NAZIS DROP LEAFLETS ON BRITAIN

Soviet Sees U.S. Aiding in War on Axis

Molotoff Flays Attitude to War As 'Imperialist'

Speech Antagonistic Toward United States; Relations 'Not Good'

MOSCOW, Aug. 1, (AP)—"Imperialist designs" in the United States may turn the war into a "world imperialist" struggle, Premier-Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotoff told the supreme soviet today in predicting that England would be "assisted" by America in fighting Germany and Italy.

His speech was filled with antagonism toward England and the United States and at one point he said he hesitated to dwell on Russian relations with the United States because "there is nothing good that can be said about them."

Imperialist Designs

"Imperialist appetites are growing," he told the supreme soviet (parliament), "not only in distant Japan but also in the United States, where there are not a few people who like to conceal their imperialist designs behind well-advertised 'concern' for the interests of the entire western hemisphere which these gentlemen are prepared to turn into their property with all its numerous republics and with the colonial possessions of other countries on islands in the neighborhood of the American continent.

"All this harbors danger of further extension and fanning of the war and its being turned into a world imperialist war. Under these conditions the soviet union must enhance its vigilance in the matter of its external security and in the matter of strengthening all its positions, both at home and abroad."

Axis Relations

Germany, Molotoff said, will have the advantage of a "calm feeling of security in the east," thanks to the Russo-German non-aggression pact. Relations with Italy, Germany's ally, also "have lately improved."

But as for America: "There are certain people in the United States who are not pleased with successes of soviet foreign policy in the Baltic countries," the premier-foreign commissar observed. "But we are not worried. We can get along without the help of these displeased gentlemen."

"However," Molotoff continued, "the fact that authorities in the United States unlawfully placed an embargo on gold which our state bank recently purchased from the banks of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia meets with a most energetic protest on our part.

"In this case we can only remind both the government of the United States and the government of Great Britain, which adopted the same procedure, of their responsibility for these illegal acts."

British Fleet Aids French Control of Suez

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Aug. 1 (AP)—From a sandbagged building flying the tri-color of France, the French-controlled Suez canal management carried on today almost as if nothing had happened in Europe.

Except for a vast reduction in traffic, the canal is operating normally, with the British afforded full facilities by their erstwhile allies.

The canal's immediate activities are directed by the French from a single-story building in this palm-lined oasis bordering the Arabian desert and midway between Port Said and Suez.

But the British say real control of the 104.5 mile water way splitting the land bridge between Africa and Asia, lies in the British eastern Mediterranean fleet steaming in ceaseless vigil off its entrance. So the canal's directors are 21 Frenchmen, 10 Englishmen and one Netherlander.

A visit today disclosed a spirit of cordiality among the canal's administrative staff, still practically intact despite the war. Some who joined the French army in Syria have returned.

The Egyptian newspaper Al-wafd Elmisri has been urging Egypt to take control now to solve "difficulties" facing the French administration because of France's capitulation to Germany.

Informed British sources expressed amusement at reports that Italy was asking Germany to turn over to her bonds and shares seized in Paris to give the Rome government control.

"If the Italians want the canal let them come and get it," the Britons commented.

Ismailia, like the rest of Egypt is prepared to cope with any land or air attacks but to date no bombs have been dropped here.

This tranquility is in sharp contrast to the day's reports of new bombings at Alexandria, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan and at Gibraltar, at the other end of the Mediterranean.

Raiders Shower Pamphlets With Last 'Appeal to Reason'

4-Page Papers Contain Hitler's Reichstag Speech Bidding England to Talk Peace, Threaten Destruction if War Continues

LONDON, Aug. 2, (Friday) (AP)—Striking at England for the first time with leaflets instead of bombs, Nazi air raiders today showered a southeastern port with thousands of four-page pamphlets containing Adolf Hitler's "last appeal to reason" for Britain to talk peace.

Within a few minutes the "pamphlet bombers" appeared over another town, this time in southwestern England, and poured down thousands more of the papers which contained a verbatim account of Hitler's July speech to the reichstag which mingled a bid for peace with threats of what war would bring to Britain.

The pre-dawn raiders, however, were not all on a propaganda mission.

Near one northeastern town heavy explosives and 30 to 40 incendiary bombs were dropped while British defense planes battled with the raiders.

Big explosives and fire bombs also crashed down near a town in northeastern Scotland and raiders circled over several other communities in that section. The bombs fell near houses, but none was set afire.

While the Hitler pamphlets still fluttered in the air, British policemen and constables hustled out with flashlights to gather them.

Curio Value

One warden decided too late that the papers might have a curio value. He said regretfully "if I could get back the copies turned over to police I could sell them at a shilling each."

The leaflets measured 12-8 inches, bore the caption "A Last Appeal to Reason by Adolf Hitler," and suggested pointedly that the British public might not have had opportunity to read the fuhrer's speech of July 19.

In that talk Hitler declared the British empire would be destroyed if England insisted upon continuing the war.

First Message

The propaganda shower was the nazis' first try at the "message for the people" tactics of British airmen who dropped plane-loads of leaflets into Germany at the outset of the war.

One lone flier struck boldly yesterday at Norwich, on the east coast, diving down through the clouds to bomb and machine gun the city's industrial area. The British Press association said five were killed in that attack alone.

The air ministry described other raids yesterday as limited to occasional flights over the English channel and said one British plane was lost and two German planes were shot down in fighting there.

Akron Train Crash Called Fault of Crew

43 Killed When Passenger, Freight Trains Crash

At least 43 persons were killed and three injured when a single-car gasoline-electric shuttle train of the Pennsylvania railroad collided head-on with a freight train in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. The Central Press picture above shows the freight engine telescoped far into the passenger car whose passengers and crew met a flaming death when the car caught fire. Firemen can be seen through the car windows as they worked to extinguish the flames.

Trainmen Failed To Obey Order To Take Siding

AKRON, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—Crumpled copy of trainmen's orders, found on the conductor of a Pennsylvania railroad motor coach in which 43 persons perished, tonight backed up the road's declaration that the crew's "disregard" of instructions was responsible for the tragedy.

The order provided that the motor coach should take a siding and allow a 73-car freight train to pass. Instead, the coach's crew continued for a mile past the siding, down the Pennsylvania's Hudson-Akron single track, and crashed head-on with the freight.

Investigators said a copy of the order issued to the freight train crew was found in the clothing of Conductor Harry Shafer, 57, one of the trio who survived the fiery crash. Similar orders had been issued to the coach crew, the railroad said, explaining that each crew of trains ordered to "meet" gets a copy of the instructions issued to the other crew, as well as its own orders.

Finding of the order, said F. W. Krick, division superintendent of the Pennsylvania, "proves conclusively that the crew had received its orders and is at fault."

