RUMANIA GIVES IN TO AXIS THREAT

German Warplanes, in Nightly 'Pest Patrol,' Besiege London

But Majority Of Population Goes to Bed

Fourth Raid of Day Is Slowed by English Anti-Aircraft Defenses

EXTRA!

BERLIN BOMBED!

BERLIN, Aug. 31 (Saturday) (AP)—British air raiders swept over Berlin early this morning and dropped dozens of bombs which started two fires in apartment houses, seriously injured three civilians and slightly damaged an electrical appliance works.

Military authorities said that damage to establishments which might be regarded as military objectives was extremely small.

A business building housing a print shop and other industries was reported hit.

The raiders came in waves, possibly in several groups.

At least one was caught in searchlight beams flying at comparatively low altitude.

This plane released a bomb which landed two blocks from the Associated Press office in the center of the city. No fire followed this explosion.

LONDON, Aug. 31 (Saturday) (AP)—German warplanes dropped salvos of bombs on the outskirts of London last night and early today but stiff resistance from anti-aircraft guns and British Spitfire planes apparently kept the "pest patrol" from the heart of the world's largest city.

The raiders were handed a surprise when they found the Spitfires waiting for them as they roared over the city's suburbs on their nightly forays. Three earlier attempts to penetrate the city's defenses yesterday had been beaten off.

Fire Bombs
Early today, the air ministry reported the Germans had lost 62 planes to 15 for the British during the fighting yesterday in which hundreds of planes swept to the assault on vital British plants around the capital.

As the night raid went beyond its fourth hour, a roll of bombs from the outskirts signaled the persistence of the Germans. The sky was lighted for a few moments but the blaze didn't last long.

The Germans dumped explosive and fire bombs.

Thousands of Londoners stayed up for the long air raid but most of the metropolitan area's 10,000,000 residents turned in, weary of the marathon raids.

The fighter planes pounced on the German bombers caught like flies in a web spun by searchlight beams.

At least two bombers, prowling singly over London, were believed to have been crippled so badly that they would be unable to return to their bases, presumably in German-occupied France.

The British press association said a hospital was hit but it was not learned whether it was set ablaze. Another institution was fired.

In one metropolitan area machinegun bullets, apparently intended to destroy a balloon barrage, whined down upon the streets.

It was the fourth London raid since Friday morning.

A Nazi bomber, caught momentarily in the white beam of a probing searchlight, was hit heavily by anti-aircraft and plunged to the earth in flames.

Eight bombs fell within the space of an hour, all apparently at some distance from mid-city.

The fourth alarm last night set a record. It was the first time yet that more than three visitations had occurred in one day.

The raiders moved cautiously at a great height above London—more than 20,000 feet—and in

The 'Debate Wilkie' Issue---

It Waxes Hot, This Time Over Conscripting Defense Plants

Roosevelt Declines To Express View—

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—Dodging what he termed an attempt to get him into a political discussion, President Roosevelt rejected today Wendell L. Wilkie's demand that he state his position on government commandeering of private plants for defense purposes.

The republican presidential nominee, in a statement at Rushville, Ind., yesterday, visualized a "potential dictatorship" in an amendment to the conscription bill which under certain conditions would enable the government to take over industrial establishments and make defense materials. He called upon the president to say whether he was for or against the amendment.

But when reporters sought an answer at the president's press conference today, Mr. Roosevelt cited what he said was a 1933 rule that the chief executive does not comment on matters pending in congress.

"Sometimes he does," a reporter remarked, but there the discussion ended.

The president also declined to say whether he concurred in Secretary Wallace's assertion that the republican party was the party of appeasement in the United States today.

The Wallace Speech
The speech in which Wallace accepted the democratic vice-presidential nomination at Des Moines, Ia., last night, Mr. Roosevelt, said, speaks excellently for itself.

Wallace made the appeasement statement in that address, in which he said also that replacement of the chief executive would "cause Hitler to rejoice."

In a congratulatory telegram,

Mr. Roosevelt told his running mate that "you have made a glorious start" in a "grand speech splendidly given before an appreciative nation."

In reply, Wallace said he hoped "we have made an appropriate beginning in upholding your hands in the defense of democracy."

Mr. Wilkie insists F. R. Should Speak—

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 30 (AP)—Wendell L. Wilkie, again demanding President Roosevelt's opinion of conscription of industries, said today it was the chief executive's "clear duty" to state his position on important pending bills.

The republican presidential nominee was commenting on Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to announce his views on the Overton-Russell amendment to the senate-approved draft bill.

Wilkie first called upon Mr. Roosevelt yesterday to say where he stood on it.

The president told reporters at Hyde Park, N. Y., today an attempt was being made to involve him in political discussion. He asked whether they remembered an old rule of 1933 and whether the chief executive commented on legislation, amendments or rules pending in congress.

"If my memory serves me correctly," Wilkie said in a statement afterward, "the president has commented many times on pending legislation."

But he added that even if the president had not commented, he had "the clear duty" to do so, particularly when he was seeking a third term.

Wilkie said the chief executive and his running mate, Henry A. Wallace, were "one hundred per cent wrong in implying that the republican party is the party of appeasements."

"The reverse is completely true," he said, adding that he hoped Mr. Roosevelt would read his acceptance speech and the republican platform.

Appeasement Party
Wallace, notified of his nomination for vice president on the democratic ticket last night at Des Moines, Ia., termed the republicans the "party of appeasement."

Informed by reporters that President Carter Davidson, of Knox college had invited Mr. Roosevelt and Wilkie to debate from the steps of "Old Main," scene of a Lincoln-Douglas debate, Wilkie said he would be delighted to go to Galesburg, Ill., for such a meeting.

Senators A-Plenty Would Debate Wilkie

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Wendell L. Wilkie's demand that President Roosevelt state his views on government seizure of industrial plants for national defense brought offers from half a dozen senate democrats today to debate the issue with the republican presidential nominee.

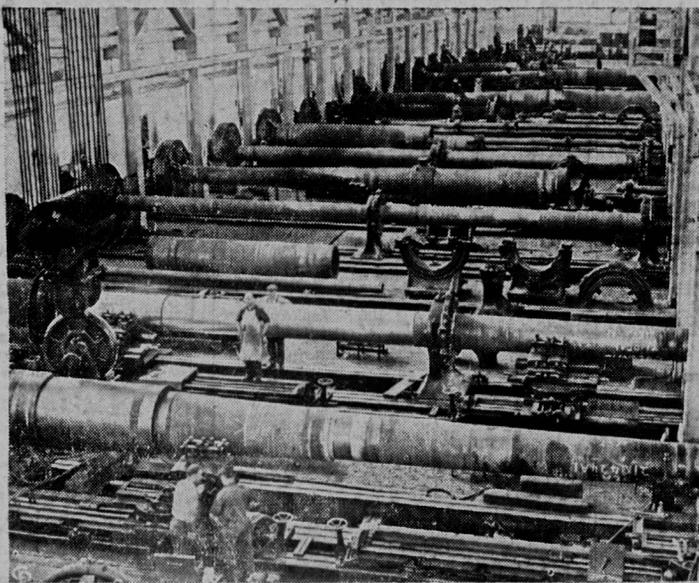

Senator Burke (D-Neb.), who has declared his opposition to a third term and support for Mr. Wilkie, suggested, in turn, that the democrats might arrange to debate the third term question with President Roosevelt.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), one of the sponsors of a provision in the Burke-Wadsworth bill which would permit the government to take over industrial plants under certain conditions, set off the political exchange.

Arising in the senate, he said that Wilkie apparently "is a strong advocate of drafting the

Transylvanian Rumbblings Voice Protests

Half of a Nation Sacrificed to Keep Peace in the Balkans

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 31, (Saturday) — While police guarded their palace session with sawed-off shotguns, the Rumanian crown council which gave up half of Transylvania to Hungary conferred into the early morning hours on "new problems of exceptional importance."

Aside from this vague explanation, official quarters declined to disclose the new issues facing King Carol and his advisers as a result of the latest partitioning of his country, enforced by an axis ultimatum.

'Defense Corps'

But in sacrificed Transylvania, "defense corps" were being formed by unreconciled Rumanians. From Cluj, its capital, came a petition bearing thousands of signatures lauding Julia Maniu, Rumanian peasant party leader, for his opposition to the session, and calling those who agreed to it "traitors."

Church bells of Transylvania were ordered to ring incessantly as a protest.

Maniu, although not a member of the government or the crown council, put in a surprising appearance at the session.

