Tenacious Indiana Stops Hawkeyes Short, 10-6

Hoosier Line, Hursh's Passes Stymie Iowa

'Oops' Gillard Runs 25 Yards in Third Quarter for Marker

BY OSCAR HARGRAVE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
INDIANA MEMORIAL STADIUM, Oct. 19 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—A vengeful Hoosier squad, angered by a pair of early defeats, came into its own this afternoon to hand out full payment for last year's loss to Iowa's Hawkeyes. Stopped short by a tenacious Indiana line and the timely tosses of Hal Hursh, Iowa's promising crew tumbled 10 to 6 in their second Big Ten engagement.

The Hawkeyes, slow to get underway, and baffled by the precision of the Hoosier aerials, fell behind by 10 points in the first half, made up six of it in a typical "ironman" rally in the third period, but ran afoul of a perseverance and durability equal to their own in the final quarter.

The Hoosiers rolled into action fast, went deep into Iowa territory in the opening quarter on a series of passes from Hursh to Rucinski and Harris, then sent Gene White back to place-kick a goal from the field after the Hawkeyes had braced. Before that period ended, the Hawkeyes lapsed again, and this time it was little Red Zimmer who scored on a blistering 67-yard dash past his own right end.

Through the rest of the half the Hawks failed to make headway, but midway in the third period they responded with a rumbling ground attack that brought a score in seven plays.

Speculated Ray Murphy tossed the opening chill into the 18,000 homecoming fans here at Bloomington, as he blasted for 13 yards in two plays. Al Couppee and Oops Gillard added yardage and Couppee's sparkling 20-yard quarterback sneak took Iowa back into Hoosier territory. Murphy slammed down to the 25 to set up the touchdown and Gillard ate up that distance in one sweeping sprint around his own left end.

The last quarter was a disappointing period for the Hawkeyes, who could never quite complete a play of their own, nor get their own right end.

President Roosevelt Chats With Canada's Governor General

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—The chief executives of Canada and the United States chatted tonight in the privacy of President Roosevelt's country home.

What passed between the president and the Earl of Athlone, the dominion's governor general, was their secret. But to persons who accompanied the president here from Washington it appeared improbable they would disregard world events and their impact upon the neighbor nations.

Mr. Roosevelt had termed the Earl's visit a courtesy affair, and White House officials said no important announcements need be expected.

Army Training--1940 Style

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The 7th corps area training center which soon will mushroom into being in south-central Iowa will rival and in some respects exceed old Camp Dodge of busy first World War days.

Authorized area of the training center is 40,000 acres, but war department records show that old Camp Dodge had only 2,105 acres. The $860,000 appropriated for this purpose will not finance purchase of the entire 40,000 acres, in the opinion of Representative Karl M. LeCompte (R-Ia), but supplemental funds may be obtained from discretionary lump-sum appropriations.

Old Camp Dodge at its peak had 46,000 men on duty, war de-

Grid War Looms

A University of Iowa pep band under the direction of Carl Paarman, A3 of Davenport—a musically-balanced organization from the ranks of Prof. Charles B. Righter's marching band—will climb into a truck this morning and lead an Iowa student delegation to meet the returning Hawkeyes.

THE TIME: 8:18 o'clock this morning.

THE PLACE: Rock Island station.

The Iron Hawks are returning from a surprise defeat at the hands of Indiana's Hoosiers.

Minnesota's Gophers are dead ahead.

That should be enough to swell the ranks of today's train-meeting delegation to unprecedented peace-time proportions.

We haven't talked to Dr. Eddie Anderson or the Hawks yet, but we think we speak for them when we say:

"It's war from here on out."

'On Iowa' Club to See Movies Of Iowa-Indiana Grid Battle

Club Memberships Are Still Available For Wednesday Showing

The picture story in color of the Iowa-Indiana game will be shown in Macbride auditorium at 7:30 next Wednesday to members of On Iowa club, the organization of student and faculty gridiron fans.

The game with the Hoosiers was not included in the early list of five movies to be shown before the club. But after last-minute arrangements, Director Lee Cochran and Assistant Vernon Putnam of the visual education department left Iowa City Friday to be on deck for the kickoff of yesterday's game, their cameras loaded with color moving picture film.

That film is in Chicago today, being developed. It will be returned to Iowa City for previews on Tuesday, and after the necessary cutting and splicing, will grind out for club members Wednesday night the story of the causes for Iowa's 10-6 defeat at the hands of the Hoosiers.

Memberships in On Iowa club still are available. They are to be had at the Alumni office, Old Capitol; the business office of The Daily Iowan, W-6 East hall, and the extension division office, C-17-A, East hall.

