Aid Bill Debate Waxes Fiercely

Chandler Flays Opponents As F.R. Enemies

Wheeler Says President Trying to 'Flim Flam' Public; Hits Statement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—In a tumult of snapping tempers, the senate today heard Senator Chandler (D-Ky.) accuse opponents of the lease-lend bill of endeavoring to undermine public confidence in President Roosevelt.

In turn, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) angrily replied that Mr. Roosevelt was trying to "flim-flam" the public. He repeatedly described as "shocking" the president's statement of yesterday that the task of winning the war must take precedence over any talk of peace aims.

He called it indicative of an attitude that the United States was already in the war.

It was the first real debate, and the first sign of ebbing patience, of the nine days the senate has devoted to the bill. A session which began in quiet fashion with Senator Nye (R-N.D.) continuing a speech begun last week, was suddenly transformed into a scene of excitement.

Wheeler interrupted Nye to say that Mr. Roosevelt's words indicated a position which this country should not take unless it is ready to enter the war.

"I submit we are not in the war unless the president of the United States has already committed us to war," he shouted. "If we are in the war, I repeat that we are in violation of the constitution of the United States."

"How can Britain win, unless we come into the war?" Nye asked, and to this, Senator Clark (D-Mo.) added the observation that the president had "practically said, 'yes, we are in the war.'"

No Censorship Contemplated By Government

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A White House aide asserted today that the government is contemplating no press or radio censorship aside from the customary military censorship in event of war.

Lowell Mellett, gray-haired director of the office of government reports, made the statement in urging the house expenditures committee to establish his bureau on a permanent basis.

After his testimony, the committee quickly approved a bill authorizing a yearly $1,500,000 appropriation for the office. Chairman O'Leary (D-NY) said that the five republicans present voted against it, with all democrats present favoring it. Rep. Whitington (D-Miss) said the appropriation represented virtually a 100 percent increase.

Mellett, seated with committee members at a big oval table, read an explanation of the work of his office, which he described as a clearing-house for government information.

He had scarcely finished his statement when committeemen began peppering him with questions about censorship.

Martial Law Invoked in North Holland After Six Die in Riots

AMSTERDAM (Via Berlin), Feb. 26 (AP)—Six civilians were killed and a number wounded today in clashes between the police and "disturbers of the peace," it was officially announced tonight.

A brief German announcement stated that these deaths had occurred in police actions during which "the ringleaders of nightly attacks against the police patrol and a secret Jewish organization were uncovered."

"During the act of restoring order six disturbers of the peace were killed and a number more or less severely injured. "A great number of persons responsible for the disturbances or having participated therein were arrested."

Strikes and riots brought the imposition of a German military administration upon all the province of North Holland today and the people were warned that violations of orders might result in 15-year sentences and even the death penalty.

Strikers were ordered back to work by Thursday, and all parades, demonstrations and assemblies on the streets were forbidden.

Activity by political parties, including the wearing of uniforms and insignia of any kind, was banned.

The order, issued by the German military commander, Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, applied to Amsterdam, chief city of The Netherlands, but left out Rotterdam and The Hague, outside North Holland province. Military courts will handle violators.

"I have taken over executive power for the province of North Holland in view of the present political situation," the general said.

He ordered activity in all public and private enterprises to be resumed to "the fullest extent" by Thursday, warning that provoking strikes or discontinuance of work "will be punishable by imprisonment of 15 years," and said that if violations occurred in connection with army enterprises—"to which all vital industries belong"—capital punishment might follow.

Committee Reports Many Life Insurance Funds To Stay in Peril Until 'Conflict Cases' Removed

Bulgarian Cabinet Holds Emergency Session; Popoff Talks With Premier

SOPIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 26 (AP)—The chief of staff of the Bulgarian army, General Nicola Petkoff, conferred late today with Premier Bogdan Philoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff, and tonight the cabinet met in emergency session.

As the cabinet members assembled, the government issued still another in its series of denials that German troops poised at the Rumanian frontier had entered Bulgaria.

German Minister Richtofen was understood to have talked during the late afternoon with Popoff.

British citizens who had no imperative reason to remain were advised by their government to leave Bulgaria tonight. Blackout restrictions and threatening anti-aircraft batteries cast about the city an aura of sharp and imminent events.

Although rumors circulated rapidly that German troops already had crossed the Danube at several places, foreign military observers said these reports were not borne out by information from German bases in Rumania.

Fourteen German divisions—about 200,000 men—were reported by these observers to be in position on the banks of the river and ready to start the crossing into Bulgaria whenever they get the word, however.

Bulgarians watched proceedings in Turkey, where British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has arrived for conferences, almost as closely as they did the Danube.

Diplomatic quarters heard that Eden had discussed with the Greek minister in Ankara a proposed British-Greek accord by which neither would sign a separate peace.

Such a pact, diplomats said, would be viewed as discouraging nazi hopes of getting the Athens government to sign an armistice with Italy, and might be the signal for a nazi military push.

Two SEC Members Studying Findings Authors of Assertion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The monopoly committee made public today a report by two members of the securities commission staff which asserted that funds of many life insurance policyholders "will remain in jeopardy" until "flagrant cases of conflict (of interest) and breach of trust" by some insurance directors are eliminated.

The report was written by Gerhard A. Gesell and Ernest J. Howe, members of the SEC staff who were in charge of a study of life insurance companies undertaken for presentation to the monopoly committee.

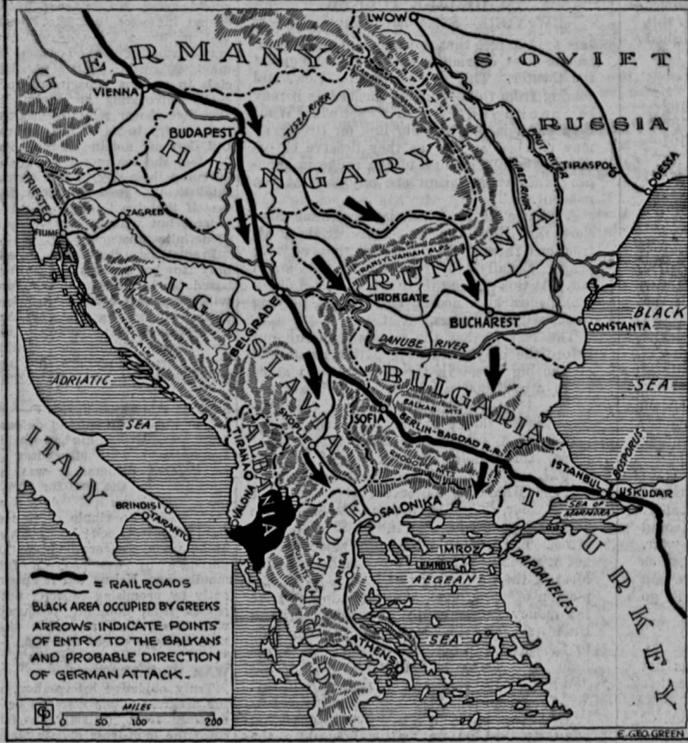

No Recommendations
In making the report public, Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Sumner T. Pike, SEC member of the committee, said that it represented the views of the authors and was not an expression by either the committee or the SEC.

The report made no specific recommendations, but Pike said recommendations dealing with insurance would be submitted to the committee on behalf of himself and Gesell at a Friday meeting called for that purpose.

While making critical comment with respect to many features of the life insurance industry, the report to the committee said:

"The staff of the commission does not consider the practices disclosed (by monopoly committee hearings) as being so fundamental or so little subject to change that they undermine the soundness of the basic principles upon which the principle of life insurance is founded."

Railroads Vital for Successful Balkan Assault

One of the major problems of a German attack on Greece and the Near East through the Balkans is shown in the above Central Press map of the railroads in that area. There is one major line, the Berlin-Bagdad railroad, which runs through Vienna, Budapest, Sofia, Istanbul and on into Turkey. Other railroads are scattered and restrict the possible avenues of advance that a German army could use in attacking Greece, only one line extending from the Berlin-Bagdad in Yugoslavia to Salonika, important Greek seaport and probable primary objective of an attacking army.

Say Officials Plan for New Labor Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A plan for a new labor board to serve as a "supreme court" for strikes and disputes in defense industries which cannot be settled by the established machinery of federal mediation, was reported today in the hands of high officials.

One well-informed official who declined to be quoted by name said an executive order for the creation of such a board was in the final stage of drafting, and might be hastened by the threat of a widespread strike in the Bethlehem steel mills, loaded with defense orders.

The plan as authoritatively outlined would set up an 11-man board—three to represent the public, four for labor and four for employers—to do a job of fact-finding and fact-publishing in labor dispute cases where the ordinary processes of the U. S. conciliation service were not sufficient to bring about a settlement.

Labor Officials Threaten Ford With First Strike

DETROIT, Feb. 26 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers, CIO, in a formal notice required by Michigan law, today threatened three principal Michigan plants of the Ford Motor Co., which employ nearly 95,000 men, with their first strike.

In a telegram to President Roosevelt, however, high union officials declared that their organization was "wholeheartedly in support of our national defense program" and that "if there can be avenues opened for adjustment of our grievances without a strike, we are ready to use those avenues."

