Naval, Marine Units Summoned For Duty

United States Will Be Ready, Knox Declares

Men to Be Notified Individually by Mail Where to Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Secretary Knox ordered 27,591 navy and marine reservists into uniform today after pointedly warning the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis that "if a fight is forced upon us we shall be ready."

The order applied to the entire organized and fleet reserves of the navy and marine corps. It will swell to 239,281 the number of officers and men on active duty, giving the seagoing forces a strength in personnel they have not possessed since the post-World war period.

Five Men Die In Air Crash Near Velasco

FREEMONT, Tex., Oct. 5 (AP)—Five persons crashed to death today as planes piloted by a barnstorming father and son collided in the air a mile southeast of nearby Velasco. The father was among those killed, the son escaped injury.

Fog Over England DOVEN, England (AP)—A chill westerly wind blew last night in the strait of Dover and the sky was overcast with high clouds. Mist covered the fairly calm sea and visibility was poor.

Iowa Woman Elected RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Mrs. Christiana Miller of Council Bluffs, Ia., Friday night was elected vice-president of the Danish sisterhood society at the annual convention here.

30 British Planes Shot Down; Nazis Hint New Blows at 'Vulnerable Spot'

BERLIN, Oct. 5 (AP)—One strong German squadron shot down 11 British fighters in a three and a half hour battle over the English channel today and a total of 30 British planes was bagged in a day of heavy bombing, informed German military quarters declared tonight.

Believe Axis Offensive Against British Empire to Be Imminent

English Cedit Reports German Forces Ready For Smashing Attack

BERN, Switzerland, Oct. 5 (AP)—Signs of an imminent axis offensive against both England and the British empire, dismissed at first as a smokescreen, were regarded by neutral and belligerent military observers alike here today as probably correct.

Disciplinary Action Against Conscriptees To Be Minimized

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Instructions went out to army posts today to use the guard house as sparingly as possible when disciplining the men soon to be drafted for mass training.

Legion Man Will Not Protest Against Reds

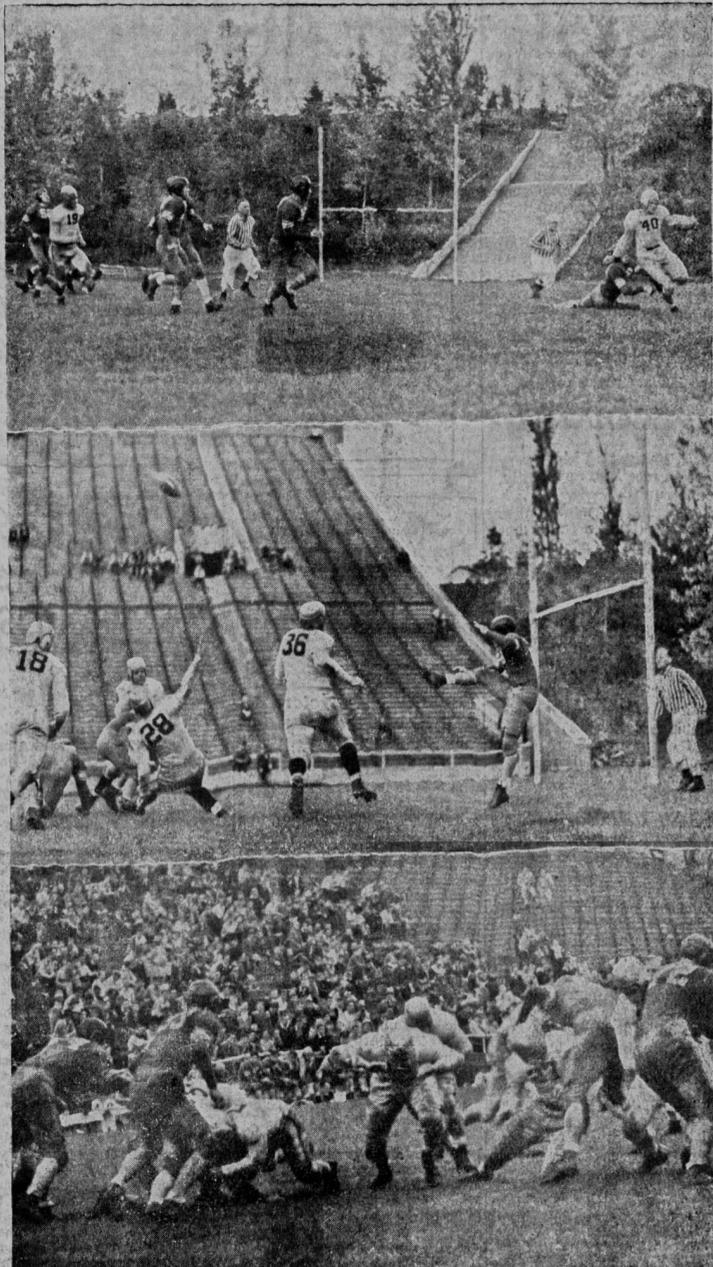

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 5 (AP)—Robert J. Shaw of Sigourney, Ia., commander of the Iowa department of the American Legion, tonight declined to join in a protest against placing the communist party on the November 5 general election ballot in Iowa.

Wilson Names 595 Iowans

DES MOINES, Oct. 5 (AP)—Draft days of the World war were recalled in Iowa today as Governor George A. Wilson recommended the names of 595 Iowans to team up with chance in deciding what men shall be called into military service from this state.

People Recommended Will Decide on Men For Military Service

DES MOINES, Oct. 5 (AP)—Draft days of the World war were recalled in Iowa today as Governor George A. Wilson recommended the names of 595 Iowans to team up with chance in deciding what men shall be called into military service from this state.

There was plenty of action yesterday in Iowa's 46-0 victory over South Dakota's Coyotes in Iowa stadium. At the top here is Bus Mertes, Iowa sophomore, skirting his own left end for a gain and eluding a Coyote tackler in the process. Mertes is number 40 on the Iowa squad. The number 19 in the Iowa uniform is Red Frye, center. In the second picture is Wallace, South Dakota halfback, getting off a punt in the shadow of his own goal posts as the Hawkeyes charge in to block it. The Iowans are Steve Mizen, number 36; Al Urban, 18; and Bill Parker, in the almost sitting posture, 28. The bottom picture shows how an Iowa touchdown must have looked to the Coyotes as Al Coupee, behind Bruno Andruska in the center, plows four yards for the score. Number 27 of the Hawkeyes is Charles Tollefson, left guard, who is keeping his man out of the play.

Sparks Fly As Campaign Grows Warmer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Wendell L. Willkie talked strategy with republican party leaders of New York yesterday while at the other end of the Empire state democratic Attorney General Robert H. Jackson was accusing the republican nominee of "snobbery" in his campaigning.

'Iron Mike' Enich Plays But Few Minutes, Yet Shows All-American Calibre to Crowd Of 20,000; Few Passes Tried

Iowa and Coach Eddie Anderson staged their 1940 football preview yesterday, rambled down Iowa stadium for 322 yards and an impressive total of seven touchdowns, yet left 20,000 spectators still wondering just what drama had been the central attraction of the high-scoring "premiere."

The Rains Came— But Iowa's Team, The Band—Everybody Opened the Season

Well, how did it go, University Treasurer Hamborg asked Guard Ham Snider as the Iowa Hawk emerged from the dressing room after yesterday's game. "We've got the stuff," Ham replied. "All we've got to do is use it."

LONDON, Oct. 5 (AP)—A German submarine was blown out of the water and destroyed by bombs dropped from a Sunderland flying boat in the Atlantic a short time ago, authorities disclosed today.

Anti-Aircraft Barrage Greet Night Visitors On Approach to City

LONDON, Oct. 6 (Sunday) (AP)—Nazi bombs smashed down into central London early today, their earth-quaking thud heard above the consistent roar of anti-aircraft guns.

Anderson, whose 1939 Iowa eleven was famed for its players who could go the full 60 minutes and win the game against fresher and bigger foes, turned 40-odd Iowans loose against the Coyotes, changed entire line-ups every few minutes and saw his players score in every quarter. At least half a dozen of the ball-toters stamped themselves as potential game-breakers, yet the long-debated questions of a regular halfback and of an aerial attack were left dangling in mid-air, with promise for both and proof for neither.

For the left halfbacks, the box score listed all four members of the eligible number at about the same percentage, each capable of excellence at some of the three threats, but not one giving proof that he could do all three with brilliance. Jim Youel started the game and his kicking was above average, with his passing showing flashes of excellence. But Tom Farmer and Bill Stauss stole the show in the running from the much-disputed post and Bob Bender did a very capable job during his stay in the game. The issue, insofar as could be seen from the stands, still remains to be settled.

Running Game Stronger However, the experts' predictions that Iowa would be stronger on the ground and deeper in reserve strength seemed to find much justification, while the Hawkeyes gave every indication of a defense that will be troublesome to Big Ten foes. Against Iowa's mighty showing of 21 first downs gained from scrimmage the Coyotes could offer but two, with a combined yardage gain of only 40 yards. Anderson, incidentally, put the Hawkeyes to work with a five-man defense at times during the contest, with the best of results to show for the innovation.

Starting from the opening kickoff the Hawkeyes had the upper hand and they never lost it. They were out ahead, 6-0, at the quarter, 13-0 at the half, 19-0 at the three-quarter whistle and then turned loose a four-touchdown blast in the final period.

Gilleard Comes Through In the opening drive it was Burdell "Oops" Gilleard who gave the Hawkeyes the spark, at the same time giving credence to a belief that he has found himself in his second year as a Hawkeye. On the first play after the kickoff the junior right halfback put the Coyotes in the hole with a 15-yard sweep around right end, pulling up in midfield.

A 15-yard penalty was swapped for a 17-yard jaunt by Art (See HAWKEYES, Page 6)

Then, for those who didn't come to watch the band, except incidentally, there was the Iowa football squad. We say "squad" rather than team because up in Vermillion this week they'll be thinking what Iowa thought after the Notre Dame game last year—i. e., that everyone on the Iowa campus played at some time or another during the game except three professors on leave at Harvard.

Action Awaited On Rivers Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—Congress advanced another step toward clearing its legislative calendar today when a senate-house committee agreed upon a bill authorizing $34,500,000 of rivers and harbors projects for national defense.

Will Not Investigate Terre Haute Fire

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 5 (AP)—Earl J. Wynn, agent in charge of the Indianapolis office of the federal bureau of investigation, said tonight that the FBI would not inquire into the $100,000 explosion and fire which razed three buildings of the Commercial Solvents corporation and killed one worker.

Meeting at Brennero - the R. A. F. vs. Nazi Airmen - a Quiet Week in the States-The Hawkeyes Get Underway

(A Review of the Week's News)

The New Axis Agenda

For the sixth time in the history of "the axis that shook a world," Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini met in historic Brennero pass on Friday.

In Italy and Germany, announcements of the results were awaited with the expectation that once again the dictators would astonish the world.

On the agenda for this new conference, following close upon the heels of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo agreement, were:

1. The Balkans,
2. The Berlin pact,
3. The position of Spain,
4. The future of Africa, AND
5. The United States.

While the dictators talked, 130,000 Italian troops massed ominously on the Albanian border near Greece.

Hitler has not yet sprung this new axis secret upon the world, hatched at Brennero. New offensives are in the making, probably diplomatic, conceivably physical.

In the far East, came repeated verbal threats to the United States, threats of "war to the finish" unless this nation casts her lot with the axis, or a least makes no attempt to fiddle in the "new orders" of the East and West.

Nothing New in Britain

A lack of interest shielded the destruction to London dealt during the fourth week of nightly raids on the British capital by Nazi raiders. The same lack of interest shielded the damage to Berlin and German-dominated territory dealt by the R.A.F.

The war for Britain went on, a war of constant bombings and retaliations, with the threat of possible invasion still in the air... while Hitler and Mussolini talked at Brennero...

New efforts were made to negotiate a trade agreement between Russia and Britain—the "great outsider" in the tri-power Berlin pact of last week. The obstacles in the way were earlier British seizures of Russian gold in the Baltic states, Russian seizures of British resources there.

In Rome, the fascist press called the American people "the most ignorant of the white race," but the remark didn't even rate the president's Friday press conference.

