BRITISH RAID 'PRE-INVASION' POINTS

HULL TAKES LEADING ROLE IN HAVANA CONFERENCE

Secretary of State Cordell Hull takes a leading role in the conference of the American nations at Havana, Cuba, where by words and action the United States indicated it would throw its full resources to back a program for hemisphere solidarity against totalitarian aggression.

Urge Action Against 'Fifth Column'

Pan-American Conference Asks Unified Defenses

HAVANA, July 24 (AP)—Firm measures to stamp out "fifth column" activities by foreign diplomatic agents or other persons and knit hemisphere defenses were urged advanced tonight by foreign ministers of the American republics.

Proposals before the peace presentation committee headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull included an investigation of diplomatic and consular agents and possible limitation of their immunity privileges.

Simultaneously Cuba went a step ahead of the United States proposal to establish a "collective trusteeship" over western colonies of European nations in the event they are threatened with acquisition by another non-American state.

Cuba suggested that the Pan-American nations issue a declaration warning that "any western hemisphere territory offering permissiveness to any American nation may be occupied by armed American forces."

The United States already has begun investigating foreign consular agents at home and warned the German embassy in Washington in one case that its officials must refrain from public discussion or activity in domestic affairs or leave the country.

Tighter immigration control and close surveillance of aliens within American nations along the lines taken recently in the United States also were believed under consideration.

Means of establishing unified action among the 21 American republics in this island (England) or lose the war."

At that moment, five weeks ago, England's peril was obviously more deadly than it is today, yet her heavy-shouldered, sharp-tongued war leader, "contemplating our dangers with a disillusioned eye," saw no reason "for panic or despair." He cast up the "dread balance sheet" of Britain's chances of winning through and found it

Sudden Windstorm at Okobojo Throws Boats Into Waves

Iowa Citizens at Lake For Laboratory Work Saved by Patrol Boat

ARNOLDS PARK, July 24 (AP)—A sudden windstorm on West Okobojo lake last night proved exciting for Iowa Lakeside Laboratory residents, all of whom are from Iowa City.

Stanley Stolpe and Bob King were operating a passenger sailboat which becalmed early in the evening, so they let off the passengers in the Inn, sent for an outboard motor and started paddling home.

Stolpe and King were hit by the storm and forced ashore near the Inn.

A rescue boat manned by Malcolm MacDonald and Jim Goodrich, meanwhile, was struck in the middle of the lake by the storm and also forced ashore near the Inn.

Dr. L. M. Nolf, resident director, and a crew from the laboratory set out with a launch in search but did not sight the other two craft.

Frank Starr, lake custodian, joined in the search with a patrol boat.

After the storm subsided all were located and returned to the laboratory by automobiles.

Plays 'Cooky-Pushing'
NEW YORK, (AP)—Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia declared yesterday this is no time for "cooky-pushing conferences," and urged the Pan-American conference at Havana to create a Pan-American army and navy.

French Line No Longer Exists, Germans Say

NEW YORK, July 24 (AP)—An official German announcement heard tonight by NBC said the French line, operators of the great liner Normandie and others, "has ceased to exist."

The announcement said the line was ceasing to operate, effective today, because it has no more ships to carry on business. Most of the line's ships were said to have been seized by the British.

A French line official in New York branded the German report as "absolutely wrong information."

"The fact that some of our ships are still moving is evidence that the British will not seize all our ships," he said. "Of the 76 ships under our control at the start of the war, 8 are in the port of New York today and others are on the seas or in other ports such as the West Indies."

"The French line still exists and always will exist, even if under another control. France cannot go on without these ships which are a necessary part of her communications."

Blood for Red Cross
WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Red Cross yesterday announced experimental plans to enlist a nation-wide corps of volunteer blood donors who would become part of the national defense program, if the need should ever arise.

It is only reasonable to assume that neither Hitler nor his generals had actually expected so sudden an end to French resistance, perhaps had made no more than tentative plans for carrying the fight to England. It will be turned out that the very speed with which France was crushed operated to give England time to make the necessary readjustments in her defense system.

