The Battlefronts

(A Review of the Week's News)

THE WORLD ABROAD—

The foreign picture of the week was one of Italian retreat, on all fronts.

With Mussolini's fascist forces all but driven from the land of the Nile, the imperial units of the British command plunged onward toward Italian Libya.

Northward, across the Mediterranean, Greek troops advanced on Valona. Sixty miles away lies Tirana, the Grecian goal for Christmas.

Conflicting reports shadow the exact number of thousands captured by Allied forces in the past week, but the British claim the number of prisoners is becoming "troublesome."

But not too troublesome, probably.

What Arouses an Italian?

Back in Rome, where all but the highest authority admitted the fall of Sidi Barrani, principal Italian base in Egypt, the Italian military comment was a crisp "So What!" followed by a warning that an Italian, once thoroughly aroused, can get pretty mad.

The immediate question is just how much it takes to thoroughly arouse an Italian.

But while British African and Near Eastern forces dealt crushing blow upon crushing blow against that sector of the axis front, the Battle for Britain moved deeper into a stage of bloody devastation for the British at home.

The heartless razing of Coventry was followed by a devastating raid upon Sheffield, world's largest steel center, as Nazi planes droned endlessly over the midland industrial centers of the Islands.

In Berlin, Adolf Hitler demanded "work to defeat the entire world," and inexhaustible patience for his people. "The word 'capitulation' is unknown to me," he said.

War On the Sea

The German war of the sea abated somewhat as the week progressed—a war of encirclement of the Island sea-lanes.

To Herbert Hoover, whose humanitarianism devised a World War II plan of feeding Europe's stricken thousands, England replied with an emphatic "No!" The exigencies of war among nations surpass the bodies and souls of the masses.

On the opposite side of the world, French Indo-China strove to put down native uprisings. She must maintain peace at all costs, lest Japan grab an excuse for further occupation of that strategic and valuable Far Eastern nation.

It was a happier week than's been seen for some months for the world's democratic nation—Hitler's weaklings.

THE NATIONAL SCENE—

Lord Lothian, England's ambassador to the United States, died unexpectedly this week, in the midst of his burdensome wartime duties. His ashes will be buried, with full honors, in America's Arlington cemetery.

A world at war dare not grieve for long, and the question of the moment is one of a successor for Lothian. Most prominently mentioned are Anthony Eden, popular in American circles, and the Duke of Windsor, probably even more popular.

Terse comment from London said only that Lothian's successor must be a shrewd and competent business man, schooled in the business of buying for Britain's war.

Credit for Britain

The question of credits for Britain got bigger this week. Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, presented to United States Secretary Morgenthau the facts of Britain's financial condition.

Feeling against American producers of airplanes for defense mounted with the week. Official circles have begun to feel the pinch of a lack of full cooperation in that industrial line. Previous estimates of 1941 output, declared Defense Commissioner Knudsen, must, in all fairness, be cut 30 per cent to picture adequately the situation as it appears today. Experts asked that increased government supervision be extended to the airplane industry.

The war department's mobilization of remaining national guard units was postponed for a couple of months to permit camp-building units to catch up. You can pretend you have a gun in the army, but you can't pretend you've got a roof over your head when it's raining.

War on the Music Front

Americans who had begun to fear they'd loose out on the music by many of their favorite composers after Jan. 1, due to the war between the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and the radio chains, took hope during the week.

The supreme court will hand down an opinion on the legal status of ASCAP. Is it a legitimate protective organization? Or is it a monopoly? Jeanie's Light Brown Hair didn't say Stephen Foster from dying with just 58 cents in his pocket, says ASCAP. Foster wasn't a member of the organization.

The chains stand pat on their refusal to pay $9,000,000 for the "privilege" of broadcasting America's most popular music this New Year's.

EVENTS AT HOME—

Standouts during the week at home: Clark Kunej, aided by some more than 80 other players, brought Abe Lincoln to the campus in University theater's most ambitious play of the current series. Hertha Glatz, unknown to a good many people, turned in a remarkably pleasing performance. The concert was not well attended. Iowa's concerts are far better than a lot of people think they are. . . After opening the season with a more than impressive pounding of Monmouth college, the Hawkeye quintet pounded Wabash, 42 to 22. . . Iowa's higher educational system lost one of its oldest friends. George T. Baker had been a member of Iowa's board for almost 32 years.

George T. Baker

The life of George T. Baker was a symbol. His contributions to mankind were greater than most men's. He lived longer than most men live. He contributed to his community and his state through the whole of it.

It must mean far more than we can appreciate, that life of Mr. Baker's. He served continuously on the governing body of Iowa's institutions of higher learning from the time of its inception in 1909. The pressure of years became too heavy only recently, and he abandoned the presidency of the board. But he remained a member.

He served his state in the legislature. He served his city as mayor. He served his nation on a broader scale on occasion. His was a life of service.

Yes, the life of George T. Baker was a symbol—a symbol of the kind of life we need most in this world today. People who contribute, not just now and again, but always. People whose contributions cease only when years erase capacity. People who realize, as did Mr. Baker, that the kind of world we seek to build requires the endless efforts of all of us.

Americans Like Their Press

Editor and Publisher, the newspaper trade magazine, reports an increase in aggregate circulation during 1940 in surveys of 96 of the nation's leading daily newspapers.

Which is, to us, an encouraging sign. First of all, it shows that in spite of what Secretary Harold Ickes has said about newspapers, and in spite of the fact that a heavy percentage of the nation's press supported other candidates than Mr. Roosevelt in the last election, the people of the nation are reading their newspapers.

Secondly, it indicates that in the face of the intolerance, the despotism and the cessation of liberty in so many countries, the American newspaper still publishes the news as it is able to get the true news, and the American newspaper comments in its editorial columns according to the policies of its operation without fear or intimidation.

If the circulation of a newspaper increases, even if only five per cent over last year, for such is the case, it means that some particular offering of that publication has attracted a new reader and held him.

Could it be that these new readers of American newspapers are attracted by the freedom in the press, its fairness and its accuracy?