The Ford company has orders for 4,000 Pratt and Whitney aircraft engines and several thousand "midget" or "pigmy" trucks for the U. S. army. It also is to produce parts and sub-assemblies for bombing planes for the Douglas and Consolidated companies.

The message to the president described the union's decision to file a strike notice as the "result of a continued accumulation of grievances which constitute an intolerable situation."

$150,000 Fire Halts Service Of Chicago 'L'

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two hundred and fifty thousand "L" riders were delayed today by a 5-11 alarm fire that halted service on the elevated lines in the loop for more than four hours.

The blaze—termed the worst in the central business district in 10 years by Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan—hollowed a five story building at 168 West Lake street. The marshal calculated the damage to the structure alone at $150,000 but there was no estimation of the stock loss of its occupant, the Geiser Office Furniture company.

Power on the loop circuit of the "L" was shut off at 6:47 a. m. to safeguard firemen who used the elevated right of way as a base for shooting streams of water into the burning building. The power was restored at 11:22 a. m.

During the interval "L" passengers from the north, west and south detained at stations on the edge of the loop. Rapid Transit lines officials estimated 250,000 were affected.

British Claim Somaliland Is Under Control

Say Capital, Mogadiscio Captured, Italian Island Plane Base Occupied

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS
The British hammered relentlessly at Italy's empire yesterday, unofficially claiming control of Italian Somaliland with the capture of its capital, Mogadiscio, and announcing the occupation of a small Italian island seaplane base in the Mediterranean.

Simultaneously, Germany and Italy announced German soldiers met the British in their first African battle 100 miles south of Bengasi, Libya, and asserted British tanks and trucks were destroyed without loss to Germany.

The Italian high command thus indicated Germany was taking over the job of stopping the British in Libya.

On the home front, the British took further precautions against invasion by sending waves of bombers over the docks of Calais, France, and northern France. Observers on the English coast said there were so many planes they were sure the RAF had its busiest day of this year.

The Germans returned fiercely to the assault on Britain last night, causing two night alarms in London, bombing many districts in the southeast English coast sector. In a day raid on a Thames estuary town many residents were trapped in their homes by nazi bombs.

The reported fall of Mogadiscio meant the British had penetrated 400 miles into Italian Somaliland within a month.

The country north of Mogadiscio was described by the British as of such small importance that it meant the entire 270,000-square mile colony was out of fascist hands.

The Italians, reported chased from all British possessions in Africa except British Somaliland, still are resisting in Cherah, Eritrea, and in Ethiopia.

The British minimized the occupation of the Mediterranean island of Castellorosso, 10 miles from Turkey but it was the first of the Dodecanese group to be snatched from the Italians.

British naval circles said it was taken over last Tuesday, chiefly for the seaplane base.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and General Sir John G. Lill, chief of the British imperial general staff, arrived in Ankara, Turkey, and immediately began conferences expected to bear on the British and Turkish action in the Balkan tempest.

It was reported in Ankara that Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, would fly to Turkey to see Eden.

One ominous development was reported by the German radio, which said the nazi war film "The Victory in the West" was shown Tuesday night to Turkish leaders, just as it was shown to Bulgarian leaders last week.

A similar theme, "The Fall of Poland," was shown the Norwegians just before Germany moved into their country last April.

House Follows Budget Details

DES MOINES, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Iowa legislative box score tonight disclosed that the 49th general assembly listened pretty carefully to what Governor George A. Wilson has to say in his messages to the two houses.

Among other things, the governor outlined a detailed budget which the two houses have followed almost religiously in the appropriations bills thus far passed.

The general assembly today began a five-day recess after the senate had passed approximately $16,500,000 in annual appropriations measures. These included $6,822,800 for support of state board of education institutions, $4,029,500 for board of control institutions, $552,500 for board of control capital improvements, $250,000 for an Iowa state guard and $4,835,900 for highway maintenance, engineering, inspecting and support.

In the future of debate over the lend-lease bill, five U. S. senators have made it clear that they favor war "if necessary" to stop the advance of Adolf Hitler and the German expansion. The five are Senators John E. Miller (D.) of Arkansas, who soon will take

Symphony Presents Fourth Concert

By ROBERT RUTENBECK
The University of Iowa symphony orchestra, with Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp conducting, gave its fourth grand concert of the season to a small but appreciative audience in Iowa Union last night.

Opening with Lucien Cailliet's transcription of Bach's "Fugue in G Minor," the program hit artistic heights early in the evening, but the amazing thing was that it stayed at that level for the duration of the concert.

The Bach Fugue, with the theme first stated by the solo clarinet, swung from section to section in an endless procession of interlocking Crescendos which came to a majestic climax of powerful tones at the entrance of the percussion section. This same Fugue was played by the University band on its tour last year.

Rimsky-Korsakoff's symphonic suite, "Antar" was the second selection. The tale, in music, of a poet-hero in Senkowsky's story of "three wishes from a fairy," was never lost in the composers' attempt to gain expression. The first movement, marked Largo—

Allegro giocoso, served only as a foundation for the theme of the three wishes that followed.

The Allegro, representing the first wish for vengeance, created suspense by tremulous strings, answered by beautifully echoing brasses. The sharp entrance of the tuba, accompanied by pointed tympani work, lent force to the movement.

The second movement, the wish for power, was characterized by a martial atmosphere of romantic flavor. Apparently, Rimsky-Karsakoff, and Antar, too, thought of power in terms of luxury and splendor, rather than as a weapon, as modern men seem to accept it. Which is better? Well, "Antar" has lived 74 years and promises to live many more.

The final movement, based on the true love theme, was followed by the Andante Amoroso—the death of Antar in the arms of his true love. Delicate flute work marked the passing of this fantastic but touching tale.

Could Antar himself but have heard that delightful performance, he would have lived again his ageless dream of the desires of all men.

Keeping the program on its exciting plane, part two of the concert opened with the Paris version of the Bacchanale from Richard Wagner's "Tannhauser." Written especially for his Paris audience, this rowdy bit of musical stage play might well be called "Bedlam Ballet."

This concert presentation opened with fiery rhythms and worked from section to section in a spreading and enfolding style at which Wagner was the master. Though the inner brass voices were shaky at times, the performance was enjoyable. Wagner is still good theater and the Iowans liked him last night. The applause, of course, was deafening.

To Professor Clapp go congratulations for his fine job of instruction—as witnessed by the Mahler number last night. For strings and harp, the tones from those instruments seemed to be lifted out rather than pushed. The effect left one breathless and it was evident that Professor Clapp has a deep understanding and sympathy for Mahler.

Jean Taylor, AI of Iowa City, and her harp, added a distinctive touch to the program. The harp gave a feeling of completeness about the orchestra that was lacking before, in the eyes of the audience.

Final number on last night's program was Smetana's "From Bohemia's Groves and Meadows." At the opening, the muted strings suggested a pastoral scene with grassy fields rippling in a warm breeze. Then came light-hearted folk dance melodies that started many of the listeners to humming. Fresh and fanciful, the tune contains a lasting picture of the glory that was Bohemia.

In response to persistent applause, Professor Clapp returned to the podium to break this season's no-encore precedent, by playing again, Mahler's "Adagietto." If anything, this playing was better than the first.

A Democratic Failing We'll Just Have to Accept

After 18 days in England, Wendell Willkie returned to the U.S. to appear before the foreign relations committee in behalf of the lease-lend bill.

From reading the testimony, it is evident that Mr. Willkie gave the committee an excellent hint of just what England needs if she is to save off the European dictators.

Apparently Mr. Willkie is convinced that effective full aid to Britain is essential. According to Willkie, as well as many other experts, England must have our full cooperation and have it immediately if she is to have a chance against Hitler's war machine.

Furthermore Willkie pointed out that it was one of the best ways in which we could protect our liberty, without going to war. "Ineffective aid would give Hitler just as good a pretext against us as effective aid and if the aid is ineffective Britain will go down," said Willkie.

Britain's Greatest Hazard
Britain's greatest hazard to date has not been the bombing of her cities, but rather her shipping losses. . . . Since May 1940, Britain has lost on an average of 60,000 tons of shipping a week.

Mr. Willkie suggests that it is not the granting of credits to England that will correct this, but rather the immediate disposition of certain equipment such as destroyers, merchant ships and airplanes. . . . This type of aid, he declared, should tend to augment her naval and air force so that she can be more successful in protecting her convoys against German raids.

It is evident that we have declared ourselves as an ally of England, and now it is up to us to provide her with the "tools of war" more directly and swiftly than in the past. To do this effectively some legislation such as the lease-lend bill must be enacted to avoid the red tape which is slowing the release of materials to Britain.

Democratic Short-sightedness
It is Mr. Willkie's opinion that the lease-lend bill, if enacted, will remove all complications so that effective all out aid may be given Britain. He is but one observer to make that unqualified statement.

The common sense of the proposal hasn't yet penetrated in this country's legislative halls—where we strive always to be sure no matter what the expense.

Be that as it may, we're going to have ample cause to regret our unwillingness to accept the word of our observers in the field, as we have regretted it in the past.

It is unfortunate that in this, the finest form of government under which one might live, we cannot put our trust as a people in competent observers.

This being a democracy, there's no answer for that, and we wouldn't want one. But it will cost us, just how dearly remains to be seen.