In Mexico, another general lost his life. He was shot to death in the staid old Mexican fashion.

The Nation Maintains Decorum

Answer to Fascist Pact

The national week was one of comparative quiet. There was enough bombast in other parts of the world.

Practically nothing of significance happened, yet the week's activities in this nation spelled one significant fact when taken all together: if the axis pact of last week was intended to scare the pants off Uncle Sam, Adolf Hitler certainly missed another bus.

Because the order of the day on the nation's diplomatic, economic and preparedness fronts was: aid to Britain and more aid to Britain.

The "help the British" campaign is progressing at a great rate, the nation's chief executive said.

Senator King sought reductions in British indebtedness to the United States in consideration for Pacific naval bases.

From Britain came a note of confidence created by an increasing flow of American planes to the Isles.

Canadian flyers may even come down to enroll in private aviation schools in the United States.

The navy set about organizing a new force of 125 ships in the Atlantic. The major part of the fleet clung to the Pacific.

Congress granted $1,482,000,000 for conscription and other military purposes.

United States military experts made an extensive survey of the British Bahamas, looking for likely naval and air bases.

And Mr. Roosevelt chuckled at the story in Wendell Willkie's New York Times to the effect that the axis is seeking his defeat at the November polls. The reason was foolish: Rome doesn't like his foreign policy.

No More Guns on Martinique

Hints came during the week that the Vichy government in France is planning to augment the fortifications at the island of Martinique, French possession in the western hemisphere. The state department's countenance clouded, as did that of the White House, and there was a distinct "nothing doing" attitude in the air.

THE CUP THAT CHEERS

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

Politics Among The Nation's Actors

NEW YORK—Some actors strike out boldly with their political affiliations, as do Melvin Douglas, who is leading a Hollywood drive for the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt, and Robert Montgomery, who is lining up all the votes possible for Mr. Willkie.

Others are very cagey about expressing political opinions. It isn't supposed to be good business. An actor plays to Democrats as well as Republicans, and if he wears a badge for one side on his lapel, a reaction may set in at the box office.

I was discussing this the other day with Alan Dinehart, who admitted that unfortunately this was true. The discussion grew out of an idle question of mine as to Broadway's opinion on the coming election.

"How are most of the actors going to vote?" I asked him.

"Oh, I don't know," he said, "I haven't given it any thought. When you give performances every night of the week and sometimes in the afternoon, as we have been doing in 'Separate Rooms' for months now, you don't think about those things much. You haven't time."

"I suppose that's true," I said, "but I've noticed a good many campaign buttons around the theater, and I thought you might have heard some of the boys express an opinion."

It was then that Mr. Dinehart, who is an excellent actor on the stage but not such a good one across a restaurant table when politics are in the air, suggested that actors could do a lot worse than keep their opinions to themselves. "But really," he said, "I haven't given the campaign much thought."

There was a little pause, then he said, "But let me tell you this..."

What he told me I am not at liberty to divulge. He was talking wholly off the record. But his talk lasted for half an hour. It was uninterrupted. It was one of those sudden, impromptu things. It was a political lecture such as I have seldom had read to me. It praised and it damned. It flayed one of the candidates alive and tossed a whole truck load of nice sentiment at the other. For a man who hadn't given the election any thought it was a stump speech that either of the campaign managers would do well to adopt. When it was over we both had to laugh.

"Well, that's the way I feel about it," Alan Dinehart said.

I told him I appreciated his confidence and that I would respect it. I don't blame him for avoiding controversial issues, especially when those issues affect people to an extent that they might conceivably eat into his career as an actor. As the heat of the campaign grows, instinctively you find yourself placing unjust premiums on the button a man wears in his lapel.

All Broadway and New York too, is just like this. Let two or more people come together, waiting for a bus, or a cup of coffee, and you will hear the names "Roosevelt" and "Willkie" as sure as sunrise.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Reviews of Three Of the Latest

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Christmas in July." Written and directed by Preston Sturges. Principals: Dick Powell, Ellen Drew, Raymond Walburn, Alexander Carr, William Demarest, Ernest Truex, Franklin Pangborn, Harry Hayden, Rod Cameron.

Another charming fable from the movies' newest Aesop. This one takes up the chain of events loosed when a bunch of the boys gang up on The Boy with a fake telegram informing him he has won a $25,000 slogan contest.

Sturges has written and directed his story with the same sure, original approach that distinguished "The Great McGinty," but where "McGinty" had a rugged brittleness sparked with satire, the present film sacrifices no satirical humor and yet has an over-quieting of sentimental tenderness quite proper for a Boy Meets Girl yarn.

Jimmy (Powell) works for one coffee company and writes slogans for the rival concern's prize. He can't see marrying Betty (Drew) on his own $22 a week and dreams of copping the contest to set her up in a nice home and buy his mom (Georgia Caine) the bed-davenport she's always wanted. With the frame-up, his jubilation causes him to be fired by the boss (Truex), then rehired, promoted and given his own office.

The prize-giving coffee company, however, has its own troubles. The jury is hung, Mr. Bildocker (Demarest) holding out for his own choice against the pleas and threats of all his fellows. The president (Walburn) is exasperated. When Jimmy shows up to collect, he pays off, and Jimmy and Betty go shopping. They buy everything in sight for the neighborhood folks—and then the prey learns his mistake.

Everything, including his new job, is at stake until Betty comes through with a plea to the boss which wins him a trial, and then—

It's a slim fable, true, and contrived of coincidence. But the script, the dialogue, the playing are gem-like in precision and polish. Sturges' use of incident, of caricature, of pungent commentary on human nature, is highly original stuff.

There's a screamingly funny sequence about the "davenola," a remarkable studio invention which combines bed-sofa-radio telephone and self-airing equipment.

Powell and Drew (the girl gets better all the time) make an gratifying couple, and the character support serves the Sturges purpose exactly. "Christmas in July" is a picture for everybody's list.

"Youth Will Be Served." Jane Withers, Jane Darwell, Joe E. Brown, Jr. Directed by Otto Brower.

Jane is the gal of the swamps, with a moonshining daddy, who saves the day for CCC and NYA. Jane's growing up—in acting and in a bathing suit. There's a sensational young Negro tenor, Charles Holland, whose singing makes you think his future is here already. Pleasant picture, especially as it showcases Jane to better advantage than usual.

There's a Revival In Republican Ranks

WASHINGTON—Republican National Chairman Joe Martin, hat, apparently had a notation with some advance information in the lining of it, when he claimed a revival of republican interest.

The notation reported that the Gallup and other coming polls would next register a break and reversal in the preponderantly pro-Roosevelt trend of the past few weeks. Willkie percentages would be up several notches, "he said. The changes are supposed to be sufficient to cast high doubt on the election, when measured against the accepted margin of possible error.

Private polls by certain republicans in localities such as the Chicago stockyard district likewise have served to whet the board of opposition high commanders, although these are always more impressive to those who hear about them.

Whatever their effects on outsiders, they suggest clearly the sudden fanfare of republican enthusiasm is not synthetic, not just the usual talk to whoop up the balloters before the balloting.

Willkie, too, has obviously found his punch in recent speeches.

As the republican insiders tell it, he lost it at the outset of the campaign in a plethora of advice. The liberals and conservatives each took hold of one of his wings after Philadelphia. Pulling their usual ways they succeeded only in tearing him apart for his Elwood opening.

The candidate began to get the zing into punching at Coffeyville and Amarillo, and hit his Philadelphia stride at San Francisco (first of his speeches to arouse any noticeable enthusiasm.)

His improved standing in the polls may be traced largely to recent speech reaction in the territory he has covered.

Defense officials have apparently come to the conclusion censorship can occasionally be justified in the public interest. They have had experience.

Commissioner Knudsen and the chief of staff, General Arnold, got off a plane at a regular stop in a southwestern state recently to be met by a lone native citizen. He came up and announced he knew an excellent airplane factory site that could be obtained for the price of $1 per acre. They inspected the land, which adjoined the regular commercial landing field.

Very much interested by now, they reboarded their plane, but before the door was closed, their informant, the lone native, rushed up breathlessly and announced:

"I made a mistake about the price of that land. It's $20 an acre.

Similar "mistakes" have been encountered generally, whenever N.D.C. or the war department manifests interest in purchasable sites. In one case, a necessary site mistook itself up from $400,000 to $700,000 and finally to $2,500,000.

Concealment of interest is being maintained now.

These are the closing days of congress when peculiar legislators are impatiently cleaning up everything in sight and a few things that aren't.

Most interesting of the latest species of legislative phenomena was a sugar amendment slipped into the new quota bill in the senate by Senator O'Mahoney. It sounds as if O'Mahoney, a native beet sugar senator, wanted to decrease the price of sugar.

It provided that the renewal of existing quotas "shall not result in excessive prices to consumers." But as later explained to the house, it would do the opposite. It would "firm up" (that is legislative talk for increase) the price to the producer but would "cause the consumer to pay no more. Senator O'Mahoney may be assigned to settle the budget next year the same way — by "firming up" spending and reducing taxes.

But more abstruse was a bill passed by the senate designed to thwart the importation of "national stolen property" into the United States. Its general terms sounded as if Mr. Roosevelt would be empowered to block off from these shores any foreign property seized by the nazis, stalinists or other confiscation regimes in Europe. Actually behind its broad wording, it was primarily a move to break up the deal which the Sinclair Oil company made with the Mexican government for importation of oil from seized American wells.

The house, slightly dazed as to exactly what it meant, killed it.

Teach Child When Curious, Doctor Says

The Child Study club opened its 1940-41 year with a luncheon in the foyer of Iowa Union yesterday at 12:15. Guest speaker for the association was Dr. William F. Mengert, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology.

Dr. Mengert addressed the club on the subject, "Laying the Foundation for Sex Education." Stressing the fact that the foundation of sex education depends on parental knowledge, he said, "Sex education begins and should be completed in the home."

"The child should be taught when he is curious," continued Dr. Mengert. "At that time the parents should have a knowledge of general sex education." A general discussion followed the address.

Mrs. Arnold Small, president of the group, opened and conducted the business meeting. During the business meeting reports of the June conference were given by Mrs. D. M. Spear and Mrs. W. T. Hageboeck.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 9. At that time Mrs. Bartholow Crawford will review, "There's No Place Like Home."

Alpha Phi Omega Operates Guide Service; Sponsors 'Clean Up' Campaigns

"It's only 30 seconds longer by the walk" represents one of the several signs erected on the campus by the local chapter of Alpha Phi Omega.

Omicron chapter is one of 100 chapters of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, over the United States. Established 15 years ago at Lafayette college in eastern Pennsylvania, the service fraternity now has a chapter in every Big Ten school and is represented on many of the major college campuses throughout the country.

A beautiful campus has been the major project of the local chapter. The members have also sponsored an organized guide service and the information booth maintained during registration by the local chapter has proven a great aid to many confused students.

A blood donating station, ushering at different occasions on their campuses, campus clean-up campaigns, vocational guidance conferences, and book collections are among the many services of Alpha Phi Omega chapters on other college campuses.

T. W. Lacy, national field representative, from the national headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., was a guest of the local chapter yesterday. Mr. Lacy assisted local members in planning a membership drive and in interesting university students in the organization.

Don Mallett, student counsellor in the dean of men's office, is sponsoring Omicron chapter. Assisting him are Prof. Walter Daykin of the college of commerce, Prof. Claude Lapp of the physics department, and Prof. Ethan Allen of the political science department. Local officers include Hugh Ellsworth, C4 of Adel, president; John Stull, A3 of Corwith, secretary, and Lewis Lapham, A3 of Charles City, treasurer.

A room in the old music building has been donated by the university to the organization for its use. Students who were formerly members of the Boy Scouts of America are eligible for membership.

Hospital Heads Address Group

Burlington Convention Emphasizes Nursing Of Infantile Paralysis

Dr. Arthur Steindler, head of the orthopedic department in the college of medicine here, Dr. T. J. Greteman and Helen Foss, chief physiotherapist in children's hospital, addressed the Iowa State Association of Registered Nurses' convention in Burlington this week, on infantile paralysis.

