Nazis Join Italians in Africa

A new flag, symbolizing Axis unity, was presented to the leader of a volunteer German force, above, when the nazis joined Italian units fighting in East Africa. On one side of the flag is the Nazi emblem, and on the other side the fascist emblem. Latest reports from Rome claim that German tanks and motorized units now are fighting with the Italians in Libya.

French Indo-China Ordered To Yield to Peace Proposal

Japanese Demand Acceptance by Midnight Or Suffer 'Action'

TOKYO, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Japanese have delivered an ultimatum to French Indo-China, reliable sources said tonight, demanding that she yield by Friday midnight to Japan's final proposal for settlement of the border war with Thailand or suffer "forceful action."

(The expiration hour is 9 a.m., Friday, CST.)

"What the Japanese meant by 'forceful action to win justice for Thailand' was not disclosed, but it was understood that the foreign office had notified both the colonial administration and the Vichy government that unless a favorable reply is forthcoming the matter would be put in the hands of Japanese military officers already in Indo-China.

Competent sources said the foreign office would accept no alteration of the mediation proposal—reported by the Japanese press to call for cession of Laos and Cambodia—and would extend the deadline only if convinced the French were not "playing for time."

Such an extension would be granted, it was said, in case French colonial authorities established that they were awaiting Vichy's confirmation of their acceptance of the proposal.

The Japanese press has widely blamed Britain and the United States for Indo-China's reluctance to yield. One set of proposals already has been rejected by Vichy.

(Concurrently with the demand on Indo-China came reports of a major diplomatic move by Japan which would take her foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, to one or more of the world's pivotal capitals. Moscow, Hankow, Berlin and Rome were mentioned as possible visiting places.

(Speculation as to the purpose of such a trip naturally varied with each capital mentioned, but outstanding were suggestions that a visit to Hankow, in China, might mean an effort at peace with China, and a visit to Moscow an attempt to speed diplomatic and commercial negotiations with the Russians.)

Steel Company, CIO Asked to Approve 3-Point Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Office of Production Management asked the Bethlehem Steel company and the steel workers organizing committee (CIO) tonight to agree to a three-point program to end the strike in the company's Lackawanna, N. Y., plant immediately.

The proposal:

1. All employees of the plant to be fully reinstated as soon as resumption of operations will permit.
2. A conference to be held between the company and the union to seek adjustment of differences.
3. The OPM to "explore" with the labor relations board the possibility of holding an election to determine the bargaining agency at the Lackawanna plant.

U.S. TO DEFEND AMERICAS

More Nazis Pouring Into Bulgaria

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 27 (AP)—George W. Rendell, the British minister to Bulgaria, asserted tonight that "the forerunners" of a German invasion by Bulgaria already are in the country "by hundreds — no, I should say thousands."

In an interview he raised the possibility of an imminent break in British-Bulgarian relations followed by British bombing of both Bulgaria and Rumania, and declared:

"In one day, 350 Germans crossed from northern to southern Dobruja. (Northern Dobruja is in Rumania, where the Nazi troops stand at an estimated 600-000; Southern Dobruja is now a part of Bulgaria.)

"Today on the street I passed a group of 30 young men of military age talking in German. What do you suppose they are here for?"

Laughing at the Bulgarian contention that the privileges now being accorded the Germans would have been granted to Britain, had they been requested, Rendell remarked:

"It would have been futile for us to have tried to pass even 20 civilians across the frontier."

Referring to Britain's long delay in breaking off relations with Rumania, he added:

"The Rumanian experiment will not be repeated here."

Sitting in a circle of 13 British and American journalists, the minister suggested that under certain circumstances RAF planes might attack in both Bulgaria and Rumania even if no regular Nazi troops cross the Danube.

Intimating that an order taking him home would be tantamount to the beginning of war, he outlined these three conditions under which he would recommend such an order:

1. If German uniformed troops cross the Danube in such numbers as to constitute an invasion.
2. If the Nazis get control of the country without troops.
3. Unsatisfactory development of such an incident as that involving the still unexplained disappearance of Wodin Grenovitch, a British passport officer.

In this latter connection Rendell stated for the first time that two attempts had been made to steal British documents. Aside from the already reported theft of code books from the consulate safe in Sofia Saturday night, he said, an unsuccessful attempt had been made to filch valuable papers from the consulate at the Black sea port of Burgas.

Despite a protest to the Bulgarian government over the Grenovitch incident, he added, the British had been given no satisfaction save the Bulgarian action in sending a police inspector to investigate.

Expects Quick Enactment Of British Aid Bill

Says Dictators Fear Western Civilization Shown in Our Movies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt asserted tonight that "we confidently anticipate" early enactment by congress of the lend-lease bill as an "all important factor" in hemispheric defense.

Speaking by radio from the White House to the 13th annual Motion Picture Awards dinner at Hollywood, Cal., the chief executive declared that this nation's problem of defense "involves the defense of all the Americas — and therefore in fact, it involves the future of democracy wherever it is imperiled by force or terror."

Praising the motion picture as a "national and international force," he said: "We have seen it reflect our civilization throughout the rest of the world—the aims and aspirations and ideals of a free people and of freedom."

Real Reason

That was the real reason, he added, why "some governments do not want our American films exhibited in their countries."

Dictators—those who enforce the totalitarian form of government—think it is a dangerous thing," he continued, "for their unfortunate peoples, to know that in our democracy officers of the government are the servants, never the masters of the people."

He said the Americas stood forth today as a "notable example of international solidarity in a world in which freedom and human liberty are threatened with extinction."

"In carrying on this program of advancing the spirit of inter-American solidarity and continental defense," he said, "our government has established machinery to coordinate our growing commercial and culture relations with the American republics."

"Our government has invited you to do your share of the job of interpreting the people of the western hemisphere to one another. And all of us in all the 21 American republics are grateful that your response is so immediate and so wholehearted."

Guilty Verdict Given in Case Against Melia

KNOXVILLE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Matt Melia, 44-year-old Attica farmer on trial for the third time in connection with the shotgun deaths of his brother and brother's wife, was convicted of manslaughter today by a jury that recommended leniency.

The jury returned the verdict at 3:45 p.m., after deliberating the case more than 22 hours.

Melia was unmoved as Jury Foreman William Fry read the verdict in District Judge W. S. Cooper's court.

The convicted man's niece, Mary Polico of Pershing, Ia., fainted in a courthouse corridor after hearing the jury's verdict.

Matt, a bachelor, contended in the trials that he shot his brother, Joe Melia, 51, in self defense after they had quarreled over the feeding of hogs. He also testified that Joe's wife, Josephine, 31, was shot accidentally when she ran between the two brothers. All three lived on the farm.