Perhaps German propagandists, or the prevailing weather in the temperamental North sea and English channel, have had much to do with the five-week delay in the Nazi assault. Hitler and his aides, by postponing the zero hour and offering Britain a chance to come to the fuesher's unstated peace terms, may have hoped to blunt the British charge that the nazis are utterly ruthless.

German Control of Rumanian Oil Provides Material for Nazi Army

British Stocks Of Petroleum Within Reach

National Commissioner Of Pro-Nazi Power Controls Distribution

BUCHAREST, July 24 (AP)—Rumania's pro-Nazi government took over operation of the country's largest oil company tonight, thereby placing huge stocks of British-produced petroleum within reach of Germany's mechanized forces.

Orders placing the $15,000,000 Astra-Romana corporation under a national oil commissioner with full powers over production and distribution came a few hours before the departure of Premier Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Manoilescu for a conference with Adolf Hitler and his Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop at Salzburg.

An officially inspired editorial in the government-controlled press tomorrow will say that the "basic idea" of these visits is the "preservation of peace in the Balkans and Danube basin . . . Rumania's ties with Germany and Italy will become ever stronger."

An indication that Rumania is moving rapidly to improve relations with Russia before the Salzburg conference was seen in a reliable report that the Soviet has agreed to the appointment of Grigore Gafencu as minister to Moscow.

Large quantities of oil in storage will become available to Germany under the new arrangement. Because of previous refusal of British and Dutch companies to ship oil to Germany and because of the closure of the Mediterranean export route by Italy's entrance into the war, vast oil stores have accumulated.

The Astra-Romana has the largest reserves of any company. Today's action coincided with publication here of the German white book purporting to expose Franco-British plans to wreck wells and refineries rather than permit Germany to get the oil.

Tonight Rumanian army sentries continued to guard the oil fields against sabotage. British sources said they expected the next move would be to requisition scores of British-owned or chartered Danube barges.

Early in the war the British leased all available river craft to keep them from Germany. Recently Rumania soldiers were placed aboard 50 of these boats and they were forbidden to leave port.

By requisitioning these tugs and barges additional transport facilities would be provided for Germany.

Anti-Aircraft Shells Kill 2 In Rome Alarm

ROME, July 24 (AP)—A man and woman were killed and four other persons were injured today by fragments of their own defenders' anti-aircraft shells in a false alarm air raid scare in ancient Rome.

High Temperature Record for Season Shattered at Many Points in Midwest

DES MOINES, July 24 (AP)—A break in the heat wave is in prospect for Iowans.

For the first time in seven days, the weather bureau had a word of cheer for sweltering Iowans tonight when it forecast:

Partly cloudy, widely scattered thundershowers Thursday and Friday; cooler in north and west Thursday and in east and south Friday.

If cooler weather comes to the state tomorrow, it will be on the heels of the hottest day of the year.

The mercury climbed to an unofficial top of 110 degrees at Logan in western Iowa, today as three more persons died of heat prostration.

The state's corn crop has been endangered by the prolonged wave of 100-degree temperatures.

Previous high temperature records for the season were shattered at many points in the midwest and no general relief was in prospect.

The total of deaths attributed directly and indirectly to the sultry spell—now eight days old in some prairie states—was increased to 280. These included 96 heat fatalities and 184 drownings.

Among the new marks for the summer were: Chicago, 101; Milwaukee, 100; Detroit and Springfield, Ill., 98; Indianapolis, 95. On Ohio's record-breaking list were: Cincinnati, 97.2; Youngstown, 96; Dayton, 95; Columbus, 94.8; Toledo, 94.

Readings of 104 or more were registered across Nebraska.

The mercury column also moved toward the top of thermometers in these places: Athens, Kan., 110; Overton, Neb., 109; Lincoln, Neb., 108; Clarion, Ia., 104; Joliet and Rurora, Ill., 102; Rockford, Ill., La Porte, Ind., Sandusky, O., and Des Moines, 103.