Rumania, obeying the orders of Germany and Italy, gave up between 17,000 and 21,000 square miles of her territory yesterday in a swift drama of power politics that will permit Nazi soldiers to occupy her eastern frontier and stand face to face with the restless soviet armies.

'Or Else'
Confronted with an "or else" ultimatum from the axis, she agreed to suffer one more dismemberment—to hand over about half of the World war-won province of Transylvania to Hungary—with the understanding that what is left of the country will be protected by Germany herself.

The effect of all this was not only to greatly lengthen the Nazi line of troops across southeastern Europe—a line that could become instantly a barrier to Russia—but to improve Hungary's own position in the same connection. For the part of Transylvania given back to her encompasses the Carpathian mountain region which is her traditional barrier against invasion from the east.

Rumania gave in in the face of a threatened invasion that might have smashed her for good and all—invasion by the vast armies of Germany, by those of Hungary, and by a march from the east by Soviet Russia.

Negotiations
The negotiations were carried on at Vienna, in a meeting headed by Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, and his Italian colleague, Count Galeazzo Ciano.

All during last night they went on, while here in Bucharest King Carol received a long line of distinguished advisers who one after another told him that there was only one thing to do.

Just after midnight, according to authoritative accounts of what went on in the palace, the king got an urgent telephone call from Vienna. He was told that he had five minutes more to decide. The Rumanian high command reported it could not possibly defend the country against three simultaneous thrusts, and Rumania capitulated.

Rumania had gained Transylvania after the World war; now she has lost it, or half of it, under the threat of war.

House Limits Debate on Draft; Final Vote Sought for Friday

F. R., Wallace Charged With Scaring Nation

Senator Sees Team Frightening Country To Put Them in Office

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Senator Townsend (R-Del) asserted today that President Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace "are going to try to scare the country into voting them into office."

Townsend was one of several G. O. P. legislators who commented, in statements issued through the republican national committee, on Wallace's speech at Des Moines last night accepting the democratic nomination for vice-president. Most of this comment was in similar vein.

Democratic legislators lauded the former agriculture secretary's address, however. Senator Barkley (D-Ky) said that Wallace had discussed domestic and international issues in a manner "which the American people can thoroughly understand." Senator Mc-

Thousands Evacuate North Transylvania, Soon to Be Hungary's

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 30 (AP)—Tens of thousands of Rumanian public employes, judges, army officers and politicians, with their families, began a great exodus tonight from northern Transylvania, which soon will belong to Hungary.

They headed toward the old kingdom of Rumania by train, automobile, river boat and even in horse-carts heaped high with personal possessions, as soon as the German-Italian ultimatum for the partition became known.

More than 1,000,000 Rumanian peasants, however, were declared tonight still to be unaware that the distant negotiations of the axis powers had decreed their return to Hungarian rule after 22 years in "great Rumania."

No incidents yet had been reported from Transylvania. Concern was expressed in Bucharest over the danger of disturbances among the mixed populations before the transfer of authority is completed.

Contracts Let For Supplies, Plane Engines

War Department Prepares to Equip Men for Training

By DONALD A. YOUNG
WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Over protests from republicans, administration forces in the house decided today to limit general debate on the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill to two days and to seek a final vote before next week-end.

The rules committee and democratic chiefs agreed that the controversial measure should be called up at noon Tuesday, that general discussion should be permitted until Wednesday night, and that amendments should be considered starting Thursday.

There will be no restriction on debate on amendments.

Friday Vote
Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas said he hoped that a final vote could be reached by Friday but told the house that he was prepared to devote a fifth day to the legislation if necessary.

While the house leaders concluded these arrangements to speed passage of the conscription bill, the war department announced it had let contracts totaling $7,952,028 for camp equipment, at least part of which is expected to be used by men drafted under the measure.

Equipment Orders
Distributed among dozens of firms, the orders included large quantities of tents and folding cots. The exact number, and the delivery dates, were not disclosed.

The war department also announced agreements had been reached with the Wright Aeronautical company for the manufacture of 20,000 airplane engines and with the Curtiss Wright corporation for 14,000 propellers.

University Head Tells Students Not to Oppose Defense Plans

California President Threatens Expulsion Of 'Active Opposition'

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP)—University of California students were warned by President Robert Gordon Sproul today that they might be suspended from college if they actively opposed America's defense program.

Welcoming new students at the first general assembly of the year, Dr. Sproul pledged the university's resources to the nation's defense program.

Referring to a student meeting called for next Tuesday to discuss the draft bill, the university president said:

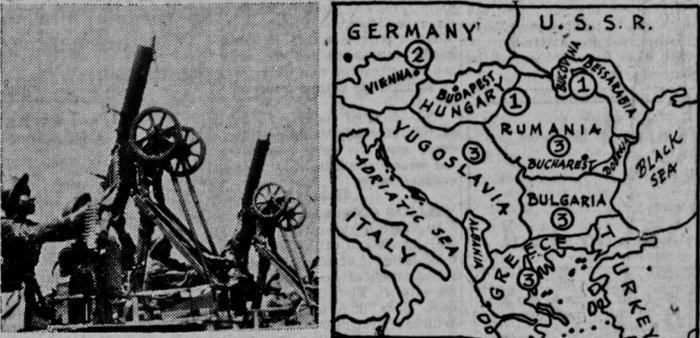

"For those who prefer to fiddle while Rome burns or to accelerate the pace of destruction by building private bonfires of their own, I shall have little sympathy. Indeed, I may find it necessary to ask some of them to defer their enjoyment of an education at the state's expense until the life and prosperity of the state have been made secure by their more patriotic fellows."

Conflict between the Balkan nations was averted when Rumania accepted a Nazi-forced peace by which Rumania gave up to Hungary nearly half of the province of Transylvania. Foreign ministers of Germany, Hungary, Italy and Rumania gathered in Vienna (No. 2 on map) to settle the Balkan crisis. Rumanian troops had battled Russians and Hungarians along the borders of those states (No. 1). Mobilizations of Yugoslavian, Greek, Hungarian, Bulgarian and Rumanian troops had been reported (No. 3 on map).

Don't Expect Early Clash Between Nazis, Reds

-INTERPRETATIVE-

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

The show of force accompanying the carving up of helpless Rumania gives a probably misleading impression that Germany and Russia may be close to a clash in the Balkans.

But the odds appear to be that the strange friendship which Adolf Hitler and Joseph Stalin founded on mutual distrust a year ago in Moscow will survive the latest strain.

Both have much to gain by their wary peace and too much to lose by war to be eager to fight just now.

The current developments shed further light, nevertheless, on the unstable nature of the official friendship which they proclaimed to a startled world on the eve of the European conflict.

By dictating an immediate settlement of the quarrel between Hungary and Rumania, Hitler has served forceful notice of intent to rule the Balkans completely in creating a "new Europe."

By the Vienna settlement Rumania seems destined to be as completely a military protectorate of the reich as it already was an economic satellite.

Germany thus has set a definite limit on Russia's expansion of territory adjoining the rich Ukraine which Hitler has openly eyed with envy.

If the reports be true that German troops are to enforce the protection that harassed King Carol accepted, there will soon be a line of Nazi bayonets facing the Red army from the Baltic to the Black Sea. The "friends" already confront each other in Poland and on the newly-drawn Baltic frontier.

The simultaneous announcement from Moscow of secret army and navy maneuvers and the disclosure of recent threatening demands on Rumania give ever appearance of being a growl in return, as Moscow intended them to be.

From Moscow's viewpoint, the threats serve the purpose of upholding prestige, a vital factor in power politics. Stalin has been wooing Bulgaria and Yugoslavia

Lazy America

A Nation of People Who HATE to Think

When a nation is forced to give up a huge slice of territory to a neighboring nation, as Rumania yesterday was forced to give up Transylvania, the threat of authoritarian rule to Europe becomes more than a threat—it becomes a reality.

The knowledge of the struggle which lies ahead for England, to purge Europe of that dark-age rule, presents an even clearer picture of the future of America.

Human nature becomes quickly calloused. Remember how we felt last Sept. 1, when screaming headlines told America the story of the first Nazi invasion? Now, the bombing of the largest city in the world is old stuff!

Remember the Athenia?

Remember the qualm of apprehension news of the bombing of the Athenia created in America?

Those shattering events, and the heartless tales written in burning planes and bomb-pocked land since last Sept. 1, had a tremendous effect upon America.

We lifted our arms embargo, hesitantly, to permit those who had the money to purchase supplies in America.

