GREEKS SMASH ITALIAN FRONT LINE

Entry of New Axis Partner Seen as Hollow Achievement

Russian Cooperation, Assistance for Italy Among Speculations

By J. C. STARK
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Hungary's admission to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo alliance was looked upon by informed diplomats tonight as a possible indication that other countries involved in talks with Germany, notably Russia, had balked at formally joining the triple pact.

Some significance was attached by these sources to the fact that out of all the negotiations going on in Germany and elsewhere for some time, Hungary should be the first to become a full-fledged partner since Japan joined the axis.

Anti-Comintern Pact
Hungary was a member of the original German-Italian-Japanese anti-comintern pact which Germany promoted against Russia before those two countries were reconciled in 1939 and long has been regarded here as an obedient associate of Germany.

The Vienna ceremony which took Hungary into the pact was interpreted here also as a probable forerunner of a German military move southeast to help the Italians against Greece.

But diplomats speculated on why such formal display was considered necessary to permit this.

Immediate Role
It thus was regarded as a sign that Russia and possibly Spain might have demurred at joining the alliance and that Germany, wanting something to display as a diplomatic achievement, had chosen Hungary for this immediate role.

It was pointed out in these quarters that in the week since Russian Premier Vyacheslav Molotov was in Berlin, the only public announcement of the results of his talks was the non-committal communique that "mutual accord" had been reached "on all important questions of interest" to both countries.

No Charge
Spain's foreign minister, Ramon Serrano Suner, has made two recent trips to Germany in circumstances which indicated the axis was seeking to bring Spain into the war or at least into the triple alliance but no change in its status has yet become apparent.

Diplomatic quarters explained that both Russia and Spain appeared to be cooperating with the axis and might yet become active partners, but they considered it possible that neither was ready yet for such a development.

Double Meaning
DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Danville had a good laugh last night when the evening paper came out with a banner headline reading "Turkey Frowns on Axis Moves."

The news editor insisted that no subtle Thanksgiving joke was intended.

Iowa's Faculty, Administration Meet President and Mrs. Hancher

Arriving in three groups during the evening, the faculty and administration of the university were introduced to President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher in Iowa Union last night, at the first official function in honor of Iowa's new first couple. The deans of the university and their wives were hosts and hostesses. Prof. F. G. Higbee, head of the engineering drawing department of the college of engineering and director of university convocations, shakes hands with Dean Chester A. Phillips of the college of commerce, who was acting president at Iowa until Nov. 1, at the left. Mrs. Phillips looks on. Mrs. Higbee is extending her greeting to President and Mrs. Hancher at the right. Dean and Mrs. Phillips introduced the guests to the Hanchers. Last night was reception night for the faculty. Today President and Mrs. Hancher will be honored guests, with the deans and their wives, at the informal coffee hour from 4 to 5 o'clock this afternoon in the river room of Iowa Union. At that time Iowa's students will meet the Hanchers. Members of A. F. L., Moriar Board, the U. W. A. council and Union Board will be hosts and hostesses.

CIO Faction Pushes Murray To Head Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 20 (AP)—Sidney Hillman had his inning today in his struggle with John L. Lewis over shaping of CIO's future policies. He used it virtually to nominate Philip Murray as Lewis' successor on a program for a united labor movement and a curb on communists, nazis and fascists in labor affairs.

From the same platform where Lewis yesterday bitterly attacked the Hillman partisans and their demands for new conferences on labor peace, Hillman responded today with a speech for labor unity as a part of national defense.

With it he coupled a warning of what labor would face if foreign totalitarianism reached these shores, urged CIO to maintain the "democratic processes" in labor (See CIO, Page 8)

New Air Bases Now in Use

Secretary Knox Plans To Call Additional Naval Fleet Divisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Secretary Knox disclosed today that the navy already is using some of its new Atlantic bases, recently acquired from the British, and expressed belief that development of all of them would go forward rapidly.

He said long range planes on neutrality patrol now are stopping at Bermuda, St. Lucia and Trinidad. He thought that some United States naval vessels probably are using the harbor at St. John's, Newfoundland. At St. John's he said the navy has "a whole bunch of men" doing preliminary work on shore facilities.

The secretary also announced that six additional fleet divisions of the organized naval reserves, comprising 19 officers and 600 men would be ordered to active duty aboard naval transports during December and January, 1941. The divisions involved are the 20th, 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, all of Chicago; the fourth of Oakland, Calif., and the 13th of Lynn, Mass.

In response to questions, the secretary said he thought the construction and dredging work at most of the new bases could be carried on this winter although he said some weather difficulties might be encountered in Newfoundland.

Knox reported receipt by the navy of the first of a new order of single seat fighter planes from the Vought-Sikorsky Aircraft company. He said the new plane, designed to be based aboard aircraft carriers, had a speed in excess of 400 miles an hour.

New Deal Official Slams U. S. Press At AFL Convention

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention today heard a vigorous criticism of American newspapers by a high democratic party official who charged that Roosevelt's third term suffered a great "shock."

Sol A. Rosenblatt, general counsel of the democratic national committee, told the assembly "made" by the press, radio and movies "try to strut like Uncle Sam," and added "those who stand upon the principles of free press must accept the responsibilities that go with those rights."

'Leopold Stands Convicted By Accusation,' Cudahy Declares

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—King Leopold of Belgium surrendered to Germany because "he knew he would be guilty of homicide if he asked of his exhausted soldiers further hopeless resistance," John Cudahy, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, said tonight.

Cudahy, in a prepared CBS radio address titled "Was King Leopold a Traitor?" said "He was, in the opinion of most Americans." "The king's lips are sealed," he declared, "he can say nothing. He was made a prisoner of war... and stands convicted by accusation."

The ambassador explained he spoke "not as an advocate, but just as impartially and objectively as I can in the interests of truth and fairness, letting the facts speak for themselves and leaving conclusions to... those listening to me."

Pledges Action Against Other Warring Nations

VIENNA, Nov. 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today annexed Hungary to the German-Italian-Japanese axis which he thus converted into a four-power alliance dedicated to the defeat of Britain and to the totalitarian reorganization of Europe, Asia and Africa.

By treaty, Hungary joined her axis friends in a military, political and economic compact pledging joint action against any country which in the future may engage in the European or Japanese-Chinese wars.

Conclusion of the pact was followed by a luncheon at which the fuhrer was host to the top-flight diplomats who participated in the ceremony.

Britain Withdraws Offer to Indian Political Leaders

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The house of commons was told today that in this moment when the battle of Britain was fast spreading into a battle of the empire, the government had withdrawn its offer to give India's political leaders a greater voice in the war effort—and that to plan on American ships and troops coming to Europe was "a pipe dream."

The Marquess of Linlithgow, Viceroy of India, declared "we note with regret" that the offer of last Aug. 8 to give India "free and equal" partnership in the British commonwealth of nations had failed to gain "sufficient representative support."

(The offer had been announced in an appeal to India's millions to bolster the empire's fight against the axis powers.)

The viceroy's statement said Britain was still prepared to give effect to the proposals looking toward eventual dominion status for India as soon as general support was forthcoming.

"But as that degree of support has evidently not manifested it (See BRITAIN, Page 8)

Army Transfers Slaughter

Col. Homer H. Slaughter, head of the department of military science and tactics here, has received official orders to report for troop duty at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., as chief of staff of the eighth corps.

Colonel Slaughter came here from Ft. Francis E. Warren, Cheyenne Wyo., in June, 1939. He will leave for his new command which will include 75,000 men when filled, within the next few days.

Organized as part of the fourth army, the eighth corps includes the second army division and two national guard divisions from the southwestern United States, Colonel Slaughter said.

Col. C. A. Bagby
Col. C. A. Bagby, who has been executive officer here and chief of the infantry section, automatically becomes Colonel Slaughter's successor as head of the department of military science and tactics, unless another officer is detailed here.

Colonel Slaughter, graduated from the United States Military academy in 1908, was first stationed in the Philippines. Returning to the states, he went to Montana until 1913, when he was appointed instructor at West Point.

China
Back to the Philippines four years later, he was sent to China in 1917 as judge advocate of the Chinese Expeditionary force, but was soon detailed as assistant military attaché in Russia. He also served as military observer with the White Russian and Czech army through the Russian revolution.

In April, 1920, 17 months after the armistice was signed, he returned to the United States to become assistant professor of physics at the United States Military academy. He served in that capacity four years and then went to Ft. Benning, Ga.

Instructor
Colonel Slaughter entered the general staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., in 1925. The following year he became an instructor there, holding that position four years before attending the War college at Washington, D. C.

From 1931 to 1933 he commanded the first battalion of the 29th infantry at Ft. Benning, demonstrating unit of the United States army. The colonel was a member of the General Staff until 1937 as chief of a far eastern section. He was commander of the first infantry at Ft. Francis E. Warren until assuming his duties here in the R.O.T.C. department in 1939.

U.S. Will Sell 26 Giant Planes To Britain Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The government disclosed today that 26 giant four-engine bombers ordered for the United States army were being released for sale to the British as fast as they could be produced and that negotiations were underway for the early release of 20 "flying fortress" bombers.

Lean, lanky General George C. Marshall, the army chief of staff, called in reporters and outlined the terms of the transactions. Marshall said he understood that the first of 26 four-engine B-24 bombers had been delivered to the British last Saturday by the Consolidated Aircraft company at San Diego, Calif. The remainder of this group is to be delivered between now and the first part of March, he added.