"It seems to be one of those inexplicable mental lapses," Krick informed Coroner R. E. Amos.

Japan Seeks To Dominate All East Asia

New Aggressive Policy Announced to People By Premier Konoye

TOKYO, Aug. 1 (AP) — An aggressively expansive Japanese foreign policy, which seeks domination not merely in "east Asia" as formerly but in "greater east Asia" — including French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies — was announced to the people today.

The statement, by the regime of Premier-Prince Fumimaro Konoye, did not directly bring Japan closer than it already had been to Germany and Italy, but apparently widened the breach between the empire and other western powers.

It disclosed these intentions:

1. Creation of "a new order for greater east Asia," with the ultimate aim as explained by Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka to be "establishment of a stabilizing force for a self-sufficiency embracing not only Japan, Manchoukuo and China, but also Indo-China and the East Indies."
2. Rearmament at a scale "adequate for execution of the national policies by taking into consideration the new developments both at home and abroad."
3. Construction of a government in which every person must serve the state, with national economy to be planned toward strengthening national defense, and a "unitary control system" set up "covering production, distribution and consumption of important commodities."
4. Changes in the educational system to emphasize "service to the state" and "eradication of all selfish and materialistic thoughts."
5. An end of "toadyism" to other powers, with the explanation: "We strive to make whatever friends we can under the prevailing environment, but henceforth we will not make a vain effort to grasp the hands of those countries which cannot be turned into friends." It was implied by Matsuoka that Britain and the United States were meant.

Home Commander

Britain's new commander-in-chief of the home forces, Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, is shown inspecting trenches in London. He is organizing the defenses at home as Britishers await the expected Nazi aerial blitzkrieg. Brooke succeeded General Sir Edmund Ironsides.

'Offensive Defense' Prepared By English in Shift of Strategy

Barriers Removed From Roadways To Aid Mobility

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Great Britain has so strengthened herself against invasion that tonight she was preparing elaborately for an "offensive defense." This entailed removal of barriers once counted on to slow an enemy but now cast out as handicaps to her own troops' mobility.

An order today by the new commander-in-chief, General Sir Alan Brooke, to remove many of the steel and concrete traps and road blocks studding roadways throughout England announced this startling shift of strategy.

It is a return to the traditional theory that attack is the best defense—provided there is sufficient man-and-machine-power to execute it. Now a trained and equipped army and home guard of several million men has converted Britain into an armed camp.

Britain is ready for a hard-hitting war on wheels.

Barriers already are being removed in northern England where all double road blocks are being eliminated and single ones cut back.

They were erected swiftly two months ago at every point where it was thought an invader might try to seize strategic communications. Britain then envisioned a possible barricade-to-barricade defense by the comparatively few trained soldiers then available.

The change was explained as a natural development with the return from the continent and the reorganization of the British Expeditionary force.

Still further tightening the defense—a campaign which already had brought mass transfer of thousands of civilians from strategic areas—the ministry of home security ordered withdrawal of civilians from areas in east Anglia, east and northeast of London, and on the southeastern coast.

ACCEPTS POST

Edward J. Flynn Named Demo Chairman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Edward J. Flynn of New York, one of the leaders in the pre-convention campaign to renominate President Roosevelt for a third term, accepted today the chairmanship of the democratic national committee.

He succeeds another New Yorker, James A. Farley, under whose management two democratic campaigns rolled up huge majorities for Mr. Roosevelt. With this in mind, Flynn announced: "I intend that this campaign shall be as thorough as though the results were doubtful. I do not hope to equal the record of my predecessor and friend, Jim Farley, but... I will do my best."

Flynn was picked for the job at a White House meeting today of the president, his running mate, Secretary Wallace, and a committee appointed at the Chicago convention. He will take over formally on Aug. 17, when Farley steps out of office to become president of the New York Yankees ball club.

"Congress would go home now if it were not for the fact that we are afraid to trust Secretary Stimson and some of his kind alone here in Washington," Wheeler said at another point.

Quakers Form Youth Service

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Society of Friends (Quakers) announced today formation of a national volunteer service for young men and women of all faiths and denominations whose religious beliefs prevent them from participation in war.

Members will give a year of civilian service to their country in such fields as reclamation of forests and impoverished farm lands in cooperation with the government, welfare and overseas work with Friends' units aiding war refugees.

Deputy Warden Resigns

FORT MADISON, (AP)—Eugene Mahoney, deputy warden at the Iowa state penitentiary since 1934, resigned yesterday before leaving on his vacation. His resignation will take effect in two weeks.

Rumania to Open Negotiations to Settle Territorial Claims

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 2 (AP)—Diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest today said the Rumanian crown council had decided to open negotiations next week with Hungary and Bulgaria for settlement of their territorial claims on Rumania.

400 Battle Forest Fire

RAPID CITY, S. D., (AP)—A lightning-ignited fire blazed out of control in the Harney national forest yesterday. The forest service recruited 400 men to battle it.

Berlin Says Major Attack Now Goes On

BERLIN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Germany claimed victories tonight for a western Atlantic raider and for the Luftwaffe (air arm) with which she hopes to stagger Britain sufficiently for a knockout blow or, short of that, force her into surrender.

German military observers insist that the "major attack" on Britain now is under way, indicating that increased pressure by sea and air is the present strategy — rather than immediate land invasion.

At the same time Germany moved to avert any suggestion of disorder in the Dutch part of her vast, war-torn military domain in western Europe by warning Netherlands not to demonstrate in favor of the refugee royal family when Dutch memorial day is celebrated next week, under penalty of severe prosecution.

British Fear More Pressure From Japan

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The fear that British-Japanese relations might grow so "progressively worse" that Japan would resort to military pressure — although probably not to general war — was expressed today in authoritative British quarters.

There was little likelihood in any case, these sources said, that the Japanese would take the full long step to total war, lest other powers—the United States, perhaps, or Russia—then became involved.

These informants speculated that if the current strains between the governments persisted and were heightened, the Japanese might try first to oust the British from north China and then from Hongkong. They acknowledged, too, that while any attempt to drive Britons from Hongkong would be met with force, it was not possible to defend the colony indefinitely.

Find Two More Bodies in Fire

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 1 (AP)—The twisted wreckage of a vast paint factory destroyed in Camden's worst fire yielded the charred remains of two women employees today and searchers expected to find the bodies of five other workers tomorrow.

Discovery of the two unidentified bodies, as tottering plant walls were blasted to prevent their collapse on searching parties, brought the known death toll in Tuesday's $2,000,000 explosion and blaze to four.

