BOMBAY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi, once more undisputed leader of India's main nationalist movement, has taken over the delicate task of directing non-violent anti-war propaganda, but under a pledge that it shall not embarrass Britain.

G. O. P. Primary Vote High

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Republicans polled more votes than the combined total of progressive and democratic candidates in Tuesday's gubernatorial primary in Wisconsin, while a new deal faction of the American labor party led so-called "left-wing" candidates in 53 of 94 legislative and congressional contests in New York.

Far ahead of the primary vote in 1938, the last presidential election year. The republican nominee—Gov. Julius P. Heil—probably will be opposed in November by Orland S. Loomis, progressive, and Francis E. McGovern, democrat. The latter two had comfortable leads with most of the precincts counted.

The New York voting not only brought a new deal test of strength in the American labor party, but it also saw an unsuccessful attempt of John J. O'Connor, anti-Roosevelt democrat, to win nomination for congress on both republican and democratic tickets. He was defeated in both contests.

Roosevelt 53 congressional and legislative offices to 40 for those opposing a third term for the president. One nomination went to an independent.

Spain Looks South

Ramon Sener

Following the portentous visit to Berlin of Ramon Sener, top, Spanish minister of the interior, it appeared that Spain might participate more actively in the Rome-Berlin axis with the goal of gaining British Gibraltar, Portugal and French possessions in North Africa.

The plate glass in the windows of one department store which was not touched heretofore was smashed by a bomb exploding in the street in front of the store.

Down Two Raiders

London's anti-aircraft gun barrage brought down at least two of the raiders—one of them a Junker 88, Germany's latest type of bombing plane.

British Attack

Across the English Channel, the British bombers beat furiously at the Nazi-held French and Belgian coasts in the heaviest of all their long series of assaults on German bases, and the red in London's skies was matched by the flames of bursting shells and explosives which leaped high in the air on the other side of the water.

Legislation On Marketing Seen Aid to Projects

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Legislation which sponsors said would simplify operation of federal marketing programs was approved today by the senate and sent to the house.

A Note on Fraternities

What Will Iowa's Affiliated Men, and Their Prospective Pledges, Have in Mind as This Rush Week Begins?

Today marks the opening of rush week for Iowa's fraternities. There are some 1,500 new students on this campus today, many of them potential pledges of Iowa's affiliated groups.

Let's pause for a moment to consider this phase of university life, perhaps to clarify a few details, for the benefit of prospective fraternity men on the campus AND for fraternities themselves.

There are those who minimize the value of fraternity life. They point to inefficient management, run-down houses, the devil-may-care attitude of fraternity men. And, as often as not probably, they are right.

On the Way Out?

They insist that fraternities are on the way out. Only fraternities themselves can disprove that—by promoting good management, clean houses and a serious attitude concerning college and fraternity life.

There are others who regard fraternities as hotbeds of iniquity. Their opinions are formed from the incomplete picture presented by isolated events that pop up here and there the nation over.

Fraternities at Iowa can counteract that, too. They have at their disposal two splendid inter-group organizations—the interfraternity council and court. They should be utilized to the fullness of their enormous potentialities.

If fraternities cannot disprove the beliefs of the aforementioned "anti" groups, they're lying down on the job and bringing about their own eventual destruction.

The Highest in Idealism

Fraternity groups are one of the nation's oldest institutions. They sprang into being when America was comparatively young. They knit young men of an earlier day into compact, interest-sharing groups, principally on young college campuses.

They were founded upon principles of loyalty, integrity and brotherhood. The ideals of fraternities are the highest ideals one may find.

In the charters of Iowa's social and professional fraternities are to be found the ideals and purposes of those groups. They deviate only minutely from what were set down as the earliest purposes of American fraternal groups. They stand, all of them, for loyalty, integrity and brotherhood. And that is rightly so.

The Job of Fraternities

But those high principles must extend beyond rush week. Those ideals are year-round responsibilities. They should be year-round assets.

It's up to Iowa's fraternity men to make them that. Fraternities can contribute greatly to the worthwhileness of living through the simple expedient of practicing, every day, their stated principles.

They cannot afford to do less than that. Neither can the rest of us. Those principles can't be operative in a dormitory of 200 college men. The unit is too large. But they can and should be in a Fraternity of from 25 to 40 members.

They must be if fraternities are to prove their inestimable worth.

A Little Hard Work

These things are the responsibilities of those who now are members of Iowa's fraternities, and of those who soon will be.

It is our conviction that we must work without rest to preserve the desirable institutions of campus life; if there are institutions here not worth working for, by all means let them die.

That fraternities are an Iowa institution worth working for there can be no doubt. But it's up to fraternity men to prove it.

The old members and potential new members of Iowa's fraternities have individual responsibilities.

1. Fraternities must make their phase of campus life mean what it should mean. They must practice, constantly, those ideals—loyalty, integrity and brotherhood. Along that road will be found the type of man this university, state and nation needs today.

Living Up to Principles

2. Those who pledge fraternities must do so with the objective of working for them, wholeheartedly, and for the principles for which they stand.

In that direction lies the most desirable of the types of lives one may lead.

This should not be interpreted as an indictment of Iowa fraternities. It isn't that.

