for the biggest personal "killing" in derby history.

Not until 1940 did the pasture parents have a daughter of sufficient class to bring home the Oaks, a feat restricted to fillies and which with the derby has been run annually for 66 years.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Only Bidder
- Produced Lawrin
- Golden Touch

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN (Pinch Hitting for Whitney Martin) KANSAS CITY, July 3 (AP)—Herbert M. Woolf wasn't standing in a soup rain with a fork. He was splashing through a real deluge with a roll of bills.

And because he didn't wait for opportunity to knock but took that lady by the hand he acquired the great stallion, Insco, at a horse sale in Kentucky seven years ago for a paltry $500.

Only Bidder Rival bidders for the famed sire were making merry in a hotel and did not see the storm approach. The uninvited Woolf did—and when the cloudburst washed out a pair of bridges he was the only bidder on the right side of the creek.

Officials sought to postpone the auction but Woolf pointed to the law and demanded the animal be put up for bidding as advertised. He forced acceptance of his sole offer and began revitalizing a stable which in 1939 won 120 races with purses totaling $129,774.

Insco and Margaret Lawrence became the first equine papa and mama to have a son win the Kentucky derby and a daughter take the equally famed Kentucky Oaks.

Produced Lawrin Lawrin is the couple's most noted offspring. He dominated the 1938 Florida season and came north to the bluegrass classic.

Not until 1940 did the pasture parents have a daughter of sufficient class to bring home the Oaks, a feat restricted to fillies and which with the derby has been run annually for 66 years.

Soars to New Pole Vault Mark

Cornelius Warmerdam, former Fresno State college athlete, is pictured as he soared to a new world record in the pole vault of 15 feet, 1 1/8 inches. Warmerdam attained the record height, which track experts had believed impossible, during the national A. A. U. meet in Fresno, Cal.

Dale Sleichter Hurls Two-Hit Game Over St. Mary's, 6-4

Brown's Count Four Times In Sixth To Clinch Fast Contest

Fresh from a no-hit triumph at Hills, Dale Sleichter pitched a two-hit game Wednesday morning, enabling Brown's Cleaners to beat St. Mary's, 6 to 4. Although outpitching their opponents, Brown's couldn't pull away until the sixth when they scored four runs to the loser's two.

chiseled on it for a head stone, also produced another great son in Technician who followed Lawrin's successes in Florida. Tomorrow, another Woolf-owned filly—Unerring—competes in the Stars and Stripes handicap at Chicago.

Golden Touch Woolf's golden touch extends to his interests off the track as well. He inherited a two-man clothing store and pyramided it into a group of shops employing 700.

A chance conversation on a train resulted in a theater partnership whose properties were sold a decade later for more than $3,000,000.

Sometimes his luck extends to others. Years ago he owned a colt which he named Conrad Mann in honor of a friend, a national officer of the fraternal order of Eagles. Wolf and his trainer prepared the animal for a surprise start in Chicago.

Original odds were 20 to 1 but shortly before the bugle they skidded to 12 to 1 and then to 8 to 1. Conrad Mann won and paid off at 8 to 5. Only after the race did Wolf learn that delegates to an Eagles convention attended the program and recognized the familiar name as a happy betting omen.

Skipping quickly here and there; Carthage, Mo., in the now defunct Mo-Ark league boasted a pitcher with the name Playfair. Eight months ago Oklahoma and Missouri tangled under leaky skies for the Big Six football title. Now the star of each team is dead. Tackle Justin Bowers was killed in a traffic accident. Renny King, sophomore quarterback whose deluxe punting set up Missouri's winning touchdown, died last week of an infected tooth.

Earl Langkop, who has won both his starts for the Springfield, Mo., Cardinals of the Western association, plays only when the team is at home. The rest of the time he is manager of the district social security office.

Maybe Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland line, was right when he was quoted recently as saying his 1937 Newark Bears could beat his 1940 Indians. Every member of his 1937 squad except Shortstop Nolan Richardson is now in the big leagues. And it is only Richardson's admitted 36 years that keeps him from rejoining his mates.

Dodgers Count in 9th To Trounce Giants, 7-3

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers blasted out six runs in the ninth inning today, four on Peeewe Reese's homer with the bases loaded, to humiliate the New York Giants 7 to 3 and strengthen their grasp on the National league lead.