Members who join the organization now will see pictures of the game with Indiana, the Iowa Homecomer Nov. 2 with Purdue, and the Iowa-Nebraska tilt of Nov. 9, to be played in Lincoln, on mid-week nights following those week-end grid battles.

On Iowa club is in its second year. It provides an opportunity for Iowa students and faculty members to see the complete motion picture account, in natural color, of out-of-town engagements of the Hawkeyes—those games most Iowa fans haven't the opportunity to attend in person—in addition to

Turning Point In Art Seen By Longman

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19 (AP)—Norman Rice, dean of the Chicago Art institute, was elected president last night of the Midwest College Art conference, succeeding Prof. William H. Varney, chairman of the University of Wisconsin's department of art education.

Stanley Sessler, of Notre Dame university, was elected vice president, and Gordon E. Paxson, of Rockford (Ill.) college, secretary-treasurer. Chicago was chosen as the 1941 meeting place.

Dr. Lester D. Longman, of the University of Iowa, told the conference he expected 1940 to mark a turning point in American art, away from the internationally-influenced canvases of the 1930's to a "new, refreshing originality of more artistic expression, definitely American in design."

Bright Moonlight Helps British Plaster Nazi Invasion Coast

Bombers Drive Deep Into German Interior; Shipyards Attacked

LONDON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The RAF gave Germany's "invasion coast" a Saturday night plastering tonight in a rolling attack which shook houses along the Kent shore 22 miles on this side of the channel.

The British bombers shuttled across the channel in bright moonlight. A low lying mist hid the French coastline itself but the starlit sky above was sprinkled with bursting German anti-aircraft shells.

For more than three hours British bombers hovered and dived through thick clouds over Hamburg last night to heavily bomb the Blohm and Voss shipyards where German warships are known to be under construction, the British reported.

Observers believed the conference was bent upon checkmating the axis as long as possible, possibly trying to persuade Bulgaria to defer territorial claims in Thrace against Greece, and to reject any Rome-Berlin invitation to join in a military adventure against Greece and Turkey.

Heavy damage also was believed by the raiding pilots to have been done the Germania shipyards at Hamburg, the air ministry news service said.

Despite rain, fog and ice, it added, British airmen plastered heavy cargoes of explosives also on the naval base of Kiel, commercial docks at Emden and Lubeck, and many other targets inside Germany, including big aluminum mill at Lunen, near Dortmund, the river port of Duisburg in the Ruhr, railways near Schwerte, Dortmund, and Osnabruck, and an airdrome at Stade.

Because of clouds, the bulletin said, the raiding airmen were forced to "spend considerable time maneuvering above the target area" at Hamburg. However, the shipyards were reported hard hit in a "series of individual sorties which began shortly after midnight and continued at intervals for nearly three and a half hours."

Strike in Hungary; Coal Supplies Cut

BUDAPEST, Oct. 19 (AP)—With 50,000 miners on strike and thousands of troops guarding the coal fields, Hungarian householders today were limited to 60 per cent of their 1939 coal supplies.

sixth division, regular army. Its components are now scattered among Fort Snelling, Minn., Fort Des Moines, Ia., Fort Riley, Kan., Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo., and Fort Sill, Okla. In command is Brig. Gen. Clement A. Trott, now at Fort Snelling.

Also stationed at the training center will be the newly organized 72nd field artillery brigade.

This comprises, in addition to headquarters and headquarters battery, three Michigan national guard field artillery regiments—the 182nd and the 177th, equipped with tractor-drawn 155-millimeter Howitzers, and the 119th, with tractor-drawn 155-millimeter rifles.

Present plans call for a maximum strength of 35,000 men at the training center. The largest unit to be trained there is the

Nazis Report Great Success In Sub Attack

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, Oct. 19 (AP)—In what Germans called the "greatest and most successful mass submarine attack yet accomplished," nazi u-boats were reported today to have sunk 26 ships totalling 150,000 tons in one night.

These reported victims were among 31 ships aggregating 173,650 tons announced by the high command as sunk in recent days.

Coupled with these reports were the claims of nazi military sources that more than 400 factories and 20 per cent of the electric and gas works in southern and central England had been put out of commission by air bombarders. In 100 days of fighting since July, they said, the British had lost at least 4,000 planes.

The official DNB news agency said the attacking submarines swarmed about the convoy, broke it up, then picked the vessels off one by one as they scattered.

"Why should we put any country under pressure?" the German commentator countered to the inquiries of foreign correspondents.

"It is already evident, with the inexorability of a natural law, that the new order in Europe will be determined by Germany and Italy. Whoever sees that and arranges his nation's affairs accordingly can lead a sovereign existence in peace and quiet once this war is over."

