German Warplanes Rain Death on City

Great Attack War's Longest; Fires Started

Metropolitan Area, Mid-London Targets Of Heaviest Bombings

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, Aug. 29, (Thursday)

Roaring waves of German warplanes lashed London overnight with explosive, incendiary and "scream" bombs in the longest and heaviest air attack of the war against the world's largest city.

The sprawling capital and heart of the empire was in a state of siege for more than seven hours as the raiders dealt death and destruction on into the pre-dawn hours. The all clear signal finally was sounded shortly after 4 a. m. (10 p. m. C. S. T.).

Worst Yet
The nazis carried their attacks throughout the night and, when final reports are in, they might prove the worst yet experienced by the British.

One raider dropped six high explosive bombs over a northeast town, killing one woman and injuring several persons seriously;
four bombs were dropped in one northwest town and 20 bomb explosions were counted in one southeast England point. The bombers also raided Wales.

The continuous sound of German planes at the height of the raiding indicated that the Luftwaffe was sending over relays in greater force than ever before.

Incendiary Bombs
Bombs, including many incendiaries, fell in scattered areas on the outskirts of London. Fire brigades quickly controlled blazes.

Thousands of Londoners took cover during the raid. The thud of dropping bombs and the boom of anti-aircraft batteries could be heard in the heart of the London area but many persons refused to let the raid interfere with their

French Admit African Revolt

Government Claims Churchill Fomented Rebellion in Colony

VICHY, France, Aug. 28, (AP)
—The French government acknowledged for the first time today
the existence of a rebellion in French East Africa, and blamed
it on British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The extent and military significance of the movement, however, was not made clear.
The government charged the movement was fomented by Churchill with the aid of the "renegade" French General Charles De Gaulle, London leader of "all free Frenchmen."

De Gaulle announced yesterday that Colonel De Larminat, governor of Chad, French territory in the heart of Africa, had notified him Chad would fight on at the side of Britain. At the same time Churchill pledged economic aid to any French territory which keeps on fighting Germany.

A French government communication said today that "necessary measures" had been taken to meet the situation.

Nazis Claim 'Armed' British Tanker Sunk In Indian Ocean

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 28, (AP)—
Axis claims and communiques touching on the Mediterranean and middle east disclosed a destructive foray by German surface raiders in the Indian ocean and violent give-and-take aerial thrusts by Italian and British naval forces over a wide area.

The German high command said its naval forces had sunk the 6,900-ton tanker British Commander, described as "armed," in the Indian ocean.

In Rome, the Italian high command declared fascist fliers violently attacked the British oil base on the Mediterranean at Haifa, Palestine.

Army Plans To Call 55,000 Men Sept. 15

To Begin Mobilization Of National Guard After Summer Training

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)
—The war department plans tentatively to begin mobilization of the national guard, under legislation signed by President Roosevelt last night, by calling up 55, 000 officers and men Sept. 15 for a year of intensive training.

The men, comprising four infantry divisions, four aircraft squadrons and numerous coast artillery units, are expected to enter camp barely two weeks after completion of the last of summer maneuvers on Aug. 31. This would give them a brief period to settle personal affairs.

Tentative war department plans also call for ordering out 75,000 more guardsmen by Dec. 1, along with 393,000 conscript soldiers who would be drafted by Dec.
15, should the compulsory service bill become law by that time.

War department authorities told congress recently that guard mobilization was an essential preliminary to the compulsory training program. Conscripts would be trained in the ranks of the guard and regular army, they explained, rather than as separate units. Congress passed the guard bill last week.

All told, some 386,000 guardsmen and reservists were made subject to call by the mobilization act which the president signed last night. Included are 110,000 active reserve officers, 30,000 regular army reserves, 3,500 enlisted

Italian Planes Bomb Port Said, Raid Alexandria

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 28, (AP)— Vital Port Said, lying at the northern entrance to the Suez canal and guarded by the British fleet, was bombed for more than an hour today by Italian warplanes.

The British Egyptian naval base at Alexandria, likewise, was raided, but it was declared that no bombs were dropped there.

The raid on Port Said, the first of the war, was acknowledged in a British communique which asserted that there were no casualties and no damage.

Four Powers to Mediate Balkan Dispute Today

Rumanian, Hungarian Peace at Stake

Nazi, Fascist Envoys Gather Speedily; Soviet Expansion Aims Feared

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)
—All wire communications between Bucharest and various northern Rumanian provinces have been cut, the official Budapest radio said tonight in a broadcast heard here by the National Broadcasting company.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
VIENNA, Aug. 28—Germany and Italy, in their chosen role of "creators of a new Europe" and "peacemakers" in the Balkans, rushed diplomatic shock troops to this former Austrian capital tonight for a four-power conference intended to fashion an axis style appeasement of the disquieting Rumanian-Hungarian dispute over Transylvania.

In the old Belvedere castle, once the residence of Austrian Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg, the axis diplomats tomorrow will exercise their "united weight" to bring Rumania and Hungary together. Those were the words chosen by the authoritative commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, to describe the nature of the proceedings.

Crowds Greet Envoys
Tonight the route from the airdrome to the Hotel Imperial was lined with dense, cheering crowds greeting the vanguard of the diplomats, the Italian and German foreign ministers and their associates.
The German wireless minimized

the character of recent Russian-Rumanian border incidents, laid thrust to the fact that the new Russo-Rumanian border is not clearly defined, and said it was not likely "anything further will result."

However, there was an unmistakable air of urgency both in the number of axis diplomats sent to Vienna and the speed of their assembly.

(From outside of Germany,
there were strong indications that Russia, missing from the Vienna conference, was the vital factor in the emergency meeting.

"Bloody" Encounters (Dispatches direct from Rumania said "bloody" encounters had taken place near Adancata along the new Rumanian-Soviet frontier, and that hundreds of soldiers were killed. Rumanian airmen shot down three Russian planes in two aerial engagements, Rumanian officials admitted, and a mixed Rumanian-Soviet commission is investigating. The Soviet was reported raising new financial demands in connection with her recent occupation of the former Rumanian territories of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina.)

(Hungary also has charged Rumanian aviators with shooting down
a Hungarian bomber.)
The Germans themselves acknowledged that any serious Rumanian-Russian frontier clashes would make quick settlement of the Balkan situation urgent from a German point of view.

Peace Vital to Nazis Preservation of productive peace in southeastern Europe, where Germany has important trade treaties for war supplies, is a keystone of German policy.

In Rome, foreign observers believed that fear that a Rumanian-Hungarian conflict would open the way to Soviet expansion was one of the underlying causes of the swift diplomatic initiative of the axis.

Rumanians Move From Soviet Frontier

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug.
28 (AP)—The withdrawal of certain Rumanian army units, supply depots and state institutions from the Russian frontier toward the interior of this country was disclosed tonight in an army communique.

The announcement said the bulk of the army and all government authorities will now "remain where they are."
There have been numerous reports that Rumanian civilians and officials were quitting the southern Bucovina and Moldavia areas which now are surrounded by Russian troops.

Russia, it was learned in official circles, reassured Rumania through her minister in Moscow that she wanted to avoid border incidents as such as Rumania.

Orders 870 More Warplanes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)
—Amid continuing controversy over military aircraft purchases, the army placed orders today for 870 more planes to cost $14,410,- 233.

Following up President Roosevelt's assertion of yesterday that one of the prime objectives of the air program was first to acquire training planes to instruct pilots for a major air fleet, the army announced contracts for 850 trainers and 20 transports.

Meanwhile, further discussion of the aviation picture, which caused the president to step into the debate yesterday, came from the defense commission and the navy.
The president declared that 6,

Conscription Bill Goes To House for Debate

Crowds Meet Wallace-- Arrives in Iowa's Capital to Accept His Nomination

DES MOINES, Aug. 28, (AP)— Henry A. Wallace arrived here at 7:50 o'clock tonight to prepare for notification ceremonies tomorrow night during which he will formally accept the democratic vice presidential nomination.
A crowd of well-wishers greeted Wallace as he stepped off the train. They sang "God Bless America" and the Iowa Corn song.
Others in Wallace's party were Rep. Marvin Jones (D-Texas) and E. J. Flynn, democratic national chairman.
The reception party included
John Valentine, democratic candidate for governor; E. H. Birmingham, chairman of the democratic state central committee, and former governor Nelson G. Kras-chel.

Wallace went directly to his home. He will remain here until Sunday, when he will leave for Chicago to make a Labor day address Monday.

Supporters of the new deal farm program tonight laid plans for a six-state demonstration of farmers when Wallace accepts the nomination here tomorrow night.