Greeks Say Italians Reorganizing Lines

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 27 (AP)—An Italian force of untested size was "trapped" by Greek fire on the Albanian front today and suffered heavy losses, the Greek command announced tonight.

"Exceptionally successful" Greek air activity also was reported.

A government spokesman, supplementing the communique, said reconnaissance had shown that at several points along the front the Italians were reorganizing their defenses.

House Votes New Support To Churchill

Request for Debate On Defense Issue Denied in Commons

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Winston Churchill challenged his house of commons opponents today with a demand that his government be given a vote of confidence and the house responded with a resounding and unanimous "yes."

It was the first time the British prime minister had made such a demand since his government, then just formed amidst the German invasion of the low countries, received a 381 to 0 confidence vote last May 13.

In the same session Churchill, declaring impatiently that "I really must emphasize that there is a war on," turned down a request for a debate on the leasing of western hemisphere defense bases to the United States, an issue on which there has been some persistent, if faint, British grumbling.

The matter of confidence was on a comparatively minor piece of legislation: a bill which will permit members of commons who are sent to posts abroad for "the duration" to retain their parliamentary seats. Affected especially is Malcolm MacDonald, the new high commissioner to Canada, and in lesser measure the ambassadors to Madrid and Moscow, Sir Samuel Hoare and Sir Stafford Cripps, respectively.

Opponents of the bill contend this would deprive the envoys' constituencies of proper representation, but Churchill declared brusquely: "A great inconvenience will arise to the war effort of this country" if the bill was not adopted.

There were murmurs of "no, no," and one independent member asked that Churchill explain why MacDonald should be "any more able to help win the war in his new position by retaining his seat in commons."

Churchill replied: "At this time, when we are fighting for our lives, it is in the interests of the country that the government should have full freedom—as long as it retains the confidence of the house—to make the appointments it desires."

Alaska to Get More Planes, Ground Forces

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The war department disclosed today that additional fighting planes and ground forces were moving into Alaska.

Secretary Stimson announced at a press conference that the 18th pursuit squadron, which has a normal strength of 26 planes, had already gone from California to Seward, Alaska, presumably by ship.

He said that additional air corps units, including ground crews, were scheduled to reach Seward today and that still others would arrive there in March and April on their way to the army's new air station at Anchorage.

Stimson declined to discuss the strength of the forces being sent to Alaska, saying he did not like "to make the war department a center of special information to go to our friends abroad—or to our non-friends abroad."

Governor Steps Into Ford, CIO Labor Dispute

DETROIT, Feb. 27 (AP)—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner intervened today in the fast-growing dispute between the United Automobile Workers-CIO and the Ford Motor Co., threatened with a strike by the union, with an offer of the state's mediation services.

At Lansing, he instructed the labor mediation board to learn immediately from the national defense council the extent of the company's defense orders and whether a strike would disrupt the production of war materials.

Gov. Van Wagoner said he would await replies from the union, the company, and the defense council before deciding whether to invoke the five-day strike notice mandatory under Michigan law or a 30-day "cooling off" period required where industries are engaged in national defense work.

In Jail Again

Mrs. Esther M. Moore, U. S. army regulations mean what they say, even when young brides are concerned, as Mrs. Esther M. Moore, 25, above, a bride of less than two months, has found out. When she tried to see her husband, Sergeant G. G. Moore, at the army air school, Glendale, Cal., contrary to regulations a few weeks ago, she was put in jail for the night. Now she's back in jail charged with again attempting to see her husband contrary to rules, and she's defiant! "I think a man's wife should be able to think of the army," she declared, "and I am going to see him."

Seven Victims Of Air Crash Still Missing

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Feb. 27 (AP)—A U.S. army B-18 bomber crashed into Panama Bay and burned late today, and an immediate search failed to disclose a trace of its 7-man crew.

Witnesses said two men leaped with parachutes, but search parties using flares were unable to find any survivors tonight. The bomber burst into flames when it hit the water.

Army authorities said the plane, with three officers and four enlisted men aboard, was last reported at 6:30 p.m. It belonged to the 99th squadron stationed at Rio Hato.

Names of the missing men were not promptly available.

Declaration of 'National Emergency' Advocated by Former Ambassador

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The immediate declaration of a "national emergency" was advocated tonight by William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France and Soviet Russia, unless production is stepped up to war speed by other means.

"We could double our planned output of airplanes and tanks and merchant ships and guns in 1942 if we would but buckle to the task," Bullitt said in a speech prepared for the Overseas Press Club of America.

"By not producing as fast as we were in war," he declared, "we are risking the whole future of our nation, the whole heritage which our fathers left in our trust for unborn generations—we are risking even our independence."

"If we cannot now get into production at war speed without the declaration of a national emergency, I, for one, favor the immediate declaration of a national emergency."

'Love Is Gone'

Bullitt described isolationism in present world conditions as "political dementia praecox" and said the force behind isolationism is "love of the American past which is gone."

The first United States ambassador to Soviet Russia after the resumption of diplomatic relations with that country in 1933, Bullitt linked Russia with Germany, Italy and Japan as nations from whose rulers "we can expect neither honor nor mercy in their dealings with us or with any other nation."

Great Britain, Turkey Reach Agreement on Balkan Matter

Discussion Expected Concerning Russian, Turkish Relations

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 27 (AP)—Britain and Turkey reached "full agreement on all points" today concerning the Balkans and the eastern Mediterranean, a British spokesman announced, and observers expected a discussion of the relations of Turkey and Soviet Russia to follow.

Even while British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Turkish leaders wound up their conferences, Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador to Russia, was on his way here from Moscow. He will arrive in Ankara tomorrow.

The importance of the soviet union's role in the shifting Balkan picture was emphasized by the fact that Sir Stafford flew through a heavy storm while enroute to Istanbul.

In announcing the quick British-Turkish agreement, Eden's secretary asserted that today's conference were so successful that further joint diplomatic and political conversations were unnecessary.

British Report New Advances Around Cheren

BERLIN, Feb. 27 (AP)—British agents landed by parachute or speedboats at night may be partly responsible, German spokesmen hinted today, for strikes and fatal clashes in the Netherlands.

"Local" uprisings, which resulted in the death of at least six persons and injuries to several more yesterday, have been suppressed by swift, decisive military measures, informed persons said.

Dispatches from Amsterdam said all strikers returned to work under military orders threatening 15 years imprisonment and even death in cases of disruption of war-vital industry.