At the same time, the army high command disclosed that negotiations were underway for the release to the British of 20 B-17C bombers, the four-engine "flying fortresses" made by the Boeing Aircraft corporation at Seattle, Wash.

Ground Barrage Dulls Nazi Raid

BY WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS

LONDON, Nov. 21 (Thursday) (AP)—Nazi planes swarmed out of the night for a second "total" attack on Britain's industrial midlands but early today it was reported that a terrific anti-aircraft barrage had dulled the edge of the new offensive.

Ground guns, firing with new effectiveness, were said to have dispersed waves of planes attempting a mass raid on an east midlands town after less than two hours of incendiary bomb dropping which is merely the first step in the "Coventry technique."

The bombs were extinguished and little damage was reported. How the rest of the midlands fared was not known. The rapid fire of ground defenses and the rumble of bombs caused observers in the eastern midlands section to say it was the fiercest attack ever made on that area.

Other bombers ranged over London and towns in southwest England and Wales.

The action, however, did not seem as widespread as last night's which covered a record area.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire met the midlands raiders but they dived through the perilous bursts and came on, wave after wave. Observers on a hilltop said there were terrific explosions every second.

The British had waited grimly for a repetition of the assaults which many believe to be the opening of a new and intensive campaign of night bombing directed at the industrial areas instead of London.

(The British did not mention any towns attacked last night, but the German high command specifically named Birmingham, second largest industrial city in England, as one of the hard-hit targets.)

The 9-hour attack last night left a dozen towns strewn with wreckage, dead and wounded. Official descriptions conceded the damage was heavy.

Such an aerial offensive—in its worst form seen in the attack on Coventry last Thursday—has been expected by the air force and the army since last May, and some experts believed the Germans actually tried it in the heavy daylight raids of August when they were repulsed with heavy losses.

Now the belief prevails among observers here that the Germans are ready for continuous night assaults with pilots trained for night bombing with the same intensity with which the Panzer division officers and men were trained in Germany and tested on the Polish

(See RAIDS, Page 8)

Earlier, the action of fascist bombers was acknowledged to have slowed the advance. The city was said by Greek informants to be directly menaced by the fact that Greek troops had gone down tonight from previous positions on Mount Morava into the plain just south of Koritza.

The diminished Italian aerial attack was attributed to their relatively heavy losses in the last 24 hours. The British air command officially claimed that RAF pilots alone had shot down or put out of action 11 Italian planes during that period.

The Athens radio declared the "importance of this break-through cannot be estimated at present but at least will open a decisive phase of the Greek-Italian war in Albania."

'Absolute Confusion'
The radio added that it had information that Italian troops in Albania were in a state of "absolute confusion" after the break in the line.

"Greek forces are marching toward their objectives," the radio said. "Much war materials and many prisoners have been taken. Guns, machine guns, and hundreds of cars have been abandoned by the retreating enemy. Much of this victorious fighting has been hand to hand and the bayonet played a great part in it."

Along the Ionian coastal sector to the southwest, where the Italians now hold only a narrow strip of Greek territory, defense troops were declared to be gaining generally.

Before Koritza there was savage, irregular bayonet and hand-to-hand fighting.

(From the Yugoslavian frontier town of Bitolj it was reported that Greek heavy batteries, firing from Mount Morava, and British planes had simultaneously bombarded Koritza and that there were clear signs that the Italians were preparing for imminent abandonment of the city.)

(Italian army trucks were seen leaving Koritza. Greek infantry was reported at the same time to have advanced to a dominating position along the western slope of the mountain.)

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 20 (AP)—A government spokesman declared tonight that Italian troops were retreating so rapidly along the central Albanian front that it was difficult for the Greeks to keep up with them.

The Italian front, it was said, was broken northwest of Koritza, Greece, some 10 kilometers (about six miles) inside Albania and west of the river Aocis. It was described as an utter rout, and the spokesman said "very important booty" — including munitions, trucks, guns—had fallen to the Greeks.

He asserted, too, that a battalion of Albanians in the Italian forces had revolted and been disbanded.

Counter-Offensive
In the Koritza sector, where Greek artillery fire was declared to be thundering down upon every road leading from that besieged Italian base in Albania, the counter-offensive was proceeding tonight in what was described here as a virtual cessation of Italian air activity.

Earlier, the action of fascist bombers was acknowledged to have slowed the advance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Senator Herring (D-Ia) said today he was attempting to obtain designation of Iowa as a site for a branch of the Glenn L. Martin company, Baltimore airplane manufacturer.

The national defense commission, Herring said, wished to have the company build a supplementary plant, which would make military and naval aircraft, at some distance from either seacoast for strategic reasons.

"I am informed," the senator said, "that the company will build the plant wherever the defense commission decides it should be built. I am urging the defense commission to locate the plant in Iowa and I believe we have a fairly good chance of getting it."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A flight over 1,400 miles of hostile airplanes, including the return journey, British bombers were declared today to have set fire to the vast Skoda Armament works in German-occupied Czechoslovakia.

The plant, in Pilsen, was the easternmost target reached in an overnight bombing campaign which extended also from the harbor of Bremen, Germany, to Berlin.

A returning British pilot said specifically that he had seen flames spread over the factory and heard a subsequent violent explosion.

In the Berlin attack it was acknowledged that only small forces participated, but the air ministry nevertheless said that it had been an "effective" one in which "much damage" was believed to have been wrought to a big factory making German naval equipment.

A flier assigned to that job made a report that recalled the Hitler bombing of Munich while Hettler was there.

"We had one of the really big boys on board," he said, "a brother of the one I dropped at Munich a little time ago. And we let them have that first followed by the rest of the heavy stuff, and then the incendiaries."

Munitions stores, said the ministry, were among the Berlin objectives bombed.

Hit, too, it added, were railway yards and junctions not only in Berlin but in Bremen and Aurith and the important inland Rhine port of Duisburg-Ruhrort.

Familial industrial and dock targets were bombed again at Kiel and Bremerhaven naval bases, Hamburg, Gelsenkirchen and Hamburg.

The extent of damage done at Barfleure and at the Nazi submarine base at Loriet, France, was not announced.

The loss of three British planes was acknowledged.

Aside from this, the day's development in the counter-offensive brought an admiralty announcement that a German torpedo boat had been sent to the bottom of the North Sea last night by light British naval forces.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The house of commons was told today that in this moment when the battle of Britain was fast spreading into a battle of the empire, the government had withdrawn its offer to give India's political leaders a greater voice in the war effort—and that to plan on American ships and troops coming to Europe was "a pipe dream."

Manners--

The World Needs More People Who Have Them!

Let's try to put our fingers on what's wrong with the nation. That's a big order, but perhaps if we recognize the fact that even the greatest systems grow from small fundamentals, we'll get somewhere.

The trouble with America probably is what's wrong with the world, too. We suggest the faults lie principally with the individual—you and me—and the way we live our lives, day by day.

Why should one man rise to the heights of greatness and another sink to the depths of obscurity, when both are possessed of the same inherited qualities, brought up in the same environment?

The Answer a Key to War

If we can answer that question we shall have gone a long way along the path of understanding why nations lose their sensibilities in wars.

Let's step out of the midst of the turmoil of day-by-day life and look at mankind objectively, look at Iowa City, the University of Iowa, the state and America. Let's look at people.

We're a funny lot, when you stop to think about it. Here we are, living lives, each of us with a goal in mind, be it bright or obscure in our own minds.

How do we hope to reach those goals, those pinnacles of fortune which, to us, are the acme of personal success? Upon merit? Yes. Upon hard work? Yes, of course. Those are fundamentals. They're taken for granted. Nobody ever reached his goal without hard work or without personal merit. If he did, he certainly couldn't hold his place in the sun without those fundamentals.

Just the Shells of Greatness

But hard work and merit are merely the shells of personal success, the physical bounds which must be weak unless they are bolstered from within by other, intangible things which lend support to the shell and strength to one's success.

The intangible things are the hardest of all to acquire, because they are the hardest of all to understand—honesty, integrity, ambition, a sense of right and wrong in all things, all the things which go into the crucible from which comes character.

Those qualities are products of day-to-day living. Without them the shell of personal success is just a shell.

The Trouble With All of Us

There, may we suggest, lies the greatest trouble with the world today, because it's the trouble with all of us, individually.

We're inclined to regard manners as something intended for use on Sunday.

We're inclined to believe that there is nothing more important than ourselves and the groups in which we move.

We're inclined to believe that today has no significance in terms of tomorrow.

And we miss the trees for the forest. The minister would say, "We need a return to religion and Godliness."

The philosopher would call it "a need for an expanded awareness of the world and the spirit."

We call it simply a need for better day-by-day living.

Are Manners Out-of-Date?

What's happened to the old concept of manners and the good graces? Their physical forms may be outmoded, but certainly not their importance.

Since when has bravado and raucousness superseded quiet sincerity in the texts of good taste?

When did today's loose thinking and loose talking take the place of ordered care and self-respect in what we think and say?

Can it be that the happiness and well-being of our friends and neighbors have become less important than ourselves?

We've Grown Intemperate

What has happened to temperance in thought, in speech, in personal and social action? As we have grown intemperate, the world has grown that way too.

What has happened to humility, that feeling of understanding for the other fellow's point of view, be he right or wrong? We've grown less humble, more impertinent.

And where is our personal honesty? Why are we less willing these days to be true to ourselves, to our friends, our loyalties and ideals? We have sacrificed personal honesty to follow the crowd.

For all of these things the world has suffered, more than even our young generation ever will know.