U. S. Moves to Oust Spies From Canal Zone

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1, (AP)—A broad cleanup of aliens in the Panama Canal zone, involving the detention of 81 persons described as foreign agents, was tersely announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

As the result of a painstaking check, he said, all aliens, other than Panamanians, have been discharged from the employment of either the army or the canal zone, for the protection of that vital link in the American defense system.

The secretary of war made his disclosure at the end of a day which saw the peace-time conscription bill and the measure authorizing the mobilization of the National Guard and the reserve officers training corps for training purposes encounter new delays in the senate.

A senatorial proposal that the number of conscripts be limited to 1,000,000 forced the senate military committee to postpone final action on the draft bill until after war department officials can be heard. Leaders agreed to defer senate consideration of the National Guard measure until next week, in compliance with requests from several legislators for more time to study the bill.

Late in the day, the national defense commission lent a hand to the drive for conscription with a statement favoring that method of building up the armed forces. Selective service, it said, would "prevent the disruption of industry through the entry into military service of many who would be more needed in industrial production because of special skills."

Meanwhile, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) a leading opponent of conscription, pointedly demanded, for a second time, that Wendell L. Willkie, the republican presidential nominee, make public his views on that question.

Stimson's disclosure came in reply to a request for comment on a newspaper article (published in the New York Daily News) asserting that 265 nazis were working on Panama Canal projects. His response was a prepared statement which he read to assembled newspapermen.

"There are now 81 foreign agents illegally in the canal zone," he said. "They are being detained at the immigration station awaiting arrangements for deportation or other disposition."

"There are no aliens employed either by the army or by the canal zone other than Panamanians."

"All aliens other than Panamanians formerly employed by either the army or the canal zone have been discharged."

"There are no persons working on fire control equipment in the canal zone other than American soldiers or American engineers."

"Under the law these individuals must be American citizens and their citizenship and affiliations have been carefully investigated by the military authorities."

Wheeler, in a formal statement, recalled that earlier this week he had said all presidential candidates should make their position on conscription known. President Roosevelt, he added, had indicated his approval of the pending bill, and eastern newspapers were reporting that "there is no difference between the president and Mr. Willkie on foreign policy, including intervention in Europe and Asia."

Further he said that the eastern newspapers were generally supporting the conscription bill, while farm organizations, the church, labor organizations, and peace groups were opposing it. (See SPIES, page 6)

A Note to Graduates

Tonight, more than 450 summer session students will receive degrees; tomorrow they'll begin to return to homes the nation over and in many a foreign state, another milestone in their academic careers at an end.

For the most part, they will become again the producers of knowledge, rather than the consumers.

What responsibilities that entails in this new American era!

There's an approaching "new order" in Europe today, because a single nation preached a power philosophy to the children in its schools, a philosophy without the freedoms.

The philosophy itself exists in America, will strive to overcome the freedoms. One of the greatest defensive armies of the nation is composed of America's educators, who guide American youth.

Knowledge—biggoted, impersonal, one-lane knowledge—seeks to destroy the world we know. And so, with knowledge, the nation's teachers must teach the meaning of the freedoms.

Have Iowa's summer students, bent upon learning in a myriad of academic realms, learned that fact? It is not taught in a department under a course number.

One must absorb it in the school of meditation. One must, even as he instructs in the past and present, instruct upon the future.

This has been a quiet summer at Iowa, without even a Frank Lloyd Wright to attack its traditions and disturb its decorum.

Life has progressed very much as might be expected, with no outward manifestations of the effect of outside influences upon the academic realm.

There have been concerts and lectures, play nights and parties, stage plays and round tables. These events have contributed to the "full life."

We cannot assume, as we have assumed in the past, that next year will be the same, and the next.

Tonight's 450 graduates have a vital interest in safeguarding the summer calm at Iowa of 1940 for the students of 1960.

Fair Weather Friend—Ouch!

Summer is a glorious season. (Scratch.) When we are paying tribute to such delights of the season as sunburn and visiting relatives, let us not forget the humble mosquito. It is so easy to do. (Slap.) Even Robert Benchley has neglected this tiny hero.

Some crass individuals have gone so far as to question the mosquito's place in the scheme of things. (Swat!) These persons do not deserve our serious attention. Other materialistic people have observed that the mosquito is a delicacy much sought after by birds. Either he is not such a toothsome rascal as he is said to be, or the supply always exceeds the demand. Perhaps what we really need is a comprehensive program of bird education. (Slap.)

The aesthetic contributions of these little blood-suckers deserve wider recognition. Who among us but that ignoble clod of earth, the sound sleeper, has not lain awake (scratch, scratch) listening spellbound to the rapturous nocturnes of these singing midgets? Such range and depth of feeling!

Nor should it be forgotten that it was the mosquito which invented yellow fever and malaria, thus making possible the Spanish-American war, the Panama Canal, and such Hollywood productions as "Yellow Jack."

Surely no one will deny the benefits in the way of physical and mental exercise to be gained from the universal summer pastime of "swat-the-mosquito." Yes, indeed, our little friend with the remarkably developed proboscis can be counted on to keep us up to scratch. (Scratch.)

From time to time one hears the complaint that the playful intimacy of the mosquito often leads to what is commonly known as a mosquito "bite." Of course this is due to a lack of understanding of mosquito psychology. (Scratch.)

If you are one who simply cannot get along with these sociable insects, there are several things you can do. The practice of swatting may be organized and a systematic plan of eradication followed. This technique is likely to be a little messy, but it is fine for working off irritation, if you don't mind the shattered vases and lamps, sprained wrists, and blood-stained walls.

If you think that chemical manufacturers should be subsidized, try the spray method. Close all doors and windows, then spray generously. When you recover consciousness, open the windows to clear the air. Naturally the waiting line will pour in, but that's life for you.

If you are against taking life in any form, you can try mosquito netting. Tack one end of the netting to the head of your bed, being careful to chip the veneer as little as possible. Pin the other end to the sheet and then burrow in. Aside from the fact that one out of three users of mosquito netting strangle to death every summer, there are a couple of serious drawbacks to this system.

In the first place (scratch), if you can burrow into the little nest you have constructed, certainly it is no trick for a mosquito. How can you expect him to know that you want to be alone? (Swat!) In the second place, mosquito netting offers none but a psychological protection. If you are utterly committed to defensive tactics, the thing to do is to buy a diving suit.

After all is said and done, we can't help loving the little creatures that snuggle under our pajamas. They are so attached to us. (Slap.) And isn't that our blood in their veins?