Wallace, the first resident Iowan ever nominated for president or vice president on a major party ticket, will deliver a 30-minute address beginning at 8:30 p. m., central standard time.
Other speakers will include Flynn and Senators Guy M. Gillette and Clyde L. Herring, both Iowa democratic lawmakers.

China Warns Nippon State

CHUNGKING, Aug. 28 (AP)—
The Chinese government for the first time formally declared tonight its determination to send troops into French Indo-China should the Japanese enter that colony "under any pretext or under any conditions with a view to attacking China."

Postal Receipts Hit High WASHINGTON (AP)—Postal receipts totaled $58,754,974 in July,
an increase of $4,209,686 over July, 1939, and an all-time high for the month, Postmaster General Farley announced last night.

Measure Makes 12,000,000 Men From 21 Through 30 Eligible For Year of Required Training

Service Restricted to Western Hemisphere; No More Than 900,000 May Serve at One Time; Industrial Plants May Be Drafted

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, (AP)—The peace-time draft bill, subjecting the nation's young manhood to compulsory military training, was approved by the senate tonight at the end of prolonged controversy.

A smashing vote of 58 to 31 sent the measure to the house.
There the military committee was already deep in dispute over a similar bill.

In broad outline, the senate's measure requires all male citizens between 21 and 30 inclusive to register for the draft, some 12,000,000 in all. All these would become liable to one year of training, to be spent at any point in the western hemisphere.

By declaring an emergency to exist, congress could hold them in service for a longer period.

In addition, all between 18 and 35 might volunteer for a one-year "hitch," as the army men call it, of training and service. No more than 900,000 draftees might be in the service for training at one time.

Prince Konoye Asks Unified State, People

Charges Japanese Planners With Task Of Building Nation

TOKYO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, Japan's premier, charged his key political planners today with the task of building a non-party national structure which will unite the total energies of the state and the people.

The prince was making his first address to the 26 leaders who form a committee assigned to the architecture of this national structure—now that all Japanese political parties have been dissolved.

He spoke in abstract phrases and his recommendations seemed to veer from direct parallels with other totalitarian systems, but he made it plain that "the new national structure movement aims at superseding the old party politics postulated upon liberalism."

Although the bill apparently will not become law for a fortnight, at least, advocates said the war department had long been ready with specific plans for putting the measure in operation.

The details of these preparations were reported to the senate tonight, a few hours before the vote, by Senator Minton (D-Ind.), who said he had them from an officer of the general staff.

Fifteen days after the measure becomes law is to be registration day, and 40 days later the first of the conscripts are to be in the training camps, according to Min-ton's outline.

400,000 by 1941
A schedule has been drawn up envisioning the conscription of about 400,000 men by the end of the year, 400,000 more on April 1, 1941, and similar half-yearly increments until Oct. 1, 1944.
By this process, the military officials plan to have available at the end of five years a total of 4,000,000 trained men in the active service or in the reserves (into which the conscripts pass after their period of service).
General George C. Marshall, the army's chief of staff, recently said that number was a minimum

● Mother's, Dad's Responsibility (Second in a Series)

The part motorists must play during September and October in protecting the lives of bound-for-school children on the streets and highways is only half the approach to the problem of cutting down last year's Iowa accident and death toll of boys and girls of school age. (125 were hurt, 9 were killed in 1939.)

Parents have responsibilities, too. The lives of their children are at stake.

Parents must remember that boys and girls can't be expected to figure out the location and meaning of street and highway signs placed there for safety purposes. A few helpful explanations before the school year opens may save a life.

Parents must spend a few minutes selecting and explaining the safest routes to and from school for their children. Why not take the new school attenders over that route?

Parents must impress upon their children the dangers of busy intersections. Explain the importance of looking to right and left before stepping from the curb into the street, of never stepping into busy streets or highways from behind parked cars.

In rural areas, or where school children must walk along main traveled roads en route to and from school, children must be impressed with the importance of walking on the left side of the road, on the shoulder, facing the oncoming traffic.

They should be taught never to loiter or to play on main highways or thoroughfares. They should be impressed with the speed of automobiles, with the fact that while a person takes one step and advances one yard, a car driven at a mere 30 miles an hour advances nine times that distance.

Going to school in this modern age is a dangerous proposition, but the lives of Iowa's boys and girls are still sacred.

Yesterday's tips to motorists, today's tips to parents will do much to save those precious lives.

● Current History Backfires—

The anticipated release of "The Great Dictator," Charlie Chaplin's latest moving picture, will mark one of the strangest turns of events in cinema history.

The movie may be a white elephant to end all of the film industry's white elephants. Or it may make millions of dollars.

That will depend upon factors among movie goers that are never predictable, always changeable. And beforehand there's no way of telling just what will happen.

The story of "The Great Dictator" and how the film came to be is tied up with Chaplin himself and his desire to do the impossible and get away with it.

Chaplin a Great Artist

Chaplin is regarded almost universally as the greatest pantomime artist in history. His million-dollar Hollywood productions have never included a talking picture. His latest, "Modern Times," had a carefully prepared musical score, but no dialogue.

He conceived the idea of this picture some five years ago, when the activities of Adolf Hitler in a far-away Europe and an insignificant Germany were funny.

And so work on "The Great Dictator," designed to be his masterpiece, began. Into its production went years of labor, over $2,000,000 of his own money.

He wanted to hold the activities of Europe's "great dictator" up before the world as the laughing stock of a modern age. Who knows, perhaps the effect of such a film, with almost world-wide circulation, would have laughed a little sense into the world.

History Changes Things

But as the painstaking processes that must go into the production of a masterpiece such as "The Great Dictator" went on, the activities of the real Adolf Hitler cast a very real and very ominous shadow upon the world.

The activities of the dictator were no longer funny. They spelled war and misery and untold waste for the world.

The release of "The Great Dictator" is scheduled for next month. Its circulation will be almost wholly restricted to the western hemisphere. Its repercussions, however, will be world-wide.

Will America Laugh?

We hope that Charlie Chaplin gets away with it, for he himself has said that the primary purpose of the picture is to bring a laugh to the nation. If it does that, says he, he will be satisfied.

The question now is whether the nation can afford to laugh at Adolf Hitler and his aides through the little dictator and his aides.

This will be the first time that a moving picture has been so intimately and uncomfortably tied up with the events of the world. It's a strange case; one that will provide great interest for everyone concerned, which is everyone.

● Carelessness and Campus Fires

The report to the grounds and buildings department of the university on campus fires during the past year indicates one fact rather strongly:

Pure carelessness was to blame for by far the greatest portion of the big and little blazes of the university during the last year from July 29, 1939, to June 26, 1940.

Fortunately, most of them were little, but the total number of blazes was 35. Except for prompt action, some of the little ones might have been big ones. Carelessness was still to blame.

Indications that a harmless flick of a cigarette butt into a dark corner caused a number of the fires are apparent from the report.

Carelessness of students in laboratory and dormitory rooms caused a number of minor fires.

The important consideration springs from a very fundamental fact—big fires spring from little blazes. Any fire, no matter how small, is dangerous when hundreds of thousands of dollars in plant and equipment are involved.

To those who were instrumental in putting out the minor blazes of the campus, quickly, the university is grateful; to those who through carelessness were responsible for past fires, we urge greater caution in the year to come.

A Man About MANHATTAN

'Someone Whispers a Story That Leaves You Numb'

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Sometimes, in the dusky glow of a nightclub, someone whispers a story that startles you—and leaves you numb. Such a story was whispered on Broadway the other night as a famous comedian was regaling his audiences with mirthful recitals that ran right up to and leaped over the risqué border.

Sometimes this comedian talks with a sort of lip. This is because his lip at one time was badly cut. If you stand quite close to him, and look for them, you can see dozens of little thin lines that show through his make up. Those lines were made with razors. It was a close call. It happened before repeat, in Chicago.

The story went something like this. He worked for a club, or maybe it was a restaurant. Whether you wanted to or not, you had to do business with one of the mobs during the prohibition years, if you worked in Chicago.

This man was approached by the representative of a rival mob. He suggested that it would be a fine thing if he, the comedian, used his influence to induce the club's owners to switch their business to his (the representative's) mob.

But when you walked out on one mob, its members went after you. If you refused to walk out, the rival mob usually found time to drop in for a little business.

One night this comedian went to his home and found four of "the boys" waiting for him. He knew them all. "We hate to do this pal," they told him. "But it's the boss' orders." Then they went at him with razors. Somehow, he lived. But they cut him from head to foot. The doctors found 56 slashes on his body when they got him to the hospital.

