Navy Continues Preparations As Tension Eases Over Orient

Reinforcement Of Pacific Fleet Sought By Secretary Knox

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The navy continued today to prepare for a possible emergency in the Pacific, but a slackening of diplomatic activity appeared to reflect diminished tension generally in administration quarters over the far eastern situation.

Secretary Knox announced after talks with high naval strategists during the week that the personnel of the fleet now in the Pacific would be reinforced immediately to raise it to full strength. He said 4,200 men would join the fleet at once and sail back to Hawaii with the warships now on the west coast undergoing repairs.

At the press conference at which he announced the fleet reinforcement, Knox answered a number of questions concerning the far east situation.

He said he did not concur in a published statement that the administration feared war with Japan in 15 days. "I don't think anybody knows," he added.

A number of officials showed lessened preoccupation with the orient as a potential danger spot.

Japan's Reaction

Responsible in some measure for this was Japan's reaction to the British notice that the Burma road would be reopened for supplies to China and also Japanese reaction to the state department's advice to Americans in the far east to consider coming home.

There was an apparent tendency in Japan to magnify the Burma road decision as an incident likely to lead to immediate drastic reprisals.

At the same time the Tokyo foreign office spokesman, Yakihiro Suma, expressed surprise at the American move to get nationals out of the far east. He said "We can't understand the necessity of it," and added that Japan had no intention of advising Japanese in the United States to return home.

Secretary Hull was asked at his press conference whether special transportation arrangements were being made to expedite the removal of Americans from the far east. He replied that the first step to find out how many wanted to come and that the shipping question would be considered next.

Germans Cut Supply Lines

Claim Attackers Hit Gas Works, Airport, British Troop Ship

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—German bombers smashed railway communications vital to the job of supplying London today, informed sources declared, in new aerial assaults upon Britain.

Hit, too, said DNB, the official German news agency, was a gas works in an English southeast coastal city; an airport near London, and a merchant ship lying in an east coast harbor.

At the airport, it was said, hangars and barracks were destroyed.

All this capped an earlier announcement by the high command that a single German fighting plane had scored several hits on a British troop transport in an attack upon five such ships, all "fully-occupied," moving about 125 miles off the Scottish coast under protection of an armed convoy.

The vessel, estimated at 20,000 tons, the communique added, "stopped and lay motionless." Nothing was said as to loss of life aboard the transport.

(The announced scene of the incident, which was northwest of Ireland, would put it on the route often traveled by Canadian troops moved across for the defense of England.)

This assault was but one of a series of successes claimed by the high command in the war at sea: a Nazi auxiliary cruiser was reported to have sunk a total of 52,000 tons of "enemy merchant shipping in overseas waters," and a British merchant ship was declared to have been set aflame off Scotland by the bombs of a reconnaissance plane.

Marshal Petain Asks French To Cooperate

VICHY, France, Oct. 9 (AP)—Marshal Petain pleaded tonight with his defeated, disillusioned people to get staunchly behind him and work for the "liberation and renovation" of France.

The old chief of state, speaking by radio to the whole nation, admitted, however, that the future is "dark and threatening," and he told the French that his government's recent stringent food rationing was a "painful necessity," imposed "by the severity of the defeat and the wish of the conqueror."

For the first time, Petain spoke of the people of the "lost provinces" of Alsace-Lorraine (which appear to be lost again to France, since Germany is likely to absorb them).

He touched on the fact that many must leave their homes and migrate into other parts of France and sent them his "affection and profound sympathy."

Demosthenes Club Takes Issue With New York Speech Expert—Stutterers Don't Oppose Draft

Demosthenes club, the University of Iowa organization of students with speech defects, has it in for the New York speech expert who would exempt stutterers from compulsory military training.

Furthermore, they've let Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, acting director of the draft administration, know about it—by airmail letter.

"Exemption of the more than 1,000,000 stutterers from active military duty," spokesman for the club wrote Lieutenant Colonel Hershey, "has been recommended to the draft administration by a New York 'speech expert.'"

"As members of an organization of stutterers, we wish to take exception both to the recommendation and to its implications. This organization wishes to go on record with the statement that its membership regards military duty to this country as a privilege and an opportunity."

The spokesmen for the club are Edward Mannion, A4 of Iowa City, and Irwin Goodman, A3 of Lebanon, Pa., the organization's committee on current affairs.

"The article (by the New York writer) implied," they wrote, "that stutterers generally become so emotionally disorganized in every day social contacts that the strain of active military service would result in complete breakdown. The obvious absurdity of this statement is heightened by the fact that the leader of the British Empire, King George VI, is a stutterer."

King Doing All Right "Our latest information indicates that the King is proving that he can 'take it.' Many other so-called stutterers hold positions of great responsibility, proving that this type of speech disorder does not necessarily mean a handicap."

"It would seem from a superficial study of the article that our speech has a certain 'asset value.' There are even those who may think us ungrateful for objecting to something which is ostensibly a 'favor.' The stutterer's worst enemy, however, is the well-intentioned but misinformed individual who takes a sentimental attitude toward 'those poor, unfortunate people.'"

No Excuse—"An ordinary speech defect cannot by a stretch of the imagination be used as an excuse for avoiding responsibility. More, it is rather puzzling to expect a person to achieve a satisfactory adjustment to his environment by isolating himself from that environment. How can an individual make the contribution to society of which he is capable if he is excused from those responsibilities which he is actually able to meet?"

"An occasional stutterer may have sufficient speech difficulty to warrant his being placed in some special branch of the service, but many stutterers certainly speak as effectively as the average so-called normal speaker."

Experience Confirms "Extensive scientific research has indicated that stutterers generally are quite normal aside from their speech. Our personal experience certainly confirms this. In brief, we do not care to be excused from military service and (See STUTTERERS, Page 3)

Still Alive—By A Miracle

Emerging from her air raid shelter is Mrs. Nicholson of London, who missed death by a hair's breadth when a German bomb fell and exploded beside the shelter, showering it with heavy debris. Mrs. Nicholson had entered the shelter just a few seconds before.

One of Worst Yet Directed At Metropolis

Churchill Watches Raider Shot Down In His Constituency

LONDON, Oct. 10 (Thursday) (AP)—More than 50 districts of London suffered the blasting and burning of high explosive and incendiary bombs last night and early today in one of the worst overnight German air raids yet directed at this capital.

Among the objects struck were a famous church, one of the city's oldest hotels, and a promenade known the world over.

There were two lulls in the assaults early today, but each ended as fresh waves of nazis sailed in high over the anti-aircraft barrage to drop new bombs.

One stick of bombs straddled a district which has been persistently attacked since the air war began.

Raider Shot Down Prime Minister Churchill himself, watching the awesome conflict, saw one raider shot down in his constituency. (This is the Epping district of Essex, just to the northeast of London.)

The plane was hit high in the air, and searchlights trailed the three parachuting Nazi fliers to the earth.

There was a mounting list of casualties, including many killed. Simultaneous raids were carried out against Wales, southwest and northwest England. They all were heavy but nothing like the battering London was experiencing.

Early this morning London had a brief respite but the raiders were back again with a concerted effort to pierce the curtain of steel hurled skyward by anti-aircraft batteries.

Great high-explosive bombs and incendiary "breadbaskets" upset buses, struck at rail lines and spread fire and debris from one end of London to the other last night and early today as an unbroken procession of German warplanes assaulted the city by moonlight.

Anti-Aircraft Barrage From northern environs to the south tip, the capital trembled with the shock of the exploding bombs and the shuddering crash of an incessant anti-aircraft barrage.

So intense was the din that it was at times almost impossible to tell which noises were those of bombs and which were those of the defensive guns.

One employe of The Associated Press reported seeing at least 14 fire bombs fall in a four-mile walk.

One big London bus was upset by a bomb hit which injured a number of passengers and broke the driver's leg. A passing doctor borrowed a bobby's tin hat and set to work treating the victims.

A passenger on another bus, describing a direct hit, said: "Our driver decided to make for the nearest shelter when things became too hot. We made the arched way in front of a well-known building. Then we heard the bombs coming down."

"Most of us were able to fling ourselves to the ground, but some were thrown into the air against the building."

"Paving blocks, glass and bomb fragments were strewn over a wide area."

A pedestrian who was posting some letters had them jerked from his hand as if by a truculent giant. He later found them undamaged, scattered 50 yards away.

See Break With Rumania

British Assert Nazi Entrance May Be Cause

English Ambassador Refused Explanation Of German Occupation

BUCHAREST, Oct. 9 (AP)—A break in British-Rumanian diplomatic relations "now is inevitable," British quarters declared tonight, as a result of what they contend is a threat of partial occupation of the oil-rich Balkan kingdom by German forces.

This turn in the already badly strained relations between the two countries followed a long conference at which British Ambassador Sir Reginald Hoare sought in vain to obtain from Gen. Ion Antonescu, Rumanian chief of state, a satisfactory explanation of the entry of Nazi troops into Rumania.

Associates of the grey-haired British envoy, who left the conference looking extremely grave, said the talks produced "only negative results."

No Reassurance Furthermore, they said Antonescu told the ambassador nothing to reassure him about the future of Britain's position in Rumania. British sources had said earlier that unless such assurances were forthcoming a diplomatic break would be more than likely.

British informants said they had received reports that German troops in force had been welcomed by Rumanians at the Hungarian frontier, despite Rumanian government protestations that only a limited number were coming merely as instructors for the Rumanian army.

"Evidence accumulates that German troops are filtering into the country at many points," the British said, "although rumors earlier in the week of the arrival of a whole Nazi division have proved false."

As the Germans moved in, Britons moved out. The last British officials who have been supervising Britain's extensive interests in Rumanian oil fields began leaving and the entire British colony of between 300 to 400 is expected to follow shortly.