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

A Technique For City Visitors

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The visitor to New York wants to see many things, and if he is of an imaginative trend, and dwells too long in fancy on the things he wants to see, he is apt to be disappointed when finally he is face to face with them. I can remember being distinctly disappointed with ocean liners and with Grand Central terminal when I first got here, back in the twenties. You hear so much of "vast" things that when you actually meet up with them you find that fancy has outstripped reality. Today the big liners seem unbelievably enormous to me, and Grand Central seems too vast even to contemplate. I was even disappointed in the skyscrapers and in the skyline. To my naive mind I imagined a wall of turrets that reached to the clouds. Nothing of the sort exists. Today those same buildings and this same skyline seem inexpressibly beautiful. Appreciation of size grows with familiarity. New Yorkers never realize how immense their city and their towers are until they go away to other cities and communities. Then they seem more immense and more wonderful than ever.

But if I were coming to New York only for a day, or for a week, I would forget about ruining my health on a "sight-seeing" chase of the city. I would spend several hours in the cool of the evening on a bench in Central Park, looking at the reflected silhouette of the midtown towers in the waters. . . I would listen to the wild ducks as they quack contentedly within stone's throw of 40-story buildings. I would sit there for awhile and drink in the air, listening to the music and watching the people. Then I would get on a bus and climb to the top of it and ride down 5th avenue and back again. You would see young fellows courting their girls on those bus-tops, and indeed, right out on the open sidewalks. They are favorite courting places in New York. That is one of the disadvantages of city life for the young. They haven't any lanes for strolling, no privacy whatever.

Then I would consult the newspapers very carefully and select just the one show on Broadway that would seem more completely to meet my entertainment demands than any other. And I would set about getting a pair of good tickets to them — even if I had to get them from an agency and pay extra. If you are going to see only one show, you want to see it right. If you like drama, let me recommend "There Shall Be No Night." If you want musical comedy that is keyed gently to the headlines, let me recommend "Louisiana Purchase." You yourself can go on from there.

Be chary of Broadway night-clubs. Many are dull and overpriced. Consult, rather, the manager of your hotel, or better still, telephone the amusement editor of any of the daily papers and let him recommend a spot for you. His advice will be wise, and it will save you money.

New York is a circus for the race — mad who feel they must scurry from one end of it to the other without letting their shirts tails touch their backs. It is also a haven for the tranquil minded who can take their pleasure in measured stride.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

'Arizona' Cost $2,000,000

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — "Arizona" is back from location. And it may be that the movie industry will not see its like again until Hollywood's economic picture takes on clearer colors.

For "Arizona" has cost around $2,000,000, and that's not hay, even if Wesley Ruggles' expectation of a three or four million dollar "take" is realized.

This has been a year of big locations, but if "Arizona" is to be the last for a time it is fitting that the location was in the best Hollywood style—colossal.

How colossal it's difficult to picture except in statistics, which give no idea of the planning, team-work, just plain labor and sweat. "Arizona" was on location a little more than three months. In that time, the studio estimates that between $750,000 and $1,000,000 was spent in and around Tucson, the picture "base." A part was spent by the cast of 59—headed by Jean Arthur, William Holden, Warren William; part by the 230-odd workers on Ruggles' staff, but most of it on construction, 1,100 extras and Indians, animals, transportation and the thousand and one incidentals for a major movie campaign.

"Arizona" is the story of a pioneer girl in Tucson back in 1860, when it was a wild desert town. The studio rebuilt "old Tucson" on some 50 acres 14 miles east of the present city; rebuilt it with 130 complete adobe buildings. Another set, 20 miles north of Tucson, represented the hacienda of Phoebe Titus (the heroine) at her high point of affluence. The nine-room adobe was complete with gardens, spring, arroyo, irrigation lakes, and 10 acres of Johnson grass. (Phoebe's hacienda, I hear, has been turned over to the land owner, who is converting it into dude apartments. Old Tucson is to be presented to Pima County, but no other studio shall use it for at least a year.)

The company brings back the yarn about Ruggles' search for two genuine Apaches who knew the old smoke signals. Found, the Indians were asked if the code had been handed down from father to son. "No," said one, "we learn it from Hollywood movies."

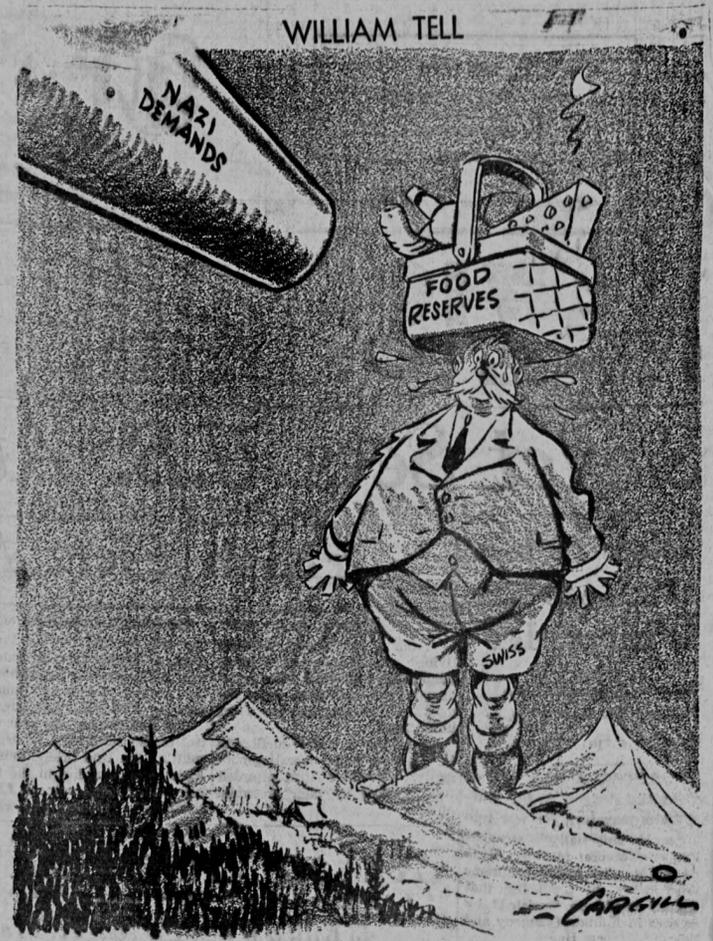

Old Tucson must have been crawling with livestock, for on the books are 460 horses, 504 cattle, 42 oxen, about 350 chickens and ducks, 450 burros, army mules, goats, sheep and dogs.

Heat was an item. Hottest reading experienced was 133 in the sun, where they did most of the shooting. About 3,000 cases of soft drinks (un-iced) were consumed. Ruggles himself drank hot coffee. Jean Arthur's trailer, with an adobe structure built around it, was air-conditioned. Warren William rigged out canvas canopies for his.

"Arizona" is back, and the Columbia sound stage looks like old Tucson transplanted. There's Arizona dirt on the barroom floor, and Arizona cactus all around, plus a lot of "props." And every location has a story like this: Ralph Peters, playing the bartender, spent three months on location. And where do you think he acted in his first scene? Back in Hollywood!

