BRITISH GRATIFIED BY F. R.'S WIN

Greeks Say Italian Invasion Base, Koritza, Wholly at Their Mercy

Guns Pound At Key City From Mountain Sides

Fascists Reportedly Bombarded by Own Troops During Retreat

ATHENS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Greece's "ballet skirted" artillerymen, after pounding Koritza from newly-won mountain fortifications, have the Italian invasion base completely at their mercy, Greek messages from the front said tonight.

These heights gave considerable strength to positions already taken from the Italians on adjacent mountain tops, the Greeks asserted.

Backing up ground operations, British and Greek planes heavily pounded Italian troop concentrations. RAF long distance squadrons were declared to have bombed ports in Italy and Albania.

British fighter planes joined Greek craft today in patrolling Athens and its port Piraeus, and were credited with turning back two Italian raiding squadrons. The Italians raided other Greek cities, reportedly inflicting little damage and few casualties.

Despite the reports that Greeks already had entered Koritza, some military observers doubted they would choose to occupy and defend it for any length of time, at least until the Italian strength in the area has been appreciably weakened.

As it is, the Greeks declared, their artillery has made the Italian airbases and supply lines about Koritza virtually useless at a minimum cost. But, once large Greek forces descend the plains and entered the town, the Italian tanks, thus far of little aid to the invaders, might be much more effective.

J. P. Kennedy May Resign London Post

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy indicated today he might not return to London and early resignations among other envoys now home from Europe were expected to follow the election.

Kennedy called at the state department for the first time since he returned from England 10 days ago. He conferred with Secretary Hull and Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state.

Asked when or whether he would return to London, he said he had no plans and had not discussed the subject with any officials.

Kennedy's desire to give up his London post long has been reported both here and abroad. Some persons had expected him to resign immediately upon his return because of reported differences with President Roosevelt but instead he urged the president's reelection in a radio address.

He has been mentioned for various other government posts, including the chairmanship of the national defense commission.

Other diplomats who took part in the presidential campaign and may soon resign are William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France; Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, ambassador to Poland; John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium; and Mrs. Florence Harriman, minister to Norway.

Greeks Hammer Italian Wings

This Central Press map shows how the Greeks are attempting to turn the wings of the Italian advance into Greece (1) A Greek thrust cuts south-westward around the Albanian town of Koritza while (6) Greek forces inflict a stunning defeat on Italian troops (5) which had been advancing on the Grecian city of Ynina. Greek forces are also reported to have stopped the Italo-Albanian thrusts (2) near Nokolica and (3) Melissopetra. The one bright spot for the Italians was the report that 11 Duce's forces operating from Delvino in Albania had (4) penetrated some 10 miles into Grecian mountainous territory.

Axis Raiders Blast at London In Ferocious Overnight Attack

Waves of Fascist Planes Join Nazis In Vengeance Assault

LONDON, Nov. 7 (Thursday) (AP)—Fire-fighters kept on the jump in London early today in the face of an increasingly ferocious attack by axis bombing planes which began earlier than ever and stretched on overnight into the morning.

Bombers laden with incendiary missiles braved the heavy anti-aircraft barrage to swoop low and loose their deadly cargo.

Londoners whose ears have become attuned to the sound of German motors said there was an unfamiliar whine in the air today, indicating that waves of Italians were participating.

Reports from many London areas stated the blows were harder and more general than for several nights.

The axis airmen apparently hoped to pay off in devastation and death for the British raids on the continent from the North sea to Naples.

Frenzied Attack
Despite the frenzy of the attack, many Londoners left shelters during the morning hours and went home to bed. This fatalistic trend has been increasing during the week.

One raiding plane dived to 600 feet to machine-gun passengers waiting for a train, but a British Spitfire came right behind and chased the enemy skyward.

Besides London, the bombers attacked southwest and northeast England.

It was officially announced that during yesterday four German and four British planes were downed. One British pilot was saved.

London's anti-aircraft thundered with unusual intensity as the first bomb explosions were heard. At Southampton, even earlier, public buildings and houses had been crushed, an unestimated number of persons killed and wounded, and students, teachers and office workers buried, alive and dead, in the rubble of an art school and office building. Liverpool, too, was besieged from the sky simultaneously with London, a few hours after King George and Queen Elizabeth had toured the vast warren of docks on the Mersey-side there.

Wallace First Resident to Be Vice President

Home State Rejects Choice by Voting For Willkie-McNary

DES MOINES, Nov. 6 (AP)—Henry Agard Wallace tonight had become the first resident Iowan in history to be elected vice president of the United States, but his home state had no part in the triumph.

While the nation yesterday was giving the democratic Roosevelt-Wallace ticket a one-sided electoral college victory, Iowa went to the Willkie-McNary combination by 50,000 votes in the unofficial tabulations.

With nine of the state's 2,453 precincts still out, the Iowa count was: Willkie 622,737, Roosevelt 572,655.

Meanwhile republican Governor George A. Wallace won a second term in the statehouse, vanquishing John K. Valentine, his democratic opponent, by more than 65,000 votes in the unofficial returns. The count in 2,444 precincts was: Wilson 611,766, Valentine 546,208.

Record Vote
Yesterday's outpouring of Iowa voters was the greatest ever reached in Iowa, the returns showed. The unofficial totals listed more than 1,195,000 votes, or more than 53,000 above the previous record, set in the 1936 election.

Besides the twin top-of-the-ticket victories, the triumphant republicans also captured at least seven of the state's nine congressional seats and elected the entire state ticket by comfortable margins.

Former President Herbert Hoover was the only other native Iowan ever chosen major party standard bearer in a national election. He, however, was living in California at the time of his 1928 victory and 1932 defeat.

Other Iowa election highlights:
1. Governor Wilson polled the highest number of votes ever received by an Iowa gubernatorial candidate, the unofficial figures indicated. His 611,766-total in the incomplete returns was more than 7,000 above the official record, set by former Governor Hammill, another republican, in 1924.

2. Wendell Willkie polled the third largest vote ever given to a presidential candidate in Iowa, comparing current unofficial totals with official canvasses of other elections. Topping Willkie's unofficial and incomplete 622,737-total were Hoover's figure of 623,570 in 1928 and former President Harding's unbroken record of 634,674 votes, established in 1920.

Expanded Plans For British Aid Seen as Likely

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 (AP)

Expanded plans for aiding Great Britain appeared to be in the making tonight as Secretary of State Hull called for post-election unity in carrying forward the "principles and practical measures" of President Roosevelt's foreign policies.

These, Hull said in a formal statement, gained "nation-wide approval in yesterday's election and "our nation can now go forward with the fullest measure of practical teamwork by the government and the people in the firm continuance of those foreign policies."

