Law Festivities Take Place On Campus Today

The 15th annual celebration of the Iowa college of law, presided over by the eight justices of the Iowa Supreme Court and Chief Justice Oscar Hale, will be held on the campus today.

Supreme Court day marks the culmination of an elimination contest in legal argumentation, which begins in the college of law. Students competing are selected on the basis of analytic and legal argumentative ability and on high scholastic standing.

The exercises of the day are in recognition of legal and forensic excellence, and are for the promotion of cooperation among representatives of the bench, the bar, the law faculty, and the student body, in furtherance of the high ideals for which the Iowa law school stands.

Main feature of the day will be the argument presented by senior law students Robert Fisk of Curlew; Richard Beebe of Waver; Elwood Olsen of Beresford, S. D., and Robert Fousek of Iowa City.

Two issues, based on the case of Delores Lamarr v. the Minneapolis, Iowa City and St. Louis Railway company, will be debated. Fisk and Beebe will argue for the defendant and Olsen and Fousek for the plaintiff.

The issues are (1) Is a defendant (See LAWS, Page 5)

Soft Coal Strike Still Unsettled; 'Equitable Agreement' Expected

NEW YORK, April 3 (Thursday) (AP)—Twenty-four hours after a federal conciliator predicted that within 48 hours an "equitable agreement" would be reached in the bituminous coal dispute and work stoppage, the negotiators still were in conference.

The 48-hour period passed the half-way mark at Wednesday midnight as representatives of the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) and operators of the Appalachian area remained closed.

John L. Lewis, president of the union, yesterday declared he would not submit to federal mediation of the dispute and a spokesman for the operators agreed with U.S. Conciliator John R. Steelman's earlier prediction that an agreement soon would be reached and the mines opened.

Speaking at a convention of anthracite miners during a recess in negotiations between union and management in the soft coal industry, Lewis asserted that "we are not going to follow the new formula that the mediation board strikers to go back, bust their strikes, then have them come to Washington to mediate for the remnants of it."

Lewis called attention to reports that negotiators for the union, representing 330,000 miners in the eight-state bituminous Appalachian area, had "receded in their demands for vacations and other things," and declared that to the best of his knowledge there had been no such recession.

Mexicans Jail German Sailors, End Sabotage

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 2 (AP)—German seamen on the 9,660-ton liner Orinoco resisted but were overpowered by a Mexican boarding party tonight as the marines frustrated an alleged plot to scuttle and burn the axis ships harbored here.

Vice-Admiral Luis Hurtado de Mendoza said the captains and crews of nine seized vessels in Tampico harbor had plotted to destroy their ships some time tonight.

He said marines had discovered in the exhaust line of the Italian tanker Fede a T.N.T. bomb so connected that it would explode the moment the engine was turned over.

U.S. in War? Axis Leaders Plan Offensive

ROME, April 2 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka has agreed with Premier Mussolini and Adolf Hitler on a joint plan of action against the United States in the event of American involvement — declared or undeclared — in hostilities against the axis powers, authoritative Italians indicated today.

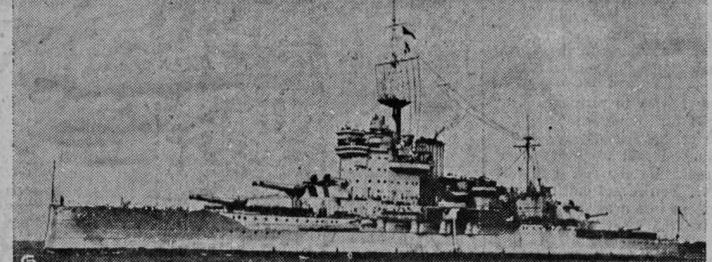

The Japanese statesman said goodbye to Premier Mussolini before returning tomorrow to Berlin for further conferences with Hitler.

He also talked today with Pope Pius XII in a 65-minute interview at the Vatican.

British Men-o'-War Which Doomed Italian Fleet

These British warships played a major role in the smashing victory of a British battle force over a section of the Italian navy, caught in the Ionian sea. The cruiser Orion, top picture, contacted the Italian fleet and lured it southward. The main body of the British fleet then came up, closed in battle with the Italians and sank eight enemy warships as well as badly damaging the Italian battleship Vittorio Veneto. The 30,000-ton British battleship Warspite, lower picture, played a leading role in the fight. The British claimed none of their vessels was hit.

Possibility of Conflict Is Greater Than Ever

Nation's Defense Steps Revealed as Secretly Sown Mines Sink Two of Own Ships in Adriatic

BELGRADE, April 3 (Thursday) (AP)—Formidable concentrations of German motorized blitzkrieg units were reported in diplomatic messages early today to be stationed in Rumania just across the frontier from the Yugoslav town of Bela Crkva.

That border point is less than 50 miles from Belgrade and is near the Danube river.

The report caused alarm in the capital because it would be one of the logical points from which the Germans might launch an attack on Belgrade itself.

Other diplomatic dispatches said fast German divisions were massing near Szeged, in southern Hungary across from Yugoslavia.

Although a new Serb-Croat understanding was reported to have been reached, consolidating the Yugoslavian international situation, the chances of war were seen by diplomats as greater than ever.

This was notwithstanding attempts of the Italians to stave off by what the diplomats called feeble maneuvering.

The Italians were said to be attempting to get Premier General Dusan Simovic to go to

Axis Powers Again Protest Ship Seizures

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—New and stronger protests were lodged by Germany and Italy today over the seizure of axis ships and crews while the United States prepared replies formally rejecting earlier notes.

The new axis notes, said to be couched in stronger language than those delivered Monday, took special exception to the action of authorities in imprisoning members of the crews.

The German embassy made public its first note, demanding release of two Nazi ships and their crews and removal of the American flag said to have been hoisted on one of them. It called the seizure a "clear violation" of treaty rights and said it had "no legal basis in international law."

The Italian embassy still guarded the contents of its notes and the state department declined to disclose details of any of them.

The coast guard, acting about the time the second axis notes were delivered, ordered removal of the American flag from any of the 69 ships—German, Italian or Danish—on which it was hoisted.