But it is our deep conviction that no American today, and no group of Americans, can afford NOT to live up to the highest principles for which they can stand.

Fraternities are in a position to fulfill abundantly their stated objectives. It lies within the power of fraternities, here and across the nation, to enhance immeasurably the value of their men to today's world, because fraternities stand for the ideals this world needs most.

And that is a challenge worth accepting.

Conscientious Draft Officials

"In an effort to minimize discriminations and favoritism and to win public support for conscription, the projected rules call for the entire draft process—local, state and federal—to be opened to the full light of public scrutiny."

If that project, reported from Washington yesterday by The Associated Press, is faithfully carried out, this problem of conscription will be a lot easier on the nation.

And selective service officials observe, too, that "the future of selective service depends on the reaction of the boys to their life in camp and what they write home about it."

Such conscientiousness in this case will save a good deal of worry and ill-will.

A Man About MANHATTAN

Even New Yorkers Have to Ask Questions About New York

By HAROLD HAMIL

(A transplanted Midwesterner pinching for vacationing George Tucker)

NEW YORK—This is about a fellow who found out it's no sin to admit you can't find your way around New York.

A transplanted Midwesterner, he had been here exactly three weeks.

As the subway clattered along, he looked neither to the right nor to the left. He fancied his pose was one he had observed most seasoned subway travelers assume.

The train rolled to a stop, and in the brief interval of quiet the man next to him held out a Sunday magazine section.

"Wonderful picture," he said, pointing to a colored cover portrait.

The newcomer finally mumbled agreement. The train got under way and the noise was excuse enough to break off the conversation. And then the transplanted Midwesterner mused:

"Who am I to be indifferent toward anyone with a desire to talk? It wasn't that way back home."

He realized how his response to this kindly gentleman had been the very thing which in New York people had bothered him no end.

The train was slowing down again. The transplanted Midwesterner looked at the magazine cover. Yes, it was a good picture. He expressed the opinion a couple of times, in an effort to show appreciation of a fellow passenger's efforts to be friendly.

The older man shifted the conversation. "Do you know if we have passed that junction out here?" he asked.

"The newcomer never had heard of the junction, but wouldn't admit it.

"Well, it doesn't make much difference. I can always ride back."

"You're new in New York?" queried the Midwesterner.

"Oh, no, I've lived here 52 years. I just don't keep my bearings like I should. I meant to ask about where to get off. You've got to ask your way around New York. I ask questions almost every time I leave home—even after 52 years. Say, what part of the South are you from?"

That was a comedown for a New Yorker of three weeks. Hadn't he got to where he could walk through Times Square without being singled out by the "rubberneck" bus solicitors?

The old New Yorker had a parting word as the train slowed down for what turned out to be the right junction.

"I could tell by your restless looks—your curiosity. You didn't seem too sure of where you were going. We New Yorkers aren't always sure either. Ask questions, young man. Always ask questions. You'll find New York isn't hard to get around in if you ask a question every time you're a bit uncertain. Good-bye."

Whereupon the writer of this column made a detailed report of his travel plans to a subway guard and learned that for 15 minutes he had been getting farther and farther from the place where he was already 20 minutes overdue.

How Bankhead Lost The V.P. Nomination

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—Ins and outs of President Roosevelt's inside encounter with Speaker Bankhead at Chicago have never been told. The southern gentleman, who was only incidentally an eminent statesman, kept his counsel and there has been no need for Mr. Roosevelt to speak. But you will recall it was Bankhead who openly resisted the president's direction of the nomination of Henry Wallace as vice-presidential candidate, and staged the night rebellion. The cover may now be removed from that episode:

The gentleman from Alabama was logically in line for the presidency this time. Last spring his home delegation was lined up for him that way, in the general belief that Mr. Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term. In later months when it appeared likely Mr. Roosevelt would try it, Bankhead withdrew to the vice-presidential stakes.

Nothing was said to him about any other candidate enjoying White House favor. To the last he disbelieved the talk which Mr. Roosevelt's manager, Harry Hopkins, spread at Chicago regarding the president's preference for Wallace. When the Hopkins' people went to him there, he replied that he could never face his people in Alabama if he retreated and accepted the nomination of a "northern republican" (meaning Wallace, of course).

When all other means of persuasion failed, Mr. Roosevelt himself called Bankhead on the telephone. The speaker later told his friends that the president had not specifically asked him to withdraw from the race but had talked along lengthily in such a way as to invite it. Mr. Bankhead declined to accept the invitation. He pressed his candidacy through to its inevitable defeat.

F. D. R.'S ROLE

Many leading democratic politicians, without a full knowledge of the facts, have been inclined to blame the president for letting a good friend go out publicly on a frail limb to say the least. Yet the president unquestionably knew Bankhead's health would not permit him to do the active campaigning required of a vice-presidential candidate, although he was too courteous to say so.

When Bankhead first was elected speaker, his brother John, the senator, telephoned leading house democrats urging them not to make the choice as Bankhead's physician did not believe his heart could stand the strain two days.

The speaker himself three times rejected the appeals of the president and Farley that he be keynoter of the convention, and accepted reluctantly in the end. He was certainly the outstanding speaker of the party, but he worried considerably over the effort and his attempt was not up to his standard.