One of the nicest workmen among bandmen, from the spectator's viewpoint, is Tommy Dorsey. When he plays before hotel dining room audiences, as he has been all summer at the Astor, his shows are simple and not too long, but they have finesse. Maybe finesse isn't the word. I mean, you see everything you want to see, and that's all. It doesn't tire you to look at it. There are no acrobatics. A girl comes out and dances. She is pretty and she is a good dancer. Then the Five Pipers gather around a microphone and sing his great hit version of "I'll Never Smile Again." This always draws a spontaneous burst of applause from the crowd. It is really a great presentation, and heart-breakingly beautiful.

Last night, when this happened, the spectators received an extra thrill, because Tommy said, "Sitting across the room at the moment is the little girl who wrote this song, Ruth Lowe, and I want you to meet her." He went over then, the light following him, and shook hands with a little blonde girl whose eyes sparkled like sapphires. Just at that moment the waiter set a cake before her, because it was her birthday, and the orchestra played "Happy Birthday To You." She seemed almost too little to be there, but then of course that was only an impression. She wasn't too little because she is a pianist, and she has been married, and her husband is dead, and it was his memory, they say, that inspired the song.

Glenn Tryon, The Cab Wit—

BY GLENN TRYON
Universal Associate Director
(Ad-libbing for vacationing Robbin Coons)

HOLLYWOOD — I am very timid. (I understand it is always good to begin with an element of surprise.) I am timid about telling columnists what they should put in their columns. I believe I am one of the few people who never said: "Now if I were writing a column, I would say so-and-so."

The reason I am timid is because I am what is known as a cab wit. A cab wit is a fellow who when he gets home suddenly thinks of the screaming dialogue he should have gotten off in the taxicab a half hour before, but didn't.

We in the movie business are supposed to shower down with scintillating stuff at any given moment. In my defense I can only say that I try to be a good listener. I listen when fellow members of the flicker industry expatiate on what's wrong with it. I never try to answer them. Privately, I think the trouble with the movies is that too many people are saying, "The trouble with the movies is—"

I have a little allegory saved up that deals with this subject. I have a relative who likes it so here goes.

Doctors have studied the cure of disease for centuries. But, once they've found a cure, do they call it corny and throw it out the window? Not at all, my friends. They apply the rules they have laboriously learned.

Now in Hollywood it seems to me that too often we are prone to take our hard-learned rules and call them corny. (And here is old Uncle Glenn, telling what's wrong with the movies.)

The fact is that corn is tried and true material that always has proved the foundation of good entertainment. Naturally, our application of the rules — all right, then our use of corn — is often wrong. We aren't dealing with a commodity bought in buckets.

As a mime, I learned the rules the hard way. I began as a youth, and my energy and sincerity passed for acting. As the old timers say, I was selling teeth and hair. Time went on, and I was compelled to learn the rules of acting, only to discover, when they finally were mastered, that I had become a ham. This is a dreadful thing, or maybe I don't need to tell you.

I either had to tenezerize myself, or quit. I finally tossed overboard everything I had learned. I consciously began trying not to "act," but the rules I had acquired became an unconscious undercurrent to my words and action. That's acting. It's not being natural, but the ability to appear natural. It is not technique, but ability to apply technique without seeming to do so.

Well, I might add that I'm trying to use the same system on stories and scripts. At the moment I'm engrossed in "Hired Wife," which William A. Seiter is producing and directing at Universal with Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne and Virginia Bruce.

Oh, yes, one of the rules is always to leave 'em laughing. But I've already told you.

I'm a cab wit.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York, chief of the U. S. division of the U. S. - Canadian defense board, declares that the group will "abandon the complex language of diplomacy and get down to real issues."

We've Fewer Planes Now Than on May 16!

WASHINGTON — The defense commission has been tossing figures galore to the headlines, yipping about umpteen thousands of planes on order or the verge of it, pointing an accusing finger at congress because the orders are not developing faster.

The truth is there are fewer fighting planes on hand in one armed service to defend this nation today than there were when Mr. Roosevelt demanded at least 50,000 as soon as possible.

Cold figures come in a trustworthy way suggesting the developments between the day Mr. Roosevelt spoke, May 16, and the last officially calculated date of plane deliveries, August 6, bore these actual fruits in the bag:

The navy air force shrank 70 planes short of the number of useful ships it had ready to take the air in May. Deliveries were that much slower than the growth of obsolescence among craft on hand. While the army is cagey about calculating the accumulation of obsolescence in the same period, its air fleet is much larger and therefore it has obviously suffered more than the navy.

The granting of certain priority rights to British orders may have accentuated these deficiencies, but whatever the reason, the fact remains indisputable that United States air defense is not as strong today as when Mr. Roosevelt spoke.

VERY FEW PLANES

If you will cut through the fraud of the official commission figures on planes that have been ordered, you will find little hope for cheering yet about the future.

The commission made its figures look grand by calculating the number of planes on order August 17, against June 2, when it took over. That is all right for publicity purposes of the commission, but not for a full accounting of defense progress.

Using the same period as for deliveries (the date Mr. Roosevelt demanded 50,000 and the last thoroughly calculated date, August 6), you will find the following situation on orders:

The army awarded contracts for 56 fighting ships, all large type bombers, and the best in the world. In addition it ordered 1,237 training ships not for use as fighters.

The navy placed orders for 1,635 planes in the same period, of which 700 are to be fighter-pursuit ships. The remaining 935 are trainers.

Thus the actual number of fighters for which orders were placed is 756—a long way from the 11,000 plane program which the army alone considers essential for defense before June 1941 and still further away from the 50,000 goal of Mr. Roosevelt.

REASON? RED TAPE

The reasons contributed officially are confusing. The commission's publicity man implies congress is to blame because it has not acted swiftly on the last $4,800,000,000 appropriations bill. This seems an inconsequential truth, because neither the army nor navy has used up all the money they previously received.

While the commission likewise points at congress for causing revision of contract forms to curtail the profits of plane manufacturers, congress is pointing at the White House for demanding an excess profits tax in connection with legislation clearing the tax amortization bottleneck, and everyone is pointing at the industry for being bewildered.

To a sideline observer, the only thing that seems quite clear is that ordinary governmental red tape has beset the program at every point. And no one has been able to control sufficient force to cut it through.

CONSUMER PROBLEMS

Another division of the defense commission which is having its troubles is the consumer protection unit headed by Harriet Elliott. There is not much consumer protecting to be done yet, but in taking the initial steps, Miss Elliott has tread inadvertently upon some exceptionally prized toes of the new deal economists in other governmental departments. They grumble that her consumer folk assert the food and retail people have been looking the other way when cooperation is asked. Their pledge against price increases will be sought in a meeting definitely arranged for August 29—in case they attend.

CONSERVATION MAKES A CONVERT

PRATT, Kas. (AP)—Guy Jossand, game official, received a letter from an Illinois minister that said: "Many years ago as a boy I remember breaking one of the game laws of the state—going hunting without a license.

"Of course, this may seem out of order to some but since that time, about 17 years ago, I have moved away, become a Christian and am now a minister of the Gospel and I do not want anything between my soul and the Lord.

"Therefore I ask you to forgive me for this, as I am sorry for it and will do what you think best."

Jossand suggested if the minister would help conserve wildlife in the future it might aid his conscience.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—If the ducks had more sense they'd write to their congressmen about it, but being ducks they probably don't even see the injustice in the fact that because there are about 25 per cent more of them this year the hunters are going to get about 33 per cent more time to shoot them.

"The biggest crop in 10 years," is the way Ray Benson, executive secretary of Ducks Unlimited, views the outlook. "Last year there were about 65,000,000. This year we expect upwards of 80,000,000, despite the fact that for a time early in the year the outlook was bad.

"There wasn't any show in parts of the Canadian breeding areas until mid-February, and that country relies on melting snow to fill the potholes and sloughs.

"Ducks are funny. They don't read the weather reports, so they didn't know there might not be enough water to carry them through. They just plunked down on their favorite breeding grounds and hoped for the best.

"As luck would have it, in June the rains came in abnormal quantity, and the same was true in July. That break, combined with the fact that our campaign against crows and magpies, which raid the nests, has shown results, has assured a bumper crop.

"The only thing we have to worry about now is duck sickness, or botulism. They get a stomach ache and die. It's something like ptomaine poisoning, and the toxin given off by one of these dead ducks can kill 2,000 others. However, that's a minor worry, except to the ducks.

"We've had one report of an outbreak on Lake Winnipeg, Manitoba, where 6,000 dead ducks were counted to the mile."

