Trophy of Daring British Raid on Norway

Back from a dashing raid on Nazi-held Norwegian Islands of Lofoten, off the coast of Norway, British sailors and marines display a Nazi flag seized in the raid. The British destroyed munition works on the island and took 215 German and 10 Norwegian anti-British prisoners. They also sank 11 German ships.

New York Bus Strike Ties Up Transportation

NEW YORK, March 10 (AP)—The city's masses crowded and elbowed their way today through the worst transportation tie - up here since 1926. More than 800,000 bus riders were forced to find other means of travel as a result of a strike on two major bus lines.

Not a bus rolled over 27 routes, covering 95 per cent of the lines in Manhattan and two in Queens. Eleven of these routes are cross-town, for which there is virtually no substitute travel except taxi cabs.

"The whole system is tied up 100 per cent," conceded Edmund C. Collins, secretary of the two bus companies, the Fifth Avenue Coach company and the New York Omnibus corporation. Cabs and subways did a land office business.

Busses are vital in the city's transportation set-up, since trolley cars have almost disappeared from the streets of Manhattan.

The walk-out at 5 a.m. of 3,500 men, members of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), left 1,094 busses idle and added to the usual hurly-burly of the morning and evening rush hours.

F.R. Seeks Three Billion to Start Aid

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—With the bill authorizing the enormous British aid program all but enacted, the administration moved swiftly today to obtain the money—one well-informed senator said $3,000,000,000 would be sought as a starter.

President Roosevelt spent a busy day conferring with fiscal and legislative advisors and Speaker Rayburn, one of the latter, said that the chief executive would send to congress by midweek his initial request for cash and contract authorizations under the program.

Reliable sources have indicated, however, that long before these funds specifically earmarked for British arms can be voted, small naval vessels and other equipment already on hand will be on their way to the British.

The lease-lend bill itself needs only a few formalities to make it law. The house is scheduled to approve the senate's amendments tomorrow, after some brief debate. Mr. Roosevelt will sign the legislation "some time Wednesday undess we hit a snag not now foreseen" said Stephen Early, presidential secretary. Early added that the president might issue some announcement in connection with it but he did not know what form it would take.

Soon after the house convened today a messenger from the senate, Emmett Frazier, pushed through the swinging doors to the center aisle, bowed to the speaker and announced that "the senate has passed H. R. 1776 with amendments . . . "

Then Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) moved that the vote be taken tomorrow on agreeing to all the senate amendments, which would obviate the need for further legislative procedure. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the republican leader, agreed to this with the comment that each senate amendment "in my judgment helps the bill."

To expedite the appropriation legislation which the British aid program will entail, Mr. Roosevelt planned to confer tomorrow with a number of key men in the house—Chairmen May (D-Ky) of the military committee, Vinson (D-Ga) of the naval committee, Snyder (D-Pa) of the military appropriations subcommittee, Scrugham (D-Nev) of the naval appropriations subcommittee that handles deficiency funds—Representatives Woodrum (D-Va), Cannon (D-Mo) and a republican, Taber of New York.

Meanwhile William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France, told a house committee that while the defense program was progressing "well and honestly," it was "of the utmost importance that we draw a lesson from France and get into production at the same speed as if we were at war—and we all know that at present we are not producing that fast."

Declare Nation Will Sign Pact Within Week

Undercover Movements In Provinces to Resist Nazi Forces Reported

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 10 (AP)—Germany was reported in authoritative diplomatic quarters tonight to have dashed Yugoslav hopes of a compromise understanding with the axis and to have demanded full alliance in the three-power pact.

As a consequence, there were unconfirmed reports that Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Alsander Cincar-Markovic will go to Germany tomorrow or later in the week to join Bulgaria, Slovakia, Rumania and Hungary in the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis.

On the eve of the day it had been reported Yugoslav statesmen would go to Berlin to sign a friendship and nonaggression agreement with Germany, the nazi minister Viktor von Heeren was said to have called on Cincar-Markovic and declared such a compromise was not acceptable.

If German occupation becomes the lot of Yugoslavia, the operation may be not without difficulty, for reports here told of undercover movements in the provinces to organize resistance among hard-fighting peasants and war veterans.

One organization was said to be led by Kosca Pecanac, who helped direct Serb resistance to Germany and Austria-Hungary in the World war.

This organization, known as "Cetnik," was enrolling war veterans as well as youths.

From Rumania came the news that Germany's submarine assembly plant at the Black sea port of Constanta is working day and night assembling trainloads of small knocked-down submarines which have arrived the last few days.

In Bulgaria German troops and air force were reported steadily strengthening their positions and supply depots.

Greece, faced with the possibility of having to take the first blow of this nazi Balkan army, declared yesterday through her premier, Alexandros Korrizis, her determination "to die rather than be subdued" and to " win a brilliant victory over all enemies of our country."

Turkey was watching Yugoslavia's attitude toward German pressure before announcing her own policy regarding any nazi push into Greece.

The national assembly opened its spring session and devoted its entire attention to nazi threats in the Balkans. Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu discussed the nation's foreign policy in a secret session of the peoples' party to which all deputies of the essembly belong. The nature of his disclosure was not learned.

Headed by Minister George W. Rendel, the British legation and consular staffs of 61 persons and their families and seven other British subjects left Sofia at 11 p.m. for Turkey by special train.

Vichy Demands British Relax Merchant Ship Blockade

'I Will Let Nothing Stand in Way Of French People's Eating,' Jean Darlan

VICHY, France, March 10 (AP)—The French government, vowing that Frenchmen shall eat, served emphatic notice today that its naval ships would convoy merchantmen if the British persist in their blockade of France.

The Vichy regime's attitude was set forth by Admiral Jean Darlan, vice-premier and foreign minister, to American press representatives in the presence of Chief of State Philip Petain and Minister of Food Supply Jean Achard.

"If the British continue this blockade, which I consider idiotic, I will be obliged to ask permission to provide arms and protection for our merchantmen." Darlan said bitterly.

"I will let nothing stand in the way of the French people's eating. The Germans are more generous and more comprehensive of the needs of humanity than the English."

In London, British quarters intimated that the blockade would continue to be enforced, regardless of any protection for French merchantmen.

Informed circles in the British capital said they were without official word of Darlan's statement.

With the arrival of the United States Red Cross relief ship Cold Harbor at Marseille with a load of clothing and food, French leaders here disclosed that the government had appealed to the United States for 5,000,000 quintals (18,348,000 bushels) of wheat for unoccupied France.

U. S. Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy said here that he hoped increasing supplies would be sent for distribution to needy French civilians. He declared the Cold Harbor's cargo was symbolic of American sympathy for France "in her hour of need."

Darlan said he considered the British blockade against Germany to be "useless" and added that he had told Admiral Leahy as much last night.

A few boatloads of wheat, he added, will not affect the outcome of the war.

Here Marshal Petain, who like his colleagues appeared in serious mood throughout the interview, interrupted to point out that the Germans had released 2,000,000 quintals of the 2,700,000 quintals of wheat they had requisitioned for the German army.

Achard said the French were the world's heaviest bread eaters and could not live without bread. He added that the 1940 wheat harvest was little more than half of normal and that France needed the requested supplies from the United States if she was to survive.

Far Eastern Agreement Seen As French, Siamese Negotiate

12 Firemen Die, 28 Injured In Burning Theater

BROCKTON, Mass., March 10 (AP)—Death of 12 firemen and injury of 28 others in a $50,000 early-morning theater blaze left this industrial city's fire department crippled tonight.

Names of 10 of the injured were on the danger list at Brockton hospital and slim hope was held for recovery of one of them.

State inspectors immediately launched an investigation into the collapse (early today) of the snow-covered Strand motion picture theater roof during the height of the fire, plunging dozens of firemen from a balcony.

Mayor Fred Rowe called an emergency meeting of the city council and conferred with relief agencies to raise a fund for families of the victims. Flags throughout the city were at half-staff.

With entire squads virtually wiped out, every available reservist was summoned for duty.

Eight of the 12 day and night men in the special "squad A" division, which answers every alarm, were killed and two others injured. Only three of the eight men in the Central engine company reported for work tonight.

Japanese Mediation Forced Arbitration, Indo-China Head Says

TOKYO, March 11 (Tuesday)—Formal conclusion of the tense negotiations between Thailand and the French over Indo-China is expected in informed quarters with the initialing of a peace agreement today.

Minor modifications were believed to have been arranged at a 90-minute conference yesterday between French Ambassador Charles Arsene Henry and Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, who acted as mediator. Thailand already had informed the Japanese of her acceptance.

Forced Arbitration

The negotiations were stalemated several times after the armistice of Jan. 31 twice had been extended and Japan twice had set a time limit for French ratification of the terms.

Admiral Jean Decoux, governor-general of Indo-China, sent word to the French consulate at Singapore that "we are proceeding not toward equitable mediation, but toward forced arbitration." The Thai government at Bangkok charged new outbreaks had occurred along the frontier in the last two days.

Thailand started out by demanding about one-third of the provinces of Cambdoia and Laos, but was reported to have trimmed her territorial terms drastically.