What specific steps were planned to reinforce British resistance to the axis powers were uncertain. Increasing attention was given here, however, to the question of British sea power as a result of intensified axis submarine activities in the Atlantic and threats in the Mediterranean area.

Mexicans Act On U. S. Tip

Customs Authorities Find Money Reported For Propaganda Work

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6 (AP)—Mexican customs authorities, reported to have acted on a tip from the U. S. government that a large sum was being sent here for Italian and German propaganda activities, discovered $2,000,000 in U. S. currency today in a diplomatic pouch borne by a special courier from the Italian embassy in Washington.

The courier was allowed to retain the money and Italian legislation sources said that Count Alberto Marchetti, Italian minister to Mexico, had protested and obtained an apology for the search.

The Mexican government explanation was that an "inexperienced" official was responsible for the search, but a responsible government source said actually the U. S. government furnished the information that led to discovery of the cash.

No Public Record
This same source said it was assumed that the money was transported by pouch rather than through a bank draft so there would be no public record of transfer of so large a sum.

At the Italian legation it was asserted that the funds were being brought in merely to meet the legation's routine operating expenses. No explanation was given for use of the diplomatic pouch, and Count Marchetti was described as puzzled by this procedure.

Trend Now Toward National Unity As Good-Will Note Ends Campaign

By The Associated Press
A will toward national unity manifested itself yesterday as the aftermath of the bitter, turbulent campaign which resulted in President Roosevelt's election to serve a tradition-smashing third term as the nation's chief executive.

It was evident in the editorials of newspapers which had strongly supported Wendell L. Willkie, the defeated republican nominee, in the statements of many of the country's leading men, in the usual exchange of messages between victor and vanquished and in a radio address made by Willkie early in the day.

Mr. Roosevelt, the winner and still "the champ," was in by another sweep of the electoral college. Nine states remained in the Willkie column. The president was credited tentatively with 468 of 531 electoral votes, with the issue settled in all but a few states. The popular vote, with many ballots yet to be added to both sides, was much closer. It stood at 24,363,798 for Roosevelt and 20,282,049 for Willkie. Republican leaders drew much gratification from the fact that the president's popular plurality was running far below his 10,000,000 margin of 1936. In this a number of them, including Sen. Charles L. McNary, the republican vice-presidential nominee, saw portents of a republican victory in 1944. The statistics indicated that the party's popular vote this year would be the largest in its history.

But the broad geographical sweep of the president's victory carried with it a democratic gain of a dozen or so seats in the house. Of 35 senate seats at stake, 21 democrats and nine republicans had been elected, which—against the trend—gave the republicans a net gain of two. Sixteen democrats and 13 republicans were elected to gubernatorial posts, with the democrats ousting four republicans and the republicans capturing four seats from democrats.

Hawaii Strong For Statehood In Plebiscite

HONOLULU, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Hawaiian islands, with their polyglot population, have expressed their desire for statehood.

With complete, unofficial returns from all precincts except the island of Hawaii, yesterday's plebiscite gave 39,413 in favor of statehood and 19,911 against. There were 83,312 registered voters in the territorial population of 412,000.

Next step on the long road to fulfillment of this wish will be a resolution from the Hawaiian legislature petitioning congress for statehood.

Italy's High Command Says Greek Attacks Checked by Fascists

ROME, Nov. 6 (AP)—Italy's high command said today that the fascist armies on the Greek-Albanian front had beaten off attacks by the Greeks on Italian positions above Koritza.

The same source acknowledged that 14 persons had been killed and ten injured last night in a British air raid on the Naples area, the third in less than a week. The damage was minimized.

It was the first time the high command had related an "attack by the Greeks." The scene of the action was placed north of Kategoria pass and along the southern shores of Lake Presba. The fighting was described as violent.

It was officially reported also that an Italian torpedo boat had sunk a British submarine which attacked an Italian convoy in mid-Mediterranean.

See Result As Sign Against Totalitarianism

Japan Urges Roosevelt To Reorientate U. S. Policy in Far East

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS
Around the world last (Wednesday) night, from the upper reaches of the Yangtze to Tokyo, London, Berlin and Rome the reelection of President Roosevelt evoked reaction ranging from totalitarian indifference to British gratification and Chinese jubilation.

Japan took the occasion to urge upon Mr. Roosevelt a "reorientation" of the United States' far eastern policy.

Berlin and Rome expressed no surprise at the result nor any disappointment, expressing the view that as between democratic and republican aid to Britain was a matter of degree. The British press saw the result as a sign of a turning world tide against totalitarianism.

"... The blackest day Berlin has known since the beginning of the war," declared the London Evening Standard as part of the splash which the Roosevelt success made in the British press.

Chinese in the central government capital at Chungking thronged the streets and cheered the news that Roosevelt had won, and Finance Minister H. H. Kung gave a party in honor of United States ambassador Nelson T. Johnson.

The Chinese had favored the third term primarily because they believed that the next few months would be critical in the far east and that a change of presidents would have delayed the American action in the Pacific ocean which China anticipated.

Japan alone of the Big Three totalitarian block furnished outright official comment, the foreign office spokesman declaring that "President Roosevelt should make reorientation of the United States' far eastern policy... one of the first tasks... because Asiatic affairs present a difficult situation for the United States."

Stronger comment came from the Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri, which said Mr. Roosevelt's reelection completely destroyed the prospect of improvement of Japanese-American relations which, the paper added, can be accomplished only through American reconsideration of her present policies.

Military geography, internal politics, historic friendships and pressure of circumstances dictated the world response.

The press of conquered France discreetly gave second prominence to the Roosevelt victory—preferring to dwell on Chief of State Pétain's current tour of southern France—and the only official comment was that France was more concerned with "building up Europe."

LeMps, commenting that the third term was the main issue, said "it might be deduced that respect for certain political traditions have weakened on the other side of the Atlantic and that Roosevelt's policy has sensibly modified the spirit of the new American generations."

Authorized quarters in Berlin pictured Germany as merely "an interested bystander" with "an almost sportive interest" in the result which, it was said there as well as in Rome, the axis powers had anticipated.

President Returns to Capitol

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt headed for Washington tonight after telling his Dutchess county neighbors "I'd rather live right here."

Earlier he indicated that peace and unity in labor's ranks would be an early objective of his third administration.

The president's allusion to labor came during the day as he dedicated Hyde Park's new post-office.

Pressed by reporters for a "story," the president called their attention to men carrying signs which said: "When Lewis resigns labor will have peace," and "not Mr. Lewis but unity."

"Look the other way," said the president, nodding toward the signs. "There's your story."

Just Built That Way

The election smoke is clearing away. Franklin D. Roosevelt has won a historic third term as president of the United States. The majority of the citizens of this nation voted for him, in what was termed by a University of Iowa professor before his class last Tuesday as "the greatest manifestation of the democratic process the world has ever known."