The hunters are a minor worry in the life of a duck, Benson says. A survey has shown that 70 per cent of an annual crop is lost before a gun is fired.

"Leading the list of hazards is drought," he explains. "Then come the crows and magpies, which account for about 30 per cent of the eggs. Then, and you'll be surprised, come the northern Pike, called jackfish up yonder. These submarine crows destroyed 34 per cent of the hatch in one delta. Prairie and marsh fires take their toll, and also duck sickness."

Ducks Unlimited is a non-profit organization established to insure the perpetuation of water fowl. If these underslung pigeons don't know enough to protect themselves, somebody must do it for them.

"This Ducks Unlimited has done by establishing breeding grounds, providing feed during tough winters, fighting the natural enemies of the birds, and by other means.

For example, when the toll exacted by crows was revealed, the organization through its Canadian affiliate caught and banded a batch of crows, turned them loose, and told the farmers that on a certain date all the bands turned in would be pooled and a drawing made. First prize was $500.

With a chance at $500 every time they pulled the trigger, the natives grabbed their blunderbuses and to heck with the crows. About a million crows and magpies were destroyed in two years.

This year, for the first time since 1933, a two-month hunting season has been proclaimed, opening Oct. 1 in nine border states. Just wait until the ducks hear about that time extension. They'll picket the place.

THE 'HAIG' Has Loads of Fun At P. G. A.

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP)—Some of the young sprouts shot a little better golf than he did, but Walt Hagin, the old codger from Detroit, had more fun than anybody as the P. G. A. championship went through the first 20 hole rounds of match play today.

The field was reduced to 16 competitors and Walt was one of them. He was beaming tonight like a new moon and rearing to get at his next announced victim, Harold (Jug) McSpadden, whom he engages in a 36-hole marathon tomorrow.

If his legs will carry him that far, the Haig might prove difficult to turn back, at that. He wound up shooting even par for 35 holes today as he eased out Young Lip Sellers of Hot Springs, Ark., 1 up, and Vic Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J., 2 and 1.

Sarazen faces the considerable job of trying to lick Henry Picard, the defending champion, in one of tomorrow's eight matches.

Unknown Ousts Jimmy Demaret In P.G.A. Play

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret of Houston, second highest money winner of the year and a ranking favorite, was dumped out of the P. G. A. championship today by Eddie Kirk of Farmington, Mich., 2 and 1, in a second round match as the field was reduced to 16 survivors.

Kirk, little known to golfing fame, shot only a 38 on the first nine and was not much better coming back, but Demaret's game was even more ragged. His card included, among other things, a pair of sixes.

Another big shot had a narrow escape when Byron Nelson, former open champion and last year's P. G. A. finalist, was carried to 20 holes by the veteran Frank Walsh in their second rounder. Walsh barely missed a 20-foot putt for victory on the 11th. He was two up on Nelson through the 11th, and Nelson had finally to shoot a birdie on the 17th to catch him.

Nelson's par four won it for him finally on the 20th when Walsh got mixed up in a trap and took a six.

Nelson's third round opponent tomorrow will be Dick Metz, the tournament medalist, who continued to shoot sensational golf through two match rounds today.

Kirk, Demaret's conqueror, will engage Art Clark of Uniontown, Pa., who eliminated Billy Burke, a former open king, 1 up.

Ben Hogan, the year's top money winner, and Ralph Guldahl, two time open champion, scored easy second round victories. Hogan defeated Harry Nettledahl of Framingham, Mass., 5 and 4, and Guldahl crushed John Kinder of Plainfield, N. J., 6 and 5. Both Hogan and Guldahl were two under par when their matches ended.

Tomorrow Hogan meets Al Brosh of Farmingdale, N. Y., who beat Bill Francis of Hollidaysburg, Pa., 5 and 4, in the second round.

Jim Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill., sprang the day's second best upset when he eliminated Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., on the 19th hole after a furious struggle. Wood, the perennial title threat, was one up at the turn, but Foulis caught him at the 13th and they battled evenly through the 18th.

On the first extra hole Foulis plunked his second down a few feet from the cup, while Wood missed the green entirely and finally picked up. Foulis meets Guldahl in the third round.

Pirates Take 2 From Phils, 5 to 0, 5 to 2

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Buccaneers, driving hard for a first division berth, snatched two games from the last-place Philadelphia Phils today 5 to 0 and 5 to 2 with the aid of neat pitching by Rip Sewell and Joe Bowman and heavy batting by Rookie Maurice Van Robays.

Van Robays got two singles in the first contest and knocked in four of the second game markers with a home run and a double.

Gallagher, Aggie Wrestling Coach, Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 28 (AP)—Edward Clark Gallagher, 53-year-old wrestling coach who brought world fame to Oklahoma A. and M. college, lost his bout with pneumonia today.

The Irishman, known as the "Knute Rockne of the Mat," was stricken on his return from a mountain vacation in Colorado.

Although Gallagher himself was not a wrestler, his Oklahoma Aggies dominated the amateur wrestling field for a quarter of a century, winning 11 of the 13 national intercollegiate tournaments held during that time.

His death came at a time when his teams had completed three consecutive undefeated seasons—with an unbroken string of 25 dual meet victories—and won four successive national crowns.

The scientific system he devised, based on the principles of leverage, will go on—taught by the hundreds of coaches who learned their lessons under him.

In 1936, when the University of Oklahoma dethroned the Aggies as national champions after three straight years at the top, the Sooners were coached by Paul V. Keen, one of Gallagher's former stars.

Gallagher turned out coaches who today are teaching wrestling at Duke, Massachusetts Tech, Northwestern, Michigan, U. S. Naval Academy, Michigan State, Virginia Military Institute, Lafayette, Kansas, Kansas State, Grinnell and hundreds of high schools and smaller colleges.

Some say his continued success was possible because so many of his freshmen were high school graduates who had been coached by former Aggies and came to him already schooled in his own fundamentals.

A veteran of 28 years on the Aggie staff, he became head wrestling coach in 1916 and turned out 19 undefeated teams in 23 years. The sport was suspended in 1918 and 1919 because of the World war.

His record includes 137 dual meet victories, four ties and only five defeats. His teams from 1921 through 1932 were undefeated, winning 70 consecutive meets. He turned out 69 national individual champions, 15 members of Uncle Sam's last four Olympic teams and three Olympic champs.

Giants Climb to Third Place Tie With Cards

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, once one of the greatest right-handed pitchers in baseball, is coming back to the Chicago Cubs.

Recall of the lanky hurler from Tulsa of the Texas league was announced today by the C. U. manager, Gabby Hartnett, who said he hoped to have Dean ready for duty in the Cincinnati series opening here Sept. 7.

The eccentric, colorful moundsman, who won 30 games to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a pennant in 1935, has been with Tulsa since early in June. He'd asked to be sent there so he could experiment with a new side delivery after he had started five times for the Cubs and completed only one game.

Dean, who cost the Cubs $185,000 in cash and three players in 1938, now faces his greatest chance to recapture at least a part of the hurling glory that once was his. This will be his final chance with the Cubs, according to Hartnett, who said:

"There won't be any more experimenting with Dean. If we can pitch him we'll keep him. If he can't pitch I'm not even sure he'll be with us at camp next spring."

Dean, who is 29 years old, won seven games and lost one in 1938 and gained six wins against four defeats in 1939. With Tulsa, he has appeared in 17 games compiling a record of 8 won and 6 lost. Manager Roy Johnson of the Tulsa club, former Chicago coach, said Dean looked better now than he had at any time since joining the Cubs and that he had acquired an easy sidarm motion for his free, three-quarters overhead pitch.

Johnson said Dean would pitch for Tulsa on Labor day and would then leave for Chicago.

End Warneke's Pitching String Homers by Cuccinello, Moore Prove Margin In 5 to 2 Victory

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—The New York Giants climbed up into a tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for third place in the National league today by whipping the Cards 5 to 2.

The defeat ended Lon Warneke's string of eight straight hurling victories.

A home run by Jojo Moore with one mate aboard in the third inning and another four-bagger, by Tony Cuccinello in the ninth proved the Giants' margin of victory. The other runs were scored in the sixth on Frank Demaree's double, Babe Young's triple and a passed ball.

Ernie Koy's double and Mickey Owen's single brought in the Cards' first run in the fourth and Don Gutteridge's homer in the ninth produced the other tally.

Cliff Melton was the winning pitcher, but had to have relief from big Walt Brown in the seventh.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—A 15 hit rampage at the expense of three Chicago Cub pitchers gave the Boston Bees an 8 to 3 victory today in the first of a two game series.

