Analysis of the British War

Beginning with the terrific attack on Coventry, in which tremendous fires and explosions took more than 500 lives, the Nazi air ministry has adopted a new war philosophy.

The tactics of the German army now are concentrated upon one principal objective—the exhausting of British munitions. To do this, Hitler's Luftwaffe is helping to follow a three-point Nazi program of attack:

1. Blast the cities in which important munitions plants are located.
2. Harass sea convoys carrying arms and ammunition to Britain, both by surface and underwater warfare.
3. Extend the war front to force greater outlay of English supplies, planes, men and money.

Principles of War

These, simply, are the principles of war which Hitler and Germany are following today. The German nation is apparently aware that if England is to be beaten she is to be beaten now, before she can obtain further credit or aid from abroad, principally from the United States.

The war during the past six months, up to and including the month of December, has been slightly in favor of the British forces. The Royal Air Force repeatedly has been able to fight off heavy waves of Nazi aerial attack. What it has totalled in actual numbers of planes is not determinable, but the chalk-white cliffs that rise out of the fog are still in British hands.

The axis forces have done what any logical strategist would do under the circumstances. They have stretched out the war front; by constant pounding at a weakened spot, even as in football, something is bound to give away.

British Strategy

The British air ministry is relying upon dogged repetition as opposed to terrific concentration of fire. Night after night small squadrons of British fighters strike back at German key positions across the English channel.

And the English, too, are following sensible strategy. Considering what supplies they have available, they are doing the logical thing—biting hard at the flanks with small forces to keep the enemy relatively motionless while they are building up their attacking and defense forces.

If Britain wins the war, she will do it at the lathe, where she can turn out superior equipment in record time; she will do it by maintaining the remarkable morale which has characterized Tommie so far; and she will do it if her fleet can maintain the sanctity of the lifeline.

A Man About MANHATTAN

An Interview with the Very Reticent Mr. Ben Bernie—

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Ben Bernie, a thoughtful chap with the softly flowing drawl of the lower East Side in his voice and a passion for anonymity and reticence in his soul that would shame a recluse, shifted his $2 cigar to the other side and reluctantly submitted to our candid interview:

"It is my belief," he said, "that it is in poor taste for any man, however successful, to sing his own praise. If you have talent, others will do it for you.

"However, since you are adamant, I suppose I shall have to give you a few grudging details. I love acting. I also love birds, books, bees, flowers, Hedy Lamarr, red neckties, horses, guns, fudge sundae, and sleep-walking. You have no idea how much fun sleep-walking can be. Why, once when I was walking in my sleep—but no matter. . . .

"I also ride, hunt, fish, play polo, golf, baseball, tennis, and box. When I was in college I was captain of the track team, baseball and football teams. I also starred in the college plays as well as other things they do around universities.

"But you probably are more interested in my present work than in flashbacks on my undergraduate days," he continued, growing more reluctant to discuss himself with every flashback.

"You see, in real life I live my roles. I never touch alcohol in solid form. All my pictures require the largest sets as well as the most unusual yet constructed in Hollywood. Naturally, my type of art requires this. As to my make-up. . . well, they call me Bernie, the man of a million make-ups."

"But let me tell you about my collection of objets d'art. Since you are sandbagging this information out of me, I will have to admit that I probably have the finest collection of cigar bands, tin foil, string, paper bags, and aspirin bottles in the country. My wardrobe also is said to be unparalleled.

"Lunch is a favorite hour with me. Spying a group of Japanese, Chinese, French, Arab, Swiss, Hottentot, and Japanese refugees at lunch the other day, I had the satisfaction of greeting each one in his native tongue.

"I forgot to mention that I also was known as something of a linguist at college. Odd how these silly little campus reputations follow a man through life. They're worse than reporters. They chase you like an insidious rumor. Well, that's life. But if you're trying to get any information out of me, you're wasting your time, brother, wasting your time. Me, Bernie, we don't know from nuthin."

John's Voting Habits—

How does John Q. Public use his voting privilege? Well, Nov. 5 proved that if he doesn't want a thing, he makes no bones about saying so.

Approval of two state civil service amendments, varied decisions of voters on old age security proposals, rejection of liquor questions and proposals to raise legislators' pay featured results of balloting on some 165 constitutional amendments and initiative or referred measures, a preliminary study by the Council of State Government has shown.

And about two-thirds of the proposals were defeated in the election, including the majority of amendments and measures on tax propositions and gasoline and motor fuel funds.

Hellas Makes World History

TO THE EDITOR: Little Hellas is once more making world history!

Last month war came to Greece, supposedly the weakest of the Balkan states, but she is proving the "gamest and by far the toughest" of them all.

Ancient glory and enthusiasm is reborn in every stout Greek heart. National patriotism has mustered courage, and all the world is watching this amazing and spectacular reply to the axis juggernaut.

The Greeks are proving to the entire universe that they can bear the brunt of battle with an exhibition of valor equal to that of their eminent ancient ancestors.

The gallant Greek "Evzones," with fixed bayonets and other handy weapons, no matter how crude, are so far holding their own against the Italians.

Near them stand their women, untiring and loyal, carrying food, ammunition, administering aid to the wounded and even engaging in the fighting.

Side by side, both young and old are determined not to submit to any of Mussolini's demands.

When the Hellenes chose to defy the axis ultimatum that was indeed astonishing. But what is well nigh miraculous is her so far successful offensive drives which are forcing the Italians to retreat—and to retreat with humiliation to the sea.

Greece, insignificant in comparison to the size of the Italian forces, army, navy and war equipment, has to date surprised the world with her military victories.

Diplomatic Strategist Premier John Me-

taxis has reason to be proud of the vigor demonstrated by his brave forces. The Greeks have also reason to be proud of their showing at Koritza and other strategic lines. Their cry of "Zito Hellas" is appropriate and justified.

Cheered on by their advances, and inspired by the cause of democratic freedom, they are determined more than ever before to smash every Italian effort despite their lack of suitable war equipment.

Notwithstanding her excellent showing to date, it is obvious, however, that she cannot hold out unless she receives aid. Greece needs help, and she needs it NOW!