We began to think in terms of this hemisphere's unity; we began to think in terms of a world perhaps dominated by Hitler.

America Almost United

And as invasion followed invasion, as nations fell, one by one, we began to see that what years ago had been announced as the ultimate design of fascism—world wide domination—was more than stupid fancy; we began to think in terms of danger from within and without to America.

The downfall of France laid emphasis upon the force of arms, and the ultimate danger of the force of arms to this hemisphere.

The downfall of Norway laid emphasis upon treason from within, and the ultimate danger of treason from within, to this hemisphere.

America almost reached the point of believing that no nation, not even this one, is immune to 1940's style of conquest.

Too bad she didn't reach that point.

U. S. Unity Breaks Down

But that, as we mentioned, demonstrates the American callousness. What appeared to be an approaching united front in this nation, several months ago, broke down. The breakdown is apparent in congressional squabbling. It is apparent in the attitude of industry toward conscription of wealth. It is apparent in personal attacks upon personalities in which figures of world-wide prominence have played roles.

Hitler, thus far, has played his cards without a flaw.

His domination of Europe carried through to England, the last bulwark, as America approached a critical national election, an election in which this nation will have to decide, as Ralph Ingersoll so brilliantly puts it, upon the relative merits of the social-reforming New Deal and a strange kind of left-wing Republicanism.

America's Eyes on America

Whatever the outcome, America stands to see the directed program of the past eight years disrupted. That fact is all too evident.

Should Roosevelt win again, it will be without the aid of numbers of his most devoted New Dealers who have forsaken the program.

The Willkie program is not yet clearly defined; that it recommends changes in the past eight-year program is obvious. In either case, change will center American attention upon American problems, to Hitler's advantage.

That Hitler's wars in Europe came at time when American internal problems were immense may be regarded widely as coincidental. It is not so regarded by us.

America Hates to Think

The facts indicate that we can only regard the "coincidence" as a part of a gigantic, devastating plan which no obstacle yet has thwarted.

But the American mind, speaking broadly, discards with a minimum of thoughtful analysis trends in Europe that are as obvious as the fact that 32,600 people were killed in auto crashes in this nation last year. Rumania's bowing to Hitler, her giving half a nation to keep an axis peace, is another indication of the power of the enemy with whom ultimately we must deal. Wake up, America.

Action With the Inaction

Student enrollments in Spanish language classes in summer school sessions at American colleges and universities show substantial increases over 1939, with still larger expansion in Spanish enrollments predicted for the fall term by romance language departments of many schools.

This trend holds one of the strongest hopes for real improvement in understanding between the United States and its neighbor nations to the south.

The Readers Digest, one of the nation's most popular periodicals, has announced the beginning of a new Spanish language edition, to be placed, at first, in the hands of a few prominent Latin officials, professors and business men. The Readers Digest, because of its very nature, reflects accurately a great many aspects of American life and times.

The trend is definitely to the good. Any trend these days toward hemispheric solidarity and understanding is to the good. It's refreshing to note that while we wrangle day in and day out over the necessity of facing a hemisphere world, something at least is being done in the way of building one.

If we have to face such a world, the foundations will have been laid by just such foresighted action on the part of those who prefer action to wrangling.

More Seaplane Bases

As the national consciousness turns defenseward, there come some interesting statistics from the American Municipal association.

There are approximately 300 small seaplane bases under construction or completed in 21 states, both along the coast and inland, as part of a nationwide development program inaugurated more than a year ago by the Civil Aeronautics authority.

Small communities near a body of water which for economic or other reasons are unable to maintain airports are especially interested in the seaplane bases because of their low cost, the association declares.

Completion of the program will make seaplane operations feasible from coast to coast and from border to border.

Air travel, and air defense, and more of both, are the orders of the American day.

A Man About MANHATTAN

Mr. Fox, the Furrier; Pearls, And a New Theater Season

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Mr. I. J. Fox is a wealthy furrier in New York who has a weakness for cinema talent. He likes to see the glamor actresses all dolled up in his expensive jackets and he likes also to see his name in the headlines. He pays out lots of good coarse money to achieve both these ends by styling coats exclusively for various cinema figures and by advertising lavishly in the newspapers and on the air.

The other night we went out to the Riviera to see the new show and we got there just as the roof was being rolled back. The Riviera is a very beautiful place at Ft. Lee, N. J., just across from George Washington Bridge, overlooking the Hudson river. The roof, if the engineer presses the right button, noiselessly slides back, leaving an oval of star-filled sky for the customers to look at.

We were enjoying this spectacle when an airplane by chance appeared overhead, trailing an advertisement of Mr. Fox's furs in lights. It flew right over the open oval, where the customers couldn't miss it. Lazily it circled a few times, then disappeared in the direction of Nantucket.

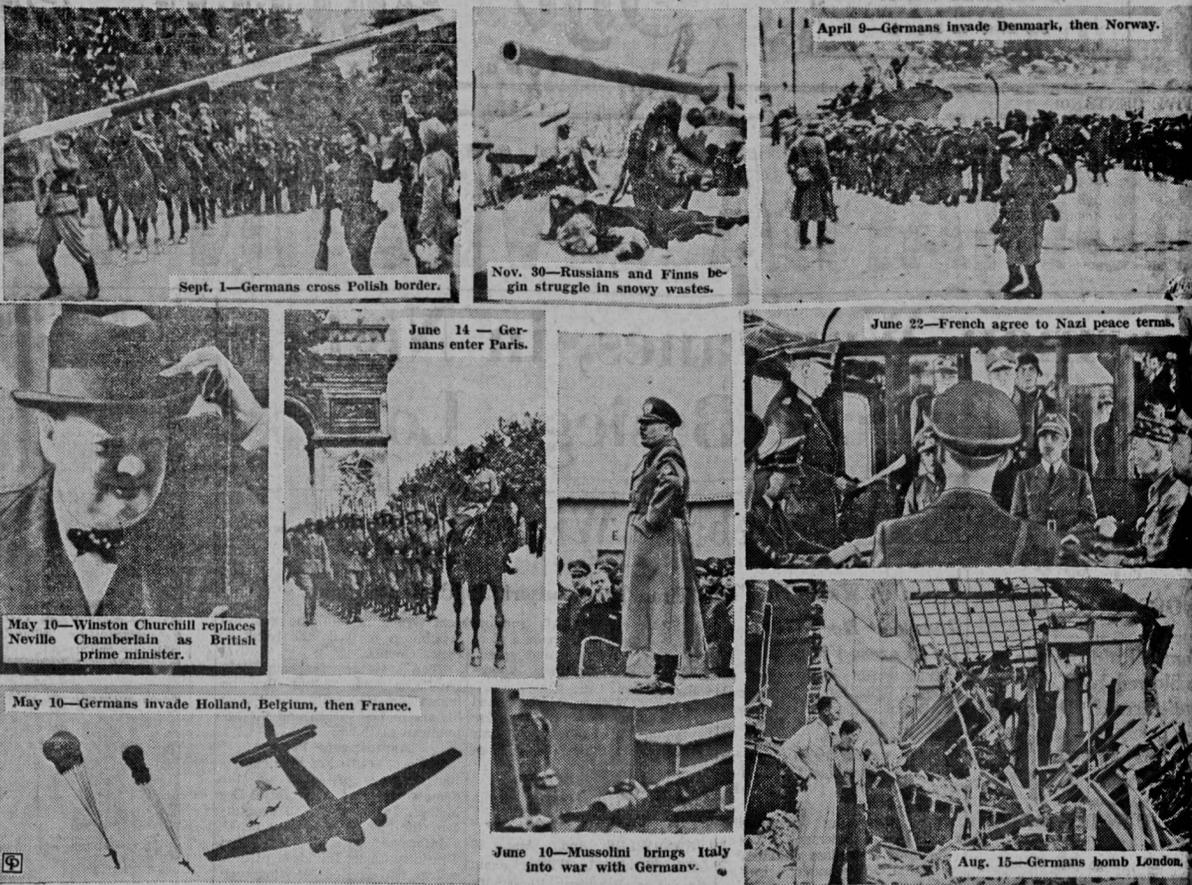

By coincidence also we noticed that the man who sat at the table on our right was Mr. I. J. Fox himself. He seemed utterly fascinated with what he saw. He couldn't take his eyes off the plane. We haven't any idea who the pilot was, but we can tell you that not even Dick Byrd could have timed his arrival any neater. After that, for at least one customer in the place, the things that happened on the stage were wholly and altogether anti-climactic.