We watched yesterday, after the strain of a rousing campaign, other deeply significant aspects of the democratic process as it functions in America.

Characteristic of America

We watched the losing candidate pledge his whole-hearted efforts to a great national unity at a time when unity is paramount. We heard him promise the nation that his time will be devoted to the national defense program, and to the promotion of those ideals and principles for which America stands, almost alone, in today's world.

And that is the spirit of democracy—a spirit which is characteristic of America alone. We shall everlastingly cherish it.

The Few, and the Many

There are those who will, because their program was defeated at the polls, cry in anguish that America is doomed. But the vast majority will realize that these United States are bigger, by far, than a single man or a single party. And they will go to work, not for party but for nation.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

Aspirin and Time Will Cure That After-Election Feeling

WASHINGTON—The men behind the Willkie campaign self-shrank themselves into anonymity to a great degree during the fray. It is now possible to remove their hats and disclose some heads that have not been altogether evident before.

John Hollister, law partner of Senator Taft, traveled on the Willkie train as a most important liaison man with the party regulars; Sinclair Weeks, son of the former war secretary was one of the outstanding executives in eastern headquarters along with Sam Pryor, the eastern manager who was the main cog, Congressman Horton, of Wyoming, had a big hidden hand in the west, as did John Cowles, the publisher, in the middle west. Two other newcomers who stood at the right hand inconspicuously were Pierce Butler, Jr., son of the former supreme court justice, and Edgar M. Queney, Missouri, an energetic young businessman.

This may be the first time you have heard of some of them in national politics but it will not be the last.

A New Aide for Roosevelt

Mr. Roosevelt's sub-circle was distinguished by only one name new to politics, that of Lowell Mellett. He was apparently the leading and most active brain trust. The position of the former liberal editor constantly increased during the campaign until finally he was traveling on the president's campaign train unostentatiously for thinking business. The others were the president's well known friends in the government, Senator Byrnes, Frank Walker, Paul McNutt, Ben Cohen, et al, but the list was unusually deficient in congressmen who generally are most active in campaigns.

Morning after the nation's quadrennial political spree rarely leaves more ailments than can be cured by aspirin and time. The nation's doctors around here are saying this time the campaign served as a healthful nervous outlet for a body politic upset emotionally by the war and class strife.

Problems in Child Psychology

But it left one symptom that is worrying them. The tendency of children for violence toward distinguished persons was novel, but neither as novel nor grave as the inclination of grown-up youngsters to endorse child criminality. In the latter stages the adults carried their endorsement into action by substituting tomatoes for argument.

Coherent letters were written by adults to prominent officials, and more than a dozen violently oppose the philosophy of the new deal. They are good Americans.

There are those of that winning party, those who believe in its fundamentals and in its methods, who will relegate themselves to self-appointed positions of important trust as a result of this election, their program being "the only program capable of benefitting the nation." But again the vast majority will realize that these United States are far bigger than a single party or a single program, and they will go to work, not for party but for nation.

They will do that, even though they may violently oppose the philosophy of republicanism. They, too, are good Americans.

Bigger than Party

There are 130,000,000 who fall in one of these two classifications, so America need not worry.

The administrations of generations to come will be liberal or conservative, in light of the times, but the whole great American program will move progressively ahead. Has America ever been subject to reaction?

No, this nation need not worry so long as 130,000,000 or more people determine who their leader shall be, and when he shall cease to be their leader. This nation need not shed tears over dictatorship until some party or some person seeks to tell them what to do.

And that won't happen while we have general elections every four years.

Just Naturally that Way

At this trying period in American history the United States needs unity, and unity she shall have.

Because the American people, unlike almost any other peoples you can name, are just naturally that way.

Interest in Defense Trades

Public libraries, especially some located in defense industry centers, are experiencing increased demands for books relating to national defense and the specific skills required in strategic industries, we are told by the International City Managers association.

These libraries are devoting a portion of current revenue to the purchase of such books.

City-wide publicity in shops, schools, radio and newspapers brought crowds to the Rochester, N. Y., public library to examine an exhibit of 400 books and 50 magazines on industry in the defense program. The library says it has purchased every book published since June, 1940, on airplanes, automobiles, building, industrial chemistry, industrial design and architecture, management in industry, mechanical drawing, modern warfare, optics and instruments, power, printing, radio and television and shop practice.

The Carnegie library of Pittsburgh last summer allotted its undistributed reserve of $2,000 to the purchase of technical books to meet increased demands.

The last place one might expect to find manifest the affects of war abroad and defense at home would be, in all probability, in the library system. We're wrong again.

THE TATTOOED WOMAN

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

Sitting in On Broadway Rehearsals By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—One of the sure ways of seeing a first class Broadway show free is to catch it in its rehearsal stages. This is easy, as rehearsals go on all the time. They take place in empty halls and unattended theaters. Actors and directors move around in street clothes and if you can get into the theater without the doorman throwing you out, no one will say anything to you.

Watching the better known actors and actresses rehearse informally is novel entertainment. Some of them, not many but some, still cling to the "grand dame" manner. Others are just Joe and Bill and can-you-give-me-a-light-for-my-cigarette fellows.

You get a good line on people by watching them rehearse. World famous actors take sharp-voiced directions from little known directors without complaining. If the director didn't know his business, he wouldn't be there. And most theater people need direction. Few indeed merit the compliment of being known as "instinctive." An "instinctive" actress is one who instinctively does everything right. But for the majority, without direction, would "instinctively" do things wrong.

I like to sit in on any rehearsal where Irving Berlin is. No rookie could be more enthusiastic. He is everywhere at once with undiminished pep. When he explains the accent he wants on one of his songs, he plays it and sings the lyrics. He has no voice—it is a half-cracked croak and a whisper. But he sings as heartily as a cock crowing for sunrise.

Noel Coward is a tireless worker. He has unlimited patience. He will re-enact one scene a dozen times, in a dozen ways, for a director. "We have to get this thing right," he says. "I wrote it but you tell me how to act it."

Katharine Cornell has to be watched during rehearsals. She will work until she falls if they let her. She thinks her husband, Guthrie McClintic, is the best director on earth. He directs all her plays.

Musical shows and dramas have entirely different rehearsal formulas. Take the Ed Wynn show as an example. Wynn and his "name" performers rehearsed in one place. The dancers worked at the same time but in another building a half mile away. The chorus also had different rehearsal halls and hours.

After each "group" mastered its foolery, the parts were assembled into a whole. But drama is different. For a few days the cast sits around and reads its lines. Then they go through their paces on the stage. Some scenes may come "instinctively." Others may require weeks of correction. It is a back-breaking and sometimes heart-breaking experience. Rehearsals may last only a few hours, and again they may take up most of the night. Once you're into a rehearsal it is impossible to tell just how much, or little a play has. The shrewd observers on earth are unable to tell. The answer can come only after the finished product is unveiled before a full, live audience.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

The Capital-A Actor's Here Again

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Do look now, for the Capital-A actor is coming in his own again.