Because of the recent increase of infantile paralysis cases throughout the state, Dr. Steindler, Dr. Greteman and Miss Foss were asked to speak at the convention. Their discussion of infantile paralysis was concerned primarily with the aspect of nursing care.

Lois Corder, director of the school of nursing, was also included in the group of speakers. Miss Corder is chairman of the Iowa State committee on Red Cross nursing service. Her report to the convention concerned the American Red Cross.

Other members of the school of nursing who attended the convention were Beatha Baumbach, Ruth Boyles, Constance Clark, Mary Dickson, Lola Lindsey, Bertha Kampmeier, Rozella Schlottfeld and Grace Yackey.

Flora Weber, children's hospital supervisor, and Alice Miller, clinical nurse in the college of dentistry's infirmary, also attended.

District Six Clubs Gather to Discuss Four-Point Program

District six of the Federated Business and Professional Women's clubs, made up of organizations from Anamosa, Cedar Rapids, Davenport, DeWitt, Maquoketa, Monticello, Muscatine and Iowa City, will hold its annual fall meeting today in the river room of Iowa Union, beginning with the registration of delegates at 9:30 this morning.

At 10 o'clock, there will be a panel discussion by members of the clubs taking part in the year's work. The work this year will have a four-point program: (1) to increase by 10 per cent member participation in the club program; (2) to use the national program; (3) to increase the membership by five per cent, and (4) to cut down turnover by two per cent.

The discussion will be followed at 11 o'clock by a business meeting, and at 12:30 a luncheon will be served in the river room. Mrs. Virginia Bedell of Spirit Lake, the state first vice-president, will be the speaker at the luncheon. Mrs. Bedell is a new member of the state board of parole, the first woman ever to hold this office.

Immediately after the luncheon, Mrs. Dwight K. Curtis, accompanied by Mrs. Maude Whedon Smith, will sing two songs "Spring Song of the Robin Woman," by Cadman, and "Cloths of Heaven," by Dunhill.

The program will close with a business meeting and a tea at 4 o'clock, to be served by the local organization. The tea table will be decorated with flowers. On the committee in charge of the tea will be Mrs. T. A. Kelley, Mrs. Doris Smith Whitney and Mrs. Mabel Evans.

Mildred Huessner of Muscatine, the district director, will preside during the day.

Women's Club To See Styles During Meet

At a social meeting of the Iowa City Women's club tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in the club-rooms, a style show will be presented by Townner's department store.

Visual Presentation Puts Emphasis on Teachability--McCavick

Local Teacher Suggests Use Of Key Tests

Group Hears Hadley Discuss Rural School Problems With Films

Harry L. Johnson, executive assistant of the extension division, presided at yesterday's session of the visual instruction conference, where the use of visual aids in classrooms, from grade school through college, was discussed by educators.

Donald W. McCavick of Iowa City junior high school opened the meeting with his talk of "Visual Education in Junior High Schools."

Speaking of the value of visual instruction in education, McCavick stated that "visual education makes any subject more teachable." He went on to describe the value of films, field trips, slide projectors and other types of visual aid.

Tests, key questions, discussion of subjects shown and study sheets were listed as successful methods of helping the pupil to obtain the most from the film subjects.

Too Many Films
McCavick stated that one prevailing fault of teachers showing films was that of trying to show too many at one time, thus causing confusion in the pupils' minds.

The second speaker was C. G. Hadley, superintendent of schools in Woodbury county. Speaking of "A County Visual Education Program," he explained the system of showing films to rural schools in a county. He emphasized the importance of correlating the films to be shown with the material being taught.

Lewis Peterson, member of the visual aids service of the University of Illinois, spoke on "The Relation of a University Instruction Department to the State." He cautioned the group against renting film from unreliable renting companies.

He pointed out that films need skilled care and the visual education departments are best equipped for such needs. Then too, many films supplied by renting companies are not adaptable to the classroom.

The visual education departments in the universities are able to give the best service in helping schools to set up their own libraries, he explained.

Dolph Lain
Following Peterson's talk, Dolph Lain, director of visual education in senior high school, Moline, Ill., gave a talk on "Administration of a High School Visual Program."

Lain explained the system of visual education used in Moline and described a system whereby students are given courses in visual education and care of equipment and thus allowed to take more part in the program.

Prof. H. A. Riebe of Iowa State Teachers college spoke on "Visual Aids in the Elementary Field." He advised better instruction to the teachers to show them how to introduce the films into the proper setting for the pupils.

Much of the purpose of the film is lost when a pupil expects to see an entertaining film and receives instead an instructional one, he explained. To remedy this situation he suggested a course for teachers to be formed to help them to teach using visual aids.

Sound Equipment
Closing the convention was a demonstration of new sound recording motion picture equipment by staff members of the visual instruction department.

In the afternoon a demonstration of how color motion picture films of football are made was given by Lee Cochran and Vernon Putnam of the visual instruction department.

New Program Heard on Air For Children

Adventures over the air—adventures from the pages of a story-book—these are presented on the new program "Adventures in Storyland," beginning tomorrow afternoon at 3, over station WSUI. Beverly Barnes, A4 of Sioux Falls, S. D., will read the story "An Ear for Uncle Emil" on tomorrow's program.

"Adventures in Storyland" is designed to interest elementary-grade children in literature. The program will be presented twice weekly—the Monday broadcast for the third- and fourth-grade pupils, and the Thursday presentation for fifth- and sixth-graders. The stories are chosen from a list of books recommended by the Iowa Pupil's Reading Circle.

The program is directed by Dwight Curtis of the university elementary school, and the list is compiled by Curtis and Mabel Snedaker, children's reading specialist, of university experimental schools.

Iowa's New Sound Recording Equipment

New sound equipment for the production of sound educational motion pictures in the visual instruction department here, was demonstrated yesterday in connection with the conference on visual instruction. Pictured with the new equipment during the demonstration are Lee Cochran, supervisor of the local department, shown at the recording machine (center); John Hefferman of Iowa City, behind the camera, and Nels Olson, superintendent of Calamus schools, standing before the microphone.

Glockenspieling to Glory

Iowa Band Forgets Nothing as Righter Astounds Hawkeye Fandom

By BOB RUTENBECK

While the Iowa gridders gave the fans a hint of things to come yesterday, the Hawkeye football band wasn't exactly loafing on the job.

The 125-piece, "double-header" band, under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, performed brilliantly in staging the most difficult opening-game routine ever seen in Iowa stadium.

Featured with the band in the impressive flag-raising ceremonies were the famous Scottish Highlanders, directed by William Adamson, and the Pershing Rifles and Pontoniers, crack drill squads from the military department.

Wagnerian Fanfare
As the band prepared to enter the field before the game, it greeted the fans with a thunderous Wagnerian fanfare, directed by Arnold L. Oehlson, assistant director of bands, and featuring the herald trumpeters.

Led by drum-majors Jean Hedlund, A3 of Des Moines, and James Burnside, A1 of Shenandoah, the band then swung down the field to the tune of "Avalon."

The crowd rose to its feet as the flag was raised, while the band played the national anthem. To leave the gridiron before the game, the "red-coats" used a symmetrical cross-field exit, done to the familiar strains of "Smiles."

Glockenspiel Duet
"Music in the Air," a glockenspiel duet by George Baldwin, A3 of Cedar Rapids, and Hollis Mounce, A1 of Jefferson, set the theme of the half-time routine.

As a greeting to South Dakota visitors, the band formed a large "S. D." facing the east stands, and sang the new S.U.I. "Welcome Song." After a cap salute to the visitors, the "red-coats" formed a moving block "I" on the west sideline.

Professor Righter then directed the "Iowan" fanfare, and the spotlight was taken by the Scottish Highlanders for another of their intricate routines.

Highlight of the afternoon was a tribute to Iowa's Iron men in the form of a band "football team" which broke out of the word, "TEAM." As different sections of the band took the place of members of a football team, they played a special, novelty arrangement of "She'll be Comin' Round the Mountain."

The tune was played in the manner of a bass solo, trombone smear, bugle call, clarinet solo, oriental dance, a Strauss waltz, and was climaxed by a "hot" drum break. After a chorus of "Iowa Fights" the "red-coats" jogged off the field in typical football team style.

Maneuvers
For those fans to whom the tricky maneuvers of the band are a source of continued amazement, here's how it's done. Obviously, the 125 men can't be coached individually, because they average only three rehearsals per game and must know about 16 tunes and from 8 to 12 complicated formations.

But Professor Righter and his band assistant, Oehlson, have worked out a system of charts in which each man has a number. Used by Oehlson in his work with bands at the All-Star games in Chicago, these charts show every move made and every tune played by each man while he is on the field. New charts are made for each game, so the "red-coat" routines will bear as close watching as the plays of the gridders.

Uniqueness
An unusual situation arose this season when Professor Righter discovered that he had three sets of brothers in the band. The brothers, John and James Burnside of Shenandoah; Kirkland and Robert Brace of Maywood, Ill., and Robert and William Rutenbeck of East Nation, are out to make the band a family tradition. Not related in any way, but adding to the "double-talk" during roll call are three Andersons and two Meanses.

The "red-coats" will appear for the third time this season at the Dad's Day game Oct. 12.

Jack Latimer, G of Corning, popular piano artist will direct the show and present piano selections.

Merrie Heetland, A3 of Sibley, and Al Soucek, D2 of Iowa City, will appear as singer and instrumentalist on tomorrow's program.

Selections to be heard include Gershwin's "The Man I Love," "Blue Hawaii," "I'll Never Smile Again," "So Do I" and "Cross Town."

Car Accidents Spoil Record

Three in Iowa City; Cedar Rapids Man Hurt Near Oxford

The chances for a perfect traffic record during the current football season were shattered last night as three accidents were chalked up for Iowa City and several more reported throughout Johnson county.

William Dearborn, Cedar Rapids, with two friends, was returning home following the game, when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car, police said, and ran into the ditch. Unconscious, Dearborn was taken to Mercy hospital.

The accident occurred about three miles northwest of Oxford on a dirt road. The two passengers escaped injury.

A. D. Hagen, manager of the Avery Furniture company, struck an unidentified car at Melrose and Melrose Circle yesterday afternoon.

Hagen was traveling east on Melrose when the car ahead of him stopped suddenly. The Hagen car struck the unidentified vehicle, police reported, damaging a front fender.

The other car, undamaged, is said to have been driven from the scene of the accident.

Liquor Charge, Auto Violation Against Iowan

State highway patrolmen yesterday apprehended Thomas C. Ford, Cedar Rapids, on a charge of illegal transportation of alcohol.

Ford, who police said had been drinking, was stopped for not dimming his lights and for reckless driving about one half mile east of Iowa City.

Patrolmen E. W. Cummings and Ivan Franklin said they found three gallon jugs and several bottles of rubbing alcohol in his possession.

Ford was held over night in the Iowa City jail. He will be tried in the local court this morning.

Derringer Evens Series Count for Reds, 5 to 2

Coyotes Tackle From All Angles

Pressbox Pickups

There's really only one department of the statistics from yesterday's game that tells a story—that is the punting average column. The rest is only a measure of Iowa's superiority over South Dakota, which isn't, after all, a Big Ten team.

Average punt yardage for South Dakota was 31 yards, not an impressive figure, while Iowa had only a 34-yard average for its four kickers, Tom Farmer, Jim Youel, Bill Stauss and Bob Bender. There were some good punts by the Hawkeyes, but work in that department was spotty.

Flashes of brilliant booting included a 55-yard quick kick by Tom Farmer, a "Coffin Corner" boot by Farmer that went out on the seven and a couple of lengthy kicks by Youel. But only part of the punts were actually high class and, as Dr. Eddie Anderson says, "We'll probably have to kick once in a while."

It might be noted by Iowa and Iowa fans that the next opponent, Wisconsin, turned in the mid-west's most sensational win yesterday. The Badgers, who weren't rated so highly in that game, pounced on Marquette's dangerous Hilltoppers and the net result was a neat victory for the Badgers.

Purdue is another team that threw a bit of confusion into the hands of the experts. After all, you can't overlook the Boilermaker feat of nearly whipping the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State. But, otherwise, it was pretty much of an ordinary Saturday, with Minnesota trimming Nebraska's "paper" champions, Michigan downing Michigan State, Northwestern losing a tremendous broadside against Syracuse and Illinois trimming Bradley. Only setback for a Big Ten school in non-conference competition was Indiana's defeat by the Longhorns of Texas. All of which leaves the Big Ten ahead of outside competition by a score of 10 to 1.