Broadway Is Suffering From Too Many Good Plays—

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Some Broadway producers this season feel that a new menace—an embarrassment of riches—is mitigating against the theater. This is a surprising view, and coming from the producers themselves it may be reckoned a trifle selfish. What they mean is that the big hits on Broadway may not last as long as they deserve or ordinarily would because of the range in shopping values play-goers are enjoying at the moment.

A glance at the theatrical calendar does show that New York has more grade-A attractions than at any time in the last five years. Usually only two or three hits stand out. At this writing there are at least a dozen plays, musical comedies, and dramas playing to capacity audiences.

The fear is that the money will run out before the play-goers have gotten around to all the big hits. In the musical field alone there are 22,000 seats, daily, that sell for $4.40. If you go to a play and purchase tickets they cost you $5.17 each. Young people as a rule do not have this sort of money for running in and out of theaters at will.

Some Broadway observers also feel that the weather, flu epidemics, and the draft have worked against the best interests of the box office. The draft may have hurt some, though not as much as you would ordinarily imagine. Most of the draftees, or at least a large proportion of them, are young and do not have the money necessary to go gadding around Broadway theaters. Naturally you can't go to the theater when you are ill, but it has been my experience that cold weather has never kept anyone away from Broadway. When you purchase tickets in advance—as is necessary for the better attractions—you wrap up and go no matter how deep the snow or slippery the sidewalks.

Almost everybody is familiar with the famous line on the front of the New York post office, but it seems nobody can quote it correctly. A group of us in Lindy's the other night were trying our hand at it and not a single one of us got the quotation accurately. It goes like this:

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

The most frequent error is the omission of "gloom of night," and using the words "appointed tasks" instead of "appointed rounds." Ezra Stone always includes "sleet" with the snow and rain. He knows he's wrong, he says, but can't help it.

WHEAT IN A HURRY

Experts in farm production have estimated that, with a yield of fifteen bushels to the acre, it required two hours and thirty-three minutes of man labor to produce a bushel of wheat, ready for the market, using the hand and two-horse methods of 1850. Today, with modern tractor and combine methods, the time has been reduced to seven minutes. —Your Life magazine.

When Will America Declare War?

WASHINGTON — There is much glib talk about the United States joining the war in sixty days, three months or six months—but not among the people who would know. No evidence inside or out indicates that Mr. Roosevelt or those close about him have any definite period of time in mind. A small number of officials in various departments are coolly advocating an early declaration of war solely to awaken the country to its utmost energy. But they are not in the majority. Most of the top men seem to be pursuing their day to day course fatalistically, ready to join the war if that too is eventually required, but without any thought of definite time.

Predictions, therefore, seem only to be guesses. They are based on surmises that the Japs will move and drag us in when Hitler attacks England, or that convoying of ships will have to be started within six months. Good guesses they are, but not conclusive.

SOUTH AMERICAN BEEF—

Don Nelson, director of defense purchases, is gaining an inside reputation as the shrewdest of all defense dealers. It was he who put over the deal for army-navy purchases of Argentine beef, without a ripple of protest from the livestock dealers who broke up a comparatively minor purchase by the navy a few months ago. Nelson did it apparently by promising capacity purchases from domestic producers who were also amenable this time because prices are high.

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

Sherman Conrad, graduate assistant in English, will review the recent book, "Five New Poets," on today's Writers' Workshop of the Air program at 4 o'clock.

Views and Interviews will present Earl English, instructor in the school of journalism, today at 12:30, interviewed on "The American Newspaper" by Fred Keller of the WSUI staff. Problems of editing will be discussed.

4 to 1 in the air, and the Germans are supposed to be producing 4,000 planes a month right now—twice as much as we will be doing by the end of the year.

Tightest, most accurate figures on the two armies also credit the Germans with three and a half to four million men under arms; Britain with only two million regulars, one million home guardsmen, and one million troops outside the British Isles, including the Australians.

AXIS-ENGINEERED JAP MEDIATION OFFER—

The Jap offer of mediation to Britain has been clouded by nazi diplomatic horseplay but everyone here knows it was a Hitler move to sound out Britain on peace. It will take more than an "outraged protest" from the German ambassador to the Japanese foreign office to dislodge that conviction. The axis just does not work that way.

THE BOMBING OF GENOA—

Mussolini failed to lather himself up to his best ferocity in denouncing bombardment of Genoa. It may now be told that embarkation facilities and equipment had been arranged there for transportation of a German army to Africa. The British got wind of the move and smashed the Genoa waterfront so severely it could not be used. There are other ports further south, but Mussolini did not want large bodies of German troops marching throughout the length of the land. By smashing Genoa, therefore, the British warded off the whole move until the opportunity closed.

While out-of-town visitors made the most of this week end holiday, Cochran, Greene, Stewart and myself greeted convention delegates at the S.U.I. booth.

It's a revelation to see how widespread is the use of standard tests from our bureau of educational research and service. Half of the visitors at our booth all day Saturday and Sunday afternoon were schoolmen from the East who were using or planned to use our tests in high school and grade subjects. More than a million copies of tests were distributed from this bureau last year all over the United States and to several foreign countries.

Ambassador-Mahan Chats With the Editor—

Atlantic City Reunion Dinner

Dear Loren: My last message, written late Friday night, recounted the adventures of Lee Cochran and myself from the time we left Iowa City last Wednesday until Friday evening.

This note carries the story through Saturday, Washington's birthday, and Sunday.

Washington's birthday in Atlantic City!

Dull gray skies threatening snow; chilly wind from the west. . . . Guests wrapped in coats and blankets reclining in deck chairs on hotel sun decks overlooking the ocean. . . . crowds pouring in from New York and Philadelphia. . . . the boardwalk alive with visitors, from Hadden Hall on the north to the President two or three miles south. . . . wheel chairs pushed by shuffling colored boys. . . . Proud dogs on parade—colies, cocker spaniels, Boston bulls. . . . sand artists shivering in thin overcoats modeling figures on the beach, grateful for a coin flung by passersby on the boardwalk. . . . amusement centers going at top speed; fortune tellers, Keno and Bingo games, shooting galleries, wax figure museums. . . . the Steel Pier, the million-dollar pier. . . . sail water luffy shops. . . . oriental rug and old lace auctions. . . . antique shops. . . . nothing quite like the famous boardwalk in the whole world.

Our University of Iowa dinner and reunion Sunday night at the Colbin-Maner hotel was a most pleasant and successful affair. One hundred and twenty-five alumni—college presidents, deans of colleges of education, school administrators, professors of education—truly a group of distinguished graduates, assembled to hear President-Emeritus Walter A. Jessup and to see moving pictures of the Iowa-Notre Dame game and "Pre-School Adventures," a new movie in color made by Cochran and Vernon Putnam for the Iowa Child Welfare Research station.

Guests at the dinner included Supt. and Mrs. Arthur S. Chenoweth, Mrs. Virginia Kletzer of Portland, Ore., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; Gladys Harlow of Washington, D. C., chief clerk of the American Association of School Administrators. Mrs. Eva Grant of Chicago, editor of the National Parent-Teacher magazine; Ruth B. Tomley of Chicago, office director of the N.C.P.T.; President Malcolm Price of Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls, and President-Emeritus Jessup of New York, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

At the close of the meeting, the group, by a unanimous vote, authorized me to send a message of cordial greetings and best wishes to President Virgil M. Hamilton, Dean Paul C. Packer and Prof. Forest C. Ensign, who were unable to be present.

Next time I'll send you some highlights of the convention. On Tuesday night the Associated Exhibitors sponsor the program, and the main feature will be a coast-to-coast broadcast of the Quis-Kids radio program, direct from the Atlantic City auditorium. Tell Harry L. Johnson that we're having a good time and wish he were here.

Cordially,
BRUCE E. MAHAN

Brotherhood: The Foundations

What Nazism Gave Germany — and What It Took Away

BY DR. WILLIAM H. MORGAN
Of the School of Religion

A friend in England writes: "I'm glad that you and your family are living in a part of the world that is at peace. I hope that you and other Christian folk are working on plans to have individual, national and international life based on sounder foundations than so much of it is now. We need the best brains of those who are not involved in conflict to reshape the present chaos."

"Of course, you Americans have plenty of problems to solve in the United States too, and since you are so much less hampered by traditions than many of us over in the Old World, you will have a better chance of working out new experiments, as you are doing now."

What have we in our American life that is of unique value? The nazis probably would say, "Nothing." A German woman who recently came to this country and whose heart is torn between her loyalties to her native land and her adopted country pointed out some of the benefits which nazism has made possible for the people of Germany. They have brought freedom from unemployment for young and old, they have aided with problems of health, they have enabled young people to marry and have homes of their own, and they have brought a sense of security and of something to live and work for, whatever we may think about these ourselves.

This woman went on to point out, however, that unfortunately the welfare of the group is considered more important with the nazis than that of the individual; moreover, people who secure the benefits must be members of the nazi party.

It is only among the party members that there can be unity and equality; it is only among the nazis that there can be "brotherhood."

Over against such an exclusive brotherhood, we stand for one based on inclusiveness. We believe in the desirability of fusing diverse elements, varying races, and different creeds, and in the possibility of achieving a unity which means freedom for all. We believe not only that this is possible in spite of differences, but that we have a more significant unity because of that fact.