Ourselves to Blame

The fault lies with every one of us. Only we, as individuals, are to blame for following the crowd, and missing the trees for the forest.

He who calls the common graces outmoded simply finds that the easier way. He who, thinking possessing the common graces detracts from one's ability to be a good fellow simply ignores the facts.

The growth of intemperance, impertinence and personal dishonesty as we have watched them grow, sap the avenues of greatness, and personal greatness is the priceless touchstone of national greatness.

"We cannot do anything about the world," we say, and stand glibly aside to watch the pinnacles fall.

But we can do something about our own behavior.

It was Calvin Coolidge who said, "If every man did what he knows should be done, there would be no problems to solve."

If all of us behaved as we know we should behave, there would be no need to worry about the graces.

The problem begins with each of us. So, too, does the solution.

Mumps in the World War

Note to Politicians

We never celebrate the day we got into a war. We always celebrate the day we got out. The politicians ought to make a note of that.—Cal Tinney in Your Life Magazine.

A Man About MANHATTAN

It Would Be a Dull World If It Weren't for Favorites

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In a recent poll-questionnaire, this department was asked to vote on its personal preferences for the best actors, singers, announcers, comedians, commentators and programs on the air.

On the off-chance that some of you may be interested in our preferences in other fields, we have broadened the questionnaire to include those novelists, short story writers, biographers, dancers, actors, playwrights, composers and others in public life who have contributed hugely to our enjoyment of living and of laughter. Here they are:

Best novelist, Sinclair Lewis. . . . In our opinion "Arrowsmith" is the finest novel written in the last 25 years. . . . Best reporters of the Revolutionary War era, John Hyde Preston ("1776"), Kenneth Roberts ("Northwest Passage," etc.), F. Van Wyck Mason ("Three Harbors," "Stars on the Sea"). . . . Ablest biographers of great Americans, Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman ("R. E. Lee"), Carl Sandburg ("Lincoln—the Prairie Years" and "Lincoln—the War Years").

Finest living American poet, Stephen Vincent Benet ("John Brown's Body"). . . . Most lucid writer on any subject, W. Somerset Maugham. . . . Best authors of sea adventure, Nordhoff and Hall ("The Bounty Trilogy"). . . . Most astonishing "true confession"—Ely Culbertson's autobiography, "The Strange Lives of One Man."

Ablest playwrights, Eugene O'Neill ("Strange Interlude," etc.) and Robert E. Sherwood ("Abe Lincoln in Illinois," "There Shall Be No Night," etc.). . . . Most interesting student, raconteur and writer on the subject of the theater, Alexander Woolcott.

Cleanest musical hit on Broadway, Ed Wynn's "Boys and Girls Together." . . . Rarest hit on Broadway, "Panama Hattie." . . . Oddest musical hit on Broadway, "Cabin in the Sky." . . . Best husband and wife acting team in the theater, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. . . . Best actress on the stage, Helen Hayes. . . . Best women radio singers of serious music, Margaret Speaks and Marion Anderson. . . . Best male singers of serious music, Jan Peerce and Paul Robeson. . . . Best girl singers of popular music, Ginny Simms and Maxine Sullivan. . . . Best male singers of popular music, Jack Leonard, Frank Sinatra, Harry Babbitt.

Ablest arranger, Larry Clinton. . . . Best quiz program, Information Please. . . . Favorite expert from Information Please board of experts, Franklin P. Adams. . . . Best announcer, Ben Graur. . . . Best comedian, Jack Benny. . . . Man who has done most for popular music in this country, Irving Berlin. . . . Best comedy dancers on Broadway, Paul and Grace Hartman. . . . Best male dancer, Paul Draper.

Best creators of comedy and farce drama, George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart. . . . Best "coon shouter" on Broadway, Sophie Tucker. . . . Most beloved sports figure, Jack Dempsey. . . . Most finished orator, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. . . .

These are our favorites. It would be a less interesting world if they hadn't come along, wouldn't it?

British-American Air Base Problems

WASHINGTON—Some wrinkles developed on the underside of that destroyers-for-bases deal with Britain. They delayed the construction of the eight Atlantic defensive positions.

Tight-lipped officers and diplomats here have refused to talk at all, but it was learned the navy department drew up a suggested form for the 99-year leases some weeks ago. These were passed on up through the war and state departments, bearing American signatures.

After that the British scratched their chins for a while before coming through. They wanted the bases constructed to their own specifications. Specifically they insisted that the hangars be of British design. As the American war department is to patrol the bases and the navy is to occupy them, both insisted upon their specifications.

Then London objected to the plan of American army engineers to import heavy trucks and similar equipment into Bermuda in violation of the local statute against heavy vehicles.

A third puzzling problem developed concerning the acquisition of private land within the areas designated. Difficulty arose in arranging for its purchase, lease or condemnation.

All this inspired considerable impatience in certain official quarters here. It was recalled that some British authorities were not enthusiastic at first in offering the bases. The deal was specifically restricted so that two of the bases were outright gifts (Newfoundland and Bermuda). The other six were considered within the barter.

Some of the differences were compromised, and the other wrinkles no doubt will be smoothed out.

U. S. APPEASEMENT

Appeasement is a dirty word these days but a number of disappointed government people are using it to describe the tender efforts of the administration to keep Russia happy.

One by one, American tankers have been released for charter to the Russians under authority of the maritime commission. About 10 have been chartered by Stalin in the past few months for shipping of low octane gasoline to Vladivostok. Probably no more than 700,000 barrels have thus been shipped to date. The last available figures to the end of September showed 559,000 barrels transported that far this year.

The Reds are desperately in need of gasoline for shipping on their east coast. This is 6,000 miles by water from their wells in the Ural mountains. The shipments therefore are a great concession to them. It is the understanding here that it has enabled them to release some of their western stored gasoline to the Swedes, who also are cooperating by lending them quite a few Swedish tankers. As far as is known here the deal has been of no assistance to Hitler, although both Russian and some German war planes can fly on low octane fuel.

Self-criticism is nevertheless arising within the administration and the appeasement policy may be altered or dropped.

THE G.O.P. ATTITUDE

The administration's political planners got together without advertisement last Thursday night to talk over the peculiar behavior of the republicans since election. Determination of Mr. Willkie to keep alive the principles of opposition he enunciated during the campaign naturally is perplexing those who are charting the administration course.

While it is dangerous to attempt to relate, on the basis of second hand reports, the decisions that were made, these following suggestions seem logical and sensible: The administration will keep an eye on Willkie and his eastern campaign manager, Roger Ryon, during their Florida vacation. Action from this end may not develop as swiftly as otherwise would have been possible. Some efforts may be made to require the republicans to show more precisely the hand they propose to play in the future.

'Arise My Love' And Its Director

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Mitchell Leisen, once an extra himself, is popular with the extras. Some of them, in an informal election, have declared him the "most popular" director.

Here is the reason: When Leisen was an extra, he was forever dismayed because directors never told him what he was supposed to be, why he was in a picture, what his presence meant to the story. Extras were told to "walk past" or "talk" or "dance"—without any knowledge of the reasons behind orders, without explanation of the situation.

So Leisen treats extras as actors. When they assemble on one of his sets, he takes time to explain exactly what they, as characters in the story, are supposed to contribute.

"They never fail," he reports. "They are actors—why shouldn't they be treated as such?"

Leisen has new stature now as director of "Arise My Love," which is traveling well at the box-office and in critical hearts. He has made successful films before, but it has taken him a long time to reach the top—including 12 years he spent as art director under Cecil B. DeMille.

This apprenticeship, probably due to Leisen's unquenchable thirst for laughs in a mad business, has not affected his style. The two men's "touches" are as far apart as the blow of a sledgehammer and the brush of angel wings.

I would not imply that Leisen is an angel. To the contrary, he is quite a gay devil, with a sophisticated sense of humor that slays pretentiousness and says "Aw, nuts" to high-flown folderol.

An architect when DeMille took him on, Leisen's first assignment was to design costumes. He did this successfully enough to win a berth as art director and must have acquired a reputation for DeMille's lavishness—when Cecil B. quit production for a world tour, Leisen was left jobless amidst a depression. He's been getting $750 a week, then a fabulous sum for art directors, and producers scurried away at his approach. Fond of eating he became an extra until DeMille's return.

Aiming at direction on his own, he assisted on "Tonight Is Ours" and "The Eagle and the Hawk" (1933) before soloing on "Cradle Song" and the successful "Flesh Takes a Holiday." Then he tried all kinds of pictures, including musicals, to find his favorite. The one he's making now is different: "I Wanted Wings." It has developed into an "aviation epic." Leisen believes "Arise My Love" is getting a hand because it's a picture with something to say; with characters who speak up and call "a spade a spade in a mantelpiece." It was banned at first by the movie code, but passed when the Colbert-Millard stop-over in Compiegne forest was labeled "innocent."

Pontoniers Bridge Social Gap

Pledges Serenade Women in Dormitories; 34 Plebes Informally Initiated

Currier hall, Westlawn, Eastlawn and several sororities were serenaded last night by 34 Pontonier pledges as part of their formal initiation into Pontoniers, honorary R.O.T.C. engineering military society.

University women, listening to the militaristic voices below their windows, were greeted with such old favorites as "Auld Lang Syne" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," but the Pontonier pledges really went to town on the favorite of all engineers—"St. Patrick Was an Engineer."

Custom

It has been the custom every year for Pontonier pledges to go serenading, following a short informal military initiation at the armory.