FLOOR LEADERSHIP

Most of Mr. Roosevelt's friends in the house immediately favored John McCormack for the leadership. The Massachusetts representative was the outstanding floor debater among the contestants, an exceptionally able lawyer and a fair-minded party man who resisted the new deal only upon such flagrant reform proposals as the undistributed profits tax and the third basket.

WILLKIE SET

The talk about Willkie being at odds with his party leaders will be blanketed shortly when they take the stump in droves for him. Vandenberg, Taft, Dewey, and all without exception have been assigned eminent campaigning roles. Willkie's unusual personality was a prime cause of the initial misunderstanding. He is an argumentative type, and enjoys outspoken verbal disagreements. The leaders did not know him well enough to realize he was not antagonistic when he differed with them. They have found out now that the vehemence of his argument has no personal implications. Even his closest campaign associate, Joe Martin, house floor leader, once recently had to be assured of this.

No further organization troubles are now anticipated.

Have You Met Singapore Joe?

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If you haven't met Singapore Joe, it's time.

Singapore Joe Fisher is a showman extraordinary, a world traveler, a cultured and genial raconteur, an ex-officio salesman of the charms of Singapore and all Malaya.

He popped into town the other day, one of his periodic visits, looking natty and neat in one of those white tropical suits which somehow (unlike most in these parts) kept its neatness and its whiteness.

It was the fabulous Sultan of Johore, Malayan ruler, who dubbed him "Singapore Joe." His Highness, once a visitor in Hollywood, did the dubbing characteristically. To a friend who for years had been known simply as Mr. Joe Fisher, His Highness presented (wrapped in old newspapers) a package which he said contained a supply of biscuits. Mr. Joe Fisher suspected a gag, tossed the package into his car, opened somewhat later as an afterthought, and found a heavy gold cigar case, mounted with platinum and precious stones, and inscribed to "Singapore Joe." Everyone in Hollywood knows Singapore Joe.

Singapore Joe runs the showplace of the Straits Settlements—the Capitol Theater. It's a magnificent building, with shops and bars, besides movie facilities, and to hear Joe tell about it is to resolve to see a movie there some day. It has 1,600 seats, with two arm rests for each seat, and plenty of leg room.

It has a movable ceiling (for warm nights), besides air conditioning; it has attendants who serve drinks, and convenient bars for the intermissions. Attendees take your car to the parking lot (free) and clean it for you (free, too). From any seat you get a clear, unobstructed, undistorted view of the screen.

Principal effect of the war, to date, has been to increase the European population, usually about 12,000 but now, thanks to soldiers, much greater.

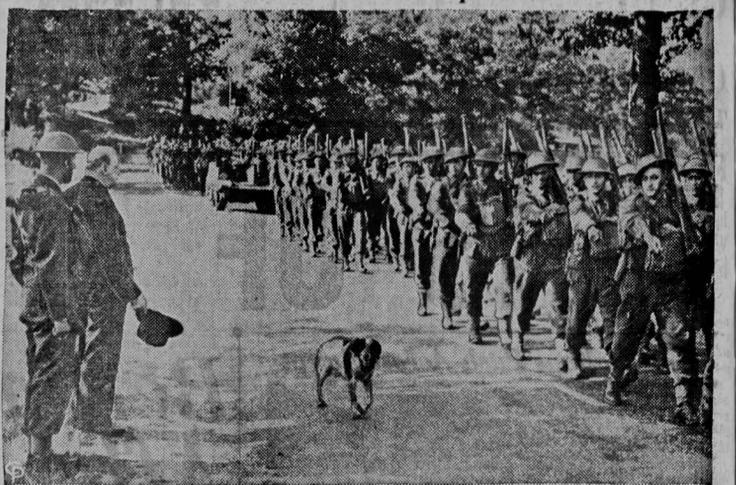

In this cosmopolitan center, the paying customers (excluding the Germans now in internment camps) present a cross-section of world taste in films—and Tarzan (Johnny Weissmuller's, no substitutes accepted) is Hero No. 1. The last Tarzan epic took in $30,000 in seven days, whereas "Gone With the Wind" hit only $40,000 in 21 days. Deanna Durbin's popularity grows from picture to picture, and Jeanette MacDonald is a high favorite.

The audience, preponderantly native, craves action first, scorns superimposed titles and "dubbed" dialogue, follows English dialogue easily through watching the film's action.

"And how they can smell a good picture!" beams Singapore Joe. "And how the word spreads!"

Just how this word-of-mouth carries weight he illustrates by the story of a hotel employee who had trouble at his job—and six hours later, over a territory of 700 miles, "sympathy strikes" were brewing. All this, minus telephone or telegraph communication, for

Gotta Ride Through Town Or Else Break The Law

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—In a state famed for rough and fancy riding, attorneys recently discovered among Helena city ordinances that:

It is against the law to leave a horse untied within the city limits, or to tie one to a fence, a lamp post or anything but a hitching post—

But there aren't any hitching posts left in Helena.

Junior now wants to know if this Trojan horse he has been reading about actually neighs with a foreign accent.

These were checked and no messages recorded!

(Note to Exhibitors: Singapore Joe's Capitol operates sans double features, sans giveaways, sans lotteries—and cleans up. And it's not the only house around.)