Joe Medwick Starts Rally Ducky Clouts Homer To Open Inning; Reese Clears Bases

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers blasted out six runs in the ninth inning today, four on Peeewe Reese's homer with the bases loaded, to humiliate the New York Giants 7 to 3 and strengthen their grasp on the National league lead.

Joe Medwick touched off the explosion by hitting the first pitch of the inning into the right field stands for his second homer in two days. The Dodgers pushed across another run to tie the score and then rookie Reese broke up the game.

The Giants got only six hits off three pitchers, all of them and all New York's runs coming in the second and third innings while Whitlow Wyatt was on duty. New York kicked out four singles in the second and three of them were good for a run. In the third Joe Moore doubled, went to third on Babe Young's single and scored on a fly by Danning. Then with two out Medwick dropped Mel Ott's long drive in left center and Pete Coscarart made a second error on the same play while relaying the ball to the plate, allowing Young to score.

For a long time it looked like these runs would be enough and that Medwick would be the goat, even though he had singled and scored Brooklyn's first run on Joe Vosmik's triple in the second stanza.

Carl Hubbell was in good form and allowed only three hits in the first seven innings. But he gave up a couple of singles in the eighth and was removed. Three other hurlers who followed didn't look nearly as good.

Managerial Strategy Walter Brown gave up Medwick's homer in the ninth and then came an exhibition of managerial strategy to get lefthanded batters against righthanded pitchers and vice versa, resulting in such things as manager Leo Durocher inserting himself as a pinchhitter and taking himself out without ever facing a pitch.

Cliff Melton, who faced two batters and gave up two singles at this point, was the losing pitcher although Hy Vandenberg served up the home run ball to Reese. It was Melton's second loss against seven victories. Hugh Casey received credit for the Dodgers' triumph.

Weekly Forum Hears Johnson Talk on Relief

The problem of employment has confronted every civilization and has often been a basic cause for their collapse, declared Dr. Jack T. Jackson of the political science department yesterday afternoon in discussing "Administration of Relief" at the weekly campus forum. Stressing the importance of relief in a nation with 10,000,000 unemployed, Dr. Johnson outlined five probable questions on relief which he thinks will be issues of contention in the next presidential campaign:

1. Have government relief expenditures been intelligent?
  2. Should there be a continuation of the W. P. A.?
  3. Has there been graft in the administration of relief?
  4. Should relief be administered by the state rather than the national government?
  5. Should the various agencies of relief be coordinated into a more unified system?
- Stopping relief to communists, Bund members and aliens tends only to increase the problem of national security, by forcing the members of these groups into the criminal class where they become an even greater menace, according to the forum leader. "When our generation is brought before the high court of history" concluded the speaker, "we will be judged not by our colossal armament program but rather by our solution of the problems of unemployment."

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Albert Brandt, 831 E. Bloomington.

Four Cyclists Pedal to Lake

Leaving here Tuesday, Helen Beye, daughter of Mrs. Howard L. Beye, 422 E. Brown; Betty Ivie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ivie, 127 Melrose; Ann Martin, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, Ridge road, and Marjorie Sidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sidwell, 233 Melrose, are now on the way to Barbou and Devil's lake, Wis., by bicycle. The girls plan to return to Iowa City next Monday.

Increasing Gold Supply Here Produces National Problems

Gold holdings in the United States have jumped from 32 per cent of the world's supply in 1914 to 70 per cent now and seem likely to rise still further.

And the presence of that gold supply has produced national problems, according to Prof. George R. Davies of the University of Iowa business research bureau.

Fears have been expressed that gold may become relatively worthless if Europe goes on a credit standard, but Prof. Davies said that it is unlikely that the world will repudiate gold after the crisis passes. Habits of centuries should revive when chance offers. "With respect to danger of inflation based upon gold, it can be said that inflation arises more from a state of mind than a condition of the treasury. Inflation is both a convenient form of taxation and an easy way of repudiating debt. If the country stoops to such expedients, we shall have inflation, gold or no gold," Professor Davies said.

Restoration of gold to circulation as coin and certificates, advocated this spring by Dean C. A. Phillips of the commerce college, would restrain inflation and strengthen public confidence in the monetary system.