Last night pledges turned up in uniform at the armory, each with a barrel stave or "reasonable facsimile." The staves served a twofold purpose; first, they were used for guns; second, they were used for... will, some of the pledges soon found it more comfortable to stand.

Pontonier officers conducted a "Kelly" drill. Pledges went through the manual of arms, using their staves for rifles. A mistake and the unfortunate one dropped out and his gun became a paddle.

Initiation

A formal initiation into the organization will be held later, company officers announced. Pledges who were initiated last night are Kenneth Bakehouse, E1 of Sigourney; Don Brown, E2 of Cedar Rapids; Arthur Cox, E1 of Laurel, Miss.; Kenneth Damerow, E2 of Vero Beach, Fla.; George Dane, E1 of Iowa City; Murray Dawson, E1 of Iowa City; Howard Dillman, E1 of Ogden; Stanley Dylewski, E2 of Windsor, Conn.; Dick Eastman, E1 of Douglas, Wyo.; Samuel Elieson, E1 of White Plains, N. Y.; Robert Feller, E2 of Victor; Richard Finn, E1 of Jefferson; David Freedman, E1 of Chelsea, Mass.; and Hymen Goosen, E1 of Newark, N. J.

Philip Hirshik

Other initiates are Philip Hirshik, E1 of Bridgeport, Conn.; Keith Hertz, E1 of Iowa City; Cecil Hinton, E1 of Coggon; Kenneth Hoffman, E1 of Two Rivers, Wis.; John Hogle, E1 of Muskogee, Okla.; Theodore Huene, E1 of Mt. Pleasant; I. Howard Knudson, E1 of Jewell; Robert Long, E2 of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Also initiated were William Schweizer, E1 of Keokuk; James Swamer, E1 of Iowa City; Harry Large, E1 of Valparaiso, Ind.; Tommy Westrope, E1 of Harlan, and Charles Wright, E1 of Uniontown, Pa.

Assisting them are Mrs. Maurine Fetig, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ranshaw, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burger, and Ray Todd.

Publicity Committee

The publicity committee consists of Mrs. H. R. Jenkinson, Mrs. Helen Gay, and Mrs. E. T. Hubbard. The ticket selling is being supervised by Mrs. Albert Sidwell, Mrs. M. B. Street, Mrs. Iliot T. Jones, Mrs. Charles Beckman, Mrs. Dan Roth and Mrs. A. W. Bennett.

Tickets are being sold by the City high students, the music auxiliary, and are now being reserved at Spencer's harmony hall and at the principal, Mr. W. E. Beck's, office at City high.

Mixing Fun With Education

Tea dances at Iowa Union are as popular today as they were over 10 years ago on the university campus. They were first started as a project to give the students a chance to relax during the week—to mix a bit of fun in the recipe for education. They are sponsored by Union board each Wednesday for the benefit of all students. Admission is to couple only and tickets are obtained free at the cashier's desk on the sunporch. Popular recordings are furnished by Iowa Union. It's the place to go—the river room of Iowa Union—every Wednesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Free fun for all and the rhythms of your favorite band, all furnished by the University of Iowa.

Faculty Members, Students Get Together

Faculty-student coffee hours are sponsored for the various colleges, deans, faculty members, secretaries and students by the University Women's association and their purpose is to give students and faculty an opportunity to become better acquainted. Mary Carolyn Kuevotes his discussion to the writing of non-fiction magazine articles each Wednesday afternoon. Allard knows that thousands of good manuscripts are rejected each year because writers do not know the peculiar problems and requirements of the editors to whom they submit their manuscripts.

He, therefore, discusses, not only finding the topics, and the writing, preparation and illustrating of magazine articles, but also speaks on markets to which articles may be sold.

The university's lecturer on poetry, Paul Engle, believes that "poetry is not the property of a few persons, rather it is the most common and most sympathetic of all arts."

With this viewpoint, he discusses the nature of poetry and examines closely the devices of poetry such as rhythm, imagery and stanza. Engle's talk is frequently illustrated with his own poems and those of the radio audience. He is heard every Thursday.

Letters are welcomed by the speakers in regard to their talks from their radio audience.

Baconian Lecture to Be Given By Prof. G. R. Davies Tonight

Baconian Lecturer

PROF. G. R. DAVIES

Speaker to Discuss Recent Development Of Economic Thought

"Recent Trends in Economic Thought" will be the topic of Prof. George R. Davies, head of the statistics department, college of commerce, for the fourth Baconian lecture. The lecture will be held in Old Capitol this evening at 7:30.

Professor Davies will describe the trend economics has taken from vague viewpoints to a science of factual information. He will show how and why opinions vary with locality.

Change

"The depression has caused a break in economic thought," Professor Davies said. "Since 1930 the trend of thought on economics has developed a wider viewpoint."

References

Professor Davies will name some books of reference and authority concerning the economic thought. These books will show the variation of thought throughout the country.

Professor Davies is the co-author of a number of books on sociology and economics. He is head of the university bureau of business research.

H. H. Rowley Named Adviser Of Fraternity

H. H. Rowley, associate in chemistry, has been appointed counselor for the northern district of Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity, it was announced yesterday.

Rowley's new duties will include the supervision of the chapters of Alpha Chi Sigma at Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa universities.

The appointment was made by W. S. Ritchie, national president of the fraternity.

Rowley was graduated from Northwestern university with B.S. and M.S. degrees, before receiving his advanced degree at Wolfgang Goethe university, Germany.

Before coming to the university in 1937, Rowley was in the chemistry department at Northwestern university. He has been active in the chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma there and at Iowa, as well as in the professional chapter in Chicago, Ill.

Rowley is at present chairman of the Iowa section of the American Chemical society.

Inflation, Price Control

Davies Says Business Must Be Adjusted To Meet Conditions

As a result of the recent stimulating effects of the national defense program on business, American business men seriously are considering the problem of price control and inflation, according to Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce. It is estimated that in 1941 defense expenditures will increase another five billion dollars and cause corresponding price increases.

Professor Davies pointed out, however, that conditions causing inflation are more thoroughly understood today. In some countries totalitarian nations in particular, measures aimed at price control have been worked out.

In the United States an expanded program of taxation has been put into effect which will be a powerful factor in retarding price advances.

Ordinary peace-time measures will probably be ineffectual in controlling inflation when a suddenly increased demand in certain industries boosts prices to the sky, he said.

Such a contingency may have to be answered by government stimulation of supply to meet the demand or by a rationing of raw materials, such as has already been done by RFC in storing rubber and tin to guard against any future shortage.

Writers Workshop of the Air

Comes to Assistance of Struggling Writers Over WSUI

By JEANETTE STONER

Courses in creative writing—desired for many years by persons unable to come to the University of Iowa for class work—became a reality for the listening audience this year through the "Writers Workshop of the Air."

WSUI is today offering non-university writers an opportunity to study with the advice and judgment of experts.

A series of informal afternoon talks by well known teachers, discussing four kinds of writing and related problems of publishing, now comes to the assistance of struggling writers. "Writers Workshop of the Air" is believed to be the only program of its kind on the air.

Mrs. P. E. Broxam, Prof. W. L. Schram of the English department and Mrs. Pearl B. Broxam program director of WSUI, have cooperated in making the program possible. Mrs. Broxam says the idea originated from the many requests for just such a program by various club members throughout the state.

Students at the university, too, unable to register for such class work have benefited from the programs. The "workshop" is not directly associated with class work, but is a part of the creative writing program. The program includes a writing workshop on the campus which consists of seminars and individual instruction with Professor Schram.

Prof. F. L. Mott, director of the school of journalism and winner of a Pulitzer prize in 1939, speaks each Monday at 4 p.m. on "Writing of Short Stories."

His program is frequently illustrated with noted articles as typical examples of the problems under discussion. His talks began with exercises in observation and in presentation. He is now discussing the tech-

The JUDY SHOP 126 East Washington Street

Although ankle socks, and sweaters and skirts may prevail on the campus, University of Iowa coeds can really look their best for "that heavy date." Ready and patiently waiting for that buzzer to ring are Patricia Patzer, A1 of Kansas City, Mo., in a dark blue velvet and Alice Rohm, A1 of Glenn Ellyn, Ill., wearing a light green frock of soft wool fabric. All five coeds modeled these clothes at the Tasty Togs Tea held in Iowa Union Tuesday.

S.U.I. Women Present Tasty Togs At Tea in Iowa Union Tuesday

Whether it's the current boy friend or just that mid-term test, you must look your best for that frequent college event, the bull session. Both warm woolly pajamas or soft wool slacks and sweaters serve their purpose here. Modeling these in the above picture are Marijo Martin, A1 of Chicago, seated on the floor, and Elinor Khors, A1 of Davenport, who chose slacks and sweater for this informal gabfest.

"On the Way" was a popular section of the style show presented Tuesday and coeds in this group appeared wearing good looking cloth and fur coats with matching accessories. Very popular was the ensemble of matching fur for both hat and coat. Shown in the above picture is Helen Martin, A1 of Chicago, who is wearing a three-quarter length coat and a hat of gray squirrel fur.