Woman Leaves Fortune To Swiss Village

GREIFENSEE, Switzerland (AP)—The municipal council here has viewed with alarm statistics showing that one out of every seven inhabitants married a foreigner and moved away.

Now they are less alarmed. Regula Walder Albertus, born in Greifensee 95 years ago, died in California and left 131,500 Swiss francs (roughly $30,000) to her native village (pop. 1,000).

Cops Were There First

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP)—"Investigate a wreck on Jackson street," said a radio message from headquarters to Policemen Martin Schneider and Cuba McKay in a squad car. They didn't have to go far to investigate, because they were bruised in the wreck. Another automobile had just hit theirs.

Civil Aeronautics Applications Available

Quota Limited To 50 Students For Training

Emer C. Lundquist Will Give Instruction In All Ground Work

Applications for the civil aeronautics training course are now available with a 50-student quota for primary flight training designated for the University of Iowa. Applications for the work are being received at all times in room 4, engineering building, from Emer C. Lundquist, instructor in aeronautical engineering. In order for students to be eligible, they must have reached their 19th, but not their 26th birthday, on or before Oct. 1, and must be citizens of the United States.

They must not have received a certificate for private pilot, and must have completed at least one full year of college work. All applicants must receive their parents' consent before being enrolled in the program. The fees, payable to the university, are as follows: $6 medical examination fee, $9 insurance fee, and $10 laboratory fee.

Books are furnished by the CAA. Transportation expenses to and from the Iowa City airport must be borne by the student.

Ground school work will be given by Lundquist, and will consist of meteorology, navigation and aircraft operation.

Flight instruction will be given at the Iowa City municipal airport under the direction of Paul Shaw, and will involve 35 to 50 hours of instruction.

Work under the Civil Aeronautics Authority program is administered by a committee composed of Dean F. M. Dawson, Prof. G. W. Stewart, Prof. J. H. Allen, A. O. Leff, Prof. S. L. Miller, and Prof. H. O. Croft.

Four Visiting Speakers Will Give Educational Talks at Annual Meet

Education during a critical period in American life will be discussed during the University of Iowa's 27th annual administration and supervision conference here Oct. 3 and 4, Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education announced yesterday.

Every high school in Iowa will be invited to send representatives and the total attendance of superintendents, principals and other school executives is expected to approach 400.

Distinguished Speakers Appointment of four distinguished visiting speakers from different sections of the nation also was announced by Dean Packer. Members of the university's faculty also will appear.

From Stanford university of California will come Paul R. Hanna, who will talk on utilizing community resources in a social studies program.

An attorney of South Bend, Ind., Samuel B. Pettigill, will take his place among the educators. He is the author of several books.

Swarthmore College Third visiting speaker is Troyer S. Anderson of Swarthmore college of Pennsylvania who will discuss the future of American

Professor W. Johnson Elected to Council

Prof. Wendell Johnson of the psychology and speech pathology departments here was elected for a four-year term to the council of the American Speech Correction association at Pennsylvania State college early this month.

At the September meeting of the speech association, Professor Johnson reported a study of the onset of stuttering, evidence from which indicates that stuttering is a form of learned behavior.

Overly anxious parents seem to be especially prone to be overly critical of the hesitant speech of the child who is just learning to talk and by their criticisms and their efforts to "help" the child they tend to make him more self-conscious about speaking, according to the local professor.

Stuttering The study indicated practically no difference between stuttering children and non-stuttering children as to general development and health.

He also reported before the American Psychological association at the Pennsylvania State college meeting of that group a study of the handedness of stutters and non-stutterers. Using improved methods of measurement, he found no significant differences as to handedness between the two groups.

Another study of stuttering done under Professor Johnson's direction was reported before the Ames Speech Correction association meeting by Marcella Gray, Waterloo high school teacher, who received her M.A. degree in speech pathology here.

Family of Stutterers This study dealt with a "stuttering family." The family was traced for five generations. Three generations ago part of the family went to Kansas and the rest remained in Iowa. Of chief interest is the fact that there are almost no stutters in the Kansas branch, while the Iowa branch of the family is heavily loaded with stutters.

Not Hereditary The results do not seem to indicate that the stuttering in this family is hereditary, but that the Iowa branch of the family has become acutely "stuttering conscious," and has developed a family attitude that tends to make for stuttering in the children. Miss Gray is the director of speech correction in the West Waterloo public high school.

Professor Johnson also participated in a panel discussion on remedial education on the American Psychology association program. Prof. Herbert Kaepf-Baker of Pennsylvania State college will act as vice-president of the American Speech Correction association. Prof. D. W. Norris of Indiana State Teachers college will be the organization's secretary. Both men received their Ph.D. degrees in speech pathology at the university here.