All was declared to be quiet after yesterday's roundup of a "great number" of "ringleaders of nightly attacks" and of a "secret Jewish organization."

Seven Die in Airline Crash

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A senatorial investigation of recent major airplane disasters was promised today after the crash of an Eastern Airlines plane near Atlanta.

fatal to Rep. William D. Byron of Maryland and six others—had evoked a storm of protest in congress against alleged "confusion" in aeronautical regulations.

Chairman Clark (D-Mo.) told the senate that a special commerce subcommittee, created last fall after the death of Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota in an airliner crash in Virginia, would swing into action after the chamber had disposed of the pending British aid bill.

ATLANTA, Feb. 27 (AP)—On the beam, on course but too low, a sky sleeper careened into a pine woodland near here early today, killing a congressman and six other persons and injuring nine, including airman Eddie Rickenbacker.

Vacationing Rep. William D. Byron (D-Md) of Williamsport, Md., the crew of three and three other passengers were killed, bringing to more than 50 the number of lives lost in airline wrecks in recent months.

Eastern Air Lines' sleek, almost-new, $120,000 air beauty rumbled in at 1,800 feet altitude over mist-shrouded Atlanta airport at 12:44 a.m. (11:44 p.m. C.S.T.) on schedule for the run from New York and with her two big engines throbbing steadily.

The ceiling was only 300 feet but Pilot James E. Perry reported "on the beam" and the ship swung away on the radio beam it was

Declares Move Will Encourage Invader States

Denies He Expects American Soldiers To Be Sent Abroad

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind) issued a statement supporting the lease-lend bill tonight and opposing any amendments prohibiting the dispatch of American troops to foreign countries because, he said, such a restriction would "encourage the invaders to go ahead and complete their dastardly ambitions."

He had no reason to believe that troops would be sent abroad, he said, but "to tell Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and Japan that we are not going to do so simply invites additional trouble."

He expressed his views in a statement rather than in a speech on the floor to save the time of the senate, he said, and simultaneously, in a discussion with reporters asserted that if a filibuster should develop he would favor applying the cloture rule. This is a device whereby, with two-thirds of the senate approving, debate is limited and a final vote is hastened.

The debate meanwhile was in its tenth day, with Senators Brown (D-Mich) and Sheppard (D-Tex) speaking for the bill and Senator Chaves (D-NM) opposing it. Their remarks were interrupted by sporadic but spirited exchanges between leading foes of the measure and its proponents. In one of these, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) charged that President Roosevelt was "deliberately holding back aid to England in order to put pressure" on congress to pass the bill.

He referred to newspaper articles saying that the administration was preparing to assemble large quantities of surplus war materials to be sent to Great Britain as soon as the bill becomes law. Contending that the president already has power to transfer the materials in question to the British, the Ohioan charged that "this statement was given out solely for the purpose of putting pressure on this congress."

supposed to follow out and back to safety, while some of its 13 passengers still slept in their de luxe berths.

No more was heard from the plane's radio and minutes later, its altitude strangely shrunk to 50 feet, it clipped off the top of a tree beside a farm field five miles southeast of the airport.

In the next few tragic seconds it wheeled crazily into the woods, slicing off trees up to a foot in diameter, caroming off a knoll and coming to a stop on its back, a grotesque pile of glistening scrap metal.

While the surviving passengers huddled shivering beside the bulk, trying futilely to ward off horror by talk and jokes, some of their companions died moaning in the wreckage, imprisoned by crumpled metal and beyond the help of the injured and shocked survivors.

A Pertinent Question for the University's Interfraternity Week End—

WILL IOWA'S FRATERNITIES SAVE THEMSELVES?

—or Will They Let Their Historic Values Perish?

Today marks the opening of Interfraternity week end—that time when, if we want to be cynically realistic about it, we gather together for a moment of fellowship, come close to the broad, general problems of the fraternity system as a whole, and wait for Monday morning when the whole business can be happily forgotten under the strain of a new week.

That's been going on for years. Nobody knows it any better than fraternity men themselves.

If anyone is interested in finding out what's wrong with the fraternity system at Iowa, we'll wager that he'll discover, simultaneously, what's wrong with virtually every social organization from the Ladies' Aid society "back home" to the international society of nations.

There's no lack of good ideas. There's just a great scarcity of those who are willing to expend the necessary energy to put them to work.

If you're looking for the trouble in the fraternity system at Iowa, or in any given fraternity, you'll find it in the great lack of those who are willing to offer what Winston Churchill calls "toil, tears and sweat" for the good of the group.

That members of the fraternity system at Iowa know only too well what their problems are has been apparent for some time. It has twice been called openly to the attention of the system by one of the system's own important forces—the court.

That the problems of the system here are, in varying degree, the problems of fraternities everywhere has likewise been apparent for some time. Just a year ago this week end, Dean Fred Turner of the University of Illinois called that forcibly to Iowa's attention.

Not a Question of 'System'—No, it isn't a question of what is the matter with the fraternity SYSTEM. Let's make it a question of what is the matter with the men IN the system.

We've reached the point in the life of fraternities where those institutions are beginning to disintegrate, to disappear from the university scene, here and everywhere in America, because of those same old problems.

And yet fraternities, as a part of modern college life, possess the power to become an active force for the welfare of the university, the state and the nation far greater than they've ever been before!

Untangle the key to that apparent paradox, fraternity men, and you'll not only have found your new place in the sun but you will have erased the physical problems which thwart your daily progress.

Now let's get the record straight. In the first place, we're all agreed that anybody who thinks a fraternity is worthless, who thinks that fraternity affiliation is just so much sentimentality and wasted time, simply doesn't know what he's talking about.

In the second place, those people (and there are plenty of them) who think fraternities haven't improved from the day when they were rip-roaring hot-beds of iniquity likewise haven't kept abreast of the times.

Then the question of "why" fraternities are faced with ultimate demise is the more pertinent.

No Lack of Leadership—There is no lack of leadership in individual fraternities here, nor in the system as a whole. There is leadership aplenty—conscientious, competent leadership.

But it isn't being utilized. The reason is a lack of awareness on the part of all the men in each fraternity, of those principles of honesty, loyalty, integrity and friendship which created the college fraternity.

All of those qualities, in degree, are there—in each house. But they aren't the driving forces. They aren't the all-important factors. They don't dominate the scene.

Until they do, through a recognition of the need on the part of each fraternity and the system as a whole, fraternities will continue on the road to oblivion.

Fraternity men have come to view that lack of a central driving force as a peculiarity of the life we live in. And so we've accepted it, when we should be fighting it. We've let the fraternity "problem" get us down, because the problem, we've told ourselves, grew up with us.