Grain for Troops German agents meanwhile began buying up every available bushel of grain in Rumania to provision Nazi troops whose mission is to transform Rumania's armed forces into a "bulwark against any aggressor."

The vanguard of German officers ordered construction of military telephone lines and other communications immediately to facilitate movement of thousands of troops expected within a few days. Vast amounts of munitions, guns and other war equipment already are pouring in by rail and Danube barges.

Dykstra Discusses Draft Directorship With F. R., Stimson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, took under consideration tonight the question whether he would accept the job of draft director.

Dykstra conferred with President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson during the day. Talking to reporters afterward, he did not say the post actually was offered him, but asserted that the president had discussed it with him. It was a matter requiring "some consideration," he added.

Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey has been temporarily directing the military conscription program. Should Dykstra be appointed before Oct. 16, he would supervise the registration and conscripting of men of the age of 21 through 35. Oct. 16 has been fixed as the registration date.

On another defense front, the senate passed a bill authorizing "home guards" in states whose national guard units are in federal service. The legislation goes back to the house for action on senate amendments, one of which would place the home guard units under supervision of the secretary of war. The change was designed to meet complaints by organized labor that the house-approved measure would have made possible the formation of "vigilante" groups to suppress unions.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell Dies; Spent Lifetime in Labrador

Charges Willkie 'Hopes to Buy' Coming Election

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Edward J. Flynn, national democratic chairman, returned from a tour of the west today with a charge that "the Willkie forces hope to buy the election" by expenditure of huge sums of money.

At a press conference, Flynn said he found organization forces for the republican presidential candidate were "spending more money than had ever been spent in a national campaign."

Nevertheless, he added, the efforts would be "vain," and said that leaders in the states he visited assured him President Roosevelt would receive a larger majority than he received in 1936.

"There is one thing I want to say and that is that on my trip I found the Willkie forces are spending the largest amount of money that has ever been spent in any national campaign," Flynn said, "in every city I visited they had taken floors and buildings, stores, everything all over, and it is undoubtedly true, in my opinion, that they hope to buy the election. The hope is a very vain hope and certainly won't be successful."

Knighted in 1927 By George V In Recognition of Work

CHARLOTTE, Vt., Oct. 9 (AP)—Sir Wilfred Grenfell, who for nearly half a century brought spiritual and medical comfort to the Eskimo, Indian and fisher folk of Labrador, died tonight at his home here from heart disease. He was 75 years old.

Although he had been under treatment for heart trouble, the noted missionary actively continued the work that brought him renown as "the Good Samaritan of Labrador and Northern Newfoundland."

He was found unconscious by his secretary, Wyman Shaw. Shortly before 6 o'clock when the latter went to his room to call him for dinner, Sir Wilfred had been playing croquet during the afternoon and was resting before eating. He died a short time later.

During the day he had spent some time working on his future program for the Grenfell association, which was founded to promote his missionary work.

A native of Parkgate, England, he was born a commoner and christened Wilfred Thomson. He was knighted in 1927 by George V in recognition of his missionary work.

As a young and enthusiastic physician, Grenfell began his work among the poor of London and later fitted out the first hospital ship in the north sea of the royal national mission.

From Sir Francis Hopgood a distinguished barrister and head of a mission board, Grenfell learned of the need for medical aid in Labrador and made his first visit to the bleak northern region in 1892.

British Again Shower Bombs On German Industrial Cities

Local Boards Get Schedule For Draftees

DES MOINES, Oct. 9 (AP)—Adj. Gen. Charles H. Grahl announced tonight that the 119 local draft boards in Iowa tomorrow will begin a four-week series of meetings for preliminary classification of registrants under the selective service law.

Grahl said boards which have not completed preliminary plans are expected to begin tomorrow to establish headquarters, elect chairmen and secretaries and hire necessary help.

Recommendation that the boards begin their activities tomorrow was contained in a schedule from Washington, D. C., which General Grahl received.

While the schedule lists suggested activities for the boards to follow and lists dates on which the draft boards should meet, there is "nothing compulsory about the schedule," General Grahl said.

Nazi General Keitel Succeeds Graziani In African Post

LONDON, Oct. 10 (Thursday) (AP)—All the London morning papers today carried Cairo reports saying Nazi Gen. Wilhelm Keitel has taken over the axis African command, succeeding Italian Marshal Rodolfo Graziani.

The change was said to have been a direct result of the Oct. 4 Brenner pass conference between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. Keitel, chief of the German high command, attended the conference.

The London press described Keitel as "a master of blitzkrieg strategy."

French, Dutch Coasts Take Severe Blows As Attacks Continue

LONDON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Britain's night bombers have set ablaze the center of the great German Krupp works at Essen, left the oil refineries in Hamburg a ring of spreading fire and pounded the naval base of Wilhelmshaven with more than 15 tons of bombs, the air ministry disclosed tonight.

Sweeping in over the glowing, newly bombed "invasion coast," waves of royal air force bombers struck deep into Germany last night for a series of assaults that rivaled any previous foray.

First of all, the bombers swept in from the North sea on Bremen. Officials said the raid began at 8:15 p.m. and "for the next hour and a half the whole area was systematically bombed with high explosives and incendiaries."

"The docks were repeatedly hit. Fourteen fires were started in the first part of the attack," the official narrative said.

At the sprawling port of Hamburg, the raiders attacked in waves.

"From the reports received," said the air ministry, "it is clear that a high percentage of direct hits were obtained. A ring of fire was seen spreading, after one attack, as though there was a leakage of petrol (gasoline) from one of the tanks ignited."

At the Krupp works, the bulletin said, a salvo of bombs, "falling in the center of the target, set fire to several buildings."

Other bombers used the fires to guide them to the plant.

The invasion ports, particularly Calais, took severe punishment. The harbor at Calais was bombed for eight hours; quays at Flushing, the Netherlands, were attacked heavily; direct hits were reported scored on the docks at Le Havre; Boulogne's searchlights were smashed.

Americans Begin Exodus From Orient

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9 (AP)—With passenger liners already heavily booked far in advance, travel agencies and steamship offices were besieged today by Americans fearful of the gathering United States-Japanese crisis in the orient.

Many American businessmen, accepting the state department's counsel to get out of the orient, started liquidation of their holdings and church societies stepped up arrangements to assemble their missionaries who wish to leave at likely points of embarkation.

How many of the 9,000 Caucasian Americans and 2,000 nationals of oriental stock would depart was uncertain, but it was reported that 3,000 might be removed on the liners President Coolidge and President Pierce in early November.

It was said that state department representatives were trying to get shipping board approval for the two United States liners to carry only American citizens on the early November trips to the United States. Many Europeans and Jewish refugees now have reservations.

United States naval and marine officials declined to discuss plans for removal of service families. It was reported, however, that a transport might be sent soon to Shanghai.

Besides about 1,200 marines composing the American defense forces in the Shanghai international settlement, the United States has a small garrison at Tientsin.

A Tokyo dispatch quoted the Japanese foreign office spokesman as expressing surprise at the Americans' home-going.

"We can't understand the necessity of it," he said, asserting that Japan had no intention of advising her nationals to leave the United States.

The American-owned Shanghai newspaper, China Press, declared that Washington and Tokyo had fixed their courses and that "a headlong collision appears inevitable unless one of them changes its course—but if there should be any turning about the chances are it won't be the United States.

Weighing the Chungking central Chinese government's position in the light of any Japanese-American war, the paper predicted that Japan would quickly seize all undefended American interests in the orient, but that the United States' superior resources eventually could crush Japan and force her out of China.

The Shanghai stock market recorded a drop of from three to five points from yesterday's close.

Some observers expressed anxiety lest Japanese army leaders, regardless of official Tokyo's attitude, move against the British crown colony of Hongkong.

Television Goes Gridiron

This is a story about that strange, intangible thing called progress. It may have its commercial angles. It's progress none the less—the kind of thing that has made and will continue to make America the greatest nation in the world.

The University of Pennsylvania opened an eight-game football schedule in Philadelphia last Saturday. Football fans swarmed into Franklin field to watch the contest between Pennsylvania and Maryland.

There was something new about Franklin field. Suspended from the upper tier of the south stand at either 20-yard line were platforms, somewhat of the appearance of motion picture studio scaffolds.

Television and Football

They housed television cameras, the first to be used to carry the pictures of a football game to those within the area who owned receiving sets. They belonged to Philco, who will telecast the seven remaining football games to be played on Franklin field this fall.

The unsponsored televising of the football games for experimental purposes was made possible through the cooperation of Dean LeRoy Mercer of the University of Pennsylvania, the Atlantic Refining company and N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

The play by play description for the telecast was picked up from the regular broadcast of the game by Bill Slater, veteran commentator.

Technique for Television

A crew of ten engineers was in charge of operations. Two cameras followed the play of the game at all times. The cameras were located on both 20-yard lines, and it therefore was possible to telecast close-up shots and long distance shots by broadcasting impressions from the two cameras at alternate periods.

There were considerable technical angles involved. Nick Alexander, Philco's program director, stated that since this was the first major football game to be televised and the results seemed satisfactory, the technique peculiar to this style of telecasting should improve as the season progressed.

And it probably will. It won't be many years, we dare say, before we can sit at the fireside in the living room and watch Iowa battle the Gophers in the Minnesota bowl.

A New Kind of Culture

A new kind of culture will have been taken into homes across the nation, as radio itself brought culture to the American home not many years ago.

The possible ramifications of that new culture are tremendous. The groundwork has been laid, and the televising of the games in Franklin field this year will mark the opening of a great new era, in a new field, of that intangible thing called progress, that thing which only America has had the privilege to know in anything like a full measure.

America Likes Ice Cream

The first thing to amaze the Englishman in the United States is the quantity of ice cream consumed by this country's citizens. Our authorities for that statement are the English debaters who have visited the Iowa campus in many a year gone by.

