U. S. TO EXTEND CHINESE, GREEK AID

British Tanks Join Greeks in War with Italy

Proof that the British are giving real help to the Greeks in their war with Italy is this picture of British light tanks rolling through the street of a little Grecian town on their way to the front. The British received a warm welcome from the inhabitants.

Nations Receive F. D. R. Call

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. The line was sharply drawn yesterday between two receptions abroad for President Roosevelt's Sunday night call for more aid for Britain. Among Britain's enemies, the reaction was reserved or critical. In Britain and in nations both of the old and new world where the president's stand is approved the reaction generally was favorable and enthusiastic. The response ranged from a Latin American newspaper's cry of "valiant!" to Italian Editor Virginio Gayda's assertion that the president is a "man of undeciphered war fought against the axis." Here, briefly, is how some of the nations viewed it: Britain: A spokesman called it "one of the most powerful, logical indictments ever spoken" and official circles saw in it "further proof of the United States' attitude toward the European war. Britain faces her tasks now with new defiance and faith," said the Evening Standard, published by Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production. Germany: Amid strict official silence, Nazi reaction could only be guessed—that the speech was regarded as of vital importance but, for the present, Germany will stick to her policy of not being provoked into hasty action concerning the United States. Adolf Hitler has a translation of the text and, it is believed, when he is ready to break his silence Germany's attitude will be known, but not before then. Italy: Rome, too, was silent officially in an atmosphere of watchful waiting, but Virginio Gayda, well-known editor of Il Giornale d'Italia, warned that the axis powers' "tolerance" has limits. Meanwhile, he said, they are waiting "for events to take shape." The fascist press had told its readers in advance that an important current of United States opinion "manifests considerable reluctance to be involved in war." Greece: The Greek press carried long accounts of the president's speech and the gist of them was that Italy had suffered a severe blow. Said the newspaper Estia, "Covert hopes of naive Italians and their idea that their threat could restrain or terrorize President Roosevelt" have been frustrated. France: Government circles in Vichy were surprised and sympathetic, informed sources said, but the government was forced to maintain reserve because of unoccupied France's situation. Observers considered the speech important because, they said, it permitted the president to group around the United States all powers still neutral, such as the Balkan states and Turkey. Some even expressed the opinion that the speech was the beginning of events which will demonstrate that the law of force can be defied by a great democracy and that a new situation for Germany has been created. Although French newspapers still were restricted to 350 words for reporting the speech, informed sources called it an "historical act." Many Frenchmen waited to read the Swiss newspapers. Switzerland: The Basel National Zeitung, one of the leading Swiss papers, voicing virtually the only free, neutral European comment on the Roosevelt speech, called it the clearest affirmation yet that the United States wants to defeat the axis powers even if it does not wage war directly." Japan: Unofficial Japanese sources said the president's reference to China's "great Defensetz indicated to them a commitment to further United States aid for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government. Official comment was not available. Bulgaria: The Bulgarian press acclaimed (See F. D. R., Page 6)

Lease or Lend Plan Probably Will Be Used

Government Gears Self to Produce Enough Munitions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Extension of the "lease or lend" war supply plan to China and Greece was indicated by Secretary Morgenthau today in line with President Roosevelt's plea to make the United States "the great arsenal of democracy." The secretary of the treasury said at his press conference that the plan recently proposed by the president for leasing or lending war materials to Great Britain "might apply" also to China and Greece. This, he said, would depend ultimately upon what action was taken by congress. President Roosevelt, in appealing to manufacturers and workers alike in his Sunday night speech to "put every ounce of effort" into producing munitions "swiftly and without stint," linked Chinese resistance in Asia with that of Britain and Greece in Europe as "a matter of most vital concern to us." Morgenthau declined to say whether Chinese officials had been promised early delivery of bombers and fighter planes. In other reliable quarters, however, it was said that the administration had intimated to Chinese purchasing officials that their requests for late-model military aircraft must give way for the time being to more pressing British demands. The administration was understood to take the view that Britain was in more immediate danger from an attempted "knock-out" blow and that British survival was important alike to China and the United States. Assurance: Meanwhile, the Chinese were assured, it was said, that other war supplies would continue to be released in such quantities as might be spared from British and American requirements in accordance with the government's policy of aiding China in resisting the Japanese. The other supplies in recent months have taken the form of explosives and munitions of various kinds, together with airplane engines and parts. A Chinese air mission now in the United States, headed by General Nao Pang, one of the chiefs of the Chinese airforce, has been emphasizing his country's need for bombers and fighter planes with which to counter Japanese air attacks. T. V. Soong, director of the Bank of China, also has remained in Washington to assist on purchasing matters after negotiating $100,000,000 worth of loans from the United States government. London Aroused After Fiery Blasting by Germans

English Capital Starts Digging Out of Debris

Nazi Assault Aimed At Wrecking Heart Of British Empire

LONDON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Out of the flame-seared ruins in London's ancient "city," the very heart of the capital blasted by the Germans' last night in the heaviest fire raid of the war, there arose the defiant cry today: "Give it back to them; we can take what we have had and much more!" These were the words shouted by grimy rescue and demolition squads to Prime Minister Winston Churchill who spent two hours picking his way through the wreckage of the "city," London's normally busy "Wall Street" section, where scarcely a street was unmarked by fire or undamaged by high explosive bombs. Scores of landmarks in the business district stretching eastward to the Strand were damaged or destroyed in the fiery assault, described by the British government as "a deliberate attempt" to burn out the hub of Britain's empire. Press Building Hit: The five-story Associated Press building, at the corner of Tudor and Dorset streets near the Thames, was reduced to a fire-blackened shell. The building, twice before damaged, was hit last night by three incendiaries. Guildhall, scene of colorful ceremonies from time immemorial; the Church of St. Lawrence Jewry in Guildhall courtyard, which Sir Christopher Wren built and where Dick Whittington worshipped; and Memorial House, where Dr. Samuel Johnson compiled his "dictionary of the English language," were among the places damaged or destroyed. Memorial House, in Gough Square, off Fleet street, was burned out, but the first edition of Johnson's dictionary was saved. Dynamite and tons of water pumped from the Thames conquered the mighty conflagration, which swept the city of London with the intensity of the great fire of 1666. In contrast to the night's fierce assault, the government announced tonight that during today's daylight hours only a single enemy aircraft appeared over these islands, dropping bombs at one point in east Anglia and a place in Kent. Damage and casualties were said to have been light. Churchill, accompanied by his wife, visited what is left of Guildhall and other historic city places damaged by fire. As he walked through the battered street the rescue and demolition squads paused long enough to send up resounding cheers.

Greenland Offers Plan for 'Bridge' Over Which War Planes Could Pass

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30 (AP)—Other stops would be southern Greenland, Iceland (now temporarily in British hands) and the British Isles. The wind obstacle is Greenland's centrifugal storms, supposed by scientists to be the key to weather of the northern hemisphere. The storms, Dr. Hobbs said, are seldom equalled elsewhere in intensity. Above this whirl there is a strong wind rotating in the opposite direction. Knowing this and by choosing the right altitude it is nearly always possible, Dr. Hobbs said, to make a Greenland flight with a favoring tail wind. This is especially true, he said, for eastbound planes, a fact which might facilitate deliveries of American planes to the British. Greenland's coasts are fog-bound to a serious extent, he explained, but this does not extend far back and should not hamper (See GREENLAND, Page 6)

Hungary Speeds Mobilization; Nazis Still Massing in Balkans

British Bombers Attack Bases

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 30 (AP)—With Germany pouring soldiers into Rumania at top speed, Hungary called more men to her army today in what some circles viewed as another phase of the vast Nazi preparations for war or any other outbreak in the Balkans. Simultaneously, reports from Sofia, Bulgaria, said German troops were deploying along the Russian border in the northern Dobruja section of Rumania near the disputed Danube river mouth, as well as opposite the Bulgarian shores of the ice-filled Danube river near Giurgiu. The Sofia reports also said the mouth of the Danube, control of which Russia has demanded, had been mined by the Germans, who supervise the river outlet through their domination of Rumania. Thousands of Hungarian men of military age were handed mobilization cards last night and today. This additional call-up coincided with reports of fresh Russian military activity on highways running from Lwow (Lemberg) in Russian Poland, to the Slovak frontier. General Hungarian mobilization was expected by Jan. 15. The call-up was considered in Budapest political circles as a step in cooperation with the German military machine to protect the German Balkan flank in the event Russia showed an inclination to intervene in the turbulent southeastern European situation. Reports from heavily-censored Rumania gave further support to the view that the Nazis were preparing Balkan armies for double duty.