The Greek war relief organization is asking for contributions to aid Hellas.

The American Hellenic Progressive association, a national organization with chapters in America and Canada, offers an excellent opportunity to sponsor a national contribution drive.

Particularly commendable is the action taken by the Ahepa chapter in Mason City, which held a dance on Dec. 4, for the sole purpose of sending all the funds to brave little Hellas. So far the Mason City organization has raised a sum of $2,000 and expects to continue to send more money.

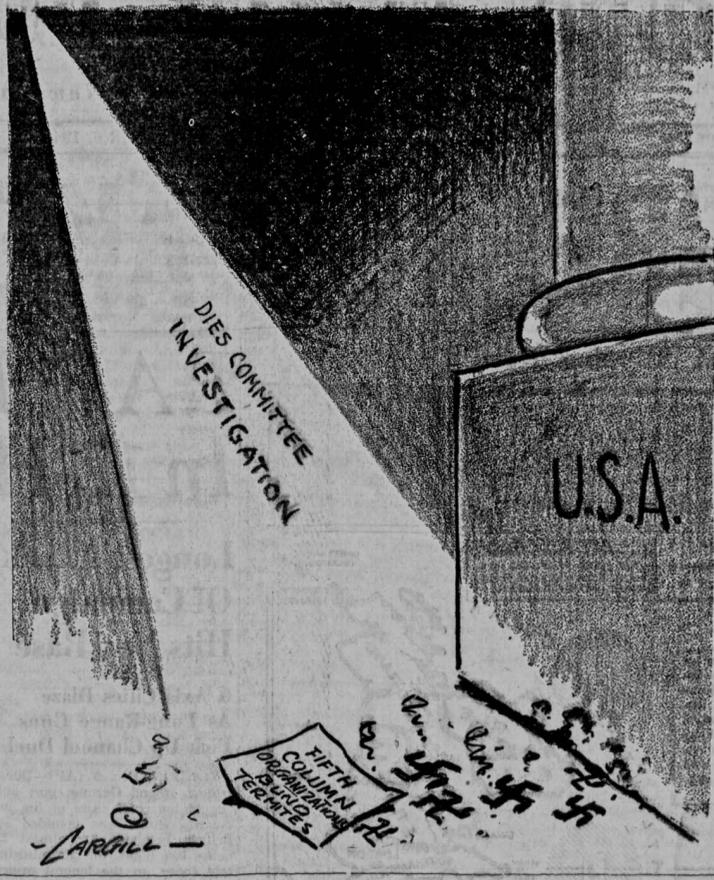

This initial measure should serve as an inspiration for other centers to declare a nation-wide contribution drive.

In helping Greece, Americans would be aiding Great Britain to win the war and would champion the cause of WORLD DEMOCRACY!

Little Hellas needs your help and needs it now!

Loans Designed Never to Be Paid

WASHINGTON—In wartime even words are weapons. No one around here is blaming any nation fighting for its life for using whatever verbal armament it can command, but plainly phrases smoother than butter are being employed to describe what is really only oleomargarine, throughout the world these days.

Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, for instance, has mentioned "credits" as one of the things the British want. He is only one of the many British and American authorities who have created the popular impression that this word accurately describes what the British need. Now "credit" may mean a variety of things. In its ordinary sense it means time given for payment for goods sold on trust. The British do not want that. An ordinary credit would mean payment in sixty to ninety days. The British do not want that. A long-term credit would be a loan, and a long-term loan in this situation would carry implications of benevolence far beyond the valid use of the word "credit." The British have been unable to pay their last war "loan" in booming peacetime, and their financial condition has been injured four-fold in this new war. So they do not want a "loan" either.

What the British really mean by "credit," is an advance of goods which will not tax their resources. It could only be a gift or a sales transaction in which the United States acquired payment in territory, raw materials, further bases, etc.

Do not misunderstand. There is objection within officialdom to aiding the British either by gifts or deals if necessary or advisable from our standpoint. But there is strong objection even in our own treasury department calling a gift a loan or a credit, which cannot in all reasonable expectation be repaid. They merely want whatever is done called by its right name now so the public will not be deceived.

What the British really mean by "credit," is an advance of goods which will not tax their resources. It could only be a gift or a sales transaction in which the United States acquired payment in territory, raw materials, further bases, etc.

Do not misunderstand. There is objection within officialdom to aiding the British either by gifts or deals if necessary or advisable from our standpoint. But there is strong objection even in our own treasury department calling a gift a loan or a credit, which cannot in all reasonable expectation be repaid. They merely want whatever is done called by its right name now so the public will not be deceived.

The treasury itself seems to have slipped up slightly in China loan with a little rhetorical oleo. The $100,000,000 has become popularly known as a "loan" to China, and as far as the general American public will probably ever realize that is what it will always be. But unlike most "loans" it has no interest bearing aspect, no real collateral, no time of repayment. (Secretary Morgenthau, in his press conference referred absentmindedly to the matter as a loan, but each time corrected himself, saying he should not call it that.)

Half of it was a straight advance of $50,000,000 to the Chinese government which will be repaid in the future by Chinese shipments of raw materials, such as tin. This is a straight commercial transaction which the Chinese should be able to carry out a long time in the future if they keep the Burma road open, and keep their feet.

But the other half has even less semblance of a regular loan, commercial or otherwise. The United States treasury has simply promised to buy Chinese yuan to the extent of $50,000,000 whenever necessary to keep the Japanese from depreciating the value of the Chinese currency. It is purely a foreign exchange agreement to protect the Chinese currency against Japanese aggression. As we buy, China will get dollars to purchase American goods.

As a matter of fact our treasury now still has $19,000,000 of Chinese yuan purchased in connection with a silver agreement deal three years ago. In the end we can recover our money only by selling these yuan back to China at the same price we pay, which means that our investment rests entirely upon the ability of China to sustain both itself and its currency.