As occasionally happens, some defensive work stood out as a high point of yesterday's game and it was Iowa's Capt. Mike Enich who did the tackling. Enich, plowing into Coyote runners with force enough to knock the yard markers out of line, gave an impression that all the help he needed was a backfield.

As is usual in opening games, the Hawkeyes ran into an uncomfortable number of penalties, some for sizeable losses, while South Dakota, in its third game of the season, had far less difficulty along that line. Combined Iowa loss on six penalties was 80 yards, as against South Dakota's 26 yards on half as many penalties.

Coach Eddie Anderson shared the same feeling as his players and expressed it like this: "I was well satisfied with the boys. They showed a lot but will have to show a lot more next week. They have a lot of hard work ahead of them before the Wisconsin game."

Iowa used a five-man line against the Coyotes and held them to two first downs. Anderson sent in three different lines but each defense worked effectively. Anderson offered this about the line play: "I was especially satisfied with the defensive play. The five-man line proved effective and was devastating to South Dakota running plays."

The four sophomore left halfbacks who saw action yesterday took their first varsity football game in stride. Bill Stauss, who went around right end for one touchdown and returned a punt 60 yards for another said: "It sure is a long shot from being like high school football but the goal line is there just the same."

Jim Youel, Tom Farmer, Bob Bender and Stauss have all been working for the left half post that has been a big question mark in Iowa's lineup. Each boy congratulated the other on his play as they left the dressing room.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 5 (AP)—Illinois opened the 1940 football season today by defeating Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., 31 to 0, before a crowd of 25,000 veterans and boy scouts.

The Illini, held to a scoreless tie last year by the Peorians, dominated throughout the game, although unable to score in the first half.

Shortly after the second half kickoff, stocky Joe Turek, Illinois right guard blocked Ken Olsen's punt. Dave Dillon recovered on Bradley's 12-yard line. A flat pass, Johnny Workman to Ralph Ehn, was good for a touchdown. George Rettinger ran the ball across for the point. Bradley then advanced into the Illinois territory for the only time during the game, but Ken Cheeley, center, intercepted Olsen's pass on the 18-yard line.

Buckeyes Slip Past Purdue

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 5 (AP)—Golden-haired, golden-toed Charley Maag, six-foot three-inch tackle, booted a field goal with 21 seconds to play today as Ohio State, battered and bewildered by fast and fighting Purdue, beat the Boiler-makers 17 to 14.

A crowd of 54,556 sat tense as the blonde giant plummeted the winning placement between the uprights from the 12-yard line and then tossed a terrific cheer as they realized the Bucks had captured the opener in defense of their Western conference football championship.

Ohio, outweighing Purdue by about 15 pounds per man, was prohibitive favorite but the Boiler-makers refused to concede anything—even after Ohio led 14-0 at the half.

Bidding their time, the Boiler-makers took the third period kickoff and drove 72 yards for a touchdown. Fullback John Petty plunging over from the one-yard line. They came right back in the fourth period to knot the count with a 51-yard march which ended with Substitute Fullback Bill Bufington going over.

Ohio also had long drives for its markers. The Bucks in eight plays marched 65 yards to score in the first five minutes. Nick Fisher, the "Columbiana" Clipper, got the marker on a three yard plunge. In the second session, intercepted one of Hursh's passes on the Indiana forty four and twisted his way to the six.

A 42-yard march brought Indiana its touchdown in the final quarter. Harold (Red) Zimmer reeled off a 20 yard run and passes from Mickey McGuire to Ray Dumke and Howdy Elliott, plus a penalty on Texas for unnecessary roughness, gave Indiana a first down on the one-yard line. Dumke scored around right end but the try for point failed.

Indiana had the edge in first downs, 15 to 8, but only three of them came from rushing. The Hoosiers gained only 11 yards net by rushing, but they piled up 234 yards by completing 19 of 35 passes. Texas gained 106 yards by rushing; only 48 by passing.

Crain's dashes through the Indiana line and the booming Texas punts, which averaged 43.5 yards, kept the Hoosiers back on their heels much of the time.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 5 (AP)—All-America Tom Harmon roared down the touchdown trail again today and scored three times as Michigan's Wolverines rolled to a 21 to 14 victory over an airminded Michigan State football team. A crowd of 65,438 witnessed the performance, virtually a one-man show.

In contrast to his long gallops against California last week, terrible Tommy this time dashed across the goal line on runs of 13, 9 and 2 yards. He placekicked all three extra points and ran his scoring total to 49 points in two games this season.

The Spartans went through the air for their touchdowns, Sophomore Walter Pawlowski, speedy halfback, making catches for gains of 45 and 37 yards. Pawlowski and Quarterback Bob Sherman each booted an extra point.

But it was primarily Harmon's show. Spinning around end and slashing through tackle, the 190-pound Gary, ind., senile, darted through for a touchdown in each of the first three periods. The weary Spartans were willing at the finish to call him "tandem Tommy"—he looked like two guys out there.

The statistics gave Michigan a wider edge over State in the 35th renewal of their intrastate rivalry than the score indicated. The Wolverines rolled up 19 first downs to five for State, and marched for 321 yards by rushing to 49 for their opponents.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin's football stock, which almost hit bottom last year, rebounded vigorously today as the Badgers defeated Marquette 33 to 10.

A crowd of 35,000 watched the scrappy Badgers, on the short end of a 12 to 6 score at halftime, combine a brilliant passing attack with a dependable running offense to score one touchdown in the first period, three in the third, and another in the last quarter. Marquette countered twice in the second period, and again in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter.

George Paskvan, fullback, scored twice for Wisconsin, while Don Miller, halfback, David Schreiner, end, and Hadley Hoskins, left halfback, both sophomores from Lancaster, Wis., contributed one each.

Indiana's Aerials Fail to Click In Pay Dirt; Texas Wins, 13-6

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 5 (AP)—Indiana's aerial attack clicked everywhere except deep in enemy territory today and a more versatile University of Texas team, led by Jack "Rabbit" Crain, handed the Hoosiers a 13-to-6 setback in their football opener. The crowd numbered 17,000.

For the Longhorns it was victory No. 2 of the current campaign. They beat Colorado last week.

After turning back two Indiana threats in the first period, Texas scored in the second quarter after Malcolm Kutner blocked Hal Hursh's attempted quick kick and the Longhorns recovered on the Indiana 16. R. L. Hawkins went over from the two-yard line and Orban Sanders added the extra point by picking up his blocked placekick attempt and running across the goal.

Crain smashed over right tackle in the third period for the second Longhorn touchdown after he had intercepted one of Hursh's passes on the Indiana forty four and twisted his way to the six.

A 42-yard march brought Indiana its touchdown in the final quarter. Harold (Red) Zimmer reeled off a 20 yard run and passes from Mickey McGuire to Ray Dumke and Howdy Elliott, plus a penalty on Texas for unnecessary roughness, gave Indiana a first down on the one-yard line. Dumke scored around right end but the try for point failed.

Syracuse Falls 40-0, to 'Cats; Blond Bill Stars

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Northwestern university's football came east to open their season today, and found everything in readiness for them except a football team.

The girls were pretty, the sun was bright, and the turf in Syracuse's Archbold stadium was springy and green. The Syracuse football team, however, was only green and soggy, so that Northwestern had practically no trouble at all in winning by 40-0.

For Blond Bill DeCorvont it was a particular field day. The junior halfback, given more newspaper space in his high school days than Hedy LaMarr, finally showed himself to have developed into a full-fledged football player.

When he had to run wide, he started fast and kept going that way. When he had to hit the line, he drove all the way, instead of hesitating waiting for an opening, as he did his sophomore year. When he had to punt, he spotted his kicks precisely, and when he passed he hit his receivers five times out of five the last two helping to set up his own second touchdown.

DeCorvont scored twice and thus shared touchdown and offensive honors with his classmate, 215-pound Don Clawson. Clawson spent most of his time toting his weight into the inept Syracuse line to good effect. That's the way he took over the first score. But on his second he leaped between Syracuse passer and receiver to pick an aerial out of the blue and sprint 42 yards over the goal.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 5 (AP)—Notre Dame, perennial contender for the national football championship, swept over Amos Alonzo Stagg's little College of the Pacific team today, 25 to 7, opening the 1940 campaign with an impressive display of power and deception.

Stagg, beginning his 51st year as a coach, put a courageous and smart eleven on the field, but was overpowered by the abundant talent of the fighting Irish.

A crowd of 30,000 spectators, thrilled to the first quarter scoring drive of Stagg's underdog machine, but it soon became evident that the invaders were overmatched.

Alternating a smooth passing attack directed by Dale Halbert with a tricky ground game, the Golden Tigers drove 60 yards against the Irish regulars in the opening period. Dwayne Mears scored the touchdown on a center plunge from the one and Emil Seifert place-kicked the point.

Gives 5 Hits To Mates' 11; Wins, 5 to 2

Bill Werber Leads Cincinnati Attack On Three Hurlers

By Judson Bailey BRIGGS STADIUM, DETROIT, Oct. 5 (AP)—The courageous Cincinnati Reds—couraged back onto even terms in the 1940 World series today by muzzling the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 2, on the five-hit pitching of Big Paul Derringer.

The Reds raided three Detroit pitchers for 11 hits and were always on the attack, to the amazement of a crowd of 54,093 who turned out for the fourth fracas of the annual autumn classic.

They kept up a more or less constant shower of hits, but the important contribution to the conquest was the strong-arm hurling of Derringer.

It was the fifth time the 33-year-old Kentuckian had started in a world series, once when he was breaking in for the St. Louis Cardinals and four times with the Reds, and this was his first victory.

He went into today's tussle as a bit of surprise strategy on the part of Manager Bill McKehnie and determined to stifle the Tiger sluggers. He did it with the same stout-hearted elbowing that he has used to pull the National league champions out of many another tight hole.

He was wild at the start, but the longer he pitched the tougher he became, giving no hits and no walks after the sixth inning.

The Reds, in the meantime, had pounced on Paul (Dizzy) Trout for two runs in the first inning and shelled him off the mound before he got anybody out in the third.

As usual the bell cow of the Cincinnati club was Bill Werber, who went to the plate five times and got on base four—with two singles and two walks.

Mighty Gophers Bash Potent Nebraska, 13-7

Play Pays in Victory

Minnesota Also Muffs Five-Chances Three-Yard Line

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 5 (AP)—Iowa's Gophers smashed an opponent in their challenge to gridiron glory today by routing Nebraska's potent skiers, 13 to 7.

A crowd of 41,000 saw Bernerman's now thoroughly outfit cut down veteran Minnesota in a game which Minnesota could have won by two touchdowns. Two drives around the five-yard line.

Line play paid off for Iowa. After Nebraska rallied seven points in the period, the Gopher broke the hearts of the Minn. fans by stopping Nebraska's final comeback bid with eight and seven yards successive plays.

The Washington game which Minnesota won last week, the contest was studied as a model of spectacular play. Daly, sub set up the first Minnesota drive in the second period. A 48-yard dash to the five-yard line, Nebraska in the end went 48 yards on a drive then Herman Rohrig led to Henry Rohn for a touchdown and the tally.

Minnesota went out in front on a pass, Smith to Co-Johnson, end, good for 15 in the closing period. Minnesota opened the game by rambling down to Nebraska 15 where Smith field goal. Nebraska did next when Prochaska blocked punt, Nebraska recovered the Gophers' 36, but stalled around the five-yard line.

Minnesota's 16 followed by a short punt to the end, blocked punt, Nebraska recovered the Gophers' 36, but stalled around the five-yard line.

Hawks Serious After Game

Anderson Satisfied With Offense, Defense, But Players Reflective

By WARREN CURRY Daily Iowan Sports Reporter
Hilarity may reign in some dressing rooms after such a trouncing as Iowa's brigade of football players gave South Dakota yesterday afternoon, but the Hawkeyes were far from hilarious as they doffed football regalia and donned street clothes.