Sen. Wheeler Calls for 'Peace' Asserts Axis Couldn't Invade United States

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Asserting that the idea of a Nazi invasion of America was "fantastic," Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) tonight answered President Roosevelt's plea for greater aid to England with a call for immediate peace in Europe before, he said, America becomes involved in "the insanity" of war. As a "working basis for a just peace," he suggested eight points: (1) Restoration of Germany's 1914 boundaries with an autonomous Poland and Czechoslovakia. (2) Restoration of an independent France, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Denmark. (3) Restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France. (4) Restoration of German colonies. (5) Protection of all racial and religious minorities in all countries. (6) Internationalization of the Suez canal. (7) No indemnities or reparations. (8) Arms limitation. The Montana senator, long one of the senate's most severe critics of the Roosevelt foreign policy, made his remark in a speech prepared for delivery from station WMAL, in the national radio forum of the Washington Evening Star (NBC). His address had been repeatedly referred to by his associates during the day as a reply to the talk Mr. Roosevelt made last night urging all possible assistance to England to keep the axis powers from attacking America. "Our independence can only be lost or compromised," Wheeler said, "if Germany invades the (See WHEELER, Page 6)

Thinks Iowa Favors 'Aid'

Herring Says People Of State in Favor Of Defense Program

DES MOINES, Dec. 30 (AP)—Senator Clyde L. Herring (D-Ia) said tonight that the "people of Iowa are not appeasers" in asserting that he was certain his constituents favor more national defense and more aid to Britain. Herring said in an interview he believed President Roosevelt's speech last night was "restrained and yet something that should have been said." Commenting on the activities of the No Foreign War Committee of which Verne Marshall, Cedar Rapids Gazette editor, is chairman, the senator said that he had not followed the committee closely, but added: "It looks to me as if Marshall is fighting a straw man. No one is proposing that we send an army to Europe." Herring said that if Marshall's opposition to "real aid to Britain" is carried to its conclusion, however, it would mean "a victory for Hitler." "And to that," he stated, "I am unalterably opposed—not for love of Britain, but because I believe a British victory is part of our own national defense."

Colombia Planning Payment of Debts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Colombian government has made an offer to adjust its debt to private United States interests which loaned it $60,000,000 in 1927 and 1928, the state department announced tonight. Negotiations have been in progress for a year between the Colombian government and the Foreign Bondholders Protective Council, Inc., of New York, with the state and treasury departments and the federal loan administration acting as friendly intermediaries.

Greeks Claim Fascist Ski Troops Scattered by Attack

Air Chief Says Sting of Attacks To Be Removed

ATHENS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Italian troops in Albania took to skis today to battle the counter-invading Greeks, but the Greek high command announced that the experiment collapsed when the fascists kicked off their runners and scattered. The scene of the action was not disclosed, but it was one of a series of local engagements in which the Greeks said they took more than 1,000 prisoners, including an entire battalion and its officers, and added to their store of captured Italian guns and supplies. With the Italians struggling afresh—and vainly, the Greeks said—to win back some of the Albanian soil they have lost, King George II of Greece tonight praised the achievements of his army in driving the Italians out of Greece and expressed confidence that the new year would bring further successes. "Our struggle will be hard," he said in a message to the Greek people, "but our reserves of morale are inexhaustible because a people who are determined to face everything and who do not forget its great traditions have a feeling of honor and human dignity so deeply rooted it never gives away." Dispatches from the front asserted the Greeks, after beating back the newly arrived Italians, had "scored further local gains" north of Chimara in a thrust toward the port of Valona, a base often raided by air.

Champagne Christens Sub Tender

Auto Styles to Bow Low Before Defense

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—John Q. Public may have to get along next year with a minimum of mechanical and style changes in his new automobile, washing machine and lawn mower. That was the immediate meaning placed by defense authorities today on President Roosevelt's statement last night that the production of consumer and luxury goods would have to yield, if and when necessary, to the "primary and compelling purpose" of defense. The greatest "bottleneck" in the rearmament drive, officials asserted, was in the field of machine tools. This industry is loaded down with orders for the machines needed to make airplane engines, guns, shells and other defense equipment. Existing machine tools are also being adapted to defense production in many instances. Consequently, the authorities said, the first items of consumer goods that must yield to the manufacture of munitions are those requiring machine tools. New models of automobiles, washing machines, lawn mowers and other mechanical gadgets for the family normally require a large part of the machine tool industry's output. William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management for defense, has already indicated to the automobile industry that changes would have to be held to a minimum in 1942 models, and similar action concerning other types of consumer machines is predicted. Authorities forecast that the "tight situation" in the machine tool industry would last a year and a half or two years. In addition to the demands being made upon the industry to help develop an airplane production capacity of 50,000 a year, and to equip plants which can arm 1,200,000 men completely and turn out "critical" weapons for 800,000 more, additional large orders for tools are in prospect next year for more powder and high explosive plants. Belief was expressed in some quarters that a shortage of skilled labor would develop by the time the defense program approached its peak in 1942, and that production in the automobile and other industries would have to be curtailed then and diverted to munitions manufacture. Radios and phonographs were mentioned as other goods that might be affected by the machine tool shortage. Meanwhile, the problem of preventing a shortage in aluminum for airplane production was attacked at a conference of automobile manufacturers whose names were not disclosed, with M. B. Folsom, assistant to Edward R. Stettinius Jr., member of the national defense commission in charge of raw materials. This conference was the first of several designed to put idle hammers in the automobile and other industries to work on aluminum forgings. Without enlisting these hammers, officials said, it would be difficult for the next few months and again around the end of 1941 to obtain the greatly increased supply of aluminum forgings demanded by airplane makers. Authorities reported that a prospective "tight spot" in the (See DEFENSE, Page 6)

Japan Can Be Stopped

The United States has one advantage not enjoyed by Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium and Greece. Through the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo pact it has received an open declaration of hostile intention. Not even Poland was thus amply warned of what constitutes "good behavior." For this we are grateful. At least our Far Eastern policy has been definitely clarified.

In a recent letter to the New York Times, Arthur Upham Pope summed up the situation admirably when he said:

"There is no longer excuse for the ambiguity, contradictions and dangerous irresolution that have so far marked our course. Japan has now officially joined the enemies of democracy and has threatened us with war if we do not conform to her program. The president has now firmly and officially rejected the policy of appeasement. It is time for accounting, for resolution, for action."