Dick Erickson, Bee hurler, helped with two doubles that drove in three runs. It was his 10th victory and came rather handily despite a two-run first inning outburst by the Cubs. After that he permitted just six hits. An error helped the Cubs to their final score, in the fourth.

Bryant, in his second test since returning to the Cubs, yielded two hits in the last two innings.

Dizzy Dean Coming Back Eccentric Moundsman in Final Chance With Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, once one of the greatest right-handed pitchers in baseball, is coming back to the Chicago Cubs.

Recall of the lanky hurler from Tulsa of the Texas league was announced today by the C. U. manager, Gabby Hartnett, who said he hoped to have Dean ready for duty in the Cincinnati series opening here Sept. 7.

The eccentric, colorful moundsman, who won 30 games to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a pennant in 1935, has been with Tulsa since early in June. He'd asked to be sent there so he could experiment with a new side delivery after he had started five times for the Cubs and completed only one game.

Dean, who cost the Cubs $185,000 in cash and three players in 1938, now faces his greatest chance to recapture at least a part of the hurling glory that once was his. This will be his final chance with the Cubs, according to Hartnett, who said:

"There won't be any more experimenting with Dean. If we can pitch him we'll keep him. If he can't pitch I'm not even sure he'll be with us at camp next spring."

Dean, who is 29 years old, won seven games and lost one in 1938 and gained six wins against four defeats in 1939. With Tulsa, he has appeared in 17 games compiling a record of 8 won and 6 lost. Manager Roy Johnson of the Tulsa club, former Chicago coach, said Dean looked better now than he had at any time since joining the Cubs and that he had acquired an easy sidarm motion for his free, three-quarters overhead pitch.

Johnson said Dean would pitch for Tulsa on Labor day and would then leave for Chicago.

Reich's jumped into an early lead, scoring five runs in a first-inning assault that included Gabby Burger's home run with the bases loaded. The losers kept whittling at the lead, but a fifth-inning spurge netted Reich's two runs that sewed up the ball game.

Saylor collected two of the five safeties allowed by Munson, the losing hurler, while "Doc" slapped out three safe blows to further his own cause. Robinson and Berkey each accounted for bingles, including a homer for the latter.

New Knothole Rates Explained

Superintendents of all Iowa school systems will receive a letter from the University of Iowa athletic department explaining the new admission price for the Knothole club play whereby school pupils are admitted to Hawkeye football games.

Charles Galiner said that the project, begun in 1930, would be administered on the same basis as in past years, except that the admission price for all pupils now is 50 cents.

"The Big Ten conference has set a minimum price at which children may be admitted to games and the federal government has placed an admission tax on such admissions over 21 cents," Galiner said.

Iowa's athletic board had no choice in the matter of raising the price for it would have preferred to have retained the former rates of ten cents for grade school pupils and 25 cents for high school students.

With the departure of Ye Olde Sports Ed for Chicago and the All-Star game, Ye Olde Assistant Sports Ed steps into his size 11 shoes, but for wallowing purposes only.

Afore said Oscar, departing this morning via the thumb route, and minus women and song, will be The Daily Iowan contact point between Iowa readers and the three Hawkeye players on the squad, Nile Kinnick, Buzz Dean and Dick Evans. At the last reading, Kinnick was a starter, Evans was regular second-stringer and Dean was slated for sure action in the star-studded battle.

They say Mike Enich, Iowa tackle and captain-elect, never saw his school's team play a game until the Minnesota game of 1936. And the poster displaying Iron Mike's picture is a self-portrait. The athletic department's supply is exhausted, and the stack of requests is still mounting.

Johnny Cooney, the current miracle-man with the Boston Bees, is 38 years old, and broke into the majors 19 years ago as a southpaw pitcher. Casey Stengel was using the veteran as a coach for his outfielders this year, when he noticed that Cooney was outrunning his junior pupils day after day.

Stengel kicked himself in the pants and promoted Johnny up to the front ranks in nothing flat.

Latest current major-leaguer to approach the 200-victory mark is Larry French, Cub mainstay. French won No. 175 just the other day. Old Charlie Root is also in the running, needing seven more to touch the peak.

It seems "Ducky-Wucky" Medwick is very much a home-town boy to his Brooklyn radio fans. Station WOR, which broadcasts the Dodger games, is located in Carteret, N. J., the town in which "Muscles" was born, raised and went to school.

Don Faurot of Missouri, whom Eddie Anderson had a tough time beating for the all-star head coaching job, is good-natured and likeable. His career at Missouri almost paralleled Anderson's work at Iowa. And Tom Layden of Davenport and his son Mike, father and brother of Notre Dame's head coach, are there, too.

Besides Cummins, the sports writing fraternity presents its best possible representation in Bert McGrane and Sec Taylor of the Des Moines Register, Leo Kautz of the Davenport Times, John O'Donnell of the Davenport Democrat, Ed Moore of the Waterloo Courier, James Kearns of the Chicago Daily News and Arch Ward of the Chicago Tribune.

Anderson tops the coaches, with Frank Carideo, Jim Harris, Jock Sutherland, Francis Schmidt of Ohio State and a few other big boys on hand.

Refugee Ship 'American Legion' Safely in U. S. Port

'We Didn't See Any Mines,' Says Captain

Report German Radio Warned Ship Of Dangers at Sea

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—The U. S. army transport American Legion, overloaded with 397 American refugees, royalty and diplomats, arrived safely home today after a voyage from Scandinavia marked by German radio warnings of mines in her path.

"But we didn't see any mines," said the ship's veteran skipper, Capt. Bror E. Torning, in describing the voyage from Petsamo, Finland, past northern Scotland and across the Atlantic.

"Germany gave us plenty of warning daily from the 17th of August until noon yesterday, when we heard the last broadcast which said we had run short of fuel and food and that the navy had come to rescue us."

Princess Amused

He said the broadcasts amused Crown Princess Martha of Norway, who, with her three children, were passengers.

"None of us got excited," the captain added. "We have 10,000 pounds of food in the ice boxes now and fuel enough to carry us to Petsamo and back again."

Because the course ordered by the U. S. state department took the ship through areas reputedly mined by Germany in her attempt to blockade Britain, there were two lifeboat drills a day. A double lookout was on duty 24 hours a day and Captain Torning himself stayed round-the-clock on the bridge until two days ago.

The voyage was considered more perilous because Germany disclaimed responsibility for her safety on the course taken. The state department, however, refused to change her route, contending the belligerents had been advised of her course and had assured her safe conduct.

The Norwegian royal family was taken off the American Legion by a coast guard cutter down the bay—destroyers had conveyed the ship the last 500 miles—and greeted by a handful of persons at the battery. Rain made the greeting probably the most dismal New York had ever tendered visiting royalty.

The crown princess said she had no idea where she would live. Tomorrow, she will go to Hyde Park, N. Y., to visit President Roosevelt, who personally invited them to this country about four weeks ago.

Describes Escape

"We made our escape from Norway in the very early morning," she related. "We went to a flying field near Hamar. It was a most harrowing experience, as we were bombed enroute. Of course, the king and my husband had more harrowing experiences than we."

She said she was convinced that Norway would be independent and free again.

Mrs. Florence Jaffray Harri-man, U. S. minister to Norway who also was a passenger, praised the conduct of the American Legion's officers and crew. She said she might go to Washington tomorrow to report to the state department.

U. S. Ships May Bring English Children Here, But Intense Warfare Clouds Plans

Neutrality Act Barriers Are Torn Away

But State Department Won't Act Until Private Agencies Seek Ships

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—Neutrality act barriers against the use of American ships to bring refugee children here from England were removed today but Germany's attitude and the intensification of the fighting left plans for the children in doubt.

The White House announced that President Roosevelt had signed a measure permitting American ships to enter the European combat zone for this purpose if assurances of safe conduct were obtained from the belligerents.

Secretary Hull said the state department would not act until private relief agencies had made arrangements and had asked for ships to make the voyages. The government, in that event, would ask safe conduct assurances, he said.

A German embassy spokesman said his government would examine carefully any request for such assurances and decide solely on the basis of the dangers involved.

A German news agency report last week described the new legislation as "illusory" and asserted that Germany could not grant such assurances. Dr. Wilhelm Tannenberg, first secretary at the embassy, said, however, that this did not constitute an advance answer.

Uncertainty
The Marshall Field committee in New York, one of the principal organizations with which the state department has been discussing the refugee question, was said to have no immediate plan for sending ships because of the uncertainty of Germany's attitude and the intensified scale of hostilities around the British Isles.