Then he warned:

"But nobody who remains aloof from throwing in his cause with the axis need be surprised if he finds, afterwards, that he has missed the boat."

The commentator expressed belief that the Greeks—"a clever, wise people"—realize "what a transformation Europe is undergoing."

As for Turkey, non-belligerent ally of Britain, he said: "There is no indication of any kind that Turkey intends to play a role similar to Poland's."

Wilhelmstrasse officials declined to comment on reports that the axis was seeking new contact with Soviet Russia, with a view to fixing spheres of influence in the near east.

The German planes were coming in the largest formations they have yet used.

They were easily 15 to 20 in each wave and the waves were not more than five minutes apart.

There had been a mysterious daylight let-up but, for the 43rd straight night, the raiders reappeared as inevitably as the darkness. They had been saving up for a smash of concentrated ferocity.

As the moon rose, silhouetting St. Paul's dome, the attack became heavier. Anti-aircraft batteries of the inner as well as the outer ring of London's defenses pounded at the invaders.

While diners in one restaurant sat at their meals, a bomb exploded outside injuring several persons. Passers-by flung themselves down into the street, against doorways and into gutters. Bus passengers dashed for cover in brick surface shelters.

Incessant Strafing

An incessant strafing began almost with the wail of the night alarm.

Several bombs shrieked down and burst with the thunderous explosions of the invaders' biggest.

In the first two hours the whistles and explosions of 17 bombs were counted from The Associated Press building at 20 Tudor street.

Willkie Says 'Hard Work' Key to Safety

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 19 (AP)—War or no war, the Suez canal is still open to international shipping, including Germany's and Italy's, the French director of operations said today, but added in effect: "Just let the axis powers try to get their boats near it."

"We are acting with total independence of any suggestions emanating from Vichy," declared Baron Louis de Benoist, general representative of the canal company. "We will continue to afford all possible facilities to ships flying any flag."

The baron was speaking in behalf of the French-dominated operating company. He took into consideration, however, that it is the British fleet, standing guard at both ends, which is exercising real control over the 104.5-mile "jugular vein" of the British empire.

His big "if" concerning the chances of axis shipping reaching the canal was emphasized by a British tabulation of losses inflicted by the British Mediterranean fleet in 23 weeks of smashing at Italy's seapower.

Twenty-one of Mussolini's reported fleet of 100 submarines, at least 10 of his destroyers and the world's speediest cruiser, the 5,069-ton Bartolomeo Colleoni, have been sent to the bottom

since June 11, the British reported. Moreover, they said, seven

Italian supply ships and one depot vessel have been destroyed, along with 28 bombing planes.

can be restored, whereas I do."

The Axis and the Suez

The Burma Road — Registration Day — Radio Conference — the Hawks

(A Review of the Week's News)

Balkan Battle Lines

It was a week of far-reaching activity abroad, a week which spelled new turns in the events of the wars of the East and West.

An axis drive toward the vital Suez canal has been in the offing since the blitzkrieg of Britain failed to blitz. Any axis move toward the Suez through Turkey or Greece, last week demonstrated, will be an unanticipated move. Perhaps such action was discussed by the axis minds at Brennero.

More than a week ago, little Turkey warned the German and Italian governments that she would forcibly stall (as forcibly as her 2,000,000 soldiers and meager air force could stall) any axis charge toward the Near East.

Turkey Finds a Friend

The strength of little Turkey was immeasurably greater at the end of the week than at the beginning, because Russia once again entered the European picture in no uncertain terms.

Declaring that she was NOT pre-informed of Germany's anticipated move into Rumania, the red troops of Stalin were reported, later denied, to have moved into Bessarabia, and to be preparing to thwart German Black sea offensives, headed for the Suez.

Meanwhile, British government attaches left Rumania; the English anticipate a break with that nation, and the eventual alignment of Turkey, Greece and Russia with the British cause.

And That, Incidentally

Because Russia, no less than Turkey or Greece, must keep the water outlets from the Balkans free of axis control for their own commercial purposes. That, incidentally, means protecting the Suez from attack. That, incidentally, means alignment with Britain. And that, incidentally, might prevent a union of the wars of the East and West.

We move eastward. On the eve of the scheduled reopening of American Army in the Making...

Registration and Politics

What was the news of the week at home? It was the news of a century. More than 16,000,000 American men between the ages of 21 and 35 registered with Uncle Sam for possible calls to the colors.

More than 300,000 registered in Iowa. Yesterday's newspapers notified the nation that from the seventh corps area, (Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North and South Dakota) 84,624 men will be called for training sometime during the process of mobilizing 800,000 men between now and June 15.