Just how much ice cream we consume would stagger almost anybody.

Last year, the average citizen consumed 9.21 quarts of America's favorite dessert. Eight years ago it would have been 5.04 quarts.

The United States consumed last year 1-190,796,000 quarts of ice cream, according to the national dairy council.

The total was far greater than for any other nation in the world. Ice cream manufacturers purchased 4,465,485,000 pounds of milk for the cream to produce America's ice cream.

A Man About MANHATTAN

We Spend an Evening In Jersey With Ferde Grofe

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Sometimes at night, when the mood for the old familiar haunts is lacking, I forget about Broadway and amble over into Jersey for a visit with my friend Ferde Grofe.

Such instances are delightful, for life in the Grofe household is paced by the same appreciation for abundance that is expressed in his suites to the Grand Canyon and the Mississippi. Quantity, the out of doors, a sense of the immensity of nature is reflected in most of Ferde's musical compositions. And so it is with his home.

I mean, well, around midnight when Mrs. Grofe suddenly says, "How would some porkchops and hot biscuits sound to you?" she doesn't mean that she happens to have a few chops already prepared and stored away in the icebox. You go back into the kitchen and she takes down a whole half hog, and you slice your own chops, and then you stand around in the kitchen and talk while she cooks them.

It's this abundance of things, this aura of ample plenty that permeates the atmosphere and leaves you gently in a wave of cordiality. The porkchops merely express a point. If you prefer lamb, there is also half a lamb hanging from its hook in the refrigerator.

Ferde is looking up now. He is feeling better. Perhaps it was a winter spent in California, and a successful summer at the Fair, that is responsible. It may even be his new composition, "Templed Hills," which again expresses his deep longing for the western countryside.

Sometimes, in his study or on the air when I listen to his music, particularly to the movements from Grand Canyon, such as "On the Trail," I have to close my eyes and wonder what he must have been like as a youngster when he was getting his musical start by banging pianos in the Barbary Coast dives. . . . Or when he was Paul Whiteman's arranger, giving Whiteman many of the arrangements that made him great and which now remain models of instrumental phraseology.

Today Ferde is short, thick-shouldered, serious-minded. Sometimes he worries a lot—often without reason. His home is a sort of mirror that reflects his career, for in the basement are radios, phonographs, and recording devices. In the drawing room are novachords and organs. In his study upstairs, where all of his composing is done, is a piano and more radios and phonographs. This room is a well of manuscripts, old and new, some published and handsomely bound, some half-finished, dotted down in pencil, scattered about the top of the piano.

You say, "Well, what sort of fellow is this Grofe?" and the answer surprises you. . . . He isn't any different from anybody else. "Well," you argue, "what has he done beside compose a little music?" The woods are full of composers of a sort."

The difference is this. Before he came along, jazz music was simply an indefinable influence of uncertain proportions. He was the first to sense in it certain fundamentally sound elements in harmony with the established principles of standard music, and he was the first to reduce this to written form.

1940 SACK RACE

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Ft. Worth, Where The West Begins—By ROBBIN COONS

FORT WORTH, Tex. — This is the town "where the West begins," and it's all Western for the day's big movie shindig. If any of the city's 192,796 people (1940 census), or 200,000 with the "metropolitan area" thrown in, aren't yipping, they're casting absentee yips, and we're getting the echoes in the mass sound effects on the streets.

They've pulled out ancient carriages, primitive autos, all their wild-west wardrobe for the occasion. The day's a success: There's even a "Westerner" sandwich at the corner drugstore.

Takes no straw vote to decide that these people have fallen for Gary Cooper, the hero of the movie and of the day. Gary's being Gary, who has a lot of "Mr. Deeds" in his real-life make-up, and when it comes to making friends and influencing people there's nobody like a Deeds or a Cooper. Good thing this Hollywood delegation includes no phonies—these people "where the West begins" could spot one a mile away.

They say there are more people in town today than they've had in years. The merchants are smiling. Biggest smile is vigorous Amon Carter's. Mr. Carter is publisher of the Star-Telegram and Fort Worth's leading booster. Sam Goldwyn tells why the movie premiere is here: "I was at a publishers' luncheon in New York, and Amon Carter was there. I happened to mention I might hold the premiere in Dallas, and Mr. Carter said 'Why . . .'"

Fort Worth and Dallas are chums and buddies—like Los Angeles and San Francisco. Only Fort Worth and Dallas are closer together and get in more digs at each other. They say Mr. Carter, when he goes to Dallas, always packs a lunch.

The "feed" is a running gag in local humor, but Dallas friends are always at Shady Oak, the Carter farm showplace, for those big hearty Sunday breakfasts.

The Shady Oak dinner for the movie crowd is a feast—southern fried chicken right next to western "rancho beans," the like of which I've never tasted before.

And the visiting stars need nourishment after a day's hearty work—a big luncheon, happily informal, followed by the parade, a riotous, yipping, color-splashed hit leading through cheer-packed streets to the big Will Rogers memorial coliseum. There they give a free show—and with bands playing and cowboys riding, the cowboy who takes the most cheers is that boy Cooper again, showing (if there are any skeptics) he can really ride a horse.

The picture (shown at three theaters with "personals" by the stars at each) is a good western, and Walter Brennan turns in another character portrait as Judge Roy Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos." The new girl, Doris

The Labor Opinion And Defense Orders

WASHINGTON — Mr. Sidney Hillman was only reaching for a jam jar for John L. Lewis of the C. I. O. when he got that labor defense opinion from Attorney General Jackson—but he spilled it all over himself and the administration.

The C. I. O. boss had been needing his former friend and CIO'er for a definite decision outlasting manufacturers from defense contracts as soon as the biased national labor relations board finds them guilty and before they are convicted by the courts. Lewis tried it first on congress and twice his attempts to put that edict into law was defeated. Then he attempted to push the president into issuing an executive order to the same effect but the president refused last July.

Bearing down on Hillman, Lewis had the support of a group of CIO labor leaders who are among Hillman's consultants in a little group he calls his advisory committee. They pressed him so hard for specifications in their meetings, that his shouts, "Don't ask me, I'm not a lawyer" became a familiar refrain.

Now with the elections only a few weeks off and Lewis still unpledged to a presidential candidate, Hillman sought the opinion of Attorney General Jackson, with the sticky results already noted.

BAD FOR NEW DEAL

The administration started looking for a window as soon as the unpopular reaction to the Jackson ruling began to roll in. They have already managed to squirm themselves about half way out of it in the following fashion:

War and navy department officials have made no secret of their intention to negotiate contracts with firms found guilty of unfair practices by the NLRB but by no one else yet (those whose cases are on appeal to the courts). National defense is more important than the NLRB say the admirals and generals. They promise their policy will be "flexible." The case of each individual offending company will be considered separately. The basic policy will be to grant the contracts unless the company declines to promise to follow a fair labor policy for the future. Even this basis will apply only to negotiated contracts and not to bid awards.

The national defense commission (shown at three theaters with "personals" by the stars at each) is a good western, and Walter Brennan turns in another character portrait as Judge Roy Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos." The new girl, Doris Davenport, is interesting in her debut, and Cooper—well, you know Cooper. If "The Westerner" doesn't live up to the celebration that introduced it here, it's because very few pictures could.

From Iowan Readers

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the reader. The Daily Iowan may endorse them wholly or in part, or we may disagree with them in whole or in part. Letters should not exceed 250 words for publication, and must be signed. The initials of the writer will be used upon request.

TO THE EDITOR:

Do the dead really die? In the case of great souls, is not their influence more potent than in life? Can we imagine Knute Rockne indifferent to the success of his boys, Eddie Anderson, Frank Carideo, Jim Harris?

Last fall we saw a small group of men achieve the impossible in football; a power stronger than anything we dared hope for swept the boys on to victory. Can we not detect the old Rockne enthusiasm, determination and intellectual genius, at work here at Iowa.

We may not win every game this year, but the ideals and principles for which Rockne stood will spread throughout the student body. Let us go forward with faith and courage. The spirit of Rockne still lives.

Sincerely,
MRS. BRUCE E. MAHAN

TO THE EDITOR:

To a student not too long on the campus the library system of the university is a constant source of amazement. This writer would be the last to suggest that a reasonable amount of regulation of the use of books is not essential, but one aspect of the system is disheartening.

Those who have walked along the basement floor of Schaeffer hall probably have noticed a very attractive reading room, equipped with all the niceties of the living room. But just as one is about to be enticed into entering, if only to read a magazine that he may have smuggled under his coat, the room becomes suddenly a forbidden place.

On the handsome doors is a sign that lets the uninitiated know that unless he is one of a group who possesses a pass he is almost forbidden to look in.

How long is it to be the policy of the English department that only some select few shall be allowed to read the classics in surroundings conducive to reading the classics? Only one other library on the campus provides comfortable surroundings for the reader—that at the Union. Sometimes even the most frivolous of us wouldn't mind dropping in somewhere for a bit of Shakespeare between classes, and the Union isn't too convenient for that.

Perish the thought that anyone would go to either the general or reserve libraries for reflection on the complexities of life.

This writer merely wants to know why any library should be restricted to the use of anyone who is interested enough to want only to look, at least, at the book covers.

Signed,
—W.V.A., '43

Plans for Iowa City Draft Registration Now Completed

Local Draft Board Named By Governor

Estimates Made On Probable Number Of Men Registering

With only a few minor details remaining to be worked out, the city and university today stood ready to handle the big job of registering all persons coming under the draft law Oct. 16.

County Auditor Ed Sulek said that 7,070 registration cards will be on hand, 2,400 of the number to go to school here and another 300 for University hospital.

Out of 6,210 registering certificates, the university will get 2,350 and the hospital 250. One thousand four hundred and thirty-five registrants are expected for Iowa City alone, excluding university enrollment.

