Fred Lazell, 'Grand Old Man' Of S. U. I. Journalism, Dead

Former Iowa Professor Dies In Des Moines

English-Born Newspaper Man, Teacher Came To Iowa City in 1924

Fred J. Lazell, the "grand old man" of journalism at the University of Iowa, died in Des Moines late yesterday of pneumonia. He was 72.

The man journalism students at Iowa affectionately came to call "Daddy" devoted his life to the expression medium of journalism. As a young man he practiced it. Until the condition of his health forced him to retire in 1937, he taught it.

Born in England Born in Colchester, England, he came to America when he was 19, settled in Adair county and Funeral Services Funeral services for Prof. Fred J. Lazell will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Trinity Episcopal church in Iowa City.

The pall bearers: Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, Prof. C. L. Sanders of the school of journalism, Prof. B. V. Crawford and Prof. M. F. Carpenter of the English department, Prof. George Martin of the botany department and Prof. E. L. Waterman of the college of engineering.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery. worked for a time on a farm near Greenfield.

Then he entered Iowa State college and graduated in 1895. He edited the college paper and the yearbook at Iowa State, and was assistant librarian, then librarian. He began reporting on the staffs of the Des Moines Leader, Des Moines News and the Register. Then he went to the Cedar Rapids Republican. He served as city editor, managing editor and then editor-in-chief of the Republican during his 29 years with that newspaper.

From 1910 to 1916 he was commissioner of parks and a member of the Cedar Rapids city council. He was a leader in park development.

He Comes to Iowa In 1924, when Iowa's school of journalism was organized, he came to Iowa City as a professor in journalism. Chiefly he taught the history and ethics of journalism, a course in typography—"the arts of printing and engraving"—and a class in community weekly newspapering.

In 1927, Professor Lazell was elected president of the American Association of Professors, Teachers and Instructors of Journalism. In 1931 he was named to head the American Association of Universities, Colleges and Departments of Journalism; he was reelected in 1932. He was acting director of the Iowa school for a time.

He edited the Iowa Publisher (earlier the Iowa Editor) for a ten-year period.

He practiced and taught journalism. (See LAZELL, Page 7)

'A Great Man ...'

Fred Lazell Made Friends, Knew His Students' First Names

Fred Lazell was a great man in many ways. He was a newspaper man of great ability, both as reporter and editor. He always worked at high pressure, turning out lots of good copy fast and meeting all kinds of situations with ability and in his stride. I still treasure some clippings from the editorial page of the old Cedar Rapids Republican which I made when he was writing two or three columns of editorial matter for it every day.

Fred (his friends were never allowed to call him "Mr." or "Professor") possessed a genuine literary skill. His native poetical quality, with an always lively fancy, gave form and color to much that he wrote. His four little books about the four seasons on the Cedar River have much the same admixture of nature lore, the delights of keen observation, and a love of words for what they can do that one finds in the essays of John Burroughs and Richard Jeffries. Many of us cannot help regarding Fred's little book "Isaiah as a Nature Lover" as we regard classics. His own love for the best literature was a passion, and I have known few men who could quote without effort as much of the great poetry as he could.

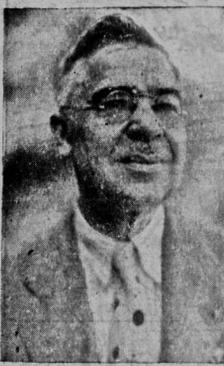

Loved Nature Fred loved nature with a true understanding. His knowledge of birds, especially, was exact and very extensive; and the many bird-walks which he led conferred pleasure on hundreds—perhaps thousands—of bird lovers. The School of Journalism owes much to Fred Lazell, who was one of its first faculty and certainly one of its founders. Few teachers ever made more friends among their students; he was genuinely interested in the personal problems of each one and called them all by their first names, while they commonly called him "Daddy." His scholarship was impressive especially in the fields of the early history of printing and the ethics of American journalism; and he built up a personal collection of books by the early printers superior to anything else in this region.

One cannot sum up so many-sided and rich a character as Fred Lazell. One can only miss him, and remember his admirable example of poise, optimism, and ever fresh interest in the world about him.

Japanese Fight French Troops

Second Attack Takes Place 12 Miles Inside Indo-China

HANOI, French Indo-China, Sept. 23 (AP)—Japanese troops in full war kit, seeking to carry out a "peaceful" agreement advancing their domination to south Asia, fought two battles with French forces last night and again today. The second attack was at mid-afternoon on positions of French Legionnaires and colonial infantrymen near Langson, 12 miles inside the Indo-China northern frontier, after Japanese planes twice had bombed the airfield there.

Outcome of the fighting was not known here late tonight, but one person was killed and two wounded in the bombing. The native population in Hanoi took to air raid shelters when Japanese planes crossed the frontier and caused alarms. French pursuit planes patrolled the capital.

The French were reported to have suffered 60 casualties in fighting last night at Dongdang, 90 miles north of Hanoi, when the Japanese attacked a border blockhouse. Langson is about 80 miles north of Hanoi in the same general sector.

Maj.-Gen. Issaku Nishihara, head of a Japanese mission which negotiated an agreement Sunday for a limited Japanese occupation of north Indo-China, sent emissaries to Dongdang and succeeded in getting the fighting stopped. In mid-afternoon the Japanese again attacked, however.

French officials classed as mistaken a Tokyo report that the French defenders fired first because they were not informed of the agreement.

They said the agreement did not provide for Japanese troops of the south China area to enter Indo-China. They said the entry of these troops was subject to a subsidiary agreement yet to be reached.

London Gives Nazi Raiders Hot Reception

King George Spurs Defenders by Words Of Encouragement

LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Defenders of London, spurred by words of encouragement and optimism from King George, gave German raiders a hotter than usual reception tonight as the city rocked with the explosions of anti-aircraft shells and nazi bombs for the 17th consecutive night. Ground batteries spewed up a hurricane of exploding steel that seemed to outdo anything heard heretofore and searchlights sought small groups of nazi raiders striking at London.

Guns threw up thousands of shells along the light beams at what sounded like heavy German bombers. The burst of distant bombs was heard above the incessant clatter of steel fragments raining down on central London rooftops.

Both explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped freely. Two bombs were dropped in southwest London by a lone raider. Other raiders were reported over Wales, northwest and southeast England.

To Londoners, who trooped into air raid shelters like actors playing a grimly well-rehearsed part, it was another night of discomfort and little or no sleep.

Reflecting the confidence spoken earlier in the day by King George, the Croydon town council, which was meeting when the night sirens sounded, decided to carry on after the mayor announced spotters were on the roof.

Soon after sunset warning sirens heralded the approach of the raiders following three thwarted daylight attacks on the capital and a series of savage counter-assaults by the RAF on German invasion ports and inland industrial establishments.

The last previous alarm sounded at twilight when German planes roared over the heart of the city only to be scattered by British fighters. Bombs fell in western London during the second attack of the day, just after noon. The nazi, crossing the coast from three directions, failed to reach the city in their first foray soon after dawn.

An official announcement said British and German airmen finished off the daylight battles all even, each losing planes, although the pilots of seven British craft were reported safe.

While London retired under a canopy of death German night raiders also were reported in northwest and southeast England. As usual, London's formidable anti-aircraft barrage flung up a reception of exploding steel.

Adjournment Plans Upset For Congress

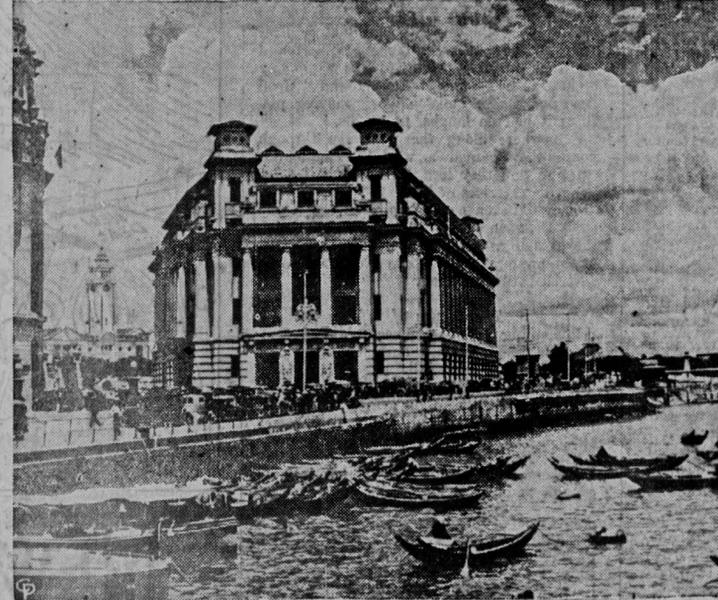

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Congress made so little headway on its remaining problems today that leaders almost gave up hope of adjourning by the coming week end, the goal they had set. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the democratic leader, said toward the end of the day that he did not believe the calendar could be completed in time.

Conferees on the excess profits tax bill, endeavoring to bring the intricate and differing measures passed by the two houses into uniformity, reported little progress toward a compromise.

The senate meanwhile became involved in a dispute over the house-approved Rumspeck bill, under which the president would be authorized to blanket some 200,000 employees of "temporary agencies" into the civil service, after non-competitive examinations.

Awaiting an opportunity to speak, Senator Burke (D-Neb) was ready with what he said would be a long address urging that the senate proceed instead to the consideration of the Walter-Logan bill to facilitate court appeals from decisions of government agencies.

Will U. S. Move Into Singapore With British?

Reports from Washington and London have stated that conversations are taking place which may result in the U. S. navy's obtaining use of the heavily-fortified British naval base at Singapore, above. With relations of the United States and Japan becoming more strained, such a move would give the American navy a first-class base much closer to Japan than any it now possesses.

Draftees Must Pass Rigid Physical Qualifications 'After Conditioning'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Selective service officials, working out the final details of the physical qualifications draftees will have to meet, laid down this general policy today: "Every man must be able to walk 15 to 20 miles, after due conditioning, with 50 pounds on his back."

"And emphasize that phrase, 'after due conditioning,'" Lieutenant Colonel Charles B. Spruit, medical officer of the selective service committee, told a press conference.

Spruit added that physical qualifications for the conscripts would be roughly the same as present army standards with a few minor changes. Conscripts five feet tall will be accepted, for example, whereas the army requires regular recruits to be 5 feet, 4 inches. No men will be accepted for limited service. Conscripts must be fully qualified to serve in any branch of the service after training.

Spruit compared the compulsory military program to the action of a farmer who stores a barrel of apples in his cellar for the winter, selecting only the best apples because he knows that even some of them will be found to have deteriorated when the time comes to use them.

"We are giving these men a year's training and putting them in storage 'against a day which, pray God, never comes,'" he said. "But if it does come, we want to start out with good apples."

Wendell L. Willkie Promises 'Positive Things ... More Jobs'

Republican Nominee Greeted by Cheering Portland Audiences

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23 (AP)—Wendell Willkie promised cheering Portland audiences today "positive things—more jobs," and popular determination of power distribution methods from Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams.

Discussing Bonneville and Grand Coulee, the republican presidential nominee told a crowd that filled the civic auditorium and a crowd listening from the streets that "I have more conception of the value of that $270,000,000 investment than all the new deal gang put together."

"I have some conception of what $270,000,000 means in concentrated sweat and labor of men. I shall protect the interest of the American people."

Delayed by clamoring crowds lining the streets and by two brief talks to suburban groups, Willkie drew a prolonged ovation as he strode out on the stage before the gigantic, American flag backdrop. Willkie told laboring men of the St. Johns district that "I am in favor of the national labor relations law. I am in favor of minimum wage laws and maximum hours because I have been a member of all classes—I have worked in steel mills, bakeries and other industrial plants."

"Because I've been in business, you hear some of these people who want to win an election by prejudice say that I am opposed to men who work. Nothing could be farther from the truth."

Parents Grateful For Return Of Kidnaped Child

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif., Sept. 23 (AP)—The parents of Marc de Tristan, Jr., are eager to meet and thank Cecil Wetzel, courageous lumberman who overpowered their baby's kidnaper, the Countess de Tristan said today.

"You can imagine how grateful we are to him. We have hardly had time to talk about it yet, but of course we would like to reward him for having been so brave and brought little Marc back to us."

The countess reported that her little son was "fine" today, though he was not quite back to normal. "He seemed a little nervous, and didn't sleep quite so soundly as usual. The crowds and the excitement would have that effect, but in a day or two, he'll be himself again I know."

John Barrymore Files Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23 (AP)—John Barrymore filed suit today to divorce Elaine Barrie, and to prevent her from "harassing" him or trying to enter his Beverly Hills mansion.

Barrymore, 57, charged his 24-year-old fourth wife had caused him "grievous mental suffering and great bodily injury," but did not say how, when or why he was injured.

Former Allies In Undeclared, Open Warfare

English Attack African Port in Preparation To Land Troops

VICHY, France, Sept. 23 (AP)—Open but undeclared warfare burst out today between the former allies, Britain and France, as British warships shelled the French West African port of Dakar preparatory to landing an expeditionary force.

The British forces were led by Charles de Gaulle, the French general who heads a movement for continuing the war against Germany and who, to the Vichy government, is a traitor already condemned to death.

The bombardment began at 2:15 p. m., and still was in progress at 10 p. m.

Trapped in Harbor The only one in West Africa which can receive large ships — were three French cruisers and three destroyers — 9 which had a brush with the British at sea Sunday. The Dakar radio station was hit but continued operating, and there were undetermined casualties.

Number and size of the British ships were not reported, but French government sources said they were packed with British troops ready for an effort to wrest the big colony from France.

French Foreign Minister Baudouin, who announced the battle, said France would not declare war on her former ally, but that she would "reply to force with force."

The situation is much graver than the July 3 battle of Oram, in which much of the French fleet was crushed by Britain, he said, and "wounded as she may be, France still is capable of defending herself and replying blow for blow."

"Massacre" (The German radio, in a broadcast heard in New York, described the shelling of Dakar as a "massacre" which lasted two hours. Reporting that its information came from Vichy, the radio said French cruisers, destroyers, submarines, and ammunition dumps and stores were covered by "a rain of shells.")

(The German broadcast predicted that reprisals would be taken against Englishmen still in France, and mentioned that British yachts still cruised the Mediterranean coast of France, (See VICHY, Page 8)

British Planes Blast Berlin

Bomb Capital For Four Hours Despite Anti-Aircraft Barrage

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (Tuesday) (AP)—Low-flying British planes subjected Berlin to its longest air raid lasting almost four hours early today, dropping bombs in mid-town despite the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage yet thrown overhead here.

One fire glowed in the sky toward Moabit in northwestern Berlin which is a region of factories and workers' homes. Authorities did not estimate the number of raiders, but insisted few succeeded in penetrating the city's outer defenses.

Millions huddled in shelters underground heard the savage defense batteries pounding and the hum of motors above.

Tracer bullets streaked into the sky amid bursting shrapnel but apparently none of the attacking planes was brought down as they flew incessantly over the city.

Searchlights were used sparingly in the defense. The alarm lasted three hours and 47 minutes.

There were no immediate reports of damages. Deadly air battles over England cost the British 21 planes to Germany's five in the unceasing continuation today and tonight of "full strength" raids on bomb-battered London, authorized nazi sources declared.

Already, the Germans said, they have set in the heart of the British capital "tremendous fires" vis- (See BERLIN, Page 8)

F. R. Puts Draft Into Effect

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt put America's first peacetime draft into effect today, prescribing minutely detailed rules to guide an army of civilians in handling the conscription of men for the nation's expanding armed forces.

The chief executive called on the 48 state governors for their "every help."

In identical letters, he wrote them: "The procurement and training of our manpower under proper administration, fairly and without fear of favor, is undoubtedly the most important single factor in our entire program of national defense."

He asked them to set up the selective service system in their states and to submit to him immediately the names of those they wish as state draft directors and members of local classification and selection boards.

A national director of selective service probably will be nominated in a few days, White House officials said.

All these appointments must be made to complete a nation-wide organization for registration Oct. 16 of men from 21 to 36—and the selection of 400,000 immediately for a year's military training.

The president signed a 61-page executive order making effective two volumes of draft rules. Additional volumes will follow.

The purpose of selective service, the order said, was to "secure an orderly, just and democratic method whereby the military manpower of the United States may be made available for training and service in the land and naval forces of the United States with the least possible disruption of the social and economic life of the nation."

Basically, the conscription program will fall into three parts: (1) an inventory, through registration, of manpower; (2) a determination of the relative availability of registrants for military service; and (3) induction into the land and naval forces.

Heading the program, and responsible to the president, will be the national director.

Under him will be state headquarters in charge of state directors, recommended by the governors and responsible to them. (See DRAFT, Page 8)

Mr. Willkie and the Egg

We've heard of mud throwing in political campaigns. But the flinging of an egg is a new one on us. A Modesto, Cal., baker hurled one at Presidential Candidate Wendell Willkie as his special train drew to a halt in that town.

A precedent of sorts was set upon that occasion, and should a similar affair occur in a different state, authorities will have certain bases for punishing the offender.

The privilege of tossing an egg at Wendell Willkie in California cost the baker 30 days in the county road camp.

The conditional status of the egg was not reported. We are unable to determine, therefore, whether the sentence would have been longer or shorter had the egg been better or worse.

We merely have to deal in generalities.

Whether the egg was a hen's, a duck's or some other fowl's likewise isn't known. That, too, may have had a bearing upon the case.