There was nothing seriously wrong to account for the sober faces, but the 46-0 victory was just a stepping stone toward stronger foes and nothing to cheer about.

Coach Eddie Anderson shared the same feeling as his players and expressed it like this: "I was well satisfied with the boys. They showed a lot but will have to show a lot more next week. They have a lot of hard work ahead of them before the Wisconsin game."

Iowa used a five-man line against the Coyotes and held them to two first downs. Anderson sent in three different lines but each defense worked effectively. ## Michigan Clips Michigan State As Harmon Scores All Points

Cyclones Trip Kansas, 7-0

AMES, Oct. 5 (AP)—Iowa State's Cyclones clicked just once for a touchdown here today and then spent the rest of the afternoon staying off the Kansas Jayhawks for a 7 to 0 triumph in the Big Six conference football opener.

Hank Wilder, 200-pound Cyclone back who was the terror of the conference two years ago, set the stage for the scoring when he riddled the Kansas line with his drives near the end of the first period.

Hammering Hank, who two weeks ago said he wasn't going to play football this year, singlehandedly carried the ball from the Kansas 32 to the eight. Halfback Paul Darling hit the line for three yards as the quarter ended.

A Kansas offense as the second period opened pushed the Jayhawks back to their one-yard mark. Royal Lohry, sophomore quarterback, hit the line for the touchdown, and Darling, another sophomore back, placekicked the point.

Vols Outtrick Duke, 13 to 0

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 5 (AP)—The Tennessee Vols' grid prestige, punctured in the 1940 Rose Bowl game, was patched and pumped up skin tight today with a sparkling 13 to 0 victory over "one of the best football teams in Duke history."

Forty-two thousand sun-saturated fans sat amazed as Coach Bob Neyland's team, forsaking for the first time the solid old army game, ran the legs from under the Blue Devils with a tricky new shift, some fancy ball juggling and more passing than Vol fans have seen in a long time.

Luther Defeats St. Olaf, 12-6

NORTHFIELD, Minn., Oct. 5—Striking through the air twice, Luther college today defeated St. Olaf, 12 to 6, in a homecoming football game.

Luther's first touchdown march in the second quarter began on the Ole's 32-yard line. Carey passed to Jacobson for a first down on the Ole 20, and Woodie-wiss lateralled to Jacobson for the touchdown.

The Norsemen counted again in the third quarter on a Woodie-wiss lateral to Jacobson who ran 3 yards to score.

Special bulletin from the cleaners' press! MODERN CLEANERS is the place in Iowa City where you can have a real odorous cleaning job done on that new tweed suit. For a sideline, their service is also shrink-proof and fade-proof. One day delivery. Call 5915 for pick-up service.

It seems that the same Sigma Nu pin that recently rested on Julie Weaver, Pi Phi, is back on the vest of one Tom Loudon... but then, that's the way things go... here today and gone tomorrow...

It's a universal fact that everyone likes to be flattered. And that is just exactly why ANDERSON'S STUDIO is in business at 118 1/2 East Washington. Just tuck that idea away in the back of your mind, but be sure to bring it out again when the time comes for the Hawkeye pictures. You'll never regret it.

Don't be a snitcher and cut that picture from your roommate's mag, cause she'll soon need it for her own art, advertising or speech class. The early bird gets the worm, so get your mags with those clippings at the MAGAZINE EXCHANGE, 102 S. Gilbert. Exchange or buy, and you'll give a cry and a sigh when you find those ads you want. "THE CONSULTANTS KNOW-WHERE TO GO"

Be a bright and shining beam! Put a new coat of paint on that little dresser you picked up to keep your odds and ends in. STILLWELL'S carries a complete color selection in good, hard finish, luster enamels and paints. And when you get your paint, don't forget that very necessary little item of a brush. STILLWELL'S is handily located at 216 East Washington Street.

It might be "Springtime in the Rockies," but it's clean-up time in your room at Iowa U. And where are you going to hide those clothes you are saving to send home in that next laundry bag? Under the bed, in your closet? No! It's in that neat, smart looking seat or laundry hamper which you find waiting for you at the GADD HARDWARE store. Prices are as low as 98 cents, so be at neat soul, and hide that stocking with the hole.

Johnny Walker: "Hey, Mary, how's about meeting me tomorrow and taking my Sigma Chi pin? Don't let anyone tell you that this conscription business has anything to do with it."

You can have your hair fixed sophisticated, you can have the darlingest formal in town, but if you haven't got your make-up to blend with your complexion, you'll have to be a Raggedy Ann and date a Raggedy Man. Be wise and shop for your cosmetics to blend with your coloring at BOERNER'S Pharmacy.

Lightly and politely dirt is swished out of everything and anything by the new modern equipment of NEW PROCESS laundry. Your white shirts will come back to you looking as white as a lily and the outlined colors of your colored things will stand out like a sore thumb. Never wonder where to send your laundry while you're in Iowa City. If you're gonna do it, do it right. Call the NEW PROCESS LAUNDRY and let them do your things the way they should be done — as clean as the Dutch and as pure as falling snow and as reasonable as you can find. NEW PROCESS.

VARSITY BALL ROOM — Swing-happy students can work off their energy from now on in the VARSITY BALL ROOM because it's formally opened for the season. And when we say opened, we mean opened in all of the glory of the word. A schedule of super orchestras have been booked to amuse and amaze you, so grab a date, and don't hesitate. It's the VARSITY BALL ROOM for the smart young man who knows where his women like to go. VARSITY BALL ROOM, upstairs.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so forget your studies for a day to play at the DUCK PIN BOWLING ALLEY on North Dubuque. You'll find bowling one of the best exercises for those stiff muscles and so much fun that before long you'll make the alley your foster home! Call 9927 for reservations.

Bets are being placed on whom Homer H. Hildenbiddle, Sig Ep, will grace with the big pin this year... But then, this has happened so often before... (shades of Pix Miller and his Mrs. Pettibone).

The I-Blanket Hop will see you looking like a million in some of TOWNER'S dressy shoe stock. We were amazed at the newness of a shoe we were shown this week, that has a "window" front of plastic. Don't be satisfied with seeing it on the display rack because when you get it on your foot it will look even better. We know—we have tried it. Carved wooden heels are another new novelty in the way of shoes and TOWNER'S have them at a price you can pay. And those plastic heel dummies, too, will add to anyone's shoe situation. Lamour the merrier.

Start your entrance to Iowa City off with a good impression. The DAVIS CONOCO STATION is waiting at the corner of Burlington and Clinton streets on Highway 6 to welcome you with that famous Conoco personal courteous service. You'll find them a friend in time of need.

Last year the iron men set Iowa City on their ears. This year's sensation is the Campus Supply store. The students are recognizing the good deal they are getting from CAMPUS SUPPLY and are responding en masse to this store which has set out to serve the students and not themselves. The owners wish to thank the entire student body for their out-of-the-ordinary cooperation with the store. Long before they were ready to serve all of us they opened their doors, but S. U. I. students overlooked these deficiencies and came through wholeheartedly with their patronage.

Do your trading at "your" book store, the store that's in business to help you, not only to make a profit themselves. The Campus Supply Store will serve you amply and sell you your needs at reasonably small prices. Join the Club Membership now and enjoy all the benefits the other hundreds of S. U. I. students are capitalizing on.

"You Can't Beat Fun" (before an Iowa slogan since B.P. before prohibition)... and it looks like a fun personified for the movie coming up Wednesday at the STRAND THEATRE... Rosalind Russell and Brian Aherne together in a fast laugh producer, "Hired Wife," will give SUI students entertainment what is... one you'll all chalk down as a movie you wouldn't dare to miss... The coming attractions are as inviting as a class that doesn't meet... $9.95...

A runner in your new hose? The mending service at 20c per stocking found at the H & H HOSIERY STORE will change your unhappy hose situation into a happy one over night. The H & H HOSIERY STORE is the student headquarters for colorful socks and lovely, durable hose. Two doors south of Strub's.

Should you be tiring of wearing sweaters and skirts to classes, then why don't you drop into GREEN'S and look, try and buy one of their sporty woollens. They also have the best selection of dress-up dresses in town. If you should be wanting to make a big impression on "him" at the I-Blanket Hop wear a dressy velvet or silk that will make him stop and look. Don't be green and come into GREEN'S where they have the clothes you want. GREEN'S for dresses!!

WILLARD'S again lead the field by introducing to Iowa City coeds one of the newest things that's hit the dress industry for ten years. It was introduced in California last year and the wave of enthusiasm has swept east, taking the dress industry by storm. The trade name is Matletex and although that might be an entirely unfamiliar word to you now, in a few months every girl will know it as well as she knows her own name. The makers of Matletex take their materials and pucker them up with elasticized thread. Naturally the fit is perfect because the material can then stretch to fit any figger. It's the same policy that was used on your bathing suit last summer. Matletex is smartly turned out in flannel and gay woolen plaid in combinations of red, brown, green, blue, gray and black with the magic adjustability of Matletex giving the perfect fit. Formals of jersey, velvet and any other material you want for that new formal you can have in a Matletex style. Be smart and Matletex your wardrobe. You can take our word for it that it is to be the thing of the season. WILLARD'S — under fourteen dollars.

Be smart Freshies, and first learn your "p's" and "Q's" of where to get your hair fixed for those first exciting college dances. As smart as the ladies in Vogue you'll be, if you drop in at the VOGUE BEAUTY SHOPPE, or Dial 7552 for an appointment.

One of the most important moments in a girl's life is the time she buys a new formal and as a rule it takes hours. The Campus Consultant can tell you how to do it in about five minutes and we aren't just dreamin'. All we ask you to do is to take a good look at STRUB'S north window. That's all there is to it. Their display of formals and evening coats is the best Iowa City has seen in many a day. Everything in the window is featured in the latest Mademoiselle and that's the best way to assure yourself of the best buy, the best in style in America. When you've picked your formal, then look especially at the white fitted evening coat distinguished from the run of the mill by the United States Emblem on the sleeve. It's Simplicity herself and glamour personified. Shop on STRUB'S fashion floor and get the latest that the world has to offer you.

Hawkeyes—

Johnson before the Hawkeyes were forced into exchange of kicks. Then, starting from his own 28, Gilleard had the Coyotes with their backs to the wall again. Taking a pass that Youel fired from the Iowa 27, Gilleard rambled to midfield before South Dakota tacklers dragged him down. Four plays later Gilleard and Johnson had pounded to the Coyote 28, from where Youel passed to Steve Mizen, sophomore end, on the 8-yard marker, where the pass was ruled complete because of interference. Gilleard smashed over in two plays, scoring on a one-yard plunge through the line, but missed the try for extra point.

Iowa threatened again before the quarter ended but the drive stalled when Wallace intercepted Youel's pass on the three and then punted out to the field.

New Backfield Scores
With Bus Mertes and Tom Farmer, of an entirely new backfield, driving for three straight first downs, the Hawks got away on another pay-off march early in the next quarter. Farmer climaxed the drive with a furious 23-yard sprint around right end for a touchdown, drop-kicking for the extra point to give Iowa a 13-0 lead.

A big advantage in a punt exchange set up Iowa's third touchdown shortly after the second half opened, with Farmer's 17-yard return to the South Dakota 23 as the starting thrust. Farmer and Mertes rolled down to the 12 in two plays and Hank Vollenweider carried the ball over from that point, on a wide sweep past his own left end. A penalty cost Iowa the extra point, although Farmer's first attempt was good. The second try, with the penalty distance added, fell short.

The Iowa first team entered the game again after that score and began an onslaught almost at once, with Gallagher, Stauss and Murphy plowing to the Coyote 14 as the period ended.

Bill Stauss Scores
Bill Stauss began the last quarter rout with a 14 yard jaunt over the goal line, Galagher adding the extra point. Less than two minutes later Stauss had scored again, this time on the longest run of the day, a 48-yard return of a punt. His kick for extra point was wide, but he redeemed himself shortly afterward with still another dazzling punt return, this time from the Coyotes 36 to the 18.

Big Al Coupee, Iowa's highly-rated quarterback, took up the scoring burden on this occasion, to play over from the four after three line drives had brought the ball into scoring position. Farmer made good on his drop-kick to raise the Hawkeye total to 39.