Student Registration

Dr. Harry G. Barnes, university registrar, announced the following program for the registration of students who are not residents of Johnson county:

Students of the professional colleges of law, medicine, pharmacy, dentistry and engineering will register in the offices of their respective deans.

Liberal arts, commerce and graduate students will be handled in room 111, University hall, Barnes said. All persons between the ages of 21 and 35 will fill out forms.

As for the city and remaining area of the county, Auditor Sulek said plans were rapidly nearing completion. The nine chief registrars in wards here are at work selecting their boards as well as township clerks in the rural areas.

Draft Board

Named to the Johnson county draft board were Dr. George Marech, Jack Kennedy, Judge R. G. Popham, H. H. Gibbs and Charles Fieseler. All were named by Governor George Wilson. This board will deal with exemptions and other work connected with the actual calling of the men.

For Iowa City, the following figures were given as approximations of the number of registrants expected: first ward, first precinct, 150; second precinct, 140; second ward, first precinct, 150; second, 160; third ward, first precinct, 150; fourth ward, first and second precincts, 175 each; fifth ward, first precinct, 160 and second precinct, 175.

Cattle Rustlers Captured By Don McComas

Sheriff Don McComas yesterday announced the capture of four cattle rustlers wanted since last Friday when two calves were stolen from the farm of Charles Stuart, near Oasis, Graham township.

The four men, Elmer Brennan, 35, Iowa City; his nephew, Emil Brennan, 27, near West Branch; Merton Lewis, 22, Iowa City; and Melvin Miller, 25, near West Branch, are being held in the county jail on a charge of larceny of domestic animals.

The calves were stolen last Friday and then sold to a farmer near North English, where they were recovered Tuesday morning, it was reported.

Sheriff McComas, assisted by two special agents of the state bureau of investigation, apprehended the two Brennans Tuesday night, while Lewis and Miller were captured Wednesday morning.

Programs WSUI Keeps Pace With World

Two programs keeping pace with the news and events of the day are featured over WSUI each Thursday.

In view of the present world situation, there is wide interest in the program, "Geography in the Week's News," a round-table discussion under the direction of Prof. Harold H. McCarty of the college of commerce.

The program, designed for listeners who want geographic backgrounds and facts beyond the week's headlines, will be on the air at 3:15 p.m. today.

Another round-table program, "Discussions in Economics," presented today at 5:30 p.m., is directed by Wendell Smith, instructor in the college of commerce. Participants chosen from the faculty of the economics department will deal with the current problems in their field.

V. F. W. Groups Plan 'Powwow'

Iowa Citizens Travel To Cedar Rapids For Meeting Sunday

The Veterans of Foreign Wars' posts and auxiliaries will hold a "Powwow" in Cedar Rapids Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 12 and 13, with all department officers present.

The meeting starts at noon on Saturday. There will be a banquet at 7:00 p.m. at the Hotel Montrose at which Nell H. Kime, executive assistant from national headquarters, Kansas City, Mo., will be the main speaker. The dinner will be followed by a dance at the Veterans of Foreign Wars club rooms at 9:00 p.m.

Schools of instruction for post officers will be held Sunday morning. The state championship drill team from Davenport will perform at the initiation services to be held at 2:00 p.m.

At least 50 members from Iowa City are expected to be in attendance at the Sunday meeting. The "Powwow" is a semi-annual convention coming between the yearly encampments.

Gladys Skelley To Give Talk

Gladys Skelley, member of the local Federation of Business and Professional Women and local society editor will speak over WSUI tonight at 8 o'clock. Her topic will be "What is National Business Women's Week?"

Other chapters will assist the local organization in presenting these broadcasts the second Thursday of each month. Persis Sheldon of Iowa City, WSUI chairman of the federation, is in charge of the program series.

Arrangements Now Completed For Students' Trip to Minnesota Game

Capt. Kenneth J. Cramsie and William L. Adamson of the military department and Prof. George D. Haskell of the college of commerce returned yesterday from Minneapolis, Minn., after making arrangements for the official out-of-town student trip there Oct. 26. The Minnesota game has been designated as the one student trip of the year.

The university band and the Scottish Highlanders will participate in the half-time ceremonies, Adamson said.

One of the highlights of the half-time program, Adamson explained, will be a mass performance by the University of Minnesota band and the Highlanders. About 300 men will be on the field at the same time. There will also be a special exhibition by the Highlanders.

Esther French Entertained By Two Friends

Prof. Miriam Taylor, the women's physical education department, and Esther Taylor entertained Esther French, head of the physical education department and members of the Handicraft club at a dinner last night.

Guests included Fern Newcomer, A4 of Iowa City, president of the Women's Athletic association; Jeanne Marie Bamberg, A2 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, president of the Handicraft club; Enid Ellison, A2 of Webster Groves, Mo., leader of batik; Kitty Kuhne, A2 of Hart, Mich., leader of costume jewelry; Mary Mercer, A2 of Iowa City, leader of marionettes and puppets; Elsbet Kahn, A2 of New Haven, Conn., leader of basketry; Peggy Bare, A4 of Lenox, leader of leather work and Shirley Kugler, A2 of Idaho Falls, Idaho, leader of woodwork.

The evening was spent in making plans for the first meeting of the Handicraft club which will be held in the women's gym next Wednesday.

Prof. Wellman To Appear On Radio Program

Prof. Beth L. Wellman of the Iowa child welfare research station, will be interviewed by Mrs. Lorna Mathes of Iowa City on the subject "If Your Child Has a Temper," over WSUI at 2:30 this afternoon.

Today's interview opens the infant and pre-school series of the Radio Child Study club for the year. The following Iowa City parents will take part in the round-table discussion immediately after the interview: Mrs. Jess L. Rarick, Henry Sabin P.T.A.; Mrs. Earl Sangster, Longellow P.T.A.; Mrs. William L. Condon, St. Patrick P.T.A.; Mrs. E. Shrader, St. Mary's P.T.A., and Mrs. M. A. Crow, Roosevelt P.T.A.

Police Recover Missing Car In Rock Island

Local police were notified by Rock Island, Ill., authorities yesterday that the car owned by M. B. Guthrie, 1527 Muscatine, had been located in the Tricities area. It had been missing from the driveway of the Guthrie home since Saturday night and was partially dismantled by the thieves before they abandoned it, police said.

Meanwhile, three of four insurance policies stolen from the home of Harold J. Eggenberg, 524 N. Governor, were recovered by police yesterday. One of the policies was for $1,000. The box which held the papers was not found, officers said.

Group Dinner Site Changed To Iowa Union

Chamber of commerce plans for a "Hospitality Day" dinner, Oct. 17, have been changed, according to Gordon Brown, secretary of the organization.

Owing to the lack of dining facilities, the dinner will be held in the river room of Iowa Union instead of the community building as previously announced.

R. C. Pollack, manager of the National Livestock and Meat board, Chicago, will speak on "The Farmer and the Business Man Working Together."

Chamber members will invite their farmer friends as guests at the dinner.

Former University Student Killed in Automobile Crash

Charles McClenahan Dies in Ft. Snelling Hospital in Minneapolis

Lieut. Charles McClenahan of Sigourney, formerly a student in the university, died at 8:30 yesterday morning at Ft. Snelling hospital in Minneapolis, Minn., as a result of injuries received in an auto accident Monday evening. He had been riding in a car with two other men when the car failed to make a turn and jumped an embankment. He suffered a fractured skull and severe shoulder bruises.

Lieutenant McClenahan was born in Sigourney and graduated from the high school there. In 1939 he graduated from the university. During his senior year, he served as photographer for The Daily Iowan.

Lieutenant McClenahan on July 1st received an appointment as a commissioned officer in the United States army. He was stationed at Ft. Snelling in Minneapolis. While on the campus, he was active as an advanced military student.

He is survived by two brothers, James and Lee, and one sister, Mary Grace.

Clyde Burnett, chairman of the observance, urges all members to attend.

Fire in Store Damages Motor

A fire occurred in the basement of Fred Fry and Son's grocery store, 210 S. Dubuque, Tuesday at 10:45 p.m. It was started, fire department heads said, when the motor which powers the refrigeration system stuck and became overheated by a short circuit. The motor was the only sign of property damaged.

Stutterers--

know of no sound reason why we should be.

"Your reaction to this statement, as head of the draft administration, will be gratefully received."

Demosthenes club was organized last year by students attending the psychology and speech clinic. The name of the club comes from Demosthenes, one of the greatest orators in Greek history, who cured himself of a speech defect.

Because they were tired of the label, "stutterer," which is "tacked onto anyone with any kind of a speech defect," says Mannion, the members decided that a more appropriate name should be found, free from any negative evaluation which the word suggests.

They contended that the term, "stutterer," serves unnecessarily to segregate them and to impress them continually with their least laudable characteristics, he said.

If they were to be labeled at all, he declared, they decided they might as well choose a label that would "give them a lift." Consequently, the word "demosthenator" was chosen to take the place of "stutterer," at least in meetings of the group.

A fine of one cent is exacted for the wrong use of words, Mannion reports.

From "demosthenator" the club members got also "demosthenate" and "demosthenative."

One of the objectives of the club is to give members experience in speaking before groups of people. Last year members broadcast a radio program over WSUI, preparing the script themselves.

The removal of the label, stuttering, Mannion declares, also removes the possibility of the student reacting more to the label than to his actual defect.

Advisors of Demosthenes club are Prof. Wendell Johnson and Mary Mann, both of the psychology and speech departments.

Court Imposes Traffic Fines

Eleven Offenders Pay as Police Ready For Saturday's Crowd

The police court docket was again swelled yesterday to include sixteen parking violations. The absence of more serious offenses might be termed a calm before the storm, for the department is girding itself for another big football week end. Announcement will be made tomorrow of traffic routing as handled by the local state patrol.