A half dozen deaths were reported in Chicago on the sixth consecutive day of temperatures of more than 90 degrees. Citizens there were using nine carloads of lemons and limes a day. The daily attendance at beaches averaged 1,000,000. The water works pumped 1,366,950,000 gallons in a 24-hour period—an all-time peak.

General Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate committee, in talking to reporters, defined a "conscientious objector" as one who could prove that he was opposed to war on religious grounds. Such exemptions during the World war, he said, were based upon memberships in churches whose creeds forbade military service rather than upon individual religious views.

Sheppard explained, however, that while "conscientious objectors" would not be required to take combat training, they would be subject to other forms of defense service.

Unemployed, Well-to-Do
Selection of draftees, Sheppard said, would be made on the basis of those who could "best afford to go." When a reporter asked if this might not result in obtaining most of the trainees from the ranks of the poor and jobless, Sheppard replied that some of the "well-to-do" also were unemployed.

Counter-Punching Air and Sea Forces Smash Back at Places Nazis May Use as Raid Bases

American-Made Dive Bomber Seized by Nazis From French Shot Down by British Spitfires in Battle

LONDON, July 25 (Thursday) (AP)—An American-made dive bomber seized by the Germans from the French was shot down yesterday and another was damaged by British Spitfires in fierce bomb raid battles which cost the nazis 12 planes.

At least two raiders were brought down by coastal anti-aircraft guns and the rest by fighting planes as the raiders struck hard at England ports and sea lanes all day long.

Counter-punching British air and sea forces smashed back at boats and take-off points the Germans are spreading hastily along the eastern North sea in "pre-invasion" readiness.

The British air ministry, claiming success often against heavy odds for Britain's fast little Spitfires, said that American-made planes, identified as "Chance Vought 156's," were encountered at least twice in the German raiding formations.

The American planes were the first of the wartime deliveries to France reported seen in action against England.

The British claimed that at least three of the fighter escort were downed in the attacks to get at the bombing planes.

The first American plane was described as swirling into a spin and plunging into the sea. The second's wing was damaged badly by gunfire.

Again and again throughout the day the "barrier line" of high-flying British defense planes dived into dogfights to drive waves of German Heinkel, Dornier and Junker bombers and Messerschmitt fighters from attacks on ship convoys.

"It was a Spitfire day," the air ministry declared, in contrast to recent days in which the British Hurricanes have carried the brunt of the defense load.

Beating Off Attack
"Since the small hours of the morning (Wednesday)," the air ministry said, "Spitfires and anti-aircraft guns have been beating off the attacks of German bombers, fighters and mine laying aircraft on ships and shipping. Up to the early evening they were still successfully destroying and beating off the enemy."

Flying and fighting conditions were poor. Planes dodged in and out of heavy clouds and struck

Defense Plan Excludes Men With Families

Religion, Industry To Hold Back Many From Army's Call

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Men with dependents were assured today that they would not be drafted for military training in time of peace under the army's conscription program, while the senate military committee virtually decided to exempt "conscientious objectors" from combat training.

The assurance to men with dependents was given by Brig. Gen. William E. Shedd, assistant chief of staff, while he was testifying before the house military committee in support of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory training bill. This measure was approved with revisions by the senate committee yesterday.

General Shedd also said that provision had been made to place in a "deferred" classification all men "essential to industry."

"Conscientious Objectors"
Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate committee, in talking to reporters, defined a "conscientious objector" as one who could prove that he was opposed to war on religious grounds. Such exemptions during the World war, he said, were based upon memberships in churches whose creeds forbade military service rather than upon individual religious views.

Sheppard explained, however, that while "conscientious objectors" would not be required to take combat training, they would be subject to other forms of defense service.

Unemployed, Well-to-Do
Selection of draftees, Sheppard said, would be made on the basis of those who could "best afford to go." When a reporter asked if this might not result in obtaining most of the trainees from the ranks of the poor and jobless, Sheppard replied that some of the "well-to-do" also were unemployed.

General Shedd's observation on men with dependents was in reply to a question on how the war department proposed to protect a married man, subject to a year of military training, if he were making payments on a home or life insurance.