NEW MONEY POLICY—

This monied backing, miscalled "loan," is something entirely new. It is not like the old tripartite currency agreement with Britain and France. Then we purchased gold to sustain the dollar. We made no advances to Britain and France and closed our books at the end of each day. We looked out for ourselves. The treasury has already officially indicated that this new cash underwriting scheme will be extended to protect Latin-American currency from the Germans. There is nothing to prevent it from also being used as a mechanism to advance dollars to Britain without interest, without funding with variable sterling as the only collateral. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has indicated to an executive session of the house banking committee that this would not be done without direct congressional approval.

FUTURE VAGUE—

Whatever it is called, this cash register defense of this hemisphere and China was fully approved by the congressional committee. In their secret session the state and treasury secretaries, Messrs. Hull and Morgenthau, were unable to say that even stronger measures will NOT be contemplated. Apparently he thought Japan did not feel strong enough to provoke us to war, but as to the future, he would say only, "We are not in it yet."

Eddie Albert's Doing What He Wants to Do

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—For an index to the off-screen character of Eddie Albert, consider the fact that he is now sporting a beautiful set of plain, old-fashioned boots.
Eddie, maybe you didn't know, has a medicine man. Eddie brought him back from one of his jaunts into Mexico. Found him in Chihuahua, working with herbs. Eddie is crazy about herbs. This medicine, the medicine man said, has long been used down there as a quick cure for one of those diseases which only recently has been mentioned in polite circles.
Eddie, with a streak of Dr. Ehrlich in his make-up, brought him to Hollywood to perfect the remedy and see what could be done about it.
Nothing to worry about, he says cheerfully. The medicine man assured him this is merely part of the remedy's blood-purifying action. Eddie thinks maybe the medicine already has been outmoded by later discoveries he's read about—but then the medicine has a perpetual motion invention, too.
"Maybe something'll come of that," says Eddie. "Wouldn't it be funny?"
It would, but it all gives a pretty good idea of what Eddie Albert does with the money he earns in pictures. He doesn't talk about it, but right now he's back to a professor who is writing a serious work on economics. He thinks having an actor's name connected, even in a small way, with such a work, would discredit it somewhat.
Eddie is a scientific swash-buckler, a scholar, an explorer, a seeker after knowledge—and he's spending his money doing the things he's always wanted to do. That's why he's a now-you-see-him now-you-don't actor. That time he was supposed to have "disappeared" down in Mexico, he hadn't. He'd just taken a trip on his boat.

He has a new boat, a 54-foot ketch (the Cynthia), the better to travel in. He's a pal of the traveling Lambs, Dana and Virginia. He dreams about getting down into the old Mayan country, to explore and dig up ruins. Eddie's dreams are practical—make 'em come true. He likes to hunt buried treasure. There's a vast one he knows about, but he isn't much interested. What intrigues him in that direction at present is a single hidden chest of silver pesos—"this other would be too much like a business expedition." He hears about these things from "guys I have out and around." He wants to get down on the Amazon and find out about some herbs he's heard about.
He wanted to find out how it felt to be alone in a cage of lions. That's why he angled himself into the lion-tamer role in "The Wagons Roll at Night." He says, "The world's so full of fascinating things to do that you can't do 'em all."
And you take a quiet fellow who talks like this, without affectation, and you have the fellow Stevenson was talking about when he wrote:
"The world is so full of a number of things I'm sure we should all be happy as kings."

Associated Students of Journalism Sponsor Pica Ball at Union Tonight

Charlie Agnew To Play From 9-12 at Union

Women Scheduled To Wear Informal Long Dresses at Dance

The clatter of typewriters, the jangling of telephones, the muted mutters of that phenomenon, the copyreader—and the Fourth Estate takes over the Iowa Union for its annual Pica Ball tonight.

The rush and hurry of a busy newsroom will form the backdrop when dancing to the music of Charlie Agnew and his band begins at 9 o'clock in the main lounge. Women will wear informal long dresses.

Chaperons for the Pica Ball, last all-university party to be given before the Christmas holidays, will be members of the school of journalism faculty and their wives. They are Prof. and Mrs. Frank Luther Mott, Prof. and Mrs. Fred Pownall, Prof. Charles L. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Earl English and Mr. and Mrs. Winston Allard.

Committee members and their dates will represent the Associated Students of Journalism, which presents the party each fall.

Rotarians Hear

Rev. W. Johnson

"The Total Defense of Democracy" was the subject of a talk by the Rev. Willard Johnson of Des Moines before the Rotary club yesterday. The Rev. Mr. Johnson is the central area director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"Full protection to a democracy cannot be given by building only a military defense," the speaker said. "The real defense for democracy must come from within." The speaker listed the four enemies of democracy as unemployment and poverty, ignorance, irreligion and intolerance.

279 Boys, Girls Sign at Center For Activities

M. Eugene Trowbridge, director of the Iowa City Recreation center, announced that 279 boys and girls of school age, 8 to 18, registered for participation in center activities during October and November.

Total participation count for October was 2,089 and 2,186 for November. The increase is shown in these figures making up the total with the October and November figures listed in order after each activity:

Game room, 495, 789; craft shop, 267, 217; rifle club (adult), 201, 175; gym and flagroom, 432, 237 (the latter figure refers to the gym only); city basketball league, 73 in November, and special events, 674 in October and 687 in November. The latter included the Halloween party, Christmas parade, model airplane club and the Spanish club of the Iowa City Woman's club.

About 100 adults are using the center at present, Trowbridge said, and a final registration of between five and six hundred youths is anticipated.

The enlarged recreation center occupies the mezzanine and basement floors of the Community building, College and Gilbert.

Two Injured, Three Trucks Damaged in Two Accidents

Two passengers were injured and three trucks were damaged to the extent of $1,725 in two accidents near Iowa City yesterday, the highway patrol announced.

George Wilson and W. H. Miller, both of Wellman, were passengers in two trucks that collided about 13 miles north of Iowa City on highway 218 at 2 p.m. Wilson suffered cuts about the face and Miller received chest injuries. Both were taken to Dr. George D. Callahan and released after treatment.

H. A. Swartzendruber, 54, Kalona, driver of a J. H. Speas truck, and Harold Gardner, driving a truck owned by Milford Shettler, Wellman, were not hurt.

Both trucks were removed from the highway by wreckers. The damage to one was estimated at $125 and $200 to the other.