Clear Case

The case was always morally clear. The irresponsible, hysterical ambitions of a military caste in Japan pitched the nation into a reckless and unnecessary military adventure. It began with contempt for treaties and agreements and has been carried out with disgusting savagery. Although the whole procedure has been obnoxious to the American people from its inception, although our rights have been violated, property destroyed, citizens insulted and our future in the Pacific jeopardized, we have, except for the Stimson protest, been vague, inconsistent and irresolute, euphemistically calling it patience.

The "New Order"

What policy shall the United States pursue? A completely suicidal attempt at appeasement through futile efforts to satisfy the ever-growing appetites of the would-be world conquerors? The Japanese idea of the "new order" involves their mastery over no less territory than the area beginning with Manchukuo in the north and extending to Australia in the south, stretching to 180 degrees longitude in the east and the Bay of Bengal and Burma in the west.

This slice of the globe includes Manchukuo, China, Indo-China, Burma, the Straits Settlements, the Netherlands Indies, New Caledonia, New Guinea, many islands in the West Pacific and the Philippines.

The Ruling Clique

Admiral Takahashi, former commander-in-chief of the Japanese fleet, who completed this list, has noted that Australia, New Zealand and the rest of the East Indies can be included later. It is absurd to believe that by facilitating Japan's grab at any one of the items on the booty list it will be possible to satisfy the clique ruling Japan. Appeasement, here as elsewhere, provides no basis for a foreign policy.

Shall we continue our present policy of giving Japan assistance in building her machinery of massacre and devastation?

We are building Japan's navy. We are supplying Nippon with the means to shatter China's efforts to supply us with the materials essential for our own defense. We are silent partners for the "new order" that visualizes our ultimate subjugation. By giving Japan practically unlimited access to our resources and by aiding her economically we have furthered this "new order," aptly described as "the most appalling, brutal and irrational assault on order that has been let loose in Asia since Genghis Khan."

Economic Pressure

It has been suggested that just because of Japan's vulnerability to economic pressure it would drive Japan to war if we should apply it. But we point out here that every stiffening of America's attitude so far has worked to discourage new Japanese adventures, while every concession is encouraged them. And if the Japanese insist on fighting the British and ourselves, as well as China, they would use up their remaining reserves long before they could hope to win the war, as Major George Fielding Elliot has demonstrated. The conquest of Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore and the territories they defend would probably take years, and it would take longer still to bring the ruined oil wells, mines etc., back to pre-war production.

Our Own Defense

The policy called for now is one which will be opposed to this short-sighted connivance with forces bent on destruction. Such a policy would be an effort to restrain Japan by a trade boycott and embargo. If the United States, supported by parallel action in the British Empire and the territory of her allies, pursues a vigorous economic policy in the interest of self-defense, the effect will be the crippling of Japan in an economic, and eventually military, sense.

Sabotage for Freedom

According to information received from London through the various provisional governments, which cites acts of sabotage reported in increasing numbers, particularly in Norway and Czechoslovakia, passive resistance in the occupied countries of Europe is rapidly becoming one of the greatest problems of policing troops.

An intensive search, with numerous arrests, is being made in Oslo for operators of a wildcat radio broadcasting station, which is said to have been sending out military reports since the occupation. Norwegian censorship has been tightened and so strictly enforced that even Christmas cards had been limited to those authorities approved in advance.

Radio reports from Stockholm tell of numerous avalanches in various areas of Norway, particularly in the Westland section, along the main Norwegian railroad from Oslo to Bergen. In numerous instances traffic had been completely halted, with officials declaring that weeks would be required to repair the damage.

Frequent arrests and imprisonment have been reported in Norway, where authorities found that German soldiers were losing too many rifles and other small arms. Country-wide searches are being made by military officials.

Fighters for freedom are far from being inactive.

A Boon Indeed

Dentistry is a great profession. It has done a tremendous amount of good by fostering better care of teeth and by scientifically improving methods of care which lead to better health for the individual. But for years we have had a personal "gripe," not against any particular dentist or the profession as a whole but against the inevitable horrors of a drill. We detest drills and we shall take the chance of being labelled coward by admitting that drills sear the hide off us.

Therefore, it was with great pleasure that we learned that Dr. Robert Marshall Stephan of the University of Illinois has been comparatively successful in combatting decay of teeth without the use of an infernal drill. We are not scientifically minded enough to understand the wheres, hows and whys of decay and prevention, but we do understand that Dr. Stephan has made some kind of concoction which is to be used as a mouthwash which will prevent or stop decay and will therefore do away with the drill.

It may take a few years before the dentist's drill will go the way of the blacksmith's tools, but the very fact that it is on its way gives us no end of encouragement. We can almost visualize a less painful world in the near future.

Vicious Broadway Can Be Sentimental and Wacky

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Here is an item that explains how Broadway can be as vicious and as double-dealing as it can be sentimental and wacky.

But first, let's go back to a little conversation, related in a past column, that this reporter had with a night club man on Broadway one night. This fellow had come out of the back streets and the hobo camps of the country to become a night club operator.

When he first got here, he was a pretty human guy. He was hungry then, and he appreciated kindness. Then he got ahead. He began to make a success and also a first class heel out of himself. One night, brooding at a corner table he said to me, "I can't understand it. When you're down and out you've got lots of friends, but when you get a little success, your friends all change."

I wanted to say, "Maybe it's you who has changed," but I didn't.

Well, word got about recently that he was in a hospital. Why? Nobody knew. First one story was told, then another. They didn't make sense. The real story is this:

One of his partners caught him juggling the figures in the books. This partner, a tough guy, gave him a terrible beating. He was beaten so badly that he had to go to the hospital.

"That won't get his money back," I said, "why didn't his partner sue him—turn him over to the cops?"

"He didn't dare," was the answer. "He has a past, too. The only satisfaction he could get was to take it out of his pal's hide."

Not a very pretty story, but it helps explain Broadway.

The day we found out there was no Santa Claus has now been balanced. We've finally been polled by one of Dr. Gallup's field workers.

The bury-the-hatchet party for Jack Benny and Fred Allen was a noisy, nonsensical success. By one of the strangest coincidences on record it was held the very day their new picture opened on Broadway. Don Wilson, a happy bridegroom, was there in a new blue-sequined suit, floating around like one of Britain's defense balloons on a day off. Tommy Dorsey came in and spent a busy half hour shaking hands. Christopher Morley, who, like "Red" Lewis, can't get over the acting bug, occupied a corner with Sherman Billingsley, eating ham and eggs. Then Benny and Allen came in with what Carl Van Doren would call a ringing American hurrah, and the soiree was on. We hung around until phantasmagorias began to effect us and left. That 53rd street air, at 17 above, was mighty fine.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

1941 Seen as Biggest Year in Nation's History

WASHINGTON—The biggest year in the nation's history is being forecast for 1941 by all Mr. Roosevelt's economists.

A ceiling has already been reached on defense goods production. Consequently the first six months of 1941 are likely to bounce along on the existing level. But new plant capacity now being built will begin to come into the production picture along about June. The last half of the year, therefore, will probably bring a continuous climb.

The outlook, of course, is all based on the defense program, but none of Mr. Roosevelt's experts can see any reasonable prospect that their calculations will fail to be realized. A defeat for England, a negotiated peace, in fact any possibility except an overwhelming British victory, would not moderate our defense needs.

FARM EXPORTS DROP—

The one bad spot in the picture is the loss of our agricultural export markets. Less than nine per cent of our exports in November were farm products. A year ago the figure was 22 per cent.

Only in cotton of all the exportable farm products is the defense program furnishing any domestic aid. The demand for uniforms has inspired a large increase in domestic consumption of this staple.

But for tobacco, wheat, etc., there seems little prospect that increased domestic consumption can come anywhere near replacing the continental market that is lost for the duration of the war.