British Bombs Hit Italian Held Ethiopian Rail

CAIRO, Egypt, March 10 (AP)—British forces pressing into Ethiopia have struck at the Italian lifeline by bombing the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway, the RAF command announced today, while a report from Khartoum in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan said Ethiopian patriots and British troops have driven the retreating Italians out of Dembacha, 190 miles by winding road from Addis Ababa.

A train near Diredawa and the airport at that town, 65 miles from the border of British Somaliland, were declared blasted by British bombers Saturday night, despite a sharp battle put up by Italian fighter planes. The British also said they attacked the station at Addagalla, about 50 miles northeast of Diredawa.

$38,000 Vanishes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A package containing $38,000 was reported yesterday to have vanished from the Miami postoffice and investigators said the list of suspects had narrowed to one.

Senate O.K.s Air Station Bill

Expeditionary Landing Boats Built at Norfolk

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The senate gave swift and unanimous approval today to legislation authorizing the establishment of naval air stations at eight bases being acquired from Great Britain in exchange for destroyers.

The construction work at the British bases, estimated to cost $58,250,000, was part of a $346,031,383 program which included also strengthening facilities at Guam and Samoa and development of defense works in the Alaskan, Panama Canal, Caribbean and continental United States areas.

The program had previously been authorized by the house, which now must act on senate amendments.

In connection with one part of the building program at the Norfolk navy yard, the committee reported that "a large number of expeditionary landing boats are being assembled in the Norfolk area in connection with expeditionary force preparations."

The navy explained that this meant that 404 blunt-nose, open craft were being built as "a normal preparedness measure" and would be stored until needed. No specific expedition was contemplated, navy officials emphasized. The vessels, similar to the navy's conventional motor sailers, are being built at New Orleans at a cost of about $5,000,000. The size of the vessels was not stated, but the navy's existing motor sailers carry about 90 men each.

Close on the heels of the naval public works measures, the senate approved a $1,533,567,102 supplemental defense fund, of which $169,415,000 would be allocated for carrying out projects previously authorized.

12 States Fail to Receive Ruling From Supreme Court

Fascist Editor Insists Roosevelt Planning Crisis

ROME, March 10 (AP)—The government - controlled Italian press denounced the United States' British aid program today as intervention against the axis likely to involve America in a two-ocean war.

The pitch was set by Virginio Gayda, fascism's leading editorial spokesman. There was no official comment.

The possibility of involvement of the United States in a conflict with Japan was emphasized by Gayda, editor of Il Giornale D'Italia.

"Roosevelt's move, which is open intervention in the war against the axis," he wrote, "may finally bring into play the functions of the tripartite pact and create surprises for England and the United States in the Pacific."

Kansas City Slayer Leaves Trail of Clues

KANSAS CITY, March 10 (AP)—Police speculated tonight on the peculiarities of a sadistic slayer who plotted his bedroom attack on pretty Leila Adele Welsh so carefully he did not awaken her mother or brother—yet left a 100-yard trail of clues as he fled.

Miss Welsh, 24-year-old runnerup in a Kansas City university beauty contest four years ago, was hammered to death early Sunday morning. Her throat was severely slashed and a deep section was cut from her hip.

Police said the slayer presumably had plotted the attack in detail—but abandoned an eight-pound railroad hammer at the foot of her bed, jabbed a knife with a seven-inch blade into the yard and dropped the piece of hip flesh 100 yards away. He wore gloves so he would not leave fingerprints; then discarded the gloves near the house.

Under direction of Lear B. Reed, police chief recruited from the FBI, officers began one of the most meticulous searches here in years.

Recommend Beverage Curfew

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A uniform closing hour of 1 a.m. for been and liquor sales in Nebraska was recommended late yesterday by the legislature's judiciary committee.

Seek Legal Decision For Collection Of Compensation Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—Twelve states failed today to obtain a supreme court ruling as to the legality of their procedure in collecting unemployment compensation taxes.

At issue was a decision by the Indiana supreme court holding unconstitutional a state law which permitted small companies under the same ownership, which would not be subject to the unemployment tax individually, to be grouped together and subjected collectively to the assessment.

The Indiana tribunal had reversed a judgment of a lower court and returned the case to the lower court for final disposition. The supreme court refused a review "for want of a final judgment."

In addition to Indiana, the states seeking a supreme court ruling were Virginia, Oklahoma, New Mexico, North Carolina, Florida, Maine, Louisiana, Missouri, Mississippi, Illinois and North Dakota. Their petition said a score of other states also had similar legislation.

U. S. Army Passes Million Men Mark As Program Expands

WASHINGTON, March 10 (AP)—The army passed the million mark today in its rapid expansion, attaining the highest total since demobilization of the 3,673,388-man World war army more than two decades ago.

The war department reported 68,500 regular, national guard and reserve officers were on duty, and 935,000 enlisted men.

The navy's latest count showed 229,936 officers and men on March 1, when the marine corps reported 48,517.

The army is scheduled to reach 1,418,000 by mid-June, with the induction of additional selective service trainees, mobilization of remaining guardsmen and acquisition of more volunteers by the regulars.

Ames Bans Fraternity

AMES (AP)—As a result of pranks last week attributed to its pledges, the Iowa State college chapter of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, yesterday was suspended for an "indefinite period" by the college government committee.

Air Transport Falls; None Seriously Hurt

CINCINNATI, March 10 (AP)—An American Airlines DC-3 transport with eight passengers aboard crashed coming into Lunken airport tonight, but none of the passengers or crew of three was injured beyond "cuts, bruises and shaking up," Jack Ruelin, a line reservations agent, said.

The plane, flight 20 from Chicago to Washington and New York, struck soft dirt at the edge of the runway and one wing hit a levee along the Little Miami river. The plane did not upset, but was damaged considerably, Ruelin said.

RAF, Nazis Trade Heavy Night Attacks

LONDON, March 10 (AP)—The RAF heavily attacked the German-held port of Boulogne in brilliant moonlight tonight while the nazi Luftwaffe concentrated for the second successive night on an English south coast town and set the sirens screaming in London, East Anglia and along the east coast as well.

The RAF raid was a repeat performance after three unopposed sweeps over the French coast in the afternoon, British sources reported.

In Turn, the German attack on the south coast of England was reported fairly heavy, and London had two alarms before midnight.

London heard no planes, but on both occasions the raiders got a roaring reception from anti-aircraft guns along the Thames estuary and apparently turned back short of the city after trying to fly over and under the barrage.

To Hold Hearing on Office Building Proposal—

May Defer Library Project

DES MOINES, March 10 (AP)—The Iowa house appropriations committee today linked the fate of the proposed new library for the University of Iowa with the state office building project.

Agreement was reached in the committee to defer action on the $2,000,000 library project until after a hearing has been held in the senate chamber on the $1,650,000 office building proposal.

Asked if the action meant the committee intended to approve one, but not both, the capital improvement projects, members said: "You can draw your own conclusions on that."

The library request has been presented on a four-unit basis to the committee by the university authorities. Each unit would cost $500,000 and an appropriation for "one or more" sections has been asked.

The state office building project calls for a structure on the statehouse grounds to house governmental departments now renting space in various downtown buildings.

The committee also recommended passage of a bill to appropriate $44,863 for operation of the department of health's vital statistics division the next two years. That division has been overburdened for several months with requests for birth record certifications arising from national defense jobs.

Meanwhile, representatives of Iowa manufacturers and labor fought out the seasonal industry unemployment compensation bill all over again in a house social security committee session.

The same forces clashed several days ago in a senate committee hearing.

E. H. Pollard, Ft. Madison attorney, disputed statements that the Iowa compensation fund was in strong financial condition from a long-pull standpoint.

The $17,500,000 on hand, he said, "averages less than $60 per employe."

"How long," he asked, "would that last during a depression?"

The bill, which passed the senate some time ago, provides that a person who normally works only nine months a year is not to be considered unemployed the other three months and therefore is not to be eligible for benefits.

A. A. Couch, president of the Iowa state federation of labor, declared that the employer really doesn't pay the compensation tax.

"The employer passes it along to the consumer in the cost of the finished product," he declared. "It does not come out of the employer's pocket."

Couch charged that employers would seek to crowd all the production possible into 36 or 37 weeks under the terms of the bill. They then could qualify as a seasonal industry and could lay off men disqualified from drawing benefits the rest of the year, he said.

"They have done it in the past and they will do it in the future," he declared. "This is unfair to the workers of Iowa." He said it would raise taxes by boosting relief load requirements in communities where benefit checks have helped tide families over the seasonal periods.

'GOD AND THE PROFESSORS'

'. . . the Professors Do Not Like to Feel That They Share Even a Common Majority Opinion With Each Other . . .'

by
Mortimer J. Adler
Part II

The Failure of Mr. Hutchins

We do not even have to wait until this conference is over to discover its futility and the reasons therefor. The glorious Quixotic failure of President Hutchins to accomplish any of the essential reforms which American education so badly needs, demonstrates the point to us.