Until the leadership of Iowa's fraternities start devoting their energies to building houses-around the central forces of brotherhood, honesty, integrity and loyalty—not for the nucleus of the group but for all the group—the problem will continue to grow.

Unless fraternities make that the most important requisite for membership, and train their men to feel those forces, the problem will become unbearable, and one by one chapters of this group and that group will fall by the wayside.

Destroying Great Values—The cold irony of that is that they won't be missed; and they SHOULD be missed, for only fraternities, in the modern university community, possess the power to so order their collective lives that their contributions in the creation of great men and great women can be felt.

The physical problems, no matter how real and how pressing, are rooted deeply in that same lack of central, directed unity.

No matter what name may be behind you, no matter what national prestige may be attached to the Greek of your title, no fraternity on THIS campus is greater than the combined greatness of its men, and ITS men alone.

No matter what positions any member or group of members may hold, no matter what honors in campus affairs may be traced to your chapter doors, no fraternity on this campus is BETTER than any other fraternity because of THAT.

No matter how large your group, no matter how beautiful your house, no matter how privileged you may be with the backing of influential alumni, no fraternity here is better than any other because of those things.

But fraternities here, and everywhere else, have come to rely upon just those elements for their growth.

Fraternities and the University—Better that any or all of our Greek groups should die in a new struggle to return to their basic, central, founding factors, than that they should live unproductive lives, diminished lives, contributing only to the personal ambitions of any or all of their members, and not to personal lives. There is no place on this campus, nor on any other, for jealousy among fraternities. But it is here.

There is not place here for intolerance among groups, but it is here.

There is no place here for shortsightedness, or laziness, or resignation, but they are here.

All of these things are contributing to the downfall of fraternities, inevitably and completely. It's merely a matter of time.

The problems stated here are principally those of fraternity men themselves. But the university is far from faultless.

If we are to preach the principles of understanding, of all-out loyalty to the cause among fraternity men, then certainly in its relationships to fraternities, the university must practice those same principles, on an ever greater scale.

What would seem to be the university's attitude—"it's only a matter of time before they die of their own weight"—doesn't square with the principles of fraternalism.

If the university fails to do everything in its power to preserve those elements of fraternity life which never can be replaced, it will be a contributing factor in the death of one of the greatest potential builders of men of character it has ever known. And the university will suffer for that, more than it realizes.

Getting Ahead of the Joneses—On the other hand, if but a single fraternity chapter on the Iowa campus could so re-order its personal chapter life that the common criticisms leveled at every house do not apply to that one—criticism of scholarship, of financial condition, of internal disunity, of a lack of initiative—then the proof will have been created that the problems of fraternities are not necessarily peculiarities of modern campus life.

But if all our chapters, as they have always done, resign themselves to the old out—"... it's just too tough to be done... too many factors... too many variables..."—then we'd better start folding our tents.

Because the time has come in the fraternity system at Iowa when "being as good as the next bunch" is hopelessly below par.

The Staggering Total Of Defense Spending. WASHINGTON—The staggering total of $28,000,000,000 for the two-year defense program is already obsolete. Offered by Mr. Roosevelt less than two months ago, and then considered the greatest sum of money ever mentioned as cost of a specific report, it is already beginning to appear as just the first splash in a deep bucket.

Mr. Roosevelt has been edging it up by degrees with the submission of supplemental estimates for the army and navy until now it is swollen to about $31,000,000,000 to $32,000,000,000—and the British lend-lease program is yet to be financed.

A new appropriation of $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 for what the British want is in the process of inner preparation. It will be submitted to congress by

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1941.

Ambassador Bruce Mahan Chats With the Editor—Atlantic City Finale: The Quiz Kids

Dear Loren: "Time marches on!"—and this will be my last communique from Atlantic City.

At 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the great organ in the Atlantic City auditorium will peal forth "The Star Spangled Banner"—exhibitors and visitors will stand at attention—then the organist will swing into "Auld Lang Syne" and as the last note rolls away into the high vaulted roof, pandemonium breaks loose.

Everyone shouts and yells in joy that the grind is over, both backgrounds are dismantled, working crews roll in packing crates and boxes piled high on low-slung motor trucks, and within two hours, the hundreds of exhibits are packed for shipment home.

Last night was the high tide of the convention for me. Through the courtesy of NBC officials, I spent the evening backstage with the famous "Quiz Kids," their parents and NBC artists who had come down from New York to present the 17th annual program of the National Education Association.

I have the kids' autographs for my son Tommy, as well as that of Gladys Swarthout, guest artist on the program; Henry Meyer, conductor of the NBC orchestra; Frances Rockefeller King and her husband, A. Frank Jones, who had charge of the show; Milton J. Cross who introduced the talent, and Joe Kelly, Quiz Master.

The Quiz Kids, their parents and Joe Kelly had come out from Chicago for the show, and I asked eight-year-old Gerard Darrow what kind of a trip they had.

"Swell," he said. "It was just swell." His mother told me that she had a hard time to keep him from roughing it with the other boys in the troupe while they were on the train—Jack Lucal, 14; Richard Williams, 11; and Van Dyke Tiers, 13.

"Gerard," she said, "if you don't quit wrestling with the boys, you'll get hurt, and then there will be a big bawling spell."

"Ah, heck, Mom," he said. "I can take it. I'm tough."

While awaiting the Quiz Kids turn on the program, Gerard couldn't resist pecking out from behind the front drop curtain at the huge audience of 12,000 persons, inspecting everything backstage, and hob-nobbing with the stage manager and crew.

Jean Bishop, 14, the one girl in the group, is a lovely young lady. She is one of a gifted few who has a perfect ear for musical notes and can tell them off perfectly singly or in groups of three or five when sounded on the piano.

She is already a gifted pianist, and says she liked French and music best of all her studies.

These kids are unspoiled young Americans, normal, friendly and happy. The audience of school administrators last night loved their instant responses to tough questions. It was a tribute to American education, for their counterparts can be found all over the land.

We have had four days of gorgeous sunshine and mild temperature here. As I sit near my window at the Hotel Traymore, I can look out on the Atlantic ocean, deep blue to the horizon's rim with white capped waves breaking on the sandy beach—a truly beautiful view.

The only drawback in this assignment is that after a few turns up and down the length of the boardwalk you can wear your socks for spats.

