Tiny But Terrible Are Navy's 'Skeeter Ships'

Swift and deadly as they are small, Uncle Sam's "mosquito boats" are the newest additions to the American navy. One of the boats, the PT-3, is pictured above being sent through its paces on the Potomac river before a group of high-ranking naval officers at Washington. "Mosquito boats" are playing a leading role in the battle of Britain, with reported engagements between British and German fleets of this type in the English channel.

Humanitarian Sentiments Go Out the Window; a 'Howling Hell' Remains—

A Grim Winter in Store for Europe

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

Winston Churchill's announcement that Britain will maintain a tight blockade of Europe, coupled with a German disclaimer of responsibility to feed conquered peoples, appears to foredoom at least parts of the continent to one of the grimmest winters in history.

It will be recalled that John Cudahy, American ambassador to Belgium, used the phrase "howling hell" in talking about conditions he felt were likely to prevail unless food were permitted to reach the continent.

By the estimate of Herbert Hoover, 18,000,000 persons in Belgium, Holland, Norway and

Poland alone "are going to die unless food is gotten to them at once."

Hoover's estimate, particularly, conflicts with other calculations by American, British and Nazi authorities, but most neutral experts agree that prospects are not bright for the least fortunate in the countries overrun by Adolf Hitler's conquering legions.

Few people had believed that Britain would agree in effect to surrender the blockade, virtually her sole weapon aside from aerial bombers, and thus contribute to her own downfall.

Proposing that Hitler bear his responsibilities "to the full," Churchill summed up the British case in carefully chosen words. Permitting imports of food would only "prolong the agony of all Europe."

Germany has food reserves and if captive peoples starve it will be because the Nazis will not share, he said, adding that food, directly or indirectly, might be used to manufacture munitions to be employed against Britain.

That is far from the whole case, however. It would not be diplomatic for Churchill to voice them, but from the military viewpoint there are even more cogent arguments for a tight blockade as a war weapon.

Stated baldly, it is to Britain's advantage to turn Europe into a "howling hell" just as it would be useful just now to convert the Balkans into a war area and thus hamper the Nazi attack on England and the empire.

Lack of proper nourishment of civilian workers would be reflected in a diminished output of munitions and of other goods which would be turned to the advantage of the Reich. As food supplies dwindled in occupied areas, unrest might be expected to mount, with the result that more and more German troops would be required to garrison hungry towns.

Moreover, disease is one of the four horsemen which rides closely on the heels of starvation, and epidemics would weaken Germany in a long war even though the Reich were relatively well fed at the expense of subject peoples.

The United States agriculture department has concluded there is sufficient food to see Europe through the winter without serious suffering, but that it is not evenly distributed. There seems little doubt that Germany is making sure that the Reich gets the conqueror's share of the grain and other stores collected and the cattle and poultry slaughtered in occupied lands.

In a war to the death, such as this one, humanitarian sentiments stand little chance when they conflict with what the strategists consider to be a military necessity.

British Bombers Range from France To Norway, Batter German Bases

Churchill Reveals 'Agreement In Principle' for U. S. Lease Of Territory for Defense Bases

Submits Plan as Proof of Fusion of British, American Interests; Sites Involved From Newfoundland to Caribbean

LONDON, Aug. 20, (AP)—Britain announced today an "agreement in principle" for United States lease of British island territory from Newfoundland to the Caribbean for defense bases and presented the plan to parliament and people as proof of an "inexorable" fusion of British and United States interests.

Winston Churchill himself thundered that "no one can stop" this trend and his eloquence stirred exultant response. In the house of commons tonight Leslie Hore-Belisha, the former war secretary, raised the possibility of "an eventual common citizenship" of Britain and the United States, and said this alone would almost compensate for "the evils of war."

Such a union, Hore-Belisha recalled, was offered, in vain, to France in the hour of the third republic's collapse.

Utterly confident, Prime Minister Churchill used his disclosure of the plan for air-naval base leases to declare that the British empire and the United States "will have to be mixed up together in some of their affairs for mutual and general advantage."

"No one can stop it!" he cried. "Like the Mississippi, it just keeps rolling along! Let it roll! Let it roll on full flood, irresistible, to broader lands and better days!"

Tumult from the house of commons' crowded benches almost smothered the prime minister's last words—just after he had disclosed the unprecedented British offer of the leases, for 99 years, at the conclusion of a long report on the war.

Later, Lord Halifax, the foreign secretary, told the house of lords that "we have agreed in principle" on the question of the leases on British possessions in the western hemisphere.

Where the bases will be located was not disclosed, but Lord Halifax said the discussions concerned Atlantic islands—presumably Bermuda, various West Indian points and Newfoundland.

Churchill declared that Britain sought no advantage for herself from the offer, but he did appeal for "timely reinforcement" of Britain's navy from the United States—an unspoken but clear reference to her need for United States' aid in filling gaps in her fleet. American discussion has centered about the sale to Britain of 50 overage destroyers.

Germans Announce Successful Attacks on Southeast England

BERLIN, Aug. 20 (AP)—German planes returned in force today to the assaults on Great Britain after a brief lull and "successfully bombed" airports and military objectives in southeast England.

DNB, the German news agency, reported the Nazis had dropped bombs on the Eastchurch and Southend airports and others in Kent, southeast of London, as well as raiding munitions depots and other military objectives.

German fighter planes protecting the bombers have brought down a number of British planes, DNB added.

For the most part, the news agency reported, today's flights were only armed reconnaissance—fighting off what planes came up to keep the Nazis from examining British defenses and the results of earlier raids.

Report Italy Massing Troops In Albania on Greek Border

Fascist News Agency Suggests Direct Action To Punish 'Criminals'

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 20 (AP)—Usually well informed circles said tonight that Italy is massing troops in Albania on the Greek border with at least one armored division among them.