In fact, if he could have succeeded, this conference would not be necessary now. The fact that he did not succeed may make this conference necessary, in the sense that fundamental rectifications of modern culture are imperative; but if we understand why, in the nature of the situation, Hutchins could not succeed, we also see why a conference of professors about the defects of the modern mentality must be self-defeating.

What did Mr. Hutchins propose? He proposed, in the first place, that man is a rational animal, essentially distinct from the brutes, and hence, that education should cultivate the moral and intellectual virtues.

He proposed, in the second place, that science, philosophy and theology are distinct bodies of knowledge, radically different as to methods of knowing as well as with respect to objects known.

But he went further. He said that theoretic philosophy delves more deeply into the nature of things than all the empirical sciences; that, as theoretic knowledge, philosophy is superior to the sciences by reason of the questions it can answer. He said that practical philosophy, dealing with ethical and political problems, is superior to applied science, because the latter at best gives us control over the physical means to be used, whereas practical philosophy determines the ends to be sought, and the ordering of all means thereto.

Hence the structure of a university should not be a miscellaneous collection of departments from astronomy to zoology, with all treated as equally important theoretically and practically, but a hierarchy of studies, ordered educationally according to their intrinsic merits.

Because of the fact that our secular universities harbor a diversity of religious faiths, Mr. Hutchins placed metaphysics at the summit instead of theology. For man the highest knowledge, and the most indispensible to his well-being, is the knowledge of God; and since the ultimate conclusions of metaphysics comprise a natural theology, metaphysics is the supreme subject-matter in the domain of natural knowledge.

But Mr. Hutchins would have to admit (and he indicated his willingness to) that if there is a better knowledge of God, and man's relation to God, than metaphysics offers, then such a knowledge is superior to philosophy, both theoretically and practically, just as philosophy is superior to science.

Traditional Judaism and Christianity do, of course, claim that there is such knowlede, the sacred theology that rests on faith in God's revelation of Himself. It is properly distinguished from both science and philosophy as a supernatural knowledge, which man cannot have without God's direct aid.

Why Mr. Hutchins Failed

Why did Mr. Hutchins fail? Anyone who has ever attended a faculty meeting knows the answer. It can be discovered by anyone who will read the reviews of the Higher Learning in America, written by the professors, or what is worse, the professional educators.

He failed, not because his analysis was patiently demonstrated to be in error, but because someone proved that philosophy does not exist or is inferior to science; or that religon is superstition, and sacred theology is a rationalization of some make-believe.

He failed because he was asking professors to change their minds to agree about something. He failed as much with the professors of philosophy as with the professors of science; he failed even more with those teachers of religion who regard themselves as liberal.

What Huchins proposed ran counter to every prejudice that constitutes the modern frame of mind, and its temper. The professors being in the vast majority, and ultimately controlling, as they should, educational policy, it was naive of Mr. Hutchins to suppose that he could reform education by appealing to truths the professors ignored or denied.

Worse than naive, he had the effrontery to assume that if the professors were ignorant of certain truths or had neglected the implications of others, they would submit themselves to teaching on these points.

Since the professors cannot conceive themselves as being taught, certainly not by anyone without a Ph.D. in their field, the man who tries to argue with the plain intention of winning agreement must really be trying to impose his doctrine.

The simplest way to deal with a fellow like Hutchins is to call him a fascist.

Now I want to make one thing absolutely clear. I am not begging the question in this issue between Mr. Hutchins and his opponents, by proceeding as if I have proved the former right and the latter wrong. I know I have not proved the truth of any of the theses mentioned, nor have I proved the falsity of their contraries. With the time at my disposal that would be impossible to do under any circumstances; and even with much more time I would not try with this audience.

With a few notable exceptions, the members of this conference represent the American academic mind. It is that fact itself which makes it unnecessary, as well as unwise, for me to make any effort in the way of reasoning.

I know too well, from much experience, the opinion of this audience, and of all the professors they represent—about the nature and relationship of science, philosophy and religion.

I also know, because I have tried so many times to present an analysis with the fullest supporting arguments, precisely what reactions such procedure calls forth. Fortunately, there is no need to verify this once again, because on this occasion I am concerned only to show the futility of a conference of professors about science, philosophy and religion.

The Paradox of Professors

That can be shown very simply. Either the prevailing opinions of the professors are right or they are wrong. Let us suppose, for the moment, that they are right, that what is now generally taught in American schools about the relation of science, philosophy and religion, is the true account.

If it is true, there is nothing wrong with modern culture, for modern culture, in all its practices and institutions, embodies these opinions. On this alternative, therefore, it is difficult to see why there should be any conference about science, philosophy and religion.

If, however, on the other alternative, the prevailing professorial opinions on these matters are wrong, and if, in addition, modern culture suffers grave disorders precisely because it embodies these opinions, then there is some point to a conference which would work to correct prevalent errors.

But then it is pointless to ask the professors to consider the problem. They have already considered it and told us their answers in all their teaching and educational decisions. The same majority point of view will dominate this conference, as in the Hutchins controversy.

Of course, the minority view will get a hearing, with all that indifference about the truth which hides behind the mask of tolerance, but it is a foregone conclusion that nobody's mind will be changed; in fact, everyone knows that is not the aim of a conference, anyway.

Hence, when all is said and done, the relative weights of majority and minority opinion will be registered once more. The conference will have exhibited the characteristic mentality of our culture, and those who are deeply concerned about changing that mentality will be confirmed in their pessimism that nothing, simply nothing can be done to reform our education or to reorient our culas positivists. The very essence at this con-

Now I am well aware that my colleagues do not think there is any such clear-cut division between a majortiy and a minority view of science, philosophy and religion. For one thing, they do not like to acknowledge the existence of clear-cut issues, with truth on one side, and error on the other; if there were such issues, then anyone who undertook to think about them might be obliged to risk his academic reputation by coming to a definite conclusion.

For another thing, the professors do not like to feel that they share even a common majority opinion with each other. The sacred individuality of each professor can be preserved only by differing.

When one is in substantial sympathy with what a colleague has to say, he still safeguards his freedom of opinion by saying the same thing some other way. Most professors seem to feel that agreement, even if freely reached, violates their personal integrity.

Professors Are Positivists

Nevertheless, I charge the professors—and here I am speaking of the vast majority—with being in substantial agreement on one side of the crucial issues this conference faces. I say that most of them are positivists. I know that there are enough varieties of positivism to permit the professors to retain their individuality, but I insist that behind the multiplicity of technical jargons there is a single doctrine.

The essential point of that doctrine is simply affirmation of science, and the denial of philosophy and religion. Again I am aware that the professors will smile at my simplicity. Whoever heard anyone, except a few violent extremists, flatly denying philosophy and religion?

As a matter of fact, such dogmatic denials are made only by a small circle of "philosophers" who blatently advertise themselves as positivitis. The very essence at this conference of scientists, philosophers and theologians shows that the representatives of the several disciplines respect each other; the fact that they are willing to listen to each other's papers shows the spirit of cooperation which prevails among them.

One even begins to wonder about the sanity of those who talk about the disorder and disunity of modern culture. The real problem of this conference must be the perils of democracy; it certainly cannot be the issue about positivism.

Despite such blandishment, I repeat my charge. The professors, by and large, are positivists. And, furthermore, I say that the most serious threat to democracy is the positivism of the professors which dominates every aspect of modern education and is the central corruption of modern culture.

Democracy has much more to fear from the mentality of its teachers than from the nihilism of Hitler. It is the same nihilism in both cases, but Hitler's is more honest, and consistent, less blurred by subtleties and easy qualifications, and hence less dangerous. I shall return to this point after I have supported my charge.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

There's More Aid Coming for China

WASHINGTON—Bigger aid to China is coming—let the Japs bristle or not. The president's special Far Eastern emissary, Laughlin Currie, is due here Tuesday with a personal report on China's expenditure of $100,000,000 already advanced. From cabled reports that have come back from him to the state department, it is apparent he will recommend further substantial advances. The amount will be determined by Mr. Roosevelt's negotiations with his lender, Jesse Jones. The news may be timed to Matsuoka's meeting with Hitler.

F.D.R. SPOOFING?—

Mr. Roosevelt said he had a list of slacker manufacturers who would not cooperate about two weeks ago, but a week ago he would say only that the plants had not been taken over and he did not know whether the list was still under study. As near as I can ascertain he was spoofing both times.

Defense authorities say they have no knowledge of a list of non-cooperators. Apparently they were dealing two weeks ago with a few particularly tough babies whom they could not bring around. When the president's threat reached the press, they came in hastily.

That British crisis which was coming in 60 to 90 days is just about due. Cabineteers Hull and Knox forecast it privately as far back as mid-December, and War Secretary Stimson predicted it publicly January 17. Apparently they are still sticking to their story although some of the military experts behind them are becoming doubtful about it.

The latest code messages from Europe now predict the Hitler invasion blow is to fall within 3 or 4 weeks. It is not likely to be tried until the Balkan threat is ended or after the long winter nights wane into brief periods of covering darkness. Ideal night weather should be provided around April 1.