In the movies, pearl divers usually are beach boys, but in the Dutch East Indies they are girls. Reason: girls are supposed to have deeper lungs than men and can remain under water longer. It's little items of information like this that one picks up from Will Yolun, who is handling a convention of pearl syndicate men in New York. Some of the pearls they bring back, says Will, would knock your eye out. One of the exhibits of the convention is an all-pearl gown, containing 61,111 pearls. It is valued at $75,000.

As this 31st day of August puts in its limp, desultory appearance only eight shows remain on Broadway and five are musicals. It is ebb tide for the legitimate theater, but in less than two weeks the new season will be under way. The theaters at the moment may be empty and dusty, but rehearsal halls are hives of shouting directors and anxious actors, preparing for the get-away. This is a tense period in any actor's career. He never knows, until the morning after the opening night, whether his efforts will lead to the fulfillment of dreams or to a bleak two-week dismissal announcement on the backstage bulletin board.

Taking part in this scene has been Maxwell Anderson who, sweating freely, has interviewed more than 250 actors with an eye to filling an important role in his new drama, "Journey to Jerusalem." It will be the Playwright company's first 1940-41 offering. Other members of the company working on new dramas are Elmer Rice and S. N. Behrman.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

The 'Young Punk' Movie Star

By CLAUDE BINYON
Columbia Scenarist

(Editor's Note: Perhaps it was the Arizona heat, which baked Claude Binyon for three months during the filming of Columbia's "Arizona," that is responsible for this vacation guest column, which he titled, "Glory For Hunger." Binyon was asked to write on any subject he wished and this was his choice, although the story of the young actor rings very similar to the experiences of William Holden, Binyon's pal and star of the picture. . . . R. C.)

This young punk kept pushing against me at the bar and he was too young to hit either way you figure it.

"You say you're a writer," he said.

"I didn't say a word."

"All right; you say you're a writer and I got a story."

"My Aunt Minnie's got a story," I said. "All she needs is a finish and a beginning and a middle, and it's about her life. She wants half of what we get for it, and she'll come to Hollywood to live with me on her half."

"That's like my story," said the young punk. He drank a Canadian Club highball without breathing. The bartender looked at him thoughtfully. "What time should he be on the set?" the bartender asked.

"Five-thirty for makeup," I said.

"A C-C highball," said the young punk.

"Nuts," the bartender answered. "That's what I mean," said the kid.

kid. "There's no place in life for me. No place." He turned on me. "Do you know who I am?" he asked.

"Yes, I know who you are."

"I'm a movie star. I get a hundred and fifty dollars a week and I'm a movie star."

"That's good money for a guy your age," I said.

"My father makes more than that. My father isn't even in pictures."

"He's older than you are," I said.

"That's not the point. I'm what you dream about being, with a big car and a butler, and when I'm not in a picture I don't draw a penny. Do you know what I made in my first picture?"

"You got good notices," I answered.

"Fifty bucks a week for six weeks. Three hundred bucks, and I had to buy my own wardrobe. Mr. Cinderella, they called me. I was a star in my first picture."

"Do you mind if I quit talking?" I asked.

"I spent two hundred of that buying clothes," said the kid.

"When the picture was finished I went to New York for personal appearances because they told me it would do me good."

"What did you get for that?" I asked.

"Expenses. All the cigars I could smoke, and the dames were mobbing me."

"They tore your coat," I remembered.

"For souvenirs," said the kid. "A $75 suit for souvenirs."

"This picture we're doing will make you," I said. "You can ask for a thousand dollars a week."

"I already asked. I have a seven-year contract, and when I'm as old as my father I might be doing all right."

"Maybe we could let him have a beer," said the bartender.

"No," I said.

"Give me a highball," said the kid. "I got to tell my story."

"Nuts," said the bartender.

"See what I mean?" wailed the kid.

Problem for Nazi Designs on England

WASHINGTON — Hitler's inside date for final victory over England has been September 15. This information was brought to the top here by a U. S. government employee who was captured by the Germans at Abbeville and lived among the German army officers before he came out through Switzerland.

The German officers talked freely before the fall of France about the date Hitler had fixed for his doom—July 15. They said the entire army was in on a little joke on der fuhrer and intended to press France into submission two weeks earlier than Hitler anticipated. France actually sued for peace June 28, thereby heightening the joke.

Unless Hitler delivers Britain within the two weeks yet remaining, he will have to deal with a problem of officer morale as his army has been thoroughly saturated with the optimistic expectation.

U. S. IN WAR SOON?

An American ambassador (not Bill Bullitt) in talking confidentially with house members, has predicted the United States will be in the war within four months.

His prophecy was founded on the expectation that Britain would fall and retreat to Canada, which would automatically force us to active defense of this hemisphere in accordance with our commitments.

This isolated opinion is not shared generally within officialdom here. The navy particularly has been optimistic about British chances lately.

WILLKIE COURAGE

Republican congressmen held their heads and called for aspirin, upon learning of Wendell Willkie's renunciation of proffered Coughlin support. Elsewhere there may have been admiration for Mr. Willkie's straightforward courage, but among republican politicians there was only mourning that it might cost the republican ticket over a million votes. The hitherto unbroken custom of presidential candidates has been to accept support from all quarters, even communists, until after election day. No one has calculated how many votes Willkie may have gained from those who will be impressed by his unique honesty.

DEFENSE CONFUSION

Confidence in government figures has been waning since politicians and publicity men, instead of economists, started handing them out. Practice of choosing alternative statistics which place the government activities in the most favorable light has come to be expected. Such estimates as Mr. Roosevelt's calculation of more than 10,000 planes on the way may arouse smiles here, but not anger Mr. Roosevelt got his total by adding on 3,436 planes ordered before his defense commission was conceived, and 3,654 upon which some advance paper work has been done but for which orders have not yet been placed. This is what is known in the political trade here as political aggrandizement.

But the defense commission publicity office has been lopping over into the field of more dangerous statistical deception. Defense publicity director, Robert Horton, casually announced last Friday the navy placed an order for 700 Grumman combat ships, and newspapers, including this column, published the information until the truth came out from Navy Secretary Knox 5 days later. The navy had contracted for only 285 combat ships, less than half the number claimed.

Confronting Horton with the Knox announcement, newsmen succeeded in getting only a denial that the 700 combat plane claim had been made. To amuse themselves, newsmen thereupon circulated an affidavit which was signed by five or six who heard Mr. Horton speak to the contrary.

The confusion on defense statistics which has now followed the earlier period of secrecy will probably cause congress to establish a joint committee to keep abreast of and an eye on the defense commission.

NEW DEAL EXODUS

The exodus from the new deal is not over yet. Works Progress Director Harrington will be called back to active duty in the army shortly unless Mr. Roosevelt can do some inside fixing.

Incidentally, departed Commerce Secretary Hopkins is anxious to be director of the new draft organization.

LITTLE DROPS OF WATER

SILVERTON, Ore. (AP)—T. M. Lukens, variety store operator, tossed the packings from a shipment of South American dishes out at the rear of his store. A few days later a wheat stalk grew from the trash. Lukens saved the grains and planted them the following year, gathering nearly a bushel of wheat. He has sowed three-fourths of an acre this year and predicts a large yield.

German Bombers, British Fighters Play Cat and Mouse as Searchlights Follow Raiders Across London Sky—

Observer Watches War Planes Battle In Skies Over London

BY G. H. P. ANDERSON
LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—From an observation post on a rooftop I have just heard the first two German night raiders cross the London sky.

Strong searchlight concentrations escorted them carefully every yard of the way, but failed to pick them up immediately in their ice blue beams.

The drone of the heavy Dornier (German) engines was unmistakable as one plane slowly followed the other. Once there was a vivid series of flashes in the outskirts of the London area which might have been caused by the explosion of bombs.

The Germans fly very high; well above the balloon barrage. Even now I can hear the engines of two planes almost directly above. One is the heavy drone of a German bomber; the other has the lighter note of what probably is a British fighter.

"Cat and Mouse"

They seem to be playing cat and mouse across the sky, with the searchlights still following. Once there were sharp explosions in the direction from which they came. Now there are heavy bursts of bombs from two directions but the explosions are faint, indicating that the scene of their fall was several miles from the heart of the city.

Searchlights are concentrated in clusters.

The Germans seem to be flying above 20,000 feet.

After a long period of inactivity a deep rumble of bursting bombs broke the stillness and searchlight after searchlight climbed the sky, coning like wheat-sheaves around one corner of the heavens.