With still another eleven on the field, Iowa counted its last touchdown, Al Eddy racing the last 16 yards behind four blockers for the score. Bob Bender, fourth of the left halfbacks to see service, kicked the last extra point. After that came still another squadron of Iowa substitutes to bring to 46 the number of Hawkeyes used in the game.

Green Walker on Sidelines
Of the squad, only three members failed to see service. One, Bill Green, was fit for service, but a minor leg ailment is being rested as much as possible so the speedy fullback will be in top shape for the coming Dad's Day game with Wisconsin. The other idle Iowans were Big Jim Walker, the tackle who will probably work opposite Enich on the Iowa team in later games, and George Gable, sophomore who is recovering from a minor leg injury.

In the only casualties of the day, Bill Parker, sophomore end, and the veteran Ken Pettit suffered damaged shoulders. The full extent of the injuries was not known last night.

Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Pact Rushes U. S. Plans for Airports

Will Construct Fighting Fields Along Coasts

Sponsors-States To Contribute Share Of Building Costs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Berlin-Rome-Tokyo pact, bearing new threats to American security, shot a thunderbolt of activity into national defense airport plans.

Officials say they will hasten emergency construction of fighting fields to barricade both coasts as rapidly as funds are available. Projected ideas for concurrent commercial development of air defenses must be held up, they said, but not necessarily abandoned.

The emergency fields first must be requested by local sponsors—states, counties or municipalities—which certify willingness and ability to contribute their share of the cost. This usually will be covered by donations of land, hangars and terminals.

Civil Ports

Then, if certified by the army or navy and approved by the president, the federal government will grade and drain the land, pave the runways, install lighting and radio equipment and erect such additional structures as may be required for exclusively federal activities. These civil ports will supplement first line military and naval air bases.

Authorities did not minimize the extent to which rapid changes in world conditions had upset their long-range plans. Civil and military experts had just begun the outline of 4,000 dual purpose airports expected to cost $500,000,000 over the next six years.

They had only $25,000,000 in hand from the national defense act. Some believed current funds would be used exclusively for emergency preparedness. The house passed an $80,000,000 fund to start work on the 4,000 airports, but a senate committee cut it out of an appropriation bill and its future was uncertain.

Military Necessity

Robert H. Hinckley, assistant secretary of commerce, formally advised all mayors seeking dual-purpose airports that military necessity must be given preference but promised not to lose sight of future commercial air requirements.

"Meanwhile," he advised, "it is well not to delude ourselves . . . This is a serious condition. The conditions are going to be strict. If your airport is selected for expansion or paving or lighting, it will because an important board in Washington has decided it is unusually important to our national defense—and for no other reason."

Hinckley said the long-range plan still proposes to increase the number of high grade civil airports from 36 to about 500; of medium-sized airports from 245 to about 1,600; and of the lowest class from 1,576 to about 1,900.

Alaska Defenses

Other officials said that with Japan getting tough in the Pacific as her contribution to the triple alliance, the army air corps was pressing for second-line civil airport defenses in Alaska. This resulted in the immediate dispatch of a ship from Seattle with equipment to expedite field and radio construction.

These plans called for construction of 11 additional intermediate landing fields and 16 new radio stations.

Initial Alaskan defenses will be financed from the $25,000,000 which was made available to the work projects administration on July 1 and with which the war and navy departments, the civil aeronautics administration and

Did This Hitler Interview Fail of Purpose?

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, right, chats with Ramon Suner, extreme left, chief of Spanish Falangists (fascists) in Berlin, Germany. Though details of their meeting were not disclosed, it was reported Hitler had called upon Generalissimo Franco, Spanish dictator, to enter the war on the axis side. However, following Suner's visit to Berlin and a subsequent trip to Rome, Spain remained a neutral.

U. S. Defense Funds Grow 'Two-Ocean-Navy' Plan Makes Small Construction Starts

By RICHARD L. TURNER WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP)—The United States saw the small beginnings of its much-discussed "two-ocean navy," this week—soon after announcement of the new German-Italian-Japanese military alliance.

Of course, officials would not say so, but the impression arose that the navy's gesture of organizing an Atlantic fleet was a part of the American reply to that pact, an agreement widely regarded as intended to point an axis gun directly at the head of the United States.

Other elements of this country's answer to whatever new situation was created by the treaty had already been made clear, and promptly—American help to Great Britain would continue at, probably, an accelerated pace.

Gesture Only

The organization of a fleet for the Atlantic was a gesture only, because until many fighting ships, under construction or just appropriated for, slide off the ways, there can be no big second fleet in fact.

It consisted in the announcement of plans for a "newly organized force" of more than 125 ships of all types in the Atlantic. It is to consist of the ships already in that ocean—including three aging battleships, a fourth now semi-demilitarized, two aircraft carriers, some 25 destroyers, and certain new cruisers and submarines—together with vessels recently recommissioned, and some new ships as they are completed.

For many years American naval strategy has concentrated the real strength of the navy in the Pacific. It has depended upon the British fleet to keep things in order in the Atlantic, and upon the Panama Canal to provide a ready route for the fighting ships in the event of trouble in the Atlantic.

With Britain now fighting for her life, consideration was given to the position in which the United States would find itself in the event the English fleet should disappear as a guardian of the Atlantic. The answer was enough sea strength to give America full protection from both directions. Congress voted the money for giving the country a second fleet—or for getting the ships laid down—in the present eventful session of congress.

New Danger

As many officials see it, the German-Italian-Japanese treaty was signed with the knowledge that America was fully conscious of the danger lying in the possible conquest of the British fleet and was intended to add a new danger from the west—Japan. In effect, it said, that if the United States became involved in the European war it would face an attack in the Pacific.

Military men, however, regard that as a potential rather than an actual danger—considering Japan's remoteness geographically from her two allies, the fact that she must be watchful of Russia to the north, her internal economic and financial position, and the drain and strain of her still uncompleted Chinese adventure.

But, even a potential danger has to be taken into consideration. The British navy is still functioning to the east, so until that situation is altered, the bulk of the existing fleet will continue in the Pacific.

Army Change

The army, too, announced a change in its set-up during the week, intended to speed up the training of recruits, militiamen and conscripts, by relieving the officers in charge of army "house-keeping chores." Tactical corps area commands, nine in all, are to be established under major generals charged solely with the task of training men. Such things as feeding, clothing and housing the men are to devolve upon the present commanders of the corps areas.

President Roosevelt dislikes the phrase "two-ocean navy." This he revealed at a press conference some time ago. He prefers to picture the navy, whatever its size, as one fleet concentrated in all its might in whichever direction trouble for the country may be brewing, but capable of subdivision in case of danger from two separate points, and equipped with facilities for getting speedily from ocean to ocean—such as another canal, across Nicaragua.

companied by an expansion of the scope of education to include such specialized services as guidance, and by a tendency for youngsters to spend more time in school."

AND NOW AN 'ENGLISH' WHICH ISN'T ENGLISH

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Swiss language scholars have gotten the government to adopt Romansch, an obscure derivative of Latin, as the fourth official language and now they have come out with a fifth. (The other three official languages are German, French and Italian.)

The new lingo is called "Matten-English," but there isn't a word of English in it—or anything approaching English. Even Prof. O. von Greyerz, outstanding authority on Matten-English, has no hope of obtaining official recognition for it. It's spoken more or less fluently by many old people and a few young people in the canton of Bern. It originated with Swiss mercenary troops who traveled throughout Europe in the middle ages. The mercenary warriors, using words picked up from hundreds of foreign lands, slowly developed a secret language of their own. It has no literature, but it's rich in cuss-words.

SHOWER OF HUMAN BONES PROVES LOST MINE LEGEND

PALOUSE, Wash. (AP)—Human bones fell on Delmar Clements and C. A. Smith and erased any doubts they may have had about the story of the lost wheelbarrow mine.

Sixty years ago, the legend said, a prospector killed his partner, dumped the remains into the burrow which had yielded them $20,000 in gold, dynamited the entrance and fled to California, leaving a rifle and a wheelbarrow.

There were few believers left when Dr. C. Landis Treichler said last fall he had found the rifle, the wheelbarrow and the mine, but this spring his crew tapped a rich vein of ore. Smith and Clements broke through to the old tunnel above them and completed the story.

University Plan to Register Draft Eligibles Ready Tomorrow

C. A. Phillips, Barnes Confer On Draft Plan

Governor Suggests 595 Iowans to Serve As Board Members

Harry G. Barnes, registrar of the State University of Iowa, said last night that by tomorrow the school expects to have some plan drawn up for the momentous task of registering students under the nation's draft bill.

The registrar said that he would confer with acting president Chester A. Phillips in outlining the plan.

At the same time, 595 Iowans were recommended to President Roosevelt by Governor George Wilson as draft board members in Johnson and surrounding counties.

Preparations
These were the important developments here yesterday as the country prepared to register all men between the ages of 21 and 35 years for its first peacetime compulsory army training Oct. 16.

Ed Sulek, Johnson county auditor, received the cards which will be used in registration yesterday. They were forwarded here from state headquarters in Des Moines.

The auditor also received a letter from Dr. E. M. MacEwen, dean of the university school of medicine.

"We will be glad to set up a point of registration in the college of medicine," the dean wrote, "to care for all our students and any others who may be eligible to register with such a board."

However, Sulek said, only non-resident students will register with the board, the others contacting boards in their own voting wards.

Governor Wilson
Each of the suggested registering units, Governor Wilson outlined, will consist of three regular board members, a physician and an attorney. After the draft numbers have been drawn following Oct. 16, the boards will have the power of determining who shall be called into service.

Under the plan, each county in the state will have at least one board, the following counties more than one. Polk, seven; Woodbury and Linn, three; Scott, Dubuque, Pottawatomie, Wapello, Lee, Webster, Blackhawk, Clinton, Cerro Gordo and Des Moines, two each.

Governor Wilson said that both labor and the farmer will be given representation on the boards, along with unions, trades groups and world war veterans. He has not, however, recommended personnel for the appeal boards nor has he decided whom he favors for state director of the selective service draft.

To Classify Men
The various boards will classify the men as their numbers are called. The board attorneys will be the appeal agents, representing the government and the selected men. Approximately 325,000 Iowans are expected to be eligible for registration, it is said.

In the cases of draftees who feel they are not able to go into training because of dependents or some other reason, their appeals will be heard by one of four higher state tribunals yet to be created, Governor Wilson said.

The following persons were recommended by Governor Wilson to serve on draft boards in Johnson and surrounding counties:

Johnson county: H. H. Gibbs, Jack Kennedy, Charles Piesler, Atty. R. G. Popham and Dr. George Marech, all of Iowa City. Cedar county: Howard Crew, West Branch; Paul Lohman, Clarence; Atty. L. E. Castlerline, Dr. Paul M. Hoffman and C. F. Simmermaker, all of Tipton.

Iowa county: Mel Augustine, Ladora; Charles Engelbert, Williamsburg; Charles I. Denzler, Atty. J. L. Swift and Dr. I. J. Sinn, all of Marengo.

Washington county: Richard McCleary, Floyd Foster, Atty. Henry Bailey, and Dr. H. F. Masson, all of Washington; and Francis Schnobelen, of Riverside.

Muscatine county: Archie E. Bower, Maynard L. Thompson, Atty. G. A. Allbee and Dr. G. C. Howe, all of Muscatine; and W. J. Barkley, West Liberty.

Guard Ready To Pay Men
Quarterly pay checks for Company G, 136th medical regiment, Iowa national guard, were received yesterday by Capt. E. W. Paulus, commanding officer.

The checks, totaling $1,379.96, cover the quarter which ended Sept. 1.

University Instructors Leave To Attend Detroit Convention

Dr. M. E. Barnes, Dr. Ronald Rooks, Dr. Kenneth MacDonald, Dr. I. H. Borts and Pearl Spanswick, all of the department of hygiene and preventive medicine, left yesterday to attend the various sessions of the American Public Health association in Detroit, Mich. In connection with the convention conferences of health educators and of state laboratory directors are scheduled.

Delta Omega, national honorary society of public health, of which Dr. Barnes is president, will also meet. The convention begins today and lasts until Oct. 12. Dr. R. L. Jackson, of the pediatrics department of the college of medicine, will address the fourth session of the maternal and child health section of the convention. Dr. Jackson's subject will be "The Cardiac Program in Iowa."