A check of official circles in Athens, the Greek capital, brought only this answer: "Reports abroad cannot either be confirmed nor denied."

ROME, Aug. 20 (AP)—The official Italian news agency Stefani accused Greek authorities tonight of hiring assassins to terrorize Albanians in the Greek region of Ciamuria, and declared the Albanians were awaiting Italian "action to ban the criminals."

(This is the sharpest suggestion yet heard of direct measures against Greece, which long has been subject of a violent fascist press campaign.)

(Italy, in her press campaign against Greece, has laid claim to the Ciamuria region for Albania, which has been under Italian occupation since April, 1939. Italians said that Ciamuria is rightfully Albanian territory.)

"These barbarians," Stefani said, were intended to be passed off as the "spontaneous reaction of the local Greek population against Musselman Albanians and an outburst of ancient hates."

Roosevelt Declines GOP Debate Request

Declares Problems Of State Will Keep Him From Campaigning

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt answered no today to Wendell L. Willkie's challenge to debate campaign issues—and reported that conversations with Britain on U. S. acquisition of naval and air bases on English possessions in this hemisphere were progressing satisfactorily.

Both subjects were discussed at his regular press conference at the summer white house, with the chief executive indicating that it was defense problems like the naval-air base situation which would keep him from campaigning for a third term.

Things are in such shape this year, he said, that he can do no political campaigning, including debating with Willkie as the republican presidential candidate suggested in his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., Saturday.

While Mr. Roosevelt could not be persuaded to say when decisions in the British-American conversations might be reached, British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax told the house of lords in London that "agreement in principle" had been arrived at for the leasing to the United States for 99 years of British sites in the Atlantic, various West Indian points and Newfoundland.

And while British Prime Minister Churchill, speaking in the house of commons, appealed to this country for "timely reinforcement" of the British navy, Mr. Roosevelt told reporters that he should not speculate on proposals that the United States sell to England destroyers built in World war days. He did not deny, however, that such sales were under consideration.

Willkie Again Invites F.D.R. To Discussions

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 20 (AP)—Renewing his invitation for President Roosevelt to meet him in debate, Wendell L. Willkie expressed the opinion today that the chief executive was "under a double obligation" to discuss campaign issues because he was running for a third term.

In a statement handed to his press conference after Mr. Roosevelt had turned down his earlier debate proposal, the republican presidential nominee said he would "be glad to debate the questions involved in the present campaign at the points he (the president) visits in various parts of the country."

Would Require Registration of Men From 18 Through 64, With Men 21 to 45 Eligible for Immediate Training— House Draft Bill Gets Tentative Committee O.K.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—A broad conscription bill making men 21 to 45 years old, inclusive, liable for immediate military training was tentatively approved by the house military committee today, while the senate debated a less sweeping measure.

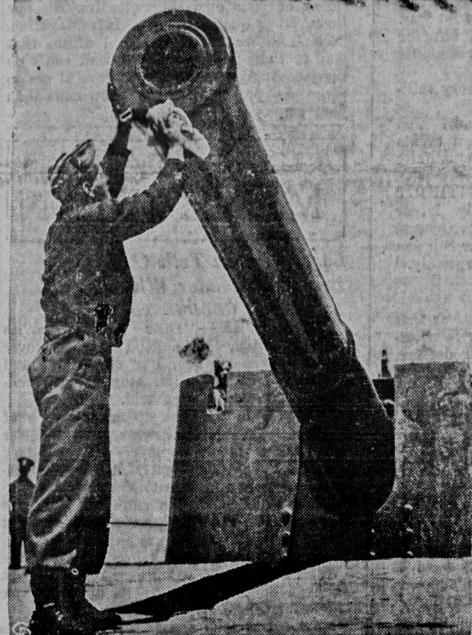

The house bill calls for registration of men from 18 through 64. Those selected immediately for a year's compulsory service would come from the 21-45 classifications, however. Chairman May (D-Ky) said that the committee, by an almost unanimous vote, turned down proposals that provisions of the senate bill, calling only for registration and training of men 21 to 30, inclusive, be inserted in the house measure.

"It's the opinion of the committee that these are the proper ages and we're going to put the bill out this way," said May.

Clergymen, divinity students and conscientious objectors would be exempt, and the training of college students in their senior year

Sumner Welles Defends Bullitt For Speech Flayed in Senate

Asserts Ambassador Has Right to Tell Of War Conditions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, defended William C. Bullitt from senate critics today, asserting that it was highly desirable for an ambassador to tell his countrymen what he had seen in the European war zone.

The ambassador to France urged in a speech in Philadelphia Sunday that the United States transfer destroyers to England in the interest of national defense. The United States, he argued, was in danger of attack if Britain were defeated.

Welles added that when an American ambassador who had been in an important post in Europe for several years wished to tell his own people what he had seen and his own impressions, this seemed highly desirable and in the interest of public enlightenment.

Outskirts Of Paris Feel English Attack

German Assaults On Britain Termed 'Comparatively Slight'

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP)—British bombers struck at German-held airdromes and quays from Norway to southern France today in an effort to smash Nazi springboards for any attempted invasion of these islands, and carried out attacks on the outskirts of Paris itself.

Here at home, seven German planes were declared shot down in the day's assaults upon Britain—assaults described by the air ministry as "comparatively slight"—and an unstated number of Englishmen died under the invaders' bombs.

In a single southwest town, "several were killed and many wounded by bombers which dived low and hit a row of houses. In another town in that region, men on a bathing beach were machine-gunned by the raiders, but no casualties were reported.