U.S. Prepares Notes Rejecting Demands Of Earlier Protests

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The entire German legation staff with the exception of the chargé d'affaires was ordered by Berlin today to leave Yugoslavia immediately.

Rome and seek Premier Mussolini's "aid" toward appeasing Adolf Hitler.

This, said circles close to the government, General Simovic refuses to do.

The Italian desire to stave off war here was seen by some diplomats as prompted by fascist fear that the Yugoslavs would invade northern Albania immediately and with the Greeks sweep Mussolini's forces into the Adriatic.

Two Vessels Sunk

That the Yugoslavs already had taken defense measures in the Adriatic was revealed when a recently-sown Yugoslav mines sank two Yugoslav passenger liners the Adriatic as the ships sped toward home ports in fear of war with the axis.

The vessels were the 1,293-Karsjordje and the 1,726-ton Petrolomasljedniki Petar. They were down in the bay of Obrovac, miles east and north of the Italian city of Zara, which is on the Dalmatian shore. All crewmen were saved.

The mining apparently had been carried out within the week.

F.D.R. Confers With Cabinet, Military Group

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—New steps in the ever expanding defense and British aid programs apparently were in the making today as President Roosevelt met with an enlarged cabinet and military group after discussing, at a previous conference, ways of meeting British requests for new ship tonnage.

With details kept strictly secret, the chief executive conferred late in the day with what has become known as his "lend-lease cabinet" council and with Harry L. Hopkins, Attorney General Jackson and the heads of the three armed services.

The original White House announcement listed only Secretaries Hull, Stimson, Knox, and Morgenthau, and Hopkins, unofficial coordinator, as participants in what Press Secretary Stephen Early described as a check up on all angles of the defense program.

Gun-Fire Kills, Wounds Nine

HARLAN, Ky., April 2 (AP)—A burst of gun-fire killed four men and wounded five others today at the Crummies Creek Coal company commissary as union pickets roamed the bituminous coal fields of Harlan county.

A few hours later Robert Hodge, secretary-treasurer of the Harlan district, United Mine Workers of America (CIO), said Harlan coal operators and union officials had agreed to a 24-hour armistice.

Hodge said he had been notified from New York by W. J. Cunningham and Charles Guthrie, representing the Harlan coal operators, and William Turnblazer and Jack O'Leary, union officials, that no mines would attempt to operate and no pickets would be placed.

The four are in New York aiding in negotiating a New York contract for the area.

The agreement is effective immediately, Hodge said, adding that "the union would give the operators 24 hours to show their good faith in the pact."

Hodge charged the men killed and wounded whom he identified as union miners, were "fired on by a machine gun . . ." and that the first shots "were fired by company men."

L. P. Johnson, general manager of the coal company, said the gun-play started when "men with '45s came into the store and started trouble."

Library Project May Be Passed Despite Rejection

DES MOINES, April 2 (AP)—The $500,000 library project for the University of Iowa, which failed to reach the Iowa house calendar today, still has a chance to be considered in the lower chamber this session.

The house appropriations committee today voted down, 21 to 18, an effort to place the measure on the calendar, but committee members said late today a sufficient number of votes may be mustered to have the bill reported out before adjournment.

Today's vote does not necessarily mean the bill will not reach the house floor, they explained.

The senate already has passed the bill.

Congress Eyes New Demands Against Strikes

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Fresh demands for anti-strike laws were made in both branches of congress today while the house, after hearing Rep. Smith (D-Va.) exclaim that "Red insurrection and rebellion prevail," directed two committees to investigate the whole defense program.

The house adopted a resolution by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the naval committee directing his group and the military committee, headed by Rep. May (D-Ky.), to make separate inquiries and file reports. Vinson promptly promised that his committee would look into the strikes and Smith declared that "this house and the American people are going to expect . . . the facts."

The new closing of the strike-bound Allis Chalmers Manufacturing plant outside Milwaukee, with its $45,000,000 of vital defense orders, aroused most of the discussion. Gov. Julius P. Heil's telegram to President Roosevelt saying it was out of control was referred by the White House to the OPM and other federal agencies concerned.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) demanded that the government act "with firmness" to reopen the plant, termed Secretary Perkins "exceedingly derelict in the performance of her duty in refusing to certify" the case to the mediation board for action.

Act Drawn Up After Union, Governor Meet

DETROIT, April 2 (AP)—Swift mediation efforts in the strike paralyzing the Ford Motor company's great river rouge plant brought a "plan for settlement" tonight soon after state police were stationed in the plant area.

Federal mediator James F. Dewey, two hours after stepping out of a plane on a hurried flight here, announced the "plan." It was attained in a 90-minute conference with Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner and CIO officials.

Meanwhile state troopers patrolled the suburban Dearborn district, a scene of intermittent violence earlier in the day, but with great numbers of the thousands of pickets and sympathizers withdrawn, there was no indication of further trouble.

Climax of Terror Reign

Dewey's announcement, on which he did not elaborate, climaxed rapidly developing events including a Ford company request for President Roosevelt to aid in stopping "terroristic mass picketing" and the governor's order for troopers.

The strike was called by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) shortly after midnight. At 8:05 o'clock tonight Dewey, leaving a conference room in a downtown Detroit hotel, made his announcement to newspaper men.

Interpretation

Dewey's statement was interpreted to mean that the UAW-CIO leaders had agreed with him on a definite program.

Conferees had included August Scholle, state director of the CIO, and Walter Reuther, member of the international executive board of the UAW-CIO.

At 9:15 p.m., a committee of five representing the Ford company entered the hotel suite of Governor Van Wagoner for what a representative of the government called "mediation efforts to settle the strike."

The Ford group was headed by Harry Mack, a company official. Two others were identified as Elmer Hogan and James Brady, members of the Ford personnel department.

Arrangers on the Loose in Mr. Righter's Outfit— Iowa's Band Scores a Hit

By LOREN HICKERSON Daily Iowan Editor

Iowa's concert band ended its spring tour with a performance in Iowa Union last night, and in the words of Director Charles B. Righter, it's probably a good thing.

Among classic music lovers—followers of Bach, Wagner, Tchaikovsky and Co.—the Iowa band might be accused of starting a pogrom. The personal opinion of this corner is that, if so, it's all right, although we'll happily allow that there's room for disagreement.