Our gross exports will increase during the year, however, if the British hold out. They have ordered $2,000,000,000 worth of goods which are yet to be delivered. Two-thirds of all our exports are now going to them. An increase is also being noted in non-defense materials shipped to Latin-America.

BOOM FOR RETAIL SALES—

The defense stimulus is working slowly and spottedly in some areas, especially in the farm belt. But its effects are bound to reach out beyond the industrial centers into every line of commercial endeavor soon.

The federal reserve board has dug up some figures which have not been made public indicating that retail sales everywhere have been running at boom peak. November in Atlanta was the highest month in 20 years. Chicago's November was the highest in 10 years. New York and Boston were the highest in nine years, and Cleveland the highest in 11 years. Only five times in nine years has Minneapolis reached the November level.

into the industrial areas and to the spots where camps and new industries are being located, it is already reaching most cities and it will eventually reach all sections.

ENTERING NEW ERA—
The federal reserve board's industrial production index will reach the astounding total of about 135 for December. This compares with 110 in 1929, the highest previous period of activity. Steel, aviation, shipbuilding and machinery are all running at capacity. Shoes and textiles have felt the pressure of defense demand. Auto production will continue good. Dealers will undoubtedly be able to sell all the cars that can be produced.

Employment is at 112, six points above 1929; payrolls at 116, six points above 1929; department store sales are at 100, 11 points under 1929. The cost of living is 15 per cent under 1929, and prices are 15 per cent less.

Thus after a decade in which production has been limited by uninspiring consumption, the nation is entering now an era which will be limited only by the utmost use of our productive capacity.

Death of Famed Cartoonist's Cat Causes Crusade to Protect Pets

ROCKY RIVER, Ohio, Dec. 30—Blackie, who earned his meat and milk by posing as a model for the famous black cat in Artist Lee W. Stanley's nationally popular comic cartoon, "The Old Home Town," is dead.

And as a result the cats and dogs and other pets of Rocky River may find themselves afforded much better protection.

Blackie was known to thousands of Rocky River folk. So when the Stanley cat vanished, the neighborhood organized a search. Blackie was found—shot to death, apparently by boys trying out a gift high-powered air rifle.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Here's a pleasant little romance of circus life in a day when a traveling show that could boast an elephant was really something, and the loss of a bareback rider could be a catastrophe.
Done in color, it's the tale of a New York country boy (1841) who falls for the trick rider (Lamour) but marries her successor (Darnell) when the star gets a better offer from a rival show. In the end he discovers, to his surprise, that he's been in love with his wife all the time. "Chad Hanna's" picture of circus days as they used to be intrigued this part of the audience.

Pre-Civil War Strife With Polite Bow

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—"Santa Fe Trail." Screenplay by Robert Buckner. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Principals: Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Raymond Massey, Ronald Reagan, Alan Hale, William Ludwig, Van Heflin, Gene Reynolds, Henry O'Neill, Guinn Williams.
It would have been more aptly titled "Bloody Kansas" or "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny" or "John Brown's Body," for neither Santa Fe nor the historic trail get more than a polite bow in this action tale of pre-Civil war strife.
Perhaps because movies already have been made of railroad-building and covered wagon days, perhaps because John Brown and his fanatic mission of revolt and abolition just naturally ran away with the story, "Santa Fe Trail" never gets farther than six miles west of Leavenworth, and for its climax it turns completely eastward to Harper's Ferry, Va., where John Brown found his own trail's end.
As dashing Jeb Stuart, U. S. cavalry officer later to be famed in the Confederacy, Flynn is given ample and exciting opportunity to drive John Brown from Kansas, thus opening the Santa Fe Trail to more peaceful travel, and finally to take part in his capture at Harper's Ferry. There is plenty of riding, shooting and chasing in typical western style, and there is romance, and a painless injection of history. The picture gains in stature over the usual action thriller, however, because of the work of Massey as John Brown, and of Heflin as a Judas impartial in dispensing his betrayals.

FIVE YOUNG SISTERS LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

EASTON, Me., Dec. 30 (AP)—Neighbors tonight sheltered the grief-stricken parents and brother of five young sisters who died early today in a fire that also took the life of their youthful housekeeper and destroyed their home.
In serious condition from shock was Mrs. Walter L. Smith, an expectant mother, who was rescued by her husband. Smith, employed in Rhode Island until several weeks ago but now jobless, also saved an 11-year-old son, James.
Recovered from the debris of the one and one-half story wooden building that had housed a general store and the upstairs Smith apartment were the bodies of Doreen Smith, 10; Marie, seven; Carlene, six; Irma, four, and Linda, 18 months, and Mrs. Ralph Davenport, 19.

"Chad Hanna." Screenplay by Nunnally Johnson from Walter D. Edmond's novel. Directed by Henry King. Principals: Henry Fonda, swept the community appears to be bringing about more stringent enforcement of ordinances against guns and other weapons dangerous to small animal life in the community.

Florence Green Wed Here Sunday to William Hoffmann

Scene of Single Ring Ceremony at First Congregational Church

Evergreens and white tapers decorated the First Congregational church here for the wedding Sunday of Florence Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Green of Glenwood, and William C. Hoffmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hoffmann.

The Rev. W. Albert Eriksen of Red Oak officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Agnes Kane, 43 of Keokuk, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Ich Liebe Dich," preceding the ceremony. Organist was Mrs. W. F. Smith.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess-styled dress of white slipper satin, fashioned with a train, long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip-length veil of white tulle fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and white roses.

A pearl necklace, given by the bridegroom, was worn by the bride, who carried the handkerchief carried by her mother during her wedding ceremony.

Maid-of-honor
Serving as maid-of-honor was the bride's sister, Maxine Green. Miss Green wore a white brocaded satin dress with a bolero, a crescent of red carnations in her hair. She carried a shower bouquet of the same flowers.

White brocaded satin gowns were also worn by the bridesmaids, Jeanne Eller of Des Moines and Olivette Holmes of Red Oak, a cousin of the bride. Long streamers of white velvet ribbon, fastened with red carnations, were the trim. The bridesmaids carried arm bouquets of red carnations.

Bride's Mother
A floor-length gown of grapevine brocaded velvet was worn by the mother of the bride at the ceremony. Mrs. Hoffmann, mother of the bridegroom, selected a gown of wine-colored velvet.

Their corsages were of gardenias. Best man was Richard Hoffmann, brother of the bridegroom. Kenyon Knowles and Robert Collins of Des Moines and Richard Kemler of Marshalltown were ushers.

The kneeling pillow used by the couple was that used by the bridegroom's parents and grandparents at their weddings.

Scene of Single Ring Ceremony at First Congregational Church

The Pi Beta Phi sorority house was the setting for the reception following the ceremony. Dining room hostesses were Mrs. Art Holmes of Red Oak, Mrs. W. D. Shane of Des Moines and Mrs. Ernest Almqvist of Essex. Mrs. Ellis Lefgren of Red Oak, Velma Pehrson of Red Oak, Cleone Lungren of Stanton, Helen McIntosh of Des Moines and Erma Grater of Iowa City were parlor hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmann will be at home at 810 63rd street in Des Moines after Jan. 15.

For her going-away costume, the bride selected a costume suit of black wool, with a black persian lamb trim. Her accessories were black.

Mrs. Hoffmann attended Red Oak junior college, and Drake university in Des Moines, and was graduated from the university here. She is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority, Pi Lambda Theta, honorary educational society, and Phi Beta Kappa. She has been em-

NCAA Rumors See Schmidt Back to Southwest

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Amid rumors about which coach is going to land where — including one that Francis Schmidt would return to the southwest — the country's collegiate athletic heads started their official business today, with national defense as the theme.