Raided were two towns in Essex, one in South Wales and one in the Anglian region. A South Wales port was reported to have suffered only small damage.

After a final re-check the air ministry revised upward to 152 the total number of German raiders destroyed in Sunday's fighting. In preparation for the show-down across the channel—if it is to come—the government took further steps to insure the independent functioning of local defense areas in the event they were isolated.

It was the long-range British overnight bombers that carried the ball in the air war.

These, said the air ministry, were the scope and results of their offensive:

Bombs dropped on the hangars and across the landing ground of the military airdrome at Villacoublay, just outside Paris; other French areas bombed as far south as Orleans.

Direct hits on one of two 3,000-ton German transports in the harbor at Haugesund, Norway.

Direct hits on the great German naval base at Kiel, bombs hitting the naval dockyard, the main basin and underground stores of oil.

Greece Calls Men to Arms ATHENS, Greece, (AP)—Several thousand men of new Greece military classes were called to arms yesterday in the third strengthening of the army within a week.

He said that the compromise probably would be acted upon in the house tomorrow and then hurried to the senate for final congressional action.

The general debate on the draft in that chamber today produced a clash between Senator Connally (D-Tex) and Senator Wheeler (D-Mont). Connally angrily charged that Wheeler "wants to make it just as difficult as possible" for the country to recruit an army. Wheeler, irate, protested, and Connally withdrew the statement, but not without adding a rejoinder that "no other senator" was as "free in reflecting on the motives of others" as was Wheeler, a prominent opponent of conscription.

The senate appropriations committee disclosed that several of its members had spoken of "conscription business," applying "a little force," or enacting "a universal tax bill" after hearing a high-ranking naval officer comment. (See DRAFT, Page 6)

Local Artists Rank High in Iowa State Fair Competition

C. Okerbloom Captures One Sweepstakes

Donald M. Anderson, D. Westaby, Roseberg, Mildred Pelzer Place

DES MOINES, Aug. 20 (AP)—An oil painting by Dan Rhodes of Des Moines won the sweepstakes prize for the best entry in the Iowa state fair art salon today—even if the judge didn't like it.

Boardman Robinson, the judge, said he didn't like the painting for personal reasons but he picked it because it deserved to win on technical points.

This is the third year Rhodes has won top honors, a feat equalled only by Grant Wood. Rhodes' prize winning entry is "Hod Carrier."

Robinson is director of an art institute at Colorado Springs, Colo. Mrs. Henry Ness of Ames, director of the art salon, said Robinson is the "toughest" judge the salon has ever had.

She said he refused to make any awards in the commercial black and white competition because he considered none of the entries up to standard. In sculpture he awarded no first place.

Following is the way Robinson placed the entries:
Best oil sweepstakes—"Hod Carrier," by Dan Rhodes of Des Moines.

Oil landscapes—"Church in Spring" by Donald M. Anderson of Iowa City, first; "House on the Hill" by Kenneth Haynes of Des Moines, second; "Alley" by Dan Rhodes, third; "On High Street" by Mrs. Eva M. Stoddard of Des Moines, fourth.

Nazi Mystery Plane Crashes On Irish Soil

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The London Daily Mail said tonight that a German plane crashed in Ireland today an hour or two before the arrival of the British flying boat Clare from New York to Foynes, Ireland, only 50 miles from the scene of the crash. The newspaper called the German plane a "mystery 'Q' plane." (This name apparently comes from the "Q" boats used by the British in the World war to trap German submarines. They would appear as innocent small boats until the submarine came close and then they would open fire.)

'Why Wasn't Ship's Course Changed?' Senator Lashes 'Stubborn Man' for Not Shifting Refugee Ship's Path

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The senate heard an accusation today that a single "stubborn" man, either President Roosevelt or someone in the state department, had refused to change the course of the refugee ship American Legion and thereby had risked a provocative incident that might have precipitated this country into war in a week.

The accuser, Senator Bone (D-Wash.), spoke while the army transport bearing 897 passengers headed for New York, apparently safely beyond the waters off Scotland which Germany had warned were mine-infested and highly dangerous.

"Someone is risking the lives of 900 human beings aboard that vessel," Bone told the senate. "If that vessel is blown skyward the charge will be made that she was torpedoed by a German submarine."

He suggested that congress investigate why the state department or other officials insisted that the vessel, which left Petsamo, Finland, Friday night, had persisted in a course through the mined area in the face of the German warning.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) interrupted Bone to say that the latter's remarks would "give aid and comfort" to nations that might want to sink the ship. Bone replied that he was tired of hearing aiding-the-enemy arguments and added that the senator from Florida wants to go to war and has said so.

"The senator tells a falsehood when he makes that statement," Pepper replied heatedly. Both senators later apologized for their remarks. Navy officials declined to comment on the ship's whereabouts, but at the state department it was said that in the absence of any news to the contrary, the vessel was assumed to be safe.

A German embassy spokesman, asserting he had no official information, expressed "hope" that the vessel was safely through the area described by the embassy as infested with uncontrolled mines that constituted a "grave danger."

Amid the tension over the American Legion's course, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, disclosed that conversations had been under way with Great Britain regarding the possible evacuation of British children to the United States in American ships. He would not say whether the state department had any immediate plans for sending ships should legislation modifying the neutrality act become law. Such legislation awaits only house action on minor senate amendments before going to President Roosevelt.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

Winning Streak This and That Reese's Troubles

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP)—Sports trail detours:

Manager Casey Stengel possibly is as much surprised as anyone else over the recent performances of the Boston Bees. This spring he gave the impression of a man who wasn't sure whether his ball club belonged in a National league park or a national park. Some of the boys could have used a guide out there, at that.