Religion in the Army

Fear that the young men who have gone into American military uniforms as selectees and volunteers recently will be denied opportunity to attend religious services in the camps is the theme of many a letter received at State Selective Service headquarters in Des Moines.

And Director Charles H. Grahl, who would have every American, young and old, a God-fearing citizen, is justifiably perturbed at the situation.

"The army has enough chaplains to amply care for all of the soldiers' religious needs," he informed the newspapers. "Every regiment has at least one chaplain and the larger regiments have two."

Now without intending to be critical of the status quo outside army camps, we'll venture a guess that a good many of us potential selectees would get more religious training in the army than outside.

New Slant on Advertising

American Airlines, has a new slant on barber shops, male inquisitiveness and human nature.

Officials of the firm have announced that 4,000 calendars have just been sent out for 1941 advertising purposes. But these are special calendars, in which all the figures, all the letters and the pictures are printed in reverse.

The reason: so that men in the barbers' chairs of the nation can read the calendar—and the airline advertisement—in the mirror. What won't they think of next!

SO THERE ISN'T A SANTA CLAUS!

If anyone doubts there is a Santa Claus, here is authentic proof that he does exist, at least in spirit. Here is a busy scene in his workshop—the basement of the Christian Fellowship House at 731 E. Washington street. Three of Santa's regular assistants are busy repairing and painting old toys which will later be distributed among needy children. Left to right, they are Loren Tesdell, A4 of Des Moines; Milo Himes, A3 of Normal, Ill., and Rubert Kuechmann, A4 of Burlington. This is one of several projects being carried on by the eight university students living in the Christian Fellowship house in their experiment in practical, Christian living. With their house management on a cooperative basis the eight students live together in close Christian fellowship, emphasizing discipline, service, worship, study, and cooperation. The other five students are William Kuechmann, A4 of Burlington; Max Paige, A2 of Waterloo; George Moeller, A2 of Somers; Robert Smith, C4 of Des Moines, and Martin Saks, A3 of Salem, S. D. And after 1,900 years, we still speak of Christian living as an experiment!

Government Tendency To Be Inaccurate

WASHINGTON—The growing tendency of government officials to slip into inaccuracies is alarming the always meticulous and accurate press here.

It was not so bad when Mr. Roosevelt decided he could not go more than 12 hours from Washington and then, after election, it turned out he meant rocket-hours. It was all right when he told inquirers about a possible third term to go stand in a corner, a year ago, although the implication that they were dunces has been proved inaccurate by subsequent events.

Nor did the meticulous press complain abnormally when national defense commission publicity littered the skies with planes that turned out to be blueprints. Only the other day no one said a word about the NDC publicity claim that the navy was turning out ships at a rate of one every 12 days, although this rate was a result of contracts having been let in a batch some years ago, and the rate was only to be maintained for a three-week period or so.

MORGENTHAU'S SLACKERS—

Such a tendency toward general inaccuracy has occasionally been deplored but always understood by all in the press who have made a slip now and then themselves. A tolerant attitude must be maintained at all hazards by the long suffering press even toward self-professed politicians like Ickes who become over-enthusiased with political causes, and do not even want to be accurate, but only political. The press itself has not been without excess enthusiasm in spots, and all us sinners cannot start throwing stones, or maybe no one would be left entirely accurate and unbumped.

But when an official like Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, who never viewed a remote prospect with alarm or pointed a bent finger with pride—a wholly non-political, mathematical purist—starts calling the holders of government bonds "slackers" it is time for the accurate press to draw the line. It is time to defend other branches of government against this opprobrious inaccuracy, for among the largest holders of his bonds are federal agencies.

Among the unpatriotic coupon clippers thus accused are federal agencies who are nesting on $5,600,000,000 of government bonds, mostly in Mr. Morgenthau's own treasury department. Said he: "In view of this national defense program we should draft all money. The man who owns, let's say, a million dollars worth of totally tax-free government obligations, can go down and spend the winter at Palm Beach and make no contributions toward the paying of national defense, and we just don't want to be a partner toward making possible the additional creation of what I call slacker money."

PATRIOT TO SLACKER—

As only a few could have a million or be staying at Palm Beach (Mr. Morgenthau himself generally stays at Sea Island, Georgia, considerably to the north of Palm Beach, in such spare winter days as he can afford to get away from his arduous task here) the accusation has a flavour of generality which includes all holders of government debt. The "slackers" outside Palm Beach, by category, hold the federal debt in the following amounts (in billions): banks $15.2; insurance companies $5.2; other corporations $1.7; churches, colleges and tax exempt institutions $0.5; federal reserve banks $2.6; federal agencies $5.5; states and cities $0.3; individuals (including some who may be in Palm Beach) $8.3.

But are they slackers? Is this slacker money? Most of the debt that has not been created by new deal expenditures is a refunding hold-over from the sale of liberty bonds during the last war. More than $21,000,000,000 of liberties were sold to people who were called patriots then for buying them. Since then the liberties have been refunded, but the same holder who was a patriot when he bought the bond from Douglas Fairbanks or Mary Pickford 23 years ago cannot be a slacker now for having kept it. This inaccuracy apparently was unintentional, although Mr. Morgenthau has not yet sent out a correction like the press does. It is ascribable to Mr. Morgenthau getting out of his field of mathematical purism to do a little politicking along the Ickes line, but unfortunately he is not the type. The error will no doubt be avoided in the future, or at least be confined to Palm Beach.

Incidentally the above-cited figures on who holds the bonds were obtained from Mr. Morgenthau's treasury publicity department, as representing the situation June 30, 1939, the last available calculated date. I obtained a wholly different set of figures from the same source a few days earlier, representing the individual holdings of the debt, for instance, at $19,000,000,000 instead of $8,800,000,000, but thank God I did not publish them, because I thought they might be inaccurate.