Before long, it ought to be possible for a player to Capital-A act without being accused of cutting himself a slice of ham. Hollywood, in its informal moments, bands the term "ham" freely about. As you hear it, some of our best names and friends are "just hams."

Paul Muni could wangle an academy award but, confidentially, he was "just a ham."

That went for John Carradine, the character actor, too. Fredric March, who got an academy Oscar himself once, was branded with the pork for virtually every picture. Lionel Barrymore, beloved by the fans, often was described (with admiration) as a peerless "scenery-chewer."

What never was made clear, of course, was where acting ended and "hamming" began.

But all that ought to change now. Maybe it's the "western" influence, suggesting freedom, the outdoors—and beef rather than pork. Maybe it's the accumulated influence of all those players—Bette Davis and Muni and March and the rest—who take a part and aren't afraid to rattle with it.

Not so long ago the school of "restraint" was tops. Say the hero walked in and found his sweetheart butchered by the heavy! He just stared and lit a cigarette and stared some more. It was a cardinal sin against "restraint" to portray emotion as ordinary folks do—by yelling out loud, tearing and stamping, or slugging somebody. Everything was as general as Leslie Howard.

There's still "restraint," thanks be, in Capital-A acting. Bette Davis in "The Letter" has a terrific part but you won't see her failing to relax when the scene calls for quietude. Charles Laughton, like most Englishmen, can "out-restrain" anybody but in "They Knew What They Wanted" you don't catch him staring, just staring, when he finds his best friend done him wrong. No, sir, he jumps up and down and pummels the tar out of the snake—and I haven't heard it called "hamming" to date.

Johnson County Voters Follow National Democratic Swing

Elect Demos For Complete Party Victory

Official Results Will Not Be Known Until Board Counts Ballots

Johnson county voters, following closely the national democratic swing, elected every democratic candidate to office Tuesday in one of the most complete party victories ever witnessed here.

One republican, R. J. "Dick" Jones, up for re-election as county recorder, stayed in office. He was unopposed.

Although the margin of victory for many of the candidates was so close that official results will not be known until ballots are counted by the county board of supervisors, county democratic political leaders expressed confidence in absolute victory.

William F. Morrison, incumbent, candidate for the state legislature, on the republican ticket, was edged out by 223 votes by John J. Swaner, democrat, in the closest race in the county. In the state senatorial vote count, LeRoy S. Mercer, democratic candidate, led Frederick C. Schadt, republican, by a slim margin of 437 votes. Mercer held a heavy lead in Iowa county but it was counter-balanced by Johnson county ballots.

E. A. Baldwin
E. A. Baldwin, democrat, unseated county Attorney Harold W. Vestermark, G. O. P. incumbent, in a race that saw-sawed until early yesterday. In the final unofficial count, Baldwin held a safe majority of 1,661 votes.

The fight for the office of sheriff saw re-election of Don McComas, democrat, by an unofficial majority of 1,781 votes. Will R. Rowland, republican candidate, opposed him.

Close Polling
Democrats Elmer M. Dewey and J. E. Pechman were elected to the county board of supervisors in close polling. Pechman unseated Earl Webster, republican, incumbent and Dewey defeated Willard W. Watters.

County Auditor, Ed Sulek, democrat, defeated the G. O. P. candidate, Robert I. Reilly, by a 3,442 majority vote. He collected 9,582 votes to Reilly's 6,140.

County voters elected Lumir W. Jansa, present mayor of Swisher, to succeed the late W. E. Smith in the county treasurer's office. Aaron Albright, republican, opposed him at the polls.

County Coroner George D. Callahan was returned to office by almost a two to one majority over C. O. Parks with 9,927 votes to Parks' 5,514. R. Neilson Miller, unopposed, will continue as clerk of the court. Judge J. P. Gaffney was unopposed for re-election as judge of Johnson county district court.

Franchise Voted
In Iowa City, ballots voted the Iowa City Coach company a 10-year franchise to operate its buses on city streets by an overwhelming majority.

T. M. Fairchild and J. M. Kadlec were unopposed candidates for justices of the peace and Roy Lewis, republican, and Pat Gilroy, democrat, were elected constables.

In the presidential and gubernatorial contests, Johnson county favored President Roosevelt and John K. Valentine. Roosevelt received a majority of 1,711 votes and Valentine led George A. Wilson by a 1,400-vote margin.

Thomas E. Martin, incumbent congressman on the G. O. P. ticket, squeezed past Zoe S. Nabors with a majority of 81 votes.

Local Legion Post Plans For Armistice Day

Roy L. Chopek post, American Legion, is in charge of plans for the annual celebration of Armistice Day in Iowa City.

The program will begin at 10:20 a. m., Nov. 11, with a parade leaving Legion headquarters at the Community building and proceeding to the east approach of Old Capitol where a speaking and musical program will be held.

Parade marshal will be Lieut. Col. Will J. Hayek. Dr. Charles E. Logan of Keokuk will deliver the main address. Robert J. Barry, post commander, will preside.

All patriotic groups and ex-service men have been invited to take part in the ceremonies.

The committee in charge of the activities includes Judge Harold D. Evans and L. E. Clark.

Petersen Asks To Rehabilitate Lucas Home

At the Lions club luncheon meeting yesterday, Dr. William J. Petersen of the state historical society and university department of history gave the last of a series of talks on rehabilitation of the Governor Lucas home here.

Petersen gave a short biographical sketch of Robert Lucas, first territorial governor of Iowa from 1838 to 1841 and said that many persons had offered to donate historical documents to the state in connection with the rehabilitation program.

The home, built in 1844, is located at Carroll and Kirkwood. Petersen explained that a committee of which he is a member, recently appeared before the interim committee of state and was granted an appropriation of $3,500 for the project. The remainder of the sum needed will be raised by people of Iowa City and others interested.

"If we get behind this project," Petersen said, "we will have not only a shrine of national, state and county interest, but a depository for antiques and relics of which we may well be proud."

'Swing Club' To Have Party Friday Night

The "Campus Swing Club," a newly formed social organization, will sponsor a dancing party Friday evening at the Varsity ball room. It will be open to all university students in order to acquaint everyone with the purposes, features, and future plans of the club.

The idea of regular meetings keynoted by informality and high class entertainment at a very moderate cost to members has been very popular at numerous other universities and colleges throughout the country," said Harold Smith, A2 of Waterloo, president of the club.