They caught an enemy plane attempting to machinegun barrage balloons, and the anti-aircraft sputtered.

Fighters to Attack

The distant thunder of explosions is sounding. A few moments later searchlights tracked a raider, and a salvo of bombs was dropped by the Nazi bomber.

Great flashes lit the sky. Now there's another heavy roll of explosions from the same direction followed by the whining note of what apparently is British fighters diving sharply to attack.

From the large number of explosions it seems as if this raider jettisoned his full load of bombs. Now he's overhead, pinned against the sky by converging searchlights that hold him in their center like a star. Moving fast, his course must be rocky because anti-aircraft shells now are bursting all around him. He's having a hot time of it, but now he's escaped, veering sharply out of the blinding beams.

Caught in Lights

Now there's another, also caught in the lights, and a lighter roaring suggests he's pursued by a British fighter. Swiftly the whole panorama moves across the night skies out of sight.

From the opposite direction there is another roll of bombs exploding in the outskirts, setting up a distant glow.

Down in the streets, the shrill whistles of air raid wardens suggested there were others who had left their shelters to watch the brilliant sky show.

Many of them had been underground for four hours while the fighting raged aloft.

Iowa's 86th Annual State Fair Ends; Exhibitors 'Tear Up,' Midway, Carnival Last to Go

Des Moines Girl Named Healthiest Baby In Fair History

DES MOINES, Aug. 30, (AP)—Iowa's 86th annual fair, plagued by five days of rain, ended here tonight with the final presentation of the night show and a dance to the tunes of Ted Fio Rito.

While exhibitors worked to tear down their displays and the livestock stalls were emptied of their million dollars worth of animals, the only other going concern on the grounds was the carnival on the midway.

Highlights of the last day of the exposition included the selection of the healthiest baby boy and baby girl in the state and the Four-H club baby beef auction in which the average price was estimated at between $13.25 and $13.50 per hundred, compared with $11 last year.

55 Cents for Beef

The grand champion, "1940 model," a Shorthorn shown by Herbert Rees of Pleasantville, brought its owner 55 cents a pound, or a total of $435.33 for the 816-pound steer.

Sharon Kay Conn, 22-month-old daughter of a young Des Moines relief couple, was named the healthiest baby in the history of the state fair event. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Conn, who are 22 and 20 respectively.

Sharon scored 99.4 out of a possible 100. The previous high was 99.38 made by the 1934 girl winner.

Donald Merrill Parker, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Parker of West Des Moines, was the boy winner, with a score of 99.14.

Best Team

Robert Falk and Jack Hurd, representing west Pottawattamie county, were declared the grand champion Four-H boys' demonstration team. They demonstrated the construction of a concrete septic tank.

The Black Hawk county team of George Leland and Robert Knapp was runner-up. They demonstrated the fitting of horse-collars.

Fair officials, who previously had said the fair promised to end up with a $13,000 deficit, were more optimistic today. A. R. Corey, fair secretary, said that the good weather of yesterday and today may have pulled the exposition out of the hole.

Midwest Defense Conference Demands Fair Industrial Share

Pledges Preparedness Support; Asks Plants For Central U. S.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 30, (AP)—The midwest defense conference pledged unqualified support to national defense preparations today, but insisted its demand for a "fair share" of the program was only a request for "justice" and not a "cry for pork."

Eight hundred businessmen from nine states united in a plea for decentralization of new war industries and elimination of all barriers that militate against the middle west, and expressed determination that rearmament should not "bring social and economic tragedy for this region."

The states represented were Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

"These states and their hundreds of communities," said one resolution, "are resolved that they are not going to be reduced to a position of agricultural slavery."

The resolution noted the "lack of balance between agriculture and industry" in this area.

The resolution outlined, among others, these advantages found in the midwest for industrial development: invulnerability against attack; adequate and easily available supplies of raw materials and trained, native-born labor; and adequate fuel, power, oil, coal, food and transportation facilities.

"In view of all these advantages and existing supplies," it continued, "the representatives of these nine states insist that before the government undertake the establishment of new industries, new housing and other facilities, it shall utilize those of the midwest.

Lauds Willkie's 'Air Secretary'

NEW YORK, Aug. 30, (AP)—Grover Loening, pioneer aircraft manufacturer and former aeronautical advisor to the maritime commission, tonight endorsed the proposal of Wendell L. Willkie, republican presidential candidate, that a secretary for air be included in the president's cabinet.

In a statement intended, he said, to "clarify" several "serious controversies," Loening characterized the government's civilian air training program as an "aviation boondoggle, with no rhyme or purpose other than to get headlines on behalf of the new dealers."

Americans May Send Money To Europe Again

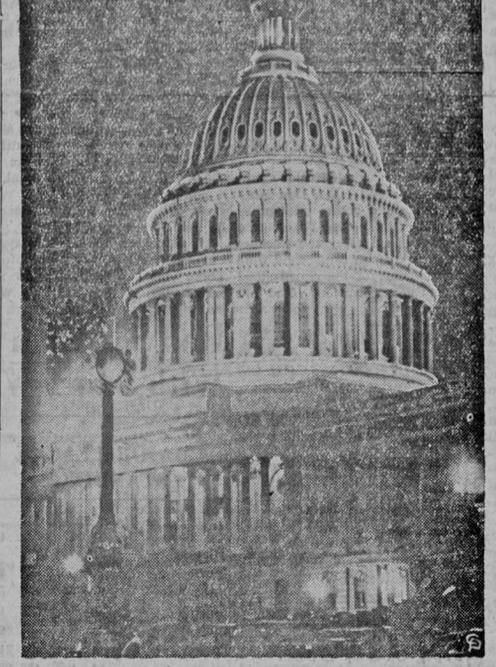

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The treasury authorized today a resumption of personal remittances of money by Americans to friends and relatives in the invaded European countries.

These remittances were blocked by decrees of President Roosevelt issued since April 8 restricting the movement of money to or from each of the invaded countries—France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Denmark, Norway, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

The order has no effect on Poland, Germany, or other countries which were not included in the presidential "freezing" orders.

The new regulations permit remittances only by persons, however who have lived in the United States continuously for more than one year and had been making similar remittances for at least six months prior to April 8.

Senate Passes Conscription Bill

While the light in the dome of the capitol gleamed, above, denoting a night session, the U. S. senate ended a bitter three-week debate on the conscription bill, adopting the measure by a 58-31 vote. The bill would put into effect the first peace-time draft of men into the armed forces in the history of the United States.

Scarlett Honeymoons

Laurence Oliviers Married Yesterday, Take Secret Trip

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP)—The Laurence Oliviers—she's Vivien Leigh, or perhaps you know her better as Scarlett O'Hara—were honeymooning today on either land or sea.

The English acting couple, who had to wait for two divorces before they could be married, took their vows slightly after last midnight on the terrace of a friend's home in nearby Monticito.

Katherine Hepburn, who was Vivien's attendant, suggested the terrace after taking a look at the moon. Garson Kanin, a film director, was the other witness.

After the ceremony, the Oliviers got in their car and said they were heading north, but the car turned south instead. Reports were current today that the newlyweds boarded a yacht which was waiting them at San Pedro.

Miss Leigh, 26, recently was divorced by Herbert Leigh Holman, London barrister, and Olivier's English wife, Jill Esmond, divorced him some time ago. Miss Leigh was named co-respondent in the Esmond suit, Olivier in the Holman action. Olivier is 33.

Feller Wins No. 23; Indians Nip Chisox, 4-2

Tribe Stretches League Lead Over Tigers

Young Bob Yields 12 Bingles, But Tightens in Pinches

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Bobby Feller, pitching air tight ball in pinches, racked up his 23rd victory tonight as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, before 44,877 spectators.

Beaten his last time out, Feller was hit freely tonight, but was almost untouchable with men on bases. He left 11 runners stranded and struck out ten batters.

The Indians sewed up the game in the first inning. Southpaw Thornton Lee retired the first two batters easily, then Lou Boudreau singled and Hal Trosky walked. Jeff Heath followed with a long wallop into the right field stands.

The victory was Cleveland's second in six games and stretched the Indians' first place lead to two and a half games over Detroit and five games ahead of the third-place Yankees.

The Indians added their fourth run in the sixth when Heath opened with a single, was sacrificed to second by Ken Keltner, advanced to third on Ray Mack's single and scored on Rollie Hemley's outfield fly.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Brandt Grieved
- Card Comeback
- Reds' Average

NEW YORK, Aug. 30, (AP)—It's pretty hard to work up a convincing case in behalf of any club except the Cincinnati Reds in the National league pennant race. The other teams have been caught in a strange henhouse at midnight, so far as anything might be said in their behalf.