OUT OF HIS FIELD—

This inaccuracy apparently was unintentional, although Mr. Morgenthau has not yet sent out a correction like the press does. The error will no doubt be avoided in the future, or at least be confined to Palm Beach.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

'No More World's Fairs'—Billy Rose

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—After the exhilarating experience of being the only man really to cash in at the world's fair, it would be pleasant, from Billy Rose's point of view, if he could look around and find another exposition in which to play around with his Aquacade. But the little man who definitely was there, and who also was on Treasure Island, and in Cleveland, and in Texas, too, shakes his head.

"I think we will see no more world's fairs in this country in our lifetime, or at least not in a generation," he explained. "The odds are too much against it."

We sat in the "play" room of his home in Beekman place, a simple hut with mirrored walls, Persian rugs and Rembrandts. A pale bust of Pallas stared vacantly over Billy's shoulder as he searched his dressing-gown pockets for a cigarette and then held up six fingers.

"There are six reasons why I think that fairs are now only fables for children to remember and exaggerate in their old age."

Three New Pictures From Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—"Second Chorus," Screenplay by Elaine Ryan and Ian McClellan Hunter from story by Frank Cavett. Directed by H. C. Potter. Principals: Fred Astaire, Paulette Goddard, Artie Shaw and band, Charles Butterworth, Burgess Meredith, Frank Melton, Jimmy Conlon, Don Brodie.

Everything in this light musical show as you expect it—and probably as you like it too—except Burgess Meredith, who makes news by turning in his first screen comedy performance. Astaire and Meredith are partners in a college orchestra, fittingly named "The Perennials" because of the boys' longtime success in escaping graduation. They are rivals for the job of trumpeter with Artie Shaw, and for the affections of Paulette. Paulette gets the boys an audition, which each helps the other to muff, and about this time Butterworth, as a music-minded millionaire with a hot mandolin, shows up to round out the plot as backer of a Shaw concert. The sunshine-spreaders get their feet in the way here also, but retrieve in time to permit a finale in which Astaire shows how to lead a band while dancing.

Four Corn-Sealing Inspectors For Local County Reappointed

Loans on 1940 Corn Are Now Available At New Sealing Price

Four corn-sealing inspectors for Johnson county were reappointed yesterday, it was announced by Joe G. Raim, county AAA chairman, along with the statement that loans on 1940 corn are now available to farmers at the new sealing price of 61 cents a bushel.

Stanley G. Beranek, Solon, has been reappointed for the northeast part of the county; Frank A. Colony, Oxford, for the northwest part; A. B. Thomas, Iowa City, for the southwest, and R. N. Spencer, Iowa City, for the southeast.

As in former loan programs, inspectors will visit the farms of all farmers who have applied for loans. They will measure each crib and take a sample of the corn which will be tested for moisture content and grade. As soon as the sample is graded, the farmer will be notified to come to the county AAA office and complete arrangements for his loan.

Provided he borrows from a local loan agency, most farmers will be able to complete their loan papers with one trip to the county office, Raim said.

Judging by inquiries received at the county office since the 1940 loan program was announced, Raim said, the amount of corn sealed this year may be somewhat less than last year. In 1939, farmers placed over a million bushels of corn under loan in Johnson county.

Aside from the fact that the loan rate this year is four cents higher than last year, the feature of the new program is that new loans will not mature until Aug. 1, 1943. Previously, loans have matured on Aug. 1 of the year following harvest.

Farmers will also be able to secure loans for 10 months, until Sept. 30, 1941 instead of the usual four-month period.

Raim pointed out that the three-year loan is an outstanding advance in developing the Ever-Normal Granary program. This new program gives farmers a chance to build the Ever-Normal Granary on a long term basis and put it on a sounder foundation than before.

Under previous loan programs, farmers in the county have built many new cribs and bins which makes them better equipped to store corn on their farms without rescaling it from year to year, according to Raim.

The new loan program also has provisions which protect farmers who would like to store their corn for the full three years but may be unable to do so. These farmers may deliver their corn at the end of the second year. If a farmer should lose possession of his farm or of his storage, he may terminate his loan next fall, Raim pointed out.

Stores to Stay Open Nights; Aid Holiday Buyers

Beginning tomorrow night and continuing until Christmas eve, Iowa City stores will stay open until 9 p.m.

The late-schedule arrangement is in accordance with local merchants' annual policy, whereby businessmen and housewives are given an opportunity to visit the stores during the evening after working hours.

Merchants hope that shoppers will take advantage of the evening shopping schedule thus relieving general congestion which usually results from "last-minute" rushes.

As the first step in accomplishing this, merchants with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce have already held two early-shoppers' nights, on Dec. 5 and another Dec. 11.

Santa Claus Goes to College

Christian Fellowship Students Repair Toys; Needy Children to Profit

Is there a Santa Claus? Yes, there most certainly is, for his workshop is located at 731 E. Washington street in the basement of the Christian Fellowship House.

Santa Claus has eight regular assistants repairing and painting old toys which were brought into the workshop. After the toys are bright and shiny again, Santa will distribute them to needy children.

But there would not be a Santa Claus in this particular instance if it were not for those eight assistants, residents of the Christian Fellowship house. They bought tools and paint to fix up the toys, obtained a work-bench and are now working in shifts in order to get the toys ready before Christmas.

Various church groups and Boy Scouts are assisting them in the collecting and repairing the toys.

The project is not a profit-making venture. It is one of several programs being carried on by eight university students in their unique experiment in practical, Christian living.

The students are: Robert Smith, C4 of Des Moines; Martin Sals,

Club to Distribute Toys to Children

Members of Demosthenes club, students attending the speech clinic here, will lend Santa a helping hand this afternoon when they visit a ward in Children's hospital.

Feature of the visit will be the distribution of toys, one for each child on the ward. The toys were gathered Friday night at the club's first annual Christmas party held in the home of Mrs. E. E. Blythe, 121 N. Dubuque.

In charge of distributing the gifts are Elizabeth Walling, G of Iowa City; William Chenoweth, A2 of Denison, and Ervin Goodman, A3 of Lebanon, Pa.