Paul Arthur and the Count "11" band will provide music for dancing. Entertainment will also be provided by Vernon Leonard, A4 of Mason City, with rhythmic specialties; Irving Goldston, D2, humorist; A. V. Hatter, A4 of Marengo, scat singer, and the comedy team of Fred Keller and Wilford Christopher.

Many Vacancies For Navy Recruits In Present Program

As the navy continues its present expansion program, many vacancies are now open for men between the ages of 18 and 31 years, according to an announcement by C. A. Pierce, navy recruiter, at the United States navy recruiting substation, post office building, Cedar Rapids.

With scientific advancement in equipment and armament of the modern man-o-war, it is essential that well-trained young men of good character and sound physique be available for service, Pierce said.

Young men interested may write or call at the Cedar Rapids office for details.

Party Heads Give Thanks Work of Followers Praised Highly On Political Campaign

Chairmen of Johnson county's two major political parties last night issued statements of thanks to fellow workers who aided them in the 1940 political campaign.

Att. Will J. Jackson, democratic chairman whose party swept Johnson county, said: "I wish to thank our many friends and workers for their assistance in the election of our democratic candidates. I am confident that our elected democrats in the county will capably serve the people. It has been gratifying to receive this vote of confidence and we fully realize the responsibility which this vote entails."

Atty. Edward F. Rate, republican chairman, said: "The democratic party won a clear-cut victory. I extend my congratulations and best wishes. Our republican candidates and many loyal supporters made a splendid campaign. I wish to thank them for their work. There will be another day, however, and we shall begin now to prepare for it."

New Addition Nears Reality Journalism Quarters To Be Discussed At Public Hearing Soon

The proposed new addition to East hall which will temporarily house units of the school of journalism, progressed a step nearer reality yesterday when M. R. Pierson, secretary of the state board of education, announced a public hearing on plans, specifications and contract forms will be held Nov. 21 at 3 p. m. in the office of the university architect.

The structure, comprising a basement, first and second stories, will cost approximately $25,000. It is planned as an addition to the north end of the west wing of East hall to replace office space lost by fire occurring in the old journalism building at Iowa and Dubuque last year.

Authorized by the state board of education last month, the building will allow expansion of the education reading room library and will relieve present crowded conditions in the East hall wing where the school of Journalism and The Daily Iowan now are quartered. Ground will be broken for the project by mid-November, an earlier university statement said.

Red Cross To Assist Draftees

Assurance that the Red Cross is preparing to deal with welfare problems of all men who enter military service was extended yesterday by Cloyd Shellady, chairman of the Johnson county chapter of the Red Cross, to relatives and friends of draftees.

Shellady asked public cooperation during the annual roll call, Nov. 11 through 30, in order that new national defense emergencies may be met.

"Not only the draftees, but their families as well will be cared for," Shellady said. Red Cross workers will assist

Brief History Of Fraternity

Pi Tau Sigma Came Into Being During First World War

Pi Tau Sigma, now recognized by engineering colleges nationally, was instigated in the years of the first World war by O. C. K. Hutchinson of Alton, Ill., now charter member, who will appear on the campus this week end.

Through the efforts of Hutchinson the honorary society for mechanical engineers was organized at the University of Illinois, but soon spread to the University of Wisconsin.

The coalition of these two original chapters resulted in a national convention in 1916 in Chicago, Ill.

National officers were elected and a constitution was adopted. In 1922, chapters at Purdue and University of Minnesota were formulated. As this new honorary fraternity progressed, other chapters from various universities became affiliated.

Twenty-one chapters will attend the 1940 convention at the University of Iowa, officials announced.

Schools to participate are the Universities of Illinois, Wisconsin, Purdue, Minnesota, Missouri, Texas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Pittsburgh, Colorado, Cincinnati and Lehigh.

Also to attend the convention here are Armour Institute, Penn State, Carnegie Institute, Oklahoma A. and M., Georgia Technical Institute, Drexel Institute, Kansas State, Virginia Polytechnic and Rensselaer Polytechnic.

D. A. R.'s Meet For Dinner, Public Service

The Nathaniel Fellows chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hold a public dedicatory service in honor of their patron, Nathaniel Fellows, tomorrow at 4:30 p.m.

Members and their guests will meet on U. S. highway No. 6 about three-fourths of a mile west of Coralville to honor the first soldier of the revolution to die in Iowa.

Following the service a cooperative dinner will be held in the home of Mrs. Ray E. Carson, 101 Lusk.

Congressman and Mrs. Thomas E. Martin will be guests.

Saturday the Pilgrim chapter of the D. A. R. will meet in the home of Mrs. Isom A. Rankin, 1114 E. College, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. H. J. Thornton will read several selections during the program.

Bob Strong's Band Will Syncopate Classics at Sophomore Cotillion

Are you a purist in music or do you like to hear the classics syncopated into modern "swing"? If you don't, you'll change your mind after hearing Bob Strong and his orchestra go into "The Flight of the Bumblebee" a week from Friday at the Sophomore Cotillion, first university formal party of the year.

Bob Stolley, A2 of Holstein, and Russell Ross, A3 of Wellman, heard Strong and his band in Minneapolis while they were there for the Iowa-Minnesota football game, and they agree as to its merits.

"The crowd liked the 'Flight' and other specialties," says Ross, "and all the members are young fellows and good individual players."

Stolley says "He has a fine danceable band, with a good variety of tunes. Strong himself uses the oboe and tenor and alto saxophones."

Strong's band has been heard on Uncle Walter's Dog House and the Avalon Time programs on the air, and has had engagements at the Edgewater restaurant in Chicago. This will be his first appearance before university students here.

Strong plays five different instruments, besides directing and arranging for the band. He has been

Hawklets Throw Might Against Blue Devils

Meet Unbeaten Blue Devils In Homecoming

Eight Seniors Start; Junior Franck Paces Enemy Running Game

Light signal drills were in order yesterday as Coach Herb Cormack sent his Little Hawks through their last practice session of the 1940 football season.

Tonight the Hawklets throw their entire might against a strong Davenport high eleven in a homecoming game on Shraider field that will decide the Mississippi Valley conference championship.

The invading Blue Devils boast an unbeaten offense that varies the brilliant running of Harry (Junior) Franck with a formidable passing attack. The Red and Whites have not been successful in downing Coach Jesse Day's boys since 1938, in which year Iowa's Bob Bender started for the Davenporters.

Cormack's Sixth Year
Coach Cormack and assistant Coach Francis Merten tonight finish their sixth year in their respective capacities at City high. During that time they have piled up the enviable record of three conference championships and no more than two games lost during any one season. Genial and well-liked by their boys, "Herb" and "Mert" are widely known for the clean, hard type of play they advocate and for their winning strategy.