Brandt Grieved
This state of affairs grieves Bill Brandt sorely. Not that he doesn't want the Reds to win. He doesn't care, out loud, anyway, who wins. Bill Brandt is the National league publicity director, and he must be strictly neutral, at least until the world series, at which time, lately anyway, he must be just about crazy.

What grieves Bill is that the traditional National league September race promises to be about as tight as a bin of oats. And to make matters worse, that other league, as Bill refers to it, is keeping the fans guessing.

But Bill isn't a guy to give up as long as he has mathematics on his side or can make old records play a soothing tune.

Remember back in 1935 when the Cubs, after hanging around the .500 mark a good part of the season, won 21 straight games and the pennant? he asks.

Card Comeback
"And in 1926 and again in 1934 the Cardinals won the pennant on their last road trips. Why, last year the Reds just lasted to win, as they say at the race tracks. You can't tell what might happen."

Bill paused in this graveyard whistling, leaving the impression that fire, flood and tornado not only were liable to descend upon the Reds, but virtually certain to visit them.

As a matter of fact, and record, the Reds haven't been the best team in the last couple of months. It was a couple of other clubs, as they say—the Cardinals and the Pirates.

PRACTICE STARTS Brechler Issues Call To U-High Gridders

With only one veteran, Capt. Bob Bender, listed among the expected candidates, Coach Paul Brechler of U-high will call his football squad together at 9 this morning to issue uniforms. Practice is scheduled to begin Monday.

The green squad, according to Brechler, will probably be shaped into a team that has Bender as one of its main cogs. Thus far, Brechler is uncertain as to the quality of the other candidates for the Blue eleven and admits that there appears to be a shortage of weight among the U-highers.

Cubs Buy Novikoff

CHICAGO, Aug. 30, (AP)—The purchase of Lou Novikoff, Los Angeles outfielder and leading hitter of the Pacific Coast league, was announced today by the Chicago Cubs. He will report next spring. At the same time, the Cubs ordered John Meketi, a pitcher, from Moline, Ill., of the Three-Eye league, to report next spring.

Hole in One CORAL GABLES, Fla., (AP)—

Just a breeze to Mrs. Roland B. Raymond—that 120-yard seventh hole on the Granada golf course. Mrs. Raymond scored her third hole-in-one there yesterday. The first was made two years ago, the second last summer.

have won 36 and lost 19 for a .655 pace. The Reds since July 5 had, through Wednesday, played 596 ball with 31 wins against 21 defeats.

Red's Average
At that, Cincinnati, with a season's average of .630, was a game and a half ahead of the Cincinnati team of 1939. On Aug. 29 last year the Reds had won 73 and lost 45, and were five and one-half games ahead of St. Louis. On Aug. 29 this year they had won 75 and lost 44, and were seven and one-half games ahead of Brooklyn.

For downright consistency this year the palm must go to the Cubs, who have practically been sitting on the .500 mark. They've touched it eight times since July 4, and except for one lapse they've always bounced upward, although they never got more than four games away.

In case all these figures might be a little confusing to you folks, you can appreciate how they must appear to Bill Brandt, who is adding and subtracting and multiplying and dividing trying to get an answer that will show there's a race left in the old league yet.

Just when he thinks his figuring is going to show a profit, he always comes out in the Red, so to speak. There's no keeping that Cincinnati club anywhere except in the center of the picture. It's the eight-ball, and it looks like the seven other clubs are going to stay right behind it.

Grandpappy Jenkins, just back from a fishing trip, says he didn't catch even a minnow but had a whale of a time.

Schindler All-Stars' 'Most Valuable'

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Ambrose Schindler, hard-driving blond halfback of Southern California, was named today the "most valuable" player for the college all-stars in their wild scoring exhibition with the Green Bay Packers last night.

Selected by sports writers covering the game, Schindler nosed out Iowa's Nile Kinnick for the honor. Several other collegians also received votes.

The Packers won the game, 45 to 28, in a brilliant show of aerial football. The game produced 73 points — 10 touchdowns, 10 points after and a field goal, or only four points less than the total scored in six previous all-star games.

Cecil Isbell of Purdue won the "most valuable" award in 1938, when the contest was inaugurated, and Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross was the winner in 1939. Isbell turned up again in the series last night as the Packers star passer. He threw two touchdown passes to Don Hutson and scored a third touchdown himself.

Schindler was a standout this year for the same reason he was a top-flight performer for the Trojans of the west coast all last season — shining at blocking, plunging and pass catching.

He intercepted a pass to set up the first touchdown, which he scored himself from the 18-yard line on three line smashes. On another scoring drive, Schindler led the ground attack, caught a 16-yard toss from Kenny Washington, and scored again through the line.

In addition to Schindler and Kinnick, the vote getters were Banks McFadden, Clemson; Washington of U. C. L. A.; Harry Smith of U. S. C., all-star captain at guard, and Clyde Turner, Hardin-Simmons, center.

The pros now lead in the series, three victories to two. The other two games ended in ties.

Harle Damon Stars For Winning Team With Two Touchdowns

BY BILL BUCKLEY Assistant Sports Editor

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—Too much weight, too much balance and too much red-headed blitzkrieg in the person of Harle Damon, sensational Thomas Jefferson of Council Bluffs halfback, spelled defeat for a game east squad here tonight as a smooth and powerful west squad rode to a well-deserved 14-0 triumph.

East Lacks Passers
Handicapped by the lack of semblance to any form of passing attack, the East went down before a great West line that out-charged and out-fought the East at every turn. The game was but nine minutes old when Damon first struck fire, scoring on a plunge from the one-yard line, and the game was settled when the "Rambling Red" broke loose in the last minute of the first half.

West had showed its superiority on the ground throughout the first quarter, although setting up its scoring play on Damon's 13-yard pass to Purcell on the two. The game had then settled down to a plunging and punting duel.

Damon Scores
After an exchange of punts late in the second stanza Kim Ross, Oelwein quarterback, kicked from his own 20 to west's 49. Damon received the boot and circled toward the center of the field. The redhead dodged both ends coming down, then stepped into a maze of east tacklers. For perhaps two seconds, Damon was lost to view, but out of that turmoil stepped Harle, picking his way with all the agility of a toe dancer. Immediately, he cut to the left side-line, and putting on a burst of speed, outraced the east second-line defense to the goal line.

Chuck Dirr, a blocking back, cleared the way in fine style for Damon.

Both kicks for extra point, by Ned Brown of Guthrie Center were no good.

The final scoring in the star-studded game came midway in the third quarter, when an east back let a ball go over his shoulder for a safety and two points.

Iowa Citizens in Game
A crowd of 10,000 rabid and non-partisan high school football fans watched the game, and saw every one on the squad see action.

Ted Lewis, pounding fullback for City high for the last three seasons, played most of the game for the East in the position of blocking back. And Bob Caywood and Bob White, Hawkit guards, both entered the game as substitutes.

Outstanding in the all-star battle, besides Damon, were Dick Purcell of Shenandoah and Lawrence Wehmyer, ends on the west team, who turned back everything East had to offer. Bob Zimmerman, 205 - pound tackle from T. J., Council Bluffs, was the main play-maker on offense for the West, while Bill Garrett, dusky Davenport back, picked up most of East's yardage.

Joe Laws Wears '24' for Green Bay Kinnick's Toss to McFadden Sweetest Play of First Half

Before the game everyone stood for a moment in memory of Noble Kizer, former Purdue and all-star coach who died this year. The flag stretched across the north end of the field was approximately 60 feet high. Noise maker of the press box was Johnny O'Donnell of the Davenport Democrat.

An intercepted pass set up the first all-star score. They opened holes big enough for wagons in the first period. On first Packer score, Isbell to Hutson pass was snatched in end zone. Hutson took the ball away from two men covering him. Kinnick's pass to McFadden was the most beautiful play of the first half. Kicks of Clark Hinkle were exceptional.

The halftime entertainment was great with all band instruments lit but floodlights out.

If a blanket were thrown over Kinnick you could still tell him by his spindly legs. He's a thin man but very good on defense. Oddly enough, Joe Laws wore No. 24, the same as Kinnick did at Iowa and Frank Balazs No. 35, the same as Dick Evans'.