Professor Righter not only has band of superlative musicians, this year, but planted here and here through the sections is an occasional man whose talents run beyond simple musicianship into the lucrative field of arranging.

The lucrativeness of the field Director Righter first discovered in public somewhere midway between Iowa City and Omaha during last week's tour. Unexpectedly during the second chorus of Pestalozza's "Cribiribin," where ordinarily the demure clarinet takes melodiously over, out of the brass section came an

"in the groove" brass quartet which proceeded to take Pestalozza apart with variations distinctly not in the original score.

Never had the Iowa band's "ribiribin," one of its perennial popular presentations, been received. The brass quartet, the vernacular, threw 'em in aisles.

That was the start of the pogrom.

Well, last night the band sent its best-received tour members, and the result was a

British Describe Massaua: 'Bordering on Capitulation'

30,000 Italians Flee Southward Before British

CAIRO, Egypt, April 2 (AP)—Between 30,000 and 40,000 Italian soldiers, the beaten remnants of the fascist army in Eritrea, are fleeing southward toward Addis Ababa, Ethiopian capital, as fast as they can, British military sources said tonight.

The only major point left under the Italian flag in Italy's oldest colony is Massaua, Red Sea port, and that city was described as on the brink of capitulation.

The fascists reported leaving Eritrea, plus approximately 60,000 other Italian troops virtually isolated in Ethiopia, are all the Italian troops left to fight in East Africa.

Mid intimations that the white flag of fascist surrender might soon float over all Eritrea, the British army and navy teamed up to put the squeeze on those soldiers.

The navy announced the sinking of an Italian destroyer and capture of a German merchantman in the Red Sea at Massaua, and the sinking of an Italian submarine and a tanker in the Mediterranean.

Army sources pictured 60,000 Italians as virtually isolated in the wilds of Ethiopia and another 40,000 hemmed in between the Eritrean mountains and the British dominated Red sea.

In the Libyan desert of North Africa, British and German advance units sparred inconclusively.

Hastening to clean up the remainder of East Africa before the rains come, the British announced at Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, that their advance on Asmara, the Eritrean capital, was met Tuesday by Italian emissaries bearing a white flag.

A communique here said it was believed that the Italians still held the Red sea port of Massaua, 75 miles by rail northeast of Asmara, but the weakness of their position was indicated by the British admiralty.

Massaua Next on British List

Over 30,000 Italian troops were fleeing southward toward Addis Ababa last night and Massaua, last fascist stronghold remaining in Eritrea, was reported on the brink of capitulation as Britain's African legions struck death blows at Il Duce's already crumbling empire. At present the last 60,000 fascist troops left in east Africa are isolated in Ethiopia. Yesterday two axis ships, an Italian destroyer put out from Massaua hurriedly, another indication that the port is about to fall.

The St. Lawrence Waterway

The present war has brought before congress the St. Lawrence Waterway project, a plan which has been debated off and on by our congressmen for the past two decades.

To those who are not well acquainted with the St. Lawrence river as it is today, it might be well to say that it is navigable for ocean going vessels except for a 183-mile stretch between Ogdensburg, N. Y. and Montreal, Canada. Under the present proposal, which President Roosevelt has drawn personally, the entire river would be navigable for ocean liners. As a result Chicago, the great midwestern metropolis, would be opened to Atlantic traffic.

Opponents of the bill say that the excuse of "defense emergency" is being used to push the project. Also they sight the claims of some of the country's leading engineers who say that under the best conditions the project would not be completed until 1947. Furthermore, the opposition believes that the cost of the project has been vastly underestimated and that it will cost nearly one billion instead of the estimated 226 million dollars.

Administration leaders who are in favor of the bill's passage argue that with the completion of this waterway more than two million horsepower of electrical energy could be manufactured for utilization in the New York industrial area. This alone would be a great factor in making available cheaper power to the eastern manufacturing center. They also point with pride to the advantages which would be derived from having the Great Lakes open for ocean commerce.

In 1934, in the form of a treaty, the bill failed to receive the necessary two-thirds majority in the senate. Under the present plans the proposal will enter both houses under the Canadian-American treaty of 1909, and as a result only a majority in each house will be needed for its enactment, plus the OK of the Canadian parliament.

It looks like a 20-year controversy may become a reality.

We doubtless cannot appreciate the potentialities of the waterway, which will bring the commerce of the seas almost to Iowa's backyard, but our interest turns to the possibilities of its existence, under the impetus of national emergency, within the next decade.

Mexico Ratifies the Conference For Cultural Betterment

Mexico has ratified the convention for the promotion of inter-American cultural relations signed at Buenos Aires in 1936, bringing to 15 the number of American republics which have agreed to carry out the terms of the convention, the provisions of which are administered by the state department.

Up to the present time the convention, which provides for the annual exchange of two graduate students or teachers and the biennial exchange of professors by the United States and each of the ratifying republics, has been adhered to by Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, the United States and Venezuela.

We have commented before upon the value to pan-American relations of the convention on cultural relations. That it is bearing fruit, and that it has borne fruit consistently since the signing in 1936, is indicated by the constant annual increase in the numbers of American students and professors studying or teaching in Latin and South America, and the similar increase in the numbers of South and Latin American students and teachers who have come to this nation.

During the academic year 1933-34, fifteen students from the other American republics came to the United States under the auspices of the Institute for International Education. In 1940-41, this number had increased to 83, all of them studying on fellowships administered by the Institute.

In 1933-34 the total number of all students from the other American republics studying here was 675. By 1940-41 this number had increased to approximately 1,400, a very encouraging sign of the ever increasing interest which exists in promoting cultural relations between the United States and the other American nations.

If there is any activity which will pay dividends in hemispheric peace for the world of the future, here it is.

Crucial Stage of This War

International observers unanimously agree that the present war has entered its most crucial stage. Across the sea Hitler has intensified his air raids on London and is continuing his aggressiveness in the Balkans.

On this side of the Atlantic we are interested chiefly in supplying food and munitions to England and her allies. Economists agree that we have enough food in storage to supply adequately the present demand of England and her allies without causing a great price advance.