Miss Bridgens, R. Rostenbach Will Be Wed

Marriage Scheduled For 2 o'Clock Today; Rev. L. Owen Officiates

Margaret Bridgens, daughter of Mrs. Lona Bridgens, 128 N. Clinton, and Royal E. Rostenbach, of Pittsburgh, Pa., son of Mr. and Edwin Rostenbach, of Davenport, will be married at 2 o'clock today in the home of the bride's mother, The Rev. L. Owen of the First Congregational church will officiate at the single ring ceremony. The bride will wear an aqua street length dress with coral jewelry. Elvena Gross, of Iowa City, will be the bride's attendant. She will wear a dusky rose street length dress with black accessories. Robert McCouchran, of Park College, Mo., is the bridegroom's attendant. Burton Bridgens, brother of the bride will sing, "Because," and "Beloved It Is Morn." He will be accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Fohnstock of Laurel, Neb. Miss Bridgens received her B.A. degree from the university here. She was affiliated with Kappa Delta sorority and Pi Omega Pi sorority. At the present time she is employed as Child Guidance worker in the Waterloo Family Service league.

Mr. Rostenbach received his B.S. degree from St. Ambrose college in Davenport in 1935 and served as graduate assistant in chemistry at Catholic university, Washington, D. C., in 1936. He received his M.S. degree and Ph.D. degree here in 1937. He is now employed as chemical engineer in the U. S. Public Health Service in Pittsburgh, Pa. The couple will leave for a short wedding trip to Chicago after the ceremony.

Advanced Military Students to Meet Honorary Cadet Colonel Candidates

Candidates for honorary cadet colonel of the university R.O.T.C. regiment will be introduced to advanced military students tonight at the Cadet Officers club meeting in the cafeteria of Iowa Union. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock. The five senior women selected as candidates are Beverly Barnes of Sioux Falls, S. D., Alpha Xi Delta; June Hyland of Truer, Delta Gamma; Martha Lois Koch of Evansville, Ind., Pi Beta Phi; Margaret Kuttler of Davenport, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Louise Seeburger of Des Moines, Kappa Alpha Theta.

From this group advanced military students of the infantry, engineering and medical units will select the honorary cadet colonel, who will be presented with the cadet colonel at the Military Ball, Jan. 17. The four other candidates will be presented as honorary cadet colonels. Cadet Officers attending the meeting will thus have the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the five candidates for whom they will vote before the Military Ball. All advanced course men are urged to attend this meeting and meet the candidates.

Prof. H. O. Croft Appointed Regional Adviser for National Defense Program

Will Supervise Work in Seven Midwest States

College of Engineering Will Participate In Training Courses

Prof. H. O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department, has been appointed regional adviser for the new national defense program to be conducted through the college of engineering here.

Professor Croft will supervise the program throughout Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, northern Wisconsin and northern Michigan. Twenty-two other directors have been appointed throughout the United States by Washington, D. C. officials.

Plans for the establishment of special defense training courses in qualified educational institutions were announced by Paul V. McNutt, administrator of the Federal Security agency.

To be given at government expense for which appropriations of $9,000,000 have been made, the courses will provide training for over 30,000 students with technical background to meet future needs of both industry and government defense programs, officials said.

150 Schools
About 150 engineering schools in state universities, land-grant and private colleges are eligible to participate in the program. They must offer engineering curricula leading to a degree, and they must operate under charters exempting them from taxation, officials explained.

Duties of each regional adviser will be to maintain continual contact with defense industries, army and navy district offices, employment services and local engineering schools. They will keep headquarters at Washington, D. C., informed as to deficiencies in the facilities of any one region.

As the program develops, arrangements will be made to place students in defense positions as soon as their training is completed, officials said.

New Plane for Advanced Flying Course

A new Meyers bi-plane with complete equipment and 125 horsepower engine has been received by the Shaw Aircraft company and will be used by advanced students in civil aeronautics here. Constructed entirely of metal except for the wing, the two-place open cockpit plane is especially equipped for aerobatic maneuvers and inverted flying. A compass, air speed indicator, altimeter, tachometer and oil, temperature and fuel gauges are duplicated in both cockpits. Standing with the plane are, left to right, Paul Shaw, Shaw Aircraft company; Elmer C. Lundquist, ground school instructor; Larry Brumley, flying instructor; Joe Parker, C2 of Burlington, and George Stanton, C3 of Springfield, Ill.

Joseph Dunner Traces Forces Current in Nazi Philosophy

"This is not a war between 'haves and have-nots.' It is not a question of 'lebensraum.' It is, fundamentally, a revolution, without any semblance of moral basis, against our entire way of life."

The speaker was youthful-looking, dark-haired Josef Dunner, novelist, lecturer and foreign correspondent, who was talking to an Old Capitol audience yesterday on "The End of Hitlerism."

The speaker was youthful-looking, dark-haired Josef Dunner, novelist, lecturer and foreign correspondent, who was talking to an Old Capitol audience yesterday on "The End of Hitlerism."

Blaming the present world crisis on the failure of democratic leaders to understand this new force in Europe, Dunner stated that "France and England never had a clear picture of the new Germany, and didn't wake up until this revolution of nihilism was almost successful. Therefore the democracies were helpless when Germany started the war which would set up a new peace of a victorious master race."

The political and historical immaturity of Germany which was indirectly responsible for the rise of Hitlerism will mean the downfall of this same regime, according to Dunner.

"The first decisive blow against the German armed forces will show the complete lack of discipline in a people which does not know what it is fighting for. A new and better Germany, led by men now in the concentration camps and aided by the world's democracies, will rise out of the defeat."

"When Hitler came," the speaker declared, "he reflected the German mass mind. He was a symbol of a new Germany. Not the Germany of Beethoven, of Thomas Mann, of Einstein, but of a Germany that was disintegrated."

Principal Roles Named For Sherwood Play

Clark Kunev Cast As Abraham Lincoln In Theater Production

By WALTER H. HOGAN
Abraham Lincoln comes to the campus via University theater for the second time when Robert Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" opens Dec. 9 for a run of six performances. His first appearance here was in the world premiere production of E. P. Conkle's "Prologue to Glory."

Clark Kunev, G of Iowa City, playing the eminent historical figure, gets the best role of his theater career here in the Lincoln assignment, according to the cast announcement made yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the dramatic arts department.

Kunev has appeared as Father Shaugnessy in "The White Steed" and as Capt. Tony Dale in the summer season's "American Landscape."

Lois Tallman
Professor Mabie, who is directing the show, awarded the role of Ann Rutledge to Lois Tallman, A2 of Iowa City, who made her university theater debut as Blossom in last season's "Susan and God." Miss Tallman also appeared as Miriamme in Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset."

Ruth Weber, G of Columbus Junction, plays her initial role here as Mary Todd. Her understudy in the part is Eileen Payne, A3 of Mason City.

Three assistants are helping Professor Mabie in the production of this Pulitzer prize-winning play. They are Bess Whitcomb of the speech department, Verne Haldene, G of Des Moines, and Lawrence Barness, A3 of Lewis-town, Mont.

Arden Sutherland
Other roles in this large cast will be taken by Arden Sutherland, A3 of Rogers, Ark., as Mentor Graham; Theodore Ritter, A1 of Iowa City, as Ben Matting; Donald Eysen, G of Dubuque, as Bowling Green; Richard Smith, P4 of Iowa City, as Ninian Edwards; Verne Haldene as Joshua Speed; John Thiele, A1 of Hollywood, Cal., as Trum Cogdal; Marvin Moon, G of Dodge City, Kan., as Jack Armstrong, and Paul Fuller, A4 of Muscatine, as Bob.

Jack Lawrence
Jack Lawrence, A1 of Galesburg, Ill., is cast as Feargus; James McGuire, A2 of Rock Rapids, as Jasp; George Anderson, A1 of Nashville, Tenn., as Seth Gale; Mary Elizabeth Saal, G of Cheney, Wash., as Nancy Green; James Andrews, A4 of Ogden, Utah, as William Herndon.

Elizabeth Buckner, A4 of Waterville, Me., as Elizabeth Edwards in the play, has for her under-

Tickets for the address of Roscoe Pound, former dean of the Harvard law school, are still available at Iowa Union for faculty members and students, Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law announced yesterday.

Dean Pound will speak at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Macbride auditorium as a part of the celebration of the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Iowa law school.

Russian Chorus, Dancers Appear In Cedar Rapids

The original Don Cossack Russian chorus and dancers, under the direction of Serge Jaroff, will present a program this evening in Cedar Rapids.

The chorus, one of the most widely travelled groups of its kind, has presented over 1,000 concerts in America. This is the Russians' 11th American season. They will appear this evening as the second attraction in the 1940-41 series of concerts sponsored by the Cedar Rapids Community Concert association.

This evening's program has not been announced. Tickets for the performance are held by concert association members, but those remaining this evening will be on sale at the box office of the theater.

Two Guest Speakers Talk to Engineers At Meeting Yesterday

Louis P. Grimm, E4 of Iowa City, and Charles Donohoe, E4 of Davenport, were guest speakers at the meeting of the student chapter of American Institute of Electrical Engineers yesterday.

Grimm, who was employed by the university glass blowing department last summer, spoke on the art of glass blowing and the equipment used.

Donohoe gave a talk on field artillery, types of guns and their operations.

Dancing Classes Convene Tomorrow

The first in a series of social dancing classes to be held each Monday and Friday from 4 to 5 p.m. in Recreational center will convene tomorrow, Eugene Trowbridge, director, announced.

Student Artists Solicit Buyers

Over 250 Pictures Offered for Sale At Moderate Prices

Student workmen, busy with hammers, nails and wire, were hanging their own pictures in the art building gallery yesterday preparatory for the opening of Iowa City's first student sale-exhibition Saturday morning.

Featured by the idea that art works can be bought by the average person and placed on the average wall, the sale has been arranged by the student art guild as the university's main contribution to national art week, Nov. 23 to Dec. 1.