HITLER'S INVASION—

But no one here is sure now invasion will be attempted. The British have noticed Hitler's claims on submarine sinkings are being exaggerated three-fold. He seems to be trying to lead his people to believe he can win the war by blockade without invasion. This is the new line he also hinted openly in his last speech.

His communiques lately have also been fibbing on damage done by the British bombing in Germany. A Berlin communique said only 2 or 3 people were killed and slight damage done in the Dusseldorf raid, but everyone at Dusseldorf could see the damage was far more extensive. Obviously he cannot fool his people indefinitely with these short range tactics.

Reasoning along this line, the military thinkers here chase themselves back to their original conviction that the least he can try this spring is an all-out air attack against Britain to test definitely whether invasion would be feasible.

LEASE LEND OPPOSITION—

It was not administration pressure which prevented the filibuster on the lease-lend-sell-give away bill. The opposition just could not muster the strength for it in their strategy meetings. Sen. Taft of Ohio, for instance, said flatly that he had no tolerance of filibusters. Not even 10 or 12 senators could be gathered together to agree to speak indefinitely.

Calm counsel within the opposition was obviously mindful that the employment of such a desperate weapon would make the mud slinging that has gone on so far seem like child's play and tear the country apart.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

The Funniest Scene Of Current Broadway

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the most amusing scenes of any comedy on Broadway takes place in the first act of "Claudia" with Donald Cook, Frances Starr, and Dorothy McGuire participating. This is a comedy of young marriage, and Dorothy McGuire (the bride) announces suddenly that the bank has made a mistake of $102 in her account and she intends to write them a letter about it at once.

"Don't be silly," her husband (Cook) tells her. "Banks don't make mistakes. If they made the mistake of one penny they'd stay up all night."

"Then you admit they do make mistakes?"

"Nothing of the sort, they don't make mistakes."

"Why don't they?"

"Because," Don replies, "they use adding machines."

"What's that got to do with it!" cries Dorothy. Julia uses a washing machine and look what happened to your shirts last week."

This goes on for some minutes and Dorothy turns to her mother (Frances Starr) and to her husband and holds up a letter. "I've written the bank about that mistake," she says, "see if you think it sounds all right. . . . 'My dear Gentlemen'," she begins to read, but her mother interrupts her.

"Just say 'Gentlemen'."

"Or just 'my dear'," wisecracks her husband. Whereupon he rises and goes through her account book and points out where she has neglected to enter a check for the missing amount.

This comedy is one of three new plays all dealing with young married life. It points, perhaps, a trend away from the heaviness of war and conflicting ideologies that have infected most playwrights in recent seasons. It is light, simple, and its whole structure is based on charm. For this observer's money it is the nicest evening in the theater in all New York.

The Eaves costume shop, in 46th street, which costumes a majority of New York's plays, advertises "two million buttons" and an exhaustive library of costumes, ranging through the centuries.

We called on them this morning and Mr. T. Lanzill, the manager, took us through the establishment. He showed us costumes dating back to the 16th century. You can dress as a rabble poet of the Paris gutters of 1603 or as a Neopolitan dandy of 1743 or as one of Teddy Roosevelt's rough riders simply by stating a preference. No costume, he assured us, is too remote to hope for.

He showed us the early Dutch rags worn by Walter Huston in "Knickerbocker Holiday." There were the bleak, New England frocks worn by Ruth Gordon in "Ethan Frome." He had the silly, picturesque costumes of "White Horse Inn," and the bright shining armor that Katharine Cornell had for "St. Joan."

It's an eye-opening display.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

The Tidal Wave Of Musical Films

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — The predicted tidal wave of musical films is on its way. The singles already released represent the merest preliminary trickles in the advancing flood.

On a recent day in the studios, when on the various lots a total of 50 pictures were in production, four of the number dealt in tunes wholesale: RKO's "Sunny," with Anna Neagle, MGM's "Lady Be Good," with Ann Sothern, 20th Century's "Great American Broadcast" with Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, John Payne, and Republic's "Sis Hopkins," with Judy Canova and Jerry Colonna.

It was a musically "quiet" day — the calm before the lilting thunderstorm. The week's previews were significant. Three out of four featured music, emphasizing the colorature gifts of Misses Deanna Durbin, Susanna Foster and Kathryn Grayson.

In the immediate offing are films like "The Chocolate Soldier," from the operetta, for Nelson Eddy and the girl from opera, Rise Stevens, "Birth of the Blues," for Bing Crosby and Mary Martin; "Rookies on Parade," comedy with music for Bob Crosby and Ruth Terry; "Miami," for Carole Landis and Jack Halley; "Show Business," for Rudy Vallee and a raft of musical talent including Ann Miller, Rosemary Lane, Glen Gray and orchestra, and Six Hits and a Miss.

Columbia and 20th Century-Fox seem to think more highly of the musical trend than other lots. Zanuck has been adding color musicals to his schedule with such regularity, it's difficult to report, on a given day, whether the total is seven, eight, or nine—but it adds up to busy times ahead for people like Payne, Faye, Grable and Don Ameche. Columbia, sponsoring "Show Business," is busy on "Betty Co-ed," which will bring back dancing Ruby Keeler with Harriett Hilliard and her band leader-husband, Ozzie Nelson.

With B. G. (Buddy) DeSylva the production chief at Paramount now, you can look for that lot, currently engrossed in comedy, drama, and melodrama, to lean toward greater musical emphasis. DeSylva's recent films ("Bachelor Mother," "Caught in the Draft") were non-musical but his early productions at 20th and Universal stressed the tuneful.

Samuel Goldwyn, ready for production again, has the new version of his early Eddie Cantor success, "Whoopee!" in line for Bob Hope. "New Wine," the Ilona Massey vehicle, may prompt another quick casting of this singing beauty. Add to these the pictures coming up for Gloria Jean, Deanna Durbin, Susanna Foster, Kay Kyser, Kathryn Grayson et als (all either comedies or romance with music) and you've got more than a "musical cycle" — it's an avalanche.

All it needs to make it official is for Warner's to do something serious about re-filming "The Desert Song"—long talked about but never actually cast.

Speaking of Religion

A Lenten Feature on Current Religious Thought in the News

Compiled by Llewelyn A. Owen, Minister, Iowa City Congregational Church (with the Cooperation Of the National Religious News Service)

A Christian Attempt At Far-Eastern Peace

NEW YORK—A cabled plea from the Japan National Christian council urging Japanese and American church leaders to come together in a joint conference for the purpose of maintaining peace between the two countries, has been "warmly welcomed" here by officials of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, the International Missionary council and the Foreign Missions conference.

According to officials of the three American church groups, the proposed conference will probably be held in San Francisco in late March. Seven to ten Japanese delegates are expected to make the trip.

Decision to call the conference was hastened when 119 American missionaries resident in Japan recently cabled their misgivings regarding American-Japanese relations. The cable was preceded by a request from the Japan Christian council that American and Japanese Christians join in a prayer for "world peace and continued amicable relations between our nations."

In response to this request a committee of the Foreign Missions conference approached the federal council with a proposal for a "joint call to prayer addressed to the Christians of America for peace in the Pacific based on reconciliation, mutual understanding and justice."

The call to prayer is currently being planned by the Federal Council and the Foreign Missions conference.

Ray Herbeck's Band Features Engineers' Week at Mecca Ball March 21

Will Present Queen Chosen From Candidates

Ray Herbeck and his orchestra return to the Iowa campus to play for the Mecca Ball, March 21, from 9 to 12 p.m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Mecca Queen will be presented at the dance by St. Patrick, patron of the engineers. She will be chosen from a group of six candidates, which include Florence Healy, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Fern Eggen, A3 of Charles City; Mary Jo Martin, A1 of Chicago, Ill.; Betty Jean Hagman, A2 of Huron, S. D.; Mary Callahan, A2 of Osceola, and Lucille Hobart, N2 of Davenport.

Herbeck and his band, here for the Spinsters' Spree in 1939, have recently completed engagements at the St. Paul hotel in St. Paul, Minn.; the Greyhound Club in Louisville, Ky.; The Mansion in Youngstown, Ohio; Euclid Beach in Cleveland, Ohio; Chippewa Lake, Ohio; Bill Green's Casino in Pittsburgh, Penn.; the Dayton-Biltmore hotel in Dayton, Ohio, and the Dellwood Club in Buffalo, N. Y. He has been acclaimed by Radio Editors of the Pacific coast to be America's all Tone Stylist with his romantic soft style music.

The Mecca Ball, annual dance sponsored by the engineers, is one of the highlights of Mecca Week activities. Among other Mecca events is the smoker to be held March 20. At this time the Mecca queen will be chosen by means of secret ballot by the engineers present. The last feature of Mecca Week will be the banquet, to be held March 23.

Members in charge of the ball are Robert Miller, E4 of Waverly, chairman; George Meyers, E4 of Chicago, Ill.; William Kirkpatrick, E4 of Spencer, Ia.; Clarence Hamaker, E4 of Spencer, S. D.; Robert Parden, E1 of Iowa City, and Alfred Holmberg, E2 of Glenbrook, Conn.

