Rumania to Resist Territorial Claims

AMERICAS SIGN PACT AT HAVANA

Determines to Employ Force In Bargaining With Hungary, Bulgaria on Boundary Terms

Manoilescu, Foreign Minister, Declares Desire For Neighborly Peace With Justice; Cites Soviet Method

BUCHAREST, July 31 (Wednesday) (AP)—Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu expressed today the Rumanian government's determination to keep Hungarian and Bulgarian territorial claims "within certain limits"—by the use of force if necessary.

In a declaration after a cabinet meeting which had discussed Adolf Hitler's talks with Manoilescu and Premier Gigurtu in Salzburg, the foreign minister said Rumania was determined not to permit further loss of this country's territory in the manner by which Soviet Russia took Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.

His remarks were interpreted in diplomatic quarters as meaning that the government was determined to drive with Hungary and Bulgaria a hard bargain in the forthcoming negotiations with those countries—negotiations to be held at Hitler's orders.

The foreign minister declared "we want peace but with justice for Rumania. We want the people of the interior and even more those outside to know that the situation which happened a short time ago under unique circumstances (the Russian occupation of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina) will not be repeated.

"It is necessary to maintain peace but if certain limits are exceeded, the Rumanians must use other ways." Manoilescu said "Rumania means to grant greater minority rights and suggest an exchange of populations. Rumania recognizes the most achieve lessening tension between herself and her Bulgarian and Hungarian neighbors."

Sources close to the government yesterday indicated Rumania might try to settle those two countries' claims by ceding a strip of border territory to Hungary which would include the cities of Satu-Mare, Oradea and Arad, but retaining the major part of Transylvania which Rumania obtained after the World war.

(The Berlin radio tonight said Rumania would open conversations with both countries "within the next few days," first contacting Bulgaria. Rumania was prepared to cede southern Dobruja, south of the Black sea port of Constanta, the radio said.)

"All Rumanians in Hungary and Bulgaria must return to the mother country and we must diminish the minorities as much as possible by categorical decisive measures. The government soon will have practical suggestions to achieve the aim of Rumania for Rumanians only."

On the death of Melville James Cox, Reuters correspondent in Tokyo, Lord Halifax said Britain was "entirely unable to accept the totally unwarranted assumption of guilt" as published by the Japanese government.

Britain Extends Blockade to All European Ports

LONDON, July 31 (Wednesday) (AP)—The ministry of home security announced today that "enemy aircraft dropped a few bombs in southeast and southwest England and in south Wales" last night.

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—A vast extension of the British blockade designed to close every possible avenue to Germany and Italy and especially to ring Spain and Portugal lest war supplies be trans-shipped there, was announced in commons today and was disclosed in the inauguration of a new and sweeping policy under which:

- 1. Every ship in the Atlantic ocean will be subject to seizure by the royal navy unless its master can produce a valid, British-approved certificate of clearance—for its entire cargo.
2. Spanish and Portuguese imports will be limited strictly to their own needs, supplies to be permitted to reach such neutrals in "imports adequate only for domestic consumption."

Eight Nations Reserve Right To Require Home Ratification; Hull Cheered as Parley Ends

HAVANA, July 30 (AP)—The historic conference of Havana, which bolstered the Monroe Doctrine with new bars against war dangers from Europe—despite the last-minute qualifications and reservations of Argentina and seven others of the 21 American republics—ended tonight with a flurry of cheers, speech-making and document-signing.

Argentine delegate Leopold Melo argued against the "conjectural hypothesis" of need of action concerning European colonies in the western hemisphere, and contended that setting up machinery to occupy them was like calling in a specialist for a disease not yet suffered.

He made the reservation that the convention creating such machinery would require Argentine congressional ratification before participation. Mexico, Chile, Bolivia, Colombia, Venezuela, Peru and Uruguay also made eleventh-hour reservations.

Nevertheless, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull sailed for home tonight with the expressed feeling that much had been accomplished.

Hull, the quiet, patient man who is credited with pushing through the three-point program for American solidarity, was the first to sign the sheaf of documents. He was last in the lottery of precedence, but all the others deferred to him so he could catch the liner Oriente for Miami.

Hull was cheered loudly as he left his seat and stepped to the large table in the Cuban capitol to affix his signature to the various conference measures. He was cheered again a few minutes later when he tried to slip out quietly while foreign office representatives of the other 20 American republics were coming forward to sign.

The program to which they attached their names consists of:

- 1. A so-called "Act of Havana," which definitely declares all the American republics to be opposed to change or menace of change in the status of European possessions in this hemisphere.
2. Inter-American cooperation to combat the "fifth column" or other infiltrating subversive elements which may exist or seek to exist in this hemisphere.
3. Mutual effort to maintain economics in an "American way," with precautions against market dislocations caused by the European war, and to guard against encroachment of European barter systems.