An increase in New York state forest fires has been attributed to careless tourists en route to the World's fair.

George M. Cohan has been active in the theater more than 50 years.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Defense Facts Are Hidden In Fine Hitlerized Fashion

WASHINGTON—National defense moguls have clamped down the lid, sealed and soldered it. No word emanates from the defense commission except through the press publicity bottleneck of which R. W. Horton is the cork. No newsmen may interview any employee of the defense commission without first getting Mr. Horton's sanction and Mr. Horton demands to know what questions are to be asked before he will sanction. He decides what questions may or may not be asked.

Simultaneously the war department has decided to crawl into the same bottle. Under the Woodring-Johnson regime, the freest latitude was allowed employees there to discuss defense and martial problems. It seems probable that the new Secretary of War Stimson has sealed officers by direct official order. At any rate not a constructive word of comment or news is now being permitted to slip out.

That is why you have failed to see in the press lately anything except canned official statements concerning the nation's number 1 problem.

Things are not as bad as the Hitlerized publicity system would indicate. At least the key employees under the cork are satisfied the job is being done effectively. The army and naval officers do not rate the economists very highly and vice versa but this has caused only minor friction so far.

Civilian officials of the defense commission are apparently getting along better with the officers, although there are some personal complaints that the army men are too rigid and do not understand industry.

The Case of Private Tupper

An outstanding commerce department economist, Ernest Tupper, now among the 30 attached to the commission, tried to get in to see an army colonel to leave some papers the other day. The colonel was out, but his secretary suggested that Major X ranked high enough to receive them. The secretary called Major X and fumbled around in conversation to get Mr. Tupper to disclose his title.

"What is your name?" she asked.

He spelled it.

Finally in desperation, she said point blank:

"Major Tupper?"

Tupper sadly shook his head and confessed:

"No, Private Tupper."

The story has become one of the inner classics of the commission.

British propaganda to keep up her domestic morale may have misled the American public regarding her chances. Top men here are worried about it, fearing the American public mind has not been fully prepared for the shock of conquest or peace that may come. Trustworthy inner advices suggest German plane production is more than double that of Britain today. The best authorities hate to visualize the prospect of a ruthless concerted attack.

Many an official in the White House and war department has privately expressed apprehension over the possible effect of Britain's collapse upon the defense program. That subject seems to worry Mr. Roosevelt and his defense cohorts more than anything else right now. They gravely fear the American public will lose interest and decline to tighten its belt if Britain fades and nazi propagandists continue disseminating their appeasement and peace soporifics to the United States.

Not on the official list, but very much in inside evidence at the Havana conference was Milo Perkins, head of the surplus marketing division of the agriculture department. He consulted with the American delegation on the cartel plan which was not presented to the conference in its total form. Perkins may head the cartel setup. Why his presence in Havana was kept so secret agriculture officials do not know.

New Rules Governing Formal Sorority Rushing for Fall Are Announced

Rush Week Begins Sept. 16 At 2 o'Clock

No Date Slips Mailed To Rushees; Invitations Issued Each Morning

Several new rules governing formal sorority rushing have been made this year by the university Women's Panhellenic association, which regulates the formal rush week activities.

Rush week will begin at 2 p.m., Monday, Sept. 16 and will continue until 10 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 19.

According to the new regulations, no "date slips" for rushing parties will be mailed to rushees before rush week. Instead all invitations to parties will be issued through the Panhellenic office each morning. The invitations must be received and accepted or refused between 9 and 10 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 17, and between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., Wednesday.

Invitations to the party given by each sorority Thursday noon will be issued and replied to between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m., Thursday. Rushees may attend parties at two houses during this time.

Each sorority will give a formal dinner as its preferred party from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday. Rushees are required to attend the full two hours. Invitations to these will be issued Thursday afternoon.

Open House
Each rushee is required to attend open house in every chapter house Monday, Sept. 16, the first day of rushing.

Rushees whose last names begin with letters A to M will go from 2 to 5 p.m. to these houses: Alpha Delta Pi, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta and Phi Mu. From 7 to 10 p.m., they will go to the Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority houses.

Rushees whose last names begin with N to Z will go first to these houses: Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega, Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta and Zeta Tau Alpha, from 7 to 10 p.m. They will go to the Alpha Delta Pi, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Xi Delta, Delta Delta Delta and Phi Mu sorority houses. According to last year's regulations, rushees were urged to attend as many open houses as possible during three hours' time.

Six Parties
Each sorority is limited to six parties in addition to open house during formal rushing. The parties are to be one and one-half hours in length, except for the two-hour preferred party.

Every rushee is required to remain the full time at each party and to attend each party for which she accepts an invitation. She is required to arrive promptly. Last year's rules permitted each sorority to give not more than seven parties and set a minimum of one-half hour during which a rushee must remain at a party.

Correspondence between sororities and rushees preceding formal rush week shall be limited this year to one letter to women living in Iowa and two letters to out-of-state women. Three communications were permitted last year.

No Dates
Rushees will not be permitted to have any communication with men during formal rushing. This includes dates, telephone calls, telegrams, transportation or letters.

Sororities shall present invitations to pledges and rushees will file preference cards in the same manner as last year. The sororities will present their bids Friday morning and will receive their acceptance lists from the rushing attorney at 5 p.m., Friday. Rushees will be given their invitations to pledge at that time in the Panhellenic office in Iowa Union.

Reservations for rooms during rushing will be made by the rushees through the Panhellenic office.

The regular rushee's meeting has been announced for 8:30 a.m., Tuesday, in Iowa Union. Attendance at this meeting is compulsory for all rushees, and the rushing registration fee will be paid then.

markets to cushion the shock of a depression and the ability to restore the country to the plane of peace-time purchasing power. He also said that the federation did not approve of putting new farm land into operation where it would only mean waste.

Mr. Blackburn also asked that the present farm program be kept intact by whatever administration takes over after the fall election. He said the federation approves the principle of full parity payments to all farm producers.

Concluding his presentation of the policy of the American federation on topics of national importance, he urged conservation of all national resources especially in view of the present world conflict; he asked for a stronger farm credit system with interest rates as low as possible.

The national offices of the federation are in Chicago and Blackburn's home is in Riverside, Cal. Byron Cogan, president of the Johnson county farm bureau, was master of ceremonies on the program.

- Ryder-Sarazen Other Members Contrary Opinions

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—The head coaching assignment of the all star football collegians who will oppose Green Bay's professional champions for charity at Soldier field Aug. 29 is virtually a cinch for a mid-westerner.

With only three days of balloting left, Eddie Anderson of Iowa maintained his wide lead over the field with a total of 2,146,407 points. Next came Don Faurot of Missouri with 1,364,515. The two were the only coaches with totals above the million mark.