At least the episode wasn't very complimentary, it would seem, to California's citrus fruit industry, and we are led to wonder what would have happened if Willkie had paused to speak in a sand-flat watermelon district in Missouri.

The condition of California roads enters the picture somewhere, in relation to Willkie, the baker, the egg and the sentence, as well as the condition of California's county road camps.

Now it would be interesting to determine, if we only had some practical bases upon which to work, the exact standards of American democracy in this instance as it compares with democratic and totalitarian governments elsewhere in the world.

What would have happened in Germany, for instance, if someone had heaved an egg at Adolf Hitler as he stepped from the Wilhelmstrasse? Or in England, with King George as the target?

It's a matter of purely personal conjecture.

But American democracy is to be congratulated because such a thing (an egg's being thrown at the possible head of a government) could happen here.

We must assume in this instance, of course, that the egg actually was thrown at Willkie. All we know for certain is that it struck the rear of the railway car from which he spoke and splattered over the top of the speaking platform.

Again, the problem is one of personal opinion. Depends largely upon whether you're a democrat or a republican. If you're a democrat: the egg was thrown at Willkie. If you're a republican: it was the work of an unrestrained pigeon.

It is our sincere hope that none of our readers will attempt to find any political significance in these remarks. We shall leave the significance of the egg chapter itself to political experts—such stalwarts as Harold Ickes, who doubtless will insist that Mr. Willkie laid the egg in Albuquerque.

Catching Midwest Nazi Agents

The International Association of Chiefs of Police is on the job. They've warned that civilians may save lives and assist police officials in the handling of bombs, suspected bombs and explosives by following one simple rule:

Don't touch the suspected package or object, but notify officials trained to handle such cases. There are lots of kinds of bombs. Some explode when you open the package. Some explode when you immerse them in water. You can never tell about a bomb.

The foregoing advice demonstrates the extent to which we're becoming cautious these days about anything that has to do with any phase of un-Americanism.

But the closest-to-home example came to light here last week end. It actually happened in a Missouri theater. One of the theater's affiliates, in Iowa City last week, told the story.

With each change of picture, the management checks the running time of the feature and short subjects during the first afternoon's performance.

Not long ago an excited lady came rushing from the darkened theater, looking for the manager. The news reel was just finished.

There was a nazi agent in the front of the theater, she said. She had seen him taking notes on the American guns in the news reel. What she had seen was a perfectly harmless theater employe jotting down the running time of the short subjects. But with cooperation like that, nazi agents in America had better look out.

Living Out-of-Bounds

Day after tomorrow, at 7:50 a. m., students and faculty will gather on the west approach to Old Capitol to quietly mark the opening of a new academic year.

It's a simple but impressive ceremony as the president administers the oath of fealty to new and returning students.

It's a ceremony that means exactly what you make it.

We have stood on the green westerly slope of Old Capitol, while the sun's rays pierced down through foliage glowing with the first tints of fall, and watched a few wizened ones scuff at the proceedings.

Because in it they saw nothing tangible they might take away.

Life's Exteriors

They were the ones who graduated, after their college careers, without having found the time to hear the St. Louis symphony orchestra. They would have found "Good Bye, Mr. Chips" an "empty" moving picture; it had no laughs, no thrills.

Somewhere along the pathways through youth they gained a worldly, emotionless exterior, and they lost the ability to see beyond the exteriors of life.

They'll never be as happy as those who enjoy their emotions without being emotional, the ones to whom the walk from East hall to the armory is more than a distance to be covered between classes.

The Cynics of Life

Something had to replace inhibited emotions in those wizened ones. Cynicism and scepticism filled the bill.

That's why they didn't appreciate the oath of fealty; they were cynical about such things, skeptical of any value they might possess. They couldn't put it in their pockets.

But pockets aren't big enough to hold enough to make living worth while.

A Man About MANHATTAN

San Juan, Where National Defense Is Holding Sway—

By GEORGE TUCKER

SAN JUAN, P. R.—The defense program has given new energy and drive to life in San Juan. This is to be the principal link in a defensive chain of air and naval bases that stretches from Newfoundland to beyond Panama.

You drive along the streets and you see a line of big army tanks. Farther on you see a row of big army tents. Under each of those tents is a 155 mm. gun. You look out over the harbor and your eye picks up a squadron of new destroyers, gray and low-lying in the water. They patrol this part of the ocean ceaselessly.

Just now I stood under a coconut tree and watched four great naval seaplanes alight in the harbor. A few hundred yards away an army bomber came in from somewhere out of the summer skies. Dive bombing practice, probably. You see interceptor and fighter planes roaring into the air. They are small and seem like silver wasps in the sun. They get into the air with incredible speed.

The construction of landing fields and the army airdromes is being pushed 24 hours a day. You can't get into these fields unless you have the proper credentials. But all night long you can hear the hammering and see the lights where the men are at work. Sometimes at night you can hear the dull boom and then the high, shrill whistle, or scream, of the big shells in flight. Coastal batteries in night practice. Everyone talks about the trial black-outs, with which all of Puerto Rico is accustomed itself. These blackouts last 45 minutes.

This morning I had the pleasure of flying over the island and out over the great naval harbor in the Caribbean. My pilot was E. W. Hadley, chief of the forest service, Department of Agriculture. We curled back over San Juan, which looks like a jagged reef from the air, then turned inland and climbed through a cloud-pocket, over the mountains, and out into the clear on the other side. The blue of the Caribbean was indescribable. We went on until we came to Monkey Island, a small island out into the sea where a Russian and his wife live alone with 600 monkeys. This Russian is a scientist. His work is in connection with the School of Tropical Medicine. We dove down low over the island, sat up on one wing, and slowly circled it. One end was densely forested with coconut trees. We could see the monkeys move like droves of small dogs.

Puerto Rico has no lakes but has a river with headwaters in the mountains. Hadley explained that American-bred rainbow trout had been introduced into the headwaters of this river and were doing wonderfully. He said also that despite claims that there are no snakes in Puerto Rico, he personally has found boa constrictors eight feet long in the hills. The reason there are supposed to be no snakes on the island is that some time ago a number of mongooses were imported to clean them out. The mongooses prospered and run wild.

Even over the highest ranges of the mountains you are impressed by the many dwellings. Puerto Rico isn't very large—perhaps a hundred miles long and 30 to 40 wide. So every inch of space is valuable. This island is one of the most densely populated in the world. They have a saying here that every time anyone takes a deep breath a couple of Puerto Ricans are pushed off into the sea.

Defense Program And U. S. Socialism

WASHINGTON—Not all the defense money is going for defenses. The appropriations apparently are being stretched to cover just about every phase of government activity under the sun, not the least of which is reelection of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term.

No less an authority than defense commissioner Harriet Elliot herself contributes an official line in the elegant new weekly pictorial magazine issued by the N D C at government expense. It is printed on the best glossed paper, contains as good photographs as any privately-owned pictorial magazine. A recent issue contained a foreword by Miss Elliott saying defense not only means planes, guns and such military things, but:

"It means maintaining the health and physical fitness of our people, furthering their economic well being and security, preserving and increasing the benefits of our democratic way of life... every undernourished family, every person who is ill or who is without proper medical care, every person living under crowded, unhealthy, unsanitary conditions is as truly a weak spot in the nation's defenses as an unguarded point on the coastline... eliminate malnutrition, provide adequate housing facilities and emphasize those aspects of social welfare which will insure the nation a people physically and mentally fit to meet their defense responsibilities."

THE CAMPAIGN

The use of the national defense program as campaign material has been more directly attempted in a recent speech by Madame Perkins, the labor secretary. She told the Illinois State Federation of Labor what a boon the administration was bringing to labor. It would create "4,400,000 man-years of labor," the lady, who has spent eight woman-years in the cabinet, allowed.

Nor is the public works branch unmindful of the political hay in the defense effort. It has published an elegant and expensive booklet containing photographs of battleships and planes as if it built them. The text of the book "Millions for Defense," however, reveals only that in the past seven years, over a billion dollars of what was then thought to be relief money, was actually spent by PWA for national defense, no doubt in the knowledge that Hitler would overrun France and threaten our security this year.

PROGRESS AIRING

The technique is to be extended to the airways. Mr. Roosevelt himself has asked Wythe Williams, a commentator, to tell the world weekly how the national defense commission is progressing. One of the broadcasting companies thought this move had such political intonations, it would decline to swallow the suggestion and refuse free time for it. The declination will no doubt prove to be only momentary as the Federal Communications Commission has such powers over radio operation as to make the doubtful company appreciate—upon reflection, that such a program would be a true public enterprise.

MOVIE PROPAGANDA

Best of all, however, is a government movie being prepared now to advertise the old Tennessee Valley project as a defense endeavor. The matter is being kept somewhat quiet until congress gets out of town, because congress once declined to appropriate funds for government propaganda movies. But a certain department of government has let its funds be used and the picture is expected to be completed shortly.

SOCIALISM GROWS

This does it because plain that the socializing era is not over, not even in abeyance, but is to proceed more expansively under the new defense billions appropriated by congress, and in step with progress toward war. "National defense" is only the new neon sign of the New Deal. Inside nothing is changed. Business is proceeding as usual, but expanding, everything from social welfare, federal concern with those who are ill, crowded and unsanitary. PWA, TVA, housing right down to the sweetest and most expensive publicity ever conceived in the mind of man.

Edgar Kennedy Is Burning—

By Robbin Coons
HOLLYWOOD—I never suspected it before, but Edgar Kennedy is really burning. Slowly, as usual, but surely.

Edgar was sitting on the sidelines of "The Quarterback" set, burning in lonely, unnoticed brilliance, and he was talking. Nobody could see the burn. All you saw was the ordinary Kennedy face, plain and open, that you see on the screen; above it, the growing baldness which is as familiar as the face.

"You know," Edgar began, "when I do that burn I'm really burning—I get sick of their making me do it."

Edgar's secret desire, his hope of escape from that gesture which made him famous, that slapping himself on the brow and wiping his face in exasperation, is to play the heavies. Heavies burn, but they can do it differently. They can twirl moustachios — but Edgar, here, hasn't even a toupee.

Well, haw'd the "slow burn" stuff start, Pagliacci. This way: He'd been looking for movie jobs and asking and asking at casting offices, and he'd heard was "Nothing today." He heard it so much one day that he burned. He slapped his brow, wiped his face slowly, shook with helpless rage.

And the caster cried: "Do that in a picture and we'll get you something sure!"

It did get him something, a job as a Keystone Kop and a chance to "slow burn" from that time on.

At that point in Edgar's recital came a voice from the set. "Ed, we're ready for you—this is where you get in there and burn up."

Edgar did a typical slow burn, very impressive, and walked on. "See?" he said, or words to that effect which had best not be carried here.

In the musicycle the band leaders are flocking to roosts in Hollywood. Kay Kayser is here for Shaw in "Second Chorus" with Fred Astaire and Paulette Goddard. Roger Pryor is in "Glamour for Sale" with Anita Louise, and talks of giving up orchestra-touring forever to be here with Ann Southern. Charles (Buddy) Rogers has a movie deal in prospect, while Orrin Tucker (and Bonnie Baker) dropped in to talk over their new musical, "You're the One"...

And that's to say nothing of Astaire, who in "Second Chorus" leads an orchestra by tap-dancing, of Albert Dekker, who is to play at orchestra - leading in "You're the One."

John Barrymore, even at this late date, still can rhapodize over the fine qualities of a landlady during his early New York days, to wit: "A marvelous woman, truly... Never asked for a cent... Inasmuch as she never did, I always paid her on the nail - when I had money!"... Isn't there somewhere in that a tip for the Barrymore creditors - for whom he says he made "The Great Profile?"

The BOOK-PARADE

From the first Stong forces the reader to forget that his book is obviously a journalistic stint. This I claim is no mean accomplishment. Through ability to tell a trenchant tale, through a constantly sparkling sense of humor (which only occasionally skips in to the merely-clever), through vast energy and interest in his subject, Stong manages to infuse his "Biography of the State of Iowa" with a sense of the "real Iowa."
It is impossible to doubt that Stong has known first-hand the acrid smell of an Iowa barn on a rainy summer morning, has "bluffed a B. A. out of Drake," participated in crackerbarrel forums in his uncle's general store, indulged in art talk with the best Iowa artists, and held "watch" with Herb Rees for a brother in Masonry.
Add up the mass of trivia and cogent facts which make up "Hawkeyes" and the sum is undeniably Iowa. It seems to me that Stong has presented a sturdier portrait of the real character of Iowa in this book than in his many too-rapidly-produced novels.
One can cavil with Stong over some of his pronouncements. He calls Edgar Lee Masters a "promising poet at one time" forgetting, I believe, the impact of Master's two really great books, to say that Ruth Suckow "writes like a nun in hell" may be brilliant, but one cannot help questioning both meaning and validity of such a statement. His appreciation of Paul Engle is genuine, but his critical sense gives way to mere journalistic cleverness when he says "He is Walt Whitman's little boy who has just come back from grade school"; there is more to Engle than that. Serious also, is the omission of the name of Edwin Ford Piper under whose watchful eyes Engle, Krause, and Steger developed. And why the omission of Jay Sigmund whose tales of the Wapsipicon are real rural Iowa?
Nevertheless, Phil Stong's book is a valuable contribution to a more thorough comprehension of the Middle West.

Autumn Temperature Stays Near Normal

Iowa city's temperatures were at normal levels yesterday, according to readings reported last night by the weather bureau climatological station.

Cloudy skies and intermittent showers during the morning were responsible for the cooler readings. High mark was 76 degrees, the same figure as the normal mark. Low for the day was 63 degrees, somewhat above the 50-degree normal low.

A total of .02 of an inch of rain was recorded bringing the total for the year to 21.93 inches. Normal fall for thus far this year is 27.45 leaving a deficiency in rainfall of 5.42 inches.

Campus Styles Make Cardigan Necessary

Can you exist without a cardigan? Campus syles say no, not this year. Make it pastel blue or rose or gold; make it flaring red or deep wine or lush, tropical green; make it a classic natural or a soft white. But above all, make it a cardigan.

Iowa's Early State Militia Governor Lucas Organized Men to Keep Out Warlike Indians

Militia musters were not new in the Iowa region a century ago as pompous officers tried to teach military precision to shambling backwoodsman.

With congress now calling out units of the national guard for intensive training, Hugh E. Kelso of the University of Iowa political science department has investigated the history of militia in Iowa.

Militia Law

First militia law of the Iowa Territory was approved in January of 1839, under leadership of Governor Robert Lucas who urged creation of troops to defend the region from "hordes of warlike Indians occupying our northern and western boundaries."

The law provided for infantry, light infantry, riflemen, artillery-men and dragoons or mounted riflemen, Kelso found. The forces were to be divided into divisions, brigades, regiments, battalions and companies.

Official Orders
"Sweating officers belloyed bewildering orders to their poorly-clad soldiers as they tramped the village streets. Meanwhile their fellow citizens looked on with small pride as husbands and sons, fathers and brothers wheeled through the devious steps prescribed in the military manual," Kelso said.

The governor's ambitious plans, however, never quite developed into maturity. There were only 25,000 inhabitants in the entire Territory and the organization of troops for many years was a loose one.

University Y. W. C. A. Offers Varied Activities for All S. U. I. Women

From poster making to reading to children, from knitting to arguing world affairs—the university Y.W.C.A. offers varied activities to appeal to every interest of S.U.I. women.

Community service work, editing the Y.W.C.A. paper, discussion groups that touch on about every subject, an education program on personal relations in religion and marriage are only a few more of the Y.W.'s fields. Favorite with many university women is the position of acting as office hostess.

Open at all times is the Y.W.C.A.'s office in Iowa Union. And ready for conferences with university women, especially newcomers, are the members who act as hostesses and the local Y.W.C.A. secretary, Mrs. James Youtslar.

Conferences with every new arrival, freshmen and transfers alike, are planned by the Y.W.-

Iowa Graduate Accepts Job As Stewardess

Madelon M. Bailey of Moberge, S. D., a graduate of the University of Iowa's school of nursing, has accepted a position as air stewardess for United Air Lines.

Miss Bailey entered the local school in 1932, getting her degree in 1935.

After becoming a registered nurse, she engaged in private duty at Rochester, Minn., and in March of this year she went to Tacoma, Wash. to become supervisor of the pediatric ward in St. Joseph's hospital there.

Miss Bailey, 24, was trained in the United Air Line's stewardess school since August.

Feather in Your Cap

Calot caps that took high school girls by storm not so long ago are back to capture their older college sisters. Corduroy proves the popular fabric. Don't forget that feather either; it must be long and very, very gay.

Patricia Slezzer, A4 of Freeport, Ill., president; Betty Adington, A4 of Des Moines, vice president; Mary Ellen Hennessy, A4 of Council Bluffs, secretary, and Mrs. Floyd Mann, A4 of Iowa City, treasurer.

Claude Passeau Wins 20th Victory for Cubs

Limits Cards To Four Hits In 10-0 Game

Gleason, Passeau, Russell, Nicholson Hit Round-Trippers

CHICAGO Sept. 23 (AP)—Claude Passeau, veteran right-hander, turned in his 20th victory for the Chicago Cubs today, limiting the St. Louis Cardinals to four hits in a 10 to 0 triumph. Passeau, in recording his fourth shutout of the season, hurled hitless ball for five innings. No runner reached base. Jim Gleason started the scoring with a homer in the second. In the third Passeau clouted a home run, first by a cub pitcher this season. Then Stan Hack walked. Rabbit Warster doubled, Bill Nicholson singled and Glen Russell homered, giving the Cubs a 6 to 0 lead. The Cubs added four more in the sixth. Clyde McCullough walked. Bob Mattick singled, and Passeau walked to fill the bases. Warster scored McCullough on an outfield fly and Nicholson drove in the other two with his 28th home run.