They're Waiting Now

Across the nation they registered, expressing a willingness to fight for the ideals of Americanism, if such should be necessary.

Now they're waiting for a lottery to determine the order in which they will be called. Then will come questionnaires to determine who shall go first, and who shall be deferred. Then, for those 800,000 called, there will come instructions as to time and place to report for duty.

America's greatest peacetime army is in the making. Will it become a wartime army?

The impact of the draft registration blotted out the impact of America's approaching election. Candidate Willkie kept up the pace of the campaign. A glance at the network broadcasts scheduled for the next two weeks shows a republican barrage of the airwaves

Family Portrait'

Is a Great Play

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Two years ago a play called "Family Portrait" came to Broadway. Financially, it wasn't very successful. This was a great pity. In many ways it was the most distinguished drama we have had in a long time.

The idea back of "Family Portrait" was to present Jesus as He appeared through the eyes of His own family. You never saw Jesus himself. You saw only His mother Mary, and His brothers, James, Joseph, Simon, Judah, and their wives. You saw His little nephew who sometimes wonderfully inquired "What has Uncle Jesus done now?" You saw the family, and the friends of the family, and those people who were His friends until they turned against Him.

One of this play's finest scenes took place in a distant inn, where Mary had gone because she knew Jesus had taken a room there. She hadn't seen Him in a long time. Jesus was always going off on His preaching expeditions, and His brothers were furious. Usually He left them with all the work to do.

At this inn she met up with a strange young man who said, yes, he knew Jesus quite well. When he spoke of Jesus a sort of fire came into his eyes. "For me," he said, "He is the beginning and the end. I would die for Him."

Just then three of Jesus' brothers come in. Mary is anxious to introduce them to this young man who speaks so fervently and eloquently of Jesus. She attempts to make this introduction, but pauses helplessly, realizing she doesn't know his name. Taking his cue the young man gets to his feet and bows. "Judas, I am Judas Iscariot," he says.

Here was a situation that dripped with dramatic interest. I was thinking of that scene last night as I watched a scene in another play, based on an incident in the life of Jesus.

In no way are these dramas similar. "Journey to Jerusalem" is the story of a journey Jesus made to Jerusalem with His family when He was only 12 years old. The idea of the journey was to celebrate the Passover. It was on this journey that this 12-year-old boy came into the realization that he was to be the Messiah.

There is one scene in this play that deals with the awful metamorphosis that takes place in His mind when He realizes that His is to be no triumphal procession, no shining armor, no crown of gems. The picture is one of a tormented little boy whose childhood fancies have been crushed and who realizes that He is to be sacrificed.

That is the point of the play. And Russia is to get Persia for her part. One prophecy is safe. Hitler will not go very far in the Mediterranean area as long as the British fleet is supreme there, and the Italians have not even challenged that supremacy.

It seems to me that this is one of the really superior moments of the theater. Such moments alone may justify a production. I do not know how successful, or vice versa, this play by Maxwell Anderson will be. Unfortunately, many people shy away from a play that has a biblical significance. It seems to me that in doing so these people unconsciously confess to limited imaginations.

This play has no "doh thou and these". . . . It is colloquial. It draws perhaps a fine parallel between the intolerance of 2,000 years ago and the same sort of intolerance and its implications of today.

"Journey to Jerusalem" is no "Hi Ho, Silver" for action. It is, I think, a magnificent excursion into the realm of sober reflection.

Pierre van Paassen, Noted Foreign Correspondent, to Open 1940-41 Lectures

World Tours Give Speaker Authority

Writer to Present Unbiased Comment On World Affairs

The annual university lecture series by noted speakers will be opened tomorrow by Pierre van Paassen at 8 p.m. in Macbride Auditorium.

Pierre van Paassen, author of "Days of Our Years," is a "robust six-footer with a slight trace of his Flemish accent still in his discourse."

Broad Background

He has been capable of presenting and interpreting the news for the world because of his broad background of learning and his unusual linguistic skill.

"Unbiased"

Always a firm believer in the policy of presenting news in an unbiased manner, he "has found it difficult to tell all of the news when under the censorship of foreign countries," officials report.

It is only since his arrival in this country that van Paassen has been able to bring to the people the whole truth of what he has witnessed and been forced to withhold from the world, according to the speaker.

Correspondent

The famed correspondent is personally acquainted with world renowned figures. He has a keen sense of perception which aids him as he studies issues and international problems.

Tickets may be obtained free at Iowa Union desk today by students and faculty. Tomorrow the remaining tickets will be open to the general public.