Duty calls, the roller chairs are already rolling, and I must get to work. Cordially, BRUCE E. MAHAN. Worker Injured. DES MOINES (AP)—Clyde Wood, 42, Des Moines construction worker, was injured critically yesterday in the second automobile accident in which he was involved since Dec. 13. Sociologist Dies. BENITO MUSSOLINI—IV

As Mussolini solidified his control over Italy, he put into effect many reforms. Great strides were made in developing Italy's natural resources. The government was reorganized and centralized. Recreation for the masses became a fact.

Caesar in a Black Shirt

Determined to make Italy a great world power, Mussolini now vastly enlarged the Italian war machine. From balconies and surrounded by the ruins of ancient imperial Rome he made provocative speeches appealing to Italian national pride.

Caesar in a Black Shirt

To show Italy it was a nation of conquerors, Mussolini set out on his first military adventure—an attack on Ethiopia, last native independent state in Africa. The poorly-armed, untrained Ethiopians were no match for Italy's new army.

Prof. Frank Aydelotte to Present Graduate Lecture April 1

Heads Advance Study Group At Princeton

Prof. Frank Aydelotte, American secretary to Rhodes trustees and former president of Swarthmore college, will present a graduate lecture on the campus April 1.

Professor Aydelotte is now president of the Institute for Advance Study at Princeton, N. J., where Albert Einstein is doing advanced work.

As secretary to Rhodes trustees Professor Aydelotte administers the entire Rhodes scholarship proceedings. At his suggestion parliament recently enacted a law changing the Rhodes' will in regard to the qualifications of Rhodes scholars.

Began Honor System
 During his 19 years at Swarthmore, Professor Aydelotte introduced and developed the honors educational system, a plan for undergraduate study which has been adopted since by numerous institutions.

Offering intensive training in a particular field, the honors system separates the superior student from the "run of the mill" and gives him individual attention. It is patterned upon the Oxford educational system.

Professor Aydelotte was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, where he received the honorary D.C.L. degree (Doctor of Civil Laws), highest degree offered by the English institution.

The educator graduated from the University of Indiana in 1900 and received his M.A. from Harvard university in 1903. Professor Aydelotte was given a B. Litt. degree from Oxford in 1908.

Taught at Indiana
 Returning from Oxford, Professor Aydelotte joined the faculty of Indiana university as associate professor of English. In 1915 he was named professor of English at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a position which he held until he assumed the presidency of Swarthmore college in 1921.

In 1918 Professor Aydelotte was appointed to the committee on education and special training of the United States war department. The same year he became secretary to Rhodes trustees.

He is president of the Association of American Colleges and chairman of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial foundation. Since 1922 he has been a trustee of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teachers.

The traditional redhead dinner at which all the honor guests were university women claiming "les roux cheveux."

When it came time to round them up it was found that the number of out-and-out redheads was surprisingly limited. All glints, tints, shades and variations were invited to represent the clan.

For some it involved a bit of henna and a 25-cent rinse but it was probably worthwhile to be included in that select group of womanhood.

Hancher Talks
 In New York

President Virgil M. Hancher will make his first appearance before University of Iowa alumni of New York City and vicinity when he addresses a dinner there tomorrow night.

The affair, expected to attract more than 200 persons, will be for the joint purpose of welcoming the new president to the east and observing the university's 94th birthday.

Graduates also will see the color film of the Wisconsin-Iowa football game, with details of the play to be explained by Ray Murphy, Hawkeye fullback of the past three years who received his degree this month.

21 Men Enroll For 'Chemistry Of Explosives'

New Course Included In National Defense Training Program

Twenty-one men are enrolled in the course, "Chemistry of Explosives," offered here in connection with the national defense training program.

The 16-week course is designed to enable individuals to pass the United States civil service examination for Junior inspectors of powder and explosives in munition factories.

"Shortage of junior administrators in the factories is the most formidable 'bottle-neck' in industry at present," said Prof. H. O. Croft, head of the mechanical engineering department and regional advisor of the defense training program.

He believes that the present program of training courses, under way in 91 engineering colleges throughout the nation, will produce enough men to alleviate the "bottle-neck" situation.

Seven courses in defense training are being offered through the college of engineering here this semester.

Prof. George H. Coleman and H. M. Shafer, graduate assistant of the chemistry department, are instructing the course offered here, which includes a short review in beginning organic chemistry and a study of such organic compounds and their reactions as are employed in the preparation and manufacture of explosives.

Nine hours of laboratory work and five hours of lecture are given each week.

The educational requirement for enrollment in the course was two years of college chemistry.

BY MAXIE ROSENBLUM
ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Feb. 27—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—Merle (Red) Miller put on a one-man scoring show for St. Pat's here tonight to wrest the Iowa City scoring lead from Ray Sullivan of City high, but it was not enough, and the Irish lost to St. Joe's, 44-35.

The clever, accurate-shooting forward, a team-man all the way, counted 19 points to show the way for the Shamrocks, taking a 16-point lead on Sullivan in this final game of the season. Sullivan will have a chance to even the count against Wilson of Cedar Rapids tomorrow night.

U-High Seeks To Clinch 2nd Against Bears

Probable Lineups
U-high West Branch
Evans, F. B. Anderson
Schneberger, F. Alderman
Lehman, C. R. Anderson
B. Smith, G. Jeffries
Heusinkveld, G. Pederson

In an attempt to eliminate any doubt as to who will be the runner-up in the Eastern Iowa conference, University high will visit West Branch tonight, to complete its regular cage season. In a previous game this season, the U-high Rivermen trounced the West Branch men, 26-21, and since the Brechler basketballers from that time have been steadily coming up the line, it seems quite logical that they should expect a victory tonight.

By emerging victorious tonight, the Bluehaws will make themselves sole owners of the second place position in the conference. There is a possibility that U-high might have to share the second berth with Tipton, this being the case if Tipton wins over Mt. Vernon tonight, and U-high loses to Mt. Vernon. Unless the unusual happens, however, the dope sheet will run true to form.

During the season the Bluehaws have shown much greater strength on both offense and defense than the Mt. Vernoners, and the conference record of the Blues looms above that made by its opponents. Mt. Vernon will remain in its present sixth place regardless of the outcome tonight.

Ambers-Jenkins Bout to Decide Ambers' Future

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—There'll be a large spot in Madison Square garden's ring tomorrow night, and little Lou Ambers will be right on it.
Just about every one but Lou and his round manager, astute Al Weill, figures the answer is the laundry. The boys who put up or shut up are laying 1 to 2 1-2 that Jenkins repeats over Laughing Lou. They even hold the Sweetwater Swatter at no worse than even money to put Ambers to sleep somewhere along the route, just like he did in three rounds in taking the 135-pound crown away from Lou last May.