Spring Daze!

Easter Recess Opens On April 9

An Easter recess of five and one-half days has been scheduled for the University of Iowa, beginning at noon April 9.

Equal in length to other Easter vacations of recent years, the recess will end Tuesday, April 15 at 8 a.m. when classes in all colleges are resumed.

With the exception of Memorial day May 30, the Easter recess is the only one of the second semester at the university. Second semester classes end May 17, followed by a week of examinations, and the official end of the semester is June 2.

Andre Frere, French Actor, To Appear Here

Dramatic monologues, presented in both English and French, will comprise the program of Andre Frere, French actor, Thursday at 8 p.m. in room 221A, Schaeffer hall. He is brought to the campus by Phi Sigma Iota, honorary romance language fraternity.

Frere made his debut in Brussells and joined the Pitoeff company in Paris. Among the dramas in which he has played are "Angelica" by Leo Ferrero, "The White Gloves" by H. Bergman and the French translation of "Saint Joan" by Bernard Shaw.

He has made tours in France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and England, where he played at the Globe theater in London.

After coming to New York with the Four Seasons Theater company, Frere began to devote his activities to original monologues, impersonating diverse characters. "A Country Neighbor," "Rue de la Paix," "Collar Button" and "Choosing a Tie" are some of his sketches.

He has played before students at New York university, Barnard college, University of Pennsylvania, Queens college, Columbia university and Alliances Francaises of New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

Frere was director of dramatic activities at the French camp in British Columbia, Canada, last summer.

Bartlett and Robertson Appear Here Tomorrow

Piano Team Finishes Union Concert Slate

Famed British Duo Brings Vast Repertory; Tickets Now on Sale

The famous British piano team, Bartlett and Robertson, will appear in the main lounge of Iowa Union tomorrow at 8 p.m., presenting the final performance of the university concert course.

Tickets to the program, both reserved and general admission, are on sale at room 15, music studio building.

Pianists Married

The team, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, studied under Tobias Matthay in London before they were married. Ethel Bartlett is a native of London. Rae Robertson is from Scotland. He received his M.A. degree from the University of Edinburgh.

With one of the most complete two-piano repertories in the world today, they have appeared in concerts with outstanding orchestras throughout the world. This is their 11th tour of the United States.

First British Piano Duo

Playing the most difficult two-piano music ever written, the team never uses music during the performance.

Bartlett and Robertson were the first two British artists to play music for two pianos. Because of the limited number of two-piano selections, many composers have written compositions especially for them.

"Symphony No. 4 in A Major" by Mendelssohn will be played by the Boston symphony orchestra.

'Local Buying Blocks Trade'

Prof. Frank Horack Describes Efforts Of States to Monopolize Business

"The 'Buy at Home' slogan has extended as a trade-barrier to the states in a capacity heretofore unknown," said Prof. Frank E. Horack before members of the League of Women Voters yesterday afternoon in the river room of Iowa Union. Professor Horack is a faculty member of the university political science department.

"To protect local egg producers, for example, Arizona defines fresh eggs as those laid within the state, and eggs imported from another state must be labelled 'shipped'," explained Professor Horack.

Milk too is subject to control acts. Some dairy states practically prohibit the importation of milk within their borders. Food laws are enacted not to protect the consumer but to promote the "buy at home" campaign, according to Professor Horack.

"A group of states require their public institutions to use only domestic products and supplies. Iowa requires that institutions must purchase Iowa coal from producers complying with the workman's compensation and mining laws of the state. California insists that school textbooks be written and published in California."

Professor Horack stated that motor vehicle laws constitute the greatest barrier to trade between the states. In some states the merchant trucker is encouraged to come into the state to buy but not to sell.

"Perhaps these state trade barriers will pass with the passing of the conditions which gave rise to them, but I doubt if we are in danger of their leading to armed strife as some writers will have us believe," concluded Professor Horack.

St. Patrick's Dinner Given This Evening

Tonight at 6:15, the members of the Triangle club will participate in a St. Patrick's dinner in the Triangle ballroom of Iowa Union.

The decorations will continue the St. Patrick theme. Mrs. Charles Looney is chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Anton Kalinske, Mrs. Richard Leutwieler, Mrs. E. K. Mapes, Mrs. L. A. Bradley, Mrs. Ralph Barnes and Mrs Wilfrid Sellars.

Prof. Meno Spann will give a puppet show on the modern version of "Dr. Faust," by Marlowe.

Phi Delts Will Hold Regional Convention Friday, Saturday

Panel Discusssions, Founder's Day Dinner Highlight Program

Delegates from 18 chapters of Phi Delta Theta fraternity will be on the campus this week end to attend their midwestern regional convention.

About 150 men are expected to register Friday morning in the lobby on the second floor of Old Capitol. There will be delegates from the following colleges and universities: University of Minnesota; University of North Dakota; Westminster college; Washington university, Mo.; Kansas State college; University of Nebraska; University of Texas.

University of Manitoba; University of Missouri; Washburn college; University of Kansas; University of South Dakota; University of Oklahoma; Southwestern university; Southern Methodist university; Iowa Wesleyan; Iowa State college, and the University of Iowa.

National Officers

Among registrants will be 12 national officers of Phi Delta Theta: Charles E. Gotsches, president of the general council, Mt Vernon, Wash.; Emmitt Junge, treasurer, Lincoln, Neb.; John Blue, finance commissioner, New York City; Dean Hoffman, alumni commissioner, Harrisburg, Pa.

Ray Blackwell, scholarship commissioner, Olivet, Mich.; Paul C. Bean, executive secretary, and James Coch, assistant executive secretary, Oxford, Ohio; Latney Barnes, Mexico, Mo.; Leonard Savage, Oklahoma City, Okla., Edwin Neal, Minneapolis, Minn., and William Hughey, Iowa City, province presidents.

Seven Panels

A part of the planned program will consist of seven panel discussions. Each panel will be made up of a chairman and four delegates.

Friday evening a Founders Day banquet will be given in the river room of the Union. After dinner speakers will be Charles E. Gotsches, and Dean M. Hoffman. Scott Pidgeon, 1915 graduate of the university, vice-president of the Bankers Trust company of Des Moines, will act as toastmaster.

The committee in charge of the convention includes William Hughey, province president and regional director, assisted by Barnes, Savage and Neal, other province presidents.

The convention will close with a conference dance in the Silver Shadow at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Student Work Now Available

University students are needed for temporary and regular board employment, according to Lee H. Kann, manager of the university employment bureau.

"Opportunities are especially good for students who have no 8 and 11 o'clock or no 8 and 1 o'clock classes or who have afternoons free," Kann said.

Students interested should inquire at the university employment bureau.

Hawk Swimmers Down Wisconsin, 51 to 33

Reserves Take Over Scoring For Hawkeyes

Moore Scores Double As Iowa Wins Eight Out of Nine Events

By DALE BOYD

An Iowa swimming team, made up almost entirely of reserves, overwhelmed the Badger tankmen in the Iowa pool last night, 51 to 33. Swimming the short course, Hawk mermen took firsts in eight of the nine events against Wisconsin to mark up their fifth dual meet victory of the season and their fourth in Big Ten competition.

Sophomore Clarence Moore was high scorer for Coach Dave Armbruster's men and the only double winner of the meet. He took first place honors in the 100- and 220-yard free style events.

Connell Hurt Again

Nick Connell, a first year spring board artist for the Hawks, took a third setback last night in his collegiate diving career. Out of competition earlier in the season because of a dislocated elbow, the sophomore diver returned to the squad in time to participate in the Carleton and Minnesota meets. Last week end in the conference preliminaries, he fractured a bone in his right hand after hitting it on the board in an attempt to do a one and one half gainer.

Last night Connell dived again with the aid of a metal brace. In an attempt to complete the same dive, he again struck his hand on the board. The extent of the injury is not yet known. Ironically enough, although completing only eight of the ten required dives, Connell placed third in the event, just seven points short of the second place winner.

Northwestern Saturday

The Iowa tankmen, 1941 runners-up in the conference meet, invade Northwestern Saturday night in their final meet of the season before the NCAA championships. The Hawks are conceded a slight edge over the Wildcats at Evanston.

Summaries:

300-yard medley relay—Won by Iowa (Mahoney, Johnson and Karaffa). Time—3:09.4.

220-yard free style — Won by Moore (Iowa); second, Techmeyere (Wisconsin); third, Lounsbury (Iowa).

60-yard free style—Won by E. Armbruster (Iowa); second, Vopal (Wisconsin); third, Krizan (Iowa). Time—:30.3.

Low board fancy diving—Won by Cupp (Iowa) 97.2; third, Ritter (Wisconsin) 89.6; third, Connell (Iowa) 82.1.

100-yard free style — Won by Moore (Iowa); second, Gerlach (Wisconsin); third, Bleckwen (Wisconsin). Time—:56.8.

150-yard back stroke—Won by Jones (Iowa); second, Horton (Wisconsin); third, Pohle (Wisconsin). Time—1:45.