Radio Program
Members of the sale committee will be interviewed by at 12:30 today over WSUL. Those to appear on the program are Enid Ellison, A2 of Webster Groves, Mo.; Malcolm Myers, G of Wichita, Kan., and Joseph Cox, graduate assistant in the art department.

Art week will get an early start tomorrow night when Fletcher Martin of the art department staff lectures in the art building auditorium on "Contemporary Painting." Visitors are also invited to attend the exhibition and reception in the gallery Sunday from 4 to 6 p.m., with music to be provided by a string quartet headed by Prof.

Hans Koebel and Prof. Addison Alsbach of the music department.

Over 250 watercolors, oils and lithographs have been entered in the exhibition according to art guild officers. Each piece carries a price tag ranging from $1 to $50, and has been passed upon by faculty members of the art staff.

Of special interest to Iowa Citizens is the fact that local landscapes and portraits have been favorite subjects depicted. Other materials have been drawn from such contemporary subjects as Hitler, prize fights, sailing, hunting, jazz, animals and taverns.

Hawkeyes Still Concentrate on Pass Defense

Iowa Squad Shows Spirit During Drills

First Team Backs Have Trouble With Illinois Formations

Coach Eddie Anderson and his Hawkeye football squad concentrated upon pass defense yesterday as the Illinois game, starting at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, and the season's end crept nearer.

There seem to be no signs of a let down this week, as some had forecast after last week's triumph over Notre Dame. The Hawkeyes were too long off the victory trail to let overconfidence cheat them of a win in their final effort of the year. Not only that, but they have found reason to expect plenty of trouble from the deceptive Illinois attack, of which they have had a preview in the past two days.

The Illinois passing attack, with Nile Kinnick taking the part of the Illini star, Dick Good, in workouts, is bothering the Hawkeyes. Anderson last night admitted that the first string backfield of Bill Stauss, Jim Youel, Ray Murphy and Bill Gallagher was having trouble, although he said he was satisfied with the defensive work of the second string backfield, Al Couppee, Bus Mertes, Tom Farmer and Bill Green are the members of this combination.

Murphy, ready to start for the first time since early in the season, appears to be getting back to his usual form and is very likely to give the Illinois line some bad moments. Coach Anderson indicated last night that Murphy at fullback and Bruno Andruska, both seniors playing their last game for Iowa, would probably start Saturday. These will be the only changes in the lineup that faced Notre Dame.

Other seniors on the Iowa squad are Capt. Mike Enich, Bill Gallagher, Ham Snider, Joe Moore, Charles Tollefson, Max Hawkins, Henry Luebecke and Ken Pettit.

The Hawkeyes will take a full sized drill today, then taper off tomorrow with a workout that will probably be little more than a limbering up session.

Illini View

Iowa Plays

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 20 (AP)—The Illinois varsity was opposed by third stringers instead of freshmen today in a drill against Iowa formations. Sophomore Bert Piggott impersonated the Hawkeyes' Bill Green, while Jimmy Easterbrook handled Jim Youel's passing role.

Coach Robert Zupke sent Bob Wallin, sophomore from Rockford, Ill., to left tackle today in an effort to strengthen the varsity forward line.

Player Injured In Touchball

Louis Naeckel, G of Davenport, whose spleen was ruptured Monday night when he was blocked out of a play in an interfraternity touch football game between the Sigma Chi and the Phi Deltis, underwent an operation at University hospital Tuesday for removal of the member.

After the operation Naeckel was given two blood transfusions, one by his father who hurried here when notified of his son's injury and another by William Metz, A2 of Sioux City, a fraternity brother.

Hospital officials said yesterday, Naeckel was doing very well.

Cyclones Strengthened

AMES (AP)—Three Iowa State stalwarts who have been on the injured list—fullback Hank Wilder, halfback Lincoln Stewart and guard Tom Smith—returned to the squad yesterday.

Enich Chosen in All-Star Game

Hawkeye Captain Picked by 'East' Team; To Play in San Francisco Jan. 1

"IRON MIKE" ENICH

"Iron Mike" Enich, captain of the Hawkeyes and a leading candidate for All-American honors, will have at least one more football game to play after he closes his intercollegiate career against Illinois here Saturday.

The big Iowa tackle has been picked to play with the East team in the annual East-West charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day. This will be the first time in several years that a Hawkeye athlete has played in that game, since Nile Kinnick's shoulder injury kept him from joining the East team a year ago.

Among the all-Americans who will probably perform with Enich are Tom Harmon of Michigan, Don Scott of Ohio State, George

Frank of Minnesota, Nick Drachos of Cornell and Milt Piepul of Notre Dame. They will meet a team of luminaries from the west.

This isn't the first gridiron honor for the Iowa captain, whose brilliant tackle play and endurance won him the title of "Number One Iron Man" of the Big Ten in 1939, gave him a berth on all-Big Ten and all-Iowa teams last year and have brought him all-American mention already this season.

Enich will also be a leading candidate for a post with the College All-Stars, who meet the champion of the National Professional Football league next August.

Oaken Bucket Rivalry Flares Anew Saturday

Traditional Conflict Of Great Importance To Hoosiers, Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 20 (AP)—Two football teams, going nowhere in a hurry so far as championships are concerned, will get together here Saturday for the 43rd time in a series that began when Benjamin Harrison was president, the forward pass unheard of, the flying wedge a favorite mode of attack and coaches were called "coachers."

Nothing will be at stake except a battered old oaken bucket, possession of which goes to the winner, but it's a game that will make or break the season for Indiana and Purdue universities. Their gridiron rivalry, steeped in tradition, bitterly fought battles and even tragedy, has been going on since 1891.

Of the 42 games to date, Purdue has won 24, Indiana 13 and five ended in ties.

One Game Forfeited
One game was forfeited. Back in 1894 Indiana had to throw in the towel and concede the game to Purdue because there wasn't enough money in the athletic treasury to finance a trip from Bloomington to Lafayette.

One game was called off. That was in 1903 when the train carrying the Purdue team to Indianapolis for the encounter was wrecked on the outskirts of the city and several members of the squad were killed.

Among the players injured in the wreck was the late Harry G. Leslie, who became governor of Indiana in 1929.

1936-20 to 20
In recent years the standout game was the 20 to 20 tie in 1936 when six touchdowns were scored without the ball ever being carried across the goal line. Every touchdown came on a pass into the end zone.

Both teams have been bitter disappointments to their followers this year but that won't keep a capacity crowd of 31,000 from seeing the game.

Indiana, coached by Bo McMillin, the old "praying" colonel, from Centre college, hasn't beaten Purdue since 1935. The Hoosiers will stake most of their hopes Saturday on the strong right arm of "Hurlin' Hal" Hurlst, one of the nation's leading passers.

If Mike Byelene is able to play, Purdue should have some potent passing of its own, but otherwise the Boiler-makers will have to rely, for the most part, on a running attack.

NOTICE

A meeting of all varsity and freshman swimmers has been postponed from this afternoon until Monday at 4:20 p.m., Coach Dave Armbruster announced yesterday. Stroke technique and finer points of competitive swimming will be discussed.

This is one of the few meetings at which both squads will be called together, Coach Armbruster said, and it is important that everyone attend. Movies and illustrated charts will be shown.

but the Purdue fullback booted one point after touchdown. The rushing statistics put Green in sixth place at the present with 225 yards in 49 tries. Bruce Smith of Minnesota leads with 418 yards.

There might be a three-way tie for last place in the Western conference if Iowa should lose. That would leave the Hawkeyes, Illinois and the loser of the Purdue-Indiana game deadlocked at a 200 percentage. A victory would give Iowa a tie for sixth place with the winner between the Hoosiers and Boiler-makers.

And for the experts who are having all the trouble explaining the Iowa victory over Notre Dame, I have little sympathy. Along with the wrong team in that game they also picked the goose feathers for the bed they have to lie in. I picked some losers in Iowa games this fall myself, but Saturday's was a very pleasant guess to miss.

The three man football season ended yesterday, with the best team winning the game is played by newspapermen (who also try to watch Iowa practices). Hargrave himself, Gene Clausen, local representative of the Associated Press and Tait Cummins of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, soundly thumped Neil Nalden, local United Press writer, Jim Jordan of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and Art Snider of the Gazette. Score of the massacre was 20-12, with the losers getting one of their touchdowns on a fluke.

Gridders Get Dough

Cadets, Midshipmen Get Paid Regularly, But Not 'Subsidized'

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Lines from a football writer's notebook:

Did you know there are two major eastern colleges which never have been accused of subsidization or over-emphasis but which pay their boys a straight yearly salary? That they go even further and furnish these boys with jobs when they are graduated? That they have the best (musically) bands in football, made up entirely of professional musicians? That they have two of the largest and loudest cheering sections to be found anywhere? That their schedules simply bristle with inter-sectional games? That they stage each season the biggest "spectacle" game of the year, for which they sell better than 100,000 tickets?

Their names? Army and Navy.

Though tomorrow is the first Thanksgiving Day, the football fare will be very slim. From what there is, this corner culls the following selections: Fordham to beat Arkansas, despite the Razorbacks' 6-foot 8-inch end and 25 other players who stand over six feet; Missouri to beat Kansas; Richmond and Art Jones over William and Mary; Rutgers over Maryland.