Bob Myers, 208 1/2 S. Dubuque, and C. R. Forsen, Des Moines, were both dismissed on charges of overtime parking. Evasion of the time limit on parking cost Ronald Burkett, 1312 Kirkwood, one day in jail. J. M. Bradley, 525 Iowa, was fined $1 and $1 costs for running through a stop sign.

To Purchase New Classroom Chairs, Replace Shrubbery

Iowa City school board held its regular monthly meeting in the office of Superintendent Iver A. Opstad in the junior high school last night. A part of the main business of the meeting was a general discussion concerning means of promoting greater interest in athletic events of the school among the students.

New Business

Regular business, that of reading the minutes, reading and accepting the monthly bills, reading the financial statement and presenting the reports of the various committees took up the biggest part of the session. Some of the new business discussed and acted upon pertained to the purchase of new classroom chairs, a lowering of admission rates to the high school athletic events and replacement of shrubbery on school property and a report on the progress of the school.

Supt. Opstad reported that the year's work in all the schools is well started and is functioning smoothly. The enrollment of the high school is approximately 742. The total enrollment in all the schools is slightly lower than that of last year.

The superintendent announced a Teachers' club dinner to be held next Tuesday evening to which the school board members are invited to attend.

No Inquest In Death of Child

Harold Putnam, sheriff of Washington county, stated that no inquest will be held in the death of Duane Bontrager, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fernades Bontrager, who was struck by an automobile Tuesday while he played along highway 22 near his farm home, three miles east of Kalona. The sheriff said the boy ran across the road in front of a car driven by Omar Hochstetler of Wellman.

How important is backing up the line?

Any prep school youngster knows it's absolutely vital in football. And it's just as vital in the telephone industry.

Backing up the nation's line of communication is Western Electric's responsibility on the Bell System team. This assignment includes manufacturing telephones, switchboards, cable and thousands of other kinds of apparatus—purchasing all manner of supplies for the telephone companies—seeing that all these things are available when and where needed.

By handling this assignment, Western Electric helps to maintain telephone facilities at maximum efficiency—helps, when emergencies arise, to restore them in minimum time—and thus contributes to the efficiency and low cost of your Bell Telephone service.

Reorganized Methodist Groups Sign Charter, Install Officers

Mrs. H. Cherrington Announced President In Meeting Yesterday

The newly organized Women's Society of Christian Service met yesterday afternoon in the Methodist church parlors for the installation of new officers and the signing of the charter.

The Women's Society of Christian Service is the authorized woman's organization of the Methodist church and is a union of the Ladies' Aid society, the Woman's Home Missionary society, the Wesleyan Service guild and Pai Yu Lan. Everywhere in America the Methodist women are uniting under this official organization. The ultimate goal of the national head is 20,000 chapters and 1,000,000 members by the first of January.

The meeting was opened with an organ prelude by Mrs. Maud W. Smith. Mrs. Earl E. Harper sang two selections, "Our Heritage" and "Hymn of Loyalty" followed by Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, who read the message for the society.

The Rev. Edwin E. Voigt presided during the installation ceremony, and was assisted by the Rev. J. P. Gable of West Branch. After the members had taken communion and signed the charter, the Rev. Mr. Voigt introduced the president, Mrs. Homer Cherrington, to the members.

Announces Officers
Mrs. Cherrington addressed the group on the aims of the society and then announced the newly-elected officers. They are Mrs. L. G. Lawyer, first vice-president; Mrs. I. A. Opstad, second vice-president; Mrs. Dale Swails, recording secretary; Mrs. Verne A. Pangborn, corresponding secretary; Emma Stover, treasurer, and Mrs. C. R. Rasley, assistant treasurer.

After a short business meeting, tea was served in the social room with the fifth division as hostesses.

The executive committee meetings will be held on the second Wednesday of every month at 1:30 p. m. All members are invited to attend these conferences.

The charter book will remain open until Tuesday, so that all members of the society may sign.

New Members To Be Guests At Club Tea

This afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock the University club will give a tea in the clubrooms to honor campus newcomers. All members of the past year are urged to come and meet the guests.

The committee in charge will include Mrs. F. D. Francis, chairman, Mary Kerr, Mrs. A. M. Maris, Mrs. James Jones, Mrs. F. A. Kinney, Mrs. K. M. Brinkhaus and Katherine Mears. In addition to those on the committee, Mrs. J. A. Eldridge, Mrs. W. D. Coder, Mrs. George B. Smith, Mrs. Lewis E. Ward and Florence Schneider will be assisting hostesses. Mrs. C. A. Phillips, Mrs. E. B. Kurtz, Mrs. J. H. Scott and Mrs. A. Shannon Fourt will pour.

Mrs. G. Kay Will Address League Today

"The Significance of the Recent Groupings of Powers" will be the topic of a talk by Mrs. George F. Kay at a luncheon given by the Iowa City branch of the Pan-American league today at 12:15 in the north conference room of Iowa Union. A general discussion of current events in the South American republics will follow.

Stoddards Will Entertain Club

Prof. and Mrs. George D. Stoddard will entertain the Philosophical club at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 15, at their home at 724 Bayard.

Prof. Hew Roberts of the college of education will speak on "The Teaching of Higher Values."

First Saturday Sessions Begin This Week End

Registration for Saturday classes was to be completed by Thursday at the University of Iowa, and the non-resident students will assemble Saturday for the first of a dozen class sessions.

Registrar Harry G. Barnes said that several hundred men and women would combine residence work with home study, while holding their jobs.

Work will start Saturday in 12 departments, with 34 courses offered. Greatest number of courses, six, is offered by the college of education.

Some of the students will travel from points as far as 150 miles from Iowa City. Other class meetings before the first of the year are Oct. 26, Nov. 16 and 30, and Dec. 14.

New Display Honors Dads Pharmacy Students Build Miniature Field As Window Display

It will be Dad's Day all over the campus this week end—even in the college of pharmacy's display window, where a special exhibit has been set up in his honor. Carrying out the theme of the Iowa-Wisconsin football game to be played here Saturday, the students in practical pharmacy class have erected a miniature gridiron. The cylindrical goal posts contain gelatin capsules, and bear out the schools' colors.

Prescription bottles filled with gold-colored liquid and placed in kick-off formation are used to represent Iowa's Iron Men, while red filled bottles denote the Wisconsin Badgers.

Pictures of the varsity football squad and the Iowa coaches, Dr. Eddie Anderson, Frank Carrideo and Jim Harris, form the background of the display.

Dr. E. Oberman Will Lecture In Rochester

Dr. Esco Oberman, a research fellow in psychology, will leave today for Rochester, Minn., where he will lecture before the Medico-Inactive Status Training unit on the subject of "Group Testing of Recruits for Neurotic Tendencies."

Dr. Oberman is a captain in the army reserve.

The symposium is sponsored annually by the Mayo foundation and assumes added significance this year because of current defense preparations. High ranking army officers and medical men will attend the school.

Wetzel Elected Honorary Head Of Engineers

I. W. Wetzel, instructor in the mechanical engineering department, was elected honorary chairman of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers at their meeting yesterday.

Other officers elected are E. F. Knott, E4 of Avoca, chairman; David Hart, E4 of Iowa City, vice-chairman, and Robert Sykes, E4 of L's Moines, secretary-treasurer.

The program of the year will include guest speakers, movie films and short talks by students. The first part of the semester will be devoted to student programs at the weekly meetings.

Billiard Expert Returns

When Charles C. Peterson, with a billiard cue than any player in history and he promises to display his best technique twice Wednesday, performing from 4 to 6 p. m. and again from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. He will talk on fundamentals, demonstrating key shots as he lectures, play shots of famous players and then open the bag of tricks which are an important part of his exhibition. This season there will be the selection of sectional champions, the first actual competition among students. The four sectional winners will meet for the national crown later.

Five Faculty Members Spend Summer in Marine Research

Prof. Titus C. Evans of the college of medicine and Dr. John E. Harris, research assistant in obstetrics and gynecology, spent the summer at the Marine Biological laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass.

Dr. Harris did research work on the preservation of blood and Professor Evans did x-ray work on certain marine eggs.

Prof. Eleanor H. Slifer in the zoology department also spent part of the summer there working on problems dealing with the genetics of mutations.

Eleanor Carothers, research assistant in zoology, spent part of the summer there finishing her paper on "Acridian Gynandromorphs." She also attended the summer session of the American Genetical association held at Woods Hole.

Another local faculty member at the Marine laboratory was Prof. Theodore L. Jahn of the zoology department.

Research assistants in the zoology department who attended Woods Hole during the summer were Verner Wulff and Laurence Fitzgerald.

Opened in 1888 Woods Hole, a laboratory opened in the summer of 1888 for the use of students and investigators in marine zoology, is situated on the north shore of Vineyard Sound at the entrance

Enrollment Shows Gain 329 Increase Made Over 6,259 Figure For 1939 Session

Enrollment of campus students at the University of Iowa stands at 6,588, an increase of 5.2 per cent over the mark at the corresponding period of 1939.

This was announced yesterday from the office of Registrar Harry G. Barnes. The figure does not include the Saturday class students, several hundred of whom will complete registration Thursday.

There are now 5,540 undergraduate students on the campus, while the remainder, 1,048, are graduate scholars. A year ago there were 5,282 undergraduates and 977 graduates, for a total of 6,259.

S.U.I. Students Take Positions As Geologists

Present positions of former students in the geology department here have been announced.

Robert C. Spivey, who was an instructor in geology here from 1938 to 1940, is now a micropalaeontologist with the Shell Petroleum company at Tulsa, Okla.

Cornelia C. Cameron, who received her Ph.D. degree in June, is now working in the educational department of the municipal museum in Buffalo, N. Y.

R. W. Edmund, who took his Ph.D. degree in June, is now with the Shell Petroleum company at Tulsa, Okla.

William M. Furnish, who received his Ph.D. here in 1938 and has been a research assistant of Prof. Arthur K. Miller of the geology department for the past two years, is now teaching in the department of geology at the Agricultural Mechanical college at Stillwater, Okla.