Senate Group Backs Appeal For Reserves

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt's appeal for power to call out the national guard and officers reserve for training—a proposal backed unreservedly by the army—received today the quick approval of the senate military committee.

Its action came shortly after it had heard General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, describe such an authorization as urgently necessary and add a strong endorsement of selective conscription—a proposal apparently bogged down in congressional controversy.

On the latter subject, President Roosevelt declined to be drawn out at a press conference—although the committee earlier had engaged in an acrimonious dispute over a republican demand that he make his views known.

When a reporter asked his attitude toward the pending Burke-Wadsworth bill—requiring all men 18 to 64 inclusive, to register for possible selective training—he said he did not care to go into details. To this, he added the statement that a lot of machines without men to run them were worth (See DEFENSE, Page 6)

Japanese Begin Foreign Arrests For Espionage

TOKYO, July 31 (Wednesday) (AP)—Yakichiro Suma, Japanese foreign office spokesman, indicated at a press conference today that arrests on suspicion of espionage in Japan are continuing and may include other foreign nationalities beside British.

He declined to disclose the number now in custody, but said, "I have reason to believe the number is increasing."

Suma declined to say whether any Japanese have been arrested, but noted that vernacular newspapers had reports to this effect.

Reliable sources saw the drive as a new spearhead in the Japanese campaign to effect the long-sought new order in east Asia" by elimination of foreign influence in the Japanese economic zone.

From Korea came a communique of the Keijo headquarters of the Japanese garrison for Korea and the Korean public prosecutor which announced the arrest of "several foreigners who have been engaged in espionage."

Italian Fighting Planes, Soldiers Mass Alongside Nazi Blitzkrieg Divisions for Part in Invasion

Parachute Troops by the Trainload, Veterans From Spain, Ethiopia, Cross France To the Bay of Biscay

BERN, Switzerland, July 31 (Wednesday)—Italian fighting planes and German-trained Italian troops were reported today to be massed alongside nazi blitzkrieg forces for a part in the invasion of England.

Italian sources in Switzerland said that plane-load after plane-load of parachute troops, veterans of battles in Ethiopia and Spain, have flown across France to take-off bases from the Bay of Biscay to the low countries facing the English channel and North sea.

Reports have been current in foreign diplomatic circles that Premier Benito Mussolini specifically asked Adolf Hitler to let the Italians share the job of bringing Britain to her knees.

It Duce was said to have wanted a strong part for his troops in a direct invasion of the shores where Caesar's legions landed almost 2,000 years ago.

Hitler was said to have agreed—but to have limited Italy's part in invasion to "token" land and parachute forces, plus large air squadrons for bombing and ferrying troops.

Reports from France, Germany, Italy and Spain all indicated that Germany is making her last minute preparations for the blow.

German and Italian travelers from Spain said the nationalist government there appeared to be preparing to try to grab Gibraltar—a move which it long has been reported may coincide with a German attack on England across the channel.

These sources said troops in small armed boats carrying artillery were concentrated near La Linea, Spain, behind Gibraltar.

Reports from France said the Italians were concentrating bombing planes at their Sardinian bases for an air attack on Gibraltar—another move expected in a coordinated German attempt to invade Britain.

Italian informants reported that the last of the Italian-made "pocket" submarines—about 36 feet long—had passed through the Brenner pass in sections on railway flat cars. These little submarines are expected to be one of the main protecting arms of the expected German channel attempt.

(In Germany today it was stated that any speculation that the movements of nazi troops in German-occupied parts of France were for specific purposes would come under the head of military secrets.)

All rail and road frontier posts on the Swiss-German frontier, except that at Saint Margarethen in Austria, were closed today by the Germans, apparently to ensure secrecy for troop movements through southern Germany in preparations for the offensive on England.

Even persons traveling on diplomatic passports now are required to pass only through St. Margarethen. Trains from Germany arriving at Basel station tonight carried only baggage and freight. No passengers were aboard.

Swiss sources pointed out that forcing all travelers into Germany to take "the long way around" through Austria would prevent outsiders from seeing the westward rush of men and war supplies.

Despite German denials the French government said flatly in a communique that rail traffic between occupied and unoccupied parts of France had been halted by German order.

Americas Plan Territorial Acquisition If France Turns Fascist Dependency

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The government took the position today that if France became a fascist dependency of Germany an emergency could be created which would require the American nations to take over administration of French possessions in this hemisphere.

Summer Welles, acting secretary of state, outlined this position in response to press conference questions as to the effect of

British Government Objects to Charges Of Spies in Japan

LONDON, July 30 (AP)—The British government takes a "serious view" of the arrest of British citizens by the Japanese and has so told the Japanese government, Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax told the house of lords today.

"It is hardly necessary to state that there is no foundation whatsoever" for the Japanese charges that a British spy system is operating in Japan, Lord Halifax asserted.

On the death of Melville James Cox, Reuters correspondent in Tokyo, Lord Halifax said Britain was "entirely unable to accept the totally unwarranted assumption of guilt" as published by the Japanese government.