Wilson Quints Here Tonight

If City High Loses, Imps, Ramblers Take Big, Little Crowns

Hawk Cagers Set to Duplicate Wins Over Conference Foes

The University of Iowa's wrestling team, beaten only twice this season, will face Illinois here tomorrow afternoon in the last dual meet of the season. Illinois comes to the Iowa campus with a record of never being beaten by the Hawks, the closest call coming in 1936 when they nosed out Iowa by one point to take the conference championship.

Hawk Wrestlers To Meet Illinois Here Saturday

A surprise move was made by Coach Mike Howard yesterday when he announced that he would use unbeaten Art Johnson in the 175-pound division in place of Captain Paul Whitmore, who moves up to the heavyweight post. Johnson, regular heavyweight most of the season has trained down to 177 pounds from the 185 he started the year with, and will enhance the Hawks chances in the 175-pound class.

The rugged Whitmore meanwhile draws a stiff assignment for tomorrow's contest in John S. S. Kich, steamrollering along in quest of the national championship he has twice lost in final matches.

Swim Officials Set

Dave Armbruster, University of Iowa swimming coach, today named an additional list of officials who will work at the Big Ten swim meet here March 7 and 8.

Tom Robinson, Northwestern coach, will act as head judge at the finish while Indiana's mentor, Robert Royer, will serve as head timer.

Jack McGuire, North high, Des Moines; Clyde Munger, Roosevelt high, Des Moines; Loren Graaf, Lincoln high, Des Moines; A. Y. Russell, East high, Des Moines; Howard Judd, Clinton; and Leo Baughman of the Cedar Rapids Y.M.C.A. will act as timers.

Meet Northwestern And Minnesota For Season's Final Tilts

Iowa's Hawkeye cagers, setting out to wind up their 1939-40 Big Ten cage season this week end, polished off their final practice session last night, and prepared to entrain for Evanston, Ill., where they will meet Northwestern.

The Hawks will be looking forward to breaking a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Wildcats, whom they trounced convincingly earlier in the season, but will hardly be meeting the same team they best.

Coach Dutch Lonberg, juggling his lineup to break a losing string of his own, will probably put an aggregation on the floor which in its last few starts has turned in creditable performances. Bud Hasse, graceful sophomore center, has taken over the pivot spot from husky Don Clawson, who provided plenty of trouble for Iowa in the first meeting. If Hasse is better than Clawson, that addition alone should make Northwestern a power to be reckoned with.

Henry Clason and Al Butcher, forward and guard respectively, are the only other Wildcat players who could be classed as regulars, with the other two spots filled in succeeding games as Lonberg sees fit. However, Don McCarne has scored 18 field goals in two games he has played, and holds the inside edge over a trio of veterans.

Iowa Determined
The fact that Iowa is set for this one is further emphasized by the determination of the individual players to start the Hawkeye ball rolling once more. If the Hawks can win this one, and then take Minnesota's third-place cagers next Monday, not only would the team's standing be improved over last year, but the prestige of the team would be greatly enhanced.

Iowa practices this week have been in dead earnest, with emphasis on shooting and free throws by Coach Rollie Williams. It looks as though Dick Hein will replace Milt Kuhl at center on the starting lineup, as the Hawks remember the rough tactics of the Wildcats, who attempted to bull their way through the first game, but lost, 52-41.

Signin Back
The rest of the probable starters will remain the same, and Paul Signin, on the basis of his fine performance in the Purdue game, has definitely won back his guard position from Vince Harsha and Bill Wheeler. Rudy Soderquist will team with Signin in the backcourt, and Capt. Vic Siegel and Wendell Hill will hold down the forward posts.

If the Hawklets win tonight, they will be in possession of the conference bunting for the first time in history. If the Wilson Ramblers should eliminate all of the locals' title hopes by handing them a defeat, Davenport will automatically become champs for the fourth consecutive year.

Blue Devils Dominate
During the 12 years the Mississippi conference has been active, Davenport teams have dominated the list of title winners. Only a few of the other nine schools playing in the league have ever been able to muster enough punch to nose out the Blue Devils.

This season the Red and Whites have broken even on the two games they have played with the Imps. In the event Iowa City is successful against Wilson tonight, theirs will be a double honor—that of outdistancing the team which has perennially won the title, and that of acquiring the bunting for the first time in history.

Tough For Sophs
Coach Herb Cormack's sophomore outfit will have no easy time of it tonight. Wilson's yearlings are trailing closely on the heels of the Cormackmen in the league standings, and will annex the sophomore crown if they can smash the Little Hawklets. The local lightweighters had a perfect record this year until the Davenport Little Devils recently nipped them in an overtime game.

Sophomores who have played significant parts in the City high preliminary tilts this season include Bill Sangster, Bucky Walters, Bob Roth, Dale Sleichter, Dave Danner and Curly Brack. Sangster, Roth and Danner have been used at times in varsity games, and should develop into first class varsity material for next year's team.

After tonight's tilt the varsity cagers will begin preparations for the sectional tournament. Playing in Kalona Wednesday evening, the Mertenmen will meet St. Pat's of Iowa City in the first round. Since there is no sophomore tournament, Coach Cormack's five will be making its final appearance of the season tonight.

Intramural Grapplers To Tussle March 5

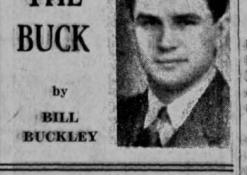

University intramural grapplers will take to the mat Wednesday, March 5, in the annual wrestling tournament, according to an announcement made yesterday by F. S. Beebe, intramural director.

Competition will be in eight weight divisions—121, 128, 136, 145, 155, 165, 175 and heavyweight classes. Members of varsity squads in competition at this time, members of the freshman or varsity wrestling teams, and winners of numerals in wrestling are barred from participation.

Anyone in the town league who wishes to compete can obtain an entry blank at the intramural office in the fieldhouse. Teams from other divisions enter through their athletic managers. Each competitor must take a physical examination before he may enter. Entries must be in by Tuesday, March 4.

PASSING THE BUCK

by BILL BUCKLEY
An interesting feature on the coming Kentucky Derby May 3, concerns the pari-mutuel betting through that particular racing season at Churchill Downs. Book-making was ruled out of Louisville early in 1908, and with the Derby approaching, Col. Matt J. Winn had to do something to provide wagering facilities.

"We needed tickets," the good colonel said, "and time was passing. . . The best we could get together were made out of white cardboard. . . It would have been easy to counterfeit them as they were—and there wasn't any law by which counterfeiters could be punished. . . But by printing my signature, as manager of the organization, at the bottom of the ticket, any counterfeiting of that ticket constituted violation of the forging law."