The Daily Iowan Goes to a Rushing Party

Eileen Flynn, A2 of Perry, sorority rushing chairman. They will conduct the guests around the house and introduce other Delta Delta Delta members. In this way the rushees meet other rushees as well as sorority women. This year rushees are required to spend one and one-half hours at each party, or the duration of the event. The luncheons today are the only parties at which the rushees are not required to remain the full time but may go to two parties in the two hours' time. "Goodbye! So glad you could come!" In the first picture below, active members Eileen Cochour, A3 of Iowa City, Jean Ludwig, A4 of Ottawa, Ill., and Kathleen Davis, A2 of Des Moines, say goodbye to two rushees. Informal parties such as the "brunch"—a term for a combined breakfast and lunch—are usually planned by the sororities as members try to meet future pledges in a natural atmosphere. A typical

"bull session" is represented in the final picture as sorority members meet immediately after the rushing party to discuss the rushees. Cincinnati Reds Win National League Again

Bob Feller Wins Number 26 As Cleveland Regains Lead

Conquer Phils In 13 Innings; Dodgers Lose

Johnny Vander Meer Pitches, Bats Reds Past 4-3 Victory

BY RAY BLOSSER
CLEVELAND, Sept. 18 (AP)—Old Johnny Allen and youthful Bob Feller threw a spell over the Washington Senators today. The Cleveland Indians thus swept a doubleheader and drove back in to first place ahead of the Detroit Tigers.

Allen allowed the Senators six hits in the first game as he bested southpaw Kendall Chase for a 3 to 1 triumph, and Feller, jerked from the dugout with only two days' rest, gave up only five bingles in the nightcap and beat Sid Hudson, 2 to 1, for his 26th victory of the year.

In the last part of the contest Feller looked as tired as a tavern juke box on Sunday morning, but weathered an eighth-inning threat by Washington put his club a half game ahead of the Tigers, who broke even in their twin bill with the Athletics.

Oscar Vitt's Indians, who had dropped their previous two starts, gathered in the Wigwam before today's hostilities for a pep session which did the Tribe cause no harm.

Chase, never happier than when he is slamming the whammy on Cleveland, had only himself to blame for dropping the opener. The Indians filled the bases with one out in the second inning on singles by Beau Bell and Frankie Pytlak and a walk to Ray Mack. At that point, Chase virtually donned an Indian uniform and before the frame was over he had walked in Cleveland's three runs.

The passes were drawn by Allen, Ben Chapman and Lou Bourdrea before Hal Trosky ended the session with a high fly to center.

It turned out those tallies were all Allen needed for his ninth win of the year. The only Washington run was scored in the fourth when speedy George Case beat out a bunt, went to third on Buddy Lewis' single and scored as Gerald Walker grounded into a twin killing via second and first base.

Manager Oscar Vitt had intended to use Feller to open the crucial two game series Friday, at Detroit, but changed his mind even though the 21-year-old speedballer had gone nine tough innings Sunday, when he hurled a two-hitter against Philadelphia.

The young Iowa farm boy responded nobly, keeping the Nats subdued until the eighth inning. With Cleveland leading, 2 to 0, Jimmy Pofahl then singled to center and Rick Ferrell earned a walk. Hudson filed out but Case walked on four pitches. Feller was tiring, taking a long time between each pitch, but still had enough left. Pofahl scored on Lewis' fly to Bell in right field, then Walker grounded out to end the inning and the last Washington threat.

The Indians won the game on Roy Weatherly's sixth inning homer into the right field stands, followed in the seventh by another run which was partly a gift. One man was out as Mack sent a deep fly to Walker. The outfielder misjudged it, finally got his glove on the ball, but it fell safely for a two-bagger. Mack took third on Hemsley's grounder and Feller drove in the run that won the game with a single to right.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Cincinnati won its second straight National League championship today by coming from behind to beat the Phillies, 4 to 3, in a 13-inning battle.

The Reds with 13 games left to play, now hold a 12-game lead over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to the St. Louis Cardinals. Cincinnati has won 93 games and lost 47. Brooklyn, with 10 games to play, has won 83 and lost 61.

Vander Meer Wins
Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer, recently recalled from the American association, pitched and batted the Reds to victory although he did not hurl the final inning.

First up in the 13th, Vander Meer slammed one of Hugh Mahahy's offerings to left for a two-bagger. He went to third on Eddie Joost's sacrifice, held third while Mike McCormick beat out a hit to short, then scored on Ival Goodman's fly to deep left.

Joe Beggs replaced Vander Meer for the Phils' 13th and retired the tailenders in one, two, three order.

McKechnie Happy
"I'm glad it's all over," declared Manager Bill McKechnie in the clubhouse after the game as his men slapped each other on the back and shouted in delight.

"We now can go ahead and prepare for the world series, something we were unable to do last year. We'll take it easy for a day or two and then start getting ready."

It took until September 28, three days before the end of the season, for the Reds to clinch their 1939 flag by 3 1-2 games over the Cardinals. This year they went into the lead on July 7 and were never ousted.

With Bucky Walters, Paul Deringer and Junior Thompson chalking up 54 victories between them the Reds were never worse than third this year. They haven't lost more than three games in a row and including today's, have won 38 games by one run.

Their worst record was in August when they split even, winning 16 and losing 16. So far this month they have won 16 and lost two.

A bear's fur and its claws are always the same color, according to a noted zoologist. We don't know about that but, together, they do represent a lot of wear and tear.

Athletics Knock Tigers Out of First With Split

Darkness and Yanks Beat Sox

Chicago Wins Opener, 6-3; Nightcap Called With New York Ahead, 9 to 8

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Darkness descended upon Comiskey park today just in time to help the New York Yankees edge out the Chicago White Sox 9 to 8 in eight innings in the second game of a doubleheader after the Sox had elated a rabid crowd of 37,331 south siders by copping the opener 6 to 3.