The new act does not limit its application to British children but that was its main purpose. It provides that the children must be under 16 years of age.

The author of the measure, Rep. Hennings (D-Mo), estimated 200,000 British children would be brought here if there were ships to carry them.

Eight Injured In Dakota Rail Wreck

Passenger Train Derails in Attempt To Pass Freight

MILBANK, S. D., Aug. 28 (AP)—An attempt to detour a local passenger train of the Milwaukee railroad around a wrecked freight ended in a derailment 20 miles west of here early today and caused injuries to at least eight persons.

Seriously injured were two transients, Roscoe LeCount of Ligonier, Ind., and Lane Miller of Mishawaka, Ind., who were caught between the cars when the engine, mail car and all but one of the passenger coaches overturned.

Three of the injured were released after treatment today but five others remained at hospitals in Milbank and Webster.

Railroad officials said the passenger train struck a temporary detour, which had been built around the derailed freight train, "too fast" and was wrecked.

Two westbound passenger trains had crossed the temporary track successfully before the eastbound was derailed, they said.

It was two hours before Miller could be released with the aid of an acetylene torch from where he was caught between the engine tender and cab. Both he and LeCount suffered badly crushed legs and physicians said amputations may be necessary.

Fred Pedlar, Montevideo, Minn., engineer, also was reported in serious condition in a Webster hospital, although the nature of his injuries was not known.

Veneta DeWitt, 15, of Milford Healthiest 4-H Girl in Iowa

Named Winner At State Fair; To Go to Chicago

DES MOINES, Aug. 28 (AP)—Selection of Veneta DeWitt, 15, of Milford, as Iowa's healthiest 4-H girl and crowning of 15 additional livestock grand champions highlighted today's events at the Iowa state fair.

Veneta is the demure blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. DeWitt, who rent 320 acres of land in Dickinson county. The healthy lass will be a junior in Okoboji consolidated high school this fall.

She goes in for athletics and is a cheer leader at the high school. Veneta had little comment on her good fortune. She and the winner of the boys' contest, Bob Bolen of Laurens, will represent the state in the national contest at Chicago this fall.

She was born on a farm near Ponca, Neb., and her family moved to Dickinson county when she was a child. She said she would like to attend Morningside college in Sioux City after she completed her high school work.

One of the 15 top animals selected in the judging rings today was the grand champion 4-H club draft colt, a Belgian exhibited by Raymond Volger of Ogden. Reserve honorees went to Alfred Runner of Gilman, on a Clydesdale.

Iowa breeders took the purple ribbons in 11 of the open classes.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 23. (28)—Peder Skriver, Omaha, and Dale C. Koon, Sioux City, said today they have found oil in their well on the Roy Armour farm north of Homer, Neb.

They said the well had been drilled to the arbutic dolomite at a depth of a little more than 1,200 feet and oil bearing sands found. They added oil and gas had been present in the well since it reached 700 feet.

Skriver explained the well had been plugged because they lacked facilities for handling any possible output at present. He declined to disclose future plans for development and said probably 30 days would elapse before further development.

Burlington Gets 1941 Convention Of Iowa Legion

ARNOLDS PARK, Aug. 23. (AP)—Burlington was awarded the 1941 convention of the Iowa department, American Legion, as the annual gathering of Legionnaires closed here today.

Robert J. Shaw, 49, Sigourney, attorney, was named state commander of the group without opposition.

He succeeds George M. Paradise of Sioux City.

Dr. John K. Martin of Davenport, alluding to published reports that the Legionnaires would ask for investigation of alleged delays in production of armaments at the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal, declared that all operations there were ahead of schedule and that no such investigation would be asked.

Resolutions
Resolutions passed by the group re-affirmed its stand for the Iowa criminal syndicalism law, asked the Iowa tax commission to enforce laws on military service exemption, condemned a reported slow-down of production of national defense materials and appointed a committee to report at the national convention.

Other resolutions favored compulsory military training and demanded prompt adoption by congress of universal training for physical education.

War of Defense
Shaw, Paradise and other speakers echoed a determination that the next war must be in defense and that the United States must be ready for it.

Other officers elected included: Vice Commanders Wilbur Gee, Fort Dodge; Merle Chance, Adel, and A. W. Huber, Council Bluffs; adjutant, R. J. Laird, Des Moines; historian, H. H. Boyce, Mason City; chaplain, the Rev. Father Thomas J. Conroy, Des Moines, and sergeant at arms, Leo Laird, Rockwell City.

Talkies For Iowa 'Highlights' Film Will Have Addition Of Sound This Fall

Educational motion pictures with sound will be made for the first time this fall at the University of Iowa in the department of visual instruction.

One of the projects will be filming of research projects, with the film then available to other educational institutions. Sound also will be added to the new Iowa film, an hour-long one of the varied highlights of the state.

The new equipment has picture and sound on separate films, making possible the editing of each without affecting the other, according to Cochran.

Senate Passes Training Bill; Measure Goes to House

Draft--

necessary for defending the western hemisphere against invasion from abroad.

Exemptions

In calling up the conscripts, army officials say, plans are to exempt men with dependents, and the bill itself provides an out for conscientious objectors, although they may be required to devote a year to non-combatant work or to work of national importance under civil direction.

Among the amendments which the senate added to the bill was one by Senator Adams (D-Colo.) to extend present profit limitations on government contracts for ships and airplanes to contracts for weapons, ammunition and other military equipment.

Suspend Limitations

The chamber adopted this amendment, without a record vote, at a time when the national defense commission and the navy were trying to get congress to suspend the special limitations on ship and plane profits by a provision attached to the pending excess profits tax bill.

Senators pointed out that the senate amendment extending the special limitations would become inoperative if congress granted the request of the commission and the navy.

Approaching the final vote, the senate brushed aside proposed substitutes for the draft bill. One of the last disposed of was that of Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) to delay conscription until Jan. 1 while voluntary enlistments were sought to fill the army's requirements.

After the final action had been taken, Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind.) who voted against the bill, issued an explanatory statement, saying that while he strongly favored an adequate national defense he was "fundamentally opposed to compulsory military conscription in time of peace."

A statement by Senator Guffy (D-Va.) who voted for the bill, said he would "never vote to send a single American soldier to fight on European soil," but would "continue to support every measure that strengthens our defense and thereby discourages all thought of aggression on the part of foreign forces."

Close Call

The supporters of immediate conscription had an uncomfortably close call on an amendment by Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) to postpone the actual drafting of men for 60 days and give the voluntary enlistment system a further trial meanwhile. The final vote on this amendment was 41 votes for it to 43 against.

Soon afterward, the senate turned down 26 to 58 an amendment by Senator Neely (D-WVa.) calling for a 30-day postponement.

The industrial draft amendment approved previously touched off prolonged discussion.

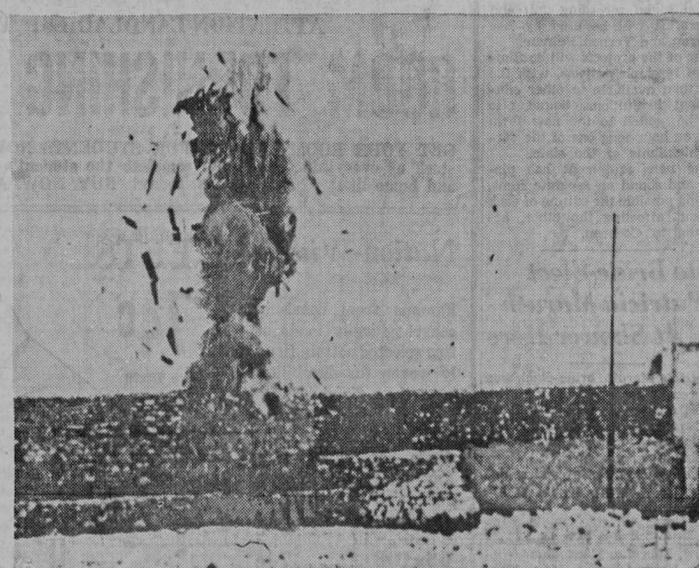

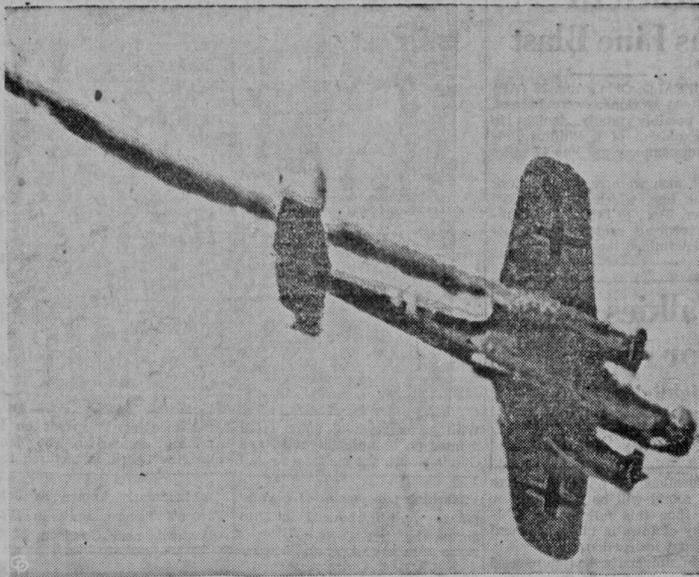

And Senator George (D-Ga.), in an address to which the senate listened attentively, said it would be impossible to convince the people that the present administration was preparing for peace. Their reaction, he added, would be expressed in the coming presidential election.