Hull, Havana and Hitler

The importance of the Havana conference of the 21 American republics was not generally recognized until it was in progress. If Hitler is successful in his campaign against England, the struggle for political and economic control in South America will be vastly intensified.

The strategic importance of this battle cannot be overstated, and there are several fundamental factors operating in Hitler's favor. German and Italian penetration in South America in terms of colonization, propaganda, political intrigue, trade relations, and all the more devastating and subtle forms has been carried on with typical Machiavellian method and thoroughness. When the U. S. cruiser Quincy raced to Montevideo recently, it was not answering a false alarm, although the Nazi scheme blew up before it arrived. A German revolution on a large scale in the Rio Plata region awaits only the time when the home country is free to give it concerted support.

Democracy Isn't the Question

Appeals to save democracy will not have much effect on South American republics. Most of them are virtual dictatorships supported by wealthy landholders and a military clique. Mussolini and Hitler are to them an inspiration.

On top of this great political pressure and psychological pressure of astounding German successes in Europe is the great force of economic necessity, driving Latin America relentlessly into the axis sphere.

Under normal circumstances we have been in part unable and in part unwilling to take more than a third of Latin American trade. Our economies are not complementary. Argentina's beef is a direct competitor with our own, and Argentina must export meat to live. Brazil must sell coffee, cotton and hides. For all our vast consumption of coffee, we cannot begin to use all Brazil can produce, and we have no market for cotton or hides.

We have been unwilling to barter goods, while Germany and Italy have capitalized on this fact. Of course the British blockade has stopped this business, but German firms in South America are now taking orders for delivery in the autumn and giving gilt-edged guarantees for their fulfillment.

Hull's "good neighbor" policy has not yet yielded any prospects of escape from the ruinous depression that plagues Latin America. Businessmen of our sister republics to the south see better times ahead in a reopened European market.

American Solidarity Triumphs

This, in brief, is the situation which Cordell Hull faced at Havana. In view of these facts and a maze of other complicating conditions, the show of hemispheric solidarity which the conference presented must mark it as an outstanding success.

The credit goes, of course, to the foreign ministers and governments of all the 21 republics, but special recognition is due to the quietly persuasive Secretary Hull. The broad defense and economic plan agreed upon embraces the main objectives of the United States at the conference. It is a severe blow at axis designs in our neighbor republics, and indicates a unified militant awareness of this threat on the part of all American states.

The action taken to safeguard continental security, with regard both to fifth-column or insurrectionist activities and to the possible supervision of European possessions in this hemisphere can only be called gratifying. It is positive proof that the American republics, at least for the moment, are determined to enforce the Monroe Doctrine.

The Economic Future

The economic plans are as good as it was possible to arrange under the very unfavorable conditions of trade. The increased hope granted the inter-American financial and economic advisory committee, making it a general consultative medium for subsequent trade negotiations by the republics, will have a salutary effect.

The first task of this committee will be to solve the Latin American export surplus problem. This may and should be done through withdrawal of the surplus from the European markets by a cooperative agency largely financed by the United States, and by loans from the import-export bank to governments to assist their exporters until a normal trade can be established. The billion dollars this would cost would be a small price for the greatest blow we can deal Hitler this year—deprivation of the South American

Airing the Misconceptions About Columns and Columnists

WASHINGTON—The accumulated mass of popular misinformation about newspaper columning and columnists has been subjected to a fresh penetrating attack by a graduating student in journalism at Notre Dame university.

Working there under the kindly, able guidance of Professor John Cooney, the student, Joe Reardon Hart, sent out questionnaires to columnists asking their purpose, their methods, their qualifications, the human reader instincts at which they aim for interest.

Hart's discovery for his graduating thesis was limited largely to the profound truth that when readers say they like or do not like columns or columning they might as well be saying they do not like the universe. Columning covers the full stretch of journalistic activity—sports, society, theatricals, finance, business, economics, politics and just plain personalities. And in each division there are as many subdivisions as there are columnists.

Some, in the political line, for instance, daily tell the world what to do, others what the world is doing. Some relate gossip, others the economic effects of public events. Some emote, some rail, some just plainly urge political action along a certain line.

So to understand, even the political subdivision, it is necessary to look behind generalities at the specified purposes of specified columnists.

Kinds of Columns

Unfortunately, Hart received only two responses to his question No. 4: "What is your chief purpose in writing a column?" At least only two were signed. He came, nevertheless, to the conclusion there are four types of columns, (1) what he called the "regular" column dealing with news and its interpretations, (2) the "contributor" type which depends on arousing friendly interest, (3) the "mixture" which he likened to a department store, carrying all imaginable wares, and (4) the "essay," containing philosophical light essays.

If Hart had been able to get the evidence, he could have gone further and found still greater degrees of variance in his four categories. He could have found, for instance, there is no real columnar category as "the Washington column" because the type here stretches as far as the grand divisions, each differing and varying according to individual purposes.