Isbell to Hutson pass for fourth Packer touchdown was snatched in end zone. Hutson took the ball away from two men covering him. Kinnick's pass to McFadden was the most beautiful play of the first half. Kicks of Clark Hinkle were exceptional.

Red Sox Gain on Idle Yanks With 5 to 4 Win Over A's

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30, (AP)—Boston's Red Sox gained a half game on the idle third-place New York Yankees today by capturing the opener of a four-game series with the Athletics 5 to 4. A light drizzle kept the ladies day crowd at Shibe park down to 5,000.

Doc Cramer's double and Ted Williams' triple, scoring Cramer, broke a 4-4 deadlock in the seventh to give Boston the decision. The Sox got 11 hits off three A's pitchers.

Relieving Ostermuller on the mound in the fourth, Joe Heving turned in a brilliant performance and held the A's to two hits in his five and one-third innings of duty.

Ostermuller had held the Mackmen to a single by Benny McCoy until the fourth. Then came the deluge. The Athletics scored four runs before Heving replaced Ostermuller. With the bases loaded after Heving walked E. Chapman, Johnson flied out to end the inning.

Boston bunched three hits for four runs in the second.

Orvis Injured In Prep Game

DES MOINES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Roger Orvis of Dubuque, a member of the East squad, was injured in the first half of the all-star high school football game here tonight. He was reported to have suffered a kidney injury and was taken to the Methodist hospital.

Everett Wins

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Alvin Everett of Rome, Ga., retained his national left-handers' golf championship yesterday with a 5 and 4 victory over Sam G. Alpert of Chicago, the tournament medalist, in their 36-hole final match.

Pressbox Pickups

It's rather tough for Iowan to see the "Most Valuable" award of the all-star game slip away from Iowa and Nile Kinnick, but it happened when Amby Schindler of Southern Cal was voted the best by sports writers at the game.

Although my own vote was cast for Kinnick, it wasn't an overwhelming surprise when Schindler managed to nose out the Hawkeye star—there wasn't a great deal to choose between the two.

Kinnick's passing in the game was excelled only by that of the Packers' Cecil Isbell, while Schindler was probably the game's outstanding ball carrier. The Trojan warhorse was spectacular, powerful and always dangerous—he was also a fierce tackler.

The biggest surprise, actually, about the list of standouts in the college lineup, was that any of them could look so good against the Packers. Right now, anybody who saw Thursday night's game will take any bet that are offered against the Packers in the pro league—would offer odds if they were asked for. The passing combination of Herber or Isbell to Hutson, Laws or Uram is something like the Yankee slugging combinations of old—it couldn't be duplicated anywhere.

Maybe the all-stars hadn't developed a strong pass defense yet, but I'm inclined to disagree with that belief. Kinnick and Banks McFadden had Hutson covered, blanketed in fact, in the end zone on one play, yet the Packer star dragged down the pass. He was too fast and too deadly a catcher to be stopped.

But, despite the defeat, there were almost a dozen real stars on the team that, by vote of the fans, was probably the best all-star combination ever put together. Kinnick and Schindler, along with McFadden and Kenny Washington, were probably among the best backs the Packers will ever face.

And in the line, which held Green Bay's ground game pretty well in check, Southern California's Harry Smith was about all the ball player any coach could ask for with Clyde Turner of Hardin-Simmons and Lee Artoe of California on the records as outstanding linemen. It's also within bounds of sane reasoning to call Ken Kavanaugh of L. S. U. a great end.

Louis' Dick Evans, incidentally, played quite a game for himself, holding down a wing post for a good portion of the contest.

We're still wondering just how Dr. Eddie Anderson took a crowd of players, all used to different systems and roles, and made a scoring machine capable of 23 points against the great Packer eleven. He must have had a busy three weeks at the training camp.

The record crowd of 84,867 at the game was a record better by only the narrowest of margins—seven persons to be exact. The previous mark was made in 1937.

Aila Hiltunen Warns Parents To Look Out for Paralysis

Johnson County Nurse Aila Hiltunen yesterday cautioned parents to watch their children closely for symptoms of infantile paralysis because of the prevalence of the disease in nearby counties even though there are no cases reported in this county as yet.

She explained that infantile paralysis is a communicable disease and it is believed to be spread directly and indirectly from one person to another much as other contagious diseases of childhood are spread. One may carry the disease without showing symptoms of it, she added.

The symptoms resemble the symptoms of many other contagious diseases, she continued. "A child becomes restless or drowsy. He is feverish, irritable and does not wish to be moved. Significant are a sore, stiff neck and spine and pains in the back, arms and legs," she said.

Sometimes early symptoms may be mild and yet within from 24 to 72 hours the child may not be able to move an arm or leg, according to the nurse.

"If your child has a fever, vomits and shows marked restlessness, put him to bed and promptly call your family doctor," she advised. The child, in case of these signs, may not have the disease but if he has, the doctor may be able to lessen the harmful effects if he is called before paralysis sets in.

Suggesting methods of prevention, the nurse advised that parents see to it that children wash their hands before eating, do not use public towels or common drinking cups, that they cover their mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing, that they keep their fingers out of their nose and mouth and that they put nothing in their mouth which has been soiled by others.

"Children should have good, simple food, including pasteurized milk at home and for school lunches and plenty of water to drink," she concluded.

blood and lives of American youth, without the consent of the individual affected, but is violently opposed to any action whatever by the government not suggested by business itself, which will assure the boys drafted the proper implements and machinery of warfare to defend themselves."

Russell said he would be happy to debate this issue with the republican nominee "anywhere at any time, including before the board of directors of the power combine."

Before the Georgian could complete his remarks, a dozen other senate democrats were up clamoring for a chance to join in the attack.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky) suggested that "if Mr. Willkie is hankering so far a debate he might debate this issue in 10 different states of republican senators who favored it." Barkley read the list of republicans voting for the provision.

that a "new popular song should be written for Mr. Willkie about 'I didn't raise my dollar to be a soldier'."

Willkie a "Protectionist" Senator Clark (D-Mo) said Mr. Willkie apparently was anxious "to protect" the munitions manufacturers and wartime millionaires.

At this point, Senator Burke commented that 16 democrats now in the senate had voted for an anti-third term resolution during the administration of the late President Coolidge.

The Nebraska senator said these democrats might explain now why they voted then that a third term "for any president was undemocratic, un-American, and fraught with peril."

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), one of these democrats, jumped up to say, "I was against a first term for that man (Coolidge), I was against a second term, and heaven knows, I was against a third term."

A republican, Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, had the last word. He conceded that the democrats "held a field day today but Mr. Willkie will have his on the November election day."

'Minute Men' Catch Taxi Thief in Quick Order on Friday

Iowa City police were being called "minute men" yesterday after catching a man driving a stolen car early Friday morning only one minute after they received the stolen car message on the police car radio.

The car, a taxi cab, was taken from the Varsity cab stand on south Dubuque street and company officials called the police station. The night captain sent the message out on the two-way police radio at 12:34 and at 12:35 patrolmen radioed back that the car and driver had been apprehended less than two blocks from where the car was taken.

Appearing in police court yesterday morning before Acting Police Judge J. M. Kadlec, the driver of the stolen cab gave his name as Elvin T. Bales of Rock Island, Ill. Bales waived to preliminary hearing in police court and was bound over to the grand jury. He is being held in county jail upon failure to meet bond set at $1,000.

Wallace-- (Continued From Page 1) Kellar (D-Tenn) declared: "As long as Hitler is fighting democracy, the country will agree with Mr. Wallace that it is no time for us to change presidents."

Representative Short (R-Mo) observing that Wallace had mentioned Hitler 21 times, said that the Iowan's effort "to convince the country that it will fall into Hitler's clutches unless Roosevelt is re-elected is sheerest poppycock."

Asserting that Wallace's main argument was that Mr. Roosevelt had been constantly warning the country against Hitler for seven years, "while the republicans have been sleeping or plotting appeasement," Short asked why the president "broke up" the London disarmament conference in 1933 and had advocated a disarmament conference among the United States, Great Britain and Japan in 1935.

"Probably Mr. Wallace, as a former pacifist would not know the answers," he added.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said that if the president was so well informed, "why did he wait until four months ago to start his defense program?"

"And even then," he continued, "how does it happen that he so underestimated the needs of adequate armament that he chided congress at a press conference on June 4 because it didn't adjourn and go home?"

Senator Austin (R-Vt) declared that if Wallace's reference to "short sighted obstructionist tactics" in connection with defense "was a shot in the dark at the republican party, it missed its mark."