Regulars Back On Gopher Team

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 23 (AP)—Five demoted regulars were restored to first-team standing today as Coach Bernie Bierman lined up a prospective starting lineup for the Minnesota Gophers against University of Washington next Saturday afternoon. Dick Wildung, Bill Kusisto, Gordie Paschka, Bill Johnson and Gene Bierhaus are the fallen stars now back in Bierman's good graces. Only one drill was held by the Gophers today and it was announced there would be no further scrimmage during the week. Purdue Gets Set LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Reports of Butler's strong defensive showing against St. Joseph's Saturday caused Coach Mal Elward to step up the tempo of Purdue's football practice session yesterday. The Boiler-makers open their season against Butler Saturday.

Tigers Face Trouble-Makers Chicago White Sox Invade Briggs Stadium With Heavy Series Advantage

DETROIT, Sept. 23 (AP)—A game ahead with five games to play in the American league pennant scramble, Detroit's Tigers have an especially difficult job to do before they go to Cleveland Friday to start the flag-deciding three-game series with the Indians. Chicago's White Sox, season-long trouble-makers for the Tigers who have won only seven of the 20 games between the teams this year, come into Briggs stadium tomorrow for a two-game stand. This short series, coupled with the two games Cleveland must play against the St. Louis Browns, could alter the pennant picture completely in two days. It could change Detroit's one-game lead to a one-game margin for the Indians, or it could put the Tigers virtually out of Cleveland's reach. Chicago has won 10 of its last 11 games from Detroit, and Manager Jimmy Dykes has indicated he will send Thornton Lee and John Duncan Rigney, two of his pitching aces, against Detroit here. The Tigers will pitch Buck Newsom, who still is seeking his 20th victory of the season, tomorrow, but who will start the second game is undecided. Despite an open date, there was no letdown in the Tiger camp today. Manager Del Baker had the players at the stadium this morning for an extended batting practice. There were no recriminations over Sunday's loss to Bob Feller in a battle of home runs here. "We had knocked off Cleveland five times in a row and they were about due to win one," one Tiger commented. One local puzzle left over from Sunday's game is why the Tigers can't play better baseball when Briggs stadium is jammed. Capacity crowds of more than 55,000 have filled the place four times this year, and on three of the occasions the Tigers have shown mediocre play. Only on the Fourth of July, when Detroit split a doubleheader with Cleveland before an all-time stadium record crowd of 57,633, were the Tigers able to play excellent ball before packed stands.

Bob Feller 'Clears Things Up' About His Physical Condition

just what you see. I wouldn't pitch an inning if I didn't think I was in shape—if I couldn't do the team or myself some good. When I'm not ready to pitch, I say so." Expecting to go after his 28th victory Friday when Detroit comes here for the season's final three games, Feller wasn't feeling too badly about his fading chances for 30 victories. "The pennant's all I care about," he said bluntly. "My job is to win one more game. I'll think about the world series when the time comes." Elsewhere in the tribal camp, meanwhile, the situation was a little different. Catcher Rollie Hemsley sat at home waiting for a bruised hip to get better and refusing to be optimistic about his chances of getting into the two-game series with St. Louis starting tomorrow. First baseman Hal Trosky remained in bed with an ice pack on his bruised leg, "down but not out." Manager Oscar Vott said Mel Harder or Johnny Allen would start against the Browns tomorrow. And outfielder Ben Chapman, happy over collecting three hits Sunday, predicted "we'll win six straight this week"—a pretty good trick for a team with only five left to play. Only other important development was the Cleveland News' selection of its world series slogan contest winner, a dimpled 23-year-old stenographer who suggested "Our Indians—With No Reservations." She's never seen a major league game.

Pirates Stop Reds, 12 to 9

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Pirates stopped Joe Beggs' nine game relief winning streak today and won their first series from the champion Reds by taking the odd game 12 to 9, the windup of the season at Forbes field. After the Reds shelled Joe Bowman from the mound in the first inning with a four run rally, the Pirates came back in the third and sent Paul Derringer to the showers by scoring five runs with the aid of a pair of errors and a walk. The big Cincinnati hurler was seeking his 21st victory. The bat of Pep Young sparked the Pirates to victory. After the Reds had tied the score in the fourth when Billy Myers hit a home run with one on base, and added another in the sixth, Young pounded out his fourth hit, a single, with the bases loaded in the seventh to put Pittsburgh ahead. Young had two singles, a double and a triple and drove in four runs, while Vince DiMaggio also sent home four runners with his two timely singles. Debs Garms, leading batter of the league, was set back five times without a hit.

Yanks Reject Brooks BROOKLYN, Sept. 23 (AP)—A proposed post-season series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees has been rejected by President Ed Barrow of the Yanks, it was announced today. Larry MacPhail, president of the Dodgers, proposed the series last week, but Barrow withheld a reply hoping the four-times world champions would repeat in the American league. They still have a mathematical chance.

Camilli's Homer In Ninth Beats New York, 3-2

BROOKLYN, Sept. 23 (AP)—Dolph Camilli, always dangerous, blasted a ball into the center-field stands in the ninth inning today for his 23rd home run and brought the Brooklyn Dodgers a 3 to 2 victory over the New York Giants. The centerfield stands are 399 feet from home plate and Camilli's tremendous clout landed high in the second tier. The Giants were held to seven hits by four pitchers, but got a run in the first and another in the sixth before the Dodgers finally dented Hal Schumacher with two runs in the eighth on a walk, Pete Soscarart's triple and a fly. Tex Carleton got credit for the victory by pitching the ninth inning and turning in an unassisted double play with the bases loaded.

Ken Pettit Heads Catching Department As 3rd Week Starts

The aerial game was the most important item yesterday as Dr. Eddie Anderson and his Iowa gridiron squad began their third week of practice with two long drills on passing and pass defense. Show Improvement In fact, the gridgers spent practically all of both morning and afternoon sessions in aerial and signal drills, showing improvement over the earlier passing practice in percentage of completions. Tom Farmer and Jim Youel, both sophomores, alternated at the left halfback post and each completed a number of tosses, with the veteran Ken Pettit rambling out from his end position to grab a good share of the passes. Due partly to the press of registration, which made a number of players late to practice, Anderson did considerable shifting in his lineups on both first and second teams. Oops Gillett moved up to the first string to take over right halfback, while Art Johnson, sophomore line plower, worked every backfield position but quarterback and Wilford Burkett, recently moved up to the first string, continued to hold down the right end post opposite Pettit. Although none of the players suffered serious injury in last week's scrimmages, Anderson expressed doubt as to the chances of any more contact work before the opening game against South Dakota, nearly two weeks away. Only names on the casualty list, and neither of them nursing serious troubles, were Bus Mertes and Gerald Ankeny. Mertes, sophomore right halfback, has a slight shoulder injury, while Ankeny, veteran reserve quarterback, has a lame ankle. Both confined their workouts to jogging about the field yesterday.

Chisox, Cubs To Meet Oct. 1 CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP)—The 23rd city championship series between the Chicago White Sox of the American league and the Chicago Cubs of the National league will open Oct. 1, it was decided today at a meeting of club officials with Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner. The first two games, scheduled for Oct. 1 and 2, will be played at Wrigley field, with the Oct. 3, 4 and 5 games at Comiskey park. If the sixth and seventh games are needed they will be played at Wrigley field, the Cubs home park, Oct. 6 and 7. The Oct. 3 and Oct. 5 games will be night contests scheduled to start at 8:15 (CST). All afternoon games will start at 1:30 p.m. (CST).

Youel, Farmer Throw Passes

The double workout schedule ends tomorrow for the Hawkeyes, who start classes Thursday. Coach Eddie Anderson, who has sent the squad through two furious weeks of training already, says he is well satisfied with the physical condition and with the progress of the new men. South Dakota, Iowa's opponent in the opener Oct. 5, whipped Dakota Wesleyan Saturday, 20 to 6. The Coyotes, rated as stronger this year than last, meet Nebraska State Teachers of Wayne this week end. Francis Schmidt and his Ohio State Buckeyes claim the "Bad Luck" championship of the Big Ten, despite the fact that they won the title last year—were accused of backing into it, in fact, when Iowa was tied by Northwestern and missed a tie for the west by a few percentage points. The Buckeye claim comes largely out of the fact that Schmidt's teams have twice missed the title because of one-point defeats. Illinois was the villain in 1934, grabbing a 14-13 decision to account for the only defeat marked up against Ohio State that year. In 1936 Northwestern hung a like flaking, by the same score, on the Bucks, knocking them out of the title again. Other examples that can be mentioned are the fact that in 1935 the Bucks piled up a perfect Big Ten record in 1935, only to have Minnesota win all its games and share the title. In the same year, the Bucks lost a heart-breaker to Notre Dame to miss a chance at a national championship. Then you can add another one-point loss in 1937, to Southern California in a 13-12 game at Los Angeles.

Warren's Hits Give Phillies Split With Bees

BOSTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—Ben Warren gave the Phillies an even split with the Bees today when he belted Manuel Salvo for a pair of home runs in the opener, which the visitors gained 6-2 behind Johnny Podgajny's six-hit pitching. In the nightcap, Tom Early limited the Phillies to three hits while hurling the Bees to an 8-0 shutout. Despite Warren's slugging, the Phillies went into the ninth leading 3-2. With two out and Johnny Rizzo on third, Lefty Joe Sullivan, who relieved Salvo, was ordered to fill the bases by passing Bob Bragan and Warren, to work on Podgajny. The latter singled in Rizzo and then Harry Marrie clinched the game with a two-run drive. The Bees belted the veteran Hugh Mulcahy for 11 hits in the second game, including triples by Chet Ross and Ray Berres, and registered three-run rallies in the first and seventh frames. Pressbox Pickups By OSCAR HARGRAVE Iowa's football coaches leave no stones unturned in their search for material, especially around the practice field. In one afternoon one can discover a dozen samples of odd-time drill around the squad. Charles Tollefson, for instance, was doing a little kicking yesterday—there's no reason to expect that Tolly will leave his guard post, but it doesn't hurt to try out a lineman on the various jobs delegated to the backs. Then there were as many as seven or eight of the backs tossing a few passes and any one of about six might throw for the Hawkeyes. Besides the generally accepted list of four triple-threaters, Bill Green, Al Coulee, Art Johnson and a couple others can handle the pigskin with a fair degree of accuracy. Also, Bruno Andruska, Tom Hand and Bob Lauterbach, all centers, working out together and taking turns at being the backfield. Frank Carideo and Jim Harris conquered the freshman coaching staff of Bill Hofer and Nile Kinnick in a kicking game yesterday but it wasn't without a struggle. Carideo, who can still boot them 60 yards or better, does most of the umpiring and rule-making and Harris leads the varsity staff cheering section—as added duties. Object of the game is to punt across the foe's goal posts, but the opponent can nullify the score by batting the ball back across like a volleyball player. The ball must be kicked from where the enemy's kick is stopped. Surprisingly enough, Harris, who played guard at Notre Dame, can boot them about 50 yards, although he lacks the accuracy of Carideo, Hofer and Kinnick, all rated as top-notch kickers. The double workout schedule ends tomorrow for the Hawkeyes, who start classes Thursday. Local Youth Captured In Railroad Yards

James William James, Fled State Hospital, Caught in Perry

PERRY, Sept. 23 (AP)—James William James, 18, of Iowa City and Kenneth Reynolds, about 25, of Dubuque, who escaped from the Woodward state hospital at 12:15 a.m., were captured in the Milwaukee railroad yards here this afternoon.

The two inmates were taken into custody by hospital attendants Howard Cook and Ward Spencer and Chief of Police Lew Stanley of Perry.

The capture was effected only after Cook and Spencer had fought with the inmates, the former suffering scalp lacerations when he was hit by a railroad spike.

James and Reynolds were seen leaving Woodward on a freight train by the hospital attendants who called Perry police and then followed by car. Stanley arrived at the railroad yards as the fight started and arrested the inmates.

Earlier in the day the inmates had beaten and escaped from Marshal Norman Preston after he had halted them in Woodward.

The Woodward institution houses epileptic and feeble-minded patients.

Kidnaper May Be Slayer Of Mattson Boy

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (AP)—A lad who saw his young brother kidnaped in Tacoma four years ago by a man who later killed the child, flew to San Francisco today to see if Wilhelm Jacob Muhlenbroich, held in the De Tristan abduction, resembled that man.

William Mattson was accompanied by a federal agent on the plane trip to this city. He was 16 that day in Christmas week, 1936, when a swarthy foreigner with a hump-nose slipped into the house, snatched 10-year-old Charles Mattson, and left a ransom note demanding $28,000.

No Contact The family never saw Charles alive again. Fifteen days later his nude, beaten body was found in a snowbank. The ransom was not paid because the family could not contact the abductor.

Muhlenbroich was captured yesterday in the wild hills of Eldorado county as he fled with three-year-old Marc De Tristen Jr., only son of Count and Countess De Tristan of fashionable Hillsborough. The $100,000 kidnap demand had not been paid, although the family had offered it, and the little boy was returned laughing and unharmed to the home of his parents.

Today Muhlenbroich, held in an unrevealed place, was questioned by the best kidnap experts of the federal bureau of investigation. What they discovered remained undisclosed. But it was learned that they were most interested in some apparent resemblances between the man held here and the sketchy description of the kidnaper in the brutal Mattson case, one of the few unsolved kidnappings on the books of the FBI.

Tired FBI Agent Nat. J. L. Pieper, agent in charge of the FBI here, appeared thoroughly tired today, and obviously had had no sleep. His clothes were rumpled and a beard stubble showed on his face.

Pieper remained in his office suite throughout the day and some observers believed Muhlenbroich was being held there. Earl J. Connelly, chief investigative officer of the FBI, who headed the Mattson case manhunt, attended the questioning.

The FBI, in a statement authorized by Director J. Edgar Hoover, announced here that Muhlenbroich had confessed kidnaping the De Tristan boy and that the inquiry into the case would be continued, but he would not confirm that the accused man was being questioned about the Mattson abduction.

At Tacoma, Dr. William W. Mattson, father of Charles, said "I'm sure the FBI will put him (Muhlenbroich) through the mill. I have and always will rely on the FBI to clear up the case. I've never taken a defeatist attitude."

The description of the Mattson kidnaper placed him at middle age, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, 145 to 150 pounds, swarthy, with dark hair, and probably an Austrian or a Slavonian.

Legion Wants Strong Defense For Nation

BOSTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The American Legion was told tonight that progress was being made in a drive to speed up a $7,500,000,000 armament program, after the veterans opened their 22nd convention with demands for a strong national defense as "the surest way to keep our country at peace."

In a city given over to a noisy and colorful celebration by 250,000 Legionnaires and their families, William S. Knudsen, chairman of the National Defense Advisory committee, described difficulties besetting the vast preparedness program but declared his belief that "we will be able to come through."

His declaration came after the convention opened with a message from President Roosevelt, warning that he present "test of strength" abroad constituted a "threat against the people of the entire world." The chief executive asserted this country must protect its freedom against "any form of aggression."

National Commander Raymond J. Kelly sounded the keynote of the four-day meeting with his armament-for-peace assertion.

In urging the delegates to adopt a long-range program for "utilization of Legion personnel by the nation to meet any conceivable national emergencies," he said:

"There is every indication at present that eventual action will occur on the part of federal and state governments to plug the gaps existing in our internal and anti-subversive defenses. In such programs it is contemplated that certain definite assignments will be given the membership of the American Legion."

Lazell--

He practiced, too, and taught an appreciation of the natural world about us.

Keenly interested in the study of nature, his published works included a series of four books on the seasons in Iowa—"Summer on the Cedar," "Autumn on the Cedar," "Winter on the Cedar" and "Spring on the Cedar"—and a study on "Isaiah as a Nature Lover."

He contributed to magazines on nature subjects; he was frequently a member of the faculty of the McGregor wild life conference.

Injured in Fall In October, 1937, he was injured in a fall from a ladder at his home. Cerebral sclerosis developed, and he was ill for many months.

Forced to give up his teaching duties, he went to Des Moines to live with his son, Fred Lazell Jr., of the Des Moines Tribune staff.

He was a 32nd-degree Mason, Shriner, member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity; Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, and Pi Kappa Pi, honorary scholastic fraternity.

Survivors are the son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lazell Jr. of Des Moines. Mrs. Lazell died in 1927.

In 1931 the Iowa professor outlined his aspirations for the future:

"I expect to be happy in the study of journalism, birds, plants and people for the next 25 years," he said. "After that I propose to emigrate. I want to make a classification of the grasses, sedges, reeds and rushes around the shores of the Crystal sea. And, since the days there are 24 hours long, for there is no night, I shall continue the study of people among the angels and archangels."

"Think of the joy of listening to angelic solos and choruses without once being interrupted by static of satanic spiels on the radio programs, raucously advertising yeast cakes, life insurance, marked-down fur coats and slick soaps for sophisticated shaves."

That was Iowa's "Daddy" Lazell. Iowa won't forget a philosophy like that.