Thus lies the story of how the signature, "M. J. Winn," has been on every one of the tens of millions of pari-mutuel tickets sold at Churchill Downs since 1908.

The Big Ten swimming meet to be held here next week end should be a sensational get-together, with all kinds of records expected to be broken. . . Friday afternoon and evening will see the preliminaries and semi-finals run off, and Saturday evening the boys will be struggling for the final conference titles.

Michigan is, without doubt, the strongest team in the meet, but has not entered yet. . . Ohio State, runnerup to the Wolverines last year, will bring a team of 10 men. . . But the feature of the whole setup for Hawkeye fans, disregarding the team totals in which they have a pretty good chance of coming through, will be the race in which Al Povilaitis, sensational sophomore breaststroker, goes up against the best the loop has to offer.

When Jim Skinner, Michigan's national and Big Ten champion, competed against Al in that dual meet two weeks ago, I don't believe there was ever a more surprised individual than that Wolverine natator. . . Before the race, Skinner laughed and joked, and his teammates and opponents alike, and in general, was the cockiest swimmer in the pool. . . After the race, in which he went full speed all the way while Povilaitis coasted a good half length before putting on a sprint, Skinner had not a word to say, except to ask the winning time. . . No doubt he'll be out to "get" Povy, but the question is, "Can he do it?"

The first local tournament for amateur cage teams that has ever been held here, will take place March 17-22, sponsored by the Iowa City Basketball league and held at the Iowa City Recreation Center. . . All university intramural teams have been invited to participate, but the entry list is limited to 16 teams. . . The Iowa Fakes, composed of such football lettermen as Ken Pettit, Mike Enich, Bruno Andruska and Matt Miletich, has already entered, as have four teams from the city league, and another called the Iowa City Aces. . . Cosgrove and Cedar Rapids are represented, and with 27 trophies and 27 medals to be awarded, fans are assured of a top-notch tournament.

In the Big Ten track meet this coming week end, Indiana is favored to topple Michigan, winner of the title for seven straight years. . . Here's the way they figure it. . . The Wolverines won last year, 37 5-14 to 30-6-7, the second being the Hoosiers' total

Hawk Tankmen Invade Carleton And Minnesota

Seventeen men were selected by swimming coach Dave Armbruster to leave this morning for Northfield, Minn., on the first leg of their invasion tour of one non-conference and one Big Ten foe.

The Hawkeye tankmen tangle with the Carleton swimmers this afternoon and then journey to Minneapolis to meet the Golden Gopher natators of Minnesota Saturday night.

Swimmers making the trip are: Distance free style: Capt. Carl Ahlgren, Clarence Moore, Dick Merrill and Dale Loubery. Sprint free style: Don Westrom, Vito Lopin, Ed Armbruster, Clyde Kemnitz and Hal Krizon.

Back stroke: Ed Mahoney and Bob Jones. Breast stroke: Al Povilaitis, George Poulos and Dwight Johnson. Fancy diving: Victor Vargon, Leo Biedrzycki and Nick Connell.

Carleton, winner of several dual meets this season, seems to be stepping a bit out of its class against the Old Gold mermen and is conceded little chance in upsetting the strong Hawks. Minnesota, on the other hand, has an undefeated record to date, polishing off four Big Ten opponents in impressive style during the present season. Last week they marked up a 58 to 26 win over Illinois. Spearheading the Gopher attack will probably be Hakomaki, a sprint free stylist, who is undefeated in conference competition this year. Judd Ringer, Coach Niels Thorpe's ace breast stroker, and Arnie Elchlepp, Minnesota distance free style star, should also break into the scoring column of the Iowa meet.

Iowa chances against the mighty Gophers rest heavily on sophomore Al Povilaitis and veteran Capt. Ahlgren. Don Westrom and Victor Vargon and Leo Biedrzycki.

Povilaitis and Westrom are the only undefeated members of the Hawkeye squad. "Pov" nosed out Michigan's James Skinner in the Wolverine meet to retain his record while Westrom took a first in the 50-yard free style to keep his sprint record intact.

Now this year, Michigan has only six men back, who accounted for 15 13-14 of its points in 1940. . . Indiana on the other hand, has all of its last-year's point-gatherers back. . . Added to this, Campbell Kane, star Hoosier miler and half-miler, is figured to go one better than last year by taking over the 880-yard title vacated by Ed Buxton, Wisconsin ace, who took a degree and left school with a year of competition left.

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR

Vote for your favorite Iowa athlete to receive the annual "Athlete of the Year" trophy by filling in name in below, and returning this ballot to The Daily Iowan office, W-3 East Hall, immediately. Deadline is noon Monday, March 3. The award is open to any Hawk athlete who has competed since last September, and will be made at the Minnesota-Iowa basketball game that night.

Whatever Ross Anderson lacked to attract feminine votes Wednesday, he made up for yesterday, as the star Hawkeye gridiron guard jumped into a 20-vote lead in The Daily Iowan's poll to determine Iowa's "Athlete of the Year."

Over half of Anderson's votes came from the University of Iowa women, and his Wednesday's running mate, Bill Welp, dropped to third. Mike Enich, who gets votes more steadily than any other participant, moved into second place behind the fast-traveling Anderson.

Welp held a strong third place in the balloting, but Capt. Vic Siegel, junior cage ace whose stock slackened Wednesday, made a strong comeback to take fourth place all for himself.

The most unusual feature of the poll is the fact that the votes are so evenly distributed. Out of a total of 500 votes cast in the three days of voting, the first three leaders all have over 100 ballots to their credit. Anderson has garnered 131, Enich 111 and Welp 105, Siegel's aggregate is 97.

Voting will close noon Monday, March 3, so the time is getting short to vote for your favorite Iowa athlete. He needs your support, so if you want him to win, vote NOW and assure him consideration as "The Athlete of the Year."

As Iowa's "Athlete of the Year."

Strikers Will Hold Public Mass Meeting Tonight

Will Present 'True Facts'

Federation Demands Hearing, Says Hess; To Be in City Hall

The State Federation of Labor has demanded that we present the true facts in the current bus strike to the public," declared Ralph Hess, president of the local bus drivers' union, Local 1234.

A public mass meeting will be held tonight in the council chamber of City hall at 8 o'clock "to put our problem squarely and clearly before the people of Iowa City," Hess said.

Inviting general public interest in the meeting, he said labor speakers from Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Scranton, Pa., will join local leaders in the discussion of labor's position in the bus disagreement.