The Ryder-Sarazen match, played at Detroit for the benefit of the Red Cross, was highly successful from a financial standpoint, and a Ryder-amateur match for the same worthy cause also should prove profitable, even though it is admitted such an event might be akin to matching the Tigers (we used to say Yankees) against the Elm street Cubs.

There is a certain glamor about the amateurs, and even if their status was very, very underdog, the fans would turn out to watch them with the hope there might be something to cheer about.

Ward's team, in addition to himself, including Art Doering, Wilford Wherle, Ray Billows, Johnny Goodman, Willie Turnesa, Harry Givan, Melvin Harbert, Don Schumacher, Charley Yates and Ed Kingsley.

Most of these probably will qualify for the national amateur this year, and as our colleague Bill White suggested a match between Ward's team or a reasonable facsimile thereof and the Ryder team might be staged at the site of the amateur tournament immediately preceding that event next month.

Naturally such a match would be subject to the approval of the U.S.G.A., but inasmuch as the pros have been giving freely of their services for the Red Cross cause, the U.S.G.A. could offer no valid objection to doing likewise.

Despite Ward's belief that such a match would be close, comparative individual records of the pros and amateurs in open events leave a contrary opinion.

Of the members of Ward's team only Goodman, who won it, and Ward himself, who nearly did, were ever more than a mild threat in the national open.

The amateurs strongest talking point is that most of their tournaments are on a match play basis, and that their experience in the man vs. man game would partially offset any lack of skill at medal play.

However, the amateurs' matches have been played against fellow amateurs. What the simon-pures would do when facing "big name" pros is a matter of speculation.

If an amateur didn't know he was playing a pro ace and thought his opponent was just another Ferdinand duffer, he might do pretty well. But the idea of being up against professional skill naturally would engender an awe which might leave the amateur glancing up timidly after every shot to see if his opponent approved or might offer a suggestion.

At any rate, and regardless of the merits of the match from a competition standpoint, a meeting between the Ryder team and a select group of amateurs would not lack in public interest. The amateurs would lose no prestige as they would be expected to lose anyway. In fact, since the Bobby Jones era they have had little prestige to lose, and they might gain a little by avoiding a shut-out.

"We Wuz Robbed" Gives Ball Away; Umpire Decides Hit Is Homer

ATLANTA, Aug. 1 (AP)—Speaking of home runs, this one will go down among the unusual. Atlanta's catcher-manager, Paul Richards, slashed a line drive down the leftfield foul line in last night's game with Little Rock.

Outfielder Wee Willie Duke of the Rockers stabbed for it, but the ball glanced off his glove and rolled to the bleachers.

Duke thought surely the ball was a foul. As he went to retrieve it, kids in the bleachers yelled for the ball. And Wee Willie tossed it to them.

Richards leisurely circled the bases. The umpire at home plate had ruled it a fair hit.

Anderson Near Victory in All-Star Poll; Don Faurot 2nd

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The head coaching assignment of the all star football collegians who will oppose Green Bay's professional champions for charity at Soldier field Aug. 29 is virtually a cinch for a mid-westerner.

The nationwide poll to select a head mentor and four assistants closed at midnight, Aug. 4. The sectional leaders: Big Ten conference—Anderson, 2,146,407; Mal Elward, Purdue, 408,651.

Far West—James Phelan, Washington, 418,006; Buck Shaw, Santa Clara, 398,817.

Nationally, Anderson, by yesterday morning's standings, was 900,000 points ahead of his nearest rival for the post. Dr. Eddie had polled 1,738,171 total points, against the Missouri mentor Don Faurot's total of 892,809. Yesterday the margin increased steadily.

With his lead increasing steadily day by day, Anderson will just have to wait until the final day to claim his laurels, but there will be no kick coming if he steps in right now to organize his coaching setup, he's that sure of winning. The only thing that stands in his way is the fact that there are four other races for places on his staff in the midwest outside the Big Ten, the far west, the east and the south.

Other Members Ward's team, in addition to himself, including Art Doering, Wilford Wherle, Ray Billows, Johnny Goodman, Willie Turnesa, Harry Givan, Melvin Harbert, Don Schumacher, Charley Yates and Ed Kingsley.

Most of these probably will qualify for the national amateur this year, and as our colleague Bill White suggested a match between Ward's team or a reasonable facsimile thereof and the Ryder team might be staged at the site of the amateur tournament immediately preceding that event next month.

Naturally such a match would be subject to the approval of the U.S.G.A., but inasmuch as the pros have been giving freely of their services for the Red Cross cause, the U.S.G.A. could offer no valid objection to doing likewise.

Bremer's Beat Power Boys, 6-5; Fisher's Homer Nets 3 Runs

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 1, (AP)—A pickup team composed of Ralph (Bud) Williamson, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Harvey Riedemann, Watertown, Wis., turned in a scorching 62 today to capture the pro-amateur best ball event signaling the start of the $5,000 Milwaukee open golf tournament.

Williamson paced the professionals by carding a sparkling 64, seven under par for the North Hills course, while his 21-year-old partner, Riedemann, provided the surprise of the day with his individual score of 67, topping all amateurs.

Tied at 63 for second in the best ball were two Madison shot-makers, Jimmy Milward, Blackhawk club pro and former Wisconsin open king, and his partner Bobby March, and the combination of Tommy Armour, veteran Chicago Medinah pro, and amateur Ellsworth Vines, the former tennis professional.

The 64 bracket, out of the money, included Dutch Harrison, Chicago pro, and Dick Matchette, Milwaukee amateur; Red Leonard, Milwaukee; and Gordon Kummer, Milwaukee; Johnny Bulla, Chicago, and Sammy Ruskin, Milwaukee, and Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y., several times Metropolitan open king, and Ed Yockey, Jr., Milwaukee.

Big Ed Oliver, Hornell, N. Y., pro and winner of the recent St. Paul open, and his partner, Jim Ferrier, Australian and open champion, produced a 65.

Also finishing out of the money were such favored twosomes: Sam Snead, Shawnee-on-Delaware pro, and Wilford Wherle, Chicago amateur; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., and George Johnson Jr., Oconomowoc, Wis.; Dick Metz, Chicago open winner, and Burleigh Jacobs, Jr., former Wisconsin amateur champion; and Jimmy Thomson, Rye, N. Y., and George Dawson, Chicago.

Milward had a 66, second low individual score, while Riedemann, Armour, Revolta and Hines all were decked for third place with 67's, four under par. Ferrier's 68 was second low among the simon pures.

Medal play in the Milwaukee open, which has drawn a field of approximately 200 of the nation's top flight golfers, opens tomorrow and continues through Sunday.