200-yard breast stroke—Won by Johnson (Iowa); second, Stompner (Wisconsin); third, Sherer (Wisconsin). Time—2:35.4.

440-yard free style — Won by Teckmeyer (Wisconsin); second, Lounsbury (Iowa); third, Merrill (Iowa). Time—5:16.7.

400-yard free style relay—Won by Iowa (E. Armbruster, Lopin, Kemnitz and Wenstrom). Time—3:38.2.

Nile Kinnick Plays in Tourney

Enters Medal League With Law Quintet; Play Starts Monday

Headed by Nile Kinnick, Iowa's all-time football great, the Iowa Laws yesterday entered the Gold Medal basketball tourney to be held at the Recreation center March 17-22.

Entered by Jack Stork, the Laws include Kinnick in their lineup, Pete Glass, former Central college cage star; Jack Eicherly, Hawkeye football captain in 1938; Dan Whalen of St. Ambrose; Elbert Estey; Bill Stuart, and Dick Zellhauer. Stork is a member of the St. Mary's Alumni city league team.

Another entry to the tournament is the University of Iowa's Hillel club, managed by Abe B. Rosenberg.

Combining some of the best basketball talent in the city league, Manager Bill Leuz will present an all-star front for his Kelley Cleaners entry. Dean Shannon, Joe Maher and Vic Belger, all St. Mary's stars, will team with Russ Weenick, former all-stater from South Dakota, and Dick Donahue, an all-Catholic high school player from St. Ambrose, in the starting lineup.

Danceland of Cedar Rapids will bring one of the more powerful clubs into the tourney, if its undefeated season record is any indication. The team has averaged 42 points a game in crashing by 13 consecutive opponents.

Leading scorer is Johnny Kitch, a guard who recently set an all-time scoring record in the industrial league of Cedar Rapids, while playing Quaker Oats. Bob Blahnik, former Iowa State captain; Occie Thiesen, all-state AAU player last year; and Ward Swift, numeral winner at Iowa and varsity man at Iowa State Teachers, make up most of the powerhouse outfit. Jack McGill, the playing captain, and Walt Hogan and Harry Ward, both former Iowa varsity members, fill out the roster.

Gymnast Meet Tops Calendar For Week End

The Big Ten gymnastics meet, to be held in the Hawkeye fieldhouse Saturday afternoon, tops the list of three University of Iowa athletic events this week end.

Four conference teams will fight for the title, headed by Minnesota, the defending champion, and Illinois, the national collegiate champion of 1940. Iowa and Chicago are the other entrants.

Iowa's swimming team, winner of five of six dual meets and runner-up for the conference title, will close its dual meet season by meeting Northwestern at Evanston Saturday.

Meanwhile, the track team, yet to win a dual meet, takes on Grinnell college Friday evening in the fieldhouse. Wrestlers, second in the conference meet, are idle until the National Collegiates at Bethlehem, Pa., March 21 and 22.

Draft May Get Sox' Rigney

CHICAGO, March 10 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox appeared almost certain today to lose pitcher Johnny Rigney to the army before the American league baseball season is much more than underway.

A checkup at his local draft board in suburban River Forest revealed that Rigney's number probably will be called in April or May. The board has reached No. 319 and Rigney's number is 440, indicating he will be called within 60 days at the outside.

Rigney, 27 years old and engaged to Dorothy Comiskey, treasurer of the White Sox, said in Pasadena, Calif., where the club is training, that he would not seek deferment. He won 15 games in each of the last two seasons.

Miss Comiskey said it is "all news to me," and added:

"We were planning to get married in the fall, but this may change our plans, I don't know."

In Pasadena, Manager Jimmy Dykes said Rigney's absence "would put an awful hole in our pitching staff. I don't know how we could replace him. If we lose John, we'll have to give up any pennant hopes we migh have entertained."

PASSING THE BUCK

by BILL BUCKLEY

The inside story on Hank Vollenweider, star Hawk hurdler, participating in the Big Ten track meet last week end, is the fact that the flying Hawkeye strained his back so badly in winning his qualifying heat, he couldn't participate in the finals . . . His time was one of the best in the meet.

This duel between Iowa's Al Povilaitis and Michigan's Jim Skinner in the 200-yard breaststroke, promises to develop into one of the hotest of hot rivalries . . . Al came close to the national record in stopping Skinner in the Michigan dual meet, but Skinner came back to knock three seconds off the national mark in beating Povilaitis by half a body length in the conference get-together . . . That was the first time in his life that Povilaitis had been beaten, and the two pair off again in the NCAA championships at East Lansing, Mich., March 28 and 29.

From Eric Wilson comes the observation that Lee Farmer, freshman broad jump sensation, who is well known to Iowa track fans for his exhibition sprint performances at Hawk cinder meets, leaped 23 feet 1 inch in a postal meet with Michigan last week . . . That's just five inches better than the jump which won the Big Ten indoor title last Saturday.

* * *

When Cliff Perizzo, Minnesota's star 128-pound wrestler, defeated Iowa's Loy Julius in a dual meet just two weeks ago yesterday, the Hawkeye junior remarked that Perizzo's new style puzzled him for a while, and thought he could beat him if they met again . . . They did . . . And Julius is the new conference 128-pound titlist.

Pot Shots.

Wayne university of Detroit will play its first baseball season this spring . . . Its first game will be against Michigan, which in turn will be playing the biggest schedule in the history of the school.

North Carolina is the first university to join Wisconsin for the regional national collegiate basketball tourney at Madison, March 21 and 22 . . . The Tarheels won the Southern conference title, scoring almost 1,000 points . . . They boast George Glamack, 6 foot 5 inch center, as their star, famed for his one-handed hook shot . . . Glamack is almost totally blind in one eye, and can't see at all if he doesn't get 10 hours' sleep a night . . . He's one man the coach doesn't have to check up on about keeping hours.

In the conference cage season just closed, Indiana led the league in shooting by dropping in 210 field goals . . . Wisconsin had an average of .676 in making 146 free throws . . . And Indiana and Iowa each had 190 fouls called against them to lead that phase.

Luisetti Quits Basketball

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, one of the greatest players basketball has produced, is quitting the game—at 24. Among his reasons for quitting, the former Stanford star, now playing with the Olympic club, mentioned he wished to avoid becoming a "basketball bum."

Hawklets Tangle In District With Keokuk Friday

Coach Francis Merten is busy this week ironing the kinks out of his Little Hawk cagers in preparation for their game with Keokuk in the district tournament at Fairfield Friday night.

The City highers earned the right to compete in the district by eking out a 16-15 victory over Wayland in the sectional finals at Kalona Saturday night. Matched with a team that was playing over its head, Iowa City had difficulty in getting started and in getting its shots to stay in the basket. Time after time the ball would seem to hang on the basket's rim, only to fall off.

Hawklets Hampered

Coupled with this bad luck, the Red and Whites were noticeably hampered by the absence of Bud Lemons and the inability of Capt. Ray Sullivan to get going. Lemons, benched with an abscessed tooth, played only the last few minutes, and seemed to add the extra punch needed to give the game to the Hawklets.

Bothered with a charley horse, Sullivan could manage to gather only three markers during the whole evening. Don Kauffman, outstanding forward on Wayland's heads-up quintet, did a cracking good job of keeping "Sully" in hand, besides tying for high score honors with seven points.

Keokuk Tough

Keokuk will provide plenty of opposition for the City highers Friday, according to observers. With three men in the lineup who are larger than the average high school players, Keokuk this season has enjoyed an exceptional record. Although they lost more games than Iowa City, many were by slim margins.

If the Mertenmen should prove successful Friday night, they will meet the winner of the Burlington-Fairfield contest Saturday night in the finals of the district.

Overlin Not Troubled In Decisioning Brown

PITTSBURGH, March 10 (AP)—Ken Overlin, middleweight boxing champion in New York and Pennsylvania, had little trouble winning a 10-round decision over Mose Brown, a hard puncher from suburban McKeesport, in a non-title fight here tonight. Overlin weighed 163, Brown 161½.

The "playboy" champ from Norfolk, Va., befuddled his Negro opponent by tricky shifting tactics and bowled him to the floor with a glancing blow in the third round. There were no other knockdowns.

In the tenth round, however, the champ was stunned by a series of rights and lefts to the jaw. He hung on for the last half-minute.

Indoor Net Tourney Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Youngsters, most of them from Oklahoma, started whittling each other out of the men's national indoor tennis tournament two at a time yesterday, amid promises of help from the seeded stars before the first round ends today.

NCAA Champ Leads Gophers

Visitors Take Five Firsts, 3 Seconds; Simpson Hawk Star

BY BOB HIATT

Minnesota's crack gymnasts swept over an inexperienced Hawkeye squad in Iowa fieldhouse yesterday, capturing every event to swamp the Iowans 570 to 429.

Headed by Del Daly, co-captain of the Gopher team and holder of the national NCAA title for all-around gymnastic performance, Coach Ralph Piper's boys took five first and three second places.