In the Davenport camp several of Coach Day's starting eleven are suffering from injuries sustained in the Clinton game last week which may keep them from playing in at least a portion of tonight's crucial game. However, the Blue Devils, sports rivals of the Cormacks for many seasons, will be keyed up for the Little Hawks and promise to do their part in making the game an interesting one.

Eight Seniors Start
Eight of the below listed starting men for the Little Hawks are seniors and will be playing their last game for City high. Not able to take part in tonight's encounter is Forrest Brothers, hefty right tackle who has been out of active service since the middle of the season. Another senior whose services will be missed tonight is Bob (Bunny) Towell, rugged little plugging back who was injured in the Franklin game a week ago. Besides being a crack defensive man, Towell is considered to be one of the hardest-driving men ever to don a Red and White uniform.

At ends Cormack will probably start Herb Davis and Eddie Crossett; tackles, Everett Moir and Paul Miller; guards, Bill Bothell and Don Montgomery, and at center, Dave Danner. In the backfield it will probably be Jack Fetig, Bert Miller, Bud Lemons and Bill Sangster.

A few words about each of the starting men and others likely to play an important part in tonight's game follow:

Herb Davis—rangy end, weighs about 172, is fast on his feet and with his pass snagging has accounted for much of the yardage gained by the City highers this year.

Everett Moir—plays left tackle, weighs 165 and likes it rough and tough; was a guard last year, but has done exceptionally well at filling in at Broders' position since the middle of the season.

Bill Bothell—only a junior, Bill weighs 210 and can't be budged from his place if he has a mind not to; if "Tubby" keeps up the good work next year, he'll probably be considered for an all-state position.

Dave Danner—weighs 165, is just a sophomore, and plays a bang-up game as linebacker. In the Franklin game Danner was instrumental in stopping the Thunderbolt attack.

Don Montgomery—weighs 184, has plenty of spirit and figures in a great many plays; often leads plays around end and is a competent blocker.

Paul Miller—200-pound tackle who ably fills the shoes of Jack (Cracker Jack) Hiri, last year City high tackle who was named to an all-state team. When Paul cracks them, they stay cracked.

Eddie Crossett—165 pounds of dynamite as a defensive and offensive end. Eddie has an injured hand, but he can be expected to make it plenty hard on any Blue Devil who ventures his way.

Bert Miller—135 pounds of speed which is usually put to use on end-around plays. Besides his ground gaining ability, Bert is a dependable safety man.

Bud Lemons—probably the most improved man on the squad. Bud is adept at running back punts, catching passes and cracking the line. An important part of the Red and Whites' pass defense. Weighs 155.

Bill Sangster—one of the team's youngest members, Bill weighs

Huskies Point For Stanford, Not Rose Bowl

SEATTLE, Nov. 6 (AP)—The University of Washington Huskies, pre-season Rose Bowl favorites of the Pacific coast sports writers, entrained for Palo Alto, Calif., and Saturday's Stanford football game today, talking about everything but the Rose Bowl.

The Pasadena classic was a taboo subject as the grim Huskies departed for the tussle everybody figures will decide the west coast's bowl representative.

"Never mind the Rose Bowl," snapped Coach Jimmy Phelan. "We're playing Saturday in the Stanford stadium and nowhere else."

"Nuts on a defense for Clark Shaugnessy's T-formation," he said. "We're going to try to score early and often and let the defense take care of itself. We're not going down there to stop Stanford. Stanford will have to stop us."

Thus Phelan dismissed Stanford's 21 point average per game this season.

JUMP TRIATHLON

The jump triathlon, consisting of pole vault, high jump and broad jump, held annually in the field house, will take place this afternoon from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

All men wishing to compete in this event who do not have track equipment are asked to report to Coach Ted Swenson at the field-house.

185 pounds, and can throw a football almost out of sight. Varies his passing with an occasional run that usually nets him several yards. Only a sophomore, Bill should develop into one of City high's greatest backs.

Jack Fetig—185 pounds of solidness; game captain tonight, Jack is one of the team's most valuable players. He calls signals, blocks like a demon and will most likely play in the line tonight on defense.

John Schuppert—140, John was out part of the season with an injured hip, but will be in good shape tonight; plays quarterback and is a dangerous triple threat man.

Dean Williams—165; one of Cormack's best blocking backs, Dean plays an important part on defense and usually tries for the point after touchdown.

Bob Crumley—155-pound center who likes it when the going gets tough; short, stocky Bob was kept out of a couple games this year with an injured ankle, but will be itching to get a crack at Davenport tonight.

Lewis Jenkinson—brother of Rogers (Butch) Jenkinson, City high all-stater of a few years ago, Lew is a versatile end who likes nothing better than to pull in a long pass with those big mitts of his; still has a year of competition left after tonight's encounter. Weighs 170.

Joe Poulter—a shadow of his former self (he weighed over 200 last year), "Zeke" tilts the scales at 175 now and is a hard-hitting tackle. In last week's battle with the Thunderbolts, Joe intercepted a pass and nearly got away for a touchdown.

Leffler led his teammates to a 32 to 6 win over a Lower A sextet. Lower C trailed early in the

Standlee, Kimbrough 'Tops'

By HERB BARKER
NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (AP)—John Alec Kimbrough's bid for an all-America football berth for the second year in succession is running into unexpectedly serious opposition, most particularly from Stanford's great fullback, Norman Standlee.

Fullbacks are extraordinarily plentiful this season but Standlee and Kimbrough certainly rate at or close to the top on anybody's list.

Although not quite as spectacular as he was a year ago, Kimbrough once more is the pace-setter for the Texas Aggies, currently undefeated and heading in the general direction of another unbeaten season and another southwest conference title.

Despite massed defenses, Jarling John is up to his old line-smashing tricks, catching passes, serving as an effective blocker when someone else is carrying the ball, playing brilliantly on defense and generally proving a scourge to the opposition.

Standlee, by the same token, has been a major factor in Stanford's stunning rise. Almost as big as Kimbrough at 212 and extremely fast, Standlee has been a consistent ground-gainer all season as well as one of the best kickers in the far west.

Against U. C. L. A. last week, Standlee played 56 minutes, picked up 136 yards in 18 pushes, passed well and booted for an average of 38 yards. A "Runaway box car," one critic called him.

Babe Horrell, U.C.L.A. coach, gave Standlee the edge over Kimbrough on the basis of their play against his team. The comparison, however, may not be entirely fair since Kimbrough spent some time in a hospital the week of the Texas Aggies-U.C.L.A. game, made the trip to Los Angeles by air and wound up playing 60 minutes against the tough Bruins.

Kimbrough, incidentally, was all over the field against Arkansas last week. He played 50 minutes, scored one touchdown and intercepted two passes for run-backs of 47 and 38 yards, one of which set up another Aggie touchdown.