Verdict in November

"Conscript manpower, conscript plants, conscript the farmer, if you please," the Georgian boomed. "Conscript every industry, conscript the labor to run industry. Conscript the wealth of the country in peace-time and then watch how seriously the American people will say that you are standing for peace; watch the verdict, gentlemen, in November."

Alaska attained representation in congress in 1906.

As British Battle Foes On Two Continents

These photos show destruction wrought upon her enemies by a British empire fighting desperately for existence on two continents.

Top photo shows a German Dornier plane falling in flames after having been struck by an anti-aircraft shell. Lower photo shows sleep and went to bed. The more cautious improvised cots in shelters.

Crowds in downtown London heard the anti-aircraft guns blazing away at the raiders.

Bombs Find Targets

As the raid continued, a new series of heavy, shuddering explosions indicated other bombs had found a target somewhere in the metropolitan area.

In mid-London, the crash of bombs was plainly audible from one direction after another.

Last night the Germans were ahead of their self-set evening schedule. All the city's sirens howled a little before 9 o'clock, about a half hour earlier than Tuesday night, and they were preceded by a 20-minute alarm in one outlying London area.

Just before the alarm the air ministry, in a communique, stated that 24 German planes had been shot down up to 8 p. m., compared with British losses of 12 fighters.

All Afternoon

The same communique said the raiders had tried to penetrate the central defenses all afternoon, but that their only important damage had been to a Thames estuary town. The morning, also, had witnessed constant attacks in this pathway to London.

The Germans struck, too, in other areas of Britain, but it was between the region of Dover and the Thames estuary leading to this capital that their supreme efforts were made.

In a 30-mile wide corridor alive with shell and flame they centered the offensive, and along the channel coast there occurred the first incident to suggest that the Germans in that offensive were not operating alone.

In the late afternoon a pilot baled out of a crippled attacking plane and as he fell slowly into the channel, observers saw that his parachute was red and white and green—the colors used by Italian fliers.

The British officially announced that the attacks were "heavy."

British Bombs Kill Ten in Berlin--

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (Thursday) (AP)—Ten persons were killed and about 30 injured in Berlin early today by British bombs dropped in a raid which kept Berlin under air alarm two hours and 54 minutes.

All the dead were civilians who lived in a workers' quarter in the southeastern section of the German capital.

One woman and a 16-year-old girl were among those killed by the bombs from high-flying British raiders which swept over the city repeatedly.

reserves and 242,708 national guard officers and men.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, has announced, however, that he intends to call reserve officers to active duty as they are needed on a voluntary basis, as far as possible. More than 10,000 young reserve officers already are serving.

The war department is proceeding with training plans on the theory that only 220,000 of the 242,708 national guardsmen ultimately will enter camp.

The act provides for the automatic discharge of guardsmen under 18. Those below the rank of captain who have dependents will be allowed to resign 20 days after being called.

Guardsmen who enter the bombs were dropped.

Authorities asserted no objectives of military importance were hit.

Three American correspondents, including an Associated Press staff man, were rushed about Berlin at dawn to spots damaged by bombs. At their request, they also were taken to other places which might have been military objectives.

Airport Undamaged

No damage was noted at Tempelhof airport, where dozens of civilian planes were being warmed up, nor was there any sign of destruction at the great Klingenberg plant which supplies power to half the city, at other important plants or at railway stations.

German authorities said reports of damage were not coordinated immediately but that the most serious damage seemed to be the destruction of the one house, the flames of which lighted the sky for some time.

The raiders arrived out of a cloudless sky.

service will receive a medical certificate showing service illnesses or injuries which they may have acquired upon their release.

Re-Employment

Employers will be required by the act to re-employ soldiers who apply 40 days after completing service, unless the employers find it "impossible or unreasonable."

The law will expire June 30, 1942, unless extended by congress.

The guardsmen and reservists may be sent to any place in the western hemisphere, to United States possessions outside the hemisphere or to the Philippine islands.

Dead at 65 is Walter P. Chrysler, above, one of the greatest and wealthiest figures in the automobile world. ## Planes-- bat planes. Declaring the reason for the preponderance of training planes was obvious, the secretary added that the navy and the army were engaged in preparing men to operate the total force of 25,000 planes planned by 1942.

Further breaking down plane purchases, the defense commission said that 2,848 of the 6,361 under contract were being bought with funds which became available July 1, and the rest from appropriations made for the fiscal year which ended on that date.

The Contracts

The plane contracts announced by the war department today were as follows:

Willkie Warns Against Political Influence in Draft Exemptions

Urges Action By Local Draft Boards

Says Provision Should Be Made to Permit Conscripts to Vote

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 28, (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie recommended today that congress guard exemptions under the conscription bill from political influence and place authority to determine them in the hands of local authorities.

The republican presidential nominee told reporters that local draft boards should determine exemptions because "under that system the administration of the act would be both local and free of politics."

He did not amplify that statement.

Must Retain Vote
Asked whether some provision also should be made to insure that men drafted under the legislation retain their right to vote, Willkie replied affirmatively.

Willkie announced that he had telegraphed congratulations to Senator Hiram Johnson, who yesterday won California's democratic, republican and progressive nominations for another term.

After praising Johnson as a "true progressive," Willkie told reporters that "I wouldn't be surprised also if the people of California were not somewhat resentful of the purge."

His reference was to President Roosevelt's recent comment that Senator Johnson no longer could be considered a liberal.

True Progressive
"It is fortunate that the people of California are able to recognize a true progressive even though some others may not," said Willkie's telegram.

"You fellows can define who the 'some others' are," Willkie told reporters with a grin.

"Senator Johnson for some 35 years has been one of the outstanding true progressives," he went on. "The president's attack on him probably helped him."

Willkie said he could not say which presidential candidate Senator Johnson would support, but added that "it seems to me there is one person he couldn't support very well."

Elevator Service!

This May Qualify For Prize Method Of Escaping Prison

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 28, (AP)—A dozen Negro prisoners escaped from the city's skyscraper jail today by the simple expedient of ringing for the elevator.

Jailer Barney Willaford escorted the Negroes, charged with minor offenses, to the hallway on the 19th floor and returned to the jail cells for other prisoners. All were to be sent down to the sixth-floor courtroom.

One bright Negro pushed the elevator button. The operator responded and, apparently sensing nothing wrong, took all 12 prisoners to the ground floor.

Eight calmly wandered away but three reconsidered and surrendered while another was captured in the lobby.

Questions On the Draft Here Are Answers To How Conscription Measure Will Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Here are questions which some may be asking about the effect of the conscription bill—and the answers.

Who is liable to the draft under the bill passed by the senate?
All men between 21 and 30 inclusive.

What are they required to do?
On a day to be specified by the president, they must register at a place in their communities still to be designated.

Will all who register be called?

No.
Who will be called?
That will be determined by a drawing of numbers.

Must all whose numbers are drawn go to military camp?
All except men with dependents and with physical and mental deficiencies.

Are conscientious objectors liable to the draft?
Not if they can prove the good faith of their objections, but they are still subject to a year of non-combatant work or work of national importance under civilian direction.

Are divinity students and clergymen exempt?
Yes.

Corning Glass, General Electric Are Accused

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP)—A federal grand jury today accused four companies and six individuals of tariff and anti-trust law violations which the government charged gave the Corning glass works and the General Electric company "control of all sources of supply of glass bulbs in the United States."

Named, among others, in a two-count indictment were: The General Electric company and a vice president; the Corning Glass Works, of Corning, N. Y., and two officers.