A Watson Brothers truck, driven by Russell Beaver, Denver, Colo., loaded with nine tons of meat, was totally demolished when it overturned about 13 miles west of here on highway 6 about 7:30 a.m. yesterday. The driver was not hurt.

A steering knuckle broke as the truck was rounding a curve and the driver, losing control, was carried over an embankment with the truck as it rolled over on its side, patrolmen explained.

Prof. Thomas Muir Sings at Dedication

Prof. Thomas Muir of the school of music will sing from the oratorio, "Elijah," at the special 10:45 a.m. service at the Congregational church Sunday morning for the dedication of the Little Chapel of the church.

Speaker at the service will be Dr. John Nollen of Grinnell college. The Rev. Ira J. Houston, former pastor, will also participate.

Campus Favorite, Len Carroll Orchestra Now in Fifth Year

By CHARLES F. RUFF

(Ed. Note—This is the second in a series of articles designed to acquaint students and townspeople with Iowa City dance bands and their personnel.)

The Len Carroll orchestra, fronted this year by Rex Oleson, features sweet music as stylized by pianist Jack Latimer. Latimer, doing most of the arranging for the band, has developed a sweet, individually novel style which is equally danceable and listenable.

One of the oldest established orchestras on the campus, this band was organized five years ago by Roger Bardsley, Al Soucek and Bill Metcalf, who are still members.

Playing many times at the Silver Shadow this season, you'll have plenty of opportunities to see the band in action. If you want to hear something different, request "Mister Meadowlark," on which the boys play ocarinas, "sweet potatoes" to you.

The personnel of the orchestra this year is:

Roger (Rog) Bardsley, bass, G of Iowa City, versatile, plays electric guitar and piano. Is greatest guitar.

John (Jack) Latimer, piano, G of Corning, well liked by all the boys. Arranges too. Some good examples are his "So Long" and "Deed I Do." Student of Prof. P. G. Clapp. Sings most of the vocals and also plays accordion.

John (Jack) Bickenbach, A2 of Independence, had honor of holding first place as drummer in the National High School Musical contest two years in succession. Collects Gene Krupa records.

Spencer (Spence) Smith, 1st tenor sax, A4 of Ottumwa, does solo work on tenor. Only man in sax section who doesn't wear spectacles.

Rex Oleson, leader and 2nd trumpet, C3 of Cedar Falls, handles business for band. Does vocal novelties. Is one of the Phi Gamma Delta boys.

Clark (Toodles) Shreck, 2nd alto sax, C4 of Prescott, "Best section man," says Oleson. Spends summers playing in bands on road trips.

Mrs. Pelzer Given Award

Iowa City Woman Receives First Prize In Art Exhibition

Mrs. Louis Pelzer, 127 Ferson, a representative of the Iowa Artists association, according to an announcement by Edwin Ford of Milo, has been selected winner of the first prize in the Iowa honorary artist exhibition at Sioux City.

Ford's painting, "Old House in a Hill" will receive a gold plate. Similar awards will be made in other cities in which the exhibit will be placed while on tour.

The awards are presented by Gardner Cowles of Des Moines. The exhibit will be presented here in the fine arts building Jan. 1, at which time another gold award will be made.

The tour will include Davenport, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Cedar Falls.

Those who received honorable mention at the Sioux City exhibition include Mrs. Seneca Smith of Ft. Dodge, Emma Young Paul of Gilman, Marvin Cohen of Cedar Rapids and Beatrice Goslin of Sioux City.

Willie the Stooze Out!

Ventriloquist, Dummy to Be on Program At Silver Shadow Tomorrow

Yes, Willie will be telling Walter Rouzer, A4 of Kansas City, what he thinks of all of those people out there in front of him. Willie is the dummy which has been the stooze in Rouzer's ventriloquist act for six years.

Because he had a teacher who was really "tough" about talking in class, Rouzer developed the art of ventriloquism so that he might make class comments unnoticed. As he became more proficient in the art he gave performances at Kansas City theaters, at private parties and over several radio stations in Kansas City.

To make his act more complete, Rouzer purchased Willie six years ago from Frank Marshall of Chicago, who also created Charlie McCarthy.

Holiday Play To Be Given Over WSUI

Premier showing of a Christmas play "On a Midnight Clear," written by Mrs. Myrl Bristol of Iowa City, will be featured over WSUI tonight at 8 o'clock. The play will be presented by a group of university radio students.

Leading roles will be taken by Anita Pollett, A4 of Jonesboro, Ark.; Lulu Durham, A4 of Dearborn, Mo.; Harold Glaspey, A4 of Hills; Fred Keller, A4 of Grand Haven, Mich.; Art Malknecht, A4 of Eveleth, Minn.; Donald Whited, A4 of Ida Grove; Gale Richards, G of Akron, Ohio, and John B. Roberts, G of Long Branch, N.J. Mrs. Bristol, author of a number of plays, has written tonight's radio drama as her contribution to Bundles for Britain. It contrasts vividly the Christmas season in America and the same holiday in Britain.

Interest in the broadcast has been manifested by members of the Bundles for Britain organizations in Des Moines, Waterloo and Cedar Rapids. They will be in the listening audience tonight, officials said.

Rainbow Girls Plan Luncheon Tomorrow

The Rainbow Girls will meet for a luncheon tomorrow at noon in the Masonic temple. Each girl is asked to bring a 10 cent gift for a Christmas box which will be sent to the Shriner hospital in Minneapolis, Minn.

A business meeting will follow the luncheon.

Abe Lincoln at 'Iowa'

Clark Kunej Leads Cast of 200 Players At Opening Monday Night

Mary Todd is having a dress fitted in the costume shop, Stephen Douglas is on the speaker's platform at work on his debate and Abe Lincoln is having a facial from the make-up department—but it's all going to add up to the final production of Robert E. Sherwood's "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," which opens in University theater Monday night.

Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic arts department, is at work with his cast and staff of assistants in molding together the huge production in which more than 200 people are involved.