Jews, Catholics, Protestants, and peoples of different racial and cultural strains have each made a contribution to our American life. It is the very opposite of totalitarianism, and we need to appreciate it and help our children to appreciate it.

More than that we need to PRACTICE the spirit of such an inclusive democracy and to seek to achieve it in every phase of our life. A few years ago while working in Rumania I saw evidences of anti-Semitism among some of the youth. Other youth and some of the older people set themselves to correct this evil. But not enough rallied to their support, and today we see Rumania's tragic plight.

Of course we assume that no such thing can take place in America. But we should do something more than just assume our democratic heritage. We need to WORK to maintain it. We must KEEP WORKING to correct those conditions which may create a sense of inferiority, unhappiness, or discord.

Our task, however, is more than that of defending our heritage. We should go further and not only eradicate the grounds for grievance and any sense of superiority or inferiority, but build for pride and appreciation. One of our eminent forefathers is being quoted these days by those who argue for isolation or for aid to the democracies. A letter of his is pertinent to the spirit of brotherhood work.

Writing to Miss Phyllis Wheatley, Negro poetess, he said: "If you should ever come to Cambridge, Miss Phyllis, or near headquarters, I shall be happy to see a person so favored by the muses, and to whom Nature has been so beneficent in her dispensations. I am, with great respect, your humble servant, George Washington."

March 31, April 7 Dates Set for Preliminaries of University Song Fest

Event to Give Groups Chance To Win Cups

"Wake Up and Sing" may well be the motto of the organized houses on the campus the next few weeks as the dates for the preliminaries of the University Song Fest have been set for March 31 and April 7 in Macbride auditorium.

An annual event, the song fest offers opportunities for all sororities, fraternities and dormitories to compete for the cups which are awarded the winners of the evening of the final contest May 11.

All entrance blanks must be submitted to the office of the dean of women by March 3 in an envelope addressed to the University Women's association.

Percentages of groups which are required to sing are as follows: fraternities and sororities, 90 per cent; cooperative dormitories, 50 per cent minimum; Eastlawn, 40 per cent minimum; Law Commons, 25 per cent minimum; Westlawn, 35 to 45 members.

Tau Gamma, 20 to 45 members; Quadrangle, 25 per cent minimum from any one section; Hillcrest, 25 per cent minimum from any one section; Currier hall, 30 to 50 members in a group, chosen from any one floor. Any number of groups may be entered from the last three dormitories.

Any Two Songs
Any two songs of the group's choice may be used for the preliminaries, and one additional song of their own choice for the finals. For final contestants, sororities or fraternities can use no more than two fraternity songs.

Vocal Tryouts To Be Tonight
Auditions for university student vocalists who wish to try out for the next broadcast of "Hawkeye Parade," new variety show to be given March 8, will be held at the radio studio building at 8:30 tonight.

Final contestants (four men's choruses and four women's choruses) will be selected from the preliminary contests to sing in the finals which will take place on the east lawn of the art building.

Judges will base their decisions on intonation, diction, interpretation, stage presence and deportment, variety and arrangement of songs, and quality and blend of voices.

Second Round Pairings Given In Table Tennis

The second round of the all-university men's table tennis tournament is now being played by the 32 men who won their first matches. The contest is being held in the game room of Iowa Union.

By Saturday at 5 p.m. all the games must be played off, according to John Bangs, A3 of Fairfield, chairman of the tournament. Each contestant must contact his partner to arrange a satisfactory playing time.

Pairings for the second play-off are Ralph Schweitzer, C3 of Alhambra, Cal., and Mike Parhomek, A3 of Kansas City, Kan.; Robert Paukert, A2 of Iowa City, and Philip Lubman, A1 of Sioux City; Reeves Hall, A1 of Mason City; George Kelly, A1 of Detroit, Mich., and Marvin Ross, A1 of Ames; Robert Bergstrom, A2 of Des Moines, and James Lightner, E1 of Cedar Rapids; Robert Wolvenbeber, A3 of Keokuk, and Richard Daut, A3 of Muscatine; Walter Spencer, A1 of Huntington, W. Va., and Joseph Foster, G of Portsmouth, Ohio; Ed O'Connor, L1 of Des Moines, and Hubert Perryman, A1 of Newton.

John Trevarthen, D1 of Anamosa, and Earl Craine, C3 of Iowa City; Dale Hatch, L3 of Keokuk, and Alvin Spilka, A1 of Ft. Dodge; John Burby, A2 of Boone, and Luther Smith, E2 of Des Moines; John Parks, A4 of Muscatine, and Roy Olson, C3 of Cedar Rapids; Charles Marshall, E2 of New Brunswick, N.J., and Hiram Houghton, A1 of Red Oak; Anthes Smith, C3 of Ft. Madison, and Dan Devine, A1 of Iowa City; Joe Andalman, G of Chicago, and Evan Kearney, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Leon Funk, G of Dallas, Tex., and Paul Zar, A3 of New Brunswick, N.J.

Accompanists and directors must be obtained from within the contestants' own groups.

Final contestants (four men's choruses and four women's choruses) will be selected from the preliminary contests to sing in the finals which will take place on the east lawn of the art building.

Judges will base their decisions on intonation, diction, interpretation, stage presence and deportment, variety and arrangement of songs, and quality and blend of voices.

Literary Group To Meet, Give Drama Review

The creative writing section and the drama study section of the American Association of University women will meet today at 2 o'clock.

Creative work done by the various members will be read at the meeting of the writing group when they meet at the home of Mrs. Ruppert Kountz, 225 Iowa.

"Sky Lark," a contemporary play, will be reviewed by Mrs. H. D. Durst when the drama study members meet at the home of Mrs. Theodore Jahn, 1601, Jackson. Helen Belknap will assist Mrs. Durst with the program.

Dents Frolic Annual Dance Given March 14

The annual Apollonian Frolic given by the freshmen dental class will be March 14 in the Varsity ballroom. Don Dodge and his Avalon band will play for the dance.

All dental students are urged to get tickets for the dance soon. John Atkinson, E1 of Sheffield, is chairman of the committee in charge. Other members are James Cook, D1 of Williamsburg; David Collison, D1 of Marshalltown; Fred Klepper, D1 of Muscatine; Bill Cody, D1 of Denver, Col., and Bill Turner, D1 of Woodbine.

Fifth Graders Will Re-Enact Mozart Sketch

Tomorrow at 2 p.m. the fifth grade of University elementary school will present "The Minuet," a dramatization of Mozart's boyhood.

Taking part in the dramatization will be Dick Larew, who will play the part of Wolfgang Mozart; Nancy Wallace, who will play the part of Marianne Mozart; and Larry Shaw, who will play the role of Leopold Mozart.

Several songs will be sung during the program by the fifth grade and four piano solos will be given by members of the same class. Three numbers will be presented by the elementary school orchestra.

Parents and friends are invited to attend the program, which will be held in the gymnasium. Dwight Curtis, Virginia Miller, and Agnes Best are in charge of the production.

Debate in Tournament at Minnesota

DOROTHEA GUENTHER

Two university women debaters, Dorothea Guenther, A4 of Davenport, and Marjorie Lersch, A1 of Galesburg, Ill., will participate today in the concluding round of the women's division of the western conference debate tournament at the University of Minnesota.

Topic of the debate will be "Resolved, That the American Press Should be Regulated by a Federal Press Commission." Prof. Ralph D. Casey, head of the Minnesota journalism department, will offer comments and criticism of the debate. Miss Guenther participated in debate at Davenport high school and won the "Iowa Nine" girls' contest in 1937.

In 1938 she placed first in the women's inter-university meet. She has been secretary of Zeta Phi Eta, women's honorary forensic organization and secretary of Gavel club, debate association. She has also been active in radio work. Miss Lersch was a member of the varsity debate team of Galesburg high school for three years and one of the group which placed first in the northwest conference. She is campus editor of Frivol.

Students Meet for Recreation At Wesley Student Foundation

Drop in during the week to lounge around the reading table or play ping pong and shuffleboard in the third floor recreational room. For spiritual meditation, early morning matins are held on Wednesday.

At the beginning of the school year, freshmen are welcomed to the foundation by a "Green Tea" with upperclassmen aiding the new students in orientation.

Named after John Wesley, founder of the Methodist church, the first of the foundations was opened in 1912 at the University of Illinois.

Iowa's center was founded in 1915 and is now directed by the Rev. Edwin E. Voigt, pastor of the First Methodist church. He is assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Worbois, student counsellors in residence at the foundation, 120 N. Dubuque.

A board of students, faculty and church members, headed by Prof. Claude J. Lapp of the physics department, administers the foundation's activities.

Badge Design Entries Taken Until May 10

MARJORIE LERSCH

Entries in the design contest for the 1941 Homecoming badge will be accepted until May 10, it was announced yesterday by Prof. Louis C. Zopf, chairman of the badge committee.

Students, alumni and Iowa Citizens are eligible to enter in the competition, and the winning entry will be awarded a $10 cash prize.

The custom of selling Homecoming badges as part of the program of financing the annual Homecoming activities on the campus was inaugurated in 1924.