Column Titles and Content

Best secondary evidence as to the purposes of columns lies in their titles. In general, these at least, represent what the authors of the columns say about what they are trying to do.

Of course, there are many titles which fail to express their purpose, but the intent of these is often apparent from the text. There is, for instance, Jay Franklin's "We, the People," a column which is of course intended to be only "We, the New Dealers and a Particular Type of New Dealer at That."

Confusing Intentions

Dorothy Thompson's "On the Record" is not expressive but everything she puts on her record, clarifies her intent to arouse popular sentiments against Hitler, fascism, Arthur Kroek's intellectual analysis of current political events is belocled by the title "In the Nation." Ray Clapper is not politically as strict as his title: "Strictly Speaking."

But by and large, the connotations of "The Human Side of the News," "Merry-Go-Round," "Fair Enough," and "Whirligig" seem to be accurate descriptions of what has come to be a mass of confusing intentions.

Columnar Misconceptions

Perhaps some of the confusion results from the disinclination of some newspapers to use the official title of the columns, but most of it is surely traceable to the attacks of politicians upon columnists—attacks which have now virtually ceased. These attacks were leveled without discrimination on a political basis against essayist, gossip writer and the personal type of news reporting which is really just a modernization of the universal newspaper practice in the beginning.

Fair non-political research such as the Notre Dame graduating student started, will straighten out the misconceptions.

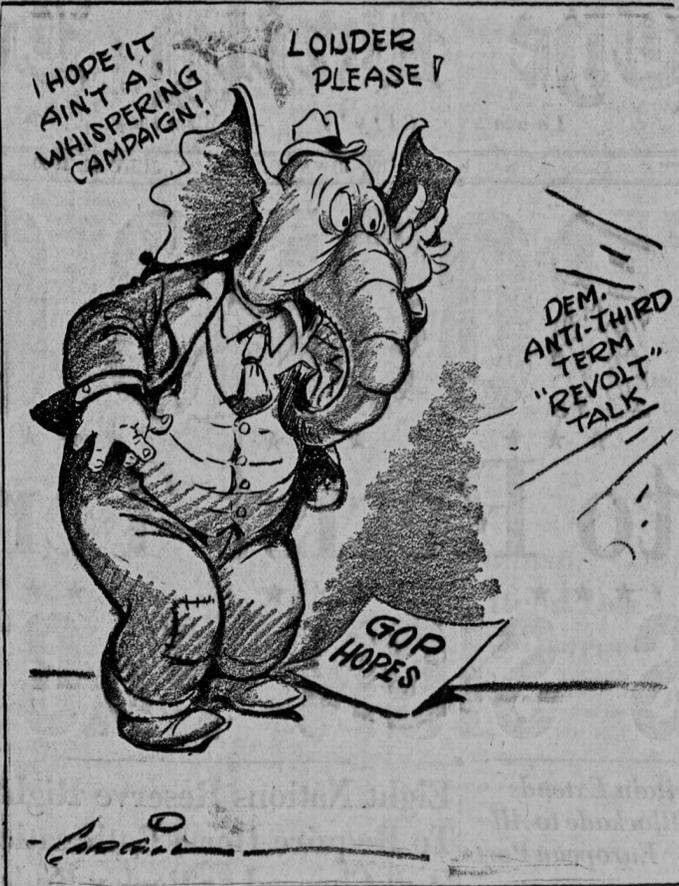

food supplies. It might be the only blow necessary.

Not a European Embargo

However, only the framework has yet been set up. Destruction or capture of the British navy by the Germans and Italians would make it difficult to keep South American nations from heeding Hitler's threats. The governments of all these countries are more or less unpredictable. Furthermore, the plans for an independent inter-American trade are not designed explicitly as an embargo on trade with Europe, but simply to prevent Germany, Italy and Japan from forcing unfair trade terms or practices upon any American country.

The battle to preserve the Monroe Doctrine has entered a new phase. The latest trick has been ours, but many more remain to be played. They must be played with a clear head and without error, for the outcome is much in doubt. Our hand is strong enough, if we play it boldly but wisely.

A Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

Bits About The Big City

NEW YORK—This column is published in 39 states and also in China, Hawaii, and Alaska. . . . The other day we got a letter from a reader in Shanghai, mailed May 10. . . . It concerned an essay of ours on New York's Chinatown, and it said, "Dear Mr. T, your description of the shops in Chinatown is so interesting. I almost wish I lived in New York." . . . I wonder was that guy kidding me.

Today we are indebted to a big mick named Morton Downey for an album of brand new records—all Irish—and to a horse named Swing and Sway for a new hat. Several weeks ago we got some theater tickets for a friend of ours, and he had dropped us a note saying he had taken out an "interest" in our name in a horse that was to run that afternoon. The nag won and paid $7.50, which accounts for the new gray lid. Downey's records are Irish pips. . . . A "pip" in our lingo means swell. . . . Best of the lot: "The Rose of Tralee."