'Choo-Choo' Thrills 'Em

'Police-Pops' Like Toy 'lectric Trains At 'Twismas Time

That cop seemed plenty tough when he handed you an overtime parking ticket during the rush hour yesterday. Maybe you were busy and didn't get back to the automobile in time.

But that same cop, when the Christmas season rolls around and he sets out to do a little shopping of his own, is soft as butter.

Yesterday one of the city station policemen bought a "jim dandy" electric train for his youngster. Now there never was a dad who didn't get a "kick" out of his son's electric train, and that arm of the law you met is no exception.

Patrolmen waiting to go on duty, some getting ready for the night's "tramp" and others just in to shake off the December chill, gathered around a heavy table.

Their revolvers bristling from holsters, handy "billys" dangling from belts, those keepers of the peace watch the miniature train as it speeds around the track.

"Give it a little more juice," one suggests. "How fast will it go?" another chips in. "Don't let that grease get on the wheels, there," one admonishes. "If I had some tools here, I'd take it apart and clean out the insides."

"We had an electric train under our tree last year," one boasted. "There's nothing nicer for a kid than an electric train."

The police judge and the chief join the circle to drop a little electrical advice.

"She's working like a charm," one of the newcomers suggests.

"Round 'round the little train ran . . . outside it grew darker . . . the clock on the wall ticked toward starting time . . . the novelty wore off . . . They were cops again."

A FACT A DAY ABOUT CHRISTMAS

Although we consider Christmas a universal holiday, there has always been some question on whether Dec. 25 is the proper date of observance.

Christmas for the Jewish peoples falls on Sept. 29, three months before the American holiday. Greece will celebrate its holiday Jan. 6, a week following the American New Year.

Julius I in 337 A.D. was first to officially declare Dec. 25 Christmas day and he asked all Christians to follow the decree.

However, to show how subject to change the date has been, it took another later decree by St. Chrysostom to reaffirm the date set by Julius I in the fourth century.

Alden Megrew Discusses Art Before A.A.U.W.

"Art is a series of changes and not a progression," said Alden F. Megrew of the art department in his talk before the A.A.U.W. luncheon meeting yesterday at 12:15 p.m. Mr. Megrew's subject was "Contrast of the Old and Modern Masters."

Mrs. W. F. Bristol introduced Mr. Megrew, who came to the campus this year from Lawrence college in Appleton, Wis. In his lecture the speaker showed a series of slides of old and modern masters, during the showing of each slide Mr. Megrew compared the two styles.

Several El Greco paintings were shown and compared with the surrealist art of today.

"Both styles are distorted, however, they represent the emotion of the picture," said Mr. Megrew.

Mr. Megrew concluded his lecture by saying, "All kinds of comparisons exist and there are all kinds of bonds between old masters and modern masters."

The next meeting of the A.A.U.W. will be held Jan. 18, with Prof. Sybil Woodruff speaking on "Food Lore."

Students Can Travel Home on 'Specials'

Two special buses will be operated next Thursday for the convenience of students wishing to get home for Christmas vacation.

A west-bound bus for Des Moines and northern points will leave here at 12:15 p.m. Thursday. An east-bound bus will leave here for Chicago at 12:45 p.m.

Treasurer Warns Car Owners to File Storage Declaration

Persons planning to put their automobiles in storage after Feb. 1 for exemption from the late registration penalty must turn in their 1940 plates at the treasurer's office before the deadline, County Treasurer Clem J. Shay announced yesterday.

A penalty of five per cent a month on all licenses sold after Jan. 31 will be assessed unless the auto has been put in storage, Shay said.

FHA Project To Start Soon

Nine Houses to Be Erected for $41,000 At 'Kirkwood Circle'

Construction of nine houses under a $41,000 federal housing administration project, the largest ever carried on in Iowa City, will begin late this month, it was announced yesterday by the Iowa Land Co., backers of the project.

The new subdivision, to be known as "Kirkwood Circle," located just west of Kirkwood court and south of Kirkwood avenue, will be divided into nine lots, on each of which will be built a $4,555 house complete with garage.

Plans for the frame houses will be drawn by Smith and Burger, designers and general contractors. They will also handle construction of the houses, many of which will be made to order.

A 10 per cent down payment of $455 followed by monthly payments of $28, which will include principal, interest, taxes and insurance are the terms for financing.

Besides electricity, gas, water and other facilities, each plot will be landscaped and sodded upon completion of construction. Construction will be under supervision and according to specifications of the FHA, it was announced.

A public open house is planned as soon as the first house is completed, with local merchants providing furnishings for the home.

Vaults Unharmed

Two vaults of the Lone Tree Savings bank containing about $200,000 in notes and $5,000 cash, were opened yesterday and found to be unharmed by the $65,000 fire which destroyed a half-block of business establishments there on Dec. 3.

Lodge to Organize Basketball Team

Sam Whiting Jr. is chairman of a committee in charge of organizing a basketball team to represent the Iowa City IOOF lodge. The team will meet each Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Recreational center. Lodgemen interested in joining are requested to call the committee chairman.

School Plans Annual Christmas Program

The annual Christmas program of Union township school, district No. 1, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Beatrice Walters, teacher, announced yesterday.

Pupils will present the entire program consisting of monologues, dialogues, recitations and group singing.

Hawks May Need Apples for These "Teachers"

Undefeated Hawkeyes Meet Indiana Teachers

Invaders Boast 'One of Best' Hoosier Teams

Probable Starting Lineups
Iowa Indiana Teachers
Siegel (C) F Percy
Trickey F Hobson
Kuhl C Johnson
Soderquist G Fox
Siglin G Avelis
Officials: Jack North (Highland Park) and Gil McDonald (Wisconsin).
Coaches: Iowa, Rollie Williams; Indiana Teachers, Glenn Curtis.
Time and Place: Tomorrow night at 7:35; Iowa fieldhouse.
Broadcast: Station WSUI.

Victorious in starts against Monmouth and Wabash, Rollie Williams' Hawkeyes undergo their third and most rugged test here tomorrow night when they face Indiana State Teachers, a fast-moving basketball team from Terre Haute, Ind.