After saying that "never in peace-time" would such persons

Psychological Preparation

German Propaganda Machine Prepares For Total Onslaught

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—The German propaganda machine tonight over England in intense, psychological preparation for what the reich expects to be the air onslaught.

The air force, deadly striking arm of this prelude to the real battle for Britain, struck with new fury at Britain and her sea-borne commerce.

Even as new German bombers fell, however, dispatches from German-occupied Holland said 50 persons were killed and many injured last night in a British air raid on Amersfort, heart of the invaded Dutch defense system, with two others killed at a town north of Amsterdam.

Of Germany's own air exploits, the high command reported 31,000 tons of British commercial shipping destroyed in the last 48 hours.

Vitriolic denunciation of the British ruling class poured into the ears of the radio listeners. The official broadcaster excoriated England's leaders as "vermin equipped with umbrellas and top-hats," a "pack of criminals."

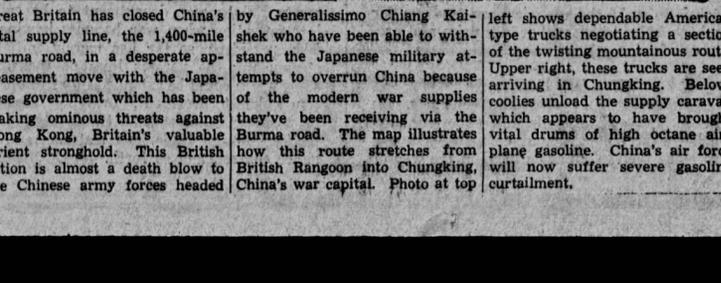

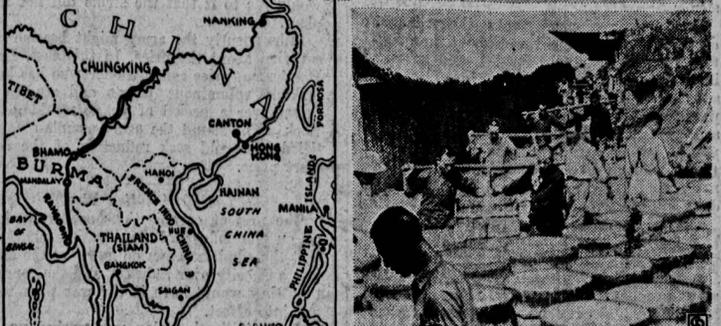

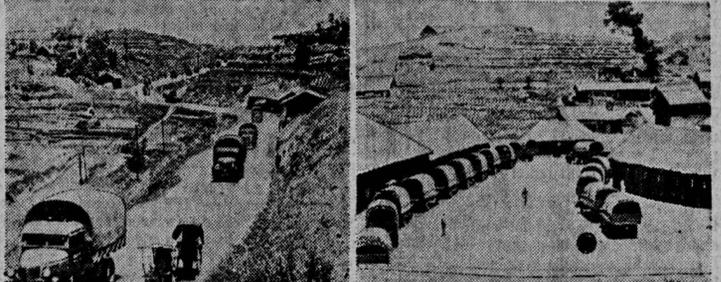

These "plutocrats," he said, were a voracious rabble who sent their children to Canada while millions others suffered from malnutrition.

Great Britain has closed China's vital supply line, the 1,400-mile Burma road, in a desperate appeasement move with the Japanese government which has been making ominous threats against Hong Kong, Britain's valuable Orient stronghold. This British action is almost a death blow to the Chinese army forces headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek who have been able to withstand the Japanese military attempts to overrun China because of the modern war supplies they've been receiving via the Burma road. The map illustrates how this route stretches from British Rangoon into Chungking, China's war capital. Photo at top left shows dependable American type trucks negotiating a section of the twisting mountainous route. Upper right, these trucks are seen arriving in Chungking. Below, coolies unload the supply caravan which appears to have brought vital drums of high octane airplane gasoline. China's air force will now suffer severe gasoline curtailment.