Leffler Out

As Capt. Harold Leffler, out with an appendectomy, watched from the sidelines, Don Simpson led the Iowa team, capturing second in the horizontal bar event. John Hill won a second place tie with Warpeha of Minnesota, and Kridelbaugh took third on the side horse to account for all of the Hawkeye places.

Although badly outclassed by the Gopher veterans, Coach Baumgartner's sophomore squad showed up well. It was the third consecutive defeat the Hawks have suffered in conference tilts this year, earlier losses being to Chicago and Illinois. Minnesota overcame Chicago and lost to the Illini.

Loop Meet Saturday

Yesterday's meet was the last dual encounter of the season for the Iowa team. Saturday finds the Hawkeye fieldhouse the scene of the Western conference gymnastic meet, with Minnesota the defending champion.

Summaries

Horizontal bar—Daly (M) first; Hill (I) and Warpeha (M) tied for second; Felderman (I) fourth; Olson (M) fifth; Buntrock (I) sixth. Team totals—Minn. 110½, Iowa 93.

Side Horse—Daly (M) first; Drinkwater (M) second; Kridelbaugh (I) third; Anderson (M) fourth; Hill (I) fifth. Team totals—Minn. 114½, Iowa 67½.

Flying Rings—Olson (M) first; Simpson (I) second; Drinkwater (M) third; Anderson (M) fourth; Ballard (I) fifth; Felderman (I) sixth. Team totals—Minn. 110½, Iowa 102½.

Parallel Bars — Warpeha (M) first; Anderson (M) second; Daly (M) third; Felderman (I) fourth; Weiss (I) fifth; Buntrock (I) sixth. Team totals—Minn. 119, Iowa 105½.

Tumbling — Loken (M) first; Grossman (M) second; Daly (M) third; Felderman (I) fourth; Ballard (I) fifth. Team totals—Minn. 115½, Iowa 60½.

Total score—Minn. 570, Iowa 429.

Judges—Jacobi, Herschen, Niemand.

Track Writers Honor Rice

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Track Writers association voted yesterday to add another handsome trophy to the already handsome collection which adorns the South Bend, Ind., home of Joseph Gregory Rice.

Nelson, Smith Lead Open

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP)—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., tied for first place in the 54-hole West Coast Open golf tournament yesterday with seven under par 206's and will play off tomorrow.

Pitt to Play

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh basketball team has accepted an invitation to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic association's playoff at Madison, Wis., on March 21-22.

C. E. Groups Confer Here

One hundred youths representing Christian Endeavor associations of 14 churches in Johnson, Washington, Iowa and Keokuk counties were guests of the local student group of the Christian church at an all-day session Sunday.

The Rev. John B. Dalton of Iowa City and Lawrence Kephart of Washington were speakers at an afternoon meeting.

Others taking part in afternoon sessions were Ernest Bush, C3 of Cedar Rapids; Leavitt Lambert, university geology department; David McCartney, Washington; Stanley Allen, A1 of Sigourney; Marjory Breese, C4 of Iowa City; Lois Breese, Windham; Don Mallett, university student counselor, dean of men; Loren Tesdell, A4 of Des Moines, and Albert Lemen, G of Akron.

Dr. H. J. Thornton, of the history department, addressed the students at the candlelight service which climaxed the meet.

Paul Stoner, G of Lawrence, Kan., presided. Mary Sunier of Iowa City was planning chairman for the rally.

Newman Club Meeting

Newman club members will hold a general meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in room 108 Macbride. Plans for a number of discussion clubs which will meet during the next few weeks will be announced at the meeting.

Mixers Meet Tonight

Mrs. Clara Riter, 328 N. Dubuque, will entertain the Modern Mixers tonight at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Kathryn Murphy will be the assistant hostess.

'Russian Film' Will Be Shown In Movie Series

"The Russian Film," fourth in a series of six educational programs depicting the rise of motion pictures, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the art building auditorium for members of the University of Iowa Film society.

Titles of the four historically important movies to be shown are "Kino-Pravda," "Kombrig Ivanov," "Rebellion, Mutiny in Odessa" and "Potemkin."

Critics have called "Potemkin" the most perfect and concise example of film structure in existence. The title is taken from a battleship of that name whose mutinous crew provided one of the incidents leading to revolutionary uprisings in Moscow.

Art guild officials, sponsors of the film project locally, point out that the program is of special interest to American movie-goers because Russia has placed its movie industry on a basis that provides a sharp contrast with the industry here.

Russian filmmakers are directly responsible to the government since education and propaganda have taken the place of the box-office as the motivating force behind all motion picture production.

Mrs. E. Titus To Give Paper

"Paul Manship" will be the paper reviewed by Mrs. Elton L. Titus at the meeting of Art circle tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the board rooms of the public library.

An informal discussion will conclude the program.

Highlights U.S. Position

Prof. Wright Feels Outcome of War Rests With America

By MARY STALEY

Germany has two policies for conducting this war, Prof. Quincy Wright of the University of Chicago told a Times club audience last night.

The result of one would be a permanent isolated Europe dominated by Hitler and becoming more and more self-sufficient—probably ending in the subordination of the Ukraine. The other policy is the destruction of the British fleet which in turn would open up the whole world to Hitler. According to "Mein Kampf," the latter policy is what Hitler would prefer, but no one can say which alternative he will eventually take, asserted Professor Wright.

"This summer will be the crucial point in the battle of Britain," said Professor Wright. The two great neutrals, Russia and the United States, will play an important part in approaching world affairs.

Military experts, however, think that the purges of the last three or four years have made Russia weak. Her totalitarian economy is not getting along well. Industry, though greatly developed since the revolution, has not developed efficiently. The lecturer believes that a defeat of China by Japan would bring Russia to the side of Hitler.

"Upon the United States depends the outcome of the war and the following peace more than on any other country," said Professor Wright.

"The passing of the lease-lend bill indicates the adoption of a policy of all-out aid to England in material goods and equipment, but places the question of assuring the defeat of Hitler to the question of the United States keeping out of the war."

Wright favors this policy, believing the defeat of Britain would be the most certain method of leading us into war.

"The lease-lend bill is not a dictatorship or a war bill as so many people would believe, but it is an abandonment of the idea of impartial neutrality," concluded Wright.

D. Mott Services Held at Marengo

Funeral services were held for David C. Mott, 82, father of Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the school of journalism, Monday afternoon at the Marengo Methodist church.

A veteran newspaper editor and publisher, Mott died Saturday morning in a hospital in Cherokee, Okla.

The Rev. George Hunt of Marengo and the Rev. Evans Worthley of Iowa City officiated at the services.

Graduate Musician Journeys to Texas For College Recital

Edison Anderson, G of Terrell, Tex., has left for Prairie View, Tex., where he will appear in a recital Friday, sponsored by the State Musician Association of Texas, at Prairie View State college.

Anderson is a student in the music department here. Oscar Fuller, G of Prairie View, Tex., accompanied Anderson on the trip.

Music Club Chorus To Meet for Sing In Union Thursday

The Music Study club chorus will sing several selections at a kensington meeting of the University club Thursday from 3:15 to 5:30 p.m. in the club rooms of Iowa Union.

Mrs. Howard Snyder will direct the chorus composed of Mrs. Dwight Curtis, Mrs. Herald Stark, Mrs. Herbert Spitzer, Mrs. James McGrath, Mrs. Robert Wylie, Miriam Andrews, Doris Berg and Phyllis Myers. Mrs. Otto Jelinek is the accompanist.

Mrs. Wilfrid Sellars will open the program with a report on early English music and composers.

Committee members are Mrs. J. W. Howe, chairman, and Mrs. G. D. Stoddard, Mrs. W. D. Coder, Mrs. J. E. Davis and Mrs. C. H. Menzer assisting.

Sociologist to Talk On Racial Aspects

"Sociological Aspects of Race" will be discussed by H. W. Saunders, instructor in sociology, this afternoon at a meeting of the Chew-N-Chat club from 4:30 o'clock to 5:30 in Wesley foundation. All interested in attending the fireside chat are invited.

Local Women Place In Archery Meet

Two Iowa City women took the first and second places in divisions of the second annual "fun shoot" for all-Iowa archers in the fieldhouse Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. C. J. Lapp placed first and Mrs. J. W. Dysart placed second.

Mothersingers Meet

Mothersingers will meet for rehearsal at 2 p.m. Thursday in the community building.

Student Hearing Will Be Soon

Hearing for James C. Ramsey, 108 River, charged with reckless driving and resisting arrest, will be held the latter part of the week, Police Judge Burke N. Carson said last night.

According to police, the car driven by Ramsey, junior dentistry student from Burlington, early Sunday morning collided with one driven by Robert C. Smith, 828 N. Dubuque, in the 800 block on N. Dubuque, rebounded and struck a parked car registered to Sherman B. Watson, 19 W. Court.

Police released the youth on a $100 bond for resisting arrest and $50 for reckless driving.

Patrolmen Ollie White and Dan Mulherin made the arrest.