If the theater building is buzzing with activity, so is the ticket office in 8-A Schaeffer hall. John Ross Winnie, ticket manager, advises seat reservation be made now, as early indications show a strong interest in the second show of the winter season.

An informal discussion and social hour will conclude the meeting.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

In yesterday morning's feature on Dick Spencer and his Personality Kid, one paragraph got a bit mixed in making necessary corrections. The corrected version:

"He appeared in a numeral sweater for no particular reason EXCEPT that Dick himself hoped to win a freshman numeral sweater. He did—in swimming, partially due, Dick thinks, to the example set by his own character."

"That idea, carried out widely enough, would settle a lot of international problems."

Beg your pardon!

Five Colleges Establish 3.4% Total Increase

A record first semester campus enrollment of 6,888 students was reported yesterday for the University of Iowa, as five colleges set all-time first semester high marks.

Prof. Harry G. Barnes, registrar, said that the new record is an increase of 232 students, or 3.4%, over the previous mark of 6,656 set in 1939.

Actually in full-time residence are 6,663 students. The Saturday classes account for the additional 225, these men and women coming to the university for classes 12 times during the year.

Colleges in which records were broken are graduate, 1,085; liberal arts, 3,559; law, 271; pharmacy, 154, and engineering, 478.

The record in liberal arts had stood since 1935 but three of the others were set in 1939 and one in 1938, the registrar's report showed.

In the past decade, enrollment increases varying from 1.9 to 14.7 per cent were recorded six times. The 1940 record total is an increase of about 1,400 over the mark of 1931.

Enrollment in colleges in which the record was not broken are commerce, 467; medicine, 286; dentistry, 114, and nursing, 253.

SUI Debaters Meet Opponents In Two States

Three forensic students are debating at the Universities of Indiana and Illinois this week end. Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department announced.

Debaters are William Arnold, A1 of Sioux City; Marvin Chapman, A3 of Iowa City, and Howard Hines, A2 of Iowa City. The local debaters uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the powers of the federal government should be increased."

Hines and Chapman debate with students from the University of Illinois at Urbana, today. Yesterday Chapman teamed with Arnold in a discussion with the University of Indiana at Bloomington, Ind.

Hines, treasurer of Gavel club, local debate organization, was a member of the freshman debate squad last year. He participated in the finals of the Samuel Leffevre freshman speech contest held last spring. Chapman and Hines were winners of the state high school debate championship in 1938, representing Iowa City high school.

Arnold was a member of the champion debate team in 1939 and also placed first in the state extemporaneous speech contest. He participated in the demonstration debates at the Ft. Dodge speech institute this fall. Waldo Braden of the speech department coached the debaters.

New Method Brings Permanent Waving Out in Public

This is it, girls! The process that will free you from those long hot hours of sitting under a permanent waving machine or with crackling-hot chemical solutions in your hair. This is Turban-Wav, the new permanent waving method which has been perfected by Mrs. Ethel Gilchrist in her beauty shop here. In the first picture, the operator is shown wrapping the hair of her pretty client. As in all permanent waves, the hair is shampooed and dried first, then blocked in one-half-inch squares. Each lock is next wrapped in the paper-covered wire curlers, which look and are twisted around the hair like kid curlers. About 130 curls are wrapped in the average head of hair and the curler may be wrapped within one-sixteenth of an inch from the scalp. This makes it possible for most of the short hairs around the face and the nape of the neck to be curled. After wrapping, the hair is wet with a special solution, the formula for which was invented by the Gilchrist. In the second picture, the model is seen with a covering protecting the curls from the air. The most important feature of the new process is that air must be kept absolutely away from the curls. There is no heat in the Turban-Wav permanent wave and the new wave may be given over older waves. The curls are left in the hair for from 8 to 24 hours, depending on the texture of the hair, and during that time they must be kept airtight. In the third picture the model is seen ready to continue her shopping or go back to the office or to her classes. She is wearing a turban that gives the method its name, and only the informed know that under that turban is a permanent wave in action. The entire wave takes about one and one-half minutes to wrap and nearly the same length of time to take down. Any shaping or cutting of the hair (except shortening) is done after the wave has been given. Split ends that have to come off are cut before the wave. A feature story on Turban-Wav and the Gilchrist family in Iowa City will appear in today's issue of Life magazine. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Gilchrist and daughters, Marilyn and Phyllis, live at 417 1/2 Brown street here, having moved recently. Phyllis is a sophomore in the university.

Just a four-inch length of wire, wrapped in brown paper, and a bottle of colorless fluid. Simple things but they'll catch the attention of the nation today.

When today's issue of Life magazine appears on news-stands, Americans will discover that two Iowa City people, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Gilchrist—"Ollie" and "Ethel"—have found the answer to the prayer of every woman who ever sat under that instrument of torture, the permanent waving machine.

In Life magazine today there is a four-page feature story on Ethel and Ollie Gilchrist and on "Turban-Wav," their invention.

Hundreds of office girls and housewives will learn from the magazine that their days of waiting in beauty shops for "baking" and "setting" of their permanent waves are gone.

From the Ethel Gilchrist Beauty Craft shop in Iowa City has come a new permanent waving method, in which a silken turban covers the hair while the actual waving process goes on. And the women do their shopping or works in her office while she gets her wave.

"The secret of the whole thing is in the solution with which the hair is wet," said Marilyn Gilchrist, daughter of the couple, last night. "There is no heat whatsoever applied to the hair. And the result—well, nobody has ever seen a curl like this before."

Mrs. Gilchrist is in New York City today, demonstrating in Bonwit Teller and Lord and Taylors on Fifth avenue. And the Gilchrist shop in Iowa City continues to give Turban-Wav permanents as it has for weeks, with no advertising but word of mouth.

Turban-wav was first tried out on Miss Gilchrist in May—she still has the permanent.

"Both machine and machineless waves always make my hair fuzzy," Miss Gilchrist stated. "I'm an example of the kind of person who has to have a new permanent every three months. But this is a natural-looking wave and the only one I've ever had that wasn't frizzed."

Since that time the shop has been giving Turban-Wav permanents frequently, "recently about seven a week," Miss Gilchrist hazarded.