Chicago needed a double victory today to move over the champs into third place and for awhile it looked as though the Sox would make it. Both games were ding-dong battles all the way.

The Yanks were held to six hits in the first game by Lefty Thornton Lee, but mixed five of them with two errors for all their runs in the fourth and fifth frames. This made it necessary for Sox to stage a four-run rally of their own in the sixth to win. In the nightcap the Yankees opened up with four runs in the first inning and Chicago came right back with five in its half. The Sox got three more on five hits in the fourth and the game appeared decided.

But in the seventh George Selkirk homered with two on and in the eighth Joe DiMaggio, out of action with a leg injury, led off with a pinch double. Mike Charlatk delivered a pinch single for one run and Charley Keller doubled for another.

Then the game was called because of darkness after a double play helped snuff out the Sox in short order. Clint Brown, who relieved Ed Smith after DiMaggio's hit, was the losing pitcher and Steve Sundra got credit for the victory.

Drop 1st, 14-0; Win 2nd, 13-6

Mackmen Count Nine Times In Last Inning Of Nightcap To Win

By DALE STAFFORD
DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—For the second straight day the cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Athletics rose up to knock a team out of the American League lead.

The A's, who shoved Cleveland down to second place yesterday, exploded a nine-run rally in the final inning of the second game today to gain a 13 to 6 victory and a split with the Detroit Tigers in a double header played before 12,757 fans.

Coupled with Cleveland's double win over Washington, the nightcap loss dropped Detroit a half-game behind the Indians in the wild late September pennant scramble.

Tigers Take Opener
The Tigers won the first game, 14 to 0, as Tommy Bridges and Tom Seats pitched shutout ball and Hank Greenberg belted two of the three homers he hit during the afternoon.

The Athletics' nine-run game-winning rally was started by Chubby Dean with an infield single after one was out. Before the Tigers could retire two more men the Macks had rapped out nine more hits, including a homer by Bob Johnson with two teammates on base.

Caster Takes Beating
George Caster went the route for the Athletics in the opener and was tagged for 17 hits. Bridges and Seats, who came in at the start of the seventh to give Bridges a chance to rest for the Cleveland series opening here Friday, allowed only six blows.

The A's threatened only in the third when they filled the sacks with one man out.

Detroit won the game with a five-run rally in the first and a seven score outburst in the fifth. In the opening inning Greenberg got the first of his three homers with the bases loaded. It was his 36th of the year. His next came in the third with the sacks empty.

Doubles by Charley Gehringer, Rudy York and Frank Higgins featured the big fifth inning for Detroit.

Browns had an easy time downing Boston. Bob Harris limited the Sox to nine hits, Roger Cramer's single driving in their only runs.

Rip Radcliff of the Browns got a double in five times at bat and fell behind Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees in their close race for the batting championship.

Little Hawks in Stiff Drills For Game With Wilson High

Coach Cormack Uses Same Backfield As in Opener

With a 38-0 victory over Lone Tree under their belts, Coach Herb Cormack's Little Hawks this week settled down to some stiff practicing in preparation for their tussle with Wilson high of Cedar Rapids here Saturday night.

In last night's drills Cormack used the same backfield that started last week's game and altered the line only a little. Absent were first-string tackle Forrest (Spanky) Brodgers and reserve end Louis Jenkinson. Both of these men were ill, but are expected to be in shape for Wilson.

In the opener with Lone Tree Cormack was handed a treat when he saw his boys toss and complete several passes for substantial gains—something that's been a novelty around City high for several seasons. At the same time, however, the Little Hawks' running attack was effective and accounted for a big part of the final tally. With Bert Miller and Paul Ware picking them up and laying them down around end and with Jack Fetig, John Schuppert and Bob Towell jinking up yards through the line, it would appear that Cormack's backfield problems will be few and far between this year. In the line, weight and speed is abundant and the reserve problem is gradually being solved with new men getting the hang of things.

Iowa City meets a formidable foe in Wilson Friday night. Although Coach Bill Barnard's men have not had any scheduled tilts yet this season, the Parlor City Ramblers took Anamosa on in a practice game last Saturday. Wilson's Monday drills consisted mainly of passing, pass defense and kickoff formation work. Tuesday the Ramblers scrimmaged for the last time before meeting the Red and Whites.

Tobin Stops Ex-Mates
BOSTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Jim Tobin pitched his first game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, his ex-mates, today and allowed only five hits as the Boston Bees won 4-1. The Bees rapped out nine safeties off Joe Bowman, one of them Chet Ross' 17th home run in the fourth with Max West on base. Ross also drove out two singles to lead the Bees attack.

Injuries Hit Irish
SOUTH BEND, Ind., (AP)—Casualties struck the Notre Dame grid camp yesterday as Coach Elmer Layden rounded up material for a blocking drill. Owen Evans, South Bend left halfback, was sent to the infirmary with a sprained ankle.

Pickups

By OSCAR HARGRAVE

There was once some worry about the fact that Iowa's Capt. Mike Enich might never get the recognition he deserved. The tackle who Coach Eddie Anderson classed as "The Best in The Country" is given tackle post on Francis Wallace's "Pigskin Preview" all-American team in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Which means that the experts have discovered Enich's all-around ability and are admitting it. Once a lineman is noticed he gets rated on his ability and is not apt to get squeezed out of the all-star combinations except on straight ability.