In a season remarkable for the scarcity of tie games (only 14 in 287 games) Harvard has played three, with Army, Princeton and Penn. . . . Of the first five teams on this week's Associated Press ranking list, Stanford is the only one which hasn't—and won't—play an inter-sectional game. . . . Minnesota beat Washington; Texas A. and M. had its closest call with U.C.L.A.; Boston College has whipped Tulane and plays Auburn Saturday, and Cornell handed Ohio State its worst licking in the seven years the Buckeyes have been coached by Francis Schmidt. . . . Syracuse stayed consistent to the end, being beaten in their second, fourth, sixth and eighth games and unbeaten in their first, third, fifth and seventh. . . . The smartest single bits of instruction we've seen cropped up in the B.C.-Georgetown game last Saturday, the first being Coach Frank Leahy's orders to Safety Man Charlie O'Rourke to signal for fair catches in receiving all punts, thus saving himself from punishment and enabling this 155-pounder to go 60 minutes. . . . The second was Leahy sending in a sub quarterback to make sure Boston took a safety when it was backed 'way down in its own territory on fourth down in the last two minutes.

for the losing Lower C sextet. He scored once on an end run and pitched his team's other two touchdown passes. Gamma Eta Gamma lost to Sigma Chi, 18 to 6, in their interfraternity class B game. Pate passed to Ralston for the Gamma's only marker in the first period of the contest. Doollittle scored once from the field and once on a pass from Leo to pace the Sigma Chi offensive. Lynch dashed around end for the winners' third marker.

Hawklets Prepare for Opener With Williamsburg Nov. 26

West Liberty Here For Practice Game On Friday Night

City high's basketball team, under the direction of Coach Francis Merten, is working out daily in preparation for the opening game of the season with Williamsburg here Nov. 26.

In yesterday's drill, a team made up of Bud Lemons and Norman Paukert at the guards, Ray Sullivan, center, and John Thompson and Jaro Lepic at forwards scrimmaged a second quintet consisting of Jack Fetig and John Schuppert at guards, Bob King, center, and Bob Towell and Dave Cannon at the guard posts. Two candidates for first team positions, Eddie Crosssett and Bob Simpson, did not dress for practice yesterday.

West Liberty Here

A West Liberty high quintet will invade the locals' floor Friday afternoon to meet the Red and Whites in a practice game at 3:45. Lemons, Paukert, Sullivan, John Thompson and Lepic will probably get the nod to start the game. Not a scheduled contest, the tilt will be free to both school bodies.

One trouble that the Iowa City mentor may have to overcome in shaping up his team, is the height problem. Merten's tallest men are Paukert, Sullivan, King and Simpson, none of whom are exceptionally lengthy. If the Little Hawks decide to adopt a fast break style of play this year, one of the four men mentioned above will probably be the starting point of each play. Rangy Dick Culberson who held down the pivot post for the Hawklets last year will be greatly missed in this department.

Lepic, Thompson Smart

In John Thompson and Lepic, Merten has a smart, fast pair of forwards. Although both of these men are small, they show a lot of pep and fight in practice. Sullivan is a hard-fighting man on defense and makes his share of shots.

Guards Lemons and Paukert appear to be dependable, steady players who will see a good deal of the action this season.

Wildcats Get Set

EVANSTON, Ill., (AP)—Northwestern, which closes the football season against Notre Dame here Saturday, polished its own plays and defensive maneuvers yesterday against freshmen using Irish formations. No contact was planned for the remaining practice sessions. Today's drill will be held in the morning.

Cage Squad Loses Kuhl For Two Weeks

Milt Kuhl, six foot, five inch pivot man on Coach Rollie Williams' Hawkeye cage squad, will be out of basketball practice sessions for about two weeks. Kuhl, who took over the regular center duties the second semester of last year, is recovering from an operation for a broken cartilage in his right elbow.

Although absent from practice drills for the next two weeks, the lanky Hawkeye center will probably be in shape for the opener against Monmouth in the Iowa fieldhouse, December 7. Kuhl will probably be forced to wear an elbow pad during the coming season. During his absence from the squad, Richard Hein and Bruce Fountain, equally tall centers, will assume the duties of the pivot man.

Delta Tau Delta Smashes D. U.'s

Another round of championship competition was played yesterday in three intramural touch football leagues. Delta Tau Delta turned back a scrappy Delta Upsilon sextet, 40 to 31, in a wild game which appeared at times to be developing into a free-for-all contest.

The Deltis led midway in the game, 20 to 12. Manush, Trey, Carmody and Jennings paced the victors in their aerial attack. Edling, Saunders and Blaylock stood out for the losing Delta Upsilon team. By virtue of their win, Delta Tau Delta now advances to the second round of competition in the championship class A interfraternity league race.

Upper B outclassed Lower C in the Quadrangle league 21 to 18 to advance to the final championship round in their league's competition. They will meet Lower D to decide the league's winner.

Webb paced the attack of the winners by running over one marker and tossing touchdown aerials to Grabow and Adamek. Leighton's defensive play stood out for Upper B. Leffler starred

BY OSCAR HARGRAVE

It's Illinois passes against the Hawkeye running game here Saturday if the statistics are to be believed. Both teams have gained about the same average number of yards per game, but by almost exactly opposite tactics.

The figures give Iowa 109 yards per game by rushing against an average of 69 for the Illini. Illinois, though, has passed for 103 yards in each contest to only 50 for Iowa. This week's invaders, incidentally, have completed an average of 9.5 passes each game out of 21.2 attempts.

The Hawkeyes ground attack, though, should be more potent Saturday than at any time since the Wisconsin game. Ray Murphy, out since he injured a shoulder early in the Minnesota game, will be there to take the pressure off Bill Green, who has been most of the Iowa offensive in late games. Murphy will start against the Illini, giving Iowa back its old one-two punch.

Another note about the invaders—they have a rugged line that hasn't been easy for even the most powerful outfits to crack. Capt. Tom Riggs, the boy who was at Duke, Annapolis and finally back to Illinois, is rated as one of the Midwest's best tackles, with Elmer Engel, end; and Joe Turek, Guard; called much better than average linemen. Ralph Ehni, Dick Good, the star passer, and Myron Pfeifer are rated as the headline backs.

Peckinpough 'One in 1000'

Counts to Thousand Instead of Ten; Only Troubled Once

By LARRY HAUCK

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20 (AP)—The turbulent Cleveland Indians will play next season for the calmest man in baseball.

Battle-browed Roger Peckinpough, who starts his task fortified with a two-year contract, is one of those persons who counts to a thousand, not ten, before acting.

With the baseball world wondering what he will do with a group of players who revolted openly against their 1940 manager, Peck quietly reflected today that he had had discipline trouble only once in his 1928-33 regime as Cleveland manager.

This rift came in 1932 when Wesley Ferrell, his ace pitcher, objected to being taken out of a close game. Wes made a few uncomplimentary remarks on his way to the bench and mumbled a few more after sitting down.

Roger Waits

Peckinpough didn't decide to suspend Ferrell quickly. He thought it over for the rest of the game and then with a minimum of fuss gave him a 10-day rest without pay.

"Wes was a fine youngster," Peck said. "He just hated to lose." Today Ferrell is one of his best friends.

The new manager has heard plenty about the unprecedented rebellion last season that found a dozen veteran players marching into President Alva Bradley's office to demand that Oscar Vitt be fired. But when he was named to succeed Vitt, Peck briefly summed up the situation with:

"Unconcerned about '40
"So far as I'm concerned, last season never happened. It's none of my business. I don't care who was involved and who, if anyone, was at fault. We'll start fresh in 1941.

"I will run the ball club to win games, and I expect discipline. If the players want to play poker, and the stakes aren't too high, that's all right. If they want to play golf, that's all right. They will have to get in early nights as usual. I don't see why I should have any trouble."

Group Considers Service Project For Farmers

A special service project by which farm families and farm workers would be given materials to make mattresses was discussed Tuesday by a special committee which met in the county agent's office here.

Mrs. Sarah Porter Ellis, state home demonstration agent leader, appointed the committee and is in charge of project arrangements. She said the project would aim to aid all rural families whose income is less than $500 annually.

Representatives of the county AAA, Iowa state college extension service, farm bureau, farm security administration, county welfare association and the county board of supervisors make up the committee considering the project.

Bowlers to Practice Tuesdays, Thursdays Until Tournament

Practices for intramural bowling will be held today and Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the women's gymnasium.

Anyone who wants to bowl, who has not bowled regularly, should come to one of these practices, officials said.

Regular practices will start Dec. 3 at the Pla-Mor bowling alleys.

The bowling tournament will begin in about three weeks. Each player participating will be expected to bowl regularly on Tuesday or Thursday afternoon.

Officials Say District Must Draft 77 Men

County's First Quota To Be Announced As Soon as Prepared

The Johnson county draft district will furnish a total of 77 men before June 30, 1941, it was announced yesterday by the Iowa Selective service headquarters, The Associated Press said.

The county's first quota announced last week was three men. They are now in the process of being chosen, the service said, and will report later this month.

Johnson county's first quota will probably be chosen from the eight volunteers who are now being examined preparatory to official notification to report for service.

The state of Iowa at large has a quota of 11,738 men for the period ending June 30, Polk county will supply the greatest number of these, it was computed. Greene, Jefferson, Mills and Montgomery counties will furnish only one man each.

The figures for each district were arrived at by prorating the complete Iowa quota over the state's 99 counties. The 10 largest counties in the state will supply 3,561 men or nearly one-third of the entire quota.

The board again urged all registrants to consult one of the local attorneys on any difficulties they may have in filling out questionnaires.

Civil Service Needs Teachers for Work At Indian Schools

The following positions were listed as open for competitive examinations by the United States civil service commission in its Nov. 22 release:

Teachers in Indian community and boarding schools, for employment in the Indian field service, department of interior. Salaries range from $1,620 to $2,000 a year.