Irving Berlin grows thinner and thinner. . . . Although Linda Watkins is Boston-born, she has a mid-west huskiness to her voice that reminds me of the late Jeanne Eagles, of "Rain" fame. . . . Ray Kinney, the Hawaiian-Irish troubadour who has done so well in New York for the last four years, has left Decca records for Victor. Although he has made hundreds of recordings, none has ever been made with his full orchestra. . . . Previously he has used only a piano and a few strings. . . . All who have heard Kenney's full organization will want to see what the new recordings will be like.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Trends in Economy On Hollywood Lots

HOLLYWOOD—Pointed illustration of current studio economy trend is the Warner release of Pat O'Brien, after eight years on contract, soon after he finished what many say was his best role—in "Knutie Roknee, All-American." . . . Useful as Pat was, his salary by periodical increases had reached the point where another boost, called for if he were "renewed," was deemed too high. . . . Pat probably will be better off free-lancing with a choice of roles at other studios as well as Warner's.

Same consideration probably will have to be made by any studio which persuades Shirley Temple to go to work again. . . . Effective as she is in her last for 20th-Fox, "Young People," and comparatively high as her box-office rating was at the last annual count, Shirley had reached an astronomical money rating at Zanuck's plant—more perhaps (though this is treason) than she was worth, all things taken into account. . . .

"Arise, My Love," the Claudette Colbert-Ray Milland piece, is an adventure comedy with a current war background. . . . Newspaper correspondent stuff, but off-hand it looks like a battle between whatever comedy the screen's journeymen capers can provide and the real tragedy of the world. . . . Walter Abel gets a break in it. . . .

Gloria Jean's "25 uncles," mentioned in "The Under-Pup," are on the screen in "A Little Bit of Heaven," which is the sequel. . . . Among the uncles are screen old-timers Charles Ray, William Desmond, Pat O'Malley, Noah Beery, Sr. . . . A few years ago those names in a cast would have cost a fortune. Today they're "uncles" to a little girl who wasn't even born when they were in their heyday. . . . Hugh Herbert, also in the cast, gives a woo-woo. . . . "It's suicidal," says he, "to play in pictures with children, Negroes, and dogs. . . ."

Aside from Gloria, the children he has to contend with are Butch and Buddy, rascals of "The Under-Pup." Claudette Colbert will tell intimates that she has laid away in 12 years in pictures exactly $300,000—or about $25,000 a year, but only a fraction of what she's earned. . . . The rest went to taxes and upkeep, considerable for any movie star. The savings account is supposed to take care of "depreciation" which is otherwise not marked off. . . .

Politics in Brief

At Smith Is for Wilkie; Republican National Committee Flays Democratic Convention

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith declared himself for the election of Wendell L. Wilkie, the republican presidential candidate.

He said that "millions of other genuine democrats . . . will in no way willingly or silently tolerate any foreign bloc, call them new dealers or what not," and that the "thing to do is to defeat the democratic party this year and get rid of the fellows who turned it into the new deal party."

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt declined to comment at his press conference on Wilkie's claims of democratic support and said he would confer with a committee Thursday on a successor to James A. Farley as democratic national chairman.

COLORADO SPRINGS—Wilkie received a message of support from Samuel Seabury, New York democrat and former court of appeals judge who directed the 1931-32 investigation of the New York City government, and said of Smith's statement that the former governor could not be accused of thinking more of money than of humanity.

I thought I'd lived—until that fancy engraved invitation from Messrs. Towne and Baker arrived. . . . Just a bid to a cocktail party for a cow! . . . The Ritzes, after competing with the Andrews Sisters in "Argentine Nights" (and getting the worst of it, if you believe the set reports) may be heading for South America for a personal appearance. . . .

Rudy York Blasts Out Pair of Homers For Losing Team

DETROIT, July 30 (AP)—Red Ruffing lifted the bedraggled New York Yankees out of a forgotten corner today and covered the American league pennant picture with confusion by drubbing the Detroit Tigers 8 to 6.

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND, July 30 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians moved into a first-place tie with Detroit here tonight as Bob Feller hurled his 17th victory of the year in stopping Boston, 2 to 1. Feller gave up eight hits and fanned eight. Cleveland got nine hits off starter Jim Bagby and Jack Wilson. The crowd was 49,238.

Cleveland scored its first run in the second inning on Hal Trosky's single, a walk and sacrifice and Ray Mack's single. The winning run came in the sixth on singles by Ken Keltner and Mack and an infield out.

The Sox pushed over their run in the fourth on a walk, a single by Ted Williams and one of Lou Finney's three hits.

back for the Tigers and put them in jeopardy of a tie with Cleveland for first place, pending the Indians' night game with the Boston Red Sox.

Ruffing's Tenth Win
Ruffing put on a grand show for six innings and even though he weakened so badly he had to be lifted in the eighth, he got credit for his tenth triumph of the season.