Since then it has become a traditional event on the University of Iowa campus, and the Homecoming badge is worn by students, alumni, faculty members and all Iowa fans as an emblem of their loyalty to the university. Professor Zopf stated.

In outlining the requirements for the design contest, Professor Zopf listed the following qualifications for entries.

1. All designs must be drawn in India ink on white bristol board.

2. Designs must fill a six-inch circle and must be lined heavily enough to permit reduction to one-fourth size.

3. The words "Iowa Homecoming, Nov. 1, 1941" must be included on each drawing.

Hawk Cagers Want to Prove Selves Over 2-Tilt Week End

'Cats, Gophers Are Opposition

Both Teams Earlier Victims of Hawkeyes, But Have Improved

Though far out of consideration as a Big Ten threat, Iowa's cagers have a chance this week end to prove themselves the team their first-of-the-season record indicated them to be, when they meet two teams which they have beaten before in conference play.

Saturday night, the Hawks travel to Evanston, Ill. to meet Northwestern, in an attempt to break a six-game losing streak. One strike will be against them as they play in the Evanston high school gym, but the other two whiffs are yet to come up.

Iowa is primed for this one, with the squad determined to finish up the season by winning a pair of tough ones.

Then Monday night, Minnesota, now in third place in the conference, will invade the fieldhouse for the season's finale. The Gophers have been in-and-outers for most of the season, knocking off Wisconsin in the opener, falling victim to Iowa in the next game, and then alternating wins with losses for the rest of the time.

However, Minnesota, led by Don Carlson, now rates with the best of the Big Ten, and is figured to be the favorite in the game. Last Saturday, the Gophers set a league scoring record in trouncing Purdue, and won another Monday night to keep the pace.

Northwestern improves Northwestern, on the other hand, is something of a different quantity. They were rated with the best before the start of the season, but now occupy ninth place in the loop. A prolonged losing streak extending from the middle of the season has caused Coach Dutch Lonberg to use a revised starting lineup, leaving big Don Clawson on the sidelines, replaced by Bud Hasse, promising sophomore, at center.

Henry Clason, the team's leading scorer, paces the team from his forward post, while the floor work and defensive ability of Al Buterus at guard keeps the team together.

Half-Time Feature The traveling squad of Hawkeyes will leave for Chicago tomorrow, and will return Sunday for the Monday game.

Between halves of the final game, The Daily Iowan will present the "Athlete of the Year," chosen by popular vote of Hawkeye fans. Also each squad will be represented by its sophomore with the highest grade point, who will receive a trophy for his scholarship and athletic ability.

Picard Leads Open With Under-Par 66

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Henry Picard, the golfing stylist from Hershey, Pa., led a wholesale assault on par in the $5,000 St. Petersburg open today with a first round 66.

Altogether, 35 golfers gave par 71 a shellacking, but a great nine-hole stretch of 30 earned Picard a one-stroke margin.

Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., all cracked out 67's.

Jimmy Turnesa of New York, Herman Baron of White Plains, N.Y., and Clarence Doser of Sarasota, Fla., scored 68's and there was a nine-way tie at 69.

Greenberg Ready for Call

When the Bugle Blows, I'll Be There—Hank; Expects Draft Call in July

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Big Hank Greenberg, the Detroit Tigers' slugging outfielder, made it clear today that he'll be there when the bugle blows.

"I've been making statements about this army business all the way from here to Honolulu," he said after climbing off a train from Los Angeles today.

"What's there to say, I'm in class one. I'll be ready to go whenever they call me." He said he looked for a call about next July.

A selective service board official in Detroit disclosed yesterday that Greenberg had suggested he be placed in class two, where he would have had a six months deferment, on the ground that his "years of earning power" were limited.

Asked about this report, Greenberg exploded: "If you'll read those questionnaires you'll see that they're supposed to be confidential. But every time they call up that guy in Detroit he issues some kind of new statement."

A reporter asked if there was any chance of his volunteering now so that his army training would not cut into two baseball seasons. "No sir," he said with a grin. "I'll go when they collar me."

University of Iowa's wrestling team, defeated once in conference competition by a powerful Minnesota aggregation last Monday night, makes its last home stand of the season Saturday against Illinois. This is the Hawks' final dual meet of the year.

Coach Mike Howard was able to pull his boys through with only two wins from the Gophers, and two of his veteran performers, Loy Julius and Ralph Geppert, went down in defeat for the first time this season. Bernard Conrad, 121-pound sophomore who did not make the trip, and Art Johnson, heavyweight representative on the Hawk team, are the only remaining unbeaten grapplers on Howard's squad.

Whitmore Back Bright spot in Saturday's contest is the return of big Paul Whitmore, Iowa's captain and light-heavyweight representative to the wrestling front. Whitmore has not made the out of town trips because of medical studies, but has appeared in all the home meets.

With Whitmore back in the fold, Howard will be able to shoot Art Johnson back in the heavyweight slot where he has performed brilliantly most of the season, getting out of costume only in the Minnesota meet when Bill Hibbs, who substitutes in the 175-pound class came down with the flu, and Johnson stepped down to his spot. This makes the Iowa team the same as that which overwhelmed Wisconsin last Saturday, and should give the Illinois grappling team, with lettermen in every position but two, a real battle.

Relative Strength An indication of the relative strength of Saturday's opponents is the fact that both lost dual meets to Iowa State Teachers college this season. Illinois dropped a 14-12 decision to the Tutors while Hawkeyes were nosed out in a great contest, 15-11. If Iowa can come through with a victory Saturday it will give them a record of three wins and one loss for a season average of .750 in conference competition.

Two great matches are in store in the 165-pound and heavyweight divisions. Captain Kenneth Berry of the Illini will tangle with Iowa's captain, Paul Whitmore, in what should be an outstanding bout. Berry is 30 years old, has been married for more than eight years and is the father of four children. In the heavyweight match, Art Johnson faces a crucial test in John Sikich, who twice wrestled his way into the finals of the national championships. Johnson will be mixing with Sikich for the second time, having lost on points to the Illinois heavyweight last year.

Teacher Matmen Down Cyclones AMES (AP)—The Iowa State Teachers wrestling team kept in tact its undefeated record here last night whipping Iowa State, 15 to 9, with no falls registered by either team. Little Delbert Jensen, Teachers 121-pounder, marked up his 22nd consecutive intercollegiate victory, defeating Gaylord Bales. Leon Martin, undefeated Teachers 175-pounder, spoiled Dick Johnson's perfect season with a decision.

Hawklet Teams Meet Wilson Friday

U. High Ends Season Friday Against Bears

Contest to Determine Runner-Up Position In Loop Standings

Playing their final game of the regular basketball season, Coach Paul Brechler's University high cagers will be guests at West Branch Friday night to decide just what the final Eastern Iowa conference standing will be. The Bluehawks should pick up an easy victory from West Branch Friday night, and this would find Coach Brechler's boys holding undisputed possession of the runner-up position in the final conference standings.

U-high has been riding along in second place for some time now, while West Branch has remained near the bottom of the conference, in sixth position. West Branch has offered acceptable offensive play throughout most of the season, but it has rated far below par defensively, and consequently it has lost seven of its conference games and won but a single contest.

There is a possibility, if Tipton wins from Mt. Vernon Friday night and if the Rivermen should fall before West Branch, that U-high might have to share conference runner-up honors with Tipton, but this is highly improbable. West Liberty has definitely won the championship of the conference, and the outcome of Friday night's engagements will have no effect on this position. Monticello and Anamosa will undoubtedly remain in their fourth and fifth positions respectively, and there is no hope of West Branch and Mt. Vernon making any advancement.

Taking everything into consideration, it seems most probable that the Bluehawks, who have the advantage of height and can boast a much better showing in conference competition, will come out ahead of West Branch Friday night, and clinch the second spot.

Indiana Named Foe of Hawks At Homecoming

The Indiana game of Nov. 1 has been named as the University of Iowa's 1941 homecoming football contest by the Hawkeye board in control of athletics.

Selection of the Hoosier contest for the attraction at the 30th Hawkeye homecoming was announced by Athletic Director E.G. Schroeder yesterday.

Only once before has Indiana played at an Iowa homecoming. That was in 1931 when the teams fought to a scoreless tie. When Indiana last appeared in Iowa stadium in 1939, a sensational 32-29 Iowa victory was the result.

The 1941 contest will be the 14th in the Indiana-Iowa series. Each university has won five and three were ties. Hoosiers beat Hawkeyes at the Indiana homecoming last fall, 10-6.

Irish Wind Up Season at Rock Island Tonight

St. Joseph's of Rock Island will provide the last opposition of the season for St. Pat's tonight, when the Irish travel to the Mississippi river town for a return match with the Illinois quintet. The Green and White can no longer reach the 500 mark this season, having now dropped 11 contests, while coming out on top in only eight of the 19 games.

They will, however, be working hard to polish up their offensive and defensive work, and put the finishing touches to some of the plays that have been worked out in preparation for next week's meeting with City high in the sectional tournament at Kalona.

Red Miller, in playing his last game for the Shamrocks, will be attempting to pull ahead of City high's leading scorer, Ray Sullivan, and capture the city scoring lead. Each man has one more game left, and as it now stands, Miller is trailing Sullivan by three points, the redhead boasting a total of 229, 11 counters above the 218 all-time high-point record he set last year.