Demand for American arms—especially war planes—is growing in every democracy because war officials are convinced that supremacy in the air means ultimate victory. American factories have come a long way to meet this demand. Their capacity to produce planes doubled last year and is expected to double again in the current year.

The mere fact that we have available food and arms for the democracies of Europe is not extremely dangerous. The danger for us, however, lies in the important question of conveying ships. Hitler has already said that American convoys will be torpedoed. Only when congress and the president take a definite stand on the convoy question will we know whether or not the war is in a crucial stage for us.

Another Garner Story

According to the press, former vice-president Garner was considerably miffed at the result of the democratic national convention last summer and the numerous stories emerging from the incident had touched both of pathos and comedy. However, according to Nation's Business, one good one was missed and though it might appear a bit far fetched to some, we don't doubt it... if Garner really had a chance to put in his nickel's worth with "the chief."

According to the last issue of Nation's Business, when Garner left for Texas the story ran that he burst into tears and kissed his beloved Chief farewell. The sound and wiggle rights of that scene would be worth good money. A more plausible version is this one:

"Have you any advice to give me, dear old friend?" asked Mr. Roosevelt.

Garner had advice, his friends say: "Give Bill Knudsen full authority over the defense program. He can run it if you give him a chance. You're not getting anywhere this way except into a mess."

The president, so the story goes, arched his brows.

"You needn't worry, Chief," said the Texan. "Knudsen was born in Denmark. He can't run for the presidency."

A Man About Manhattan

New York Weather, New Star, And Keeping the City Clean— BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I have lived in Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, Nebraska, New York, and New Jersey, and I have never encountered such ugly, unpredictable, unfriendly climate as is to be endured in this metropolitan area.

This makes for good business with raincoat sellers and doctors, but it is tough on the rest of mankind. Usually the wind is blowing a gale. Summer, which really is a myth, is confined to two months of sickening, steaming hot weather. The streets are ovens. Spring is a four-month period of raw, ugly winds and rains. Only fall is decent—that is, from October to Thanksgiving is really beautiful. After Thanksgiving, you may have days of freezing and semi-tropical temperatures.

There is a heartbreaking entreaty on the back of the city's garbage trucks and on those wicker wire baskets on the street corners. The signs on the trucks say, "Please keep your city clean. Help us to keep New York streets clean." The baskets have a sort of rhyme which says, "By the Law Abide, place trash inside."

But, New York defeats its own purpose. Almost every week some occasion takes place that calls for the throwing of confetti and ticker tape from the skyscraper windows. Maybe the occasion doesn't really call for it, but it gets it just the same. They are still trying to clear up the mess that resulted from the St. Patrick's Day parade down Fifth avenue of the Irish. By the time this is out of the way something else will take place that will send torn telephone-directories out of windows to be strewn over a third of the city. New York spends fortunes every year in fleets of trucks and workers beautifying its thoroughfares; and New Yorkers toss thousands of dollars worth of paper from windows every month. This isn't even a game any more; it's a habit.

Men like Eddie Cantor do not have to identify their names with "stunts" to gain publicity. When they announce, therefore, that this person or that is a Grade-A prospect for the stage, or the screen, their recommendations merit prompt consideration.

Such is the case with a 13-year-old girl named Olive Major, whom Cantor discovered and believes has the talent for greatness. Her dreams encompass opera. Grand opera. It fascinates her to hear of past operatic greats, but bores her to travel around looking at landmarks.

Cantor was so pleased when he first heard her sing that he arranged to have her study voice for six months. Then he put her on one of his programs. Thousands have saluted her, and today she is in New York for her first visit to the big city. She is a product of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Serious music appears more popular in New York than in many seasons. All concert soloists report tremendous returns to favor. Vladimir Horowitz appeared this week in Carnegie hall and tickets ran short. Staudes were admitted until the walls seemed to bulge and then the law stepped in and stopped the sale. You can have only just so many standees in a concert hall. Reason, fire hazard.

'Roberta' Alumnus Is A Newcomer Again

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Another "Roberta" alumnus is in the movies, and I wonder if any other musical comedy has made so large a contribution to the screen lists.

Ray Middleton is the newcomer, playing in "Lady from New Orleans." Middleton was "Roberta's" leading man back in 1933 when smoke first got in your eyes. The first shall be last, for a fact. Fred MacMurray was in "Roberta," merely a member of the band. Others were Bob Hope, then a mildly known comic; George Murphy, just a pretty good hooper; and Lyda Roberti, who died before she could make any real impression in the movies.

Middleton is a tall, studious fellow of 32 who looks like a young Abe Lincoln on the hoof. The resemblance may have cast him for that "Honest Abe" air series he used to do, but his first ambition was centered on grand opera—which he now considers stuffy, moribund, and pretty much a bore. He'd rather be in pictures. He has sung with the Chicago opera company, would have sung with the Met in 1937 except that Frank Lloyd saw a screen test and rushed him west for "Wells Fargo."

But while Ray brushed up on horses and bucoardos, the budget on the picture grew and grew and a movie name was ordered—Joel McCrea. Lloyd made a $30,000 test of Middleton, with sets and trimmings, for an operetta version of "If I Were King." But operettas were being vetoed, and they made it straight—with Ronald Colman. Middleton went east, feeling pretty low about matters but not sour on Hollywood. What he'd seen here fascinated him and when Republic invited him to play in a movie he came right back.

So the operatic baritone played the role of a country lawyer in "Gangs of Chicago." Did he sing? Why, you know Hollywood better than that, don't you? Will he sing in the new one? Mebbe.

When Eddie Bracken goes on tour a few weeks from now, he plans a visit to Shamrock, Okla. Reasons: sentimental.

A dozen years ago, Eddie was hitch-hiking to Hollywood, and at Shamrock, broke and hungry, he screwed up his courage and knocked on a door to ask for a handout. The folks there invited him to dinner—roast lamb, potatoes and gravy, six or seven kinds of vegetables, salad, three kinds of dessert, and milk.

Eddie got to Hollywood when that, but he couldn't get in. After his folks sent him bus fare home, he went. It was some years later that he returned, a featured comedian in "Too Many Girls," "Caught in the Draft," "Reaching for the Sun," etc.