Kinnick Receives More Than Million Votes for Halfback

Prasse Third Among Ends; Evans, Dean Fifth In Respective Positions; Southern Cal Rates Three

BY TOM SILER

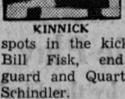

CHICAGO, July 24 (AP)—The nation's football fans paid eloquent tribute to Southern California's great 1939 eleven by placing three Trojans in the starting lineup for the college all-stars' game with the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Aug. 29.

A total of over 6,575,957 votes were cast in 47 states, determining the personnel of the 72-player squad for the annual charity spectacle between the college seniors of last fall and the pro champions.

The players who received the largest total of votes at their respective positions compose the starting lineup.

Nile Kinnick of Iowa, who spark-plugged the Hawkeye machine to dazzling heights, was the only player to poll more than a million votes, leading the halfbacks with 1,189,076 votes.

Bill Prasse, end of the Hawkeye machine, was the only player to poll more than a million votes, leading the halfbacks with 1,189,076 votes.

The three Trojans accorded spots in the kickoff group were Bill Fisk, end; Harry Smith, guard and Quarterback Ambrose Schindler.

The complete starting lineup with vote totals follows: Ends—Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State, 792,827; Joe Boyd, Texas A. and M., 773,256.

Guards—Smith, 846,318; Jim Logan, Indiana, 781,947.

Center—Clayde Turner, Hardin-Simmons, 784,993.

Halfbacks—Kinnick, 1,189,076; Lou Brock, Purdue, 963,482.

Fullback—Joe Thesing, Notre Dame, 981,276.

Southern California placed three others on the squad, giving them six in all, one less than Notre Dame, which led in this respect.

The collegians will gather at Evanston, Ill., Aug. 11 to begin 18 days of practice, the same period allotted the Packers to prepare for the game.

28,916 Ballots Cast Yesterday For Dr. Eddie

A total of 28,916 votes were cast for Dr. Eddie Anderson by eastern Iowa grid fans to The Daily Iowan yesterday as the first day's poll to pick the college all-star coach came to an end.

Of this number, over 20,000 had been sent in to The Daily Iowan days before the poll officially opened and had been held back until today.

The top five coaches in the standings at the end of the poll will be invited to attend the two-week training period, and make up the coaching staff for the college all-stars, who were announced yesterday.

The all-stars will play the Green Bay Packers in a charity game on Soldier's field, Chicago, the night of Aug. 29.

There is one restriction to the top five coaches rule, however. Only one coach from the Big Ten may serve on the staff, and likewise, only one coach from the four other sections of the country.

State Women's Favorites Go Into 3rd Round

DES MOINES, July 25 (AP)—Six out-of-towners and two Des Moines stars reached the third round in the state women's golf tournament after all but one of the favorites survived the blistering pace of the second round at Wakonda here today.

Suzanne Ill, former city champion, provided the second round's only upset by eliminating Jo MacRae of Ames, a leading contender, 1 up in a 19-hole match.

Young Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, tournament medalist and favorite, smashed out a two-ender par 39 on the outside to down Mrs. Dave Bonella of Ottumwa, 8 and 7. The 15-year-old Atlantic girl, helped by a conceded duce on the ninth hole, was two under par for 12 holes.

Miss Ill meets Indy Morton of Okoboji, a medalist three times in the last five years, who whipped Mrs. Carla Logan of Keokuk, 7 and 6. Indy shot a 44 on the outside nine.

Kathleen Carey of Cedar Rapids, a potential darkhorse, moved into the third round by smothering Mrs. K. D. Stone, also of Des Moines, 6 and 4. Out in 42, Miss Carey was two over par for the 14-hole match. She meets Mrs. Henry Nollen of Des Moines tomorrow.

Mrs. Nollen, several times Des Moines city champion, had to go an extra hole to defeat Mary Ann Finch, also of Des Moines, 1 up in 19 holes.

In the other remaining match tomorrow, Mrs. H. R. Staats of Davenport will meet Mrs. Fred Faurout of Fairfield.