The probable ratio of republicans who were "strong protagonists of defense preparation," he said, was "quite as high, if not higher, than that of new dealers."

Sub-Normal Local Temperatures Stay Down

Iowa City's temperatures were below normal again yesterday in spite of clear skies which prevailed most of the day. High reading was only 76 degrees with 83 the normal high for the day.

Low temperature reading for the day was 54 degrees compared with a normal low of 57. Readings in Iowa City a year ago yesterday, according to the weather bureau observation station, were 83 degrees high and 61 degrees low.

Eight Parachute To Safety When Bomber Crashes

KALAMA, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP)—Eight occupants of an army bomber parachuted to safety today after the motors failed. The plane crashed in dense woods near here.

The bomber, of the 73rd bombardment squadron, McChord field, Wash., crashed on a farm 10 miles north of here.

William Huntley, apprentice mechanic, the first man to parachute from the falling ship, said the men were ordered to bail out and that he jumped from 6,000 feet. He escaped with minor bruises.

Army men said the plane was a "wash out," with the fuselage badly wrecked and one of the motors thrown several feet away.

Business Places To Be Closed On Labor Day

Iowa City chamber of commerce officials yesterday announced that most of Iowa City's business establishments will be closed all day Monday in observance of Labor day.

On Tuesday Iowa City stores will again change their hours from summer opening and closing times to the fall schedule. They will close at 5:30 each afternoon except Saturday instead of 5. On Saturdays the stores will remain open until 9 p.m.

London-- (Continued From Page 1) small groups. They appeared Friday night at 3:10 o'clock, with a punctuality that has become habitual, after a day that had seen vastly heavier assaults by more than 700 planes on airdromes and industrial plants in the home counties all about the metropolis.

Over All England During the night raid on London, too, there were other German raiders over almost every section of England, bombing or scouting.

A British tabulation at 10 o'clock last night (4 p.m. EST) said 53 German craft had been shot down since early this morning, thus bringing to more than 1,000 the number destroyed during this month. Fifteen British planes were acknowledged lost during the day, but the pilots of five of them were said to be safe.

Attack Krupp Works A formation of about 20 raided Manchester, 31 miles east of the great Liverpool port on the west coast, killing a mother and her two children.

Overnight, until Friday dawn, Britain's long-distance bombers had attacked the Krupp armament works at Essen and other military targets in Germany, Holland, Belgium and France.

These attacks followed daylight forays Thursday on airdromes in German-held Holland and on convoys and shipping along the Dutch coast.

Besides the big Krupp works, oil refineries and plants at Gelsenkirchen, Bottrop and St. Nazaire were attacked; power stations at Duisberg and Reisholz, freight yards at Hamm and Doest, plants in the Ruhr district, and airdromes over a wide area also were raided.

Three British bombers failed to return. While London's second warning was in effect twelve high explosive bombs and a few incendiaries were dropping in outlying districts of a southeast town. British officials said the Germans also "indiscriminately" bombed districts in Kent and Surrey, counties bordering London, but said the casualties were small, and damage slight.

Nazis Report Huge Air Battles BERLIN, Aug. 31, (Saturday) (AP)—Terrific air battles over the English channel and southern England, possibly reaching an intensity not previously attained, are being reported fragmentarily to Berlin.

Latest dispatches early today said 80 British planes had been destroyed in the fighting yesterday, while 21 German machines were missing.

Unofficial reports described many bitter combats between single machines or small groups over all parts of the channel and over the counties of Sussex and Hampshire. Numerous machines fell into the sea, and surface craft of both sides scurried about, rescuing aviators, many of whom were adrift in rubber emergency boats.

New Paint Makes Planes Almost Invisible

By RENNIE TAYLOR Associated Press Science Writer SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 — Development of a paint which on hazy days makes an airplane almost invisible at 100 to 200 yards was claimed today by a San Francisco manufacturing concern. Reports from Berlin that the British were using a so-called invisible paint on warplanes brought forth the announcement from the W. P. Fuller company. The new compound still is in the experimental stage but its effectiveness already has been determined, Harold Acker, company chemist, said. He described it as a flat gray, very dull, with no pigment. An aluminum ingredient provides the color.

It is one of three aircraft camouflage paints developed by the company. The first and oldest type was described as a dull black which absorbs light and makes a high-flying plane hard to pick up with searchlights. The other is a somewhat bright aluminum compound which does not camouflage effectively on hazy or cloudy days but works well in bright sunshine. Acker said the dull black found on the Germans reported finding on British planes probably was similar to the first and oldest type. He reported this kind of paint had been turned out here for finishing planes ordered by other countries. The bright aluminum and the haze gray applications have been developed within the last eight months.

Frank P. Fuller, noted flier and member of the paint firm, reported another finishing compound developed by the company apparently increased the speed of his plane by six to seven miles an hour in a flight from Los Angeles to Cleveland. The company announced production of a zinc-chromium-asbestos-pigment compound as "the most successful material developed to seal the newly developed integral aircraft gasoline tanks against bullet punctures. Integral fuel tanks are those which form a part of the wing or other portion of the plane structure, eliminating the necessity for adding the weight of the ordinary gasoline tanks. The concern said it was working on an "explosion retarding finish" for plane interiors to reduce the dangers of explosion sometimes caused by tracer bullets.

Coralville Bible Church Plans Special Meetings from Tuesday to Friday

Beginning next Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. and continuing through Friday special meetings will be held at the Coralville Bible church in Coralville.

The speaker for the four-day conference is to be the Rev. A. G. Annette of Plainfield, Ill. The Rev. Mr. Annette has been in Christian service for about 20 years, 16 years a pastor, two years with the Moody Bible institute alumni association and one year with the LeTourneau Evangelistic center of New York City.

The Rev. George W. P. MacKay, pastor of the Coralville church, announced yesterday that the general theme of the conference will be "Evangelism."

According to the announcement, Tuesday's topic will be "The Place of Prayer in Soul-Winning," Wednesday's, "The Use of the Bible in Soul-Winning"; Thursday's, "The Lord Jesus Christ, the Master Soul-Winner," and Friday's, "The Difference Between Revival and Evangelism."

These services are open to the public, it was announced.

They are to be delivered during 1941 and 1942. The navy made a similar agreement yesterday for purchase of 17,000 Pratt and Whitney motors.

The republican complaints against restriction of house debate on conscription were aimed particularly at the decision to limit it to "two days."

Short Sessions Representatives Michener (R-Pa), Ditter (R-Pa), and Allen (R-Ill), argued that the house might remain in session only an hour or two each day, and demanded, instead, that at least 12 hours of general debate be permitted.

Asserting there were many precedents requiring a specific determination of debate time by hours rather than by legislative days, Ditter said:

"I want to maintain the dignity of the house in keeping with the position of the senate which held full and free discussion on the subject."

Bills Similar The legislation, closely resembling the bill approved by the senate except for age brackets, would require the registration of men from 21 to 44, inclusive, and would make them liable for a year's military training at a minimum salary of $30 a month. The senate chose age limits of 21 to 30, inclusive.

During the day, a committee was appointed to compromise differences between senate and house versions of the $5,000,000,000 defense bill which carries funds for a start on construction of a two-ocean navy and for purchase of more than 14,000 new airplanes. The principal difference is the senate's insistence on $100,000,000 for defense housing construction.

Russia Aloof at Balkan Change; Red Army Drills for Offensive

MOSCOW, Aug. 30, (AP)—Realistic red army drill in "offensive tactics" in a special western military district and maneuvers of the red fleet in an unidentified sea were disclosed today while Russia viewed with an attitude of cool detachment the newest movement of borders in the Balkans.

The soviet union was awaiting Rumania's reply to two protests charging Rumanian border troops with "provocative actions" on the soviet Rumanian frontier—protests which warned of the grave consequences which any future trouble might bring.

However, some diplomatic sources expressed the belief this situation was not now serious. They said Rumanian frontier guards had been ordered to keep the peace strictly during the Vienna territorial negotiations which today resulted in the loss of approximately half of Rumania's province of Transylvania to Hungary. Demarcation of the new Russo-Rumanian border by a mixed commission is expected to begin shortly.

Orders Placed For More Planes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)

The war department today announced that it had awarded contracts for 410 interceptor pursuit airplanes and 277 heavy bombers—a total of 687 ships to cost $100,728,742.

The department said the awards would make a total of 2,677 planes purchased out of a total of 4,247 authorized under 1940-41 appropriations. Of the 2,677 planes, 643 are combat ships and the remainder largely training planes, the department said.