He still remembers that Shamrock meal, and the people who took him in. He can't remember the name, but he says he'll go looking. He wants to take that household out to dinner at Shamrock's best restaurant—this time as Eddie Bracken's guests.

How Britain Duped Mussolini's Navy

WASHINGTON—The British laid tricky bait to draw those trembling Italian men - of - war away from their home protection out into the Ionian sea to meet their match. At least they did if you will believe some exceptionally lofty speculation here, and I do, considering the wartime ban which excludes direct naval information.

The story goes that the British Mediterranean naval forces grew tired of waiting for the Italians, and conceived an expansive scheme to make Mussolini believe their forces had been withdrawn. Faked British radio orders were issued in a code which was in the hands of the Italians withdrawing the bulk of the British Mediterranean fleet into the Atlantic to chase those two German cruisers which were supposed to be raiding shipment. Daylight movements in the same direction were attempted, to strengthen the hoax.

Believing the cat had gone, the mousey Italians flared forth to prey upon the British line of communications from Alexandria to Crete. Their scouting air force is practically non-existent. Hence they could not discover their mistake until too late to escape.

It is improbable the Italians will let a gig go out from now on, ever if the British announce they are withdrawing their entire Mediterranean fleet.

RELIEF TO U.S.—

Important point behind the crushing of Italian naval morale is that it relieves the British pressure on us for conveying in the North Atlantic. The British should be able to withdraw substantial units of their force for Atlantic prospect. This most threatening prospect of our direct involvement in the fighting should, therefore, be eliminated for the present.

The U.S. navy itself (mainly FDR) may have had a hand in furthering this development. The navy has clamped down on all information about those two announced, and any subsequent units sent for recreational purposes to the far eastern zones formerly patrolled by British ships. But these recreational pursuits were sufficient to enable the British to withdraw all their first-line strength into the Mediterranean—and now into the Atlantic.

TREASURY WAY OFF—

Treasury has been caught red-handed in the worst mistake in estimating revenues in its long partisan career of figuring.

Perhaps only congressmen will recall (but they are now recalling it with self-satisfying laughter) that the treasury claimed the milder excess profits tax law would yield only $115,000,000. The treasury, of course, wanted another kind of tax, but congress insisted on its own, preferring to follow the estimates of its own experts that the yield would constitute

'Christus' to Be Heard S.U.I. Orchestra, Chorus Will Offer Second, Third Parts of Oratorio

One of the greatest religious musical works of all time will be presented Sunday afternoon and evening in Iowa Union, when the combined University symphony orchestra and chorus offer the second and third parts of Franz Liszt's oratorio, "Christus."

"Christus" is regarded as one of the most fitting and effective of the numerous settings for chorus and orchestra of Biblical texts. Liszt spent five years composing the oratorio and adapted the text from the Bible and liturgy of the Catholic church.

The work is divided into three main parts, the first of which was presented at the Christmas Vesper services. The second section is entitled "After Epiphany" and deals with the various aspects of Christ's life. There is a setting of the Beatitudes and Lord's Prayer; one part is devoted to the founding of the Church, followed by an orchestral description of one of Christ's miracles, and the whole of the second part ends with an orchestra and choral picture of Christ's entry into Jerusalem.

The third and concluding section takes up the story of the Passion and Resurrection, treating the last events of Christ's existence and his resurrection. The presentation of these two parts is particularly fitting at Easter.

According to Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, this performance of "Christus" will be only its second or third presentation in the United States and probably its first presentation by student organizations.

Required for the presentation will be the 100-piece symphony orchestra and the chorus of 180 voices, assisted by six vocal soloists.

The churches of Iowa City, in cooperation with the music department and the school of religion, are planning no afternoon or evening services for Palm Sunday, in order that their congregations may attend the Vespers.

The performance will be presented two parts, the first part starting at 4 p.m. and the second, "Passions and Resurrection," beginning at 8 p.m. Separate tickets for each part may be obtained without charge at Iowa Union desk.

50 Schools to Compete in Prep Indoor

Entry lists from 50 Iowa high schools have been received here for the state indoor track and field championships to be held in the Iowa field house Saturday afternoon and evening. A total of 481 athletes will compete in the meet for Class A and B titles.

Thirty-three schools in Class B and 17 in Class A competition will be entered in the meet. Official entries were received from the Iowa high school athletic association at Des Moines yesterday and athletic department officials now are busy arranging heats and lanes for the contest.

Between 80 and 85 races will have to be run in order to determine the final winners in each event. Four relays and 10 individual track and field events will be held with 300 points distributed to both Class A and B winners.

Largest squad to compete in the meet is Davenport with 31 entries. The Blue Devils are defending Class A champions and found little difficulty in walking away with the Mississippi Valley conference crown last week.

Ames, runners-up in Class A last year, submitted an entry list of 12 trackmen. The Little Cy-clones again have a powerful, well-balanced outfit.

Smallest Class A unit, but far from the least formidable, was that of Iowa City high school with but one athlete, dusky Paul Ware. Ware won the half-mile event in the Mississippi Valley meet last week and missed the record by .1 of a second. The City high cinder star also qualified in the 50-yard sprint.

Added incentive to the Hawk-let's "will to win" is the fact that he becomes ineligible for further high school competition one week before the outdoor track meet, May 24. Ware has pulled a "Cunningham" and worked himself up the hard way. Critically burned on the thighs of his legs while still in junior high school, the dusky athlete was never expected to run again; but come Saturday he'll be right in there in the top bracket of the 880-yard runners.

Fairfield's Trojans have entered men in defense of the Class B title with last year's runner-up, Charles City, entering the same number.

Cincinnati Reds' Errors Hand 3-0 Victory to Boston Bees

Buck Newsom Bows To Bison Sluggers As Detroit Loses, 2-1

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 2 (AP)—Errors nullified the neatest hurling stint of the Cincinnati Reds' training season today and the world champions lost again to Boston's American leaguers, 3 to 0.

With his brother, John, receiving him, Elmer Riddle allowed three safeties in eight innings, longest stretch so far for a Red-jug pitcher.