Two other of Coach Kritt's regulars, Donny Black and Bob Quinlan, will also be playing their last game for St. Patrick's tonight. Jim Russell and Jim Connell, along with black, Miller, and Quinlan, will probably start the game.

Vance Basler Takes Golden Gloves Win

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Vance Basler, University of Iowa light heavyweight, advanced to the semifinals by virtue of a decision here tonight.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Dick Menchaca, fast punching 118-pound defending champion from Fort Worth, Tex., became the first fighter to qualify tonight for the semi-finals of the 14th annual Golden Gloves, taking a close decision in a quarter-finals duel with Marty Dames of St. Louis, Mo.

Harold Dade, Chicago Negro who holds the 112-pound championship, also qualified for the semi-finals, to be held with the finals at the Stadium March 7. Dade stopped Jackie Swink, St. Smith, Ark., in the second. In the third round, Dade beat Clarence Bradley, Centralia, Ill.

In the welterweight division, Bob Burns, Ft. Wayne, Ind., qualified for next week's program by defeating Ray Walton, Fort Smith, Ark., while William Johnson, Streator, Ill., moved ahead with a decision over Carl Gude, Memphis, Tenn. George Horne, Cleveland, won his quarter-finals match on a decision over Harry Harrington, Evansville, Ind., and Morris Corona of Ft. Worth, Tex., beat Dick Ryan, Springfield, Ill.

Voting closes noon Monday, March 3, and all ballots received after that time will not be counted. The trophy will be presented between halves of the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game that night.

Iowa's 'Athlete Of Year' Poll Gains Interest

Bill Welp and Ross Anderson Take Over Lead in Close Race

Two new names appeared as the University of Iowa's "Athlete of the Year," yesterday, as Bill Welp, sturdy baseball backstop, and Ross Anderson, one of Eddie Anderson's watch-charm guards, sprang into the lead of the balloting.

Welp, who did an outstanding job of handling Coach Otto Vogel's pitchers last spring, appeared to be the "ladies choice" of the poll, with close to 20 women nominating him for the honor out of the 30 votes he received. This total, combined with his Monday's vote, gave Welp a slight edge over the rest of the field.

Anderson, supported for the most part by his fraternity brothers, gave a good account of himself to take over the runner-up spot in the poll. Five of his votes were not counted, because they were not signed. These would have put the Hawkeye junior ahead of Welp.

Support for former-Capt. "Iron Mike" Enich of the football squad was steady yesterday, but not enough to keep the popular all-American tackle in his former lead. All other of Monday's leaders dropped behind the pace, but remained in a challenging position.

Povlaitis Improves Al Povlaitis, who has been flirting with the national record in the breaststroke all season on the swimming squad, showed the greatest improvement of position, but trails Enich by a goodly margin.

The annual award, first presented to Erwin Prasse in 1939, and to Nile Kimick in 1940, is in the form of a traveling trophy, given to the athlete Iowa fans think was the outstanding competitor of the current year. He must be a member of a Hawkeye varsity squad, and that is the only prerequisite.

Ballots, which are printed every day on the sports page of The Daily Iowan, must be mailed or brought to the Iowan office, W-3 East hall, and MUST be signed to be valid.

Voting closes noon Monday, March 3, and all ballots received after that time will not be counted. The trophy will be presented between halves of the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game that night.

Hawk Swimmers In Final Work For Two Meets

Coach Dave Armbruster is giving his Hawkeye swimmers their final workouts for the meets this week end with Carleton at Northfield, Minn., and the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Recovering from a siege of influenza earlier this week, the Hawk mentor expects to make the northern trip Friday. He was unable to direct the squad's workouts Monday and Tuesday.

Final Dual Meets The Carleton and Minnesota meets are the final competition preparations for the Old Gold before the Big Ten meet here March 7 and 8. Carleton, a non-conference foe, is given little chance to upset the strong Iowa mermen. The Gophers, already winners of several conference tilts, are expected to give the Hawkeyes a close race.

Attempting to clean their slate from the 50 to 34 defeat at the hands of the mighty Wolverine matadors in the Iowa pool a week ago, the Iowa tankmen are setting themselves for this one. Chances for a Hawkeye victory will rest strongly upon Al Povlaitis, undefeated sophomore breast stroker; Capt. Carl Ahlgren, 220- and 440-yard free styler; Don Westrom, sprint free stylist, and divers Victor Vargon and Leo Biedrzycki.

Seek Better Average A win over the Golden Gophers will give the Hawks a .750 average in conference meets with victories already chalked up over Chicago and Illinois.

Coach Armbruster's traveling squad will probably be selected from the following men: Distance free style: Capt. Ahlgren, Clarence Moore and Dale Lounsbury.

Sprint free style: Westrom, Vito Lopin, Ed Armbruster and Clyde Kemnitz. Back stroke: Ed Mahoney and Bob Jones. Breast stroke: Al Povlaitis, George Poules and Dwight Johnson. Diving: Vargon, Biedrzycki, Jim Cupp and Nick Connell.

League Crowns In Balance As 4 Quints Clash

Shooting Stressed In Drills as Sullivan Tries to Keep Lead

With a Mississippi Valley conference championship title in the offing, Coach Francis Merten's Little Hawk cagers today will finish their practice in preparation for tomorrow's deciding game with Wilson of Cedar Rapids.

In yesterday's practice session Coach Merten had his boys concentrate on accuracy shooting drills. In addition to the accuracy drills, the varsity team took on a scrub quintet in a short scrimmage. It is likely that the City high team starting against Wilson tomorrow night will include Capt. Ray Sullivan and John Thompson at the forward posts, Bob Simpson, center, and Bud Lemons and Norm Paukert, guards. This same outfit has been used by Merten at the outset of nearly every contest this season.

Coach Herb Cormack's Red and White freshman-sophomore cagers tomorrow night will be in a precarious position. Their game with the Rambler lightweights will decide whether the current sophomore crown spends the next year in Iowa City's or Wilson's trophy case. Men who probably will see a good deal of action against the Parlor City yearlings are Bill Sangster, Bob Roth, Bucky Walters, Dale Sleichter and Dave Daner.

Sullivan's lead of the City prep scorers is in danger of being nipped by Merle Miller, St. Pat's hot-shot forward. After getting 15 markers against Williamsburg Tuesday night, Miller's column totals 229 points, while Sullivan's is only three points better. Although last year's total of 218, an all time city scoring record, has already been broken, "Sully" will have a chance tomorrow evening to put his total safely out of Miller's reach.

After their game with Wilson, the City highers will settle down to stiff practice in preparation for their first sectional tourney fit which will be played in Kalona next Wednesday night. The Hawkeyes will meet St. Pat's of Iowa City in the first round.

Popularity Contest to Climax Entertainment at Hillel Party

Climaxing the entertainment of the Avukah "Purim Festival" which will be held March 8 in the Hillel student center, 630 E. Washington, will be the selection of a popularity queen. Candidates for the popularity queen are Muriel Taub, A2 of Rochester, N.Y.; Grace Silver, A1 of Sioux City; Tillie Geifman, A2 of Rock Island, Ill., and Beverly Holstein, A3 of Clinton.

The program will include dancing, ping pong, darts, cards, checkers and fortune telling. Blue and white decorations will be the color theme of the festival.

The committee in charge of the festivity consists of David Leventhal, E3 of New York City; Norman Polansky, G of Carbondale, Pa.; Sylvia Bucksbaum, A3 of Marshalltown; Ruth Druker, A4 of Marshalltown; Felice Hoffman, G of Canada; Vita Boruchoff, U of Malden, Mass.; Eunice Fisher, A2 of Flint, Mich.; Preston Gendler, A2 of Iowa City, and Meyer Markovitz, A2 of Iowa City.

Tickets for the festival will be on sale in the religion office, 108 Macbride hall, and may also be purchased from Avukah members. They will entitle the ticketholder to cast a vote for the popularity queen.

R.O.T.C. Sharpshooters to Compete With Iowa State Team in Armory Here

Iowa's rifle team will fire a shoulder-to-shoulder match against Iowa State college in the armory rifle range tomorrow evening at seven.

This is the last home shoulder-to-shoulder match of the year. Only four western conference postal matches remain on the Hawkeyes' schedule. However, seven non-conference schools will be met this season.

The varsity rifle squad won its last conference postal match against the University of Wisconsin, 1875 to 1830, and defeated the University of Nebraska, 1,387 to 1,364, and the University of Akron, 1,387 to 1,364, in its two latest non-conference matches.

Iowa's R.O.T.C. rifle teams won matches from the University of Kansas and Utah State Agricultural college while dropping another pair to the University of Washington and Oklahoma Military academy.

Results of two matches fired by Iowa's freshman R.O.T.C. rifle team against the United States Military academy and Penn State have been received. The Hawkeye freshman squad outshot the military academy plebe team, 1,347 to 1,331 and won from Penn state, 1,810 to 1,740.

Four freshmen have been awarded souvenir medals by Sergt. H. W. Wendlandt. Medals are awarded each week to freshman shooters who qualify with high scores in either prone, sitting, kneeling or standing position.