Miss Swanson was named to organize the motion picture vote, Sarazen was put in charge of the athletic division and Miss Putnam was assigned to general vote-getting.

Bosox Blast Cleveland Out of League Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' normally airtight defense all but collapsed today and Boston, paced by ir-repressible Jimmy Foxx, made the most of it.

Pounding out a 5 to 2 victory, the New England wrecking crew dropped the Indians to second place as Detroit vanquished the Yankees. The Sox pounded two hurlers for 10 hits, including Foxx's 22nd homer of the season, and in winning salvaged one contest from their three-game series here.

Four errors, three in the seventh inning, spelled the Indians' undoing. Two were charged to usually reliable Ray Mack who let in a run by throwing wild to first after fumbling a grounder; and one was committed by Mel Harder who also threw past the first baseman to permit two unearned runs.

Southpaw Fritz Ostermueller, posting his second victory against five defeats, held the Tribesmen to seven hits. Harder, charged with the loss, yielded eight, and Johnny Allen, who relieved him in the ninth, gave up two.

Bremer's was forced to come from behind to beat the Power Boys in a city league game last night, 6 to 5. The losers went into an early lead, scoring twice in the first inning on a hit, an error and a walk; but the winners tied it in the third on a three-hit barrage.

The Power Boys went ahead again in the fourth, counting three times on three hits and an error, but Bremer's went ahead to stay in the last half of the same frame, counting four times on three hits, including Fisher's three-run homer.

Chisox Walk To 4th Place

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Chicago's 1940 White Sox "walked" into the first division of the American league for the first time today. With the bases loaded in the 11th inning, Nelson Potter, Philadelphia athletic pitcher, walked Joe Kuhel to force in Bob Kennedy with the run that gave the Sox a 5 to 4 triumph.

The victory, their 11th in the last 14 games, lifted the Sox into fourth place by a fraction of a percentage point ahead of the New York Yankees, although the two were tied on a games won and lost basis. The defeat sent the A's back into last place.

Edgar Smith, Chicago starting hurler, literally was knocked from the box in the third inning. He was felled by a drive off Bob Johnson's bat. The ball struck Smith in the groin and he was carried to the clubhouse. The injury was not considered serious. Pete Appleton and Clint Brown followed him to the mound, with Brown getting credit for the victory.

After Sam Chapman's 16th homer with one on in the fifth had helped the A's to a 4-1 lead, the Sox pecked away at Potter to finally tie the score in the ninth. They won in the 11th without benefit of a hit or an error. Two walks, coupled with a sacrifice and a fielder's choice, filled the bases. A third base on balls to Kuhel accounted for the winning run.

Detroit Win Drops Yankees To 5th Place

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers regained rulership of the American league today with a crushing 11 to 2 conquest of the New York Yankees that knocked the world champions out of the first division.

The maneuver in the standings was accomplished in conjunction with the Boston Red Sox's 5-2 decision over Cleveland, giving the Tigers exclusive possession of first place, and Chicago's 5-4 eleven-inning triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics, lifting the White Sox into fourth place.

The margin Chicago held over the Yankees was minute, the White Sox having a percentage of .5164 and New York .5161, but it was sufficient to drop the champs out of the first four for the first time since June 25.

Schoolboy Rowe, hero of Detroit's last pennant era, was the kingpin again today. He held the Bronx Bombers to seven hits and contributed a triple and a double toward the Tigers' own total of 15 safeties, driving in three runs.

It was the ninth victory against two defeats for the big right-hander who two years ago was relegated to the minor leagues with little hope for his future.

He was scored upon in only one inning, giving up two runs in the fourth on singles by Tom Henrich and Joe DiMaggio, a double by Charley Keller and an infield out.

In contrast the Tigers tallied in six of their eight turns at the plate. After punching over a run in each of the first two innings they drove rookie Marvin Brewer off the mound with five runs in the third.

McCoskey Starts Spurt Barney McCoskey started this uprising with a triple, Charley Gehring walked, Hank Greenberg hit his second straight double and Rudy York singled, before Atley Donald was rushed to the firing line. He managed to get the next two batters to pop up, but Birdie Tibbets, who had homered in the second inning, singled and Rowe tripled ahead of the third out.

The Tigers continued to hit Donald freely, scoring twice in the fifth with the help of some uncertain fielding by Joe DiMaggio, and again in the seventh and eighth. Pete Fox hit a triple, a double and a single.

Bill Knickerbocker, utility infielder, was chased from the Yankee bench by Umpire Louis Kolls in the fourth.

The first encounter was a cut and dried proposition with Whitlow Wyatt pitching seven-hit ball for his 10th triumph of the season.

Pressbox Pickups By OSCAR HARGRAVE

There probably never has been in the history of all-star polls, a coach who drew votes from as many places and support from as many groups as Eddie Anderson is in the present vote.

As evidence to support this claim I only have to offer a few of the incidents that come through the voting. There is little doubt but what practically every Iowan citizen will vote—and there is also the state and national support that comes to Iowa's coach.

From the Nevada (Iowa) Evening Journal comes one bit of proof of the widespread faith in Anderson in a guest column written by the Rev. Fr. N. A. Steffen, who says, in part, "When Coach Eddie Anderson, in his address to Nevada high school letter men last winter, declared that athletics however glamorous assumed their chief importance in character building, he put into forceful language his own philosophy of life. More than that he sounded the keynote of his own career as an all-American and as the Miracle coach of 1939."

Steffen recounts a series of incidents of Anderson's career to prove his point and fittingly concludes with a paragraph that says: "Eddie Anderson is a magnificent coach. His fame as an all-American is still fresh. But when the record of his gridiron achievements will have grown dim and the Miracle Men of 1939 will have yielded to the heroes of a future day, the Wonder Coach of the University of Iowa will still be remembered as 'Eddie Anderson, Leader of Men.'"

Just a few samples of the votes that come from places other than Iowa City and vicinity—An insurance company sends a ballot blank, with a vote cast for every member of its Des Moines staff, the Wick family from Valley City, N. D. sends its total family vote of five. Alan E. Wicks is an Iowa grad of 1938.

Other groups of votes in yesterday's mail include 10 solicited by Hal L. Harkins at Saint Francis, Kans. and a couple of ballot blanks full of votes from a small town in southern Illinois. A letter that accompanied the votes states that the sender picked the blanks up at an Iowa City business place during a recent trip through here.

Those, from one day's mail, are but a few of the proofs. All added up they spell victory in the race for the head coach's position. At least, in view of Anderson's present lead of nearly a million points it would be pretty hard to figure otherwise.