The five-hit pitching of Dominic Ryba and Emerson Dickman held the champions helpless throughout the game.

Buffalo Nips Detroit, 2-1
LAKELAND, Fla., April 2 (AP)—Louis (Buck) Newsom, one of the American league's top-flight hurlers, was just another mounds-man today as the Buffalo Bisons of the International league defeated the Detroit Tigers, 2 to 1, in an exhibition game.

Newsom yielded both runs and all but one of the nine Bison hits in the six innings he toiled. Al Benton finished, allowing one hit.

Indians Club Giants, 3-1
SELMA, Ala., April 2 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians captured their fourth victory in five games with the New York Giants, 3 to 1, today as Al Smith and Ken Jungels collaborated in a hurling duel against Harry Gumbert.

Home run by Gee Walker gave Cleveland its first score in the second and an error by Joe Orengo helped the Tribe tally twice in the third. But after that Gumbert was invulnerable and became the first Giant hurler to go nine innings. He allowed seven hits.

The Giants got only five, scoring in the second stanza, and didn't get a hit in the last six innings.

Athletics Almost Shut-Out
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 2 (AP)—Bob Johnson's ninth inning home run with a mate on base saved the Philadelphia Athletics from a shutout today as they bowed to Pittsburgh 8 to 2.

Prior to the big smash the A's had been held to four singles and had not been able to get a man as far as second base. Rip Sewell hurled six innings for the Pirates and Max Butcher the remainder of the game.

Warner Goes Limit
ALBANY, Ga., April 2 (AP)—Veteran Lon Warneke pitched the entire nine innings and was never in danger as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated Albany of the Georgia-Florida league today, 18 to 3, in an exhibition baseball game.

Don Padgett, made over by the Cardinals from an outfielder to a catcher, played third base for one inning.

Yanks Drub Oklahoma City
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 2 (AP)—The New York Yankees overpowered Rogers Hornsby's Oklahoma City Indians today, 10 to 4, with a barrage of five home runs and as many doubles. Joe DiMaggio hit two of the cir-

Hogan Serves Notice on Other Tourney Golfers

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2 (AP)—The almost grim determination with which Ben Hogan has been hunting down flaws in his game served notice on the 48 other starters in the Augusta masters golf tournament tonight that the poker-faced Texan is going to be a tough man to tangle with in the next four days.

Hogan came down here from Asheville, where he won to finish in the money for the 45th straight time, convinced there was something decidedly wrong with his game. Off his record this sounds like carrying perfection to extremes, but not if you know Hogan.

The Mrs. Explains
Mrs. Hogan, who knows him very well, will explain.

Why is an Arrow Shirt like a pretty girl?

Because they both bring your friends around.

To keep the wolves from your girl, wear Arrow-shirts. Charm her with one of those new multi-striped jobs that has the low slope, long-pointed Arrow Bruce collar. It's up to the minute in style and fit. $2 up... a low rate for glamour insurance.

To keep the wolves from your drawer, get a padlock. Wolves just naturally "go" for the cut of an Arrow, for it is Mitoga-cut to fit the torso. We advise a bolt and chain for those irresistible, wrinkle resistant, Arrow ties that harmonize. $1 and $1.50. See your Arrow dealer today.

More Showers Forecast For Coming Week

Iowa City's first April shower yesterday, measuring .006 of an inch, will be followed by occasional showers during the next days, according to weather bureau officials.

The forecast called for more rain, cloudy skies and slightly lower temperatures for this area. As much as 1 inch of rain was reported in other sections of southern Iowa yesterday, while the northern half of the state received from .40 to .90 of an inch.

Local climatological bureau records show a total of 1.62 inches of precipitation for the first 1941 quarterly report.

Maximum temperature yesterday was 51 degrees; the minimum was 33. Average normal temperatures were 55 and 32 degrees as compared with 76-high and 41-low one year ago. The 47-degree temperature during the afternoon shower still held at 7 o'clock last night.

Concert--

of exceeding lightness that demonstrated the versatility of the band as a whole, proved that a band doesn't have to be heavy to be good, and at times played hob with what we may call "musical decorum."

We Get Underway-- Opening with "Hawkeye Glory," the march Composer Karl King wrote for the University of Iowa three years ago, the band followed up with the Bach - Moehmann "Prelude and Fugue in B-flat Minor," with its full-throated distinctive crescendos and gently descending melodies.

Robert J. Stolley, Holstein's contribution to the elusive brass quartet, took trumpet in hand to present Clarke's popular solo, "Stars in a Velvety Sky." Next came a Maddy arrangement of Prayer and Dream Pantomime, from Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel," beginning with low melodies from the woodwinds and reeds and moving to a full and melodic climax.

Borg Arrangement-- Next Jack Borg, A4 of Des Moines, took Director Righter's baton to conduct the band in his own arrangement, for concert band, of the Adagio from Handel's "Sonata No. 3 in F Major," a work for the violin. A talented violinist in his own right, Borg conducted the number with feeling and finesse in its first public performance.

William Gower Jr., A1 of Iowa City, presented an excellent clarinet solo performance of the Adagio and Polonaise from Weber's "Concerto No. 2." Next came a brief and quiet interlude with an Albeniz "Tango," followed by "Orion," a number for cornet trio, arranged for the band by Harold Smith of the brass section and capably presented by Lawrence Ales, A2 of Lost Nation; Lawrence Barrett, A2 of Rockford, Ill., and Stolley. (Keep your eyes on these three.)

Halftime Arrives-- N. DeRubertis' arrangement of the Finale from Saint-Saens' "Symphony No. 1 in E-flat" came next. The halftime arrived with "Ciribiribin," ala brass quartet, while Director Righter looked furiously over his shoulder at the audience, doubtless to see if Mr. Pestalozza had come in yet.

With a promise of more music-cal levity to come, we disbanded for intermission, and returned to find a larger audience than before: A good sign.

The second half opened with a light and colorful arrangement of Lockhart's "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," replete with saxophone runs and full-band beauty. Then Ray McCormick, G of Tahlaquah, Okla., stepped forward to present his arrangement of Combelle's "First Concert Solo" for alto saxophone, a pleasing number performed with grace and excellence.