Writer Asserts Germany Has Been Forced to Share Initiative

Nazis Stand to Lose As Much From Raids as English

BY DEVON FRANCIS

Associated Press Aviation Editor
NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Two related events in the European war which may be regarded as significant from the standpoint of a nation on the defense have occurred in the last fortnight.

For the first time since the start of hostilities almost 13 months ago Germany has been forced to share the advantage of the initiative with the enemy, and,

Already the air warfare, which looks as if it would last through the winter, contains evidences that the nazis stand to lose as much, if not more, from the incessant raids than the British.

Seizing the initiative in widespread raids on Germany and German-held territory, the royal air force is putting up an amazingly good battle. It is a good battle because, in point of vulnerability, the RAF establishment presents relatively a wide-open target to enemy airmen.

British aircraft factories, fuel supplies, training areas and air-dromes are highly concentrated as compared with Germany's. If air power is all that it has been said to be since the start of the nazis offensive last May, the wonder is that the RAF has been able to stand up under the drubbing.

That it has, and in addition has carried the war to the continent, is in a sense a double advantage for the British.

The other factor involved in the air warfare, the damage inflicted in the day-to-day raids, must be coupled with the needs of mechanized armies.

Last week the British announced highly successful bombing forays against German fuel manufacturing and refining plants. British sea-borne fuel supplies continue to accumulate, say communiques from London, in spite of the air raids and submarine warfare.

But a continued production of gasoline and lubricating oils to feed the insatiable cylinders of trucks, tanks, submarines, self-propelled "invasion barges" and aircraft is one of Hitler's most pressing concerns.

Even granted a plentiful supply of crude oil from Russia and Rumania to supplement Germany's hydrogenation of coal — for the production of artificial gasoline — damage to refining plants and storage reservoirs must have its effect on the highly mechanized nazi war machine.

where many Englishmen still live.

(The German radio quoted French quarters as noting that about 500 French warplanes are in Algeria and Morocco and could "bambard Gibraltar for weeks.")

The British ministry of information, attributing the Dakar action to General de Gaulle, with full British support, said the Germans were "making persistent efforts to bring Dakar under their control.")

De Gaulle personally commanded the shelling of Dakar, after Governor General Pierre Boisson of French West Africa refused DeGaulle's demand to surrender the colony.

"This is not a question simply of ships which might be taken by the Germans or Italians," said Foreign Minister Badoin, "but a British desire for French property."

(The British said "a considerable element" of the West African population "opposed the Vichy government's policy of subservience to Berlin and had declared in favor of a free France," so General de Gaulle went to Dakar with a free French force to assist his supporters.

"He arrived off Dakar this morning and has summoned his followers to rally to the flag of free France," said a British communique. "Resistance seems to have been encountered, but the situation is not as yet fully clear.

("General de Gaulle's French force is accompanied by a British force which will lend him full support.")

The French announcement made no mention of French forces under De Gaulle, but bitterly denounced him as a traitor.

On Sept. 2 De Gaulle claimed that all of West Africa favored his cause, but this was denied by the Vichy government and in a statement by Governor General Boisson.

Yesterday, however, a Vichy government spokesman acknowledged that all Africa was "boiling" and that De Gaulle "propaganda" was intense in Morocco, Dahomey and Togoland.

It also was acknowledged yesterday that the British had turned back.

Brace for Storm
VELASCO, Tex., (AP)—Residents of the east Texas coast braced themselves for a tropical storm which the weather bureau said might move inland from the Gulf of Mexico last night with winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour.

Draft--

Registration is to be handled by election officials or other designated agencies who serve without pay. Special boards will advise and assist registrants.

After registration, local classification and selection boards start work — one to each area with 30,000 population and in any event one to each county. Each will have assigned to it a physician for examinations and a government appeal agent to "protect the interests of the government and of the registrants."

A medical advisory board of specialists will consider cases of "doubtful physical condition." Governors also will establish boards of appeal, approximately one for each region having 70,000 registrants under the initial registration. These will consider requests for exemption, and their decisions will be final unless modified by the president.

Rules
The rules and regulations, so detailed that they even tell the type of furniture for registration offices, were drafted by war and justice department officials and a special committee of six which Mr. Roosevelt named Saturday to coordinate conscription plans.

They repeated the language of the conscription act as regards men who must register; men, such as those already in the army or navy or in diplomatic service, who need not; and the penalties for failure to comply — a maximum of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Persons under military or naval jurisdiction who evade the law will be subject to court martial. Local police are empowered to "assist in the apprehension of delinquents."

Registration
Any man who does not register Oct. 16 may go subsequently before a local board, which will register him if he had a valid reason for delay. Lacking a valid reason, procedure will be determined under a third volume of rules, still to be issued.

Individuals outside the continental United States on registration day must appear before a local board for registration within five days of their return to this country. Persons away from their permanent homes must register at registration offices in the localities where they may be on Oct. 16.

Sick people, not in hospitals, must have a "competent person" register for them.

County clerks will appoint special registrars for men in hospitals, and may name special committees to register men in training camps, schools and colleges.

Superintendents or wardens will register inmates of asylums, penal and similar institutions, while superintendents will take over the jobs for residents on Indian reservations.

CCC Enrollees
CCC enrollees will be handled under the direction of James J. McEntee, CCC director.

The local classification and selection boards will have three or more members, who will be forbidden to pass upon any cases involving their close relatives or business associates. In his letters to the governors, the president said it was all-important that the members be men in whom the community "has the greatest confidence."

He asked the heads of the states to recommend for appointment to the local boards, boards of appeal and as appeal agents and examining physicians, citizens "whose loyalty, integrity and fair-mindedness are beyond question."

A board of appeal, the executive order said, should have five members "representative of all activities of its district, and as such should include one member from labor, one member from industry, one physician, one lawyer, and, where applicable, one member from agriculture."

ible from the French coast 90 miles away.

Famed Piccadilly Circus and broad wharves along the Thames were listed among the targets in raids throughout last night and this morning.

Since July 10, the Germans asserted, 50,600,000 pounds of bombs have been hurled on British targets; 6,000 factories have been damaged, 1,400 of them in the London area; one-fifth of Britain's electric power and gas plants have been destroyed or badly damaged; $600,000,000 in damage done to food and other storehouses; and hundreds of miles of railroads hit.

On British ports alone, they said, 17,000,000 pounds of bombs have fallen in 200 attacks, and there have been 700 raids on British airdromes.

Not overlooking the war at sea, the German command announced that one submarine had sunk 29,000 tons of British merchant shipping, while a small speedboat sank a 3,000-ton freighter and "incapacitated" a patrol boat.

In connection with the British announcement that a British refugee ship has been torpedoed—an announcement which the Germans dismissed as a "tear jerker" for United States consumption—the nazis said they had sunk no ship identifiable as a passenger vessel, but reiterated their declaration of a "total blockade around Britain."

Status Quo--

itorial integrity of Indo-China and France's sovereign rights there would be respected also appeared to carry little weight with Hull.

Whether the United States would lodge a formal protest was not made known, but it was held likely that this was one of the questions considered at the afternoon conference. Both the United States and Great Britain made formal representations in Tokyo about three weeks ago in connection with Japan's demands on Indo-China.

At that time, Hull also publicly reminded Japan that "during recent months this government and several other governments, including the Japanese government, have given expression to their desire that the principle of the status quo be respected and be preserved with special reference to the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China."

This was followed by conversations between Secretary Hull, Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, and Richard G. Casey, Australian minister. These talks were said to have dealt largely with measures of cooperation in the far-east.

Crew Members Safe
BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, (AP)—Three members of the crew of a British warship reached here yesterday after abandoning their ship in mid-ocean, apparently using a lifeboat. The name and nature of the abandonment was not revealed by the British vice consul.

New Room For Laws

Students in Law Have Seminar Room For Writing Course

A new seminar room for law students has been constructed this summer in the law building.

The new room will be used in connection with the legal writing course, which is a new addition to the college's curriculum this fall. Small group and class discussions will also be held in the new room.

Decorated in dark walnut, the seminar has been furnished with materials in harmony with adjoining study rooms and lounge.

Two other rooms have been made available for the use of faculty and research students by converting storage rooms into practical use. The changes have been made to secure the maximum use from the college of law building.

Wise Ones Have Party

'Smarty Party' Held Yearly for Women With High Averages

"Smarty, smarty, gave a party!" This children's song might well be popular on the university campus every spring. Giving reason to the song is the annual Smarty Party, sponsored by members of the Mortar Board.

Future Phi Bettes are not the only guests invited to the affair; every university woman with a three-point scholastic average in the first semester of the year is asked to attend.

Highlights of the evening is a satire on the university's "smart set."

A serious note is struck at the dinner by the presentation of U.W.A. scholarship awards. The more, junior and senior enrollment honors are given to the sophomores in the colleges of liberal arts or commerce who have the highest scholarship in their classes.

Professor Righter Originates Drum-Major Idea

Two 'Fronts' on Band Allows More Flexibility, Increases Tempo

Last year it was an innovation and proved its merit; this year will see many new ideas and improvements.

Originated last year, by Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of the university bands, the idea of having a drum-major and a "front" line of trombones at each end of the band, known as the "double-header band", is being copied by many college and high school bands throughout the nation.

This new idea of having two "fronts" on the band allows more flexibility and does away with time-consuming turns and counter-marches, thus increasing the tempo of the whole performance.

So, the band that brought the crowds to their feet last year, while Iowa's Iron men rested between halves, will be back this year with a bag of new tricks.

For variety, a large number of novel properties will be used during the football routines. In keeping with the spirit of the times, the theme of most band maneuvers this fall will be politics and patriotism.

Aiding Professor Righter will be Arnold L. Oehlsen, former director of bands at Wittenberg college, Springfield, Ohio. Oehlsen has been appointed full-time assistant director of the Iowa bands this fall. He is replacing two part-time assistants, Hugh Gunderson of Sheboygan, Wis., and Stanley Willson of Mason City.

Oehlsen was granted B.A. and M.A. degrees from Northwestern university, where was for six years assistant to Director Glenn Cliff Bainton.

For several years he has had an active part in arranging the routines and formations of the bands which played for the anual All-Star football games in Chicago.

The band is expected to total 116 men this fall, and will boast 16 trombones, eight at each end. Heading the band will be a colorful group, known as the "Big Ten Banners" and Trumpeters, and five banner bearers, carrying banners of each of the Big Ten schools. This group enjoys the distinction of being the only organization of its kind in the mid-west.

Champion baton twirler, Jean Hedlund, A3 of Des Moines, will hold down one of the drum-major posts. Hedlund has won many twirling awards at high school music contests. He has traveled extensively while giving exhibitions, and is in demand as a twirling instructor. Professor Righter will choose another drum-major soon.

All uniforms have been cleaned and pressed and all equipment repaired and put in order for the coming year. New music has been purchased, and the first rehearsal will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 25 at 4:10 p.m. in south music hall.

The first public appearance of the band, in the bright red coats and contrasting black trousers, will be at induction ceremonies at 7:45 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 26. It is a seldom appreciated fact that the band opens the school year by playing for induction ceremonies and closes the year by playing at the graduation walks from the platform at commencement exercises.

Activities at which the band plays between these dates include pep rallies, football games, one of which is away from home, an Armistice day parade, basketball games, team send-offs, at least one concert in Iowa Union, a series of broadcasts over radio station WSUI, and a series of outdoor, evening concerts, during commencement week. In March, last year, the band made a six-day tour of northern Iowa.

Freshmen and sophomore students may substitute band for military training. Professor Righter gives each student a private audition to determine individual ability and in many instances, equipment is furnished for needy students of outstanding ability.

Elected annually, the band officers for the coming year are Jack Borg, A4 of Des Moines, president; Jean Hedlund, A3 of Des Moines, vice-president; Chris Schrock, A3 of Iowa City, secretary, and Fred Weddle, A2 of Lamoni, property manager. All students registering for band are invited to attend a band mixer party on Monday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m. in south music hall. An annual, informal party for freshmen members, the mixer is sponsored by upper-class band members. Colored movies of band maneuvers and football games will be shown. There will be no admission charge for freshmen.

Manville Heights Club Meets Thursday

The first meeting of the Manville Heights club will be in the home of Mrs. John H. Randall, 235 Lexington. The group will meet there at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. George Robson.

To help women on the campus get athletic recreation, W. A. A. has created a varied program which runs throughout the year. Officers of the organization are Fern Newcomer, Iowa City, president; Virginia Padavon, Numa, vice president; Barbara Bagby, Iowa City, secretary, and Lucille Hardenbrook, Danville, Ill., treasurer; Annabelle Hinkle, Valparaiso, Ind., intramural manager, and Mary Jane Huber, Cedar Rapids, assistant intramural manager. There are clubs for improving skill and also ones in which to learn new skills. W. A. A. sponsors the social dancing classes for men and women students. Held weekly, the classes offer instruction in beginning and advanced dancing. Women interested in participating in any W. A. A. activity should contact Miss Newcomer at the women's gymnasium. The W. A. A. clubs work together by means of a W. A. A. board composed of the officers of each club. There are nine divisions of the organization. Archery club, active in the spring and fall, holds its meetings each Tuesday and Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m. and at 2 p.m. on Saturdays. All equipment is furnished. The badminton club meets at 4 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and Saturdays from 2 to 4 p.m. All equipment is provided. Honorary basketball club meets each Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m., following a period in which tryouts are held and the players rated according to their ability. The handcraft club holds its meeting every Wednesday evening throughout the year from 7 to 9. Courses offered in this group include work in block printing, metal, basketry and other handcraft arts. Orchestras, modern interpretative dancing organization, meets Wednesday evenings at 7:15. The Outing club, held throughout the year, holds its meetings in forms of outings, such as trips, bike hikes and skating parties. The Hockey division meets each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 to 11 a.m. Equipment for this club is furnished by the university. Seals club, honorary swimming organization, establishes its membership by yearly tryouts. Dates of the fall tryouts will be announced soon.

Relief Corps Entertains Today

Friends of the members of the Women's Relief corps are invited to attend a dessert bridge party, to be given by the organization at 1:30 this afternoon in the community building.

Mrs. George Hildenbrandt, Mrs. George Trundy, Mrs. William Weber, Mrs. Marie Sievers, Mrs. J. L. Schilling, Mrs. Joseph Shalla, Mrs. Clara Rarick, Mrs. Alex Lorack, Mrs. George Robshaw, Mrs. Roy Strabley and Mrs. H. O. Zimmerli are on the committee in charge of the card party.

HAWKS PREP FOR 1940 GRID SEASON

Badgers Still Hoping For Good Season

Stuhldreher's Squad Plans to Make Up For 1939 Defeats

Only 50 players reported to Coach Harry Stuhldreher at Wisconsin this fall, but hopes are high there for the crystallization of the long-awaited championship possibilities that have been haunting the Badgers for two years.

Just two seasons ago, Wisconsin was rated the hottest bet in the Big Ten, sporting a healthy crop of sophomores coupled with Officially designated as the yearly "Dad's Day" on Iowa's 1940 schedule, the Wisconsin game Oct. 12 will be one of four games on Iowa's home card.

Other home events are the Purdue game, Nov. 2, which has been selected as the annual "Homecoming" game, the South Dakota game Oct. 5 and the Illinois game, which closes the season on Nov. 23.

a mighty returning aggregation. They lived up to their reputation, all right, did the Badgers—they were tough. However, there were two other powerhouses in the conference that year, namely Minnesota and Northwestern, and Wisconsin came out third best.

All well and good, said the dairy state fans, but watch out for us next season!

Poor 1939 Record But 1939 came and went, with only a single non-conference victory over Marquette on the Badger record. Coach Stuhldreher had foretold that something was lacking in the fold for the coming season, but no one took him seriously. Crying in someone's beer is a time-honored coaches' tradition. Only time and the worst season of Stuhldreher's career told the sorrowful tale.

This year Coach Harry is saying nothing either optimistic or pessimistic about his 1940 edition, and for the third straight year, it looks like this is Wisconsin's season. And for Stuhldreher's silence, nothing can be said that is likely to be unhealthy—for his opponents.

Rugged Squad While only 50 players reported, their average weight was 193 pounds and their average height was 5 feet 11 inches.

Key men such as these, returning for their final year, minus all injuries, can make a great team out of average prospects. Fill in with these, such names as the great Paskvan, Tom Farries, Fred Gage, Don Peterson and Johnny Tennant, who all four won letters at quarterback last year; Gordon Gile and Elmer Tornow, two lettermen at tackle; four experienced ends in Ray Kreick, Al Lorenz and Ed Wagner, letter-winners, and Cliff Philip, minor letter-winner; the aforesaid host of promising sophomores, and what have you got? One of the most dangerous teams in the Big Ten.

On the other hand, however, Don Kolbusz, regular left guard from last season, has recovered fully from an appendectomy of Aug. 1, and has been given a physician's O. K. for competition. Bob Wilding, Des Moines junior, who showed plenty of promise last year until sidelined by injuries, will again be ready to go at the left halfback spot. Wilding will be a big relief to George Paskvan, one of the greatest Wisconsin fullbacks of all time, in some of the running plays, of which Paskvan took the heavy duty last year.

Miller Comes Through With York out, Don Miller, big, experienced right halfback who spent all last year on the bench with several different illnesses, will attempt to put in as good a fall season as he spent in two drills. If he does, Miller may be the missing cog of an otherwise great machine, and

University of Iowa's 'Iron Hawks' in Action Again

In 1940, Eddie Anderson's second year as Iowa coach, the Hawkeyes meet the better of the nation's grid teams. It is hoped that this and the pages that follow will give a clearer picture of the coming season.