Turban-Wav permanents can be given over any other kind of permanent, no matter what the age. No cutting off of the waved ends is necessary although split ends are trimmed before the wave is given.

"We can even regulate how thick the curls can be," Miss Gilchrist asserted. "If the hair is so fine that the wave is going to be fuzzy or if the girl prefers to have no wave in her hair except curls at the ends, we shampoo the hair right after the permanent is given and we can keep the waves as deep as we want."

It was the success of Turban-Wav in waving already curled hair that brought the method into the prominence it is achieving today.

"We used Turban-Wav over a permanent which a friend of Mother's had received about a week before from Heads of Connecticut avenue in Washington, D. C.," Miss Gilchrist said. "Heads went wild over it and immediately called Mother to give a demonstration there. Since then Mother has demonstrated in New York and she is going to Boston, Baltimore, Richmond and Philadelphia."

Turban-Wav incorporated is headed by Gilchrist as president with his wife secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Gilchrist named the new process, coining the title from the turban which women wear to cover the curlers.

Needle Guild Picks Members Of Committees

Members of the ingathering committee for the local Needlework Guild of America have been selected by that organization. This committee, which will be assisted by the officers of the group, will begin work today, when clothes are collected at the Press-Citizen building from 8 to 5 o'clock.

On the committee are Mrs. R. W. Leutwiler, Mrs. Dewey Stuit, Mrs. L. A. Ware, Mrs. Carl Menzer, Mrs. John Russ, Mrs. W. J. Herrick, Mrs. Charles Shrader.

Members appointed to the distribution committee which will work tomorrow are Mrs. Joseph Baker, chairman; Mrs. Charles Baker, Mrs. F. A. Stromsten, Florence Schneider, Mrs. W. J. Petersen, Mrs. Roland Rooks, and Mrs. Jack Lubin.

Directors are asked to bring contributions as early as possible this morning.

Mrs. C. Gray Will Entertain

Mrs. Carrie Gray, 119 E. Daventport, will entertain members of the Monday club at a desert-bridge luncheon Monday at 1:15 p.m.

An informal social hour will conclude the meeting. Members who will be unable to attend the meeting, are asked to call Mrs. Gray, 9385.

Four Veterans Lead Hawk Cagers In Opener

Little Hawks Meet Davenport Tonight

Face 1939-40 Loop Champs

Coach Moon Brings Reportedly Stronger Five Than Last Year

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the City high gym, Coach Francis Merten's Little Hawks bite off a mouthful, when they tackle Davenport, last year's conference champs.

With prospects of a stronger team this season, Coach Paul Moon will bring a Blue Devil team to Iowa City that traditionally is an annual fly in the Hawks' soup. Over a period of 13 years, since the Mississippi Valley conference was first organized, Coach Moon has turned out eight championship teams, and another that shared the title.

In the two days of practice since their first game with Washington Tuesday night, the Mertenmen have drilled on defensive play and free throws, the Blue Devils the Red and Whites will use a man-for-man defense, the same they have used in their three non-conference games played so far this season.

Starting for the locals will probably be Bob Simpson at center, Capt. Ray Sullivan and John Thompson, forwards, and Bud Lemons and Norm Paukert at the guard posts. This same combination started against the Washington Demons Tuesday and managed to pile up a comfortable lead within a short time.

The loser of tonight's contest will have a chance to even the score up February 14 when the two quintets clash again, this time on the Blue Devils' court. The second semester game will be played without the services of several men from both teams, all of whom will have completed their eighth semester of competition. Among the Iowa City men who will terminate their play at this semester's end are Dave Cannon, Bob Towell, Bob King, Johnny Schuppert and Jack Fetig.

A certain raiser will be played at 7 o'clock tonight between Coach Herb Cormack's freshman-sophomore quintet and the junior Blue Devils.

Hawkeye Stars May Receive Player Awards

The possibility that Mike Enich, Bill Green or Bill Diehl might be in line for an all-American football award was seen today, as a telegram was received from New York by the Iowa athletic department.

The wire read: "Listen in to the Kate Smith hour Friday at 7 p.m. for an announcement of the all-collegiate football awards. Inform the student body to do so, also, Jim Crowley, Fordham coach, will announce 33 players selected for watch awards."

Nile Kinnick was picked on this team a year ago, and was awarded a wrist watch.

Aggies Repeat Defense Mark

SEATTLE, Dec. 5 (AP)—Most late season leaders held their pace to finish first in team statistical rankings for 1940 in the American football statistical bureau's final weekly roundup released here today.

Here are the 1940 yardstick champions, with 1939 leaders—lest we forget—in parentheses:

Total offense—Lafayette. (Ohio State).

Rushing offense—Lafayette. (Wake Forest).

Forward passing offense—Cornell. (Texas Christian).

Total defense—Navy. (Texas A. and M.).

Rushing defense—Texas A. and M. (Texas A. and M.).

Forward passing defense—Harvard. (Kansas).

Punting—Texas Mines. (Auburn).

So Texas Aggies are the only repeaters, and they share defensive honors with Navy and Harvard. The Aggies ranked behind San Jose State last year defensively, but topped the major teams.

The Leopards of Lafayette depended on a strong running game to move through an undefeated season. Lafayette gained 2,758 yards on the ground and 556 in the air for 3,314 yards for an average gain per game of 368.2.

Town Hoopsters Get Rolling

Section IX Nips VII, 19-17, While Joe Evans Scores 11 of Team's Points

Section IX of the Town intramural basketball league defeated Section VII, 19 to 17, Wednesday evening in the fieldhouse gymnasium. Evans, a backcourtier for VII, scored 11 of the losing team's 17 markers. Forward Telfer and guard Johnson formed the scoring combination for the victorious cagers.

A Whetstone powerhouse squad romped over Dean house by a score of 43 to 17. King, a forward for Whetstone chalked up 12 field goals and one free throw for 25 of his team's points. Pivot man Blackman tallied eight markers, Anderson and Bush scored three goals each for Dean. Whetstone led at halftime, 31 to 12.