African natives show keen interest in European war, says a cabled story. Maybe they are wondering why European writers refer to them as savages.

Leslie Moore Named Usher By Republicans

Leslie A. Moore of Iowa City has been appointed assistant usher at the republican state convention to be held in Des Moines July 12, it was announced yesterday by Atty. Ed Rte, Johnson county republican chairman. The appointment, the only such one to be made in Johnson county, was made upon the recommendation of Walker D. Hanna of Burlington, first district chairman, and the county chairman.

Old Stone Capitol to Be Honored With Centennial Celebration

Edward Lucas Will Re-Enact Historic Part

Laying of Cornerstone Took Place 100 Years Ago With Ceremony

Iowa's most historic structure, the Old Stone Capitol, will be honored at noon today when hundreds of Iowa Citizens and university students gather, many in festive centennial costumes, for a re-enactment of the laying of the cornerstone which took place just 100 years ago.

Taking the part of his great-grandfather, Robert Lucas, territorial governor, who came from Burlington to take part in the ceremonies a century ago, Atty. Edward Lucas of Iowa City will arrive for today's celebration atop a galloping horse amidst a cavalry escort and a gaily dressed procession.

Organization Site

The organization of the processional will begin at 11:30 a.m. on the corner where Whetstone's drug store No. 1 is now located (former site of the City hotel where Iowa Citizens gathered for the same purpose 100 years ago today).

Young Attorney Lucas will re-enact the role of the late Governor Lucas in the symbolic laying of the cornerstone and in the presentation of the ceremonial address.

Playing the part of Chauncey Swan, "Father of Iowa City," in today's celebration will be Prof. F. C. Ensign of the college of education.

The "reincarnated Chauncey" will offer a few remarks, displaying a copper box similar to that which was buried in the cornerstone a century ago.

Atty. Edward F. Rate of Iowa City, portraying Philander Lee, who took part in the original ceremony, will read the contents of the box which was incast in the cornerstone.

Anniversary Program

Music—Iowa City high school band, William Gower, director.

Invocation—The Rev. Elmer E. Dierks.

Remarks—Prof. Forest C. Ensign of the college of education.

Reading—Atty. Edward F. Rate. Box deposited in cornerstone—Professor Ensign.

Prayer—The Rev. P. J. O'Reilly. Cornerstone laid by—Atty. Edward W. Lucas.

Short Address—Attorney Lucas.

Oration—The Rev. Mr. Dierks. Benediction—The Rev. Father O'Reilly.

Circus Here July 17

Cole Brothers Plan Huge Show Featuring Screen's Western Star

Circus days are here again and Iowa City is included!

The Cole Brothers world-toured circus featuring Ken Maynard, the screen's greatest western star and his wild west congress of rough riders, ropers and frontiersmen, will play in Iowa City Wednesday, July 17, it was announced yesterday.

Advance agents for the show, in Iowa City yesterday to make arrangements, pointed out that the circus is entirely new this year with several additions including the Maynard wild west feature.

Two performances, alike in every detail, will be given here starting at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. and the huge menagerie will be open to patrons one hour ahead of starting time, it was announced.

New wild animals from India, Africa and Singapore together with specimens from the various zoos in America have been added to the menagerie. Over 200 acts are included in this year's show.

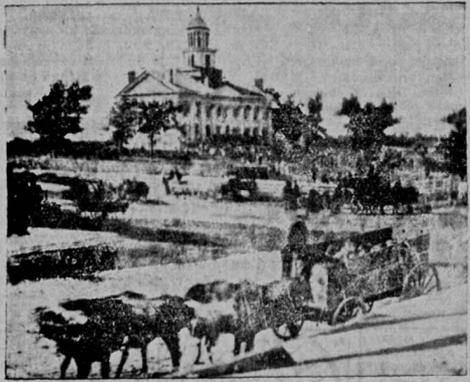

The show travels by train and advance agents yesterday reported that a recent fire in the winter quarters necessitated the purchase of all new canvas, miles of rope and 2,200 stakes, both wood and steel. The circus wagons have all been rebuilt with new painting and other parts.

A downtown ticket office for the purchase of reserved seats and general admission tickets will be open show day at 9 a.m. at Whetstone's drug store number one in addition to the regular ticket office on the grounds.