Tschaikowsky's quiet "Reverie" came next, followed by the overture from Buchtel's "The Crusaders," built about an old choral hymn. Director Righter's clarinet section gave a brilliant performance of the Scherzo from Crosse's "Suite for B-flat Clarinets," and the band reached a high peak of technical excellence with its presentation of Two Folksong Settings by Grainger, the second of which, flippantly called "Molly on the Shore," taxes the ability of any band and probably the patience of any director during rehearsal.

Arnold L. Oehlisen, the band's assistant director, came forward to direct the band in a number of his own, of which we fervently hope we'll hear a great deal more. Mr. Oehlisen has combined the popular march melodies associated with the university and the Hawkeye state into a splendidly pleasing symphonic whole called "S.U.I. Medley," ending with "Old Gold," sung in beautiful choral fashion by the band. This medley will become highly popular, we believe; congratulations to Mr. Oehlisen.

The program closed with Bennett's "Rhapsody in Rhumba," which all but brought Iowa Union down about the ears of us. Played first as Mr. Bennett wrote it, then as a few of Mr. Righter's bandmen re-wrote it, this number pleased the audience as much as it did the band. A high compliment.

It was really an unusual evening. Almost everybody had his own arrangement for something. The band played almost as frequently from manuscript as from bona fide scores. There was an element of suspense about almost every number. Professor Righter voiced it. He said anymore he didn't know what to expect, with those arrangers loose.

But of one thing we may be certain. This year's band may have taken liberties with a number here and there, but it has proved itself more than capable of playing difficult music well, even as it has displayed a matchless esprit de corps.

On the gridiron AND on the concert stage, it's up at the top.

City Police Continue Probe In First 'Firebugging' Case

City police last night continued their probe into the town's first case of actual "firebugging," an attempt by unidentified persons to burn the home of Atty. Henry Negus, president of the Iowa City Coach company.

According to officers, late Tuesday night a smoldering kerosene fire flare made of rags wrapped around a bottle was discovered in a room of the Negus home, 701 E. College.

The bottle had been thrown through a window and extinguished itself after striking a radiator in the room, the department said. Negus discovered the flare when he went home at about 10:30.

Negus, whose company has been faced with a strike problem since February, had called upon in the police department two other times the same day concerning intensified picket activities, officers said.

Two charges of assault and an unlawful assembly charge involving both pickets and company men will be aired this morning at 9 p.m. before Justice of the Peace J. M. Fairchild.

The cases arose out of Tuesday morning's picket activities at the company garage, according to the informants.

Auto Dealers Elect V. Nall Vice-President

Local Dealers Attend 23d State Convention; Texas Man Speaks

Vern W. Nall of the Nall Chevrolet sales service here was elected vice president of the Iowa State Automobile Dealers' association at its 23d annual convention in Des Moines yesterday.

The Iowa City man, one of four local dealers attending the event held in the Ft. Des Moines hotel, is the first dealer from Iowa City to hold an executive position in the association.

Men attending besides Nall were J. G. Gartner, Dodge dealer; C. E. Beck, Hudson dealer, and E. F. Lenthe of the Burkett-Updegraff Motor company.

Other officers elected for the coming year are Ben Sanders, Des Moines, president; O. F. Sully, Council Bluffs, treasurer, and Walter Ferrell, Des Moines, secretary-manager.

In a speech on the effect of the defense program on auto dealers, Clare Cargile of Texarkana, Tex., president of the National Automobile Dealers association, warned Iowa dealers they must start training new mechanics to replace those taken by the defense program.

"The bureau of labor statistics has informed me that eventually it is planned to take into the shipbuilding industry alone 26,000 skilled mechanics a month. That would be enough to clean out the Ford Motor company's present supply of mechanics overnight," he declared.

I want to thank the voters of the fourth ward for the splendid co-operation they gave me in the four years I was on the city council. I also wish to express my gratitude to those who put in their time and effort so graciously in my behalf during the last election. I urge you, as citizens of Iowa City, to give my successor the same co-operation you so kindly extended me.

The Listening Post--

By LOREN HICKERSON

THE UNDESERVING... The planes came in from the northeast, their faint drone dimmed by great height...

Hours before, they had left bases on Hudson bay, still protected by nazi infantry from the fierce counter attacks of Canadian-American troops...

As the first streaks of dawn cast dull light over the mid-western countryside, the first bombs struck at Burlington...

Tons of bombs were dropped over Ankeny... some of them fell in the outskirts of Des Moines...

Hundreds were dead... The work of months was destroyed... Three vital units of America's war effort had been the nazi targets for the night...

High in the blue, their giant forms lightened of their bomb loads, nazi pilots headed for Southern California, to bases still held by Japanese against the continued thrusts from land and sea by American and Mexican troops...

Some would be destroyed before they got there... Pursuit ships from new bases in Missouri and Nebraska were on their tails... Kansas watched dogfights high over one-time peaceful plains...

The remainder of the super-bomber's crew went down with their ship... Throughout the day, the night, the next day the civilians of Burlington, Iowa City, Des Moines fought spreading flames, administered to wounded, tried to clear debris...

Casualty lists appeared in The Iowan, the Press-Citizen... Long lists to which other names were added hourly...

Peace-loving Americans shook their fists into the spring sky...

How could we have let it happen here? Who was responsible? What can be done? Is this world's end...?

We did not deserve this! We have loved peace and fostered the love of peace in others, everywhere in the world... we thought... We, of all the people in the world, didn't deserve this, no matter what the cause...

London didn't deserve it, either. Nor did France, nor Norway. The peace-loving Dutch, in the Netherlands, in the East Indies, didn't deserve it. The suffering millions of China didn't deserve what they've got since the Japanese marched into Manchukuo...

Manila didn't deserve it, nor Pearl Harbor...

When Americans realize, for the first time in their lives, that no nation, no race, no creed nor color is more deserving of suffering and bloodshed than another...

Ah! Then, and not until, will the dreams in the hearts of every one of us become plans, and the plans become realities, and the realities become brotherhood, and the brotherhood become peace.