Gordinier poured in eight of his team's 10 points as Second South lost to First in Hillcrest intramural competition. Cretzmeyer and Marshall scored 10 and 8 markers respectively for First as they won their contest, 30 to 10. Fourth nosed out Third North, 17 to 11, in the second Hillcrest game. Staples of Fourth's front yard paced the victor's offensive drive while Amick scored four field goals for the losers.

In Quadrangle league competition, Lower A rolled over Lower C, 41 to 7. Harrington, Lower A guard and Bisso, one of the winner's forwards, dropped in eight points each for their team. Heffner looked well defensively for the Lower C team.

Upper C won a close game from Upper A, 36 to 29, as Slye and Kennedy hit their stride and chalked up 10 and 8 points for the winning quintet. O'Rourke and Stuckey each scored four goals for Upper A.

Forward MacDonald, center Hall and guard Kelso pooled their scoring power for Lower D in turning back a Lower B team, 27 to 8. Popp, a Lower B forward, dropped in two field goals to lead his team in scoring.

Michigan, caught by the double feature fever, sends its Wolverine basketball and hockey teams into action against Michigan State tomorrow. The two schools have been rivals for years and this double barreled sports entertainment is guaranteed to satisfy.

The University of Western Ontario comes to Illinois Monday with a hockey team that beat Michigan's mighty stick wielders last year, 5 to 2. Coach Vic Heylinger claims his Illini squad is the best he's had. Monday will tell.

Way back in 1881, F. W. Davenport won the "Glass Ball Shooting" crown at Michigan. Sounds like they had an annual marble tournament.

Ollie "Red" Hahnstein and Joe Lokan, Wildcat gridmen, have received invitations to play for the East in the annual East-West game New Year's day.

Passes spelled the downfall of Hoosier grid hopes this past season. Eleven of the opponents' 15 touchdowns were either scored or set up via the airlines.

Unofficial Soundings Indicate Final 'NO' To Rose Bowl Game

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—The annual meeting tomorrow of Western conference athletic officials and faculty representatives may bring a final and official "No" on proposed competition in the Rose bowl football game.

Conference athletic directors at a recent meeting recommended acceptance of the Pacific Coast league's invitation for a closed Rose bowl game, but the faculty committee postponed action until this week's session, which runs through Saturday.

Unofficial soundings have indicated the conference will continue to ban post season encounters. Other business before the representatives includes schedule making for competition in track, swimming, fencing, wrestling, gymnastics, tennis, golf and baseball.

Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus of Indiana, the retiring chairman of the faculty committee, will be succeeded by Prof. Carl Leib of Iowa. Professor Leib and the Iowa delegation, including Athletic Director E. G. Schroeder, arrived today.

It was reported that the faculty group also may make inquiries into several alleged violations of eligibility and subsidization rules.

There was no indication that the status quo of the University of Chicago would be disturbed. At last September's meeting there were rumblings of reprisals against the Maroons for their accusations of dishonesty among other conference members when Chicago abolished intercollegiate football.

Prasse, Mates Risk Standing Under A. A. U.

DENVER, Dec. 5 (AP)—Talk of disciplinary measures against certain college athletes for violating amateur codes was heard today as delegates checked in for the 52nd annual A.A.U. convention.

Between tomorrow and Sunday, the A.A.U. will pass on 1941 championship sites for amateur sports as different as basketball and bobsledding, track meets and horseshoe pitching. The delegates also will be asked to ratify 322 new athletic records, highest number in history.

Along with discussions over whether college players would risk their amateur status by playing in the East-West grid game with Michigan's Tom Harmon, it was reported unofficially that the A.A.U. plans to "crack down" on 12 college basketball players who played against a professional quintet in Chicago recently.

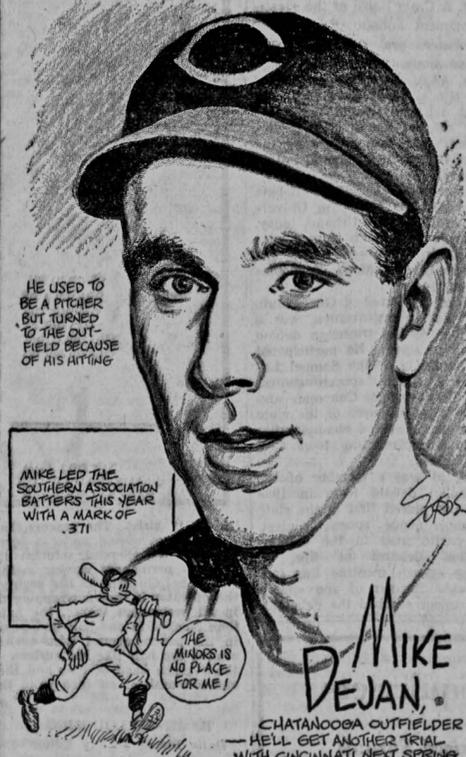

Daniel J. Ferris, A.A.U. secretary, said Harmon, for receiving a radio fee, made himself "ineligible" for possible A.A.U. competition unless he applied for and obtained reinstatement.

All players competing with or against Harmon in the Jan. 1 charity game at San Francisco, Ferris said, would be threatened with the loss of amateur standing in A.A.U. sports unless each one wrote to the board of governors for permission to play in the grid contest.

The basketball players facing A.A.U. suspension were those on the All-Star team which defeated the Harlem Globe Trotters, national professional league champions.

Among the cagers in question are Ralph Vaughan of University of Southern California, Stan Szukala of De Paul, Bob Carpenter of East Texas Teachers and Erwin Prasse of Iowa.

Giants Purchase Bob Bowman From Cardinals For $50,000

Paul Waner Given Unconditional Release; In Majors Since '26

ATLANTA, Dec. 5 (AP)—Just when the winter baseball meetings were about to die of melancholia, the New York Giants to night purchased Pitcher Bob Bowman from the St. Louis Cardinals for a sum estimated at $50,000 and set the lobby gossips back on their heels again.

It had been a dull day, so listless in fact that representatives of several major league clubs packed their satchels and went home.

The minor league club owners and league presidents held a long, argumentative session in which they voted on more than a score of proposed amendments to their working rules and the major league owners and managers milled around admitting, for the most part, that the trading outlook was hopeless.