Rufus the Red pitched five-hit shutout ball for the first six innings and hit a three-run homer for the Yankee cause in the sixth.

His teammates finished building him an 8-0 lead in the seventh, driving young Hal Newhouse from the mound, but the veteran Ruffing couldn't stand the heat and the raging temper of the Tigers, who crowded all their runs into two innings with Rudy York hitting two home runs and Pete Fox one.

York Clouts Homers
York's first homer opened the seventh stanza and was followed by two singles and a force out for another run.

York's second round-tripper of the game and 18th of the year came behind Hank Greenberg's single in the eighth. Then Pinky Higgins singled and Fox homered for the other runs, but Johnny Murphy snuffed out the rally quickly.

The Yanks owed their victory to an early start. They got one run in the third inning when Red Rolfe walked, advanced to second on Newhouse's balk, and scored on a double by Tom Henrich. They got another in the fourth when Charley Keller doubled, was sacrificed to third and beat the babe Dahlgren. Then they made six hits good for six runs in the sixth and seventh frames.

Joe DiMaggio singled in the seventh, making 13 consecutive games in which he has hit safely.

Derringer Wins Number 15; Reds Wallop Giants, 6 to 3

Stormy Eighth Inning Rally Brings Victory

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, who haven't had a losing streak longer than three games this year, routed the New York Giants 6 to 3 today to stop a backslide of two straight games.

It was Paul Derringer, again, who got credit for setting the Reds back on the right trail although the real winning medium was a scoring outburst of four runs in a wild eighth inning that brought about the banishment of two men.

The score was tied as the Reds came to bat in the eighth, but they loaded the bases with a single, a sacrifice that turned out safe, and another single.

The pinchhitter Mike Dean, a rookie, looked at a third strike and the Reds erupted around Umpire George Magerkurth with the usual result.

The smoke of battle had already cleared as Bill Werber grounded to Tony Cucinello and was called safe at first, bringing the Giants to a boil. Umpire Bill Stewart won that argument. The Reds scored once on this play and still had the bases loaded. Tarry Craft then singled to center for two runs and Lanny Frey singled in the same direction for one.

Derringer was removed for a pinchhitter during the uprising, but got credit for his 15th victory of the season and came abreast of teammate Bucky Walters in the win column for the first time. He had the help of Joe Boggs, who finished the game and gave up a run to New York in the ninth on Mel Ott's double and Harry Danning's single.

Johnny Mize Hits Homers As Cards Win

BOSTON, July 30 (AP)—Johnny Mize registered his 27th and 28th homers of the season today while his St. Louis Cardinals were overwhelming the Boston Bees, 13-5, in a lustrous slugfest.

Mize rapped out his No. 1 homer when he opened the fifth inning against starter Bill Posedel and collected his second one of the game against Al Javery in the ninth with Enos Slaughter on base.

Lon Warneke held the Bees to 10 hits, including a homer by Seby Sisti and doubles by Max West, Eddie Miller and Johnny Cooney, but the veteran righthander kept them well scattered and never was in serious trouble.

Dr. Eddie Far Ahead in Poll

Iowa Coach Receives Over Million Votes With Week to Go

CHICAGO, July 30 (AP)—Bob Zuppke, veteran University of Illinois coach, suggested tonight that all western conference coaches throw their support to Eddie Anderson of Iowa in an effort to assure the Hawkeye mentor of the head coachship of the college all-star football team.

"I appreciate the vote I have received in the nationwide poll," Zuppke said, "but we all know

Heavy local balloting for Dr. Eddie Anderson through The Daily Iowan continued yesterday, with over 61,000 votes counted and sent in for the good doctor.

Local balloting places continued to contribute heavily to the total, with the Iowa City ballot falling short of the city census by only about 5,000 votes.

Other sources of votes were eastern Iowa filling stations and theaters, and a flood of alumni ballots.

Anderson was the outstanding coach last year, having 1,076,792 points. Second in the Big Ten is Purdue's Mel Elward, 231,152. The top point-getter from five sections will make up the coaching staff to handle the all-stars in their game Aug. 29 with the Green Bay Packers.

Pirates Sock Brooklyn, 8-2

BROOKLYN, July 30 (AP)—Pittsburgh's plodding Pirates overpowered the Brooklyn Dodgers 8 to 2 tonight behind the six hit hurling of Truett Sewell, who notched his eighth victory against two defeats.

The Pirates exploded four runs in the first inning under Rookie Righthander Ed Head, making his first big league start, and altogether peppered three Brooklyn pitchers for a dozen hits.

Head was wild, giving three walks in the opening frame. He was removed for a pinch hitter in the second and Lefty Vito Tamulis took over, giving up a home run with one on to Al Lopez in the third. Then Hugh Casey was touched for two more in the seventh on three singles and a wild pitch.