By "Squeezed Out" I mean the fate that often happens to a backfield man who plays consistently good ball all season, only to have his place stolen by somebody who has a big day in one of the big games. But a lineman isn't going to get so many of the headlines, not on the strength of a couple of plays at least. It's a matter of work over quite a period of time that brings your tackle or guard his recognition.

All of which is going to be in Enich's favor, for the consistency with which "Iron Mike" performs is amazing. He played all but 10 minutes of Iowa's seven major games in 1939, leading all Big Ten players in total minutes played, ahead of even Nile Kinnick and Minnesota's Win Pedersen. Not only that, but Enich is almost unannoyed in his ability to diagnose plays, never is caught flat-footed and, in most games, makes a terrifically high percentage of the tackles.

In other words, barring injuries, Enich is on his way to the top in football's hall of fame. A member of one of the midwest's probable top teams, surrounded by a capable array of linemen and able to take care of himself in any sort of a football game, the Hawkeye captain will rate high with any critical observer and, now that he has been noticed, he will be carefully eyed from the press boxes.

Wallace, the Preview's author, calls Kinnick his "Headache" of 1939, with Davey O'Brien getting the same rating for the year before. Neither was picked as the top back of his year in the preview, yet each stole the headlines.

Wallace picks Don Scott of Ohio State as 1940's number one offensive man, with Tom Harmon of Michigan, John Kimbrough of the Texas A&S and Milt Piepl of Notre Dame as other members of his all-American first team. As players who might steal the glory and become choice headaches for the guy who left them off his all-American, he names Reagan of Penn, Langhurst of Ohio State, Hargrave of Notre Dame and Mallouf of Southern Methodist.

Interestingly enough, Wallace states his belief that football will call for increasingly smart players, that the trend is toward elimination of the player who can't think out the plays. "Every player," says Wallace, "must in a sense be his own quarterback."

Purdue, Gophers Lead Gridiron Ticket Sales

Purdue and Minnesota are leading in University of Iowa football ticket sales as orders for tickets continue to arrive at a satisfactory rate, Charles Galther, ticket sales manager, said Wednesday.

Despite the orders, there are good seats available for each of the Hawkeye home games—Wisconsin is second in popularity and Illinois, final game of the season, third to date. Notre Dame ranks second to Minnesota among the road games, with Nebraska a close third.

Iowa has been allotted a section of 10,000 seats for the Minnesota and Notre Dame games, while 1,500 have been set aside by Nebraska, with 1,000 in reserve should the demand increase, Galther said.

Cards Crush Dodger Hopes With 14-7 Win

BROOKLYN, Sept. 18 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Dodgers 14 to 7 under a 17-hit bombardment today and mathematically eliminated Brooklyn from the National League pennant when Cincinnati conquered the Phils.

Johnny Mize contributed four singles and batted in six runs as the Redbirds mauled four Dodger pitchers.

Lon Warneke started for the Cardinals, but lasted only three innings during which he gave up five runs. Babe Phelps jolted him with a homer with the bases loaded in the first inning. Carl Doyle took charge in the fourth and got credit for the victory, although he too pitched a home run ball—to Dolph Camilli with one on in the eighth.

Joe Orengo hit for the circuit in the fifth off Hugh Casey, who was charged with the loss.

District Golf Meets Planned

First move toward a plan to qualify high school golf teams by districts for the state tournament will be made at the University of Iowa Sept. 28 when the 1940 title meet is held here.

Coach Charles Kennett said the tentative plan calls for five district meets to be held, with two teams qualifying in each district. Outstanding individuals whose schools were not represented by a full four-boy team also would be qualified for the final tourney.

Schools desiring to compete in the 1940 tourney must file entries with the Iowa High School Athletic association office in Des Moines by Sept. 27.

Iowa Coaches Still Stressing Speed In Signal Drills

Iowa's grid squad went through two long sessions on pass defense and offense yesterday, with the work proving that the aerial game isn't "What It Used To Be."

Clearly showing the effects of Tuesday's long sessions under a boiling sun, the Hawkeyes were sluggish and spiritless in the morning, but speeded up during the afternoon workout. In general the players seem to be rounding into condition, with a corresponding increase in the speed called for by the Eddie Anderson style of football.

There has, thus far, been a constant step-up in the speed of drills.

Of the passers used in yesterday's drills, Jim Youel appeared the most consistent in hitting his mark, with Bill Parker, sophomore end, his most regular target. Anderson concentrated on two teams during the passing sessions, using the remainder of the squad in signal drills.

Bill Green, who Anderson says may get a chance at the left halfback post, did some passing and continued to work under Nile Kinnick, his former teammate, during the morning practice. Green, however, is still working as a fullback during most of the signal drills.

Anderson stated yesterday that he still expects to hold some scrimmage sessions this week end. The Iowa coach says, that players would have time to recover from any possible bad effects of the rough work before the opener, against South Dakota, Oct. 5.

London is so full of royal refugees these days that, no doubt, when a commoner goes by everyone just naturally stops and stares.