Although, because of their impressive wins over the two foes they have faced, the Hawkeyes have already marked themselves as a squad to be watched, there can be no pre-game favorites for this contest if reports on the invaders are true. Called "one of the best teams in Indiana," the Teachers are a rangy crew of veterans that should be capable of troubling any team in the nation.

"Big Stoop" Johnson
Number one foe, insofar as the Hawkeyes are concerned, will probably be Harold Johnson, known in his home town as "Big Stoop." Measuring six feet, six inches in height and carrying 220 pounds of bulk, Johnson has an edge over even Iowa's biggest man, Milt Kuhl. Also classed as bigger than average are John Avelis and George Peary of the Teachers. Avelis, a guard, measures 6-4, while Peary is well up above the six-foot mark. Other members of the starting team are Ray Hobson, who teams with Avelis at guard, and Wayne Fox, the only senior on a team of juniors.

Outside of possible last minute changes, it seems certain that Williams will start the same Iowa lineup that has opened the two previous games, with Capt. Vic Siegel and Ben Trickey at forwards, Milt Kuhl at center and Rudy Soderquist and Paul Siglin

Todd, Farmer Named Champs Of Sprint Meet

Ralph Todd of Henderson, Tex., was acclaimed varsity champion, and Leicester Farmer of Maywood, Ill., freshman champion, in the annual intra-mural sprint competition which was finished last week.

Judged on their total times in the 30-, 40-, 50-, 60-, 70-, and 80-yard dashes, Todd turned in a mark of 36.6 seconds, while Farmer set a new freshman and varsity record of 35.8 seconds on his trials.

Walter Todd, Bill Smith of Gallipolis, Ohio, Meyer Markovitz of Iowa City, and Ed Wilkerson of Terre Haute, Ind., followed in that order in the varsity event, and Wilbur Wortman of Grinnell, Don Hood of Estherville, Don Slye of Des Moines, and Dick Lord of Evanston, Ill., and Melvin Stone of Cedar Rapids (tie), finished in order for the freshmen.

Future Games
Following this game, the Hawkeyes will take a two-game trip, meeting Detroit university and Michigan State, then disband until after Christmas. The first home game after the holidays will be against DePauw on Jan. 3.

Harmon Is 'Most Valuable'

Michigan Ace Gets Tribune's Annual Award

Hiemenz, Second; Iowa's Mike Enich Ends in 5th Place

CHICAGO, Dec. 14 (AP)—To the surprise of nobody at all, Tommy Harmon, Michigan triple threat star, was named today as the "most valuable" player to his team in the Western conference.

Harmon was selected in the annual poll conducted by the Chicago Tribune, a group of coaches and officials making the choice after the players of each football squad have selected their respective "most valuable" men.

The Michigan star who was all-America two years straight was an almost unanimous selection, finishing far ahead of Paul Hiemenz, Northwestern center in second place.

George Paskvan, Wisconsin full-back, was third, followed closely by Bob Paffrath, Minnesota quarterback; Mike Enich, Iowa tackle; Dave Rankin, Purdue end; Dwight Gahn, Indiana center; Claude White, Ohio State center, and George Bernhard, Illinois full-back.

Harmon put on the greatest show of his bright career the past season, easily winning recognition as the "player of the year" after finishing as runner-up to Iowa's Nile Kinnick in the Tribune poll a year ago.

The poll was originated in 1924 when Red Grange of Illinois was the first winner. Many competent observers rank the running, passing and kicking star at Michigan as the finest all-around back since Grange.

The recognition carries with it a silver trophy in the shape of a football, actual playing size. This will be presented to Harmon at a time suitable to him and Michigan officials. He also will receive a gold miniature football along with the other eight players named "most valuable" to their own team.

Varsity Mermen Swamp Frosh

Coach Dave Armbruster took the wraps off his 1941 Hawkeye swimming squad in a varsity-freshman contest yesterday at the field house pool, and a reassuring sight met his eyes. With several sophomore stars bolstering a strong veteran contingent, the varsity swamped the frosh, 103 to 37. Scoring was on the championship basis.

The times were not exceptionally fast because the boys have been working only on form in practice sessions, but they were considered good for this early in the season. Al Povallitis, freshman breast stroke specialist, turned in a good mark of 2:38.0 over the 200-yard distance, while Capt. Carl Ahlgren swam the 440-yard freestyle in 5:41.6 despite a bad cold.

Freshman Coach Larry Morehouse pulled an ace out of his sleeve when he sent Douglas Lenore into win the 50-yard freestyle. Lenore, a freshman football player, has been working out on Friday mornings and was unknown to the rest of the squad.

Both squads will continue regular workouts until they leave for Florida on the annual Christmas vacation conditioning trip. After vacation Coach Armbruster will concentrate on speed and endurance as he grooms the Hawks for their opening meet here against Chicago, Jan. 18.

Press box Pickups

Since Friday's impressive victory over Wabash, the comments on Iowa basketball prospects have had a distinctly optimistic sound. The general opinion seems to be that the Hawkeyes aren't out of the defeat-infested wilderness yet, but that they're at last found a horse that can carry them part of the way.

There is, in fact, some reason to think that Rollie Williams has got something there, with chances good for at least moderate rejoicing later on.

However, it would prove nothing to talk about the potentialities that have seemed present in the first two games, nor would it be sensible to consider the Hawks great as yet, but there are, nevertheless, a few figures that are favorable. Those numerals are the ones that point to a very useful balance of scoring power.

A year ago, if you remember, the Hawkeyes were winning non-conference games, but they dropped Big Ten contests a bit later. The forwards, Vic Siegel and Tommy Lind, were scoring a reasonable number of points per game, but the guards acted as though there were laws against their scoring, while the centers thought a point was a certain standard size of bottle.

Exact figures are present and even a careless glance at them is enough to prove that I am not off on a wrong track. In the first three games last year, with Carlton, Milliken and Denver as victims, the Hawkeyes scored a total of 111 points; in two games so far this season they have marked up 117 points for a considerably better average. Yet, the forwards have set an average pace that is but slightly faster, racking up 50 points in two games as against 65 in the first three a year ago.