Shea Expected

Out-of-town speakers will be J. J. Brown, Des Moines, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa State Federation of Labor; Mrs. Thelma Hare, Cedar Rapids, state organizer for hotel and restaurant employees; Jack White, president of the Cedar Rapids teamsters' union, and P. J. Shea, Scranton, Pa., international representative who has served as advisor to local bus strikers.

Shea left for Detroit, Mich., last week but is expected to return for tonight's meeting, Hess explained.

Presiding at the meeting will be Frank Kuncel, president of the University hospital employees, chapter 12-7 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Everett Tompkins, local head of the teamsters and laborers' union will also appear on the program.

Representatives from other A. F. of L. affiliates in the city will be present, including the Iowa City Building Trades council and the Musicians' Protective union, Local 450.

Hess explained that a strong movement is underway to start organization of all trades and crafts in the community. Leaders hope to establish a central union board, with each affiliate group represented by delegates.

Meanwhile, he said, members of the bus drivers' union on strike will continue their policy of orderly picketing of the Iowa City Coach company buses at downtown bus stops.

Assessors Progressing Elect Tax Collector For Each Township In Johnson County

Delayed several weeks by the state legislature's debate over the 60 per cent tax bill, Iowa City and Johnson county assessors are now progressing "satisfactorily," William J. White, Iowa City assessor, said yesterday.

An elected assessor handles each township while White and his assistants assess and evaluate Iowa City by wards, it was explained.

According to White, property evaluations in Iowa City are calculated by cubing the dimensions of the house and land, and multiplying that figure by the cubic foot value, which depends upon the condition of the property.

Township assessors are Oscar Leidich, Big Grove; Ernest Heinisius, Cedar; Frank Murphy, Clear Creek; Neil Nolan, East Lucas; Frank Eden, Fremont; Roscoe A. Gardner, Graham; J. F. McGillin, Hardin; Frank Bys, Jefferson; William Hartscock Jr., Lincoln and Carl E. Schott, Liberty.

Thompson is a member of the federal planning board and a national officer of Delta Chi fraternity.

AAA Committeemen Discuss 1941 Rural Educational Program

Procedure of the township committee in presenting the 1941 educational program to rural groups was discussed at the meeting for county AAA committeemen and their wives held last night in the C.S.A. hall.

Roy Dyas, field representative, Mrs. E. Richardson, educational assistant of the AAA, and County Agent Emmett C. Gardner were in charge of discussing plans for the 1941 sign-up meetings.

More than 150 were in attendance.

Mattress Makers Start Work Today On County Project

An all-day mattress making demonstration for volunteer leaders under the Johnson county mattress program will start this morning at 9 o'clock in C.S.A. hall.

Although Johnson county did not receive sufficient applications to have a complete program, materials have been ordered through a nearby county, County Agent Emmett C. Gardner said.

The program is designed by the surplus marketing administration to help use surplus cotton grown in the south and to help needy rural families to make their own mattresses.

Charity, Helpfulness to Others Form Newman Club Activities

Editor's note — This is the fourth in a series of articles on the university's student religious foundations, being featured during National Brotherhood week.

By THEODORE LANDSMAN

While religious, educational and social activities form an outline of the Newman club's yearly program, charity and helpfulness to others take an important position in the Catholic foundation's aims. Provisions and groceries are collected by the club as an admission price to the annual Charity ball held just before the Christmas holidays and later distributed. Selected students also spend time at the city hospitals reading for patients during the year.

Placed first in importance by the student body, the religious activities of the foundation center in St. Mary's church where a student mass is held Sunday mornings at 11:30.

In dormitories, homes, student centers and Iowa Union, discussion groups gather Monday afternoons to exchange thought on Christian educational problems.

Religious leaders of the country are brought to the campus frequently by the club to deliver public lectures while members themselves take an important part in the local radio chapel series.

Beside the Charity ball, the annual semi-formal spring dance is held by the foundation in the Iowa Union lounge. Monthly mixers, informal and congenial, take place in the Iowa Union and Knights of Columbus rooms.

Following the 8:30 a.m. mass on the first Sunday of each month, members meet in downtown restaurants for the Newman club communion breakfasts.

Chaplain of the Catholic students at the university as well as of the club is Father Donald Hayne, professor on the school of religion faculty.

Over 300 similar organizations are located in colleges and high schools of the United States. First of the foundations was established at the University of Pennsylvania in 1890. The Newman club at Iowa numbers 400 members.

Now considered the ideal of the educated Catholic, John Henry Newman is the club's namesake. The leading Catholic intellectual leader of the 19th century, Cardinal Newman taught at Oxford university and throughout his life maintained a particular interest in the problems of students at secular universities.

Patrolmen Give Advice

Officials Urge That Prospective Drivers Get License Manual

To acquaint themselves with questions asked when applying for drivers licenses, county residents yesterday were urged by the state highway patrol to obtain the drivers' license manual.

According to officials, many people drive 10 or 15 miles to apply for the license but fail the examination because they cannot answer required questions.

Highway patrolmen said applicants can avoid this difficulty by reading the manual which contains answers to the questions, before taking the examination.

The manual may be obtained at the sheriff's office or from highway patrolmen.

Officials also stressed the law that all children under 18 years of age must be accompanied by both parents when applying for drivers' licenses.

Both parents must be present to give written consent before licenses will be issued to children.

Patrolmen are stationed at Johnson county court house every Wednesday when applications may be made.

Rotarians Hear Of Iowa's Oil

There is not yet enough evidence to determine whether Iowa can be classified as an oil producing state in spite of the fact that the Story City basin has caused some excitement concerning the possibilities of oil in Iowa, stated Prof. A. C. Trowbridge, state geologist and head of the university department of geology, at the Rotary club luncheon meeting yesterday.

If there is oil in Iowa it is probably in the south central and southwestern part of the state, the speaker pointed out.

Several oil companies have become interested in the state's oil producing possibilities and have drilled wells which have been dry, Professor Trowbridge added.

The cost of between $30,000 and $50,000 is one of the important limiting factors in drilling for oil, the speaker stated.

Board Refuses Religious Cult Permit to Build

A decision by City Inspector Harold Monk, refusing a permit for the construction of a tabernacle at Court and Muscatine avenue by the "Voice of Prophecy," religious cult, was upheld yesterday by the Iowa City board of adjustment.

The board found that the proposal, submitted by Glenn Fillman, was contrary to the zoning ordinance. Earlier in the week a group of citizens living in the neighborhood of the proposed site protested against the building by official petition.

Members of the board of adjustment are Henry Negus, chairman; Ralph Adams and Jule Kasper.