It was a steaming hot night, with rain just before game time holding the crowd to 19,910.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers got overheated and was banished for saying hot words to Umpire Ziggy Sears.

Sewell who was wringing wet at the finish, gave two singles in one inning for the first time in the ninth for one Brooklyn run. The other came in the second on a walk, a single and a force out.

LEONARD BLANKS BROWNS
ST. LOUIS, July 30 (AP)—Dutch Leonard stopped the St. Louis Browns with seven hits and struck out seven tonight as the Washington Senators pounded out 11 safeties for a 4 to 0 victory.

Dr. William DeKleine Explains Blood Plasma War Use

Study Shows Developments At 4 Hospitals

Work to Determine Methods of Storage, Plasma Transportation

By D. MAC SHOWERS
Daily Iowan City Editor

Details of research work in the use of blood plasma at the front in time of war were explained yesterday afternoon to the board of directors of the Johnson county Red Cross by Dr. William DeKleine, national medical advisor of the Red Cross. The meeting was held in the council chambers at the city hall.

Dr. DeKleine pointed out emphatically that this research program now being carried out at four hospitals in the United States, of which the University hospital at Iowa City is one, is definitely not an experimental move.

He said that the use of blood and the methods involved in collecting and transfusing it are well known to the medical world and this phase of the work is past the experimental stage.

New to Field

Comparatively new to the field but already recognized and used by many of the leading doctors in the country is the use of blood plasma in transfusion work instead of the whole blood. Blood plasma, he explained, is whole blood minus the corpuscles. This has been found to be as effective as whole blood and is much easier to preserve and transport.

The research work now being carried on is with blood plasma and is being done at the request of the army with findings to be reported to the army for actual use in time of war.

Termining the work of the four hospitals as preliminary and not experimental, Dr. DeKleine said yesterday that it included determining methods of storage, transportability, use of dried plasma and administration in emergency.

Other Schools

In addition to the University hospital which will specialize in transportability work, other hospitals in the United States which will work in the research project are at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, specializing in storage; Vanderbilt university at Nashville, Tenn., specializing in shock and hemorrhage administration, and the University of Pennsylvania, specializing in work with dried plasma.

In addition to the special projects assigned each institution, Dr. DeKleine explained that they would all work in common on the general problems to be solved with the practical wartime use of blood plasma.

Each of the institutions working on the project will use blood donated through Red Cross appeals. From 100 to 125 donors are requested for each hospital. The University hospital here has asked for 125 donors and 31 had volunteered to give a pint of blood each by last night.

Blood Collected

Donors are asked to call university hospital extension 292, Lois Corder's office, and give their name. They will be called when their donation is desired. Some blood has already been collected and work is under way with the first shipment in testing the transportability scheduled to go out late this week by United Air lines.

Dr. Everett D. Plass, who is in charge of the blood work at University hospital, said yesterday that he expects to have the major part of his research work on the project finished by Sept. 1.

Dr. Plass urged donors to list their names as soon as possible so that this important national defensive work may be carried on without delay. As Dr. DeKleine pointed out yesterday, this part of the national defense is a case of looking ahead and getting the problem solved and the methods worked out before an emergency arises.

Swift Treatment

By working out these problems in advance, in the case of an emergency blood plasma can be taken to the front lines and administered there where swift treatment is most essential. Formerly, he said, blood could only be used in hospitals and in many instances wounded soldiers could not survive until they were moved to a hospital.

By working out the proper methods of transporting and storage of the blood plasma, con-

Giving Blood Is Painless

Dr. W. DeKleine Explains Method Of Extracting Blood

D. William DeKleine, national Red Cross medical advisor, and Dr. Everett D. Plass of University hospital, supervisor of the Red Cross research work in blood plasma at University hospital, yesterday explained about donating blood to the Red Cross.

"Giving but a pint of blood is absolutely harmless if the donor is in good health and has a readily accessible blood vein in his arm," Dr. DeKleine said.

The process involves no danger to the donor and is almost painless. Only a small needle is used in drawing the blood from the arm. Though the person must be healthy and between the ages of 18 and 60, the medical advisor said that he need not necessarily be in robust health.

To be listed as a donor, one should call in person, phone or write to Lois Corder at University hospital. The telephone number is hospital extension 292. It was also asked that persons willing to give a pint of blood to this national defense measure contact the office as soon as possible so that the workers will be assured of the necessary blood for the research work.

Dr. DeKleine stressed the fact that it is a patriotic service to the country to aid in this research work which will result in the saving of many lives at the front lines in time of war. The whole project is being carried out on a patriotic basis, he added.

And Now -- A Rest

Summer Students Tell Their Plans For Coming Weeks

Summer may be half over for some, but vacation for over 3,000 students here will just begin with the ending of the summer session Friday.

A roving reporter yesterday found students anxiously awaiting vacation days with diversified plans for the future.