Winning Streak Anyway, through last Saturday the Bees had won 14 of their last 17 games. They have the league's third leading hitter in Carvel Rowell. They have an infield of Buddy Hassett, Rowell, Eddie Miller and Sebastian Sisti which, although greener than a pool table in spots, stacks up well with any in the league. Their pitchers are beginning to worry the opposition instead of Casey.

The shrewd and patient Stengel deserves ample credit for the change which has made his club real competition for all comers instead of practically an open date. The Bees work on a limited budget. Bob Quinn can't go out and buy a choice piece of merchandise to fill a weak spot.

It's up to Casey to take what he can get and nurse it along, and he's doing a bang-up job. He has a young club (hi, there, Johnny Cooney) which looks as a real threat in the not too distant future. If some of those long Hartford boys with the long names he had down at camp are ready for spring delivery, 1941 may find the Bees playing tag in the first division.

This and That Lawson Little is a man without a golf country. The National Open champion is rated a pro by the amateurs, but the P. G. A. doesn't consider him enough of a pro to be eligible to compete in its tournaments. There is a P. G. A. rule requiring a five-year apprenticeship for membership.

In other words, the U. S. G. A. will rule you a pro for five dollars, but that doesn't make you a pro to the pros. Or, just to clear things up, you take five bucks to become a pro to the U. S. G. A., but you take five years, to become a pro to the P. G. A.

Reese's Troubles Peewee Reese, Brooklyn's great little shortstop, suffered a split hand, a bearing, and a broken heel bone this year, his first under the big top. That's really breaking in the hard way. The Dodgers drew 201,669 for their seven night games. The Giants lured only 169,028. The Dodgers promise to again touch the million mark in attendance. Night and day, they are the ones.

In his 72 rounds of medal play competition this year Ben Hogan took 5,215 strokes and earned $9,405. That figures every stroke worth $1.80. All chip shots, no doubt.

Grimes Ousted From Baseball

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 20, (AP)—One-year suspension of Burleigh Grimes from organized baseball on a charge that he spat in an umpire's face was upheld today by the executive committee of the National Association of Professional Baseball players.

The former star "spit-ball" hurler for the Brooklyn Dodgers denied the accusation that on July 21 he spat at Umpire Robert Williams in a Michigan state league game but the committee announced it had accepted the testimony of Williams and other witnesses.

Grimes, manager of the Grand Rapids, Mich., team, has the right of an appeal to Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, final arbiter of professional baseball, since the decision involves more than $300 in salary.

The committee's action upheld a ruling by W. G. Bramham, president of the national association.

Grimes, long known as a stormy petrel of the diamond and often ejected from games, was manager of the Dodgers in 1938, going there from his first managerial job with the Louisville Colonels of the American association. He went to the Grand Rapids team this season.

College Means More STORM LAKE, Aug. 20, (AP)—It isn't easy for Frank Mills, Storm Lake high school halfback, to pass up a chance to play in the all-star prep game in Des Moines Aug. 30, but he's doing it because he'd rather have a college education. Mills withdrew from the west squad today rather than give up a job here that will assure him enough money to register as a freshman at Buena Vista college this fall.

Ninth Inning Cincinnati Rally Noses Out Giants, 3 to 2

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, who had been handcuffed all day, bunched four of their seven hits off Bill Lohrman for all their runs in the ninth inning to nip the Giants, 3-2 in a thriller here today.

The league leaders thus ended their three game losing streak just when it looked for certain they were to drop their second game of the series to the Giants.

Frank McCormick's single that scored Linus Fry and Ival Goodman was the biggest blow struck. It came after Lew Riggs, who pinch hit for Eddie Joost, had doubled and later scored on Fry's single. Linus advanced to third on Goodman's double near the right field foul line and that set the stage for McCormick's game-winning blow, a long single to left field.

It was the third time this year the Reds had beaten Lohrman, who has lost his last four starts and has dropped nine while winning the same number.

The Giants, after blasting the Reds yesterday, started out as though they meant to win this one quickly. In the first inning Terry Moore walked, went to second on an infield out and scored on Johnny McCarthy's double to deep right center.

The Giants kept their scoring streak alive in the second when Mel Ott tripled inside the right field foul line and scored after Tony Cuccinello's long fly had been caught by Mike McCormick. There wasn't any other scoring until the ninth as both Lohrman and Junior Thompson, who was winning his 12th game, of the season with a seven hit performance, were niggardly with hits. The Reds got one blow off Lohrman in the fourth and then were blanked until the ninth when the Giants got one hit in each of the fourth, fifth, seventh and ninth inning, but to no avail.

Tribe Wins; Feller Gets 22nd Victory BOSTON, Aug. 20, (AP)—Ken Keltner, third baseman of the league-leading Cleveland Indians, went on a batting spree today to down the Boston Red Sox 11 to 6 and give pitcher Bobby Feller his 22nd victory of the season.

Keltner poked out a round-tripper with the bases loaded in the eighth inning while 20,200 hometown fans looked on.

Feller Gets Victory Feller had left the mound for a pinch hitter just before Keltner contributed to a seven-run out-break in the eighth, but he was credited with the victory.

When Feller retired, with his team-mates on the short end of a 5 to 2 score, it appeared that Jack Wilson, the starting Boston pitcher, was headed for a hero's role.

Heath Clouts Homer Then Clarence Campbell, pinch-hitting for Rollie Hensley, Feller's battery mate, lined out a single and then Jeff Heath, batting for Feller, hit a two-run homer to put the Indians back on the war path at 5 to 4.

Ben Chapman, an ex-Bostonian, followed with a single and Wilson gave way to Emerson Dickman. Weatherly forced Chapman at second, but Boudreau singled and Trosky filled the bases.