Spanish Dinner To Be Given

Peter Mousouliot of the Spanish department will preside at the first Spanish dinner of the year at Smith's cafe Wednesday at 6 p.m.

The dinners are sponsored by the Spanish department and will be held every other week during the academic year, alternating with the French suppers.

Only Spanish is spoken at the meetings. All who speak the language are invited to attend.

National secretaries and leading representatives from seven protestant denominations are meeting with 100 young people chosen from the protestant churches of Iowa City, ten being selected from each denomination. Members of both the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. are attending the conference also.

The Student Christian council, composed of 20 students, is "ponsoring the meeting. The council was organized last year for the purpose of uniting protestant action on the campus.

National churchmen attending the conference are Gould Wickey, general secretary of the council of church boards of education, Washington, D. C.; Mark Markley, national secretary of the board of education of the United Lutheran church and Paul E. Reynolds, representative for the division of Christian education of Congregational and Christian churches.

Other religious leaders here are George O. Collins, representative for the board of education of the Northern Baptist convention and John Maxwell Adams, representative for the board of Christian education of the Presbyterian church.

Directing the conference are Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, and the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, pastor of the Baptist church, Iowa City, and adviser to the Student Christian council.

Members of the conference will assemble in the river room of Iowa Union at 9:30 this morning for the panel discussion. At its conclusion the conference will dismiss for delegates to attend their own church services.

School Publicity

Before coming to Drake he conducted an extensive survey concerning publicity in Texas schools, the data of which he presented during his discussion on "Organizing a school publicity bureau."

Not enough attention is paid to school publicity, Professor Callahan believes. The school, being such an important part of every community, should keep the community informed of its work, its progress and its activities by giving all the school news it can to local papers.

News Welcome
Most editors of newspapers welcome school news, Professor Callahan pointed out.

Man Behind Scenes Makes the Play Go

Earle McGill, CBS Casting Director, 'Puts On' Drama on WSUI

Four radio students were put through the "mill" in typical network style, as Earle McGill, casting director of CBS, produced a show as the climax of the first annual conference on applied radio here this week end. Students working with McGill are left to the production, was done without a word through the glass panel between the control room and the sound proof studio.

Entirely by sign language, McGill directed the sound effects, the balancing of the actors' voices, and the music bridges, molding them into the finished production so as to create the illusion of actuality.

The production, which was the concluding feature of the conference on applied radio, was originally scheduled to take place in Macbride hall yesterday, but was held in studio A of the WSUI studios.

In an informal discussion after the demonstration McGill explained some of the points on sound effect in producing radio scripts, and answered questions concerning the wages and hours of radio actors.

All this, as well as motioning to the script readers when to come on and when to "fade off" to the water to create the sound of waves.

The script, "A Drink of Water," was cast Thursday by McGill from University of Iowa students.

"Publicity is good publicity when it has news value. School publicity falls into that category," Professor Callahan emphasized.

An essential of good school publicity is to provide a regular flow of school news between the school and paper. Supplement your news items with pictures. The importance of pictures is often overlooked by school journalism staffs, he reminded the group.

Schools should make maximum use of local papers as publicity mediums, he said. He went on to explain that school publicity is largely news and editors won't refuse it as they would other types of publicity that have no news value.

Psychology Head Will Discuss Human Learning, Forgetting

Prof. J. McGeoch Will Base Lecture On Own Research

Recent research on the concepts of learning and forgetting will be discussed Thursday by Prof. John A. McGeoch, head of the psychology department, when he gives the second Baconian lecture of the year.

Professor McGeoch will speak at 8 p.m. in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. His topic is "Human Learning and Forgetting."

The discussion will include a survey of the generality of the concept of learning and of the flexibility of learned acts.

"Recent research shows," the psychologist points out, "that frequency of repetition in itself is not a major fixating condition but that other conditions, such as stated in the law of effect, are basic."

Recent Theories

Professor McGeoch will discuss also certain recent theories of how the conditions of forgetting operate. The major part of his talk will be based on findings in his own laboratories.

He was born in Middletown, Conn., and received his B.A. from Westminster college. Specializing in learning and theoretical psychology, Professor McGeoch received an M.A. degree from Colorado Springs, a Ph.D. degree from Chicago.

Teaching Career

Beginning his teaching career as an instructor in psychology at Washington university, he went to Arkansas in 1928 as professor of psychology. From 1930-1935 he was chairman of the department at Missouri. From 1935 until he came to Iowa Professor McGeoch was head of the department at Wesleyan university.

Editor

Professor McGeoch is a cooperating editor on the American Journal of Psychology, editor of the Longmans-Green psychology series, and for three years was a member of the council of the American Psychological association.