Special Investigator Reveals Series of Molestations Here

Police Seek To Halt Series Of Assaults

John Barnes, Special Police Deputy, Reveals Extent of Investigations

A four-month epidemic of molestations of women was revealed here yesterday by John Barnes of Iowa City, special police investigator in the case, who is working in conjunction with the Iowa City police department.

The series of attacks has resulted in six arrests, with charges filed in five of the cases, according to Barnes. The sixth case was dismissed, he said, because the victim refused to file charges.

First incident in the series of molestations, according to police records here, was reported on April 21, 1940. Since then there have been a total of 35 cases committed generally on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, Barnes declared. Fourteen cases are on police records and the other 21 have been uncovered by special investigation, he added.

Barnes Deputized
Barnes is an assistant in the University of Iowa college of commerce, in the economics department, and was deputized, according to Iowa City Police Chief Frank J. Burns and Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock, on Monday, July 22, as a special investigator after he said he had witnessed an attempted attack on a coed on the campus the night of Sunday, July 21.

University of Iowa women and other Iowa City women have been attacked or molested in some manner on a number of occasions during the past few months, the investigator said, and though these cases were often reported to the police department, no trace could be found of the molesters, he stated.

Barnes told the following story, verified by the intended victim of the attempted attack he witnessed on July 21: On Sunday night, July 21, a university coed, Frances Keith Hill of Hinton, was walking along the south side of Jefferson street near University hall when a man driving a Model A Ford stopped along the curb and asked her to go for a ride—to "go on a party."

She refused and the man continued to drive along the curb urging her to go with him. When she continued to refuse, he stopped the car and got out, starting toward her. Miss Hill saw Barnes coming out of University hall where he had been doing some work. She went to him for protection; the man followed.

Miss Hill told her accoster that Barnes was a friend and asked him to leave. He, in turn, offered to take the two "out in the country for a drink" and asked that they "settle the matter in a friendly way." When Barnes refused to go the man ran to his car and drove away. Both had good opportunity to observe him, they said. Barnes said he took the license number of the man's car.

Reports to Police
Taking Miss Hill to Iowa Union, Barnes went to the police station and reported the incident, he said. The next day Miss Hill signed an information against the man, who had given his name in the conversation the night before as Lyle Murray, according to Barnes.

A warrant was issued for his arrest, Barnes said, and he was taken into custody at his home in Hills by Iowa City police the following Tuesday evening.

Murray, who is on relief, was held in city jail Tuesday night and came up for preliminary hearing Wednesday morning, July 24, according to the investigator. The man gave his name again as Lyle Murray, 28, of Hills. Local police records revealed that Murray has a penitentiary record.

In the absence of County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark, Attorney Ed Rate of Iowa City was secured as acting county attorney to prosecute, Barnes explained. At the preliminary hearing Murray was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $25 bond to appear for hearing in police court Tuesday, July 30, at 2 p.m.

Case Continued
The case was continued until 2 p.m. yesterday, but was further continued yesterday. No new date has been set.

County Attorney Vestermark said last night that the second continuation had been arranged by himself and Attorney A. C. Cahill, who represents Murray. Cahill, Vestermark and Police Judge Burke N. Carson attended the district republican judicial convention in Marengo yesterday. Barnes blamed "some women involved in the case" for lack of cooperation in revealing names and filing charges, and prosecuting authorities for failing to push action in the case.

"The police department has done everything in its power to make arrests and produce evidence to stop the epidemic," he

Professor M. Lampe To Conduct Memorial For Mrs. C. Stearns

Memorial services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. for Mrs. C. H. Stearns, 81, 408 Myrtle avenue, who died at a local hospital Wednesday night following a short illness, at the residence. Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the university school of religion, will officiate.

Mrs. Stearns was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Sept. 11, 1858. She spent her childhood in Revenna, Ohio, and Wauseca, Minn. She married Dr. Clayton H. Stearns on May 17, 1887 and lived at Zumbrota and Owatonna, Minn., most of her married life.

Following the death of her husband in 1926, she moved to Iowa City to live with her daughter, Genevieve Stearns.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. A. E. Butsch of Owatonna, Minn., Mrs. W. J. Clayton of Lewistown, Mont., and Genevieve Stearns of Iowa City. She raised three nephews, George Nichols of Long Beach, Cal., John Nichols of Minneapolis, Minn., and Thomas Nichols of Cody, Wyo. Five grandchildren also survive.

The body will be cremated. The family requests that no flowers be sent.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., (AP)—Jim McCoy of the Sheridan County Sportsmen's association feeds the big trout that live in tanks on a downtown street to show tourists there are "big uns" in Wyoming streams.

On a recent morning McCoy discovered a leader, hook and sinkers beside the tank. Most of the fish didn't live there any more.

County Attorney Vestermark said last night that he had no knowledge of "an extended series" of molestations. He asserted that there had been no question of avoiding the Murray case in the series of continuations.

He was notified of the first continuation, he said, by the police. The second, he pointed out, had been arranged to permit the attorneys involved to attend the republican convention at Marengo.

Other Cases

Though a total of 35 cases have been uncovered in the various aspects of the epidemic, Barnes said he believed that there are many more cases in which women involved refuse to report or file information because of fear of publicity.

The description given in most of the reported instances, Barnes said, is of a man with "peculiar eyes, sandy-red hair, weighing between 150 and 160 pounds." Witnesses and victims also report that the man walks with a slow shuffle walk, Barnes said. A week ago last Tuesday, two days following the incident between Murray and Miss Hill, a woman was attacked on the campus behind Iowa Union, Barnes disclosed. The incident was reported to police and the attacker was arrested but the following day the victim refused to file charges and the man was released, he revealed. This was the sixth arrest, he said.

Special investigator Barnes said he believed that if the hearing can be held on the Murray case and on the other four suspects now free on bond much of the molestation trouble will be stopped.

"Under the circumstances, Mr. Willkie," the senator asked, "don't you think you should let the people and the congress know your position? It is stated that some of the leading financial institutions in New York supporting your candidacy will refuse to support you if you oppose the legislation. This would be a good time to let the people know on which side you are going to stand."

The proposal to limit conscripts to 1,000,000 was made by Senators Lee (D-Okla) and Bridges (R-NH). Their amendment would give President Roosevelt the power to draft 500,000 men 21 to 30 years old, inclusive, next October for a 12-month period of training. Early next year, the exact date not set, he could call up another 500,000.

Bridges, who told reporters that war department officials would testify on the proposal tomorrow, said its effect would be to impose an exact limitation on the number of conscripts. The only restriction on that point already contained in the bill is a provision that none could be called for whose training congress had not provided funds.

Under the measure as it now stands, about 12,000,000 men would be called upon to register. Army officials estimate that after granting exemptions because of physical disabilities, dependents or special skills more needed in industry, about 4,500,000 would be eligible for service.