Stella Scott Reports at Annual Meeting of Registered Nurses

Dr. Arthur Steindler Addresses Group On Infantile Paralysis

"The past year has brought many accomplishments," So said Stella Scott, head of the university convalescent home, when she reported on the annual convention of the Iowa State Association of Registered Nurses, held Oct. 2, 3 and 4 in Burlington. Miss Scott, who is retiring president of the association, presided at the meetings. Approximately 540 members attended the convention.

Dr. Steindler
One of the main features of the convention was a talk by Dr. Arthur Steindler, head of the orthopedics department, college of medicine, who spoke on the care of infantile paralysis cases.

Another speech was made by Miss Ann Magnuson of St. Louis who spoke on "National Defense and Nursing Service."

Miss Scott, in her report to the convention, talked on "Value of Unity of Effort for Community Health Service."

Meeting at the same time in Burlington was the Iowa League of Nursing Education. Several joint sessions were held with the association.

Officers for the coming year were also elected. Edith S. Courtney of Des Moines was named president to succeed Miss Scott. Bertha Harvey of Davenport was voted president-elect.

Next year the convention will be held in Sioux City, Miss Scott said.

Aila Hiltunen, Johnson county nurse; Margaret Cannon, Iowa City school nurse, and Lois Blanche Corder, director of the school of nursing, were among others from Iowa City attending the convention.

Farm Bureau Hears Beaner
The Junior Farm Bureau of Johnson county will hold a business meeting at 8 p. m. Wednesday in C.S.A. hall.

Dr. R. J. Beaner, veterinarian, will be guest speaker. He is scheduled to talk on a subject of special interest to farm youths.

Plans which have been made for the production of several plays and the possibility of organizing a chorus and obtaining dancing instruction will be topics of discussion.

Lloyd Siders, Margaret Kasper, Gladys Hora and Gale Brooks are members of the committee in charge.

MORBUS SABBATICUS (Sunday Sickness)
BY CHARLES BECKMAN

This disease is quite widespread and its symptoms are easily recognizable. The patient arises as usual, on Sunday morning, feeling in perfect health. He eats a hearty breakfast, puts on his slippers, reads the paper and departs himself as usual in all ways. But along about 10:30 a. m. he develops an extreme lassitude which pros-trates him and confines him to the house and which makes it impossible for him even to consider going to church.

When church is over, however, he opens one eye, looks at the clock, rises with alacrity and moves about briskly again. He is always sufficiently recovered to eat heavily of the big Sunday dinner and seems to suffer no ill effects therefrom.

This is a recurrent disease which comes in accurately spaced cycles of 7-days and the patient is not apt to have another attack until the following Sunday, about mid-forenoon. Experiments have been made on many sufferers but no positive cure has yet been discovered. It is definitely established that the disease is highly contagious and it has been known to affect whole families in a short time.

To date, the best results have been obtained from a course of treatment administered by the wives of the patients. This treatment commonly starts with simple urging, is carried on with a verbal outline of one's duties to the community and the importance of setting a good example to the children and sometimes winds up with a good, old-fashioned talking-to. Frequently it works.

Next week Mr. Beckman of the Beckman Funeral Home will comment on Columbus Day.

Fireworks Display Will Be Feature of Pep Rally Friday

A. F. I. Members Give Evening Program Before Oct. 12 Game

The largest fireworks display in the history of the University of Iowa will be a feature of the pep rally Friday night preceding the Iowa-Wisconsin football game, Oct. 12.

A.F.I. with the assistance of Don Mallett of the dean of men's office, has obtained an elaborate display, which includes nine-inch bombs, river display bombs and an "On Iowa" fiery sign which extends 30 feet.

Master of ceremonies at the 7:30 p. m. pep meeting will be Robert O'Meara, C4 of Cedar Rapids.

Mike Enich, A4 of Boone, captain of the 1940 football team and a member of A.F.I., will address the group assembled on the lawn south of Iowa Union for both the team and the organization.

Nile Kinnick, L1 of Omaha, Neb., a former member of A.F.I. and assistant coach in the athletic department, will be a representative of his department.

Others scheduled to speak include an "Iowa Dad" and another member of the athletic staff.

Committee members in charge of the pep meeting Friday are Everett Hogan, D4 of Epworth, chairman; Dick Feddersen, A4 of Iowa City, and O'Meara.

F. R. Berates 'Wild Promises'

President Calls For Simpler Government In Hyde Park Talk

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 5 (AP)—Calling for improvement and simplification of local government, President Roosevelt told a rally of democrats in his home county tonight that "overstatement, personal attacks and wild promises have no part in our county campaign—any more than in a national campaign."

"I am very certain that, realizing this, you will conduct it on the highest possible level of American ethics and decency," he said. "May your efforts be understood and approved by the voters next November."

In the second avowedly political speech since his nomination for a third term, Mr. Roosevelt dealt primarily with local politics, without mentioning specific issues or personalities.

But in the afternoon he had driven Hardy Steeholm, democratic candidate for congress from his own district, to the dedication of three new schools near Hyde Park. Steeholm, for whom the chief executive had said he would vote, is trying to unseat representative Hamilton Fish, ranking republican member of the influential house rules and foreign affairs committees and a frequent critic of the new deal.

Hundreds of his neighbors, half of them school children, heard the chief executive extol the American system of free education as a means of preserving democracy in an address in front of a new high school named for him.

Dictators, he said, had stamped out freedom of learning because "tyranny hates and fears nothing more than the free exchange of ideas, the free play of the mind that comes from education."

The three new Dutchess county schools, for which PWA supplied part of the $1,300,000 outlay, and other American schools, Mr. Roosevelt said, would train the nation's youth—"not for enforced labor camps or for regimentation as an enslaved citizenry, but for the intelligent exercise of the right of suffrage, and for participation as free human beings in the life of the nation."

Then, speaking a few hours later by radio from his Hyde Park home to an annual dinner sponsored by the Dutchess county democratic committee in nearby Poughkeepsie, the president said he hoped the exercise of the right of suffrage locally would bring democratic victories in the Nov. 5 election.

Takes Labor To Pay Fine

Racing on Highway Unprofitable Pastime For Richard Merrill

Richard G. Merrill, 124 N. Clinton, found racing on the highway and zipping around a parking lot near a public school a very unprofitable diversion yesterday, as Police Judge Carson fined him $15 and $1 costs on a charge of reckless driving. Unable to pay the fine, he took four days labor.

E. S. Estey, Iowa City, was tied on a double charge, fined $1 for an over load in the front seat of his car and $10 and $1 costs for speeding. He chose to accept two days work on the latter charge.

Richard E. Green, 1039 Kirkwood, was fined $1 for over-time parking, as were Madeline Colleser, 728 E. Washington, and Meno Spann, 930 Iowa avenue.

Defective brakes cost Frank Hawk, 703 N. Dubuque, $5 and $1 costs as the police began their drive to rid city streets of the "jalopies" menace.

William Gonnell, 416 S. Clinton, was fined $1 and $1.50 costs for failing to stop at an arterial highway stop sign. Robert E. Daly, 509 Jefferson, found guilty of reckless driving, lost his license and his right to drive until December 5.

George Hill, Minneapolis, was convicted of petty larceny and sentenced to ten days in the county jail. Lawrence Morelock, 102 Clapp street, was fined $10 and $1 costs for exceeding the speed limit in a restricted zone.

U. S. Needs Toolmakers

U. S. Civil Service Urges Those Qualified To Make Application

To meet the great demand for toolmakers for the national defense program, the Civil Service commission urges qualified persons to apply for positions. Appointments will be made at ordinance and naval establishments in Philadelphia, Boston, Springfield and Watertown, Mass.; Watervliet, N. Y.; and at Washington, D. C. Wages paid toolmakers selected will vary from $6.24 a day to $11.7 an hour.

Application forms may be obtained from the local secretary, Board of United States Civil Service Examiners, at the post office here or from the secretary of the board of examiners at any first or second-class post office in this area.

Company 'A' Reunion Set For Saturday

A reunion of members of Company "A", 109th army engineers, will be held Oct. 12 in Cedar Rapids, officials said today. The company's headquarters was formerly in Iowa City.

Approximately 20 members of the old company still live in Iowa City and vicinity. The group was formed at the Belle Plaine reunion in 1934. Formed at the same time was a woman's auxiliary of members' wives.

Headquarters of Company "A" was established in Iowa City when the group was part of "The First Iowa Engineers."

During the Mexican trouble in 1916, the party served at Brownsville, Texas. Before going to France in 1918, the company was located at Fort Des Moines, Camp Dodge and Camp Cody at Deming, N. Mex.

Man Injured In Car Crash

John W. Burhop, Clarence, was severely bruised and cut Saturday afternoon when the pickup truck he was driving struck the car of Lyle C. Capper, Lisbon. Capper was uninjured, but Burhop was rushed to the doctor where his wounds necessitated several stitches.

The accident occurred on the county road about four miles east of Solon, at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

Child war refugees temporarily in the United States must return to their own countries after the war.

Bob Monger - - - The Ice Cream Vendor

Bob and His Airedale Become Familiar Sight on Iowa Campus

By ALICE KENWORTHY "Only a fudgecicle and a frosted skyrocket left . . ." So we took the fudgecicle.

Bob was picking up stray papers for his garbage container in preparation to closing shop for the day.

For more than four years, Bob Monger has been refreshing university students with popicles and other specialties from 2 to 5 p. m. when the weather is favorable.

Every year with the first warm weather, Bob and his little brown and white wire-haired Airedale dog can be seen about town starting business for the season.

"'Pooch' is a bit dirty right now," Bob apologized, "but she's a pretty dog when she's cleaned up."

Few persons know the vendor's last name but nearly all university students call him "Bob." "Pooch" is Bob's only tie. They have been close friends for four years.

During the summer, Bob has a regular route which he covers in Iowa City. He makes it a point to visit several of the celebrations during the year and regrets that the past summer was so cool. "I could just break even," he confided.

The popicle vendor has eyed the new crop of feminine students with approval and says they look pretty good to him. He also wishes to go on record as saying that the university is "a pretty swell school."

Bob hopes we won't have to go to war and is confident that the defense program is something we have needed for a long while.

"If England will just hurry and knock off those Germans so that we won't have to worry about the Japs, we'll be all right," he speculated.

Business was falling off because of the approaching dinner hour. Bob and "Pooch" were ready to leave the corner across from Old Capitol.

We said "goodnight" and watched Bob, his Airedale and the little white popicle wagon push off up the street.

Bob had high hopes that warm weather will hold through mid-October.

Baptist Church School Advance Will Begin Here This Morning

Baptist church school Advance, a national movement among northern Baptist churches in America, will be launched this morning in the First Baptist church, according to a unanimous vote taken at the regular church night supper meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 2.

Garold Holstine, Media, Ill., was elected director of the Advance. Holstine has had a number of years' experience as a public school administrator and is now supervisor of practice teaching at University High school.

Several large posters will be used to publicize the Advance. Leaflets and booklets concerning the movement have been distributed in the community by a group of visitors organized to help with promotion.

The goal of the Advance call is a 10 per cent increase in enrollment and attendance each year for the next two years. Plans have been worked out by Holstine and Virgil Copeland of the business administration office.

Increase in attendance is but one of the major goals of the movement. Better teaching, improved programs and better equipment also are being stressed. "Christian Teaching for Every Child in America" is the theme. The five major goals of the Advance are: Teach all you can—for Christ, Teach all you reach, Win all you teach, Enlist all you win and Train all you enlist.

Most striking of materials being distributed is a 16 page booklet entitled, "Somber Shadows and How To Dispel Them." The first eight pages tell the discouraging story of shadows over the church. The last eight pages show how these shadows may be dispelled by a return to the simple Christian principles of living. The booklet makes an appeal for church and rades of the Way, in the minister's study.

5:30—Supper and social hour for university men and women in the church vestry.

6:30—Vesper hour in Pilgrim Youth center room. Theme: "The Faith We Live By."

Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.—Ladies aid meeting at the home of Mrs. Willis, 427 Bayard street.

Wednesday, 7 p.m.—Rehearsal for united choir. Persons interested in joining are invited.