From 1931 to 1934 he was a co-operating editor on the Psychological Bulletin and for 1935, its editor.

He was secretary-treasurer of the Midwest Psychological association from 1932 to 1934 and its president in 1935.

Hawks Can't Take Orders

Anderson Tells Boys To Forget the Thing' In Dressing Room

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

INDIANA MEMORIAL STADIUM, BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—If ever the Iowa football team found it difficult to follow the orders of its coach, Eddie Anderson, it was through the "fifth" quarter of the Indiana game—in the dressing room.

Eddie wanted them to "forget the thing." Reluctant forgetters, though they were, the Hawks began looking forward to "the other five," their remaining opponents. They welcomed only one thought: they lost an early season game last year and still played the final contests as championship contenders.

No man in the dressing room would speak except to blame himself for the loss. But they all gathered 'round Bill Green when his injured shoulder was being examined; all seemed relieved to learn it is "probably" nothing worse than a bruise.

Iowa coaches knew their team would profit by the loss, and the determination of the squad, like their iron-man title, spoke warning to future foes.

Wildcats Win Over Badgers By 27-7 ScoreNorthwestern Utilizes Aerial, Ground Game To Good Advantage

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19 (AP)—The Northwestern Wildcats, conquerors of Ohio State and Syracuse, remained among the nation's undefeated teams by overpowering the University of Wisconsin Badgers, 27 to 7, in a western conference game before 25,000 spectators here today.

Utilizing both their passing and running game to good advantage, the Wildcats took the lead in the second period and never relinquished it. They slashed to scores twice in the second period and twice in the final quarter.

Wisconsin, which could get few passes beyond the alert Northwestern secondary and few long gains through the strong Wildcat forward wall, scored early in the fourth period after a sustained march.

Floyd Chambers accounted for two Northwestern scores while George Benson and Bill De Correvont supplied the others. Jim McFadzien countered for Wisconsin.

De Correvont and Don Clawson, Purple fullback, were injured during the game, but reports from the dressing room said both would be able to play next week.

A pass, De Correvont to Chambers, on the Wisconsin 10-yard line produced Northwestern's first score after Joe Lokan had intercepted Mash Hoskin's pass on the Northwestern 40-yard stripe in the second quarter, Chambers scoring. Jim Smith's placement split the uprights.

With only three minutes of the same period remaining, De Correvont swung wide around his right and twisted along the sidelines for 50 yards and a touchdown. Eugene Benson converted.

Huskers Roll Over Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 19 (AP)—Mighty Nebraska crunched to a 53 to 2 victory over the University of Kansas football team today and with ridiculous ease maintained a record of not having lost on the Jayhawks' own field in 44 years.

Although Nebraska's ace back, Herman Rohrig, was on the bench with an arm injury, all doubt as to the ultimate victory faded after the first eight minutes.

Kansas invaded Nebraska territory but once under its own power and that late in the final period after the Nebraska bench had been swept of substitutes.

Wayne Blue, a rugged fullback replacement in the Husker lineup, battered his way to a trio of touchdowns in the rout that signified the Nebraskans' opening bid for the 1940 football title.

Other Huskers who scored were Sam Francis, Harry Hopp, Henry Rohn, Ray Petach and Dale Bradley.

Cornell Chalks Another Up

Big Red, Growing Stronger Each Week, Rolls Over Syracuse, 33-6

ITHACA, N.Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Cornell, growing more powerful and deceptive with each passing week, rolled over a fair Syracuse team, 33 to 6, today despite everything Coach Carl Snavely could do toward holding the score in bounds.

As a full dress rehearsal for Cornell's big tussle here with Ohio State next week, it was a very impressive show for the 18,000 who shivered in the first real cold day of the season. The nation's No. 1 team, by vote, scored almost at will when it took the notion, mostly on the long, spectacular plays that have characterized it for two seasons.

Four of Cornell's touchdowns were scored on passes, three of them from far out on the grass, while Bill Murphy broke loose and ran 44 yards for the other.

Hal McCullough's brilliant passing, the deft ball handling of his several receivers, and the desperation running of Mort Landsberg, Cornell's 170-pound fullback, all combined to make the winners' attack a thing of fire and beauty.

Iowa City Assured Ample Electric Power Reserve By New 5,000 KW Turbine and 860 Horsepower Boiler Installed In Remodeled Coralville Generating Station

A plentiful supply of cheap electric current is assured the homes, stores and institutions of the Iowa community for years to come by a new 5000 KW turbine and boiler placed in service in the remodeled Coralville, Iowa, generating station of the Iowa City Light & Power Company.