W. L. Hershelman, who took his Ph.D. degree in June, and E. H. Wenberg, graduate assistant, are now with the Ohio Oil company at Findlay, Ohio.

R. T. Bennett, who took his M.S. degree in January, is now working for the Petty Geophysical Engineering company, and is stationed at Meridian, Miss.

W. C. Scholdt, who received his Ph.D. degree in June, is now with the Carter Oil company at Wichita, Kan.

Senior Medics Elect Officers

Carl Kunstling, M4 of Waterloo, was elected president of the senior medicine class this week.

The other officers are as follows: Thomas Updegraff of Boone, vice-president, and Ruth Kennedy of Oelwein, secretary-treasurer.

Outing Society To Hold Hike

The Outing club, member of W.A.A., is planning a hike and breakfast next Sunday, Oct. 12, from 7:30 to 10 a. m.

Wahntia Lucas, A3 of Muscatine, president of the Outing club, invites all members and persons interested to come to get acquainted with the club's activities. Each person is requested to furnish her own food.

C. Trowbridge Made Assistant

Caroline Trowbridge, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Arthur C. Trowbridge, who received her M.A. degree here, is now a research assistant in the zoology department of the University of Rochester, N. Y.

Her father is head of the geology department and director of the geological survey here.

Eddie Reverses Policy By Scrimmaging Again

Orders Contact Work for Third Straight Day

Only Five Regulars Do Not See Action On Blocking, Timing

Dr. Edward N. Anderson broke precedent yesterday as he sent his University of Iowa football squad through its third consecutive day of scrimmage.

The Iowa coach reversed his former policy of laying off all contact work several days prior to a battle such as faces the Hawkeyes Saturday when Wisconsin comes to town to open the conference season.

Almost the entire squad was used in the scrimmages yesterday against the freshmen. Several varsity men—Ken Pettit, Al Coupee, Ray Murphy, Capt. Mike Enich and Bill Green—did not see any action, working just on signals.

Dick Breunier and Jerry Ankeny took Coupee's place at quarterback, Bill Gallagher remained at right half and the other two backfield positions were confusingly jumbled. Bill Stauss, Bob Bender and Jim Youel worked at left half while Art Johnson played at every position save the signal barking post.

Glenn Mentzel and Steve Mizzen, sophomores, and Joe Moore and John Maher alternated at the end positions. Henry Luebecke got another taste at a varsity guard berth and Al Urban took Enich's right tackle job during the scrimmage work.

Anderson continued to stress blocking and timing among his backs. The practice was topped off with a skull session on the field.

Layden Warns Men to Watch Georgia Tech

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—Elmer Layden has dusted off an old golf precept—keep your eye on the ball—as far warning to his Notre Dame lads that the Dixie magicians are playing a return engagement here Saturday.

It has been a year since Layden's charges have had a look at the Georgia Tech hocus-pocus attack and Elmer fears they have forgotten all about it. But Elmer hasn't.

"Remember what a time they gave us last year?" he asked anxiously. "When it looked like my team didn't know where the ball was half the time. And played like it, too. Don't forget, Tech has all those boys ready to go again."

Notre Dame whipped the invaders, right enough, by a 17-14 score but only after a touchdown pass slipped off Billy Gibson's fingers in the final minutes of the game. The Irish never saw as many end rounds, reverses, double reverses and triple passes behind the line as they saw that day.

"I think Coach Bill Alexander has the most spectacular team in the country," Layden added, "and I mean that."

But the Irish are not going into the fray unarmed. Once again Notre Dame has an abundance of brilliant backs and a line that needs only to shed its sluggishness to make the machine a match for one and all.

Fullback Milt Piepult will get his share of yardage against the best lines in the country, right halfback Steve Juzwik is a shifty, powerful runner and Bob Hargrave is a gambling quarterback from the word go. Sophomore Dippy Evans figures to be the best breakthrough runner Layden has had at Notre Dame.

Against this array Alexander will throw his 145 pound buzz saw, Johnny Bosch, Bobby Beers and Joe Bartlett. Bob Ison, stand-out flanker, is back for those devastating end rounds, and Neil Cavette, a guard, still is the south's best punter.

S. M. U. Star Seriously Hurt In Auto Crash

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Foster Elder, Southern Methodist university's star halfback, was injured seriously in an automobile accident today as he and three other players rushed to catch a train for Pittsburgh. The Mustangs play Pitt Saturday.

Elder suffered a fractured pelvis and neck and bladder injuries. Shaken but uninjured when the car overturned three times were Clinton McClain, fullback; Bill Thomas, back, and Lynn Bostic, reserve tackle.

BY OSCAR HARGRAVE

A very popular fallacy seems to be the belief that great halfbacks are born, not made, and that Tom Harmon's or Red Grange's parents were much more responsible for their sons' fame than either Fritz Crisler or Bob Zuppke, coaches of the two ball-toters.

It is generally admitted that coaching can do much to make a good player into a great one, but few believe that a man can develop snaky hips, a tackle-wrecking straightarm or some of the other attributes so essential to a game-breaking backfield man. But, believe it or not, those who have attended Iowa practices of late have seen ball carriers in the making.

A bit of analysis of great running backs might help to clarify the point I am attempting—that if a player has a couple of physical qualifications, such as natural speed and ruggedness, along with determination and a good coach, he is capable of making his yardage total as impressive as a marrying parson's income for the week preceding the conscription act.

Harmon, as one example, combines speed and strength with an ability to see holes and cut through them. The same might apply to Bill DeCorrevont of Northwestern or Sonny Franck of Minnesota, but it doesn't apply to every big or fast man. Or, as with Nile Kinnick, it's mainly a knack of picking the places where most of the opponents ain't and running over those who happen to have strayed into the nearly deserted spot.

Those who have watched Iowa's Henry Vollenweider in action know that Hank can run. In fact, he holds the distinction of getting away on the longest run in Iowa stadium, but Vollenweider didn't get away on any long jaunts last year, not after the 1939 South Dakota game. He wasn't a naturally shifty runner, but he was terrifically fast.

Right now, Vollenweider is a much more dangerous runner. Against South Dakota Saturday, he blasted through foes on a couple of occasions—just put his head down and plowed. If there are any doubts, a man who can run the high hurdles against Big Ten competition also has it in him to plow.

Tuesday night Vollenweider blasted through a freshman line in a scrimmage session, weaved his way out past the backfield and went the rest of the way by himself. A jolting straightarm almost upset one tackler to prove that the Hawkeye fullback has mastered a couple of new tricks. Likewise, Jim Youel was sneaking out for gains and the coaches were intent on teaching Youel the tricks of running, from the use of a shoulder on high tackles to jumping over those who dived for the ankles.

Youel, incidentally, shows definite improvement in the running department, as has Tom Farmer over last spring's form. Probably neither will ever be a Red Grange or Tom Harmon, but with their passing and kicking to round out their triple-threat possibilities, either might be quite a halfback. And, at any rate, the present teachings may mean a couple of touchdowns before late November.

COLONELS McKechnie, Derringer Commissioned

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP)—Bill McKechnie, manager of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, and Paul Derringer, ace Red pitcher from Springfield, Ky., are to be commissioned Kentucky colonels tomorrow, the office of Gov. Keen Johnson announced today.

to St. Louis to meet the rest of the team Thursday.

The Mustangs will work out tomorrow afternoon at Indianapolis.

Best Thing For Baseball That Nationals Should Win Both All-Star Games, Series in '40

BY JUDSON BAILEY NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)

The best thing that could have happened to baseball was the victory of the Cincinnati Reds in the world series. They made a "National league year" out of 1940 and restored the great American game to the competitive system. Even the American leaguers admit privately that the old one-sidedness was getting unhealthy.

It was a victory for the time-tested standards of baseball—that pitching is 70 per cent of the game and that smartness is as good as strength.

In retrospect the series was so full of drama, joy and pathos that it might well have been a piece of fiction.

To go back to the beginning, a year ago at this time nobody had the remotest thought that the Reds and Tigers would win their pennants in 1940. The Tigers had just finished fifth in the American league and the Reds had been wrecked by the all-conquering Yankees. The wise man said no team ever recovered from the shock of being steam-rollered in four straight by the Yanks.

Yet out of this bottomless pit into which the National league had fallen came a courageous combination from the smallest city in the major leagues to overthrow the "superior beings" who inhabited their rival territory.

The whole Cincinnati organization is an efficient unit, but most of the credit, of course, goes to wily Will McKechnie, who also guided two National league all-star collections to triumphs over the American league this year—first in Florida last March and again in St. Louis in July.

He reorganized his Redlegs after the rout last year and brought them back again stronger and better than ever. He kept them rolling in spite of vicissitudes that would have capsized a less courageous club—the death of Willard Hershberger and injuries to Ernie Lombardi and Lonnie Frey.

McKechnie inspired his men to give more than they had. He caused 40-year-old Jimmy Wilson to shed 10 years and 10 pounds and end his playing career in a blaze of glory. For the final game Wilson's right leg was taped in solid layers of adhesive so that it felt like it was in a cast.