Weatherly's Two-Run Homer Gives Indians Fifth Straight

CLEVELAND, July 24 (AP)—Roy Weatherly's two-run homer was the decisive factor today as the Cleveland Indians turned in their fifth straight triumph to stay a half game behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers.

Southpaw Al Smith received credit for the 7 to 6 victory over Philadelphia.

Neither Chubby Dean, the Athletics' starter, nor Smith, who posted his tenth triumph of the season, went the distance. The Tribe gained a 7-1 lead off Dean and Herman Besse before the Athletics rallied for five runs in the sixth, sending Smith to the showers.

Bob Feller, kingpin of the Cleveland mound staff, was hit in the face by a thrown ball during a pre-game practice but was not seriously hurt and warmed up in the bullpen in the eighth inning. A moist towel was applied for a time to his left cheek and jaw after he walked in the way of a practice throw by Keith Monroe, a rookie sandlotter working with the Indians.

Lewis Urges Concentrated Campaigns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis, chairman of labor non-partisan league and CIO chief, directed league officials to concentrate on the congressional campaigns in a letter which gave no indication of his stand on the presidential nominees.

"Under the guise of spurious ideals, the great gains made by labor are today threatened as never before," Lewis wrote. "Regardless of who may be the next president of the United States, we are confronted with this fact: if the men and women who are elected to the halls of congress cannot be depended upon to support the welfare of the people through legislation, no man in however high an office can or will give labor what it needs."

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said he was forming an organization to oppose a third term for President Roosevelt while former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri announced in Kansas City that a "flood of applications for participation" in an anti-third term meeting scheduled for tomorrow in Chicago had led him to postpone the session. A larger one will be held later, he said.

The republican national committee made public a telegram from Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, wife of the secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration, endorsing Wendell Willkie, and a statement from Dr. F. L. Gullickson, Wisconsin republican chairman, predicting a republican "sweep" in his state.

In connection with President Roosevelt's press conference criticism yesterday of John W. Hanes, who has announced for Willkie, the republican committee distributed the letter Mr. Roosevelt wrote Hanes Dec. 22 when he resigned the undersecretary of the treasury.

It quoted the president as expressing to Hanes "my deep sincere gratitude for the conscientious, loyal and able service you have rendered to the government and to this administration."

SALT LAKE CITY—Willkie told a press conference that the president was "climbing down just slightly from his lofty pedestal" as the campaign progressed. The republican nominee also made public a pledge of support from some Alabama democrats.

CHICAGO—Secretary Wallace said in a speech that agriculture was better prepared for war than any other section of American life. He disclosed to reporters that the speech he prepared for the democratic convention but did not deliver contained a plea for party unity and a tribute to James A. Farley.

James Roosevelt, the president's eldest son, said in an interview that he probably would do some campaigning for his father, "but with my investments running into a good many dollars I will have to stick pretty close to business."

SPARTANBURG, S. C.—Senator Byrnes (D-SC) said he had asked party leaders to eliminate him from consideration for the post of democratic national chairman, from which Farley is to resign next month.

Johnny to Be In the Army

A 'Shadow' Awaits Word From Congress To Start Ball Rolling

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP)—Awaiting only the word from congress, a "shadow" organization of some 450 men, which could be expanded to a million in possibly a week, stands ready to convert American boys into soldiers.

Authorized originally for wartime emergency, the organization would now be used, under the terms of the Burke-Wadsworth bill pending in congress, to select men for compulsory peace-time service. The bill incorporates the general principles of the organization.

Beginning at the top, it would work this way:

A joint army and navy committee, which has been evolving draft plans for many years, would become the nucleus of a national headquarters, to which 100 trained reserve officers could be assigned immediately.

Under the direction of state governors, some 350 state staff officers would form the nucleus of state organizations.

The governors would appoint a total of 6,500 local selective service boards, about one to each county or each geographical unit of 30,000 population.

In addition, doctors would be appointed as medical examiners, lawyers as appeal agents, etc.—a total of about 200,000 administrative officials for the whole country.