Iowa Eleven Shows Power In Early Drills

South Dakota Will Be Foe in Opener Here October 5

BY OSCAR HARGRAVE Daily Iowan Sports Editor Lingered echoes from Iowa's dramatic 1939 football season are fading out these late September days before the foot-beats of the running game that Coach Eddie Anderson is finding as at least a partial compensation for the loss of Nile Kinnick, Erwin Prasse and their aerial thrusts.

Table with 5 columns: W, L, T, Pct., Pts. Opp. Rows include Ohio State, IOWA, Purdue, Northw'n, Michigan, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Wisconsin, Chicago.

for move into the football struggles of the Big Ten and the mid-dlewest it may be as a battering armored division instead of the bombing squadron that won six games, tied one and lost one last year.

A bigger, faster and more rugged backfield will wear Iowa's black and gold, it will be carrying the ball behind the blocking of a stronger, more experienced and much more capable line and more reserves will be on the bench that was almost deserted last year.

Anderson, who had a hard time filling the gaps in his first year here, will be able to start a first team that averages several pounds heavier than that of last year, with capable reserves on hand for most positions. The first string backfield, with Al "The Dictator" Coupee at quarterback, Bill Stauss, Tom Farmer, Jim Youel or Bob Bender at left halfback, Bill Gallagher at right half and Ray Murphy at fullback, is geared for power, with all members able to carry the ball or block. Only one, the left halfback, will be a sophomore.

At the tackles, if the newcomers live up to expectations, the Hawkeyes will present a formidable front, with Capt. Mike Enich, the "Iron Man" of 1939 Big Ten football as number one man and a potential all-American at right tackle. On the other side of the line will probably be Jim Walker, colored tackle who kept pace with Enich until a knee injury sent him to the bench before last season was half over.

At center Anderson finds probably his deepest material. Bill Diehl, last year's starting pivot man in the early games, appears to have recovered from his knee injury and Bruno Andruska, a scrappy senior, has been working with the first string most of the time. Red Frye, third of the veteran centers, is present, while Bob Lauterbach and Tom Hand of the newcomers look promising. However, only at tackle and end posts are sophomores liable to See HAWKEYES on Page 2

Iowa Foes Vengeful Six 1940 Opponents Beaten by Hawkeyes During Last Season

Revenge will be a motivating force for six of the eight opponents on Iowa's 1940 schedule, while the other two listed foes, Nebraska and Illinois, of the Hawkeyes did not play Iowa last year.

Wisconsin, the Dad's Day foe, was beaten, 19-13 at Madison last year, Purdue, the Homecoming game opponent, was beaten at Lafayette by the score of 4-0 and South Dakota was defeated in Iowa's first game under the coaching of Eddie Anderson, 41-0.

Iowa's Capt. 'Iron Mike' Enich Led Big Ten Tackles in 1939

Number one "Iron Man" of the Big Ten in 1939 was Iowa's captain-elect of this year, "Iron Mike" Enich, right tackle and potential all-American. Enich, 205 pounds of lineman, is starting his senior year of football at the University of Iowa auspiciously, with chances at the all-star teams looming ahead. As captain of the Hawkeyes, which post was voted him unanimously by teammates, Enich leads a team that will be in the thick of the Big Ten battles.

crack the starting lineup in the forward wall. Al Urban and George Gable are big, tough and fast and one might land a tackle berth if Walker's leg bothers him, while Parker and Mizen are pressing hard for flank positions. New guards who may see service are Delmas "Dick" Dickert-hoof, Bob Penaluna, Francis Curran, Ross Anderson and Roy Stille.

Variety in Attack

Although the backfield, as a unit, is capable of a furious running game, considerable variety is probable, depending on the development and usage of several passers and a squadron of speedsters. To begin with, the team will work to the signal calling of Couppee, as daring a field general as ever barked out number combinations. Couppee is understudied at quarterback by Gerald Ankeny, a much improved veteran reserve, and Dick Breunier and Tom "Wampy" McCauley, a pair of hard blocking sophomores, but the rugged and colorful first string "boss" will be on the firing line for most of the time unless unforeseen calamity overtakes him.

The aerial possibilities, since the loss of Kinnick and both the other 1939 squad members who could kick and pass, Buzz Dean and Ed McLain, rest with sophomore talent.

Bill Stauss, because his 195 pounds and hard, tricky running fit more neatly into the driving offensive of the first team combination, has been working with the varsity eleven in early drills, but Bender, Youel and Farmer, other triple-threaters on the squad, are not so far behind.

Stauss is definitely the ruggedest of the foursome, is probably the best runner and rates as promising in all departments, but Farmer is the longest passer, Youel is the best punter and Bender is a dangerous runner. None have had experience in college competition and, thus, none has reached his peak as yet, so the issue hasn't been completely settled.

There is, though, a chance that a veteran might grab off even the aerial game, depending much on just what happens to Bill Green, who can run the 100 in less than 10 seconds and who traded off with Ray Murphy at the fullback spot last year.

It is probable that the Iowa coaches will continue to change between the vicious power of Murphy's jolting stride and the terrific speed of Green at fullback, but Green has been throwing passes of late and might be used part time as one of the halfbacks. If Green should move from his present place, Henry Vollenweider, who raced 92 yards for a touchdown in last year's opener, and Art Johnson, stocky and durable sophomore, will probably be called into fullback service.

Bill Gallagher Shifted

The shifting of Gallagher, powerful and a dependable blocker, from his old place as Couppee's substitute at quarterback gives right halfback more weight, adds to the effectiveness of the Hawkeye interference and also builds up the defense against any sort of a running attack. But there are reserves at the position who can be called in to augment a passing attack as receivers and who might be capable of game-breaking climax runs.

Mertes and Gilleard

One is Bus Mertes, a sophomore from Chicago. A 190-pounder, Mertes is hard driving, almost as fast as Green and travels with the fleeting elusiveness of a hunted fox. Mertes, potentially, is the most dangerous runner of the squad, perhaps of the entire midwest.

Somewhat similar is the case of Burdell "Oops" Gilleard. Prevented by an early injury from breaking in during last season's early games, Gilleard wasn't able to get properly seasoned, but he may come along this fall. Gilleard is another halfback who can run—he isn't as slippery as Mertes, but the muscular junior is, nevertheless, a tricky runner. If he can recover from an occasional attack of the "jitters," Gilleard will be heard from and so might Sophomore Al Eddy.

Summed up, the situation still boils down to one big question: Can increased power and reserve strength make up for the loss of Kinnick, Prasse and Buzz Dean? The Hawkeyes, beyond doubt, will be a good team, but they will have to be "great" to march through the tremendous schedule of 1940 that bristles with the fallen foes of 1939—the Hawkeyes will be on the spot for eight straight Saturdays.

coach, Dr. Eddie Anderson, has called the big Hawkeye, "the best tackle in the country."

During his stay at Iowa, Enich has been both a back and a lineman. In high school at Boone he had been an all-state backfield man, but was switched to tackle when injuries to first string

Another Half-Century of Iowa Football

Hawkeyes Adopted Grid Game in Fall of 1889:

The University of Iowa this fall enters its second half century of American football, for the game was established in 1889.

With little financial support, the pioneer athletes of the early nineties struggled. They played from three to six games each fall until Knipe, another Pennsylvanian, won eight games and was tied once, giving Iowa its first undefeated season.

Teams improved until the eleven of 1899, coached by Dr. A. A. Knipe, another Pennsylvania, won eight games and was tied once, giving Iowa its first undefeated season.

Iowa entered the Western Intercollegiate conference in December, 1899, and the first Iowa football team to play under conference rules shared the 1900 title with Minnesota.

Dr. Knipe left in 1901 and four coaches were hired in the ensuing nine years, the best teams being those of 1903, winner of 9 of 11; and 1905, which won 8 of 10.

Iowa had some fairly good teams between 1913 and 1920, but in 1921 Howard Jones developed the first undefeated and untied eleven, which won the clear Big Ten title and beat Notre Dame to shatter a 20-game Irish winning streak. The team of 1922, likewise unbeaten and untied, shared the title with Michigan.

First division places were won in 1924, 1928 and 1933. The turbulent thirties were marked by three coaching changes and it took years, Locke, Nile Kinnick, Willis Glassgow, Francis Schammel, Joe Laws, Fred Slater, Lowell Otte, Fred Becker, Lester Belding, Fred Lohman, Emerson Nelson, Clyde Williams and Ray Murphy, Sr.

Last year, under Anderson, Enich improved steadily, reaching a peak late in the season and doing much to account for the Purdue game, in which the Hawkeyes bottled up the Boilermaker running attack completely, scoring their winning points on two safeties after blocked Purdue punts.

The university, founded in 1847, now has a campus enrollment of about 7,000, including 4,500 men. Its president is Acting President C. A. Phillips and the director of athletics is Ernest G. Schroeder.

Sixteen Lettermen Back From Last Season's Championship Team Bolster S. Dakota Hopes

With 16 lettermen from last year's conference championship squad back to see action, South Dakota opened football practice September 9, in anticipation of a long, hard schedule.

Of these 16, three can boast of playing on two championship teams, for the Coyotes will be gunning for their third straight loop championship.

Chief worries in the South Dakota camp thus far are the end positions and fullback. In these positions, all-conference players Ernie Gunderson at left end and Jim Wernli at fullback have graduated, leaving large gaps.

Big Ole Solberg and Johnny Johnson, who alternated at the right end spot last year, have been separated to man the opposite flank posts, but replacements and substitutes are scarce. Only two sophomores and reserves, both of undetermined ability are on hand for action.

At fullback, things appear a little more complicated, if possible. It's a tough job finding a man in the 33-man squad that will fill Wernli's offensive and defensive shoes. Chief nominees for the post now are Mack Albertson, Wernli's understudy for the last part of last season, and Bobby Burns, heavy-hitting right halfback and a last season regular. John Maloney, noted for his defensive ability, True Salvis, another reserve, and Earl Stangle, promising sophomore, will also see action in the plugging spot while the search for another Wernli continues.

The rest of the lineup remains somewhat intact although several veterans will be pushed hard by sophomore candidates and some of last year's reserves.

In the all-important backfield, Coach Harry Gamage will have two experienced and rugged men at quarterback, with Roy Kessler, one of the best blockers in the business, the number one choice, and ably backed by burly Don King, strapping junior.

The left halfback spot is up in the air, but Joe Trompeter, Burdette Wallace and Wayne Carmody should man the position ably. Trompeter has the seniority and experience, but Wallace, a better than good junior, and Carmody, scrappy soph, only make the spot one of the strongest on the team.

Don Forney has the right halfback job sewed up in a bag, but several capable reserves are ready to step in if injuries develop.

The line, inside of the ends, is a bulwark of strength. Nate Bond and Ed Petranek, last year's regular tackles are back again this year, as are both their understudies, Chuck Colgan and Chet Anderson. Bob Carlson will man his regular spot at guard, while letterman Bob Michaelson will be on hand to take over the running mate spot. Several promising sophomores and holdover reserves make the center of the line tough to crack.

Grant Heckenlively, one of the league's best pivot-men last year, will be back again, and with substitutes like Bob Stroh and Jay Swisher waiting on the sidelines, the center position should be the least of Gamage's worries.

Besides whipping a team into shape, however, Gamage has other things on his mind. The schedule, comparatively one of the toughest in the nation, bodes no good to the Coyotes. After opening with Dakota Wesleyan university on Sept. 21, South Dakota takes on Wayne Teachers college, both home games. Dakota Wesleyan may be only a warmup, but Wayne promises stiff competition for Gamage's squad.

With two games under their belts, the Coyotes then travel to Iowa City to meet the University of Iowa, Big Ten darkhorse, in probably the toughest game on the ten-contest schedule. The date is Oct. 5.

Doane college is next on the South Dakota list, on Oct. 12, another home game. Then comes the conference opener with Morningside college at home on Dakota Day, Oct. 19. Thereafter follows three straight conference tilts on three successive Saturdays—South Dakota State at Brookings, Omaha University at Omaha, and North Dakota in a home game. Creighton provides the opposition in a Nov. 16 game at Omaha, with the odds against the Coyotes winning. Then to climax the long season, the Gamagemen travel to San Jose, California to meet San Jose State on Nov. 21. San Jose State was the highest scoring team in the nation last year, and should make a very interesting game for South Dakota.

Football Fans Get Bargain In 'I' Book

One of the athletic bargains in any year is the Iowa athletic yearbook, known as the "I" book, which is now on sale in Iowa City.

Holders of "I" books are entitled to admission to all University of Iowa athletic contests at a cost of $11. Altogether, there are a total of nearly 40 home events scheduled.

Single admissions to home football games will be $2.75 each for the Wisconsin, Purdue and Illinois games and $1.10 for the South Dakota contest.

Seats in choice locations will be available to Iowa fans for all of the four away from home games. These may be ordered from the business office of the Iowa athletic department. Games and prices are:

- Oct. 19—Indiana at Bloomington—$2.50
- Oct. 26—Minnesota at Minneapolis—$2.75
- Nov. 9—Nebraska at Lincoln—$2.50
- Nov. 16—Notre Dame at South Bend—$3.30

April is usually the wettest month of the year, but when there's a political campaign on most of the mud-slinging takes place in October.

Notre Dame Dreams of Winning National Gridiron Title

Graduation Losses Were Heavy, But Several 1939 Stars Return

Piepul, Bob Saggau Hargrave Head List Of Backfield Men

Hopes of a national championship, never quite dead among the followers of Notre Dame, are rising again as a host of potential Irish stars prepare to move into the football wars of the middle-west and the nation.

Seventeen lettermen are missing from the 1939 squad, 10 of them regulars, yet the belief is that the Irish won't miss the departure of last year's team, for the returning crop of veterans overshadowed those who do not return.

Kerr Is Gone

Piepul Leads Irish

But, on the sunny side, there are 12 returning major lettermen, 28 returning reserves and a horde of promising sophomores. Of the 12 major letter winners, at least six are potentially great, with Capt. Milt Piepul already getting notice as a coming all-American.

On the promise of one of football's greatest backfields ride the Irish chances of an undefeated season; the promise is one that stands an excellent chance of being fulfilled.

Piepul, a crushing 220-pound fullback, possessed of an astonishing quantity of versatility and speed, was second man at his post last year, rated as understudy to Thesing—yet Piepul saw almost as much action in 1939 as Thesing did and led the team in yards gained and points scored. Bob Saggau, Bob Hargrave, Bernie Crimmins and Steve Bagarus are the other reserves apt to play as regulars, with all expected to equal, if not better, the performances of their graduated predecessors.

Hargrave and Saggau

The signal-calling of Hargrave, a 170-pound junior, who starred in the Northwestern and Georgia Tech games of last year, may bring back the daring Notre Dame offensives of the days of Frank Carideo. Bagarus and Crimmins appear capable at right half and Saggau, recovered from the injuries that held him back last season, is perhaps the Irish hero of the season.

As a sophomore Saggau, 185-pound redhead from Denison, Ia., brought memories of Marchie Schwartz and Harry Stuhldreher to Irish fans. There followed his injuries in 1939, with Saggau again coming up this fall, more experienced, smarter and more capable. His presence gives the Notre Dame backfield everything needed in an offensive unit, power, speed and versatility.

Line Looks Capable

Gallagher Returns

The center post will be manned by inexperienced men, since John McIntyre, Jack Finnegan and Al Mooney all graduated. Bob Osterman, senior reserve and made-over end, appears to have the inside track. Jim Ford and Martin O'Reilly, reserves; and Tom Brock and John McHale, sophomores, are in the thick of battle for the starting post. Joe Berry, best frosh center last year, left school to enter Annapolis.

Right Guard Weakened

Only right guard appears to be very seriously weakened in that side of the line, with Chuck Riffle certain to be missed. John Gubanich, 160-pound understudy to Riffle, is the only returning letterman at the post, although Joe Laiber, Howard Korth and Hercules Bereolos have had some experience.

At right tackle and end, in spite of losses, strength seems pretty well up to par. Paul Lillis and Cliff Brosey are lettermen of considerable experience and expected to make up for the loss of Harvey at the tackle post. At the end, vacated by Capt. John Kelly, John O'Brien, Kelly's understudy, John Kovatch and Howard Petschel, reserves, are back. George Murphy, brother of Johnny, 1937 letterman, and Norman Barry Jr., son of a former Irish halfback star, head the sophomores.

With a potent first team and capable reserves for most posts, the Irish appear able to take care of even the usual Notre Dame schedule. This year, with nine games on the list, eight on consecutive Saturdays, the Irish have one of the nation's roughest roads to travel, including two teams, Iowa and Southern California, that defeated the Irish last season.

Irish to Travel

Opening Oct. 5 at South Bend against College of the Pacific, the Irish entertain four rugged eleveners in their home stadium, then travel abroad to invade strong teams on both Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Besides their opening game, the Irish face a pair of old foes, Georgia Tech and Carnegie Tech on their home grounds, with Iowa victor over the Irish at Iowa City last year, named as the fourth home opponent.

Aboard, the Irish journey to Champaign, Ill., to meet Bob Zupke's improved Illini, to New York for an engagement with Army, to Baltimore to meet Navy and to Evanston, Ill., to tangle with Northwestern's powerful Wildcats. The season closes Dec. 7 at Los Angeles, with the second Notre Dame conqueror of 1939, the Trojan eleven of Southern California, as the foe.