That would argue that the forwards are about the same as last year's front court men, with any improvement this season coming directly from stronger players at other positions. Which appears to be the case. Last year, the guards scored only 31 points in the first three games, while the rear court has brought in 33 markers in two games to date. An even bigger spread can be found among the centers, who have already scored 34 to put the total of 15 in last year's first three contests to shame.

From another angle, the forwards a year ago had produced well over half the points, while the other three positions were as barren and unproductive as the

Nelson Leads in Miami Open

MIAMI SPRINGS, Fla., Dec. 14 (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, smooth-stroking PGA champion, took a commanding three-shot lead in the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament today with a 67, his third consecutive sub-par round, for a 54-hole total of 201.

Marians Play Two Contests In Three Days

St. Mary's Suplelmen continue their suicidal pace of the past week Monday and Wednesday evenings when they play the last of their pre-holiday contests with St. Patrick's high of Cedar Rapids and St. Paul's high of Burlington.

Monday evening the Ramblers go to Cedar Rapids to meet St. Patrick's of that city. The Irish will go into the game definite underdogs as opponent No. 7 for Coach Francis Suplel's "giant killers." That in itself, however, may prove a psychological vantage point for St. Pat's.

The Marians will tangle with St. Paul's here Wednesday night in their fourth home contest of the current season. St. Paul's traditional cellar team of the Big Five conference is given little chance to upset the strong Suplelmen.

The Iowa Citians came through last week's heavy schedule with their string of successive victories untouched. Winning three games in five days, the Ramblers knocked off a highly rated Loras academy team of Dubuque, 32 to 22, in their first contest Monday evening. Wednesday they trounced Central Catholic of Ottumwa on their home court, 45 to 27, and finished off Wilton Junction in an out-of-town game Friday night, 30 to 18.

No two men of Coach Suplel's Marians have been outstanding in any two games to date with the scoring and defensive play well distributed. Forwards Tony Braek and Jim "Flicker" Chadek have played consistent ball for the Ramblers in the front line. Center Tom Toohy has been a mainstay at the pivot position and Guards Ray Eakes and "Bullet Bill" Beck show up well in the back court, both steady defensively and offensively.

Arctic circle. This year's guards and centers have amassed 67 points combined, a very significant total.
In conclusion, I am not making any predictions about the season's record yet, but I am pointing out that five players are scoring now where only two could hit the bucket a year ago. And, you all know what Henry Ford did when he doubled the number of cylinders in each of his products.

National Open champion last year, just nine below par for the distance.

Clayton Heafner of Lineville, N. C., who finished his second round early today for a 67, managed to clip another stroke off par with a third round 69. Only a shot behind Nelson starting the third round, Heafner had a 54-hole 204.

One by one, most of the other golfers dropped back, while Nelson rhythmically fashioned his three-under-par score, tacking it onto previous rounds of 69 and 65. That made Nelson, Logeys to close in on Hogan. To all intents and purposes, the competition had narrowed to those five golfers. Mike Turnesa of Fairview, N. Y., scored a 68 for a 207 total. Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., was in the 208 slot after a third-round 69.

Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., the little man who whips the ball a country mile, dropped back of the pace-setters, with a par 70 for a 206 total.

Hogan, battling to clinch the year's money-winning title and the Vardon trophy in this final tournament, found himself all square at the three-quarter mark with his arch-rival, Sam Snead, the better from Hot Springs, Va. Snead finished with a 67 that showed seven birdies and four

DOWN THROUGH THE YEARS

The Daily Iowan

has met the challenge of the changing times---

Back in grand-dad's times, the world was neither as big nor as complicated as it is today. The 20th-century phenomena of the motion picture and the radio (to mention only two) didn't worry him. His newspaper came out once or twice a month. It was like the staid old world of the staid old '80's, but it filled the bill.

The advent of such modern miracles as motor cars and airplanes did much to revolutionize the world. Distances between far places fell away. The news of one nation suddenly became the news of another, and Europe or Asia, unhappily or no, became our next door neighbors.

America's "infant industries" grew up, the newspapers along with the rest. THE DAILY IOWAN kept the pace.

Growing with the years, adapting itself constantly to a greater University of Iowa, a larger Iowa City, THE DAILY IOWAN has kept abreast of the times.

To meet the need and the desire for greater knowledge of the world as a whole, THE DAILY IOWAN joined The Associated Press with its globe-wide coverage of today's news—tomorrow's history.

To meet the demand for pictures, THE DAILY IOWAN installed its own photo-engraving department. And from outside, we brought in the world-wide picture coverage of Central press.

In a thousand ways, we've changed and expanded. To keep you informed and entertained, we give you, daily, America's top-flight comics, the top-notch comment of Washington Correspondent Paul Mallon, the human side of the social world through the pens of AP's George Tucker on Broadway, and Robbin Coons in Hollywood.

Back in the Gay '90's, a dozen or so members of the staff of the old Vidette-Reporter gave campus and city a great newspaper—for the '90's. Now that same job requires the work of a hundred. We have the hundred, and a greater newspaper—even for the 1940's.

A growing need of the best, the growing demand for the best, brings you today's DAILY IOWAN—the finest Daily Iowan in Iowa's 70 years of newspaper history.

The cost of our production is greater far than it was in grand-dad's day—but so is our circulation. That's why this BETTER Daily Iowan costs you no more, yet gives you far greater coverage, entertainment and information.

Down through the years you have signified your interest in the BEST a newspaper can offer. You have a right to expect just that. We are proud to give you just that.

This is Number 3 in a series of advertisements designed to acquaint you with THE DAILY IOWAN as a consumer's product.