For most of the day, delegates to the football coaches' association and national collegiate athletic association convention heard speeches about how collegiate athletics can help national defense. Then they received an official statistical report of 1940 football casualties which tended to show the gridiron game is becoming safer for players all the time.

But mostly, the delegates just buzzed about the various coaching vacancies. The latest whisper to go around the corridors was that Schmidt, late of Ohio State, was about to return to the area of his first coaching triumphs, either at Tulsa or Arkansas. This report, entirely unconfirmed, said (1) that Schmidt was definitely slated for Tulsa or (2) that Fred Thomsen was about to switch from Arkansas to Tulsa, and Schmidt would succeed him as head man of the Razorbacks.

Schmidt formerly coached at both schools.

At the same time, several new names appeared in the Ohio State sweepstakes, although it still was an open secret that young Paul Brown, whose Massillon (Ohio) high school teams have lost just one game in their last 60 over a seven-year stretch, has the inside track to succeed Schmidt.

However, L. W. St. John, the Ohio State athletic director, made dates to interview Tiny Thornhill, once of Stanford; Benny Friedman, one-time great Michigan passer now coaching City College of New York; Dick Harlow of Harvard and Bear Wolf of North Carolina. These names thus were added to the previously mentioned entries of Brown, Don Faurot of Missouri, Alan Holman of Franklin and Marshall, George Hauser, Minnesota line coach, and Bunny Oakes, former Colorado mentor.

There was also word that Bill Edwards, now in Texas with his Western Reserve squad for the Sun bowl game, was the No. 1 candidate to land at Marquette, and that Paddy Driscoll, who left Marquette, had turned down a one-year contract to coach Tulsa.

Dr. William Mather Lewis, Lafayette college president, made the featured speech of the joint session of the two associations today, not only pleading for an expansion of collegiate physical education and training as a means to aid national defense, but also taking a few cracks at "the evils of over-emphasis" in college football.

Like Dr. Lewis, Bo McMillin, Indiana coach, and W. B. Owens of Stanford, NCAA president, called for colleges to expand physical training activities.

Prof. Floyd Eastwood of Purdue made his annual report on gridiron casualties, stating 12 deaths, either directly or indirectly due to football, occurred during the season, and that 1,991 players were injured. Both surveys showed average decreases from previous years.

Shaughnessy Confident 12-Man Team Can Win

Vols, B. C. Are Ready

Game Will Test Two Different Offenses, 2 Training Methods

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Football teams of Boston College and Tennessee today were pronounced ready for their Sugar Bowl clash.

"Our team is in good shape mentally and physically," declared Coach Frank Leahy of Boston College after his Eagles went through a light workout at Bay St. Louis.

"We're ready physically, and, I hope, mentally," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Volunteers who are training at Edgewater Park, Miss.

Besides testing vastly different types of play, the Tennessee system of Coach Bob Neyland and the Notre Dame formations as modified by Coach Leahy, the game will bring together teams trained for the tussle in opposite methods.

Boston's Eagles took only a week's rest after their regular season, then went back into training. They have been working intensively at Bay St. Louis since Dec. 20.

The Vols, disbanding during quarterly examinations, depended upon individual workouts to keep in shape and started practice as a team only a week ago today. They crowded heavy workouts into the brief period and scrimmaged yesterday while their opponents rested.

Balm breezes blew in New Orleans today, and the weather man indicated the good weather would hold through New Year's day. The kickoff is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. C.S.T.

Riggs Outplays Mulloy Easily

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Bobby Riggs of Chicago easily bested Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., today to win the seventh annual Sugar Bowl tennis tournament, 6-2, 7-5, 6-0.

Riggs was in command from the start, as Mulloy made numerous errors and was unable to outmaneuver the master retriever who was seeded first in the tournament.

Bobby, who won the Sugar Bowl title in 1937, became the first player to cop it twice.

Clouds, Aggies, Gloomy Homer Reach Dallas

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 30 (AP)—Rain threats, the Texas Aggies and gloomy Homer Norton arrived simultaneously in Dallas this afternoon, only 48 hours before the New Year's day Cotton bowl classic.

The great Aggie team that yelled from a fire truck and went piling through confetti-filled downtown canyons to the cheers of the largest throng ever assembled to welcome a football team, was pronounced sound and ready for the date with Fordham university.

A few minutes later Coach Norton, cornered outside the bedlam, confided:

"Fortunately, we are without an injury and the flu has finally left our squad. But we have a tough opponent in Fordham. I would say that we must score at least two touchdowns — probably more than that — to win."

Meanwhile, the weatherman predicted occasional rains for tonight and Tuesday but declined to go into long-range predictions for Wednesday.

Odds on the favored Aggies shifted slightly to 9-5 tonight. Fordham took a stiff blow yesterday when Claude Pieciewicz, reserve quarterback — and the only one, Coach Jim Crowley sighs — rode himself out of the New Year's game astride a horse's back.

Claude was tossed from a horse and struck a tree. He received painful rib injuries. Thus, Quarterback Jimmy Noble, who missed the last game of the season with hurts himself, is down for 60 minutes.

Says Starters Probably Set For Full Tilt

Sure Replacements Can More Than Offset Two Husker Teams

By ROBERT MYERS

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 30 (AP)—Clark Daniel Shaughnessy, Stanford university's grid coach, is confident his "twelve-man" team will hold off Nebraska's superior reserve power and march on to victory in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

The Stanford "coach of the year," watching his squad go through another workout today, predicted his starting eleven would shoulder the burden for most of the minutes of the coming contest.

Reading from left to right across the line, the Indian first team lists Fred Meyer, Bruno Banducci, Dick Palmer, Vic Lindskog, Chuck Taylor, Ed Stamm and Stan Craft. In the backfield, it will be all-American Frankie Albert, Pete Kmetovic, Hugh Gallameau and Big Chief Standeac.

The "twelfth" man might be one of several, notably a tackle, Jack Warnecke, an end, Clem Tomerlin, or possibly Milt Vučich, fullback, if he is able to play at all.

These are the boys who brought Stanford an undefeated season and the Rose Bowl nomination. There are other replacements, of course, but these reserves and the first team carried most of the freight this year.

Nebraska came to Pasadena boasting no less than two complete crackerjack teams and loyal Cornhuskers swear there is little to choose between the two. What's more, they are three deep in spots and Major Biff Jones has a hard time choosing between the rivals.

The Huskers, in other words, are not wanting in reserve strength. Stanford, should any of its key men go out of service, might be hard pressed.

Both Stanford and Nebraska held double workouts today. Yesterday's before noon rain did not appear today, and the practice fields, as well as the Rose Bowl turf, were fast drying out. Each squad had its injury worries, but Stanford's one big concern—Vučich's stiff knee—tops all the rest.

Cornhusker 'Army' Advances on Bowl

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 30 (AP)—Nebraska's football army "took" Salt Lake City today, then headed westward for California and the Rose bowl.

More than 1,000 gridiron fans, traveling in special trains, jammed the railroad station at intervals. En route to see their Cornhuskers battle the Stanford Indians on Wednesday, the Nebraska contingent of the game was a cinch with their favorites on top, of course.

One of the more ardent boosters could see nothing except Nebraska by "20 points if the field is dry."

NCAA Tournaments

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—The national collegiate athletic association announced at its annual convention today the sites and dates for its 10 championship tournaments during 1941, including an NCAA title fencing meet, on the program for the first time.

The championship dates and locations are:

Wrestling—Lehigh university, March 21, 22.

Boxing—Penn State college, March 27, 28, 29.