To conduct the one-day registration of men of military age—probably from 21 to 31 in the first call—some 700,000 registrars would be designated, probably from among election officials. Many reserve and national guard officers who have been trained in selective service also would be employed.

According to a 1933 version of the selective service law, it would take only seven days to set up this organization and to print some 38,500,000 forms to register each of the 11,000,000-odd young men in the first group called.

Most states already have drawn maps showing the local board areas. Many are reported to have begun drafting preliminary lists of administrative personnel. All of them would have copies of the forms which would be used unless congress makes some change in them.

If and when the call for registration is issued, this is what will happen, as outlined in an army-navy pamphlet:

Men in the prescribed age group will go to their election precincts—123,000 in all—to register. Registration cards will be collected by county clerks, who will distribute them to the local boards, which will shuffle the cards and give them serial numbers.

Without seeing any man's name, national headquarters will make up a list of numbers by drawing them in a lottery in Washington,

Commanding Officer Reveals Medical Regiment Promotions In Company G, National Guard

Four promotions in the Iowa City company G of the 136th medical regiment of the Iowa national guard have been announced by Dr. E. W. Paulus, commanding officer of the local hospital company.

Donald Rogers was advanced from corporal to the position of sergeant, Walter Brown, from first class private to corporal, and George Hertz and Darwin Cox both were advanced to first class privates.

The Iowa City unit now consists of 64 enlisted men and six officers. The group, along with troop I, 113 cavalry, will leave Aug. 4 for a three-week annual encampment at Camp Ripley, Minn.

The Iowa City company G, along with company H of Cedar Rapids, will cooperate in operating the national guard hospital during the encampment period. The Cedar Rapids group, newly formed last year, now has the same enlistment as the local unit.

Officers in charge of the Iowa City company are, in addition to Dr. Paulus, Capt. Vernon Petersen and Capt. Kenneth Brinkhous, medical officers; Capt. George Easton, dental officer; Lieut. Robert Prentis, medical officer, and Lieut. Earl Gifford, medical administrator. Maj. A. S. Fournier of Iowa City is commanding officer of the battalion which includes the two sister companies, G of Iowa City and H of Cedar Rapids.

Dr. Paulus explained that the function of a hospital company is to operate a mobile hospital for the care of casualties during combat. Each company has a maximum capacity of 250 beds and 15 tents.

The local company, he said, specializes in three kinds of treatment—gassing cases, minor surgical cases and shock cases. Each of these specialized branches has separate tents and a specially trained staff on duty. Wounded men are classified into one of these fields of treatment as they are brought in and each man in the company has his own special duty to carry out in caring for a patient.

The company is divided into three platoons and a headquarters section. The first is the technical platoon including the specially trained men such as medical specialists. The second is the ward platoon including men trained in nursing service and the third is the transport platoon.

The transport platoon is responsible for moving hospital equipment to keep up with troops. Included in this are truck drivers and mechanics. They dismantle, load, unload and set up all hospital equipment.

The headquarters section includes cooks and clerks. Lieutenant Prentis is in charge of the gas and shock case divisions of the local company and Captain Petersen is supervisor of the surgical division.

The Iowa City company was established in about 1922 as an ambulance company.

be required to serve, Shedd proposed that the legislation contain a declaration that employees drafted for the service be given their jobs back at the expiration of training. This prompted Representative Wadsworth (R-NY) to offer an amendment providing that draftees be issued certificates upon completion of service and declaring that men with such certificates "ought to be re-employed" unless the "employers' circumstances" had changed so that re-employment was impossible.

Secretary of the Navy Knox, in discussing defense preparations, told a press conference that a plan was under construction to move skilled workers from the interior to shipbuilding centers. This, he said, would be preferable to attempting to train workers near the shipyards.

Worker Shortage
 Knox said that he and Sidney Hillman, a national defense commissioner, believed there would be a shortage of certain types of ship workers.

The senate committee, Shepard said, also agreed to excuse from training, while they held office, such "policy making" public officials as the vice-president, cabinet officers, judges of federal and state courts, and members of federal and state legislatures. Deferment would not be granted to purely administrative officials, he said.