They have been given to Kay Stetler, A1 of Keota; Harry Readinger, A1 of Guthrie Center; Fred Dalasta, E1 of Ankeny, and Robert Moreland, A1 of Portland, Ore.

New Shoes Indicate Heels Will Be Medium Height for Springtime Wear

Will it be high heels, low heels or no heels for the spring shoes this season?

It looks as if the medium high heels will have it, for manufacturers are busily shipping out the largest assortments and collections of medium high heels to wear with the new spring suits and gay pastel apparel.

Footwear this season has achieved the same sleek streamlining as the "princess pumps" of other seasons.

The 1941 "Mary Janes" or the dull kidskin pumps will be tops for tailored suits this spring. Decorative low heeled footwear will be popularized in gay colors and soft suedes. Strap models will be cleverly arranged of crossed and double crossed straps.

The colors of the strap models will include black, brown, navy, copper, beige and several shades of green chamois and summer striped linens, printed cottons, straw fabrics and embroidered shantungs.

It's the season of variety and gay coloring to match Mother Nature's bright color scheme.

Speakers to Aid In Brotherhood Week Programs

"Brotherhood week" will be observed at the religious services tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Hillel student center, 630 E. Washington.

A special program will highlight the evening entertainment. Guest speaker for the brotherhood program will be the Rev. L. A. Owen, pastor of the First Congregational church and leader of the Good-Will movement in Iowa City. Other speakers will consist of student leaders of the Congregational church.

An informal discussion will take place after the program. The committee in charge of the program arrangements includes Naomi Braverman, A2 of Iowa City; Ruth Druker, A4 of Marshalltown; Robert Hurwitz, J4 of Des Moines, and Preston Gendler, A2 of Iowa City. Rabbi Morris Kertzer will conduct the Sabbath services.

Refreshments will conclude the program.

Drug Display Explains How War Effects Prices

In correlating the present European situation with pharmaceutical interests in America, the sophomore students in Prof. Louis C. Zopf's practical pharmacy class have constructed a graphic window display to show the effect of the war upon the price of drug products.

Students working on this week's display are Justin Millen, P2 of Springfield, Ill.; Marie Kelly, P2 of Waterloo; Thomas G. Melton, P2 of Hillsboro; Wayland C. Fuller, P1 of Port Arthur, Tex., and Emmett Beard, P2 of Algona.

Using a 100-year-old brass balance to show the effect of maritime activities, abroad on American pharmaceutical supplies, the students have displayed common drug products bearing price tags to illustrate the price variance in the last two years.

Most outstanding price variance between February, 1938, and February, 1941, is noticed in the bella donna plant, rising from 14 to 15 cents a pound to $1.75 and $1.80. Although it is possible for bella donna to be grown in the United States, we have become dependent upon Bulgaria to provide us with the drug. Therefore, due to the present conjunction of commerce it has been especially difficult to trade with European markets, Professor Zopf explained.

Other drugs showing sudden price changes are valerian, which has risen from 13 cents to $1.50 per pound; colchicum, from 27 cents to $2.50 per pound, and manna, which has risen in cost from 38 cents per pound in 1938 to $2.00.

These prices, quoted from the New York import market, are on large quantities of supplies. Drugs cannot be obtained from local pharmacists at such figures due to the extra cost of handling and packing small quantities.

Local Pastors List Times For Services

Daily masses will be held at St. Wenceslaus church at 7 and 7:45 a.m., with Wednesday and Friday devotions at 7:30 p.m.

Friday evening devotions at 7:30 o'clock in each Catholic church will include Stations of the Cross. Communion services will be held at 7 and 10 a.m. each Wednesday morning at the Trinity Episcopal church. Wednesday evening prayer service at 7:30 p.m. will include recitation of the litany.

As Ash Wednesday services yesterday marked the beginning of Lent, pastors of Iowa City's Catholic and Episcopal churches announced the program of services throughout the season.

Masses will be held daily at St. Mary's at 6:30 and 7:45 a.m.

with the first mass at the convent. Services will be held each Friday at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday at 7 p.m.

At St. Patrick's church, devotions will be held each Wednesday and Friday night at 7:30 p.m., with daily masses at 7:30 a.m.

Described as a season of penance and meditation, Lent is intended to prepare the church and the individual for Easter. Approximately 40 days in length, the penitential season is patterned after the 40-day fast of Christ in the desert. Lent ends at noon Saturday, April 12.

Project to Oil Roads Planned

County Engineer Raymond H. Justen announced yesterday that residents wanting county side roads oiled have taken out petitions for 86 miles of the 100 miles to be covered.

The project put forth by the board of supervisors provides that the county pay $50 a mile and farmers whose land adjoins the roads stand the remainder of the expenses.

According to Justen, the petitioner's outlay will be between $125 and $175 a mile, depending on the amount of oil they desire on the road.

The oil would be applied once every three years, Justen said. April 1 has been set as the deadline for petitions to be filed.

Dr. Emory Ross to Speak at Church Service Tomorrow

Local Groups Observe World Day of Prayer

National Committee Of Church Women Sponsors Observance

Dr. Emory Ross, general secretary of the Foreign Mission Conference of North America, will be the guest speaker at the World Day of Prayer observance tomorrow at the Christian church.

The observance is sponsored nationally by the national committee of Church Women and locally by the women of the Iowa City Protestant churches. The local program will be one of 10,000 similar services held in the United States.

Beginning in 1927, the community observance of the World Day of Prayer on the first Friday in Lent has spread to 51 countries.

Dr. Ross will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service on "Thy Kingdom Come," and will talk on "We Kneel and Rise Again" at 1:30 p.m. The general theme of the day will be "Thy Kingdom Come."

Besides serving in important executive positions as secretary of the Protestant council at Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, and as general secretary of the American mission to lepers, Dr. Ross has a record of 22 years' service in the Congo. In his present position, which he began in 1940, he has become an outstanding figure in the inter-denominational world. He represents the foreign mission boards of 129 different religious bodies employing 11,000 missionaries doing foreign missionary work in 81 countries.

For his services in the African colony, the Belgian government made him "Chevalier de l'Ordre Royal du Lion" in 1937. Dr. Ross has also distinguished himself as an explorer and is a member of the Explorers' club of New York City. He is author of the book "Out of Africa."

Choir Director
Music for the two services will be in charge of Mrs. George Spencer, choir director of the hostess church, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Monk. Selections to be played by Mrs. Monk, organist, will include "Preludium," by Steane, and "Religioso," by Rogers.

A ladies' sextette will sing Mendelssohn Bartholdy's arrangement of "Lift Up Thine Eyes" from "Elijah." Members of the sextette are Mrs. Paschal Monk, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. R. J. Maurer, Gladys Emerson, Mrs. Dillard Bray and Mrs. R. D. Sellhorn.

The afternoon music will include two organ selections, "Prelude from Opus 27," by Chopin, and "Spiritual," by Miller. Mr. Monk will sing a baritone solo, "A Prayer," by David Guyon. A mixed quartette composed of Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Sellhorn, Dr. H. Halbert Leet and Mr. Monk will sing "How Lovely Are Thy Messengers" from "St. Paul," by Mendelssohn. Paul Stoner, violinist, will play "Andante," from "The Concerto in E Minor," also by Mendelssohn. Mrs. Monk will accompany him on the organ.

Jury Awards Clara Adrian $500 Damages

After three and one-half hours deliberation, a Johnson county district court petit jury yesterday awarded Clara Adrian $500 damages from Jule and Ethel Kasper. The plaintiff claimed she was bitten by Kasper's dog and asked $5,000 actual damages and $5,000 exemplary damages.

The jury took the case at 11:30 a.m. and returned the verdict at 3 p.m.

Atty. D. C. Nolan represented the plaintiff. The defendant was represented by the firm of Messers. Hamilton and Cahill.

District Judge James P. Gaffney also imposed sentence on two men yesterday.

William Luy, 37, Iowa City, pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to one year in the county jail. All but 70 days were suspended pending good behavior.

Everett Robinson, Chicago, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without consent of the owner and was sentenced to six months in the county jail. Judge Gaffney suspended all but 45 days of the sentence.

Elementary Pupils Study Art

Iowa City Students With Superior Talent Eligible to Attend Saturday Class

Four of the pupils enrolled in a Saturday art class at University elementary school sit down to easel and brush and turn out images of what reality looks like to the young mind. Nancy Fisk, left, takes time out to survey her work while Robert Coleman takes time out to tend a 'private matter.' Others are Joseph Coleman, left, Ida Helen Olin, instructor, and Marjorie Kurtz.

By GEORGE HEUSINKVELD
Saturday mornings from 9 until 11, Iowa City's "wee" artists, a group of city elementary school students, knit their brows over such big terms as perspective, light and shading, color, empathy and balance.

The group, comprised of the town's youngest art enthusiasts ranging in age from six to eight years, is experimental and is one of the few organized in the state. Aimed at encouraging youthful talent in order that art study can be begun early, the enthusiasts are introduced to various forms of artistic work including oil painting, water coloring, carving, clay modeling and block printing.

Inspired somewhat by the fact that every year since the "wee" artists began "graduating" from their early training into higher and more complicated forms of art study, many have shown superior talent recognized in school ex-

City High Juniors to Present Comedy, 'June Mad,' Tonight

"June Mad," a three-act comedy by Florence Rysersen and Colin Clemens, will constitute the City high junior class's dramatic production for 1941, to be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school theater.