Football Fortunes for Minnesota Again Depend on Power

Sonny Franck, Bruce Smith Top Backfield

Ends, Quarterback Are Only Positions To Provide Problems

Improvement over the 1939 record — a season on which Coach Bernie Bierman commented, "A few plays in close games made the difference between being in the running for the championship and second division"—will be the principal goal of the University of Minnesota football squad in 1940.

For the first time since 1935 the Gophers will open the season with no championship, Big Ten or national, to defend and no championship predictions to live up to. Instead, 1940 will see a Minnesota squad of better than average possibilities that plans to take each game as it comes along and to try to win it.

Strong Starting Team

Minnesota in the pre-season analysis will have a squad with a strong starting lineup and fair reserve strength. It will be a squad that will play the always interesting and effective power type of football with emphasis on "yards gained from rushing." If the reserves and sophomores weather the rigors of the tough early season schedule and reach a point where Coach Bierman can have men three deep to a position without a noticeable letdown in effectiveness, the Gophers may finish well up in the final standings.

Five Replacements

There will be five necessary replacements in the starting lineup, but the ends and quarterback will be the only questionable positions and even there good material is available. At ends, Co-captain Bill Johnson,

Harris, who served as line coach under Anderson at Holy Cross, and Frank Carideo. Harris, a star guard at Notre Dame, played his sophomore year under Rockne in 1930 as a teammate of Carideo. He finished his college playing career in 1932. Carideo, second all-American on the Iowa coaching staff, made the mythical eleven for two years, 1929 and 1930, both national championship years for the Irish.

changeable as regulars, will be available for action this year. This iron-clad center of the line position is also fortified by another letterman, Neil Litman, one reserve, and four sophomores.

Several good men wait to replace Bjorklund at center if he is moved to end. A small, but effective senior letterman, Bob Kolliner, who was first replacement for the 1940 co-captain, heads the list. Behind him are two good reserves with plenty of experience, and three powerhouse sophomores.

Fast-moving George Franck, whose spirit, speed and punting were high spots last season; and Bruce Smith, an outstanding sophomore a year ago, will bear the brunt of the ball-carrying duties, but someone will have to be found to replace the effective Harold Van Every.

Franck Can Run

Franck is a 9.7 100-yard dash man, who is also a shifty runner. Specializes in long runs and long-distance punting. Smith, from a long line of Minnesota football athletes, alternated with Franck last year, but will undoubtedly hold his own starting position this year. He was the outstanding player of spring practice through every one of the intra-squad scrimmages and the annual spring game.

Joe Jamnik and Bob Paffrath, two lettermen, flank these two specialists, while nine sophomores, outstanding for both defensive and offensive work will take up the reserve burden. Undoubtedly, one of these will take over Van Every's pass defense duties.

Bob Sweiger, who was a regular from mid-season on in 1939, will be number one man at fullback, but piece de resistance in the form of Sophomore Bill Daley may shunt him to a substitute spot. Daley is a fine all-around back, but piece de resistance in threat every minute he plays.

Ed Steinbauer, an end last year, has been called back to compete with Sweiger and Daley for the plunging post, while Warren Plunkett, reserve, will alternate.

McMillin's Indiana Hoosiers Are on The March; Have Veteran Eleven

The Hoosiers of Bo McMillin's Indiana football squad are on the march. Pre-season indications are that Indiana, scheduled to face Iowa at Bloomington Oct. 19, will be among the top teams of the Big Ten this year, perhaps champion.

On an afternoon in early October of 1939 the Hoosiers invaded Iowa City. Paced by Hurling Hal Hursh, a sensational pass thrower, and Big Archie Harris, rangy Negro end and one of the best pass catchers in the business, the Hoosiers were beaten by an almost unbelievable Iowa rally in the final quarter by the tremendous score of 32 to 29. Both Hursh and Harris are back, along with practically every member of the dangerous 1939 eleven. In fact, Jim Logan, captain and regular guard, is the only important face that is missing.

Development of a running attack, since aerial power was the big scoring strength of the 1939 Hoosiers, is considered Coach McMillin's biggest job this year—indications are that, with an experienced and capable forward wall on hand, the ground game will be good, depending, however, on several sophomore ball carriers. With backfield speed sadly lacking among the returning veterans, McMillin is turning to the new men for his running power. The list includes Earl Dolaway, of Port Allegany, Pa., a powerful runner and a good passer and kicker, Pat Ronzone, Russell Hardisty, Len Heinz, Bob White, Russell Harrell, Dale Swihart and Dan Preger.

For the aerial game, it will be Hursh, back for his third and last season. The ringmaster of the 1939 aerial game will help in that department this year from Michey McGuire, a junior tosser from Kalamazoo, Mich.

Twenty-two lettermen, to be exact, will form the nucleus of the team, which McMillin predicts will be good. Probably the strongest point, on the basis of the squad roster, will be the tackles, where three tough veterans, Al Sabol, Emil Uremovich and Frank Smith, must withstand the pressure of James "Tiny" Trimble, 212-pound veteran reserve, and Fred Huff, a sophomore prospect.

Harris, the huge colored pass catcher, tops the ends, with Eddie Rucinski, another veteran, as his probable running mate. To back this pair are Mike Dumke, a veteran reserve and two fast improving sophomores, Howdy Elliott and Dan Bassett. Only loss among the ends was Russell Higginbotham, declared ineligible.

Veterans Bill Smith, Mike Bucchianeri, Gene White and Al Bragalone return to fill the guard posts, with Capt. Logan as the only graduation casualty, and Bob Ricketts is a possible starter among the newcomers.

At center there is another parade of veterans, with last year's regular, Dwight Gahn, rated as number one. Others are Mike Naddeo, Walter Jurkiewicz, Kenneth Moeller and Andy Liscinsky.

In the backfield the probable starting lineup will be a completely veteran one, with Eddie Herbert at quarter, Hursh at left half, Red Zimmer at right half and Jolting Joe Tofil at fullback. Pressing Herbert for the signal calling post are Bill Tipmore, Mickey McGuire and Kenny Smith, all experienced men, while Cobb Lewis heads off the list of reserve halfbacks and Tofil is understudied at fullback by Tuffy Brooks a rugged junior.

'Iron Men' Return

Eight Members of 60-Minute Brigade Will Play This Year

Eight of the "Iron Men" of Iowa, so called because they played full football games without relief, are returning for this season. Members of the 60-minute brigade who graduated were Nile Kinnick, halfback, Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans, ends, and Wally Bergstrom, tackle.

Other graduating Hawkeyes were Buzz Dean, Ed McLain and Russell Busk, halfbacks, and Fred Smith, end.

The eight "Iron Men" who reported for this season—each of whom played the full 60 minutes in between one and six games, are Capt. Mike Enich, tackle, (Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame, Minnesota and Northwestern); Charles Tollefson, guard (Michigan, Wisconsin and Northwestern); Kenneth Pettit, guard but now an end (Purdue, Notre Dame and Minnesota); Bruno Andruska, center (Purdue, Notre Dame and Minnesota); Al Couppee, quarterback (Purdue, Notre Dame); Jim Walker, tackle (Indiana); Max Hawkins, guard (Wisconsin); Ham Snider, guard (Northwestern), and Red Frye, center (Northwestern).

World war II reminds us more and more of World war I. The French have just changed prime ministers.

Henry Luebecke, tackle or guard: 1940 may be Hank's year. . . the giant 270-pounder played only 55 minutes in 1937 before he broke his ankle, was a part-timer in 1938, and was a regular until mid-October in 1939 before he was forced out by hernia operation. . . conference ruled him eligible for another year of play. . . Hank has great competitive fire and is determined to shed his reputation as a "hard luck" player. . . 6-3, 23 years old. . . from Chicago, Ill.

Riggs Captains Illini
One of the strongest cogs in the Illinois wheel is big Capt. Tom Riggs. "Navy Tom," as his team-

Illini Called 'Better Team' Than in 1939

Coach Bob Zupke Has Strong Line; 16 Veterans Report

Over in Champaign, Ill., Coach Bob Zupke is tutoring his Illini for their opener with Bradley October 5, the same day the Hawkeyes take on South Dakota. Pre-season dope on the Illinois aggregation promises a stronger team than last year's, even though the 1940 schedule is a tougher one. Starting with Bradley, Zupke's boys play an entire season without a single open date, including such formidable opponents as Southern California, Michigan, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Iowa.

Shortage of Centers, Tackles
Zup's hardest task will probably be to find centers and tackles and develop sufficient reserves to weather a schedule on which most of the opponents will be heavily fortified in man-power.

Heaviest losses by graduation are in the line, notably Capt. Mel Brewer and Wes Martin, guards; Jim Reeder, all-American tackle, and Bill Lenich, center, voted the most valuable player by his teammates. The chief backfield loss is Chuck Purvis, who alternated at left halfback with Jimmy Smith. Flip Anders, end, stumbled scholastically after his first season. Other lettermen gone are Ralph Hathaway, center; John Patterson, guard; Al Lundberg, tackle; John Kirschke, quarterback, and Ralph Bennett, fullback.

Only three of the 16 returning lettermen are back, tackles and guards being in abundance. Cliff Peterson, regular left halfback who was put out for last season by an injury against Southern California when he was going well at fullback, will again be able to play, it is hoped. Bob Ingle, a reserve guard last season and a letterman two years ago, will be available. Other candidates from last season's squad will include Bob Cherry, center, a possibility to succeed Lenich; Bill Kolens, tackle, who may be tried out at center, and Jim Eastbrook and Bob Falkenstein, halfbacks, who showed well in spring practice.

27 Sophomores on Hand
Twenty-seven sophomores are listed on the tentative roster, from whom Zupke hopes to develop additional reserve strength to weather the exacting schedule. Although last year's freshmen were not considered outstanding as a group, the coach thought the best players were as good as the present varsity men when they too were beginners. Tackling of the freshmen, which Zup declared the best in several years and their fighting qualities and consistent practicing pleased the coach.

At end there is much experience, and if Zupke desires he can use a first-string backfield from last year. His present plan, however, is to play George Bernhardt, guard, at fullback to add more power to the backfield. Bernhardt readily adapted himself to the position in spring practice, and is likely to remain, unless replacing him in the line proves difficult.

Illinois Football Captain

mates call him, has won a letter for two seasons at tackle. Last season he played right tackle regularly, where he used his weight and height, 6-4 and 212, to advantage. Riggs' alertness is shown by his record of recovered fumbles for the 1939 season. Riggs originally aspired to a career in the U. S. navy but defective vision according to the strict standards of the naval academy deprived him of his opportunity after a year at Annapolis.

Zupke, starting his 28th season as coach of the Illinois eleven, boasts an interesting background. Graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1905 with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, he was too light to make the Badger team in the days of beef but won his varsity basketball letter as a member of the championship Wisconsin team of 1905. Zup's coaching career began at Muskegon, Mich., in 1906. In 1910 he left Muskegon to coach at Oak Park, where for three years his teams made sensational records which led to his appointment at Illinois in 1913. Under his command, Zupke's teams have won or shared seven Big Ten championships, and have a gain of supremacy in their series with all the Big Ten teams with the exception of Michigan and Ohio State.

Were 6th Last Year
After last season's rough and tough Big Ten race, the Zupke-men found themselves in sixth place, winning and losing three games. Highlight of the season for the Illini was the upset of Michigan when the Wolverines, hailed as strong contenders for conference and national championships, were defeated, 16 to 7. This achievement was voted by the sports editors of the Associated Press newspapers as the greatest upset of the year in any branch of sport.

The Illini, starting slowly last year, were held to a scoreless tie by Bradley, then were decisively defeated by Southern California. A missed try for goal lost to Indiana 7-6, Northwestern won a hard fought game, then came Michigan. Defeat by the Ohio State champs, and a victory over Chicago closed the season.

Rugged Schedule
Illinois' and Iowa's 1940 seasons open and close on corresponding days. The former's schedule is as follows:

Mike Byelene, Rankin Will Pace Purdue's Speedy Boilermakers

Veterans Scarce On Team That Plays In Iowa Homecoming

Enthusiasm and the help that comes from a promising sophomore squad replace experience as the most important assets of Purdue's Boilermakers, opponents in the Iowa Homecoming game in Iowa stadium, Nov. 2.

Mal Elward's Big Ten entry will play without most of the regulars of 1939, the graduation losses including Lou Brock and Jack Brown, members of the famous "Three B's" of ball carrying fame. The other member of the B's, Mike Byelene, heads the halfback list and can be expected to provide much of the spark in the Boilermaker attack, while Capt. Dave Rankin, all-American end, is a pass catcher of note.

Reconstruction Problems

Elward's reconstruction problems, however, are no myth, for with few exceptions he is starting from scratch in grooming the 1940 combination. Twenty-six major lettermen, including many who actually accounted for nearly 70 per cent of the competitive time put in by the Boilermakers last fall, have completed their collegiate careers. Only three of the 13 holdovers major lettermen, including Rankin, Byelene and Jim Miller, scrappy guard, played more than 200 minutes out of a possible 480 last season.

Spirited Squad

Paper prospects may be none too bright, but Elward sums up the chances, "Regardless of the paper, our squad is convinced that it will be as good as any team in the country before the season is over. This gang welcomes the chance to prove itself on the grid-iron in tough competition. Our spring drill was the most spirited I have seen in years. What more can you ask?"

It is self-evident that the squad will be largely a sophomore-junior affair and there are wide-open fights for virtually all positions. Problems are not concentrated in any particular spot. In the forward wall four ends, four tackles, two guards and a pair of centers who were regular performers are missing. Strange as it may seem, despite heavy losses among the backs, spring drills indicated that the Boilermakers may be better fitted for replacements among the ball carriers than in the forward wall, due to a group of promising sophomores.

The forwards will probably be worked into form around a nucleus of Rankin, Bill Combs, another wingman; the Rossi brothers, Al and Italo, tackles; Jim Miller and Jack Winchell, guards; and Ted Axton, center. Herman Timperman, injured last fall, is a question mark at tackle.

Byelene, Last of the "Bees"

Byelene, last of the "Three B's," is number one back, with John Galvin, another veteran also among the halfbacks. Other halfbacks are Junior Brock, Red Carter, Mac Blair, Tony Berto and Paul Anderson, all sophomores, John Petty and Hal Schumacher, with a modicum of experience, are being depended upon to fill the fullback slot with the aid of Bill Buffington and Frank Fijala, sophomores. There is bound to be a new face at quarterback, with Bob Kersey, Vincent Snyder and James Cary as the likeliest prospects.

The Boilermakers will undoubtedly depend upon the same type of speed attack that has been a feature of their play, although they may resort to somewhat more of an open game in order to take full advantage of Byelene, who had the highest percentage of completions of any midwest back last season, in combination with the tossing of Galvin and the brilliant catching of Rankin.

Aerials Come Later

The aerial attack, however, is not expected to blossom forth until the season is well under way, for Elward is a firm believer in a sound running game as the first pre-requisite of a successful overhead offensive and will undoubtedly concentrate on the running game until well satisfied with its effectiveness.

Only the football Saturdays of late November can foretell the ultimate grid fortunes of the Boilermakers, but it is certain that Coach Mal Elward, a one-time Notre Dame teammate of the famous Knute Rockne, will have a dangerous eleven by the time he invades Iowa's Homecoming celebration.

Husker Squad Has Everything

Rohrig, Harry Hopp Spearhead Attack Of Rugged Eleven

The University of Nebraska's 1940 football squad has everything, including power, speed, experience and all the schedule that any football team could want.

In the opening practice sessions Coach Lawrence M. "Biff" Jones lined up two elevens with lettermen at 19 of the 22 posts. Wayne Blue, Marvin Thompson, end, and Francis Greenleaf, guard, were the only newcomers to break in. Blue and Thompson were sophomores last year, but stayed out of competition.

Lines Average 200

The two lines, featuring Forrest Behm and Royal Kahler, a pair of bruising 200-pound tackles, and Warren Alfson and George Abel, 195-pound guards who can outrun the backs, average close to 200 pounds to the man.

Nebraska, beginning the season against Minnesota on Oct. 5, needs all its experience to carry on against Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Iowa, Pitt, Iowa State and Kansas State—most of whom are considered big, tough and mean.

With the finger thus pointed at his Huskers, Coach Jones says, "We should be a better team than a year ago, yet we could close with a poorer record. (The Huskers won seven, tied one and lost one in 1939). But if the boys work as hard as last year and if we get a few breaks we should come through all right."

Jones plans to follow his two-team system of a year ago, when the units played alternate quarters.

Hopp and Rohrig

Spearheading the attack will be Harry Hopp, who loves to "Soften Them Up" with power drives, and Herman Rohrig, the roaring runner who last year returned punts for 380 yards and threw six touchdown passes.

Unit number one has Hopp at tailback, Roy Petsch at quarter, Mike Francis, brother of the famous Sam, at fullback and Walter Luther, a reverse expert, at one halfback, with Hopp filling out the quartet at the other halfback post.

In the other backfield Jones has Rohrig and Bob Kahler at halfbacks, Bus Knight at quarter and Blue at fullback.

Lack of Height

If there's worry around the Husker camp it will be over the end positions and the lack of height among backs and centers, most of whom are under six feet and must concede the advantage to towering pass receivers. That is a fact that can't be lightly tossed aside, for Nebraska faces such aerial experts as Paul Christman of Missouri and Hurling Hal Hursh of Indiana during the season.