P. Waner Released The Pittsburgh Pirates performed a sad but necessary duty and released outright their veteran outfielder, Paul Waner.

The only other oasis in this desert of nothingness was room 1038 of the headquarters (Ansley) hotel where Manager Bill Terry of the Giants hid away to bargain from early in the morning until late at night.

At the time the Giants broke the trading lull to announce the Bowman purchase, they emphasized that Terry was working on at least one and possibly other deals of some magnitude. The needs of the Giants were so numerous that it was difficult to surmise what was in the wind.

Bowman is the 26-year-old right-handed hurler who beamed Ducky Medwick of Brooklyn last summer and his acquisition by the Giants not only gave them a first line pitcher, but fanned their famous feud with the Dodgers to a new heat.

Bowman Is Winner Bowman was raised in the Cardinal farm system and entered the National league in 1939, when he won 13 and lost five for the Redbirds with an earned run average of 2.61. Last season when the Cards slipped a bit, Bowman won seven and lost five.

Waner's unconditional release was the day's best sentimental story. President Bill Benswanger came to the press room to make the announcement that the little fellow who had starred for the Pirates for 15 years was out of a job.

"We didn't like to let him go," said Benswanger, "because he has

Iowa's Hawkeye basketballers in the question mark stage at present, but showing definite signs of scoring power, open their 40th season of hardcourt competition tomorrow night against Monmouth college of Illinois.

Four major lettermen and one sophomore constitute the starting lineup, which will be both tall and fast. Paced by Capt. Vic Siegel, who averaged nine points per game as a sophomore last winter and ranked seventh among conference scorers, the team has Ben Trickey, Marshalltown speedster, as the only soph.

What this tentative first string can do will show up tonight, but Coach Rollie Williams plans to substitute fast and often, giving men such as Bill Wheeler and Vince Harsha, letter-winning guards, Dick Hein and Bruce Fountain, centers, and Wendell Hill, George Knight and Sid Story, forwards, a chance to show their stuff.

Although Monmouth was trampled by Notre Dame last week, 81-34, it should provide the competition the Hawks need. The Scots are small and fast, having no men over six feet tall, but can boast little experience, with only one regular, Harold Schneider, returning from last year's wars.

This is the first of a dozen home games for Iowa, which has one of the best home schedules in its basketball history. This group of games, coupled with eight games on foreign territory, gives the Hawkeyes a 20-game schedule between now and March 3.

5 Centers Have Led Iowa Since '25

Only six centers have preceded Bill Diehl as captain of the University of Iowa football team but five of those held the honor since 1925, a search of the records showed Thursday following his election as 1941 leader.

First pivot man to captain the Hawkeyes was Iver Iversen in 1896 and it was not until 1925 that another center, Harold Griffin, was elected.

Centers since then were Dick Brown, in 1928, Marcus Magnusson in 1932, Tom Moore in 1933, and Ted Osmaloski, co-captain in 1936.

Despite injuries which slowed him up in some games, Diehl was regarded as one of the Big Ten's best centers last fall. He played full time against Wisconsin and Minnesota.

All-East, Southwest Teams Announced

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—Boston college, Fordham and Georgetown, which will represent the east in three of the New Year's day bowl games, each won representation today on the 1940 Associated Press all-eastern football team.

Boston, as befits a team which came through 10 games without defeat or tie to win the mythical eastern championship, led the way with three men—Chet Gladchuk, 6-foot 5 inch, 242-pound center; George Kerr, guard, and 158-pound Charley O'Rourke, a punting-passing-running triple threat.

Besides B. C., which will play Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl, only one other team gained more than one place. Cornell put tackle Nick Tschabert back blocking back and signal-caller Walt Matuszczak on the first eleven.

Jury Returns 'Guilty' Verdict In First Case

25 Names Added To Petit Juror List For Present Term

Richard Verry was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated by the Johnson county district court yesterday as the petit jury returned the first verdict of the November term after only six hours deliberation. Sentence will be pronounced Dec. 14 by Judge Harold D. Evans.

The petit jurors hearing the first two cases of the present term, involving two Oxford tavern owners charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance, failed to reach a verdict and were dismissed by Judge Evans.

Marvin Novak pleaded not guilty Wednesday to a charge of driving while intoxicated, the county clerk announced, and will be tried Monday before a petit jury to be empaneled from an additional list of 25 veniremen drawn yesterday.

Martin Shebetka, Oxford, also charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, pleaded guilty before Judge Harold D. Evans yesterday and was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. Since the defendant has already served 45 days, the sentence provided that he might be released into the custody of the sheriff pending good behavior.

25 Added

Since the original venire of 65 prospective jurors drawn earlier this fall has depleted, the list was augmented by 25 Johnson county residents who will report at 9 o'clock Monday morning to the court rooms.

The following comprise the addition to the list of petit jurors for the November term:

Charles Pudi, Jefferson township; Lester Brown, Oxford; Mrs. L. E. Clark, fifth ward; Zelma Eves, fourth ward; Vern L. Eakes, fifth ward; Fred Chensky, third ward; Elmer F. Zimmerman, third ward; George J. Swenka, Madison; John Vorel, Jefferson; Frank D. Person, third ward.

Marian C. Crain, fifth ward; Doris Sullivan, East Lucas; Raymond L. Hotz, Fremont; William J. Fryauf, fourth ward; Imogene Kendall, fifth ward; George P. Hanson, Lincoln; J. D. Janko, Jefferson; Edward Hebl, Jr., Union; Thelma Henderson, Oxford; R. T. Sheppard, Graham; A. P. Rit-

Thomas E. Martin Leaves With Wife To Inspect Defenses

U. S. Congressman Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City and Mrs. Martin left New York City yesterday on an unofficial inspection tour of the defenses of the Canal Zone.

Expecting to return to New York Dec. 21, Martin, a member of the house committee on military affairs, said that he and the several other congressmen are making the trip at their own expense. Some of them are not even on the military affairs committee, he added.

Last month, plans were made by Martin for an airplane trip over southern defense posts but because of important issues coming before the house at that time, they were cancelled.