8 Quad Grid Teams Play

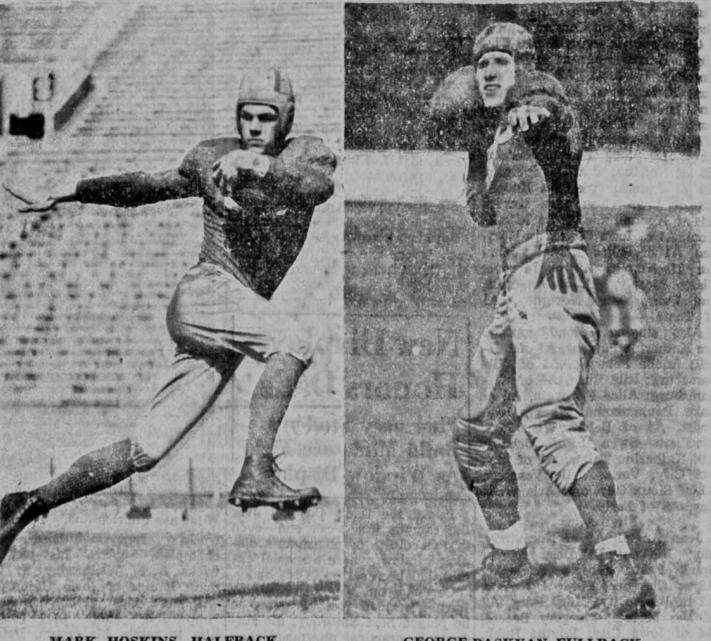

Eight Quadrangle touch football teams played the initial contests of the 1940 university intramural sports program yesterday in games on the practice fields near the stadium.

Lower C won over Lower D in a hotly contested battle in which the score was tied at 6 to 6 at the end of the regular playing time. At the end of the second overtime period, Lower C was awarded the decision by virtue of an extra first down. Slanders of Lower D scored for the losers in the second period on a long run. A pass from Lesser to Vaughn of Lower C marked up the winning team's touchdown.

A team from Upper D outclassed Upper C by a score of 13 to 0. Moore intercepted a pass for the victors midway in the first period and raced for the first marker. The conversion was good. Late in the last period, Upper D scored again on a pass from Snyder to Whitmore.

Hawks Show Respect, Fear For Badger Running Attack

Back Threat Supported By Tricky Halves

There's nothing but respect—and more than a tinge of fear—for the Badgers of Wisconsin, who come to the University of Iowa's stadium Saturday to open the Hawkeyes 40th conference football campaign.

Dr. Eddie Anderson has made it plain to his players that the Badgers are far more dangerous than they were a year ago—and then it took a fourth quarter touchdown pass to overcome a 13-12 lead and beat them, 19-13.

Hawkeye coaches point out that the Badgers for the first time in several seasons have more than one offensive threat. Wisconsin has specialized in plunging fullbacks but has lacked speedy halfbacks and clever passers so when a stout line stopped their power game they had only minor threats.

It looks as if Dr. Anderson is working his men so that iron man feats will not be so necessary. There's a suspicion that Iowa manpower is slightly deeper than Wisconsin's at some positions so that reserves might ultimately decide the game.

Work with Backs

Much work has been done with the four left halfbacks and with Bill Green, Hank Vollenweider, Dick Breunier, Bus Mertes and Burdell Gilleard in other spots.

Charles Galiber, business manager, said Wednesday that he expects a crowd of between 25,000 and 30,000. This would be one of the largest 'Lad's' day crowds on record here. Some 17,500 saw last year's heart-shocker with Indiana.

Hawkeye Highlights

Wisconsin football players will make a very business-like visit to Iowa City . . . no sightseeing . . . they will headquarter in Davenport until late Saturday morning, then move to Iowa stadium via special train.

The official program for the Wisconsin-Iowa game is dedicated to Mr. Edward M. Anderson and Mr. Peter Enich, fathers of Dr. Eddie Anderson and Capt. Mike Enich . . . it's Dad's day Saturday at Iowa City.

It will be Big Ten game No. 149 when Iowa plays Wisconsin . . . Hawkeyes will seek their 54th conference win . . . and their fifth in seven starts under Dr. Anderson.

Both Hawkeyes and Badgers will be directed on the field by star linemen. . . Iron Mike Enich is right tackle and Dick Embick, game captain for Wisconsin, is left guard. . . Embick has a broken bone in one hand but was the best lineman on the field in the Marquette game.

Special formations are being drilled into the Iowa band of 120 pieces . . . the musicians are working on a field adjacent to the football practice gridiron. . . Director Charles Righter has promised some unusual maneuvers.

It's a fact that Iowa has beaten Wisconsin only once in history at Iowa City . . . that was in '33 . . . the all-time series stands at 5 wins for Iowa, 12 for the Badgers . . . series started in 1894 but there have been many lapses.

Ambers Planning Ring Comeback

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Former world lightweight champion Lou Ambers is coming back to the wars this month with an invasion of the welterweight division.

His manager, Al Weil, announced today the little Herkimer Hurricane would start training October 21 at Summit, N. J.

Records Hawk Swimmers Aim At Marks

Attempts to crack world's and American sprint records will be made in the University of Iowa field house pool in two special open races, it was announced Wednesday by Coach Dave Armbruster. The races will be features of the program of the Dolphin Follies of 1941, annual water show.

Featured in these races will be Otto Jaretz, Hawkeye freshman from Chicago, Ill., who holds three National A. A. U. sprint titles of 1940 and is credited with American marks.

Furnishing Hawkeye opposition will be varsity swimmers Don Westrom, Walter Baraisa, Vito Lopin, Clyde Kennitz, Stan Krajewski and Ed Armbruster. Armbruster at present is in the hospital with an injured hand and may not be able to compete.

An assault on the American 100-yard free style record over a 20-yard course will be made during the opening Dolphin Show on Oct. 31, and on Nov. 2 an attempt will be made to smash the world's 100-yard mark for a long course, with the swimmers traveling the 150-foot length of the pool.

Savold Stops Arne Anderson

ST. PAUL, Oct. 9 (AP)—Lee Savold, 192, Des. Moines, Ia., scored a technical knockout over Arne Anderson, 192, heavyweight champion of Sweden, here tonight. Anderson's jaw was fractured in the seventh round by Savold's sharp left jab and the referee stopped the bout.

Savold kept his left in Anderson's face throughout the fight, scheduled for ten rounds.

Around The BIG TEN Training Camps

Illini Stop Trojan Plays

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—Illinois freshmen using Southern California plays made little headway against the varsity today as Coach Robert Zuppke sent the gridders through a long defensive drill.

Contributing the most impressive performance in the workout was Bob Falkenstein, junior from Naperville, Ill., who replaced George Rettinger as first string right halfback. Pint-sized Jimmy Easterbrook, probable starter at left half against the Trojans Saturday, was kept out of scrimmage.

Cats Cut Down On Contact Work

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—Northwestern's gridders received new plays today for the Ohio State game Saturday, but contact work was held to a minimum to prevent the possibility of injuries cutting into the Wildcat ranks. Only the second string linemen came in for plenty of action as Coach Lynn Waldorf continued to seek reserve strength for his rebuilt forward wall.

Buckeyes Stress Pass Defense

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 9 (AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who has a healthy respect for the damage a forward pass can do, pushed his Ohio State Bucks overtime today on aerial defense for Saturday's game at Northwestern.

Schmidt said that it looked as though Coach Lynn Waldorf has a trio of better-than-average passers in Bill DeCorrevont, Olie Hahnstien and Paul Soper. Missing from Saturday's game, it was learned today, will be Jack Stephenson, 214-pound Marion, Ohio, husky who is Charley Maag's understudy at right tackle. A finger which Stephenson dislocated in the Purdue game has failed to mend sufficiently.

Gophers Work On Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Emphasis on defense marked the Minnesota football drill today as the Gophers prepared for their game a week from Saturday against Ohio State. They are idle this week.

Coach Bierman, anticipating a strong aerial attack from the Buckeyes, was putting in a lot of time on pass defense. He kept his first and second strings occupied for more than an hour on tactics designed to stop passes. An encouraging development

32 Wolverines Go to Harvard

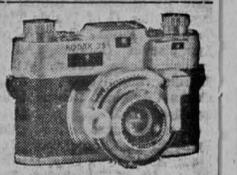

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 9 (AP)—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, Michigan football coach, tonight named a squad of 32 players for the trip to Cambridge for Saturday's intercollegiate clash with Harvard.

Missing from the roster were Halfback Norman Call and Tackle Rudy Sengel, benched with injuries, but on the list was Halfback Paul Kromer, a star as a sophomore two years ago. The squad will entrain tomorrow night and work out Friday in Boston.

Purdue Plans Pass Attack

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—The passing attack—a type of offense which gained 121 yards against Ohio State last Saturday—received the attention of Purdue's football coaching staff today as the Boilermakers went through their last hard drill for Saturday's Michigan State game at East Lansing.

Mike Byelene and John Galvin, a couple of veterans, are expected to do most of the Boilermaker passing Saturday but three sophomores—Marion (Red) Carter, Bryan Brock and Frank Fijala—also did a lot of pitting in today's practice session. Purdue will go through a light drill tomorrow and then leave for East Lansing. There will be a limbering up workout in the Michigan State stadium Friday.

Engineering Students Honored At Annual Reception Tuesday

Dean F. M. Dawson Gives Main Speech Welcoming Students

Nearly 300 engineering students and faculty members attended the annual reception given by the engineering faculty Tuesday night in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Dean F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering gave an introductory welcome talk and announced an honor roll of students who had outstanding scholarship during the past year.

Outstanding in the senior class were: Richard D. Borgstadt, Muscatine; Robert E. Lattimer, Stennett; John Peter May and J. Robert Noon, Cedar Rapids.

Law Smoker Given Tonight

The college of law smoker, scheduled originally for last Thursday night, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the lounge of the Law commons.

All law students are invited to meet their faculty members at this social affair, which is being sponsored by the Law School association, according to an announcement by Elwood Olsen, L3 of Beresford, S. D., president of the association.

D.A.R. Chapter Will Celebrate

The Nathaniel Fellows chapter of the national society of D.A.R. will meet with Mrs. E. F. Hokenson, 122 W. Eighth street in Tip-ton tomorrow at 8 p.m. Edith Hill, Marguerite Geiger, Vera Lyle and Mrs. A. M. McCormick, all of Tip-ton, will assist the hostess.