Weatherly Ties Count Beau Bell singled Weatherly home with the tying run and left the sacks loaded for Keltner's grand slam homer. Keltner previously had lashed out a triple.

Heath's feat of driving out a pinch-hit homer was duplicated in the ninth by Stan Spence of the Sox, off Johnny Allen, but the damage had been done.

The Sox's big inning was the third when DiMaggio's single, Fox's double, Williams' triple and a long fly by Finney produced three runs.

Emmons, Van Every Are Other Members Of First Backfield

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Kenneth Washington, the fleet Negro star from U.C.L.A., appears to have the left halfback spot nailed down on the college all-star team which meets the Green Bay Packers in Soldier field Aug. 29.

Starting Lineup Washington, of course, won't start the game, the opening lineup having been determined by the fans in a nationwide poll. But how long the starters remain in the game after the kickoff will be decided by Head Coach Eddie Anderson of the University of Iowa.

The second string backfield is composed of Ken Heineman, Texas Mines, left halfback; Ben Sheridan, Notre Dame, right halfback; Bob Hoffman, U.S.C., quarterback, and Dominic Principe, Fordham, fullback.

Anderson emphasized there still hand, a bearing, and a broken heel bone this year, his first under the big top. That's really breaking in the hard way. The Dodgers drew 201,669 for their seven night games. The Giants lured only 169,028. The Dodgers promise to again touch the million mark in attendance. Night and day, they are the ones.

15th Victory For Passeau Chicago Mound Ace Hurls 3-Hitter As Cubs Nick Phils, 4-0

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Claude Passeau racked up his 15th mound victory of the season today, pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 4 to 0 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Only 30 batters faced, Passeau as he yielded only three hits and issued no walks.

Zeke Bonura contributed the first Cub run when he blasted a home run in the first inning. Chicago added two more in the fourth on three hits off Hugh Mulcahy, the starting and losing pitcher. Passeau's double and Stan Hack's single produced the final run.

The Browns hammered the sensational rookie, Sid Hudson, for 10 safeties, bunting five hits in the third inning to score three runs.

Foes' Errors Help Odd Fellows Take 6-5 Game From Bremer's

Jr. Odd Fellows senior league softball team capitalized on many opponents' errors to eke out a 6 to 5 victory over Bremer's yesterday evening.

Mel Greazel and Joe McGinnis each scattered six safeties, but errors on the part of the former's teammates cost the game.

Sporting a 5 to 1 lead going into the fifth, Bremer's allowed the Odd Fellows to score twice on Paukert's home run and three times in the sixth on three hits, a walk and several errors. Gusten was the only player collecting more than one hit, slapping out two safeties in two official times at bat for Bremer's.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—Elden Auker's submarine balls were too much for Washington today and the Senators lost to St. Louis 6-3 for their fifth straight defeat.

Yanks Triumph Twice; Down Tigers, 4-3, 4-2

Red Ruffing Wins Opener

Ernie Bonham Hurls Eight-Hit Victory In Last Contest

NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (AP)—The unpredictable New York Yankees today got what they've needed all year—good pitching—and so they blasted the Detroit Tigers by 4-3 and 4-2 in a doubleheader before 30,346 fans.

In the first game Charley (the Red) Ruffing let the Tigers down with eight hits to win his 12th victory of the season. He almost ran afoul of trouble in the ninth when Pete Fox opened with a homer and Pinch Hitter Tuck Staiback doubled with one out.

However, Red bore down and forced the next two hitters to pop out.

Schoolboy Rowe, who came from his mother's bedside in St. Louis to pitch the first game, gave up all the Yankee runs before he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh. He was considerably shaken up in the second inning when he collided with George Selkirk.

In the nightcap, young Ernie Bonham, the Kansas City recruit, pitched strongly to register his second victory of the year with an eight hit performance. The Yanks bunched the same number of hits effectively in the first and fifth innings to score twice in each frame.

The double victory, combined with a split between the White Sox and Athletics, put the Yanks back in a tie for fourth with Chicago, while the Tigers dropped four and a half games back of the Cleveland Indians who beat the Red Sox 11-6.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20 (AP)—Wally Moses stole home in the 10th inning of the second game to give the Athletics a 4-3 victory and an even break with the Chicago White Sox in a doubleheader today.

Chicago won the first game 6 to 1, when a five-run rally in the ninth inning made a rout of a pitching duel between Ed Smith and Buck Ross. None of Chicago's six runs was earned, the A's, committing five errors behind Ross.

Philadelphia's only score came on Al Rubeling's fifth home run of the season.

Under one-year contract at an unspecified salary, Conner takes office Sept. 1 "with a view," the conference said, "to eliminating abuses and to insuring clean, wholesome, amateur competition in all intercollegiate sports."

The conference includes Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic (Auburn) Institute, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Mississippi State, University of the South (Sewanee), Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt.

Inventor Claims Perfection of Mysterious Torpedo; Says Nazis Offered to Buy It

BY ED WALLACE
 NEW YORK, Aug. 20, (AP)—Charles Courtney, master locksmith, today lifted a cardboard cover, exposed what looked like the inside of a radio and announced it was a device by which torpedoes could be directed through air and water—drawn to their goals by the human electricity of the victims.

 The device could be used, he said, to protect arsenals and the like from saboteurs and to flash warnings of attempted coastal invasions. It was perfected by him and Louis Junco, a Cuban engineer, over a four and one-half year period and, said Courtney, it brought them an offer of $200,000 from the German government only last Wednesday.