Two older turbines, a 3000 KW and a 1000 KW, three boilers and hydro generating equipment remain as standby, providing a power reserve capacity approximately double the current peak demand.

The new generator, boiler condensing equipment and other auxiliaries comprise the major part of a $514,000 development project which has completely modernized the Coralville generating station. The plant now represents an investment of over a million and a half dollars.

The new addition is built to the west and to the south of the former structure. The new General Electric generator is housed in a bay to the south of the turbine room built in 1930. This portion of the addition is 41 feet north and south by 60 feet east and west, 34 feet in height and contains a basement 20 feet below the turbine room and several feet below the normal stage of the Iowa river. The new Allis-Chalmers condenser and auxiliary pumping equipment serving the generators is located in this basement.

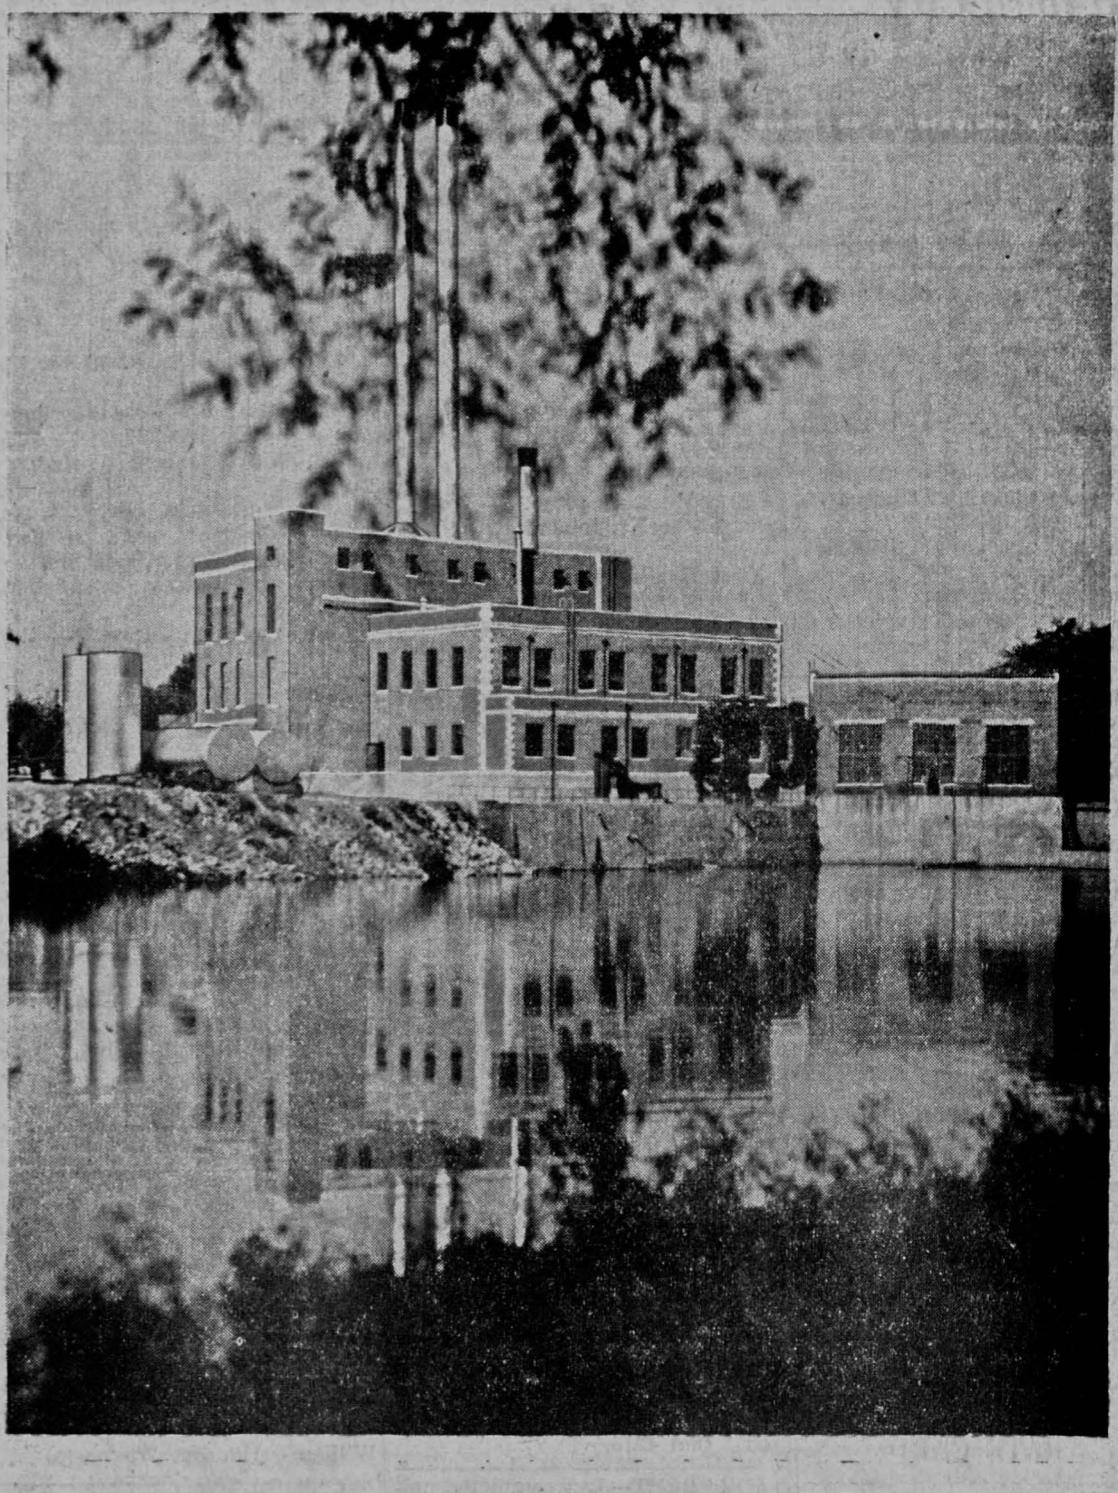

To the west of the old turbine room and fronting on U. S. Highway No. 6 and the Town of Coralville is another portion of the new addition. This section is 48 feet east and west, 92 feet north and south and 60 feet high. The new boiler is located in the northwest corner. It is planned to eventually install two new boilers in place of the three old boilers in this part of the plant.

The new Babcock & Wilcox integral furnace boiler has a capacity of 60,000 pounds of steam per hour, or 860 boiler horsepower. There are 8,417 square feet of heating surface in the boiler proper, which is designed to operate up to a maximum of 500 pounds pressure, but will be operated regularly at 400 to 420 pounds.

A part of the boiler is the superheater, which raises the steam temperature to 740 degrees F. In the boiler proper there are 540 tubes varying in size from 4 inches to 2½ inches in diameter. There are 468 tubes in the economizer which are 1½ inches in diameter, while the superheater has 132 tubes.

The boiler is equipped to burn either coal or natural gas. It will consume approximately 30 tons of coal every 24 hours, or 630,000 cubic feet of gas, which is about twice as much as normal consumption during the summer time in Iowa City, and nearly as much as a peak day during winter.