At ends, Ray Prochaska and Fred Preston, major lettermen from last year, for his number one unit, and minor lettermen Bob Ludwick and Thompson, a converted quarterback, for number two. But he needs a couple more big, fast wingmen.

But, despite the talk of worries from the Husker camp, Nebraska is pointing at an undefeated season, with dreams of a national championship. When the Hawkeyes invade Lincoln on Nov. 9, the Huskers may be rolling into the home stretch of a great season, giving a big new interest to one of the midwest's oldest and most honorable rivalries.

LEAP IN THE DARK

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP)—Twelve-year-old Kenneth Fink rode home from strawberry picking and jumped off the truck.

That night, in his dreams, Kenneth rode home from strawberry picking and jumped off the truck.

He went through a second-story window and down 15 feet, landing upright on a garbage can. But he wasn't hurt.

Virgil Hancher New S.U.I. President

Returns to His Alma Mater

44-Year-Old Native of Iowa Will Be 18th Prexy to Take Office as Head of University

Rhodes Scholar Who Had Gained Prominence in Legal Profession Turns to Education; Assumes Office December 1

BY JEAN DAVIS Daily Iowan Campus Editor

He won't be an educator or an executive, the man who comes to the campus this fall to become the eighteenth president of the University of Iowa.

But he will be a Rhodes scholar, who having gained prominence in the legal profession, has turned from law to education in true Oxford tradition.

Forty-four year old Virgil Hancher is a native Iowan, his wife is a native Iowan. He attended the University of Iowa for seven years, gaining a B.A. and J.D. degree, but he holds no advanced doctorate degrees.

In selecting a president with a broad business and professional experience, as well as a remarkable academic background, the Iowa board of education has followed the successful lead of a number of other outstanding educational institutions.

Hancher

Words From Those Who Know Him

"In Mr. Hancher the board feels that it has found the combination of youthful vigor, educational vision and business experience which is needed to maintain Iowa's standing among the nation's top - ranking universities. We expect him to be a really great president."

George T. Baker, Davenport President, Iowa state board of education

"On behalf of the Alumni association and myself, I wish to say that we feel they have made an exceptional choice for he is an Iowan and understands Iowa people."

Dr. Sumner D. Chase, Ft. Dodge President, Iowa Alumni association

"I worked with Mr. Hancher in connection with the Iowa Memorial Union. I knew him very well then. I have never known one who personally was more agreeable, persistent and efficient in the things he thought ought to be done."

Prof. Forrest C. Ensign, College of Education.

Two other new men in the R. O. T. C. staff here are yet to be named.

Weekly Dances Scheduled To Begin Nov. 6

Almost a tradition at the University of Iowa are the weekly tea dances, given from 4 to 6 p. m., usually on Wednesdays, in the river room of Iowa Union. Nov. 6 is the date announced for the first of these.

Old and new recorded popular tunes provide music for dancing and an atmosphere of informality prevails. A special feature of last year's series was the Victory tea dance, held after the Iowa-Notre Dame football game.

The tea dances are sponsored by the Student Union Board.

The newly chosen Iowa president was born on a farm near Rolfe, Sept. 4, 1896, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Hancher. His father, who died in 1928, was one of Iowa's best known breeders of blooded livestock.

At Rolfe high school, Mr. Hancher excelled in debate and later at the University of Iowa, he gained recognition in both inter-collegiate oratory and debate. He led his class in scholarship and was honored with Phi Beta Kappa.

After receiving his B.A. degree in 1918, he studied a year of law here before he was awarded a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford university. During the World war he served in the navy.

While at Oxford, he was a member of Worcester college, receiving a bachelor's degree in 1922. Later he was awarded a master's degree from the famed English school.

In 1922, he returned to Iowa's college of law, where in 1924 he received the J.D. degree. He was a member of the Iowa Law Review staff and taught in the political science department here, while studying for his law degree.

He was affiliated with Sigma Nu, social fraternity, Phi Alpha Delta, legal fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho, forensics fraternity and A.F.I., honorary men's organization.

In 1924, Mr. Hancher was admitted to the Iowa bar and a year later, on joining the Butler, Lamb, Foster and Pope legal firm in Chicago, he was admitted to the Illinois bar. Since 1936, he has been a partner in the Pope and Ballard firm there.

He was president of the Iowa Alumni association in 1938-39 and for several years had been a member of its board of directors.

The new university president has resided for 14 years in Evanston, Ill., with Mrs. Hancher and their family of three children, the youngest of which died last week of a rare case of cancer. Surviving children are Virgil Jr., 9, and Mary Susan, 6.

New Room For English Library Addition Will Be Located In Schaeffer Hall

A new English reading room—bulging with the university's best books of literature—will augment the library facilities here this fall.

Located in the spacious Ranney memorial room in the basement of Schaeffer hall, the English reading room is expected to be a "haven" for majors and honor English students.

Comfortable chairs, indirect lighting and a general atmosphere for intelligent study will prevail over the new library.

Furnishings are being chosen to harmonize with the foreign language library located directly above.

Will Teach In Alaska School

Fred Lindenmeyer of West Chester, Ia., who received his B.A. degree in 1938, has left for Juneau, Alaska, where he is taking up school teaching as a new adventure.

Formerly on the varsity football and track team, Lindenmeyer will teach and coach in the Juneau junior high school.

"The high standing of the University of Iowa among the educational institutions of the country is a source of great pride to all of us. Not only should this high standing be maintained, but the University should continue to grow in excellence, and, through its faculty and students, continue to make its full contribution to the cultural life of the state and nation. It seems to me that we can do this best by maintaining a belief in the life of learning and by preserving a sense of values. This will not be easy to do. The tasks and the times ahead appear difficult and challenging, but we shall face them with courage and with confidence."

Pierre Van Paassen to Open Series of S.U.I. Lectures Oct. 21

First Semester To Have Other Noted People

Speakers Brought Here As Part of Liberal Education Program

Pierre Van Paassen, noted foreign correspondent and author of "Days of Our Years," will open the season's series of university lectures at the University of Iowa Oct. 21.

The complete series for the first semester will include:

Van Paassen—Oct. 21
Cornelia Otis Skinner—Nov. 4
Jay Allen and Louis Fischer—Jan. 9

Sigrid Undset—Dec. 5

Popular speakers in the lecture world are brought here for the enjoyment of the university audience as a part of the liberal education program of the institution.

Admission to the lecture series is by ticket which students obtain free of charge at Iowa Union, preceding each monthly lecture.

Van Paassen

Opening the season is Van Paassen, fresh from the battlefields of Europe. The famous correspondent, speaking here Oct. 21 brings his audiences a thrilling account of what is going on inside Europe today and interprets its mighty consequences for the future.

Born in Holland of strict Calvinist parents, Pierre Van Paassen spent his youth in Canada and, soon after the outbreak of the World war, left a theological school to join the Canadian army in France.

His reportorial experiences began on the Toronto Star after the Armistice and led him back to France, to Morocco, Spain, Italy, Syria, Palestine, Russia, the Balkans and Germany.

Cornelia Otis Skinner
Cornelia Otis Skinner, "greatest single attraction of the American theater," will present her famed program of modern monologues here on the lecture series Nov. 4.

Gifted daughter of one of America's first gentlemen of the theater, she is in demand for presentation of her monologues which form the foundation for her career.

Educated at Bryn Mawr, she studied at the Sorbonne, Paris, and the Theatre du Vieux Colombine. She made her professional debut with her famous father in "Blood and Sand."

In addition to her success on the stage, Miss Skinner has appeared on numerous radio programs and is commentator of certain vagaries of daily life which appear in The New Yorker. She is also author of "Excuse It Please" and "Dithers and Jitters."

Sigrid Undset
Third speaker of the season will be Sigrid Undset, Nobel prize winner of 1928 and one of the greatest writers of historical novels. She will come to the campus Dec. 5.

On her first visit to America, Mme. Undset offers special interest to audiences here because of the universal sympathy for and admiration of the Scandinavian people's heroic efforts to preserve from foreign domination their national culture and democratic way of life.

Born in Kalunborg, Denmark, Sigrid Undset is the daughter of a noted Norwegian archaeologist. Her home today is near the scene of some of the heaviest fighting between the German invaders and the Allied-Norwegian forces.

She is author of the famous "Kristin Lavansdatter," a trilogy including "The Bridal Wreath," "The Mistress of Husaby" and "The Cross."

Plan Symposium

A symposium is scheduled for the university lecture of Jan. 9 with Jay Allen, war correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, and Louis Fischer, author and special foreign correspondent for the New York Post and The Nation, appearing as members of the discussion panel.

Jay Allen, as distinguished a lecturer as he is a reporter, is popular for his frank, penetrating appraisals of the swift course of events, told with his own inimitable style and wit.

Known for his informative, unprejudiced reporting of the war in Spain, Allen is co-author of "All the Brave," and is now at work on a two-volume "History of Foreign Intervention in the Spanish War."

Born in Seattle, Wash., of a prominent lawyer, the young reporter was educated at Washington State and Harvard universities.

Louis Fischer, other member of the symposium panel, is author of "The Soviets in World Affairs," "Oil Imperialism," "Why Recognize Russia," "The War in Spain," and "Why Spain Fights On."

College of Pharmacy Manufacturing Laboratory Ready

New equipment has been added to the university's college of pharmacy here, which begins its 55th year of service this week. In the manufacturing laboratory, a new steam sterilizer for the purpose of sterilizing certain medicinal products, will be installed soon. Styled after the sterilizers used in large manufacturing companies, the local machine simplifies the problem of providing sterile products for the University hospitals, since larger quantities of these materials can now be handled. New equipment in the hospital pharmacy, which is maintained by the college of pharmacy, includes actual dispensing of drugs in the University hospitals. Also installed recently in the pharmacy of the hospital have been dispensing units for large quantities of liquids, such as gargles, antiseptics, sprays and lotions. The dispensing units are of glass, holding nearly eight gallons each, with a vacuum connection at the top for filling and on the bottom a glass tap to facilitate withdrawal. A wall case, completing the new furniture which has been added periodically to the hospital pharmacy, has also been installed.

Assistant Pharmacist

Phyllis M. Smith of Davenport, above, who was graduated from the university's college of pharmacy in 1939, has been appointed assistant pharmacist for the three University hospitals. She began her duties here Sept. 1, replacing Marjorie L. Moburg, who had served in that capacity since her graduation last year. Miss Moburg was advanced to hospital pharmacist with the absence granted to T. Elida Larson, also a graduate from the local college of pharmacy, who has gone to the University of Washington to do graduate work. Miss Smith, a member of Rho Chi, national honorary pharmaceutical society, is the daughter of Bert M. Smith, graduate of the local college also, and for many years a practicing pharmacist in Davenport.

Cleaned and polished to high brilliance, the equipment in the college of pharmacy's manufacturing laboratory is ready for another year. One of the finest college manufacturing laboratories, the local department is equipped with the most modern equipment, including weighing devices, steam-jacketed kettles, ointment mill and motor-driven mixing tanks. Robert L. Van Horn, P4 of Council Bluffs, is pictured in the laboratory weighing cascara bark. The manufacturing laboratory is located in a fireproof building, adjacent to the pharmacy-botany building. The maintenance of the manufacturing laboratory as a part of the college of pharmacy provides (1) opportunity for teaching the fundamentals of manufacturing pharmacy, and (2) economical pharmaceutical products for the University hospitals.

Five Headline Concerts Booked for 1940-41 Music Course

N. Milstein To Be Opening Guest Artist

St. Louis Symphony Scheduled for Two Concerts February 6

Five headline concerts have been booked on the 1940-41 University of Iowa concert course, Prof. C. B. Righter, chairman, has announced. The artists are:

Nathan Milstein, brilliant Russian violinist.
Hertha Glaz, young Austrian contralto.
Bartlett and Robertson, noted British piano duo.
The St. Louis symphony orchestra.

"This year's course represents the first season in which we've brought back a number of artists who have been here before," Professor Righter said. "These artists have been among the most popular, and there have been many requests for their return."

Only newcomer to the concert course this year is Miss Glaz, comparatively new to American audiences. She appeared in this country first in 1937.

Milstein opens the course Nov. 13; Miss Glaz is scheduled to appear Dec. 11; the St. Louis symphony will present two concerts Feb. 6 and Bartlett and Robertson will close the course March 12.

Nathan Milstein

Milstein, now an American citizen, was born in Odessa. He studied there and in Petrograd, survived the revolution, and at 19 toured Russia.

He left his native land in 1925, went to Paris, and toured Europe during the next four years. He was introduced to American audiences by Leopold Stokowski and the Philadelphia orchestra in 1929.

Milstein played here as a soloist at the first music teachers and supervisors conference in 1934.

Hertha Glaz

Miss Glaz was born and studied in Vienna. She made her debut at 18, at the state opera in Breslau, toured Austria, Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Russia and was engaged in 1935 as leading contralto at the famous Glyndebourne opera festival in England.

British Piano Duo

BARTLETT AND ROBERTSON

She sang with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in 1937 and toured this nation and Canada.

Toscanni selected her as soloist for an important broadcast of the NBC symphony orchestra last year.

St. Louis Symphony

An established tradition on the Iowa campus, the St. Louis symphony will appear under the direction of its eminent conductor Vladimir Golschmann.

Born in Paris of Russian parents, he was a pianist in childhood, violinist in youth and a concertmaster when he was just out of his teens. He is one of the notable figures in the international world of music.

Walter Damrosch brought

Golschmann to New York. He visited St. Louis as guest conductor in 1931, and was engaged there as permanent conductor of one of the nation's finest orchestras. Founded 59 years ago, the St. Louis symphony orchestra is the second oldest group of its kind in the nation.

Bartlett and Robertson
Ethel Bartlett was born in London; Rae Robertson in Scotland. Each was recognized as an artist when they married.

They present over 100 concerts a year. The duo has toured South America and South Africa, as well as all of Europe, and this year marks their 11th tour of this country and Canada.

Season tickets for the concert series are now available.

Hew Roberts Joins Faculty

Impairments to his health sent Hew Roberts of the British Royal Air Force in Singapore to the calm quiet of the University of Iowa campus.

He was appointed to the educational faculty here last summer and will begin his new position this week as an assistant professor.

"Young, good looking and imbued with love for the work in his field," Prof. Roberts is an Australian by birth, British by training and scholar by choice.

His main interest is the educational system of Germany in the 19th and 20th centuries. He is a graduate of the University of Western Australia and was a student at Oxford.

It was at Oxford, too, in the same college, that he met Iowa's Paul Engle, one of his good friends. Professor Roberts came to the Iowa campus for the first time in 1938 to visit Engle.

Four times a visitor to Germany, with a background that extends over almost the whole of the continent, Professor Roberts likes it here in Iowa. It's quieter than in Europe.

Add a Pinafore To Your Wardrobe For Fall Wear

You'll find a pinafore the best all-round addition to your college wardrobe this fall.

This versatile frock can be worn with a man-tailored flannel shirt for classrooms, football games or hikes; with a satin or chiffon blouse it's as dainty and feminine as any date dress you'd require. Try soft rich colors, deep greens, wines or blues. Rose or bright red is novel; equally attractive and more basic are gray and the darker colors.

No rest for Dad. When he finally puts away the furnace and snow shovels it's time to pick up the broom and mop and start house-cleaning.

A fall of pink snow has been reported in northern Italy. Golly, it looks as though the Russian influence is already becoming apparent.

Radio Station WSUI to Inaugurate New Programs This Fall

Writing to Be Discussed On Air Waves

Faculty Members Will Broadcast On Varied Subjects

With power increased five times, with new studios, equipment and transmitter, with a greater scope of public service to listeners, with a truly fine selection of programs all Iowa radio listeners will choose WSUI as a popular place on their dial this year.

WSUI now operates on a daytime power of 5,000 watts with 1,000 watts at night. All programs originate in the new three-story studio building, and are broadcast through the new out-of-the-city transmitter west of Iowa City. Included in the new transmitting equipment is a directional radiator designed that WSUI may better serve all parts of Iowa.

Many new programs are being inaugurated on the station this fall with hopes that a more interesting schedule of broadcasts will be available for the listener's enjoyment.

Outstanding among the new programs is the "Writers Workshop of the Air," believed to be the only one of its kind on the air.

From every state in the union and from foreign countries, students come to the University of Iowa to write and to study writing.

Now, through radio, it is possible to extend some of the facilities of this famous writing program from the campus to all Iowa.

Well-Known Speakers

In a series of informal afternoon talks, well-known teachers will discuss four kinds of writing and related problems of publishing. The program will be heard Monday through Thursday from 4 to 4:30 p. m.

Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism and winner of a Pulitzer prize in 1939, will speak on "The Short Story," Mondays; Prof. C. E. Stanley of the English department, "The Essay," Tuesdays; Winston Allard, instructor in the school of journalism, "Magazine Articles," Wednesdays, and Paul Engle, lecturer and author of four books on poems, "Poetry," Thursdays.

The story of how the world's three dictatorships, Germany, Italy and Russia, came into existence, will be the topic of broadcasts of the new Monday, Wednesday and Friday program at 7 p. m. to be given by Prof. Hew Roberts, new member of the college of education. "Why Dictatorship is the title of this new program.

Prof. Ilse Probst Laas of the Spanish department will conduct a new broadcast, "Pan American Airwaves," to be heard Tuesdays at 7 p. m. Recent and interesting current events concerning our neighbors to the south—Mexico, Central America and South America—will be discussed.