 "But we will not sell," he asserted, "all we want to do is give this to the United States government."
 A former U. S. marine, Courtney is a noted collector of ancient and medieval locks and keys and once nearly lost his life as a diver attempting to salvage a British cruiser on the bottom of the North sea. Last December, he told police he had been attacked by three men and robbed of secret plans for "German magnetic

 In the presence of three army representatives and one from the navy, Courtney demonstrated his machine.
 "You could put this unit in a torpedo, aim it at a ship carrying human beings, and it would keep after that ship no matter how it zig-zagged," Courtney claimed.

 "The humans would generate electricity, which would activate and steer the torpedo irresistibly to the ship. It's almost human."
 "Suppose the ship that discharged one of your torpedoes has more humans on it than the enemy ship—wouldn't the torpedo turn around and blast the ship from which it was sent?" asked one observer.

 "Yes—" admitted Courtney, "but that would have to be worked out. That's a detail. After all the basic principle is here. It's controlled induction."
 His aerial torpedo, Courtney claimed, could also follow—by quire an expenditure of something like $100,000,000,000," Marshall replied.

 Senator Hayden (D-Ariz) asked the general about reports that Hitler had devoted half of Germany's national income to creating the war machine over a seven-year period and inquired what it cost.

Dies Clears 4 Film Figures In Check-Up

Says Bogart, March, Cagney, Phil Dunne Aren't Communists

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Four prominent Hollywood film personages, named as communist sympathizers in testimony before the Dies committee, were cleared of the accusation today by Rep. Martin Dies, committee chairman.
 The chair has carefully considered evidence received to date, including the testimony of those who have been accused," he said, "and . . . is of the opinion that Mr. Humphrey Bogart, Mr. Fredric March, Mr. James Cagney and Mr. Phil Dunne are not and have never been members of the communist party."
 Bogart, March and Cagney are well known motion picture actors and Dunne is a scenario writer. He and Cagney voluntarily appeared today before Dies' committee investigating un-American activities and denied any connection with the communist party.
Linked by Leech
 They were linked to it in testimony by John Leech, former Los Angeles county communist organizer, who previously had named other film personages in testimony at Beaumont, Tex.

Dies planned to leave tomorrow for Kansas City, to conduct hearings for a day or two, and then proceed to New York for more sessions at which all other motion picture people mentioned in committee testimony would be invited to appear.

Among those expected were Francis Lederer, Lionel Stander and Lucille Ball, who advised the congressman through Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the Screen Actors Guild, that they were willing to appear. Thomson said Franchot Tone also desired to testify.

Stars Cooperate
 Dies, speaking to newsmen after a closed committee session today, said there was "no testimony before the committee" that Bogart was a communist, and that March, Cagney and Dunne "have been very frank and submitted their books and records for our inspection."
 The congressman added his belief that the three, "apparently out of humanitarian impulses," contributed to and permitted use of their names by organizations "that this committee has unanimously found to be among those in which communists are in leadership."
 "A number of public officials have done likewise," said Dies. "The chair feels that those people of prominence and influence,

Sect Member Charged With Maine Murder

NORTH WINDHAM, Me., Aug. 20, (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Dean Pray, 40, was shot and fatally wounded in his garage today during an argument with two men who, Deputy Sheriff Ralph Hooper said, identified themselves as "ordained ministers" of a religious sect, Jehovah's Witnesses.

A wave of excitement spread through this little town following the shooting, which constituted a new chapter in a series of demonstrations of violence in southern Maine involving opposition to alleged activities of some members of the sect.

One of the men, listed by police as Arthur F. Cox, 49, of Philadelphia, was booked on a charge of murder and was held at Cumberland county jail.

The second man was held without formal charges pending investigation of the shooting.

Police quoted Perley Warney as saying that he witnessed the shooting and that several shots were fired after Pray, wielding a tire iron, ordered the pair from the building.

Warney said Pray ordered them out after one of the men had asked if they could play a phonograph record.

(Playing of records advocating the cause of the sect is a common procedure in visits of the group's adherents to homes and other places.)

100 Billion To Duplicate Nazi War Machine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20, (AP)—War department experts estimate it would cost the United States about $100,000,000,000 to duplicate Germany's war machine. General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, made the estimate in testimony before the senate appropriations committee made public today.

Senator Hayden (D-Ariz) asked the general about reports that Hitler had devoted half of Germany's national income to creating the war machine over a seven-year period and inquired what it cost.

"To reproduce their material accomplishments under our laws and procedure would probably require an expenditure of something like $100,000,000,000," Marshall replied.

Gaffney Commits A. Connell To Hospital for Examination

County Attorney Files Information Charging Indecent Exposure

Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday morning issued an order and signed necessary papers committing Alfred Connell, 35, farm hand residing near Iowa City, to the University psychopathic hospital for examination.

County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark yesterday morning filed information charging Connell, who was apprehended in Iowa City last Thursday night, with indecent exposure. Judge Gaffney set bond on this charge at $2,000.

Connell is presently serving a 30-day jail sentence as a result of his plea of guilty to a disorderly conduct charge filed against him last Friday by Iowa City police.

Arrested Thursday

The farm hand was arrested Thursday night when he allegedly accosted the secretary of a university professor near East Hall. With the aid of the professor and a passerby Connell was apprehended and turned over to police.

The state charge of indecent exposure was filed on the basis of a signed and sworn statement from Connell admitting a series of "ten or twelve" molestations in Iowa City since last March. He also admitted indecent exposure in "six or seven" of the incidents, according to the county attorney.

The district court judge took no further action on the criminal charge filed yesterday by the county attorney. He indicated that such action would await the report of the hospital examination.

'Dr. Eddie' Grand Champ Baby Beef

Bill Hunter's Angus steer, "Dr. Eddie," yesterday afternoon was judged grand champion of the baby beef 4-H class at the West Liberty fair and Dale Burr's Hereford steer, "Slug," took reserve championship of the baby beef class.