7 Filed Informations Returned

Two Charged With Having Illegal Devices

Charges of Operating Motor Vehicles While Intoxicated Face Five

Seven of 14 county attorney's informations filed in district court last Saturday have been returned. Of those returned, two defendants are charged with illegal possession of gambling devices and five are charged with operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Four of the defendants have posted bonds.

Drivers charged with operation of a motor vehicle while intoxicated are John Adams, William E. Baker, Richard Verry, E. K. Martens and G. H. Olney. Olney is being held in county jail and each of the other four posted $500 bonds by order of Judge Harold D. Evans.

The charges of illegal possession of gambling devices were filed against Charles Gillam and Fred Schmidt, both of Oxford, as a result of raids conducted by state agents at Oxford on Aug. 20. These defendants each posted bond yesterday also.

According to the county attorney's informations, all of the cases of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated occurred during July and August with the exception of one which was on Sept. 1.

Hearings On Injunctions Set For Today

Vestermark Seeks Permanent Injunctions Against Operators

Hearings on County Attorney Harold W. Vestermark's applications for permanent injunctions against several Johnson county tavern operators accused of violating the Iowa liquor law will be held in district court at 9 o'clock this morning. Time was set yesterday by Judge James P. Gaffney.

Mr. Vestermark on Aug. 31 filed applications for temporary and permanent injunctions against six tavern operators accused of selling beer without a permit and selling intoxicating liquor by the drink. On Sept. 4, temporary injunctions were issued by the court against three of the tavern operators and hearings on the other applications were postponed until the September term of court convened.

Temporary Injunctions
Temporary injunctions were issued on Sept. 4, against Ernest J. and Edna I. Smith, proprietors of a tavern and filling station four miles east of Iowa City on highway No. 6; George Alberhasky, operator of the Sunset club located north of Iowa City, and Victor and Marge Oliva, operators of the Rivera tavern south of Iowa City on highway 218.

Permanent injunctions will be sought against these operators as well as against Arthur C. Nellie B., Merle and Dorothy Stimmel, operators of the Village tavern near the west Iowa City city limits; Don and Helen Alberhasky, operators of the Green Gables north of Iowa City, and Lee and Marie Schneider of Cosgrove.

The injunctions are asked on the basis of information secured by special agents working out of the county attorney's office for two weeks preceding the filing of the applications.

G. J. Novy Funeral Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the F. A. Brosch funeral home in Solon for George John Novy, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Zeit-hamel, 505 Kimball road, who died early yesterday morning at Mercy hospital following an operation. He had been a patient at the hospital for the past six weeks.

Born in Solon on March 29, 1929, he was a member of the Solon C. S. A. lodge.

Survivors include his parents and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Drahos and Mr. and Mrs. John Novy, all of Sheldon.

The Rev. Neil Swanson will officiate at the services and burial will be in the Oakland cemetery.

Grand Jury Returns Two Indictments

Two indictments were returned yesterday in the final report of the grand jury for the September term of Johnson county district court.

Defendants named in the indictments are Alvin T. Bales, charged with larceny of a motor vehicle, and Alberta Dodd, negroess, charged with assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. Both are in custody.

The grand jury yesterday inspected the county jail and the county home. Both were reported to be in good condition.

Members of the grand jury were A. H. Svoboda of Monroe township, foreman; A. S. Bane of Penn township, Henry Durst, Sha-

Democrats to Have Rally In Community Building Tuesday

John K. Valentine, Candidate for Governor, To Be Main Speaker

A democratic rally will be held in Iowa City next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Iowa City community building with John K. Valentine, democratic candidate for governor of Iowa, as principal speaker, it was announced yesterday by Atty. William J. Jackson, Johnson county democratic chairman.

Mr. Valentine said that, in addition to Valentine's address, all and Mrs. Leonard Henik, all of Mt. Vernon, and four brothers, James and Anton, both of West Branch, Joseph of Cedar Rapids and Frank of Buchanan. One daughter and his parents preceded him in death.

county democratic candidates will be introduced and will give short talks at the rally.

Valentine was elected to the Iowa senate in 1932 and served as a member and chairman of the Iowa state board of assessment and review from July 1, 1935, to Sept. 1, 1936. In November, 1936, he was elected lieutenant governor of Iowa.

The candidate was born in Okaloosa on Feb. 5, 1904, and graduated from the University of Iowa college of law in 1929. Following his graduation he went into law practice with his father, H. E. Valentine, at Centerville.

What became of that kid who knew all the answers in school? Oh, he was on a radio quiz program last night — and flopped terribly.

County Red Cross To Help Refugees

Members of the Johnson County Red Cross will begin work on their fifth quota of supplies to be sent abroad for war refugees.

An all-day meeting will be held today from 8 o'clock this morning to 4:30 in the American Legion rooms in the community building. Coffee will be served at the pot-luck luncheon at noon.

Registration Materials for Students Available

Registration materials for all liberal arts and commerce students may now be obtained in the south entrance of Macbride hall. Engineering and pharmacy freshmen obtain materials at the pre-registration meetings Monday at 8 a. m. in the auditorium of the electrical engineering building and pharmacy—botany building, respectively.

Registration materials for graduate students are obtainable in the office of the graduate college, room 116, University hall. Students should consult the head of their major department and dean of the graduate college.