As a group, however, no section of the country can boast quite so many first-class fullbacks as the Western conference, where standouts include John Petty of Purdue; George Pask-van, Wisconsin; Jim Langhurst, Ohio State; Don Clawson, Northwestern; Bob Westfall, Michigan; Bob Sweiger, Minnesota, and Bill Green, Iowa.

Among other backs who attracted favorable attention last week were: Hopp and Rohrig, Nebraska; Christman, Missouri; Juzwik, Notre Dame; Hahnstein, Northwestern; Franck and Smith, Minnesota; Hursh, Indiana; Galvin, Purdue.

Upper C Ekes Out 31-30 Win In Hectic Quad League Game

Upper D, Lower C, Lower D, Take Tilts By Lopsided Scores

Upper C tripped Upper A yesterday, 31 to 30 in one of the most exciting games of the Quadrangle and Hillcrest intramural touch football leagues. Upper C scored on two intercepted pass runbacks by Rake and Marron, and twice on long passes from Kennedy to Stebbins and Rake. Kennedy chalked up the winner's last marker on a 50-yard run from a reverse play. A pass from Kennedy to Cole was good for the point and the margin of victory. Upper A, paced by Haynes and Knapp who alternated throwing and receiving passes, led at the midpoint of the contest 18 to 12. Haynes scored four touchdowns and Knapp one.

Third North eked out a 26 to 19 win over Second North in their Hillcrest league game. The score was even at halftime 6 to 6. Ross slung aerials to Hershey, Leenkul and Pinkston for Third North scores. Hershey dashed around end for the winning touchdown in the last period of the game. Higgins and Landis scored two markers for the losing team on completed passes. Their third marker was an intercepted pass runback by Higgins which was good for 50 yards and a touchdown. Leenkul played steady ball for the winners while Landis looked best for Second North.

Third South, outscored in the second half of their game with First in the Hillcrest league, won a 12 to 7 decision over their opponents. The winners drew first blood on a long pass from Monroe to Barrett in the first period of the contest. In the second period, First forged ahead 7 to 6 on a pass from Trout to Bloom for the touchdown and from Trout to Ingold for point. Third South came back in the last period of the game to put the contest on ice with a scoring play from Kaler to O'Connor. Kaler's defensive work stood out for the winning team while Trout and Cretzmeyer looked well for the First sextet.

Games today have been scheduled in the interfraternity class B touch football leagues.

Upper D trounced Upper B, 25 to 12, in their Quadrangle league game. Snyder paced the winning attack jogging over for one marker and pitching two arials to Krust and Whitmore for two more scores. Snyder also tossed the converting pass to McCarthy for point after touchdown. Whitmore intercepted a pass near the Upper B goal for the victor's last score. Upper B trailed at halftime 13 to 6. They scored on touchdown jaunts by Webb and Slanders.

Leffler led his teammates to a 32 to 6 win over a Lower A sextet. Lower C trailed early in the

Huskers Stress Pass Defense

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6 (AP)—Pass defense was stressed as the Nebraska Cornhuskers completed today their last hard workout before the University of Iowa invasion Saturday. The frosh, meanwhile, displayed Iowa offensive tactics to the first string line in actual combat.

Henry Rohn was back in uniform after a day's layoff due to a practice injury. William Bryant worked at Ralph Whitehead's position, while the latter brushed up on some scholastic work.

Today's workout will be the last full-sized practice for the Iowans, who will limber up at Creighton university's field in Omaha tomorrow. The squad will stay in Omaha Friday night.

Stauss at Quarterback On Iowa First String

Dr. Anderson Uses Sophs At Key Posts

Rapidly improving sophomores, another pair of them, held down posts on the first string yesterday as Coach Eddie Anderson continued reshuffling his lineup in hopes of finding 11 men who can, in Anderson's own words, "block and run."

On the varsity team, where the Hawkeye mentor was using three newcomers in place of veterans Tuesday, Bill Stauss moved in at quarterback, while Art Johnson was in the fullback post. Other sophos now working on the first 11 are Jim Youel at left half, Wilford Burkett at right end, George Gable at left tackle and Francis Curran and Ross Anderson at guards.

Stauss, only this week converted from a halfback to a signal caller, is mastering the assignments rapidly and may get the call at Lincoln Saturday ahead of even the veterans Al Coupee and Gerald Ankeny. Johnson, however, will probably make way for Bill Green, who was absent from practice yesterday.

Green, current ground gaining leader of the Big Ten, came up with a cold and doctors advised him to rest for a day. However, there appeared to be no doubt but what he would be ready to go Saturday.

The main part of yesterday's practice was spent in defensive work against Nebraska formations, signal drill and a session on blocking. There was none of the scrimmage that had highlighted the two first drills of the week.

In the defensive session, where Anderson hopes to work out a way of stopping the versatile attack that will be leased by such backs as Harry "Hippity" Hopp, Vike Francis, Butch Luther and Herman "Roaring" Rohrig, the Hawkeyes showed improvement. It still remains to be seen, though, whether the revamped Iowa line can hold up under the pressure of a power attack.

For the Iowa attack it is probable that Youel's throwing will be one of the main threats, since the Husker line is big, fast and experienced. Chief of the Hawkeye running threats, will probably be, as usual, Green, who has averaged 4.6 on every attempt this year.

Today's workout will be the last full-sized practice for the Iowans, who will limber up at Creighton university's field in Omaha tomorrow. The squad will stay in Omaha Friday night.

BY OSCAR HARGRAVE

Iowa's average on scoring from within the 10-yard line is low, but from out in the field it is excellent this year. Only two of 15 touchdowns have been made from close in, these coming on a plunge by Oops Gilleard against South Dakota and a one-yard drive by Bill Green in the Wisconsin contest.

Some of the longer runs are a 52-yard punt return by Bill Stauss against South Dakota, Jim Walker's 45-yard jaunt with a blocked punt in the Wisconsin game, Gilleard's 29-yard sprint against Indiana and a 27-yard run by Green at Minneapolis.

Iowa's 60-minute club, while not as extensive as in 1939, has six members this year. Capt. Mike Enich, getting mention in the all-American check-ups, has played two complete games, along with Bill Diehl. One game "Iron Men" are Walker, Ken Pettit, John Maher and Jim Youel. Thus far, Coach Eddie Anderson has used an average of 27 men per game, with the 43 in the opener and 21 against Indiana as the two extremes.

Iowa's last victory over Nebraska, Saturday's foe, was 10 years ago at Iowa City. Since that 12-7 Iowa triumph, the Hawkeyes have lost six to the Huskers. The last three were shutouts, with scores of 7-0, 28-0 and 14-0.

It may be a predominantly sophomore team that starts for Iowa Saturday. Wilford Burkett, who has been holding down that post most of the time, will probably start at right end, with George Gable at left tackle, Ross Anderson and Francis Curran at guards and Jim Youel at left half-back. There is also a chance that Art Johnson might begin the Husker tilt at fullback.