Burr's Hereford was grand champion of the Johnson county 4-H club show in Iowa City last week and Hunter's Angus calf was named reserve champion. In the beef class at West Liberty these honors were reversed yesterday.

Johnson county 4-H club members had a total of 12 baby beef calves entered at the West Liberty fair and nine were given placings in yesterday's judging.

Hunter's grand champion Angus was named champion of the senior Hereford class as well as champion of all Hereford classes and Burr's Angus beef was champion of the senior class of that breed as well as champion of all classes.

Burr's Shorthorn steer, which took the reserve championship of all Shorthorn classes at the local club show, was named champion of all Shorthorn classes at West Liberty.

Other placings won by Johnson county 4-H club members at the West Liberty show include Hunter, second in the junior Angus group; Duane Stock, fifth in the junior Hereford class and sixth in the senior Hereford class; Imelda Miltner, fourth in the junior Hereford group and 11th in the senior Hereford class; Herbert Bowie, fifth in the junior Hereford group; Lyle Lord, sixth and eighth in the senior Shorthorn class, and Clair Yeggy, third in the junior Shorthorn group.

Johnson county also showed the champion county Hereford group of five calves and the second place county Shorthorn group of five calves. Over 70 head of 4-H club livestock from Johnson county were entered in the West Liberty show.

Tonight two large truck loads of Johnson county 4-H club livestock will be loaded at West Liberty and taken to the Iowa State fair in Des Moines. Included will be seven baby beefs, three beef heifers, 12 dairy heifers, 38 head of swine and eight head of lambs. This will total 68 head of Johnson county livestock at the state fair in 4-H classes. Many other animals will be entered by Johnson county residents in open classes.

Cool Again Mercury Still Far Below Normal

Iowa City was cool again yesterday as fall weather prevailed and the mercury failed to go above 73 degrees, 11 degrees below normal. Low mark for the day was a cold 46 degrees, 15 degrees below the normal low of 61 degrees.

Readings in Iowa City a year ago yesterday were 76 degrees high and 58 degrees low. Though last night was still cool, warmer weather is predicted to move into this section of the state today.

plain that the navy was having difficulty in obtaining material for fighting ships.

The testimony was given by Rear Admiral W. R. Furlong, chief of the naval bureau of ordinance. He said the difficulty was due to tax requirements and limitations on profits, together with the fact that American manufacturers could do business more profitably with the British.

Furlong, pleading for changes in the tax and profits laws, expressed the view the present attitude of the manufacturers was natural. Alluding to a plan to have the United States Steel company expand a steel plant at a cost of $4,000,000, he said the company was eager to do so, but did not want to "spend $4,000,000 and then be taxed over a long period of years."

The plant, he said, ought to be amortized in about five years "because they are just putting it up for the government's special need and for no future business that they can foresee."

The admiral testified in the course of hearings on the $5,000,000,000 appropriation bill for starting a two-ocean navy and equipping an army of 1,200,000. He told the committee that "progress has stopped on the procurement of materials that go into ships."

There was no difficulty, he said, until business picked up and the army, free from profit limitations, began buying guns. This coupled with business from abroad and from other government departments, he added, had made naval business unattractive.

Two Divorce Petitions Filed

Irma Theobald Asks Divorce on Grounds Of Inhuman Treatment

A petition for divorce was filed in district court yesterday by Irma Theobald seeking divorce from Charles A. Theobald on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

The plaintiff asks the right to resume her former name of Irma Mahr and also asks title to as much of the property now in the name of the defendant as is just and equitable in the premises.

An injunction restraining the defendant from threatening, accosting or otherwise molesting pending determination of action was issued by the clerk of court yesterday.

The couple was married Dec. 23, 1922, in Iowa City, according to the petition. Atty. Arthur O. Leff represents the plaintiff.

A suit for divorce was also filed yesterday by Ota Thomas Curry seeking divorce from Thomas Curry on ground of cruel and inhuman treatment. In her petition the plaintiff asks that she may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Ota Thomas.

The couple was married on June 5, 1936, at Keystone, according to the petition. A previous divorce action filed by the defendant was dismissed. Atty. Harold W. Vestermark represents the plaintiff.

Appeals to State Supreme Court To Uphold Bequest of $100,000

A notice of the filing of an appeal to the Iowa supreme court of the Johnson county district court ruling breaking the will of the late Albert W. Ensminger was filed in district court here yesterday by attorneys for Mrs. Alta Carlson Ensminger, widow of the late Ensminger and sole heir to the estate amounting to some $100,000, according to the original will.

The will was contested in a district court action by Celia Faye Ensminger and Alvin Ray Ensminger, minors, grandchildren of the deceased Ensminger, through their guardian, J. B. Van Horn. The action resulted in a court ruling giving the grandchildren an equal share in the estate with Mrs. Ensminger.

Wellman Plans Turkey Festival Tomorrow

Historical Pageant Scheduled for Tonight, Tomorrow Night There

Jessie Potsander will be crowned "Miss Wellman" in the opening scene of a historical spectacle to be presented in Wellman park tonight and tomorrow night as that town celebrates its annual "Thanksgiving town" festival.

The "turkey center of the world" plans its celebration for tomorrow, with band concerts, a parade, soap box derby, old fiddlers' contest, amateur contest, foot and bicycle races and speakers on the all-day program.

The pageant tonight and tomorrow night will depict the story of Thanksgiving and the part Wellman has played in the celebration of the national holiday. The cast is composed of some 150 Wellman residents.

Democratic and republican speakers will be featured tomorrow.

Wellman has gained national prominence for its turkey industry, a two-and-a-half million-dollar industry which employs as many as 400 men in the peak of the turkey season.