The coal storage bunker above the boiler holds about 175 tons of coal, which is 3½ cars, and amounts to nearly six days' supply of fuel.

The coal is dumped from car into hopper at the southwest corner of building, and taken by a Robins Coal Conveyor system direct to the coal bunker. From the bunker the coal is dropped in the stoker bin, where it is weighed and then fed into boiler by means of a Hoffman Firerite stoker. It is estimated the boiler will be fired by coal during the four or five coldest months in the year, when demand for heating gas is greatest. The balance of the year the boiler will be fired with gas.

Water for use in the boiler is pumped from the river to two water treating tanks located on the economizer floor. The water is chemically treated and purified before going into the boiler.

The new 5000 KW generator was manufactured by the General Electric Company in Schenectady. It is 3 phase, 60 cycle, and 13,800 volts, will operate on 400 pounds steam pressure at 740 degrees F. This complete turbine-generator weighs 75 tons, and cost installed approximately $175,000.00. The turbine turns over at the rate of 3,600 revolutions per minute, and the perimeter of the flywheel travels at the speed of 600 miles per hour.

Underneath the generator is located the new Allis-Chalmers condensing unit for the G. E. generator. The purpose of this condenser is to condense the steam used to drive the turbine back to water as quickly as possible, thus creating a vacuum and making it possible to reinject the water into the boiler. Water from above the dam is pumped through this condenser and into the river again below the dam, to provide cooling for the condenser. This goes through a 24-inch line. The pump used is capable of supplying as much as 6,350 gallons per minute, or about five times as much water as the average amount of water used in Iowa City.

In this condenser are 1,285 seven-eighths inch brass tubes, 17 feet long. If laid end to end these tubes would cover a distance of four miles. The total weight of the condenser, when in operation, is 30 tons. The condenser installation approximated $50,000.00.

Ground was broken for the power plant addition by Smith & Burger of Iowa City, general contractors, on December 3, 1939, and construction operations were completed to such an extent that the new turbine was first operated July 15, 1940.