The branches of teaching will include agriculture, elementary grades, remedial reading, music and art, home economics and special opportunity class work.

Also open are departmental guard positions for appointment in Washington, D. C. The salary is $1,200 a year.

Iowa WPA workers, participants in a new project to train women as subsidiary aides to the sick, will live in this former fraternity house, N. Dubuque. The plan was inaugurated Monday and with the completion of a few details, the organization will be in full stride by the end of this week, George J. Keller, Iowa WPA administrator, said yesterday.

Winter Is Coming Soon!

Local Coal Dealers Offer Helpful Hints On Safer Firing of Furnaces

With cold weather in the offing and no reason to believe that this winter will not be as long and cold as normal past seasons, Iowa City coal dealers are replenishing their stock piles.

For several weeks now, tons of the "black diamonds" have been shipped to local dealers each day by rail and truck. All is in anticipation of their consumer's winter fuel needs.

Although "King Winter" has not really moved into this part of the state yet, city dealers collaborated yesterday on offering some helpful hints on heat economy and better and safer firing of furnaces.

Here are a few of the "hot" suggestions: Don't heap scoopsful of coal heedlessly upon a good bed of live coals. Coal authorities generally agree that the two best methods of firing are the "side to side" or "front to front" techniques.

In the first process, place moderate quantities of fuel first on one side, then on the hot coals and finally, on the other side. By using this method, escaping coal gases with their high heat content are consumed instead of going out the chimney.

Constantly clean ash-pits. An occasional "vacuum-cleaning" of furnaces and flues is needed for proper draft and cleanliness. Fire "banking" for the night

$150 Added To Red Cross

Johnson County Seeks 2,150 Members In National Drive

Johnson County's Red Cross roll call drive gained momentum yesterday when returns from college of liberal arts division raised the membership to 612 and proceeds to $750, Richard Sidwell announced.

Led by Prof. Ethan Allen of the political science department, the liberal arts division reported $150 in contributions and memberships received from 126 new members.

The county's goal in the nation-wide drive is 2,150 members. Last year, 1,500 county residents answered the roll call.

According to Sidwell, one-half of the proceeds from the drive will remain in Johnson county while the other half will be sent to the national office.

Prof. Clay Harshbarger, of the speech department, with a group of university students, will present the play "Victory Solferino" tomorrow at 9 p.m. over station WSUI. The play sketches the life of "Henri Dunon," founder of the Red Cross.

'First' Iowa Thanksgiving Occurs Today

While most Iowa Citizens are expected to observe Thanksgiving Nov. 28, the official Iowa date, many persons whose jobs are of a public nature or who are state workers will eat turkey both today and one week hence.

Public buildings and offices which will close both days include the Johnson county building, city hall, liquor store and the AAA office in the post office building.

According to chamber of commerce officials, retail stores will remain open today and close Nov. 28.

Fred E. Gartzke, city engineer, announced yesterday that county WPA workers will not work either today or next Thursday.

With the exception of rural routes, the post office will give regular service tomorrow but will be closed Nov. 28, W. J. Barrow, postmaster, said.

He advised persons who have important mail to be delivered on either of the dates to send it special delivery.

Iowa City banks will also be closed both Thursdays, officials said.

Non-resident university students whose home states celebrate Thanksgiving today will not be excused from classes, according to Harry Barnes, university registrar.

CIO--

(Continued From Page 1) action, and expressed the hope that out of the convention "will come a stronger labor movement."

Hillman put the convention spotlight on Murray's availability for the CIO presidency by telling a cheering convention that when Lewis steps out there must be a "demand" for Murray.

While expressing "regret" that Lewis was retiring from CIO's presidency, Hillman declared: "It is my considered judgment that when Lewis steps down there must be a demand for Phil Murray."

Murray announced yesterday that he was not a candidate and did not want the office, and close friends said he has not wavered in his decision.

Appearing on the convention scene after his Amalgamated Clothing Workers union had been overwhelmed yesterday in its effort to win support for new peace conferences with AFL, Hillman said he had no "bitterness toward any officers of the CIO."

To Lewis' suggestion that those who could not go along with his (Lewis') views on labor unity could leave the CIO, Hillman declared that the clothing workers would not quit regardless of "wishful thinking" inside and outside the CIO.

Although beaten yesterday by the Lewis forces on the issue of new endeavors to obtain unity, Hillman told the convention he wanted unity in the labor movement.

"Labor will make progress when it unites its forces," he said, "people don't make progress when they are not organized. If there is any chance to get a united labor movement, I want it. But not at the expense of our objectives."

Although proposals for action on a policy against communists, nazis and fascists have not yet been reported by committees, Hillman bluntly suggested that CIO adopt the same policy contained in the United Mine Workers union constitution barring communists from U.M.W. membership.

Hillman said he knew there were elements opposed to taking part in the "democratic processes," and added:

"I don't have to call them by name. Whether their orders come from Rome, Berlin or Moscow, it is the same thing. We must warn our young membership not to be misled by the fine speeches they will make, by their protestation of loyalty . . . Their loyalty is to some one else."

Herman Schreiber Sticks to His Bicycle 65-Year-Old Cyclist Scoffs at Newer Modes of Transportation

Models of automobiles may come and models of automobiles may go but Herman Schreiber's bicycle seems to go on forever.

That is the opinion of many Iowa Citizens who recognize Schreiber as a familiar character on the city streets. He has been riding his wheel for more than 25 years.

An Iowa City resident most of his life, the 65-year-old man explained that his cycling has long since passed the fad stage.

Scoffing at the newer modes of transportation, cars and the rest, Schreiber said his cycle has now become a necessity. In the last two years, he has traveled nearly 3,000 miles by bike, every mile of it in and around Iowa City.

"I enjoy riding my wheel," Schreiber said. "It keeps me feeling young and prim."

The cyclist has worked for 37 years in the local office of the Railway Express company and expects to retire Sept. 19 of next year.

During his life here, he has seen the town and university grow together and likes to recall stories of how S.U.I. used to boast of its record 3,000 students.

Asked if he would always ride a bicycle, Schreiber said that he would. "I'm much too old to take on any new-fangled ideas now," he said.

Britain--

self," he added. "His Majesty's government have decided that I should not be justified in expansion of my executive council, or establishment of a war advisory council at the present moment."

Speaking in the India debate, L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, told the house that India now has 60,000 troops serving overseas and is "rapidly expanding" its army to 500,000 "trained, equipped and mechanized" modern troops.

The reference to American participation came when Earl Winterton, member of the Irish peerage and conservative member of the house of commons, urged raising of another 500,000 troops from the colonies.

"It is only a pipe dream that we shall see American ships and troops fighting Europe," he declared.

Near the close of the debate on India's war participation, Secretary Amery asserted that while the viceroy was willing to give followers of Mohandas K. Gandhi the same right to hold conscientious objections to war as are allowed Britons, the Indian national congress had "demanded the right to urge Indians not to enlist, not to work in munitions factories, and not to contribute to voluntary war committees."

With which these blows can be struck, but they do doubt the success of a German offensive. And while Britain is strengthening her defenses, the general feeling is that the best defense would be retaliation on a vast scale.

Scattered reports from one of the worst hit towns in the industrial region said fires last night and early today made the sky almost as bright as day.

About 250 nazi planes took part in that attack on one area alone, while other formations and lone raiders kept other parts of Britain under bomb fire and the attention of the defenders distracted.

All reports, however, indicated the Germans had failed to inflict the same severe damage dealt to Coventry last Thursday night when some 300 persons were killed.

The greatest hope in the crucial battle to come, experts say, is the development of an instrument which could locate the German planes for interceptor planes. Experiments are being carried on by hundreds of laboratories with the most skillful men in the country seeking a solution.

There are indications that progress is being made, but air force officers said today there are no indications a device has yet been perfected.

One hundred seventy-two victims of the raid on Coventry were buried today in a common grave there.

That would mean that such industrial and shipping areas as Sheffield, Birmingham, Glasgow and Liverpool would be raided, steadily.

No observer, neutral or British, doubts the power and tenacity

Hungary--

Observers noted that by the signatures of the foreign ministers of Germany, Italy and Hungary and the Japanese ambassador to Germany, Hitler had broadened his potential base of military operations in the Balkans toward Greece, Yugoslavia or Turkey, or ultimately toward Suez and Baghdad.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, declared in a statement regarded with significance that "more powers will follow" in Hungary's footsteps.

Gen. Ion Antonescu, premier of Rumania, left tonight for Vienna and Berlin to see Hitler, and the informed news service Dienst Aus Deutschland intimated that even his signature to the pact would not be the last.

(Informed sources in Budapest said Rumania, Spain and Bulgaria may be the next joiners.)

Forecast To observers today's diplomatic action was more important as a forecast than as an accomplishment, for Hungary long has been leaning toward the axis.

Although Hungary promptly issued a statement explaining that she sought only to bring quick and lasting peace, to neutral observers the action indicated at least a temporary extension of war down the Balkans in a drive to smash British Mediterranean power.

Von Ribbentrop, Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, and the Japanese ambassador to Germany, Saburo Kurusu, sat on one side of the table today.

Hungarian Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky sat on the other.

Without fanfare they affixed their signatures. While crowds of curious Viennese jammed the streets outside, the Hungarians issued a statement saying "Hungary joins the Berlin three-power pact with the intention now, and also in liquidation of the war, to contribute within the limits of her power toward a better and happier political and economic reorganization of southeastern Europe."