It's the smart politician who doesn't wait until the political campaign is on before shopping around for a mud-proof vest.

The man at the next desk says there has been an increase in the sale of calendars in Scotland this year—because there is an extra day in it.

Old Capitol—In Years Gone By

Gone for decades now are the days when the Old Stone Capitol, then "desolate building" looking down on the river below, was reached by oxen-carts and horse-drawn buggies—today on the centennial anniversary, the historic structure is the center of university life and administration, symbolic of tradition of which all Iowa is proud.

One Hundred Years Ago Today

The cornerstone of Old Capitol laid 100 years ago today will be the center of the day's centennial celebration with hundreds of Iowa Citizens and university students gathering to pay tribute to the significant piece. Arlene Harris, student from South English, above, stops for a moment to examine the cornerstone.

'Father of Iowa City' C. Swan's Picture Will Be Displayed in Old Capitol

Two historic articles, significant in Iowa's history, will be displayed in Old Capitol today for the first time in connection with the centennial celebration.

Being shown is a picture of Chauncey Swan, "Father of Iowa City," and a panel listing the contents of the Old Capitol cornerstone. Both historic pieces will remain here permanently, officials announced.

The picture on display was copied from the original daguerrotype received by the late Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh last Christmas from Swan's great-grandfather.

Both articles have been framed in wood taken from a wooden-pegged, hand-hewn beam which was removed from the Old Stone Capitol during the process of restoration in 1924, according to Atty. O. A. Byington, chairman of today's celebration.

The story-telling plate added to the frame of the Swan portrait was made under Professor Shambaugh's direction and finished shortly before his death.

It was his wish that the State Historical society, which he served as superintendent and editor for 43 years, should place the picture in Old Capitol on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone.

Start Early Chief Warns Against Speed, Passing

"If you must travel over the Fourth, start early and take your time," advised Police Chief Frank J. Burns, stating that the two greatest contributors to deaths over the Fourth of July holiday are said to be traffic accidents and drownings. The chief especially warned against speeding and taking chances in passing, particularly on curves or hills.

In the United States last July 8,800 people were killed and 800,000 injured in accidents, the

Judge Miller To Be Special Guest Today

To Address Association At Picnic Meeting Following Celebration

Judge Frederic M. Miller of Des Moines, member of the Iowa supreme court and special guest at today's centennial observances, will address the Johnson county Old Settlers association at the picnic-meeting on the university campus following the symbolic laying of the cornerstone.

Twenty-eight Iowa City citizens will present toasts, quoting the eloquent remarks that were offered at the original event, at today's picnic gathering. Members of the toast committee are Atty. Ingalls Swisher and H. I. Jennings.

Group singing led by Mrs. L. G. Lawyer of Iowa City will follow Judge Miller's address. All Iowa Citizens have been urged to come to the festivities wearing their centennial costumes.

The Old Settlers group here in conjunction with the Iowa Historical society sponsors today's centennial celebration.

Children Will See Fireworks

Rotarians Sponsor July 4th Show On Hospital Lawn

A fireworks display for patients of the University children's hospital will be held on the east terrace of the hospital this evening at 7:15, it was announced yesterday by Robert E. Neff, administrator of University hospitals.

The annual fireworks display has been a tradition on the hospital lawn for a great number of years, Mr. Neff said. The display is made possible through funds contributed each year by the Iowa City Rotary club.

All patients who can be moved whether in beds or in chairs are taken outside the hospital onto the lawn to watch the fireworks. Iowa Citizens who wish to watch are welcome, Mr. Neff said, and may occupy terraces around West-lawn or any not occupied by the patients.

Many local persons are expected to watch the hospital display since there will be no other public fireworks display in Iowa City. The show will last about an hour and a half, the administrator said.

Close Public Buildings

Playgrounds, Library, City Hall, Courthouse Will Observe Holiday

In observance of the Fourth of July holiday most business establishments and public buildings in Iowa City will be closed today.

Postal officials announced that there will only be special delivery and parcel post service with no regular city or rural deliveries.

The Johnson county courthouse as well as the city hall will be closed, according to official notice. The public library will also be closed.