Swimming—Michigan State college, March 28, 29.

Fencing—Ohio State university, March 29.

Basketball (finals)—Kansas City, March 30, 31.

Gymnastics—University of Chicago, April 12.

Track and field—Stanford university, June 20, 21.

Tennis—Merion cricket club, Haverford, Pa., June 23 to 28.

Golf—Scarlet course, Ohio State university, June 23 to 28.

Cross country—Michigan State college course, Nov. 24.

Taylor, Dew Each Win 1, To Keep Tie

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30 (AP)—Deadlocked with 286 winners each, Earl Dew and Walter Lee Taylor probably will decide the American riding championship tomorrow in the hottest jockey scramble of turf history.

Both little fellows had one winner today on widely-separated race tracks. Taylor booted Locked out home in the second race at Tropical Park, Florida, and Dew came whizzing past the wire first in the second at Santa Anita, Arcadia, Cal., aboard Musical Jack. Taylor's mount paid $11 to win and Dew's $11.20.

Hawklets To Meet Waverly

Iowa City high's Little Hawks will journey to Waverly Saturday night for a game with the fast-breaking club that battled into the state tournament a year ago. Coach Francis Merten announced last night.

The Hawklets, with five victories against two defeats this year, will be meeting a fast team that plays a race-horse type of ball. Coach Koth's Go-Hawks, in their only games against opponents on the city high schedule, have dropped a pair of close decisions to Dubuque's powerful Rams.

Creighton Wins EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Creighton university's undefeated team battled through 30 minutes of see-saw basketball with Michigan State here tonight and then forged ahead with a series of shots from under the goal to win, 37 to 29.

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

- Neyland, Leahy
- Mississippi State
- Vol Ace Missed

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Salad Bowl, southern style:

Contrary to some opinions, Bob Neyland isn't a guy who would stand in front of a trombone player and eat a lemon. He's a right nice fellow, and nothing sour-pass about him. And when they come more considerate than Frank Leahy, we want to be around. Even thanks you for dropping in on him.

Neyland and Biff Jones played together and coached together, but their systems are as far apart as "A" and "Z." But they both wound up in bowl games. Apparently it isn't the system that makes the team, but the team that makes the system.

Clark Shaughnessy, when coaching Loyola here, used to walk the streets the nights before and after a game. He played with Bernie Bierman and Ossie Solem at Minnesota, and is credited with completing 35 of 39 passes against Illinois. (He must have been the center).

But folks down here warn not to sell Mississippi State short in its "Orange bowl" game with Georgetown. Allyn McKeen, State coach, is a Neyland pupil and a regular bluffer for soaking up the Neyland technique. St. Stanislaus college at Bay St. Louis, where Boston college pitched its wigwam, is the prep alma mater of Zeke Bonura and Mar chy Schwartz. Zeke still is trying to live down the time his fellow-pupils had him convinced Shakespeare was going to visit the school and bring Hamlet and MacBeth with him.

Neyland picks as his all-American backfield Harmon, Kimbrough, Albert and his own Bob Fox. Can't figure out why Fox didn't receive more mention. Biff Jones still is a hero around these parts for his rebuttal to Huey Long. And a good many of the folks think he might upset Stanford's "T" wagon in the Rose bowl. The Tennessee seniors will be playing in their third different bowl New Year's day. The Notre Dame system seems to be coming back everywhere but Notre Dame. Fordham and Boston college both use it, with alterations. Frank Leahy was born in Winner, S.D., which may account for something or other. Maybe it's a good thing it wasn't Lemmon (sure, that's up there too).

Yank Yankees brought about the sale of pitcher Monte Pearson to the Cincinnati Reds today for cash and a rookie ball player.

The amount was not announced, but was estimated at $20,000. In addition the world champions gave up third baseman Don Lang, who played for Indianapolis last season and who is expected to perform for one of the Yankee farms in 1941.

Pearson was the third member of the Yankees' four-times world championship combination to leave the club since the close of the 1940 campaign. Previously outfielder Jake Powell had been sold to San Francisco and reserve catcher Arndt Jorgens given his voluntary retirement to enter business.

Hoyas Set to Prove Selves 'Nobody Believes Us,' Says Georgetown, 'But We'll Show Them'

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—A gang of crusaders out to prove that "Georgetown has a great football team" will charge against Mississippi State in the Orange bowl Wednesday.

"Nobody believes we have a great team," snapped Allaen Matuz, the rugged center wanted by the pros even when he was a junior. "We'll show them."

To a man, the 18 Hoyas seniors who close out their college careers Wednesday have vowed to come up with good individual performances.

Joe McFadden, their freckle-faced Irish quarterback, said he will use "standard, conservative" football against Mississippi State, but admitted the Hoyas had worked on some "harum scarum stuff" in case it is needed. Coach Jack Hagerly outlines the maneuvers he wants used the first play or so, then McFadden is on his own.

The Hoyas worked only 30 minutes today. Mississippi State drilled mainly on kicking and passing, with Harvey Johnson and Billy Jefferson doing the punting. The Maroons' best kicker, Sonny Bruce, has had a sprained ankle for some time and may play little.

Princeton Nips Michigan Rally To Win, 30-29

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 30 (AP)—A surprisingly strong Princeton university team beat off a desperate Michigan rally tonight to defeat the Wolverines, 30 to 29, in an intercollegiate basketball game.

Princeton had built up a 30 to 20 lead with four minutes to go and appeared headed for a fairly easy victory, when Michigan rallied.

A missed free throw by Michigan guard Herb Brogan in the last minute of play was the break that enabled the tightly knit Princeton defense to hold the Wolverines at bay in the closing seconds.

The box score:

Pair of Runners, 2 Passers Better Than Any Opponent

SEATTLE, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Eastern All-Stars will enter the New Year's day East-West charity football game at San Francisco with a composite offensive record topping that of the west team in all departments, the American Football Statistical bureau reported today.

Ball carriers of the eastern team have carried the ball 658 times during the 1940 college football season for a net of 2,769 yards, or 4.21 yards per try. Western players carried the ball 523 times for a net of 1,826, or an average of 3.49.

The eastern team boasts of several players each with a five-yard or better percentage per play while the west has none, and only one with a percentage better than four yards per try.

Red Hahnenstein of Northwestern has a record of 5.94 yards per play and Frank Reagan of Penn has 5.26. Bob Peoples of Southern California tops the west team with a 4.94 mark and the next highest percentage being 3.82, belonging to Jim Kisselburgh of Oregon State.

In passing, the east also has a distinct advantage with its average of 4.50 per pass, compared with the west's 3.96. Dave Allerdice, of Princeton, completed 76 of 144 passes for an average of 5.28, and Tom Harmon of Michigan, 42 of 93 passes for an average of 4.52. The best the west team can offer is the 4.48 of Paul Christian, Missouri.

Arizona State's Foes Hit Town

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 30 (AP)—The Red Cats of Western Reserve university hit town today, received a boisterous welcome in the manner of the old road agent days, and immediately began practice for their New Year's day football clash with Arizona State of Tempe in the Sun bowl.

The Tempe Bulldogs arrived last week and have been going through daily practice sessions against their freshman squad under the critical eye of Coach Dixie Howell.

William Blaha Funeral Rites Tomorrow

Funeral service for William (Billy) Blaha, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blaha, who live near Coralville, will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the Oathout funeral chapel. Burial will be in the Coralville cemetery.

Billy was accidentally shot and killed Sunday afternoon while hunting rabbits near his home with his brother Joe, 17. County Coroner George D. Callahan said that Billy ran in front of his brother's gun to chase a rabbit and that a charge from the .410 gauge shotgun hit him in the head.