University 'Y' Meets at Union

To Plan Introduction Of Faculty Adviser, Executive Secretary

Climaxing its annual membership drive, the University of Iowa Y.M.C.A. will hold its first meeting of the 1940-41 school year in the river room of Iowa Union tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. to plan for the introduction of a new faculty adviser, a new executive secretary and a new membership total.

Dr. L. B. Higley, head of the department of orthodontia in the college of dentistry, is the new member of the faculty advisory board. John S. Boyle, G of Wichita, Kan., is the new executive secretary. A membership total of over 200 is expected.

team captains, Edward J. Hoag, A3 of Freeport, Ill.; Keith Braymen, A3 of Shenandoah; John Bangs, C3 of Fairfield, and Arthur Paddock, J3 of Somerville, N. J. "Four Derbies," a quartet from Psi Omega dental fraternity, will sing. Group singing will follow.

Prof. E. Halsey Attends Meet

Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department, will speak at a north-west teacher's meeting held in Council Bluffs today.

Professor Halsey will address the physical education section of the program, speaking on the topic, "Physical Education in High School."

Race Suicide One of Late Problems, Saunders Tells Child Conservationists

"Population Trends and the American Family" was the topic discussed by Harold W. Saunders of the college of commerce at a meeting of the Child Conservation club Tuesday.

The group met in the home of Mrs. E. L. Bright, 220 George. Stating that race suicide was one of the latest menacing problems, Mr. Saunders said, "The population is still growing in America although the rate is dropping off rapidly."

"Our population," he added, "according to the 1940 census is 131,500,000. It is predicted that the United States population will continue to grow until a maximum size has been reached—probably from 1960 to 1980. At that time it will probably decline."

St. Patrick's Women To Meet at School For Euchre Party

The women of St. Patrick's church will meet at 2:15 this afternoon in the school building for their regular Thursday afternoon bridge and euchre party.

Members of the committee include Mrs. George Swift, chairman, Mrs. John Harkey, Mrs. Catherine Hurley, Catherine Kelley, Mrs. Thomas A. Kelley, Mrs. John M. Leonard, Mrs. Edward Organ and Mrs. Joseph Pugh.

Six Speakers Scheduled to Address Mathematics Conference

Two Faculty Men Scheduled To Give Talks

Prof. H. L. Rietz Presiding Officer At First Meeting

The 15th conference for teachers of mathematics, to be held on this campus Friday and Saturday, will feature addresses by four visiting speakers and two professors from the University of Iowa, Prof. H. L. Rietz, head of the mathematics department, announced yesterday.

The guest speakers will be Gertrude Hendrix of Eastern Illinois State Teachers college, Charleston, Ill.; Katherine Young of Wallace Junior high school, Waterloo; F. L. Wren of George Peabody Teachers college, Nashville, Tenn.; and George H. Nickle of Keokuk high school, Keokuk.

Professor Smith and Prof. Lewis E. Ward, both of the mathematics department, will be the lecturers from the university here. Miss Hendrix is one of the co-authors of a text on plane geometry.

Professor Wren is the second vice-president of the national council of teachers of mathematics and has contributed papers concerning the teaching of geometry. Miss Young and Nickle are outstanding among high school teachers in Iowa. They will discuss phases of problems which have arisen in their teaching experience.

Professor Rietz will preside over the conference when it convenes Friday morning at 10 a.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Miss Hendrix will give an address, "Creative Imagination through High School Mathematics" given by Miss Hendrix. Other addresses will be "Developing Understanding in Junior High School Mathematics" by Miss Young and "The Definite Integral" to be presented by Professor Ward. E. N. Oberg of the mathematics department will preside over the afternoon session which will begin with a lecture by Professor Wren entitled "The Arithmetical Responsibility of the Secondary School."

George Nickle will speak on the subject, "The Mathematics Needed for Certain Scientific Courses," after which Professor Smith will describe "Curriculum Trends and the Implication for School Mathematics." The afternoon meeting will be closed by a general discussion.

A dinner for members of the conference will be held in the river room of Iowa Union at 6 p.m. A play entitled "A Case of Figures" to be given by University high school pupils will be one of the outstanding events of the meeting.

Ruth Lane, mathematics instructor at University high school, will direct the play.

Prof. L. A. Knower of the mathematics department here will preside when the members of the conference reassemble at 9:30 a.m. Saturday morning. At this time Miss Hendrix will address the group on "The Concept of Freedom through High School Mathematics."

Following her address, Professor Wren will speak on the subject, "The Place of Mathematics in a Functional Curriculum." A discussion will close the conference.

Court Appoints Administrator

Mrs. R. J. Connor, 534 S. Dodge, was appointed administrator of the estate of Dennis Teely, Iowa City, by county court yesterday.

The estate is valued at $100 and the bond placed on the administrator was also $100.

Teely was struck by a light truck as he attempted to cross the street here the night of Oct. 3 and died a few days later in a local hospital.

Flying Cadets Complete Basic Training

In Their Classroom Above the Clouds

Two former University of Iowa men, now flying cadets, are among the 265 embryo pilots of the air corps who are scheduled to complete the basic flight training at Randolph Field, Texas, "West Point of the Air," this week. They are Everett A. McDonald, R.R. 6 of Iowa City, and Jack D. Dale, Willoughby, Ohio.

McDonald, who attended the university from 1937 to 1940, is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Dale is affiliated with Delta Upsilon.

The two men will transfer to the advanced flying school at Kelly Field, Texas, for a final 10 weeks aerial training in formation flying and day and night navigation before getting their "wings" and commissions as second lieutenants.

They are members of the eighth class to be trained under the expansion program of the air corps that envisions 7,000 additional pilots annually. This eighth class of flying cadets started their aeronautical career last May when they began their primary flight training. Eighteen flying schools located at strategic centers of the country are utilized by the air corps for this phase.

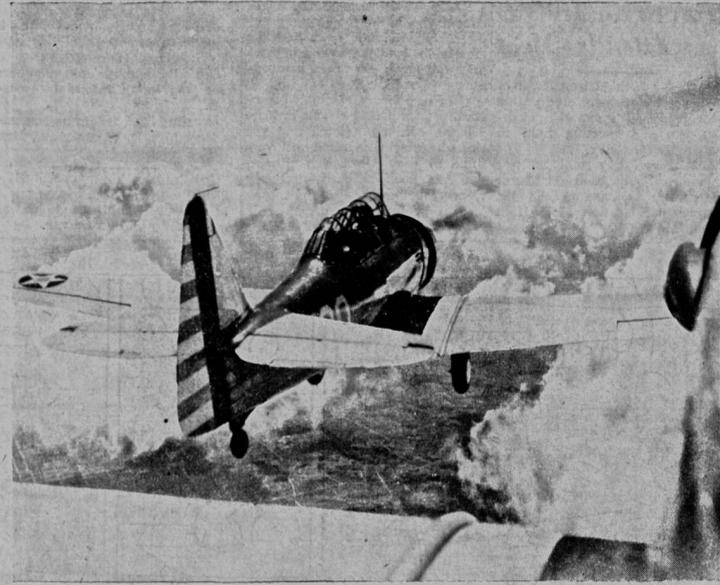

There they spent ten weeks learning the fundamentals of pilotage on rugged 200 horsepower army biplanes. Each flying cadet logged about 65 hours of flying time, about half of it solo.

Basic Training
In August they were assembled at Randolph Field for their basic flight training. The flying cadets stepped from their low powered primary training plane into a 450 horse-power low wing basic trainer, cruising speed about 150 miles an hour. Seventy-five additional flying hours have been acquired on this type craft, which embodies their 450 horsepower low wing monoplane lifts through the overcast they enter an entirely different world. Here future pilots of Uncle Sam's "Airmada" learn the aerial gyrations of military pilots. Soon will come "wings," and commissions as second lieutenants in the air corps reserve, and a tour duty as flying officers with the G. H. Q. air force.

Ahead of them lies the final step in the transformation of a young college man into a full-fledged military pilot. At Kelly Field they will fly even speedier planes on navigation flights

Student Auxiliary Organized To Aid 'Bundles for Britain'

Will Raise Funds By Selling Flowers At Iowa-Wisconsin Tilt

A committee from "Bundles for Britain" met with a group of students last night to organize a student auxiliary for the organization.

Next week representatives from the Town-Dormitory council, the Pan-Hellenic council and the Inter-Fraternity council will meet with the committee from the senior organization Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the north end of the sun porch of Iowa Union. At this meeting a nominating committee will be appointed to choose a permanent president and secretary for the group.

To Sell Chrysanthemums
It was decided at last night's meeting that the student "Bundles for Britain" would sell chrysanthemums for the Iowa-Wisconsin football game Saturday, with a percentage of the proceeds to go into the club funds. Orders will be solicited from all student residences today and tomorrow, and may be telephoned to Phyllis Gilchrist, A4 of Iowa City, temporary chairman of the group. Georgia Adams, A1 of Iowa City, and Eileen Flynn, A2 of Perry, are the committee appointed by Miss Gilchrist to organize girls to sell the flowers at different places Saturday.

The committee from the senior group are Mrs. George Coleman, chairman; Mrs. J. H. Bodine, Mrs.

Adrian Rittenmeyer To Be Interviewed On Fire Prevention

"But the fire could have been prevented!" Adrian Rittenmeyer of the Iowa City fire department will be heard over WSUI at 12:30 today, telling some of the most common causes of fires and methods of prevention.

"Fire Prevention Week," said Mr. Rittenmeyer, "is observed each year during the week in which Oct. 9 falls, in commemoration of the great Chicago fire, which occurred Oct. 9, 1871. During this week we try to put special emphasis on fire prevention. We believe it helps."

Mr. Rittenmeyer will be interviewed by Fred Keller, A4 of Grand Haven, Mich.