The indictment charged that the defendants conspired to restrain, through secret agreements, the importation, distribution and sale of bulbs used in the manufacture of electric light bulbs in the United States.

Vlasta Frus Winner of Trip to 4-H Club Congress in Chicago

County Girls' Club President Gets Award

Five-Year Expense Record Book Called Best at State Fair

Vlasta Frus, Johnson county 4-H girls' club president, has been awarded a trip to the 4-H club congress at Chicago, Ill., next Dec. 1 for her five-year expense record book entered at the Iowa State fair in Des Moines.

Her record which won the trip accounted for every penny she has spent for the past five years. The blue ribbon was awarded for her consistent account of every purchase, even of a stamp or a root beer, and the fact that she has interested her parents in keeping farm accounts in a similar manner.

Vlasta totaled her expenditures for each year and found that she was spending 50 per cent for clothing, nine per cent for health, nine per cent for gifts and donations and about 20 per cent for recreation. All remaining percentages were divided into miscellaneous groups.

Estimates Expenses Each year's record was used as an estimate of the expenses for the following year and in most cases her estimates were about par with the money she actually spent.

Recreation, according to the account, included shows, concerts, basketball games and several times she included money for films. One entry was for 25 cents which she gave to her brother for doing an errand.

According to the judge, Selma Ekquist, not only the expense account record, but the girl's general 4-H club record was considered.

Other Club Work

Her club work this year, as county president, included canning 103 quarts of fruit, 42 quarts of vegetables, 10 quarts of meat and 32 quarts of jellies and jams.

Born on July 4, 1920, Vlasta has been in 4-H club work for seven years now and has one year yet to work. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frus of Lincoln township and lives about nine miles southeast of Iowa City. She graduated from Iowa City high school in Iowa City.

Local Police On Lookout For Missing Girl

Iowa City police have been asked to be on the lookout for Sarah Ellen Grimstead, 11-year-old girl missing since last Thursday from her home, the David Cook residence three miles south of Iowa City on the sand road.

The girl was described yesterday by local child welfare officials as four feet, seven inches high and weighing 95 pounds. She has blonde hair and blue eyes and wears glasses. When she left home she was clad in a blue overall suit with a blue and white checked blouse. She took with her an old pair of blue slacks and a yellow sport shirt.

It is believed that she may be going to Ottumwa, Bloomfield or to California where members of her family reside.

Anyone seeing a girl answering this description is asked to notify local police or call the child welfare office at 5922.

Hiram Johnson Is California's Choice Again

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CALIFORNIA

Californians of three political faiths have picked Hiram W. Johnson, republican critic of much of the administration's foreign policy, as their candidate for the United States senate.

Late returns from Tuesday's primary elections showed that he had been renominated overwhelmingly by republicans, democrats and progressives.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the republican national committee, commented in Washington that the result was an "ignominious defeat" for "President Roosevelt's first purge attempt in the 1940 campaign." He added in a statement that the president "undertook to put the curse" on Johnson.

In a recent press conference Mr. Roosevelt said no one considered Johnson a progressive or liberal democrat in the year 1940 and that, while he still was very fond of Johnson, the latter had changed a lot in the last four or five years. Johnson supported Roosevelt in 1932 but has since opposed many of the president's foreign policies.

Johnson's nomination on three tickets virtually assured his reelection to a fifth term.

MISSISSIPPI Another United States senator—Theo G. Bilbo of Mississippi was renominated and assured of reelection Tuesday. Wednesday's ballot-counting showed that he had topped former Governor Hugh White by a sizable majority in the democratic primary. In Mississippi the democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

SOUTH CAROLINA South Carolina voted dry in a test of prohibition strength which will not affect immediately the sale of liquor in the state. The referendum, purely advisory to the legislature, was held in conjunction with the Tuesday primary, which renominated five democratic members of congress who had opposition.

ARKANSAS Democratic incumbents in congress also won in an Arkansas primary.

Mrs. James Hewitt of Iowa City, and several nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her husband, three sisters and three brothers.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery. The body is at the Riley funeral home.

Signs of Fall in Iowa City: Students Begin Looking for Rooms

First signs of the approach of a new academic year for the University of Iowa already are apparent.

Prospective students are drifting into Iowa City, on the lookout for rooms for the 1940-41 terms.

The picture they find is something like this:

Dormitories are, for the most part, filled. That does not mean, however, that students can no longer get rooms in Iowa dorms, Donald Mallett, student counselor, pointed out yesterday.

There is a certain amount of change each year in anticipated dormitory populations, he said; students change plans, decide to live elsewhere after signifying their intentions to live in dormitories, and additional rooms therefore become available.

So while a dormitory may be filled in the sense that there's someone in every room today, he pointed out, changes tomorrow may make additional single or double rooms available.

"A number of people are asking for and looking at rooms in private homes," he said.

(Landladies file lists of their available rooms, subject to the approval of the university, with the University Housing Service in Old Capitol. Lists from all private homekeepers who seek student roomers should be on file now, Mallett said.)

The academic year opens Sept. 26, a week following the beginning of freshman week activities and registration. The early search for rooms, in dormitories and private homes, is annually one of the first signs of approaching autumn in Iowa City.

Regulations For Private Rooms

Private homekeepers who intend to keep student roomers during the year must have their rooms approved by the university. Approval is based upon definite regulations. Among them are these:

1. Rooms will be open for inspection by university inspectors at any time.

2. Householders who rent rooms to young women students will provide parlor privileges and send weekly reports to the dean of women covering such matters as she shall request.

3. Householders who rent rooms to students will not permit any roomer to entertain a guest of the opposite sex in his or her room in violation of propriety.

4. All cases of illness of students in the house requiring the services of a physician will be reported immediately to the dean of women or the dean of men. In cases where no city physician has been called a prompt report will be made to the division of student health of the college of medicine of the university.

5. No more than two students will be permitted to live in one room without special permission from the manager of the housing service. The number of students living in the house will not exceed the number for which the house is approved.

6. The house will be thoroughly cleaned before the beginning of each term; all rooms will be cleaned once a week and baths and toilets daily. All plumbing will be kept in good condition. The premises will be maintained as required by the city building and sanitary regulations.

7. Provision will be made for all roomers to escape in case of fire, in compliance with state laws.

8. Individual study tables and clean, single comfortable beds will be provided, with daily service.

9. Sufficient light will be provided for students in each room. Besides general illumination in the room, special illumination for each study table will be provided by at least a 40-watt electric light together with a shade for light.

10. Sufficient heat will be provided to make the rooms comfortable for study from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. Provision for adequate ventilation will be maintained.

11. A sufficient supply of hot water will be provided for the lavatory morning and night and for baths at least twice a week.

Beauty Rules at Celebration

"Spirit of Georgia"

When the eight states in the area hold their four-day Tennessee Valley celebration Labor Day weekend, 11 of the south's most beautiful girls will hold court. Each of the states will be represented by a "spirit" and, in addition, there will be the "Spirit of Chattanooga," "Spirit of the South" and "The Lady of the Lake." The girls pictured above are "Spirit of Georgia," Miss Harry Stillwell Edwards of Atlanta; "Spirit of Mississippi," Miss Evelyn Shannon of Lake Cormorant, and "Spirit of Chattanooga," Miss Mildred Moon. Highlight of the celebration will be the address of President Roosevelt, dedicating the newly-created chain of lakes and dams in the valley.

Bates Wants Court To Decide Validity Of Request For Fees

Two applications asking a hearing on two claims filed with the state banking department by Atty. Robert Brooke of West Liberty have been filed in district court here. Judge James P. Gaffney set Sept. 3 for hearing.

The claims filed by Brooke ask $250 in service fees for the recent settlement of indebtedness of the Simmons Motor company in the Johnson County Savings bank receivership and an additional $250 fees from the Iowa City Savings bank receivership for services in settlement of the Dane company indebtedness.

In the applications filed asking for hearing, D. W. Bates, state banking superintendent and receiver of the two banks involved, states that he does not have sufficient knowledge of the liability

July Traffic Deaths Total 2,760 in U. S.; Upward Trend Halted

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—An upward trend in the nation's traffic death toll was halted in July, the national safety council reported tonight, after continuing for nine successive months.

July fatalities numbered 2,760, three per cent under the total for July, 1939.

The council noted that the trend which remained unbroken from last October through last June was reversed in one of the most hazardous months of the year—a month when Fourth of July and peak vacation travel usually bring an increase in deaths.

The Poles, according to a European correspondent, still appear to be in a daze, unable to comprehend that their nation has vanished. No wonder—it seems like only yesterday when they were having such a fine time helping carve up Czechoslovakia.