Erma Petrak, John Alberhasky Married Today

At 8 o'clock this morning, Erma Petrak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Petrak, of North Liberty, and John Alberhasky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alberhasky, 1119 E. Jefferson, were married in St. Wenceslaus church.

The Rev. Father Edward Neuzil officiated at the single ring ceremony. For her wedding dress, the bride selected a street-length dress of light blue silk crepe.

Former Iowa Faculty Member Alive In German Camp, Friends Learn

Former faculty colleagues of Lieut. Raymond Brugere, an associate professor in the Romance language department here from 1928 to 1937, learned yesterday that he is alive in a German prison camp and was not killed fighting with the French army as reported early this fall.

Prof. Adolphe J. Dickman, head of the department of modern and classical languages at Wyoming university and also a former Iowa faculty member, was the first to hear from Lieut. Brugere since Hitler's armies swept through France last May.

Dear Friends: You must have wondered what happened to me since the terrible debacle of our armies. I have been made a prisoner in the Ardennes on May 19 with part of my company and since the end of November I am interned in an officer's camp close to Dresden.

Among Iowa City People

John Alberhasky, 22, of Iowa City, and Erma Petrak, 18, also of Iowa City, were granted a wedding license yesterday by R. Neilson Miller, clerk of court.

Dorothy Keyser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Keyser, 128 E. Fairchild, has been announced as one of 20 writers receiving honorable mention in the recent short story contest sponsored by the Atlantic Monthly magazine.

Ann Mercer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mercer, 621 S. Summit, and Terry Ann Tester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tester, 228 Woolf, entertained at a dancing party from 9 to 12 o'clock last night at the Iowa City country club.

Iowa friends especially Dick, (Dr. Dick De Kiewies of the history department), Funcke (Dr. Funcke, of the German department), Feigl (Dr. Feigl, of the philosophy department), Professor Bush (of the Romance language department), Professor Foerster (of the English department).

I shall not be able to write again but write to me and if possible send me some food, chocolate, etc. Whatever you can.

Happy Christmas, Lieutenant Raymond Brugere Prisoner's number 1326 Barrick 10 Bloc 4 Germany

Lieutenant Brugere, a French citizen, returned to his native land after resigning from the faculty in 1937. He received his commission in the army at the outbreak of hostilities. The report of his death was never confirmed, and friends here continued to hope for his safety.

Professor Bush described him as one of the most popular and brilliant students of literature ever to teach at the University of Iowa. He joined the faculty as an assistant professor in 1928 after spending a year in the graduate school at Harvard.

Professor Dickman, a veteran of World War I with the Belgian army, joined the faculty of the Romance language department in 1922. He resigned in 1931 to take his present position with the University of Wyoming.

Grad Accepts New Position In Connecticut

Louis J. Melick, a graduate of the university here, has resigned from his position with B. Altman and company in New York City to accept the position of assistant to the general manager with Albert Steiger, Inc., of Hartford, Conn.

Melick received a scholarship to Columbia university in New York City after his graduation here in 1934, and took a year of graduate work in retailing there. While attending the university, Melick was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and was editor of the Journal of Business.

Tester, 228 Woolf, entertained at a dancing party from 9 to 12 o'clock last night at the Iowa City country club. Assisting the hostesses were Dorothy Wallace and Grace Jean Hicks. Bill Meardon and his orchestra played for dancing.

R. Baschnagel Aid-- Again Officer In Association

Gov. A. G. Black of the farm credit administration yesterday reappointed R. J. Baschnagel, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa City National Farm Loan association, as third district director of the farm credit board of Omaha for a three year term beginning tomorrow.

Baschnagel was high candidate in a poll of National Farm Loan associations in the eighth federal land bank district and according to law the governor can appoint one of the three high candidates for the position.

He also will serve as director of the federal land bank of Omaha, the Production Credit Corporation of Omaha, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha and the federal reserve board said today he was considering a step of a "banking and monetary nature" within a few days, but declined to say what it was.

Earlier, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau had said flatly that Eccles had decided on the action, but the federal reserve head told reporters that the reason he could not discuss the plan with them was that he might never carry it out. If done, he added, it would be shortly after New Year's.

Morgenthau made his statement after conferring briefly with Eccles and Lauchlin Currie, administrative assistant to the president. In spite of persistent refusal of the Omaha Bank for Co-operatives. He has been secretary-treasurer of the Iowa City association since 1928.

Eccles and other federal reserve officials to give any hint of the contemplated action, they left unchanged a suggestion that the plan might be an attempt to reduce the amount of idle bank money in the country by increasing reserve requirements.

The federal reserve board has power to squeeze nearly $1,000,000,000 out of the banks' current $7,000,000,000 idle money.

In a recent speech, which Eccles said today fully reflected his position on all current subjects—he would not say whether the new plan was discussed in the speech—the banker urged action to lessen excess reserves. In the address, given before the industrial conference board in New York, he said raising of reserve requirements was the only "feasible way" at present of accomplishing this purpose. However, he asked for powers to do this task more thoroughly than present laws permit, in case inflation threatened the country through excessive bank credit.

Three Local Clubs To Meet in All-Day Sewing Bee Friday

The West Lucas Federated club and the T.P.M. Oasis club will meet with the public welfare department of the Iowa City Woman's club for an all-day sewing Friday in the club rooms in the community building here.

Members will join to make patch quilts for baby beds for the convalescent children's home. A potluck luncheon will be served at 12:30.

On the committee in charge will be Mrs. D. D. Nicholson, Mrs. George Mann, Mrs. J. H. Lees, Mrs. Kertzer, Mrs. P. Olsen and Mrs. B. E. Vandecar.

Lois Lang Receives Appointment as Johnson County Nurse

Will Assist Aila Hiltunen In Expanding Public Health Plan

Three Groups Plan To Finance Cost Of Second County Nurse

Lois Lang, now of Moscow, Iowa, has been appointed as a second Johnson county nurse to assist the present nurse, Aila Hiltunen in carrying on the expanding public health program in this vicinity, the county advisory nursing committee announced yesterday.

The Johnson County Tuberculosis and Public Health association and the local chapter of the American Red Cross will finance the new nurse who has been hired for a six-months period beginning Thursday. The state department of health will also help with smaller contributions.

Working under the supervision of the state department of health, the activities of the nurses are defined as being a medical advisory committee composed of physicians of Johnson county.

Subject to Review
Each month the activities of the nurses are subject to a review by the central nursing committee composed of representatives from the county and city schools, relief agencies, board of supervisors, local physicians, voluntary health organizations and other county groups interested in public health.

Miss Lang who is specially trained, as is Miss Hiltunen, in nursing and in public health, is a graduate of St. Luke's hospital in Davenport and recently completed a course in public health at the University of Minnesota.

One of the few counties to have two county nurses, Johnson county was provided with the first county nurse in 1939 through the joint action of the county board of supervisors and the state department of health.

In cooperation with physicians, school authorities and private citizens many local health groups have been organized under the sponsorship of the county nurse since that time.

Recent Program
One of the recent programs carried out under the county nurse was the immunization campaign against smallpox and diphtheria in which about 1,300 school children were immunized against these diseases.

Under the new program the same work will be carried on but on a much greater scale. The county will be divided into two equal districts with a nurse carrying on an identical program in each district.

Miss Hiltunen has been county nurse since last April 15.

Iowa City Man Hurt in Crash

James L. Coon, 65, Injured When Car Collides With Truck

Head and upper chest and shoulder injuries were sustained by James L. Coon, 65, Iowa City, when his automobile collided with a truck belonging to the Rieke trucking company of Burlington on highway No. 6, four miles east of West Liberty, yesterday morning.