Jaroslava Holubova, Cedar Rapids

"My roommate Christine Hunt of Carthage, Mo., and I plan to leave Saturday morning for a two weeks vacation in the Smoky mountains. After that, I'm going to teach school in the Woodrow Wilson high school at Cedar Rapids."

Howard Hess, Detroit, Mich.: "Since I have a year's leave of absence from Wayne university in Detroit, I'll stay right here in Iowa City and go to school some more. Sounds like fun doesn't it?"

Eva Cochran, Oquawka, Ill.: "Just rest and rest!"

Edith Musgrove, Iowa City: "Oh, I've a job as an executive in a Girl Scout camp at LaCrosse, Wis."

Eugene Stone, Wabash, Ind.: "After my three weeks of independent study, I'm headed for home and a good rest! However, I teach commerce and speech in New Manchester, Ind., so it's really just school and more school."

Arzelia Wells, Oklahoma City, Okla.: "It's home for me and a job, I hope!"

Marian Miller, Maquoketa: "A good rest after 11 months of school! The old grind's getting me down."

Robert Osborne, Jasper, Ala.: "Hmhmhm, probably just go to school some more."

Dick Gray, Ft. Madison: "Go home for a rest and then, if I don't get a job, I'll come back to school."

George "Red" Frye, Albia: "I'm staying right here and work on the university tennis courts!"

Helene Wacek, Omaha, Neb.: "I can't decide whether to pick up a ride to California or to practice for my fall piano concert."

Evelyn Mayfield, Kansas City, Mo.: "Teach home economics and foods in Kansas City."

Harley Porter, Lenox: "Just sleep and fish till school starts again. Then I'll teach in Kingsley."

Clatrel Baldwin, Marshall, Tex.: "Home for a short rest and then back to school again!"

less, and many men without machines were equally valueless. This led some to the conclusion that the president favored conscription, but at no more rapid rate than the men called up could be provided with equipment for their training.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate military committee said that all seven democrats and four republicans who were present when the action on the national guard was taken voted to approve the bill. They included, besides Sheppard, Senators Thomas of Utah, Minton of Indiana, Johnson of Colorado, Hill of Alabama, Chandler of Kentucky and Lee of Oklahoma, democrats; and Senators Austin of Vermont, Bridges of New Hampshire, Gurney of South Dakota and Holman of Oregon, republicans.

Marshall took the position that conscription and calling out the guard were, in combination, the only method of insuring a sufficient number of men for the nation's security.

"We must know what tools we have to work with," he said. "Paper plans will not suffice in this emergency. In our judgement, the security and safety of this country depend on our having an adequate number of men trained and there is no other way to do it except by this method (calling out the guard) followed by some form of conscription."

"I don't think we can afford in any degree at this time to speculate on the security of this country."

Radio adaptation of "The Man Without A Country" by Helen Byse, Iowa City, will be broadcast by the students in radio over WSUI tonight at 8 o'clock.

The production is under the direction of Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the speech department here, with sound effects produced by Ray Heinen.

Those included in the cast are Burton Byers, Cedar Rapids; Richard de Laubenfels; Ralph Enstrom, Canton, S. D.; Harold Glaspy, Hills; Earl Harlan, Winterset; Jim Hotop, Chicago; Howard McIlrath, Council Bluffs; George Moon, Iowa City; William Pryor, Grinnell, and Jack Taylor, Waterloo.

The regular luncheon-meeting of the Altrusa club will be at noon today in Iowa Union. This will be the final meeting until fall.

The continent of Australia is about the size of the United States.

smoke could be seen clearly five miles away.

The Hollingshead company was one of the world's largest manufacturers of automotive chemicals—paints, varnishes, cleaners, etc. It also manufactured household cleaning substances; a total of 98 different chemical products.

Firemen said it would be daylight before the ruins of the Hollingshead plant cooled sufficiently to permit a search for bodies.

The factory's president, R. M. Hollingshead Jr., said the company was handling an order for U. S. navy gun paint but that he saw "no possibility" of sabotage.

At least four men and three women workers are feared to have perished in the building, he reported.

No more accurate check could be made until morning, Hollingshead said, because the employees of the plant were so widely distributed.

He estimated the loss of the plant alone at about $1,000,000 but officials had not had a chance to estimate the loss in the fire area, four blocks bounded by Ninth, Tenth, Cooper and Market streets. It was only four blocks from Camden's high-towered city hall.

Leopoldo Melo, the Argentine delegate, affixed his name and the Argentine seal to the documents, but he said beforehand that all must be approved by his country's congress if Argentina is to participate effectively.

He was the only signer who polished his eyeglasses and carefully and publicly read over the previously-prepared text. Presumably he did so to make sure that the Argentine reservations had been included in the final document.

Miguel Angel Campa, Cuban secretary of state and president of the conference, did not mention the Argentine attitude in his closing speech.

"Humanity will learn a lesson," he said, from the example of the American nations having worked together for "fruitful results."

The measures adopted, despite their general nature, are bound to have an overseas reaction, Campa declared.