Our Home Town

THE MEN WHO CARRY THE MAIL

By CHARLES BECKMAN

Santa Claus real headquarters are not at the North Pole. It's right over in our own Post Office, a building that contains mail sacks. We're not so observant of postmen at other seasons. But, at Christmas approaches and we see them making more and more trips per day, leaning against the weight of their heavy sacks, we become increasingly conscious of them. This may be quite natural, but it isn't quite fair. For of all the human services that man has evolved since first he came uncertainly out of his ancient caves, the Post Office Department is certainly tops.

You put a 3c stamp on a letter and address it to someone in New York City. From our Post Office here it goes by truck to the train. At important junctions it is handled and re-handled, train to truck to another train. At New York it is sorted, chuted to some main distributing point, sorted again to its own route, and it is delivered when you expect it to be. All for 3c! This is surely service with a capital "S." Plus trimmings!

Right now, our own Post Office is putting on many extra men, preparing for an unprecedented rush of Christmas mail. You could make their work there a lot easier by being sure that your own Christmas packages are wrapped securely, addressed plainly and MAILED EARLY!

Next week Mr. Beckman of the Beckman Funeral Home will comment on Christmas.

Eastlawn Holiday Spirit Invades Dormitory

Do you believe in fairies? Some people may have reason to doubt their existence, but have you heard of the Christmas fairies?

Each woman in Eastlawn dormitory draws a name of some other resident in the dormitory and becomes her Christmas fairy. Each day she does some nice thing for this person. It may be stealing into her room in the dead of night and washing her ankles or emptying her waste baskets. It may be mysterious packages arriving at strange hours.

Whatever the good fairy's good deed may be, each helps spread a feeling of Christmas good will.

Parkas—in icy pastels . . . At DOMBY'S can be found a style of lounging slipper that will turn your moments of laziness into a style show.

They look fragile and feminine but still comply within their femininity the ability to provide their owners with warmth and comfort. They will make your foot seem sizes smaller—women will love them for that—and adore them for their coziness.

Parkas have sturdy wrapped soles of snowy elk and uppers adorned with white angora bunny fur. They are warmly lined, with cushioned insoles to pamper a frivolous foot and repel the advances of winter.

Let DOMBY'S show them to you. They'll make your feminine friends as green-eyed as an Angora cat.

There's no use to stew and fret about your last minute Christmas shopping.

YETTER'S have everything for anybody and that's no exaggeration.

The men's furnishings department, for instance, is overloaded with goodies for the gentleman friend you find so hard to buy for. Escort or Botany ties that he can't crush under any circumstances—hankies for effect or for a purpose—socks in loud plaids to wear with his sport things or more conservative shades to sport when he "dresses." All of the accessories, to tie clips, cuff links, belts, suspenders. Then you have their sweater collection to choose from, too.

For the feminine of the species—cosmetics. Cologne for every mood of woman, be she what she is. Costume jewelry to decorate her sweaters—or gloves for her to keep warm in during those coldest of winter days. Hankies with splashing flowers or if she has a tendency toward the conservative—plain white linen.

And there are even toys to be had for that nephew, dolls for the niece—stuffed toys for the tiniest of tots.

For "her" fine silk hosiery—Phoenix or Holeproof—Trezur or Kayser sold at YETTER'S exclusively.

Leather bags, large selections at $1.00 to $20.00.

New sheer blouses as advertised in Mademoiselle ranging in price from $1.98 to $2.98.

Buxton leather bill folds for "him" with secret pockets... no stitching consequently they won't rip out. $2.00 to $2.50.

So whatever it is, you can count on YETTER'S serving you. For shopping ease and convenience, shop at YETTER'S.

U. S. College Laboratories
Aid National Defense

John Moorman, metallurgical engineering senior, operates a 200,000 volt X-ray used to study the internal structure of metals, an important step in producing good quality materials.

These students are pouring melted metal from an electrically powered melting pot. Prof. C. S. Crouse, head of the mining and metallurgical engineering department, supervises.

One of the greatest races against time in the history of this speed-conscious commonwealth—dealing with the nation's most pressing problem—national defense—is under way in hundreds of college and university laboratories.

It will take several years to build a strong army, air force and two-ocean navy; time is needed to develop new sources of manganese, tin and synthetic rubber. Right here is where the university laboratories enter the picture. In them men and machines are at work—working that in the end the United States might be self-sufficient in producing these vital war supplies. These pictures, taken at the University of Kentucky, are typical of scenes that may be seen on almost any American campus today.

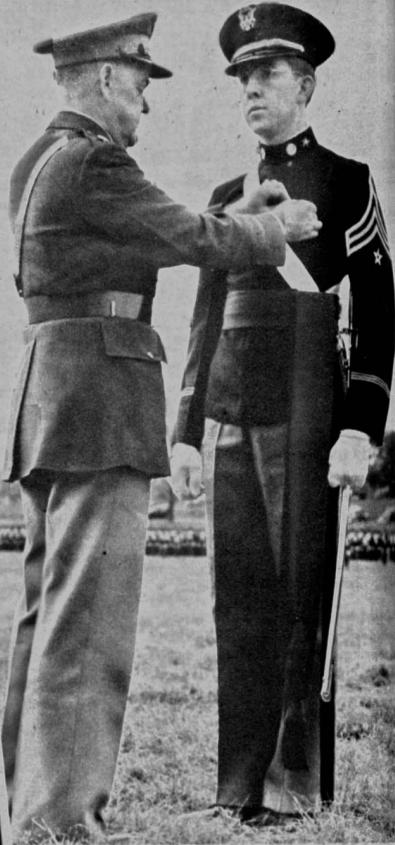

Graduate student J. R. Morgan operates a recording apparatus on a metal testing machine capable of indefinitely holding metals under stress up to 1,000 pounds per square inch—to note their reactions.

☆ Student Organization Aids Alma Mater ☆

Unique among organizations at the University of Minnesota is the Minnesota Foundation, a student controlled group whose purpose is to serve as a medium for the promotion of good will towards the university on the part of the public, and to foster greater progress by the institution in the field of education. By sponsoring an annual ball (circle at right), the Cauldron ceremony and other activities, the Foundation raises money to provide funds for research and scholarships. The organization conducts tours of the campus, maintains a speakers' bureau, and has established a public relations council which conducts numerous radio programs. It is designed to take care of needs which the university itself cannot fill.