Despite last week's defeat, the Hawkeyes will draw a crowd at Nebraska. Officials there report a probable attendance of about 35,000, with 3,000 Iowa fans in the stadium. Tickets will be available up to game time, however.

Hopes for a better basketball season than the last one ride largely with a sophomore, Ben Trickey of Marshalltown. Paired at forward with Capt. Vic Siegel, Trickey looks as though he might go places—if he does he and Siegel will be one of the Big Ten's best combinations of forwards, pony forwards at that.

The cage season, incidentally, is just a month away. Monmouth, first of a dozen foes who will invade Iowa fieldhouse, will be the Hawkeye opponent Dec. 7.

Another glance around the fieldhouse might prove that the continually optimistic Mike Howard has reason to feel fairly well. The matmen, in fact, are the most heavily stocked with veterans of any Iowa squad. Art Johnson and Virgil Neubauer, neophytes; Paul Whitmore, 175; Ralph Gelper, 165; Loy Julius, 128; and Billy Sherman, 121; are just a few of the boys. Bob Fleming, a 155-pounder also looks good.

The next event of the intramural athletic program will be used in November 11 with the first practice sessions for basketball competition, according to Dr. F. S. Beebe of the physical education department, director of university intramural activities.

The extension division, under the direction of Prof. Bruce Mahan, will show an exhibit at the Iowa State Teacher's convention in Des Moines tomorrow.

A large display of educational tests, correspondence studies, visual instruction and radio education material will be presented. A display rack has been constructed upon which bulletins, monographs and publications of the extension division and associated service departments will be arranged.

Some mechanical equipment from the department of visual instruction will also be shown in the exhibit.

Professor Mahan, director of the extension division; Prof. Harry Greene, of the bureau of educational research; Lee Cochran, director of the visual instruction division, and J. R. Stewart, of the educational extension division are in charge of the exhibit.

Aptitude Tests for Pre-Medics To Be Given

Medical aptitude tests for admission to the college of medicine will be given at 3 p.m. tomorrow afternoon in Macbride auditorium, it has been announced.

Students expecting to apply for admission to the college of medicine for the year beginning September, 1941, are required to take the aptitude examinations.

Students who plan to take the examination must call at the registrar's office and pay a $1 fee, officials said.

Student Forum Meets Tonight

"I Want Cash" is the subject of the student employe's open forum to be held in room 221-A, Schaeffer hall this evening at 7:30 under the direction of Lee H. Kann, manager of the university student employment bureau.

All students are urged to participate in the open forums concerning the employment of students and their problems. Tonight's meeting is the fourth in a series of discussions.

Prof. Helen Waite of the home economics department will preside at a meeting of the Iowa Home Economics association in Des Moines tomorrow. Professor Waite is the state president of the association.

Other members of the home economics staff planning to attend the convention are Prof. Sybil Woodruff, staff head; Prof. Edna Hill; Prof. Merle Ford; Prof. Lula E. Smith; Prof. Mate Giddings, and Laura McAdams.

"Community cooperation for Improved Family Living," will be the theme of the program at the luncheon meeting in Younger's tea room tomorrow noon.

Other speakers at the luncheon include Mae C. Anders, assistant librarian in the Des Moines public library; A. K. Lyon, principal of Barron public school of Barron, Wis., and Prof. Mattie Pattison of Iowa State college at Ames.

Betty Gilliland To Give Report On Convention

A report of the national convention will be given by Betty Gilliland, 14 of Des Moines, president of the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary and professional fraternity for women in journalism at a meeting of pledges and actives Monday.

The convention was held in Columbus, Ohio, in August. Theta Sigma Phi members will meet in the home of Mrs. Clara M. Baratz, G of Iowa City, 114 N. Gilbert, at 8 p. m. A regular business session will precede the discussion of the convention.

City Rotary Club To Meet at Noon

The Iowa City Rotary club will hold its regular weekly luncheon meeting today at 12 o'clock noon at the Jefferson hotel. B. J. Lambert will give a report of the classifications committee.

Story of Iowa Union Told

Ensign Tells Board of Beginnings in 1919; Presents Three Portraits

By JULIA WEAVER
To remember those 30 University of Iowa men who died in the first World war and to commemorate the lives of Iowans given to the nation in wars of the past, students, alumni and friends of this institution in 1919 undertook the soliciting of funds to build Iowa Memorial Union, the "Hearthstone of Old Gold."

Virgil M. Hancher, a ruddy-faced undergraduate then, assisted in the financial campaign which netted $400,000 for the construction of the principal parts of the building.

Such was the story of Iowa Union related to members of its governing board recently by Prof. Forrest C. Ensign, of the college of education, who was first secretary of the Union board committee.

Iowa Citizens scoffed at the idea of a Union building on the bank of the Iowa river in 1916. Today this move of the first board committee and university officials in extending the campus to the west bank of the Iowa river is unquestioned.

In 1919 when Walter A. Jessup was president of the university, and a few years after the burning of the old St. James hotel, which had been used for university functions, the alumni association appointed a committee to serve as board of trustees and to begin plans for the building of a new Memorial Union.

Professor Ensign and Arthur Cox, Iowa City resident, were both members of the original committee of eight men and women. The corporation was later effected in 1919.

The original plan, as Professor Ensign stated, was that the Union should consist of five separate units, three of which we have today.

The first, including the space from the foyer to the lobby, was dedicated in 1926 by James B. Weaver, alumnus and attorney from Des Moines.

"That first year," Professor Ensign said, "over 85,000 people came to use the building for special occasions—dinners, meetings, etc."

"Subscriptions totaling $400,000 had been received from students, faculty members, alumni and townspeople from the $800,000 pledged."

"People felt that we were almost going into the wilderness to build the Union down here on the river bank," Professor Ensign added.

He closed his discussion with the presentation of three portraits of former members of the board which will be placed in the Union board room.

The three pictures are of Judge John Grimm, attorney in Cedar Rapids, who was one of the original committee of 1919; Judge F. M. Faval, former member of the Iowa supreme court, who has been a trustee since 1923, and the late Charles Dutcher, one of the first committee of eight who met in 1919 to promote the establishment of a permanent Union as a memorial.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Union and school of fine arts, gave a brief speech of welcome to the new Union committee members.

"One of your most important duties," said Professor Harper, "is to import back to the Union board certain personal attributes. We want to have the students know and feel that the university is interested in them as persons."

—AND FISHERMEN
CHANUTE, Kan., (AP)—A couple of young fellows were fishing on the Neosho and had caught 19 when the fish quit biting. "Wish we could get one more," said they. Just then, a nice plump bass jumped from the water and landed in a net. Or so they say.