The industry is centered around the Maplecrest Turkey Farms, Inc., which annually processes and ships 300 cars of drumsticks for the dinner tables of America.

Ask Payment Of Insurance In Court Action

A petition asking payment of $1,000 to the beneficiaries of a life insurance policy was filed in district court yesterday by Wilby L. Holt, Zelma Holt and Bonnie M. Holt, plaintiffs.

The petition states that the policy was taken out on the life of the late Golden Holt who died Jan. 5, at which time the contract of insurance was in full force.

The plaintiffs performed every act required of them under the insurance contract, according to the petition. They are asking full payment of the $1,000 policy as well as five per cent interest on the sum from Jan. 5, 1939, the time of the death of the late Holt, and also costs of the court action.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Messer, Hamilton and Cahill.

'Roy Howard Turned Down U. S. Mission'

F. R. Reveals Plan To Check on Fifth Column in Latin Area

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that several months ago he asked Roy Howard, editor of the New York 'World-Telegram,' to investigate fifth column activities in Latin America and that Howard had declined.

During a press conference, the president identified Howard as the private individual he had in mind when he said in his third term acceptance address that, with one exception, the persons he had asked to help in the defense program had agreed to do so.

The president said he had asked Howard to go to South America by plane, on a 40-day trip, and meet editors and government officials he knew when he represented the United Press there. Mr. Roosevelt said he asked Howard to talk to them confidentially, on behalf of the United States, and find out what their own personal opinions were on fifth column activities.

The petition charges that due to negligence and carelessness on the part of the defendants an accident occurred two miles west of Fairfield on March 6, 1940, in which the plaintiff's car was practically demolished and Carl J. Stach, as driver, suffered severe and painful injuries, permanent disfigurement and loss of time from his work.

The damage action was filed by Atty. Messer, Hamilton and Cahill, representing the plaintiff.

to our friends over there" that Britain has been able to ferry across the Atlantic "an immense mass of munitions of all kinds: cannon, rifles, machineguns, cartridges and shells, all safely landed without the loss of a gun or a round."

(This was taken in Washington as the first official word that surplus United States army munitions valued at $37,000,000, released by the government almost three months ago, had arrived safely in England.)

Brimful of expressions of confidence in Britain's final triumph, Churchill again and again spoke of "when"—not if—Britain reaches the top of the hill.

Jeers Blockade He jeered at Germany's blockade, told the house Britain's air power was overhauling Germany's, declared that Britain was growing less and less vulnerable to invasion, that her capacity for war was rising and that, some day, there would be peace again in a Europe freed from Nazi domination.

It was one of his best oratorical performances—calm and polished yet bursting with exuberance.

The prime minister flatteringly turned thumbs down on former president Hoover's proposal that Britain allow food through her blockade to help relieve famine in Nazi-mastered areas of continental Europe.

"I regret that we must refuse these requests," he said, declaring that the Nazis "have repeatedly stated they possess ample reserves of food and that they can feed their captive peoples."

Churchill said that some foods can be turned into war materials—fats into explosives, potatoes into motor fuel, milk into aircraft plastics—and declared that if Germany uses what she has of such foodstuffs "to bomb our women and children... we may be sure that any imported food would go the same way."

"Let Hitler bear his responsibilities to the full," Churchill added, "and let the peoples of Europe who groan beneath his yoke aid in every way the coming of the day when it will be broken."

Praises Plants "Meanwhile we can arrange in advance for the speedy entry of food into any part of the enslaved area, when this part has been wholly cleared of German forces and has genuinely regained its freedom."

Speaking even as three great waves of German bombers roared across Britain's coast, renewing the furious assaults of the Nazi air siege, Churchill emphasized Britain's growing power in the air against attacks which, he admitted, Britons must "certainly expect" to become even more intense.

tan, 36, a Belgian. They said that beside the attack weapon he also carried a revolver.

Hospital attaches said it appeared Trotsky had a fracture at the base of the skull, a hole in the skull where the pick-ax entered, one wound on the right shoulder, and another on the right hip.

Police said Mortan had known Trotsky more than a year, frequently visited the house, and was regarded not only as a friend, but as a strong sympathizer with Trotsky's political policies.

He paid tribute to "the splendor in the output and repair of Britain's fighting planes under Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production."

"The enemy is, of course, far more numerous than we are," he acknowledged. "But our new production already largely exceeds his, and the American production is only just beginning to flow in."

Churchill touched only briefly on the loss of Somaliland to Italy, blaming it primarily on France's collapse, and commented that "far larger operations no doubt impend in the middle east." For these, he added, "we have large armies and many means of reinforcing them."

As American as Pork and Beans

SOMEHOW we've come to look upon the newspaper boy as a purely American phenomenon—much like freedom of speech. The right of an individual to earn money in an honest endeavor is just as typically American as pork and beans. It's one of the rights that we've fought for—with battles and with words.

HERE and there, perhaps, we've come off a little the worse for it. But in the main, the privilege is still untarnished. No group expresses this American trait as much as the newspaper boy. The money he earns is earned the hard way—and he's proud of it. It helps to finance his education, or to make things a little easier at home. Many of our prominent business and professional men right here in Iowa City were newspaper boys. And they don't pass up the opportunity to mention it, either! The training that these boys get serves to make them self-reliant... teaches them the value of money... the wisdom of saving.

WE don't know of any group that's more deserving of praise and encouragement. We salute every newspaper boy in the country and especially our own Iowan staff. His diligence and initiative is a shining light for all of us!

YOUR IOWAN CARRIER BOY IS A GREAT FELLOW TO KNOW... HE'S ALWAYS READY TO SERVE YOU... KNOW HIM BETTER!