Eugene Trowbridge of the recreational center staff stated that all three of Iowa City's playgrounds are to be closed. However, he added that regular activities will be resumed tomorrow.

Iowa City chamber of commerce officials announced that most banks and stores will observe the holiday by closing.

Fourth Quota of Clothing Given by County

When a ship laden with Red Cross supplies for war refugees sails for Europe in September, it will carry the fourth quota of clothing which has been met by the Johnson county Red Cross chapter.

Since September, 1939, this chapter has sent three quotas of clothing and the fourth will be completed in the near future. Mrs. Lou C. Clark, county production chairman, says that the national Red Cross production chairman has reported all Johnson county contributions now in use in Europe.

Included in the fourth completed quota will be 10 women's shawls, 10 men's sweaters, 24 children's sweaters, 15 women's dresses, 30 children's dresses and 20 layettes.

The Red Cross sewing rooms are open every Thursday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Iowa City community building. Here socks and "beanies" are being knitted by volunteer workers.

Also under production in these rooms and in homes and organizations throughout the county is what is known as the permissible hospital list including 20 hospital robes, 20 operating gowns and 10 bed shirts. Forty sweaters are now being made in the county, it was reported.

Organizations which are helping to meet the quota are King's Daughters groups, the home and welfare departments of the Moose ladies, the Scott township group, the Oxford American Legion auxiliary, Methodist Ladies of North Liberty and the Letter Carrier's auxiliary in Iowa City.

All churches in the county are cooperating and Lois C. Corder, director of the school of nursing, and her group of graduate nurses are now working on 18 sweaters.

The war relief drive for funds, of which John Schneider of Iowa City is chairman, closed last Saturday. The chapter goal was $2,840. The national quota is 20 million dollars. The local county quota was originally $1,420 when the national quota was 10 million but was doubled with all others when the national goal was raised.

Donations totaling $2,788.66 were received from the drive up to closing time Saturday. Added to this was $128.43 raised by the rummage sale held all day last Saturday in the Iowa City community building. This figure raised the total collected to $2,917.09, which was $76.91 in excess of the quota which was considered a minimum goal in the drive.

Mrs. E. T. Hubbard was in charge of the rummage sale. At least 200 ladies' dresses, 20 men's suits, 50 women's hats, 100 neckties and various other articles in large numbers were available at the sale.

Red Cross activities in Johnson county are supervised by Chairman C. W. Shellady and Mrs. Martin Pederson, executive chairman.

Johnson county has been recognized as one of the most active in the state in promoting the Red Cross war relief work. When the local drive for funds closed Saturday in excess of the doubled quota, many counties and communities of Iowa, several larger than Iowa City, had not yet reached their quota and some had not even reached their original quota set before the national goal was doubled.

Century Old Formulas

Pharmacy Museum Gets Perfume Book, English Drug List

"The Art of Perfumery" as it was practiced in 1856, a formula book published in 1824, and a yellowed sheet more than a century old listing English drugs, spices and toilet preparations have been added to the veteran druggists' museum at the University of Iowa.

The additions were reported by Dean R. A. Kuever. He also said that the collection was augmented by old mortars of French and German make, discovered by him in the Blue Ridge mountains.

On the English list are such strange items as macassar oil, quince pips, cedar alumettes, ambrosial cream and leeches and leech glasses.

Oldest of the books is a formula "with copious notes" translated from French and published in Philadelphia in 1824. It was presented by Dean Emeritus W. J. Teeters from the library of J. H. Harrison, pioneer Iowan who was active in establishing the college of pharmacy.

Rocket Train Crashes Auto, Injuring Two

Ollie Adams Taken To University Hospital Following Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Adams of West Liberty were injured about 5:30 yesterday afternoon when the westbound Rocky Mountain Rocket struck their automobile at a railroad crossing in West Liberty.

The couple had left the machine when it stalled on the crossing as the train approached but were injured when the streamlined train sent the auto hurtling upon them.

Mr. Adams, 71, most seriously injured, is a retired farmer. He and Mrs. Adams were brought to University hospital in Iowa City where their condition late last night was described as "not serious." Mrs. Adams is 64.

West Liberty authorities reported that the auto in which the two had been riding was not seriously damaged. The train was not delayed and reached Iowa City on the scheduled time.