Ricketts, Sangster Elected to Serve on Local School Board

New Directors Take Jobs For 3-Year Terms

Griffith Re-Elected To Treasurer Post Without Opposition

Earl Sangster and B. M. Ricketts, Iowa City businessmen, yesterday were elected to serve as directors on the local school board for three year terms.

Sangster led the field of four candidates with 514 votes, Ricketts being close behind with 475 ballots. The other candidates, John Nash and Mrs. Verne W. Bales, received 215 and 177 votes, respectively.

Running unopposed, Glenn Griffith was re-elected to the board treasurer position. He received 535 votes.

Election officials said that 729 persons cast ballots, the lightest vote in several years. More than 1,600 voters participated in last year's election, they added.

Heaviest balloting came during the closing hour, 6 to 7 p.m.

The two winning candidates will fill seats vacated by Roy A. Ewers and Dr. George Maresh whose terms expire March 17.

There were approximately 10 men to one woman voter, officials estimated. Usually, it was said, women voters outnumber the men.

Ricketts and Sangster will assume office March 17 and serve until the same date, 1944.

Present members of the board are Arthur Leff, John Kadlec, Jack Kelley, Mrs. Howard Beye and Albert Sidwell.

At a future meeting, one of the members will be elected to take the place of retiring President Ewers.

The board's next meeting is March 17, Secretary Charles S. Galiher said.

State Commissioners Will Aid Taxpayers File Income Returns

Representatives of the state tax commission will sit in the recorder's office at the courthouse here tomorrow to assist taxpayers in filing their returns.

The service will be repeated Thursday and again March 25 and 26, G. J. Bondurant, field auditor, announced.

Assistance in filing federal income tax returns may be obtained by calling any day except Sunday at the internal revenue office, second floor, post office building.

5 High School Students Win Poetry Awards

Five Iowa City high school students were awarded prizes of $2 each at the first annual poetry contest sponsored by the poetry group of the Iowa City Woman's club. The judges' decision was announced last night at a meeting of the Woman's club in the Community building.

Prize winning poems were "Contentment" by James Conneil of St. Patrick's high school; "Sonnet on Poe" by Lewis Ward, University high school; "Winter on Look Out Hill" by Ruth Anne Dvorsky, St. Patrick's high school; "Nostalgia" by Lena Cano, St. Patrick's high school, and "We Are No Longer Young" by Richard Baldridge of Iowa City high school.

Judges were Paul Engle of the English department; Joseph Langland, G of Spring Grove, Minn., and Thomas Scherrebeck, graduate assistant in the English department.

Poetry selections read by Mrs. O. E. Nybakken concluded last night's program.

Wheat Quota Vote Approved

Tentative plans for holding a national quota referendum among wheat growers May 31 have been approved by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, Joe G. Raim, county AAA chairman, announced yesterday.

Present estimates indicate that the 1941-42 supply of wheat will be in excess of the probable marketing quota level, Raim said, pointing out that the 1940 level was established at 1,023 million bushels. The 1941-42 total supply is estimated at 1,203 million bushels.

In Johnson county there were 194 wheat allotments established for 1941, constituting a total of 2,162.6 acres. Of this group, 92 farms have allotments large enough to make them eligible to vote in the referendum for continuation of the stabilizing effect of wheat loans.

Kutchenwriter Dies in Hospital

John D. Kutchenwriter, 77, 436 Grant, died in a local hospital yesterday afternoon after an illness of several years.

Born in Johnson county March 1, 1864, Kutchenwriter had lived in this district most of his life. He became an Iowa City resident 21 years ago.

In 1891, he married Hanna Klinschmidt who preceded him in death in 1895. In 1898, he married Vina Klinschmidt who survives.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Ray Eyman, Mulberry Grove, Ill.; Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Harry Kolstead, both of Iowa City; a son, Frank, Tiffin; sister, Mrs. Jake Hague, Sheldon; one brother, Joe, Iowa City; two half brothers, Vincent Eckbring, California; Frank Eckbring, Iowa City, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral service will be tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. in Oathout chapel. The Rev. A. C. Proehl, Zion Lutheran church pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Zion Lutheran church cemetery.

To Hold Koser Funeral Today

Funeral service for Mrs. Esther E. Koser, former Iowa Citian who died Sunday after a week's illness in a Cedar Falls hospital, will be held there this morning at 10 o'clock.

While here, Mrs. Koser was a member of the Methodist church and was active in local social functions. She was preceded in death by her husband, John Koser, and a son, Royal.

Surviving are a son, Clarence J., Iowa City; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The Rev. H. J. Faust, Cedar Falls, will officiate. Burial will be in North Liberty cemetery at 2 p.m.

15 Authorities From 11 States Begin District Farm Schools With Discussions Here Today

Defense Features Two-Day Talks At Community Building

Fifteen speakers from 11 states, including Prof. Howard R. Bowen of the university college of commerce, will talk before 16 district extension schools throughout the state beginning with a two-day session to open here today in the community building. General program theme will be, "What Does National Defense Mean to Farmers?"

Speakers representing the United States department of agriculture, University of Iowa, University of Illinois, University of Wisconsin, University of Kentucky, Montana State college, Ohio State university, University of Texas, securities and exchange commission, De Pauw university, University of Michigan, University of Omaha and Northwestern university, have been divided into two groups, generalists and economists.

"What Does Defense Require of Our Political System?" and "What Can Be Done to Build Toward a Just and Durable World Order Following the War?" will be topics for the generalists, while economists will speak on "What Does Defense Require of Our Economic System?" and "What Does Defense Mean to Agricultural Production and Price?"

Each day's session will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At the beginning of each program, questions asked by the group will be recorded and added to questions to be asked of the speakers at a general assembly in the late afternoon. Group discussions will follow each of the speeches.

Public Invited

The general public has been invited to attend the sessions today in the community building and tomorrow in the Jeferson hotel. Reservations should be made before this noon for a luncheon program to be held tomorrow noon in the Jefferson hotel.

More than 150 men from Johnson, Iowa, Linn, Washington, Clinton, Cedar, Scott and Muscatine counties are expected to attend the local school. All 16 of the schools are under the supervision of R. K. Bliss, extension director of Iowa State college, and his staff.

Economists to speak will be Professor Bowen; L. Norton, University of Illinois; Kenneth Parson, University of Wisconsin; Mordecai Ezekiel, department of agriculture; D. L. MacFarlane, University of Kentucky; R. R. Renne, Montana State college and Virgil Wertz, Ohio State university.

Generalists are C. E. Ayres,

PROF. H. R. BOWEN

DeLong, Northwestern university; Amry Vandenbosch, University of Kentucky; Harold F. Zink, De Pauw university; George C. S. Benson, University of Michigan, and Shepherd L. Whitman, University of Omaha.

Johnson County Volunteer List Now Depleted

With the departure of five volunteers for a year's service under the selective service act Friday, the Johnson county draft board's list of volunteers will be depleted.

According to the board, it will be necessary to draft men for the next call unless more men volunteer in the meantime.

Leaving Friday are George D. Scarborough, James Hall, Henry Kadgihn, John Russell and Samuel Holland.

The third call this week, for a Negro, will be answered by Victor Moore, the board disclosed.

Three men, composing the sixth group, left Iowa City for Ft. Des Moines yesterday at 4:47 a.m.

C. of C. Asks Survey Return

George Clark, acting secretary of the chamber of commerce, yesterday issued an appeal to Iowa City housewives to return questionnaires sent to them by the chamber asking for their opinions of various local problems.

Among some of the questions asked on the 500 questionnaires were those designed to determine what women think about local stores and merchandise, Iowa City's parking problem and other questions of community interest.

Clark said that slightly more than one-third of the sheets have been returned but more are needed to complete the survey.

National Life--91st Year

A VERMONT INSTITUTION

NINETEEN-FORTY produced noteworthy results for National Life in spite of disturbed international conditions and the difficulties of procuring satisfactory new investments.

Under these trying conditions, net interest earned in 1940 was 3.69 per cent as compared with 3.71 per cent in 1939. The company will maintain in 1941 the same dividend scale as in 1940.

For ninety-one years the company's assets have increased each year and now total $226,674,679.72. They increased $11,653,417.85 in 1940.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1940 totalled $18,433,155.93, including dividends of $3,764,938.91.

There was added to reserves on all types of contracts $10,213,841, increasing these reserves by 5.33 per cent.

Insurance in force totalled $575,062,151 at the year-end, an increase of $13,985,538, or 2.49 per cent.

Policy loans were reduced $1,837,466.86.

The market value of the bond investment, according to quotations furnished by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, was $65,505,698.25 or $4,565,301.03 in excess of book value of $60,940,397.22. No item of bond interest was in default. The only bond principal past due was $4,000 on one municipal issue.

Preferred stocks, all of which are cumulative as to dividends, had a market value of $6,342,897, which is $431,680.12 in excess of cost. Dividends on only one issue were in arrears.

Mortgage loans have continued as the most attractive outlet for investment. This account has shown a net increase of $13,854,912.07 or 14 per cent for the year.

A detailed statement will be sent upon request.

ELBERT S. BRIGHAM, President.

FRED A. HOWLAND, Chairman of the Board.