His condition was described as fair by hospital authorities, who said that he suffered a brain concussion, a deep cut on the forehead, broken right collar bone, seven broken ribs and minor cuts and bruises.

The highway patrol reported that Coon's machine was practically demolished and that the truck was damaged to the approximate extent of $200.

Mexico:
The first newspaper to comment, Ultimas Noticias of Mexico City, said Roosevelt wants to get the United States into the war "and this is terrible for those who, like ourselves, may be drawn into its orbit . . . From last night there has been initiated, without any doubt whatsoever, the universal war." In most newspapers, the speech was the top story of the day.

Colombia:
Press reaction was warm and favorable. El Liberal, one of Bogota's leading dailies, called the president's attitude "extremely valiant."

Argentina:
Wherever Argentines gathered President Roosevelt's speech was a topic of conversation yesterday, generally of approval, but no official or newspaper comment had appeared so far.

Norwood Louis To Give Toast At Elks Party

An 11 o'clock toast will be given by Exalted Ruler Norwood Louis at the annual New Year's party of the Elks club tonight.

Beginning with a social hour from 6 to 7 o'clock, the party will include a turkey dinner at 7 and bridge games at 8 o'clock. From 9 to 12 o'clock Court Hussey and his orchestra will play for dancing.

The party is given for all members of the Iowa City lodge No. 590 and their ladies.

On the committee in charge are Charles Fieseler, Delmar Sample, Raymond J. Slavata, Jack Kelly and Dr. Jesse Ward.

"This would be fantastic—as it would require the transportation of at least two million men—with planes, tanks and equipment—in one convoy across the Atlantic. This would require two or three thousand transports plus a fleet larger than our navy—plus thousands of fighter-escorted bombers. Such a fleet cannot possibly be available.

"Remember—Hitler has already been seven months in vainly trying to cross twenty miles. If Hitler's army can't cross the narrow English channel in seven months his bombers won't fly across the Rockies to Denver tomorrow."

Where Mr. Roosevelt had spoken of a peace negotiated on a basis of the present war situation as one meaning nazi domination of the other countries affected, Wheeler said that "the offer of a just, reasonable and generous peace will more quickly and effectively crumble Hitlerism and break the morale of the German people than all the bombers that could be dispatched over Berlin."

Hitlerism, he said, can "be destroyed and banished from Europe only by destroying that which caused or maintains nazism." He went on to quote Lord Lothian, the late British ambassador to the United States, as having said that the rise of Hitler was "in great measure" a "rebellion against the discriminations of the treaty of Versailles."

Asserting that the United States was "no longer trudging along the road to war" but "running," he added:

"Last night we heard the president promise that there would be no American expeditionary force—but we received no promises that our ships and sailors—and our planes and pilots—might not at some time within the near future be cast into the cauldron of blood and hate that is Europe today."

Complete Basic Flight Training

Three former University of Iowa students were among the 280 flying cadets who finished their basic flight training at the "West Point of the Air," Randolph Field, Tex., during Christmas week.

This class, the largest ever to complete their basic training at Randolph field, will be transferred to the advanced flying school at Kelly field for a final ten weeks instruction period before receiving their wings and commissions as second lieutenants.

Donald R. Carlson, Rockford, Ill., Frank L. Beresford Jr., Garrison, and Theodore E. Wilhite, Muscatine, are the former university students included in the class which finished its basic training.

Carlson received a bachelor of science in commerce degree at the June commencement. While at the university he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Beresford was graduated from the university in 1939.

Under the accelerated training schedule classes start training every five weeks which transforms college men between 20 and 27 years old into full-fledged military aviators in 35 weeks. Sixty-five hours flying time in 10 weeks on primary training planes prepares the cadets for the second phase of training at Randolph field.

At the basic flight schools, Randolph field is one of three, the air cadets receive 70 hours flight training in low wing monoplanes with a top speed of 175 miles an hour. Much of this training involves instrument flying, night flying and aerial acrobatics.

An innovation in the air corps training program was announced recently. In addition to training pilots, 3,600 aerial navigators and bombardiers will be graduated during the year. These graduates will receive the same pay as a flying cadet during the training period, $75 a month in addition to quarters and food.

Upon completion of the training period, the aerial navigators and bombardiers will be commissioned as second lieutenants, the same rank received by the pilots. The pay for the navigators and bombardiers will then be $205 and quarters.

Certain selected college men with a technical education will receive a nine-month's course in engineering and airplane and engine maintenance. Physical requirements are high, it was explained, but not as high as for those applying for pilot training.

Southern Greenland he declared is only 100 miles from the northern edge of the main shipping route between Europe and America.

Planes there would guard this route, he said. He pointed out, further, that it is only a 1,200-mile flight from proposed southern Greenland bases to Maine, something to be considered in thinking of defense.

He named four possible Greenland bases for land planes and two for seaplanes. For land planes, he said, there are Arsukfjord and Jamieson land on the north shore of Scoresby sound, where the Germans already have familiarized themselves with flying conditions by a meteorological station, and two on the southwest coast. For seaplanes there are two near Cape Farewell, one at Julianehaab, the other Sangmissok.

Election of Ralph Hess as president of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees, local No. 1234, was announced yesterday.

From the Pulpit—
HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE SERMONS OF LOCAL MINISTERS

Rev. Ilon T. Jones
First Presbyterian Church
"As we approach the end of the year our minds naturally turn to the past. As the old year dies we can all but hear the closing of doors all about us: doors which can never be opened again. In this connection I recall the specific injunction in Deuteronomy 17:15: 'Ye shall henceforth return no more that way.'"

"It is unwise and dangerous to try to go back through doors that have been closed. So I suggest that we learn to close the doors on our joys and successes, on our failures, on our sorrows and troubles, on all unpleasantness, on our mistakes and sins."

"As we anticipate the coming of the new year it is in an entirely different mood. Now we are thinking of open doors: of all the strange, sweet, bitter experiences which are before us; of all the possibilities and potentialities that are wrapped up with the unknown year ahead. In the words of Revelation 3:8, 'Behold I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it.' Let us not fear to face the future for it is God's future. And we may be certain that His laws and forces will operate, that He will give us faith and courage and morale and hope for whatever situations develop."

"So at the end of the year let us look backward at endings, and close the door; but at the opening of another year let us look forward to beginnings, and fear not to enter the open door."

Official Induction Orders For Troop B Guard Unit Issued

To Report at Local Armory January 13; 800 Men Affected

Official induction orders for troop B, 113th cavalry horse-mechanized, local national guard unit, to report at the local armory before noon Jan. 13, were issued at the troop drill last night by First Lieut. Glen L. Schmidt, acting commanding officer.

Orders for the complete roll of the 113th cavalry, which includes about 800 men in Iowa City, Council Bluffs, Ottumwa, Burlington, Washington, Oskaloosa and Des Moines, were announced yesterday in Des Moines by Brig. Gen. Charles H. Grahl.

All units will report to their home stations for induction into federal service and remain there for a week or 10 days, General Grahl said, before reporting to Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Texas, for the year's training.

Detailed Instruction
Lieutenant Schmidt said that detailed instructions as to personal belonging and clothing to be brought to the armory will be issued later.

Since most units have insufficient accommodations for quartering men in their armories, the men will probably go home at night during the period before they leave for Texas.

Special coaches attached to regular trains will be used to carry the different units to Texas. There will be no concentration of Iowa units before they leave.

Co. G, 136th medical regiment, other local national guard unit, will be inducted on Feb. 10 according to present plans. They will go to Camp Claiborne, near Camp Bearegard, La.