A new program, "Your Language," by Thomas Scherbeck of the English department, will endeavor to trace, both for the layman and teacher, the direction of growth of the English language. The program is scheduled each Saturday at 11:30 a. m.

To inspire patriotic loyalty and unity throughout the nation is the purpose of a new program series on WSUI conducted by Dr. Jack I. Johnson of the political science department, entitled "Land of the Free." Heard Mondays at 3:30 p. m., each broadcast will be built

Miss Mohill, who received her B.A. degree in psychology, was awarded the certificate for her essay, "Leonardo." Langland, who has been a student here for the past two years, was honored for his poem, "Norwegian in America." He attended Santa Ana junior college, Cal., and taught for two years in a rural school in Wineschick county, Minn. A new program series, "Ten Years at Troy," based on Greek legends and telling of the 10-year war between the Greeks and the Trojans, will be heard Fridays at 3:30 p. m.

"Classroom Motion Pictures," a narrative written from actual procedures for radio use will be a new program scheduled each Friday at 4:15 p. m. In preparing the broadcasts a script writer for WSUI will visit the visual education department of the University of Iowa, watching the steps in taking and preparing an educational motion picture for classroom use.

"That Reminds Me," written and presented by James S. Nelson each Wednesday at 9:15 a. m., tells of 1890 days in the small town of Pamela, now dying out, but which was once alive and flourishing. An old pioneer, who has seen the town expand and decline, tells these stories of the days of the mustache cup and the bustle.

The music department will present a weekly series of classical music programs during the year, entitled "The Music Hour," scheduled each Wednesday from 8 to 8:45 p. m.

Each Thursday at 1:15 p. m. WSUI will present "Country Landscape," a dramatic serial written by Elizabeth C. Wherry, who lives on an Iowa farm. University Theater Gains Nationwide Fame

Students Eager for Theatrical Knowledge Congregate for S.U.I. Training

Neophyte Walter Hampdens and Katherine Cornells, fresh out of high school grease paint, are eager for a crack at theatrical fame in University theater, where—if the Muse smiles on him—his spark may be fanned to glowing stardom.

Despite discouraging calculations of odds—3,000 to 1—against his success, the embryo player seeks learning and acting experience in the now-famous theater which has produced at least one established dramatist.

Richard Malbaum, just last spring—Richard Malbaum, now established as a Hollywood scenarist and Broadway playwright, returned to Iowa to see his latest play, "Middleton Mural," have its world premiere in the department where he received his training.

Prof. Edward C. Mabie's department encourages all students to do creative work in the field and awards degrees for work in playwrighting and acting assignments. The experimental theater, testing ground for students' new plays, sometimes raises the curtain on a real discovery and members of the "First Nighters" club get the thrill of a Broadway opening. As when "BeeBee," written by a Negro, Arthur Clifton Lamb of Prairie View, Tex., was interpreted by Negroes in its debut here last year.

Henderson Forsythe of Monroe City, Mo., played his first bit part here in 1937 and last summer completed his work by playing in the closing summer show, "Tobias and the Angel." It was his 18th role! For his part in three plays he received the first M.F.A. degree granted by this department.

Carolyn Hill Stewart, a Negress from Charleston, W. Va., received her master's degree for her role of Oparre, the Malay princess in Anderson's "Wingless Victory."

Students interested in lighting, set designing, direction or costuming have ample opportunity for creative work. As an example, just last summer session, Professor Mabie tried something of an innovation in dramatic art departments, by producing six plays in as many weeks.

Visiting staff members this summer included Thomas Wood Stevens, former director of the Globe theater at the Chicago World's Fair; Frederic McConnell, director of the nationally famous Cleveland Play House; Bess Whitcomb, director of the Oregon Federal theater, and many others.

Each play was produced five times and University summer theater-goers will recall many highlights of each production.

They will remember the acting of Verner Haldene of Des Moines as Scanarelle in Moliere's "Don Juan"; and how Henderson Forsythe looked in his red 17th century costume, the creation of Elisabeth Hooker Parsons, New York designer, the most brilliant costuming University theater has seen in some time.

Professor Gillette Prof. Arnold S. Gillette's set for "You Can't Take It With You" will be remembered, as well as the prop crew's work in collecting the household museum.

The ensemble work done by the "American Landscape" company highlighted the Elmer Rice play.

Theater-goers will remember "Coriolanus," for it is an opportunity to see a seldom-produced Shakespeare play.

Dramatic triumph of the season was "Wingless Victory," one of the best plays University theater has done in recent years. Everyone talked about the brilliant work of Carolyn Stewart in the leading role. And this was the first time the Malay princess had been interpreted by a Negro actress.

T. W. Stevens Thomas Wood Stevens, who directed three summer plays, introduced a novelty in presentation in "Tobias and the Angel," and the audiences will certainly remember the golden angel chasing the green dragon.

It was a summer of varied shows in University theater. And this year's staff promises a rich winter season for patrons—and, naturally, for the eager young Hayeses.

Each play was produced five times and University summer theater-goers will recall many highlights of each production.

They will remember the acting of Verner Haldene of Des Moines as Scanarelle in Moliere's "Don Juan"; and how Henderson Forsythe looked in his red 17th

A Chance for Experience

Electrical Engineering Laboratories To Build Vacuum Tubes

The electrical engineering laboratories here are being equipped to build vacuum tubes—the kind used in radios.

"Undergraduate students," said Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the electrical engineering department, "will be given an opportunity to work in the new laboratory."

Building a radio tube consists of several simple operations; assembling of the parts, sealing them in a glass envelope and pumping the air out. But the process is beset with difficulties.

Students will begin their training with the construction of a simple tube of two parts—a tungsten filament (electron emitter) and a nickel plate (electron receiver).

These parts are welded on to the lead-in wires of the stem, such as you see on the bottom of your radio tube. This complete assembly is called the mount.

In enclosing the mount in the bulb, great care is used in the heating and cooling of the glass to avoid cracking. An exhaust tube now remains as the sole connection between the outer atmosphere and the inner tube.

Church Groups Representative At University

Friendship and united devotion to ideals are the keynote of the student church groups on the University of Iowa campus.

Meeting weekly or at set dates, the religious groups offer devotional as well as social hours for their members. Many social events are planned by the groups during the year, and picnics, hikes, hayrides, buffet suppers and dances have proved popular in the past.

The groups that are active on the campus include the Newman club (Catholic), Hillel club (Jewish), Negro forum, Roger Williams club (Baptist), Christian student group, Congregational student group, Episcopal student group, Wesley foundation (Methodist), student associations of the English Lutheran, St. Paul's Lutheran and Zion Lutheran churches, Westminster fellowship (Presbyterian), Fireside club (Unitarian) and student group of the Reformed church.

University of Iowa Campus Social Regulations for Year 1940-1941 Announced

Weekly Hours For Women Set at 10:30

Rules for Chaperons, Approved Places For Parties Listed

Social regulations for the University of Iowa for the year 1940-41 have been announced by Dean E. M. MacEwen, chairman of the university senate board on social organization and affairs.

The regulations are as follows: 1. The closing hour for all houses and dormitories shall be 10:30 p. m. each night except Friday and Saturday nights; and the night preceding a holiday, when the closing hour shall be 12:30 a. m. Women attending approved 1:00 a. m. parties must return to their residences by 1:30 a. m.

2. Undergraduate women shall be in their houses at the appointed closing hour unless late leave has been granted for special activities, such as reporting, play practice, broadcasting, or any university function held during the week. When such permission is granted, the undergraduate woman is required to set down on the house report the place to which she is going and to sign in at the hour of her return. In such cases it is understood that the return home will be made as soon as possible after the close of the event. On Friday and Saturday nights 12:30 a. m. is the latest hour permitted. Permission to be out later than the closing hour shall be obtained from the Dean of Women.

3. The list of places approved for university student social functions includes: all university buildings, fraternity and sorority houses, and those places which are approved by the social committee and are on file in the social committee office at Iowa Union.

4. No student social functions may be held outside of Iowa City. 5. No student social functions may be scheduled in conflict with an all-university party or any all-university event such as the Dad's Day dinner, the Mother's Day dinner, etc. To avoid such conflicts students should check the calendar of events in the president's office before scheduling any social functions.

6. All social functions for university students must be reported, with names of chaperons given, by 5:00 p. m. on the Wednesday before the function is held. Two couples are required as chaperons for smaller group functions, with a mature faculty couple as the senior chaperon. All student parties must close at midnight except the ones designated by the social committee as one o'clock parties.

a. When the social function is held in a group residence, such as a dormitory or chapter house, the house mother is to assume the responsibility of chaperonage. The social committee encourages the invitation of faculty guests to these house functions. Groups who do not have house mothers in residence are required to have two couples as chaperons for house functions.

b. When a social function is held outside the group residence, the required two couples are necessary as chaperons.

7. Social functions not planned in advance may be held in the group residence provided the house mother is present. In such instances, the house mother shall be responsible for making a complete report of the function to the social committee office in the Iowa Union.

8. Dances may be given only on Friday and Saturday nights or the night preceding a holiday, except

THE PARTY LINE

Gleaming satin drapes, colored lights, fluttering dance programs, vivid evening gowns of women—all these go to make up the most exciting parties of the year, the all-university dances.

Held in the main lounge of Iowa Union on dates to be announced later by the university social committee, nearly a score of these big parties have become traditional in the social annals of the university. Music for dancing is supplied by the "big name" bands of the country.

Various departments and professional schools sponsor their own closed parties. Lawyers entertain at the Barristers' Ball and the medical students give the Aesculapian Frolic. Caps Caprice is the party given by the nurses and dentistry students turn out for the Apollonian Frolic.

Brass Buttons
The most glamorous party and by far the most colorful scene of the year is the Military Ball, given by that department. Brass buttons and the presentation of the honorary cadet colonel make this party outstanding.

Commerce students are in their element at the Commerce Mart, and students in the college of engineering introduce their queen and honor St. Patrick at the Mecca Ball. The Pica Ball is the annual festivity of the students in the school of journalism.

Noted for its informality is the Pep Jamboree, sponsored by Pi Epsilon Pi, local pep fraternity. The student board of Iowa Union always plays host at Club Cabaret, a super-formal dinner dance.

Each of the four university classes entertains members of the other three during the year at the Freshman Party, the Sophomore Cotillion, the Junior Prom and the Senior Hop. Hawkeye Yearbook beauties are announced at the Junior Prom.

I-Blanket Hop
Celebrating the football season are the I-Blanket Hop and the Homecoming Party. Women have revenge during two parties, the Spinners' Spree and the May Frolic, both given by U. W. A. It's the men who must be invited to these semi-formal affairs.

Finishing the year's fun is the Commencement Party, when senior students must say farewell to university life.

Hillcrest and the Quadrangle join for several parties during the year, including the Hill Quadrille, Currier Hall and Eastlawn, women's dormitories, each gives

9. Men's organizations shall not entertain young women in their residences for dinner or other occasions without the house mother's being present. It is a violation of the social regulations for young women to call at a men's residence or accept a dinner engagement at one unless the house mother is present or a chaperon provided for the occasion.

University social regulations are in force at all times during the regular academic year.

To Teach Second Semester

From Sweden and the University of Uppsala, Helge Kokeritz will come to the campus the second semester as instructor in the English department. He has been a lecturer at the University of Wisconsin since coming to the United States last spring. He received his Ph.D. degree from the Swedish university in 1932, and has spent 12 summers traveling extensively through Europe. He served as associate professor at the Uppsala university, where he wrote numerous publications.

Closing hours for university women are extended from 12:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. for four parties—the Sophomore Cotillion, the Junior Prom, the Military Ball and the Senior Hop.

Recreation For Students

Tate-Arms House Has New Room For Amusement

"Tate-Arms," new boarding house for Negro men on the campus, has a new motto these days.

"Feel at home and have a good time," as the housemother, Mrs. J. A. Tate, puts it. So she's constructing in the basement of her new house, 914 S. Dubuque, a recreation room to be known by the "boys" as the Elbowvices, Iowa City churches.

Another asset to the boarding house will be the home cooked meals prepared by Mrs. Tate. Large enough to house 15 boys, "Tate-Arms" is ready for the fall term.

Additional Pharmaceutical Equipment Added to Veteran Druggists' Museum

Additional pieces of antique pharmaceutical equipment have recently been added to the veteran druggists' museum in the pharmacy-botany building here. The official repository for all antique materials gathered by the veteran druggists association, the local museum maintains interesting displays of pharmacy pieces used by early druggists.

Latest additions include a set of cup weights, donated to the collection by Walter S. Woodworth of Springfield, Ill., who was graduated from the local college of pharmacy in 1924.

The old metal cup weights were from a drug store in Springfield, used about 100 years ago in weighing materials for prescriptions.

Other pieces added to the museum were peculiar, antique glass-stoppered bottles, which will be added to an already fine collection. Dean R. A. Kuever procured the bottles for the exhibit.

An iron mortar of Dutch manufacturing, dating back to the 1850's, was also included among the new collection pieces.

Iowa's Dry Night Club

The Silver Shadow Schedules Opening For November 9

Music, dancing, floor show—it sounds like an advertisement for a big town night club. Take away the "big town" and you'll have it, the Silver Shadow, the University of Iowa's dry night club.

Held in the cafeteria of Iowa Union, the Silver Shadow offers university students the best of campus bands and campus talent in its regular Saturday night sessions. Keynote of the night club is sophisticated entertainment in a sophisticated setting; sparkling silver curtains drape the walls while balloons, colored lights and confetti add to the "party-going" spirit.

Formal dress is worn by the dancers on the opening and closing nights of the Silver Shadow and at several other sessions during the year.

Nov. 9 is the date set for the opening of the night club and other dates are:

Nov. 16, Nov. 28, Nov. 30, Dec. 7, Jan. 11, Jan. 18, Feb. 1, Feb. 8, Feb. 15.

Grant Wood's Latest Picture—'Sentimental Ballad'

The most recent painting by Iowa's Grant Wood has been placed in a traveling exhibition, along with pictures by eight other famous American artists. All pictures in the exhibit were done on a commission by Hollywood, where the artists worked together this spring, getting impressions from Eugene O'Neill's war story, "The Long Voyage Home." Says Grant Wood concerning his picture, "I have title it 'Sentimental Ballad.' The group of sailors, one Norwegian, one Swedish, one Cockney, fascinated me when I saw them on the set. On shore leave after a long voyage through the war zone, they are catching up with their drinking in a Limehouse pub. They begin to sing; presently the sentiment of the song overtakes them and they are all crying into their beer."

Mortar Board or A. F. I.

The Two Campus Organizations Which Draw Students

Ask a university woman what she would like most dearly to have earned and probably she will say "Mortar Board." Ask a university man what organization he would feel most proud to belong to, and he may well answer "A. F. I."

The little black and gold pin that represents a mortar board is the symbol of a national honorary society to which university women are elected on the basis of service, scholarship and leadership.

Five to 15 junior women, are named each spring in a traditional tapping ceremony and they carry on the Mortar Board activities; sponsoring Mother's Day week end, the May frolic and the Smarty party for women with a B average.

Members of Mortar Board for this year are Mary Ellen Hennessy, A4 of Council Bluffs, Martha Lois

Koch, A4 of Evansville, Ind., Josephine Sidwell, A4 of Iowa City; Louise Seeburger, C4 of Des Moines, Eileen Henderlinder, A4 of Onawa, Dorothy Ward, A4 of Iowa City, Betty Addington, A4 of Des Moines, June Hyland, A4 of Traer, Fern Newcomer, A4 of Iowa City, and Beverly Barnes, A4 of Sioux Falls, S. D.

A. F. I. (All For Iowa) is a men's honorary organization. Its insignia is a key showing Old Capitol, with the letters A. F. I.

The ten members of the group are Hugh Ellsworth, C4 of Adel; Bill Rivkin, A4 of Davenport; Everett Hogan, D4 of Epworth; Edward Glazer, E4 of Sioux City; Robert O'Meara, C4 of Cedar Rapids; Dick Feddersen, A4 of Iowa City; Deming Smith, A4 of Toledo; Don Dodge, L3 of Oelwein; Robert McClure, C4 of Des Moines, and John Rhodes, M4 of Ft. Dodge.

Fraternities

On Campus 17 Social Groups At University Foster Hospitality

Seventeen social fraternities on the university campus offer an Iowa City home to their members. Hospitality is the keynote of every house. Visiting parents, friends or alumni are welcome as guests of the chapter at any time.

Special organization is planned for study conditions and many chapters bring their pledges together in study hall, which is presided over by a junior or senior. Others arrange upper and lower classmen as roommates.

Governing the local fraternities is the Iowa Men's Pan-hellenic association. Members of the Inter-Fraternity council this year are Hugh Ellsworth, C4 of Adel, president; James Fox, G of Boone, vice-president; Stephen Swisher, C4 of Des Moines, secretary, and Phil Coontz, P4 of Waterloo and Ray Murphey, C4 of Great Neck, N. Y., executive council.

Social fraternities at the university here are Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Chi, Delta Tau Delta, Delta Upsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Epsilon, Pi, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, Phi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Tau, Theta Xi and Triangle.

Wear Short Skirts With Knee-Length Socks for Winter

Skirts are shorter this season; there's no doubt of it. So take advantage of their short fullness and wear knee-length socks. They're wonderful for cold late fall and winter weather.

But a word of warning—be aware lest a too-long skirt make your socks look like a pair of Grandma's woolens.