The committee approved a section authorizing the president to defer training and service of those men "whose employment in industry, agriculture or other occupations is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest," and also regularly or duly ordained ministers.

"Fast Debate"
 Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, followed General Shedd before the house committee. He termed compulsory military training "the best means I can see at the present time to keep us out of trouble."

Asserting that it was impossible to recruit an adequate army by the voluntary method, Marshall said:

"It seems that compulsory training is so necessary that it is almost past a time of debate."

Answering questions, Marshall expressed the opinion that some form of compulsory legislation should become permanent.

Court O.K.'s Annual Report Of Two Banks

Records Put on File Release Summerwill In Hearing Yesterday

Annual reports of the closed Iowa City Savings bank and the Johnson County Savings bank as of June 30, 1939, and June 30, 1940, were approved yesterday in district court by Judge Harold D. Evans.

The 1939 reports for the two banks were scheduled for hearing at 9 a. m. yesterday and the 1940 reports at 2 p. m. No objections appeared and the reports were placed on file following the court's approval.

The reports also included orders discharging Ben S. Summerwill as examiner-in-charge of the Iowa City receiverships releasing him from any further liability or responsibility.

In filing the reports, D. W. Bates, state superintendent of banking, explained that the reports for 1939 were prepared over a year ago but were not filed because of "certain pending matters which have since been concluded."

The final report for 1939 of the Johnson County Savings bank revealed cash on hand amounting to $39,535.10. In the corresponding report, the Iowa City Savings bank reported cash on hand at $25,100.41.

The reports for June 30, 1940 and men will be called to service in that order.

Meanwhile, each registrant will receive a questionnaire to be returned in five days. On the basis of the questionnaires, the local board will classify men as (1) available for immediate service, (2) deferred because of employment in a vital industry, (3) deferred because of family responsibilities and (4) deferred for obvious reason such as physical handicaps.

Men in class 1 will be further classified as fit for (A) unlimited service or (B) limited service or (C) unfit for service.

Advisory agencies will assist in classification—government appeal agents to prevent favoritism and corruption, industrial advisers to protect essential industries, and medical boards to decide questionable physical cases.

Local men familiar with the community and its citizens will make the classifications. An appeal board will hear classification protests. A further appeal to the president will be possible, but difficult.

Finally, after all class 1 (A) registrants are reported, national headquarters will issue a general call for men—probably 400,000 in the first class for compulsory training. That quota will be distributed locally in proportion to the number of class 1 (A) registrants in each locality.

Some 22 days after registration, according to the 1933 schedule, the registrants will be called to concentration centers in the order by which they were selected by lottery.

And Johnny will be in the army then.

publics to resist any foreign efforts to influence American policies were studied.

An example cited was a recent German note to Central American republics described as seeking to influence them against Havana conference action which might be considered unfriendly to Germany.

Collective Trusteeship
 Secretary Hull and other members of a subcommittee were busy drafting proposals dealing with European possessions in this hemisphere into one document. Those proposals were said to conform generally with Secretary Hull's idea of a collective trusteeship over any imperiled colony, but there were minor divergencies.

Economic proposals to implement Secretary Hull's outlined methods of bolstering economy were studied closely by experts of various delegations.

Whether the cartel project announced by President Roosevelt some time ago entered directly into the economic plans was uncertain but if the cartel plan itself had been laid aside because of some objections that it was impractical, it was clear that United States experts were devising some method of relieving burdened countries of excess products.

Lack of complete accord between the United States and the Argentine delegation on some problems was indicated today but it was believed it had not reached a stalemate.

Cuba proposed that any accipied colony should be given the ultimate choice of independence or annexation to an American nation.

Independence or restoration of a colony to its original sovereignty was declared a firm intention of the projected trusteeship but the proposal did not provide for a colony to become annexed by an American republic.

Won't Absorb Land
 This apparently conflicted with Secretary Hull's declaration Monday that there was no thought of absorbing any of these territories or of permitting any nation to acquire a "special interest" in them.