Weekly radio programs are put on by students to make known the advantages of the university to the State. Here Lorraine Nordquist, John Randolph and Merwin Detcher are speaking of the university's traditions and ideals.

The Foundation sponsored Spring Festival is designed to break down the barriers that exist between students and faculty. Dancing, carnival games, a band concert and community singing draw 8,000 people together.

Each year on Cap and Gown day the graduating class is given the opportunity by the Cauldron ceremony to contribute money for a class memorial set up as a trust fund by the Minnesota Foundation.

Fate of Reorganized French Government in Balance as—

Hitler's Envoy Goes to Vienna

BERN, Switzerland, Dec. 16 (AP)—Adolf Hitler sent Otto Abetz, his Paris representative, to Vichy today for conferences with Chief of State Marshal Philippe Petain and foreign observers here believed the visit might mean life or death for the reorganized French government—possibly even total Nazi occupation of France.

What the future holds for the old marshal's regime, these observers said, hinges on what explanation he gives Abetz, sometimes called the "unofficial king of France," regarding the sudden dismissal of Pierre Laval as vice-premier and foreign minister.

Authorized sources in Berlin said the cabinet upheaval at Vichy came as a surprise. They said also that not until Germany has obtained full information concerning the purpose, intentions and effects of the change would the Nazi press even be permitted to publish the news of Laval's dismissal.

The special reason for Germany's reserve, these informants said, lies in the fact that France has merely reached a truce with Germany and that peace has not yet been established. They said also that France is a country largely occupied by German troops and that any change in the Vichy foreign ministry "naturally constitutes a milestone in French contemporary history."

Berlin reports indicated the Germans are unconvinced that France, minus Laval, remained a likely recruit for the axis-projected "new order in Europe."

The belief was expressed in some diplomatic quarters here that to reassure the Germans, Petain would have to follow his statement with action. This might include giving Pierre-Edouard Flandin, Laval's successor as foreign minister, the same power in the government previously enjoyed by the ousted minister as vice-premier.

If Abetz's report to the Nazi Fuehrer should be unsatisfactory, diplomats in Bern believed that Germany, to keep France in line, might threaten:

1. Complete occupation of France;
2. Harsher peace terms than the relatively moderate settlement reported offered Laval in return for French "collaboration" with the axis.

With Gen. Maxime Weygand still the unchallenged boss of French Africa, diplomats reasoned Hitler actually to

Britain Formally Asks U. S. For Finance Aid, Reports Say

Securities, Gold Seen Bases in Credit Plea; No 'Unsecured Loan'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The British government, it was learned authoritatively tonight, has made a formal request for financial assistance from the United States government.

The information came from official sources which left no doubt as to its authenticity, but details of the request were not available.

However, usually well-informed officials indicated that the British had asked a "line of credit" probably involving their securities and gold assets, rather than a straight unsecured loan. The official sources through which the request became known indicated that "financial assistance" was a more accurate term to describe the request than the word "loans."

This suggestion apparently fitted what many officials have been saying privately for several weeks, that the British were not so much interested in a quick cash transaction as in assurance that they would be able to continue buying war supplies in this country when their present dollar assets ran out.

Some officials estimated that it would be a year or more before these assets were exhausted. For instance, the British empire has nearly $5,000,000,000 invested in United States securities, business and real estate, much of which would be convertible into cash.

In the case of securities, these officials pointed out, Britain had the alternatives of selling these investments first with the idea of borrowing money afterwards on an unsecured basis, or borrowing money with the securities as collateral.

Report British Hit Swiss City Through Error

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 17 (Tuesday) (AP)—Four persons were killed and widespread damage done when 10 aerial bombs exploded in the heart of Basel just before midnight.

The bombs were believed to have been dropped by British raiders mistaking this blacked-out city on the German border for one of their Nazi objectives.

One bomb ripped through the central railway station but exploded without casualties.

Another fell in Winkelried square, behind the station, killing a woman who was running for shelter.

Three persons were killed in the suburb of Dinninger, a mile from the center of the city, second largest in Switzerland.

World War Debt Day Rolls Around Again; Only Hungary Pays

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The world war debts came due again today, but only Hungary paid, and she did not pay in full.

For the first time, Finland was absent from the pay window, availing herself of a special act of congress authorizing her to skip the payment in view of her heavy war losses.

Great Britain not only failed to pay the $127,670,765 principal and interest installment due today, but was dicker with the cashier with a view to obtaining more money. Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, was in town, presenting the facts of British financial resources to Secretary Morgenthau.

Greeks March On!

Continuing their advance through Albania against crumbling Italian resistance, the Greeks are threatening two more highly important fascist bases, the port of Valona and Elbasan. Points marked "A" are towns through which the Greek army is advancing on the way to Valona, where ships are reported gathering to evacuate the Italian army. Elbasan, "B," is the key point in the defense of Tirana, the Albanian capital, which the Greeks hope to capture by Christmas.

AFL Will Fight Efforts to Ban Right to Strike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—Calling the right to strike "a sacred possession of free labor," President William Green of the AFL said tonight that those wanting to use "compulsion and force" on labor were "inciting internal warfare" at a time when the nation's greatest need was unity.

In a broadcast address (CBS), Green said the AFL believed it had "a solemn duty to avoid strikes and to prevent interruption of work in defense industries," but made clear that the federation would bitterly oppose any effort to outlaw strikes in defense industries, as has been suggested in congress.

NYA Buys Sailplanes for Air Training Program

To test a policy which has been used by the German government for years, the National Youth Administration in Michigan has released contracts for the purchase of three all-metal two-place sailplanes for flight instruction. Most of Germany's war pilots received preliminary training with gliders and sailplanes, but until now the U.S. has not tried the plan. Parts for the motorless craft, like the one shown above, will be built by the Schweizer Aircraft corporation, Elmira, N. Y., and they will be assembled by a staff of air-minded NYA students.