Annual church meeting, Oct. 15, 6:00.

Library Club Meets Tuesday

New Records 370 in Religion, 286 In Nursing

One all-time record and one mark exceeding any since 1930 is reported in enrollment figures for two University of Iowa units.

In the school of religion, Prof. M. Willard Lampe said that the 370 students constitute the largest enrollment in the school during any first semester.

Lois Corder of the school of nursing said that the enrollment of 286 women is the greatest since 1930 when the mark was 311. The freshman class of 124 is unusually large and there also are 110 seniors, more than the average.

Ah, Safety! Campaign Effective On Little Boy

Iowa City's safety campaign has taken effect.

Proof came last night as a small boy stood with his mother watching police inspecting cars involved in an accident at Clinton and Burlington.

Suddenly the boy ran to the rear of one of the cars, pointed to two signs on the license plate and shouted:

"Hey, Mom, look! The signs say 'Drive Carefully.'"

Finish Testing Of New Boiler

Replaces Two Old Courthouse Systems Used Forty Years

After two days of running tests of the courthouse's 60-horsepower boiler, men in charge attested yesterday to the efficiency of the newly-installed heating system.

The new boiler, located under the courthouse garage, replaces two old heating units which had provided the courthouse and jail with heat for 40 years, janitors said. Both the old units were larger than the one now in use.

The job of installation will be completed as soon as the new boiler is given a covering of asbestos.

The Social Security board is comprised of three members. Each receives an annual salary of $10,000.

A Practical Way to PROTECT DEMOCRACY ... Preserve Good Government When You Have It!

Democracy can only function through government that is efficient, through government officials who work to fulfill promises. Thus, a vote for an administration which has kept its promises, redeemed its pledges, is a vote to help protect democracy.

The record reveals that, on this broad basis, the Wilson Administration deserves your vote.

Here are a few highlights that show how the Wilson Administration has hewn to the line—has fulfilled its 1938 pledges of good government for the people of Iowa:

- Lifted $3,000,000 load from property taxes; reduced the state levy for 1940 by 50%. The balance of cash in the State Treasury increased from $11,458,954.05 on June 30, 1939, to $15,757,809.67 on June 30, 1940, or an increase of $4,298,855.62.
- Eliminated 1,000 state government employees. With the cooperation of the legislature, state departments have been reorganized to eliminate duplication, resulting in higher efficiency at a greatly reduced cost.
- The Wilson Administration inaugurated a state dispatcher system which has eliminated 77 unneeded automobiles and reduced operating costs on all cars to less than 3 cents per mile.
- 3,000 farmers—many of whom were tenants—have become owners of former corporation-controlled farms through the policy of the Wilson Administration.
- $1,100,000 will be saved for the tax-payers of Iowa through a budget plan for the State Highway Department, an innovation accomplished with the assistance of the state legislature, the highway commission and the executive department.
- A farm-to-market road system, long needed by Iowa farmers, is on its way to reality through 379 contracts let in 90 counties and totaling $3,280,000—a worthy project to be accomplished without added taxation.
- Old Age Assistance, help for the blind, child welfare, are at a high point in Iowa, both through the creation of a three-member board and the consistent interest of the Wilson Administration.
- An additional sum of $3,000,000 a year has been made available for old-age assistance; expenses of administration were lowered; aid has been extended to a total of 55,716 claimants for pensions.

In these and many other directions, the Wilson Administration has redeemed its pledges, has re-established the spirit of simple honesty in your state government. The record is a testimonial too, to the spirit of cooperation between the legislature, the state officers and employees—cooperation without which this record could not have been achieved.

When you cast your ballot on November 5, remember that it is still prudent to "prove all things, hold fast to that which is good."

Your vote to continue the Wilson Administration in office, will be a vote to preserve good government—a contribution to the protection of democracy.

Many and varied are the activities of collegians during the summer vacation period. Some work feverishly to earn money for the fall tuition, some spend their time at lakes and camps, others continue the search for knowledge by attending summer school.

Muscle Builders

Vacationtime is not playtime for many of collegeland's gridders. The Red Grange fad of carrying ice for conditioning has long been outmoded. In order to toughen themselves for the coming season, the muscle-men seek out the heavier jobs in the steel mills, oil fields, lumber yards and mines.

Favored is the road construction job, (below), which not only develops the arm and leg muscles but gives the worker plenty of opportunity to soak up the hot summer sun. Coaches are constantly watching for these jobs which put their charges in tip-top physical condition, and hundreds of football stars secure this type of work every summer.

"Iron Mike" Enich, captain of the University of Iowa Hawkeyes, (left), digs a ditch on the campus with the help of linemen Tom Hand, Matt Miletich, and Max Hawkins.

"Red" Frye, Hawkeye center, brews medicine for opposing linemen by rolling down the tennis courts for a few hours a day.

This bronzed trio aren't shooting marbles, but caulking cracks in the tennis courts of Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls. This work is particularly good for the back and legs.

For a heavy job, carrying cement and plaster is hard to beat. This taxes every muscle in the body, develops stamina.

Probably the easiest way to attain good condition is to act as a counselor at a boys camp. These jobs are scarce, usually require some "pull" to get.

Now She Competes With the Boys

When Kent State university golfers were shooting it out for varsity golf team berths, co-ed Marjorie Hyle popped up with an 86 to qualify for a place on the six "man" team. She holds several titles in Ohio golfing circles, presses her teammates in every contest.

What They Are Doing

Between ducking bombs, lack of sleep, and war work, college students in war torn England are gaining little education these days. Hundreds of the older students long ago joined the Royal Air Force and the army. Those remaining spend much of their time clearing ditches and fields, making gas masks and assisting in Red Cross work.

Now the younger students at Eton have pitched in and many of them devote their weekends to war work. N. M. Archdale, above, is shown working at a pressure roller in a gasket factory, while his classmate, Lord Dalkeith, right, puts in his eight-hour day hauling finished work into a warehouse. It's hard work, but these boys don't mind.

Registration for Conscription: H

The Selective Service law provides that on Wednesday, Oct. 16, every male resident of the United States who has arrived at the age of 21 years, and has not reached 36 years of age, shall register for possible military duty. This will affect between 375,000 and 400,000 young men in Iowa. No one will be exempt, except members of the regular armed forces of the United States and the federally recognized active national guard, and officers and enlisted men of the army, navy and marine corps reserve. Any one who is uncertain about his status should register, knowing it will be settled by his local registration board afterward. Penalties

Penalty for failure of one eligible to register may be severe, for the law provides imprisonment of not more than 5 years, or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both. Moreover, any one who aids or abets another to evade registration or service, or any of the requirements of the law, may be subject to the same punishment.

Since registration is a big job, the Service headquarters at all members of the

Broadcast Will Answer Draft Queries Tonight

A national broadcast to answer specific questions of students and faculty members, regarding the Selective Service act and potential military training, will be presented over the nation-wide network of the Columbia broadcasting company from 9:15 to 9:30 tonight. Although plans have not been completed for the registering of students in the university for military service, the broadcast will answer, with authority, many of their questions about the Selective Service act. The nearest Columbia network stations, which will broadcast the program, are WMT, Cedar Rapids and Waterloo, and KRNT, Des Moines. C. C. Williams, president of Lehigh university, and former dean of the college of engineering at the University of Iowa, will be one of those asking questions on the program. Authorities answering the queries will be Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hersey, executive officer of national selective service headquarters, in Washington, D.C., and Dr. Frederick Osborne, chairman of the advisory committee on selective service. The program, sponsored by the American Council on Education, will be entitled "A Student in Selective Service."

Raiders Lunge At Metropolis, Nearby Towns

London, Outskirts Sprayed With Bombs; Residential Areas Hit

LONDON, Oct. 8 (Tuesday) (AP)—Adolf Hitler's night-dc's attempted to make up for lost time last night and early today by striking hard at a number of London districts, following a day of fierce "substratosphere" dogfights above the capital. Deprived of their timetable assaults night before last by storm-swept skies for the first time in 30 days, the raiders swept back with the stars to lunge repeatedly at the metropolis. In all, 10 London districts and a number of provincial areas were sprayed with high explosive and incendiary bombs. A southeast coast town was subjected to an ordeal of incendiary bombs which the British said struck residential areas rather than military objectives. No casualties were announced. About midnight, the raid on London itself lulled, then flared again periodically until dawn, marked by the occasional drone of a plane, whistle of a bomb and crackle of gunfire. While this was going on, a German plane spread a smoke screen on the French coast opposite Dover, and a flotilla of trawlers and other small vessels set out cautiously along the shore behind the screen. Watchers in Dover, who saw the whole procedure, were uncertain of the object. Daylight Forays The night attacks were a continuation of mass daylight forays in which the RAF broke up formation after formation of German planes four to six miles above the city. The number of raiders was declared authoritatively to have numbered 500. From before dawn until after (See LONDON, Page 8)

Newlyweds of Draft Age Get Equal Chance for Deferment

House Gives Power To Protect Families With Overdue Rent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Selective service officials emphasized today there would be no discrimination against newly-married men in choosing conscripts. "The selective service law operates for five years, and we don't want to stop all marriages during that time," remarked Frederick Osborne, chairman of the president's advisory committee on the draft. Questioned about recent reports of a rash of marriages in the face of the draft law, Colonel William Draper, another member of the president's committee, emphasized that the question of deferring from service those men recently married would be decided on the same basis as the cases of all other married men. The day brought these other developments bearing on the draft: The house approved and sent to the senate legislation giving the courts broad powers to stay eviction of dependents of soldiers and sailors from their homes because of over-due rents, and permitting the veterans administration to guarantee payment of premiums on draftees' insurance policies up to a face value of $5,000. Senator Guffey (D-Penna) introduced legislation to exempt draftees from state or local income taxes. The American Federation of Labor announced its members would be exempted from dues payments while serving with the military forces. The treasury announced that (See DRAFT, Page 8)

Preparations In Progress For Iowa Draft

DES MOINES, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Iowa selective service headquarters began distribution today of forms and regulations booklets in preparation for the registration of some 375,000 Iowans under the national conscription act, Oct. 16. Several thousand copies of two regulations booklets went to the 119 local draft board members appointed by Governor Wilson Saturday. Ready for mailing either Monday or Tuesday, were more than one million sets of registration cards, registration certificates, information placards and information booklets that will be used by precinct registration boards.

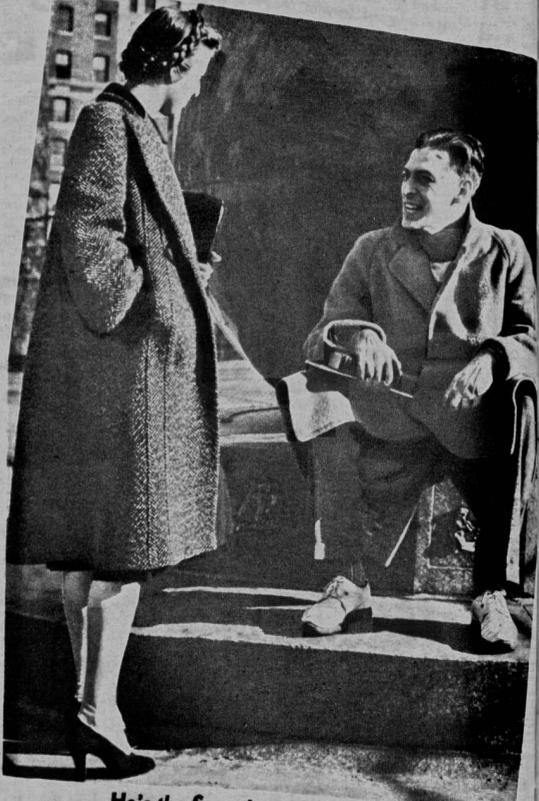

Physicians Urged To Focus Energies On National Defense

DETROIT, Oct. 7 (AP)—A plea to physicians to stop bickering over the problem of socialized medicine and concentrate on problems of national defense was made today by the incoming president of the American Public Health association. Dr. W. S. Leathers, dean of the medical school of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn., declared in an interview that "the time has come for closer integration between federal and state health agencies and private physicians" in order to protect the health of both soldiers and the civilian population.