Imelda Gatton will take the part of the flirtatious young lady and leading character, Penny Wood. Chuck Harris, one of the objects of Penny's affections, will be played by Dick Baldridge. Her other main objective, Roger Van Vleck, will be taken by Dick Coulter.

Others in the cast are Mrs. Wood, Penny's mother, played by Bette Koudelka; Dr. Wood, the kindly physician, Don Goodnow; Milly Lu, the neighborhood pest, Phyllis Hedges; and Ella and Elmer, the "hired help," played by Jean Irwin and Lewis Jenkinson.

The role of Mervyn Roberts will be taken by Dean Williams; Mr. Harris, Bob Williams; Shirley Wentworth, Margaret Brown; Ruth Wentworth, Pat Miller; and Julie Harris, by Jeanne Bowlin.

The story of "June Mad" concerns Penny Wood and Chuck Harris, the boy next door, as they go about the difficult business of growing up. When Penny's Uncle Mervyn, only five years older than she, brings Roger Van Vleck, a senior and a "killer-diller," home from college she forgets to be a man-hater and falls victim to an attack of love.

In her efforts to acquire a glamorous red dress, in which she hopes to make herself alluring to the fascinating Roger, she disrupts the life of two families. A development of events centering about the disappearance of Chuck brings her to the realization that Roger is in reality quite outside the real interests of her life. She is brought back to normal.

Ft. Des Moines Doctors Reject Three Recruits

Draft Clerk Issues Call for Volunteers; Three to Go March 10

Three Johnson county men who volunteered for a year's military training under the selective service act have returned to their homes because they failed to pass medical examinations at Ft. Des Moines, the draft board announced yesterday.

According to the board, the men are Wilbur Conner, Newport; Ralph Vandenburg, 2029 I street, and Carl Reese, rural route four. Conner and Vandenburg were members of the fifth contingent which left Iowa City Feb. 20, and Reese was a member of the fourth contingent which left Feb. 7.

Ed Smiley, chief draft clerk, yesterday issued another call for volunteers, asserting that those admitted would probably be sent into service within the next few weeks.

Of the four volunteers now registered, three will be taken in the March 10 call, Smiley explained. The three who returned will also be replaced in the near future. Smiley said that it has not yet been necessary to draft any men from the county. Men interested may volunteer by calling at the draft board's office in the basement of the courthouse.

R.I. Railroad Shows Big Gain During January

January net operating income of the Rock Island railroad was $1,059,371, the largest for that month since 1929, E. M. Durham, chief executive officer of the line announced. As compared with January, 1940, net of $305,819, it is an increase of $753,552, or 246 per cent.

Gross revenues for the month this year totaled $6,898,680, the largest for that month since 1931, and an increase of 9.3 per cent over the gross of $6,310,443 for January, 1940.

Due to increased operating efficiencies resulting from expenditures for improvement to road and economies effected by the use of Diesel power and light-weight passenger train equipment, there was a reduction in January, 1941, operating expenses of $134,880, as compared with the month last year.

Dr. E. E. Voigt Interviews Lee Over WSUI

Religious activities in Iowa City during the year 1866 were recalled by Isaac B. Lee, diamond jubilee member of the Methodist church, in an interview yesterday with Dr. Edwin E. Voigt over radio station WSUI at 12:30 p.m.

According to Lee, his family moved to Iowa City in 1866 and he, then eight years old, joined the Methodist church. Prior to that year, he had divided his allegiance between his mother's church, the Friends' society in West Branch, and his father's church, the Methodist church in Oas.

The 83-year-old diamond jubilee member is still active in business and religious groups. Individuals who have been members of the First Methodist church for 50 years or more will be honored at a church jubilee dinner March 5.

Rural School Health Problems Discussed By Council Members

Problems of healthful school environment significant to rural schools were discussed by health council members at a meeting at North Liberty Tuesday under the leadership of Lois Lang, county health nurse.

Presentation of a varied program by several rural schools and a potluck dinner to be held in North Liberty next month are being planned by the council.

Laws to Hold Practice Court Session Today

The fourth case in the series of practice court sessions, a study of the problems in the law of arrest, will be held in the model court room of the law building this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and Friday from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Paul Brown, L3 of Bloomfield, and Don Dodge, L3 of Oelwein, will act as attorneys for the plaintiff, and George Novak, L3 of Cedar Rapids, and Virgil Meyer, L3 of New Albin, will serve as attorneys for the defense. Arthur O. Leff, instructor in practice law, will judge the case.

The fictitious case involves the arrest of Matt Howard, plaintiff, by the deputy sheriff of Johnson county and another person. The plaintiff alleges the arrest was wrongful, and after having been acquitted in the criminal proceedings he brings this civil action for false arrest and malicious prosecution. The case involves permissible force in arrest and the consequences of unlawful arrest.

The jury will be made up of: Barbara Kent, A3 of Iowa City; John Ingraham, C4 of Council Bluffs; Woodrow Carey, A4 of Sioux City; Adel Hughes, A2 of Iowa City; O. M. McCraney, C3 of Des Moines; Greta Gunter, A2 of Mt. Pleasant; Gretchen Gunter, A2 of Mt. Pleasant; Rosalind Walls, A1 of Yorktown.

Johnson Producers To Meet at Solon

A Johnson county educational AAA meeting for producers in Big Grove, Cedar, Graham and Newport townships will be held at the C.S.A. hall in Solon at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Joe G. Raim, county AAA chairman, announced yesterday.

Township committees and county committeemen will discuss the 1941 AAA program in an effort to gain better understanding of the principles and aims of this year's project.

This meeting is first of a series to be conducted for different townships during the next few weeks, Raim said.

Elderly Woman Suffers Burns In House Fire

Flames Cause Trap As Rescue Workers Try to Reach Victim

Trapped by flames in a bedroom of her daughter's home with her six-year-old grandson yesterday morning, Mrs. Nina Johnson Hudson, 60, a paralytic, suffered second degree burns before rescue workers could reach her.

The elderly woman was lifted from a bedside window of the burning building by neighbors only a few minutes before the blaze virtually gutted her room in the Harry Kloos home, 704 Second avenue.

Discovering the fire shortly after 11:15 a.m., Arthur Kloos, alone in the 4-room bungalow with his grandmother at the time, summoned neighbors who called city firemen.

Mrs. Hudson was given emergency treatment at a nearby home along with Samuel Hunter, one of the rescuers who cut his wrist. The woman was then taken by ambulance to University hospital where she was reported recovering last night.

According to Fire Chief J. J. Clark who battled the flames for more than an hour with five firemen and the department's booster truck, the blaze started from an overheated kitchen stove.

Mrs. Harry Kloos, a medical patient at University hospital, scheduled to be discharged yesterday, suffered a relapse when she learned of her mother's injuries and was recommitted.

Five of the Kloos children were at school and their father was working at a near Iowa City farm when the fire broke.

Exact damages to the home had not been computed last night. The home was covered by insurance, a report said.

Evil of Inflation Forces Summarized By S.U.I. College of Commerce Head

Practically nothing can be said in favor of utilizing inflationary forces or methods in connection with the financing of a military or defense program, Dean Chester A. Phillips of the college of commerce has pointed out.

In an article in the Journal of Business, the university dean summarized the evils of inflation, saying that the disadvantages of a rise in prices, are "positive and great."

Smooth functioning of the economic system would be hindered, as price increases tend to generate strikes and to disrupt production, like the proverbial sand thrown in the bearings, Dean Phillips said.

"Inflation would delay the execution of contracts in the develop-

Tiny Bundles 200 Diapers Weekly Is Hospital Goal

Two hundred diapers a week for Britain's babies is the goal set by the University hospital's Bundles for Britain committee which has already sent 900 diapers to the Bundles for Britain office, with others to go shortly.

A recent letter from Mrs. Wales Latham, president of Bundles for Britain, has been received by the hospital committee expressing thanks to University hospital for the idea of supplying diapers for British babies.

Latest receipt totals in the hospital's "diaper" campaign show almost $60 from which 60 bolts of diaper cloth have been purchased, and the committee plans to continue the drive indefinitely.

A "diaper" clothesline attracting much attention has been strung in a hospital corridor on which a diaper is hung for every 100 made available by contributions from hospital staff, employees and visitors.

Wellman Resident Funeral Tomorrow

Funeral service will be held in the home of Mrs. Clarence Wetrich in Wellman at 2 p.m. Friday for Jess Ponchard, 78, who died at his home north of Wellman Tuesday evening.

Ponchard, who was born Jan. 1, 1863, in South Hampton, England, is survived by his widow, four daughters and 15 grandchildren.

H. O. Croft to Speak

Prof. H. O. Croft of the university college of engineering will speak on "National Defense and Engineering" at the Masonic luncheon tomorrow noon in Masonic temple.

Causes Spending

People spend more lavishly for luxuries because of the illusion of being better off than is actually the case, due to the increase in money incomes. This defeats the purposes of the government—to restrict unnecessary consumption during defense or military preparation.

Other disadvantages, according to Dean Phillips include unbalanced production due to unequal price rises and mounting government debt and fear of repudiation by the government after heavy issue of bonds.