Easter Dinner Can Be Parade of Culinary Delicacies

Sortory Housemother Lists Advance Menus

Suggests New Method Of Preparing Ham And Sweet Potatoes

By CORINNE HAYES Daily Iowan Food Editor

Easter dinners and spring ensembles don't mix when the captain of the kitchen force must also be the belle of the Easter parade...

Mrs. C. A. Russell, who has kept house for 19 years and been cook for the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority for 15 years, has planned two menus for Easter which can be prepared in advance.

"I think Easter is one time when even the mother of the family wants to be free to attend church," said Mrs. Russell.

The first menu planned by this experienced cook contains recipes which have long been favorites.

- Baked Ham Mashed Sweet Potatoes Whole Kernel Corn Cherry and Pecan Salad Butter Rolls Chocolate Sundae Whipped Cream Cake

Mrs. Russell's preferred method of preparing ham is to place a 10 to 12 pound piece of meat on a rack in an open roasting pan with the fat side up...

MRS. RUSSELL COOKS AND LIKES IT

Believing that lilies, colored eggs and spring finery are more a part of Easter than kitchen drudgery, Mrs. C. A. Russell, route 1, makes advance preparations on a bit of celery planned as an appetizer for her holiday dinner.

A housewife and professional cook, Mrs. Russell advocates planning meals for the pleasure of the family and the convenience of the homemaker.

3 tablespoons cream 2 tablespoons butter Peel sweet potatoes and cook in salted water until tender. Mash, add cream and butter and place in a flat baking dish. Sprinkle brown sugar and quartered marshmallows on top and brown in an oven 10 to 15 minutes. This recipe will serve six people.

Color can be added to a dish of whole kernel corn by mixing in a small can of pimientos and a green pepper. The mixture of yellow, red and green provides an appetizing contrast.

Butter Rolls 2 cakes compressed yeast 1/2 cup shortening—can be half butter, half lard 3 eggs 1 cup water 1 teaspoon salt 3/4 cup sugar 6 cups flour

Mix ingredients and let rise. When dough is light, divide into four portions and roll out the size of a plate. Brush with melted butter. Cut eight wedge-shaped pieces and roll so the point is on the outside. Sprinkle or dip in poppy seed if desired. Let rise two hours and bake in a 375 degree F. oven until brown. This rule makes two and a half dozen rolls.

Black Cherry and Pecan Salad is requested for all special dinners. Using a package of cherry jello, a can of bing cherries and 1/2 cup of pecans, dissolve the gelatine in 1 cup of cherry juice and 1 cup of cool water. When cool, add the cherries and pecans. Turn out on lettuce hearts and serve eight portions.

A light, frothy dessert results from Mrs. Russell's recipe for Whipped Cream Cake. 3 egg whites 1 cup whipped cream 1/2 cup cold water 2 cups cake flour 1 teaspoon vanilla 1 1/2 cups sugar 3 teaspoons baking powder

Carefully fold whipped cream into stiffly beaten egg whites and fold in water and vanilla. Sift flour, measure and sift with sugar, baking powder and salt. Carefully fold into cream mixture. Bake at 325 degrees F. in two layers or a loaf.

Fluffy White Icing

1 1/2 cups sugar 1/2 cup water 1 teaspoon white Karo Boil until it spins a thread and pour over the beaten whites of three eggs. Add 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Beat until cool enough to spread.

Fricassee Chicken

Another meal which can be popped into the oven and forgotten until meal time is this tempting menu planned around Fricassee Chicken. 1 chicken, 4 to 5 pounds 3 tablespoons butter and lard 2 tablespoons flour 2 cups cream or top milk Salt and pepper

Citrus Fruits Solve Problem of Desserts

Oranges, Grapefruit Can Be Housewife's Mealtime Mainstays

While grocers complain that housewives are busy buying their shelves bare of canned goods, citrus fruits are being ignored at their lowest price levels. Florida continues to send abundant supplies of the peak season citrus fruits, yet the average housewife evidently neglects the opportunities for sugarless desserts and drinks that fresh oranges and grapefruit offer.

Running the range of every course, citrus stands a mainstay to the meal from breakfast right down through the new and necessary fad for salad desserts, now that sugar is scarce.

Since grapefruit is the cheapest natural fruit source of vitamin C, it is reassuring to know that there will be no citrus shortage, for fruits flourish at as great a rate as Americans can eat them. Vitamin C builds up resistance to colds, fatigue and infection, and these are no-times to trifle with the American goal of health.

Fresh citrus fruits offer many combinations with other foods that are as great a stimulus to appetite as they are to health. A fresh grapefruit can be halved and broiled for an appetizer or a hot dessert minus the sugar. The fad for fruit salad desserts to save sugar, recently inaugurated by Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, has endless possibilities for combining orange and grapefruit with other fruits.

Ice-box rolls are always a convenience, but especially so on Easter day. 2 cups scalded and cooled milk 2 tablespoons sugar 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup butter 1 cake of yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup warm water

Enough flour to make a soft dough. Mix the ingredients and set in the ice box. When needed, pinch off bits of dough, form them into clover leaf balls and let them rise. After several hours bake in a quick oven (375 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. The recipe makes two dozen rolls.

A fitting finish for a heavy meal is a piece of tart and fluffy Lemon Pie. 1 lemon, rind and juice 1 cup water 1 cup sugar 2 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons cornstarch Yolks of three eggs

Yolks of three eggs. Cook ingredients in a double boiler and pour into a baked pie shell. Top with a meringue made of 3 stiffly beaten egg whites and 1/2 cup of sugar.

Fluffy Eggs Add Breakfast Verve Eggs—fried, scrambled, poached—are always good at breakfast. For an accompaniment to your special Easter morning waffle breakfast, serve this interesting variation called Fluffy Eggs.

6 slices toast Butter 1 cup grated cheese 6 eggs 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper Paprika 12-18 strips bacon

Spread toast with butter and part of grated cheese. Separate eggs and place whites in mixing bowl. Season whites, and beat until stiff and fluffy. Heap onto toast and make a dent in center of each. Slip yolk into center of white, season and sprinkle liberally with cheese. Bake at 350° F. until cheese is browned and eggs are set. Garnish with paprika, and serve with bacon.

Broil Fruit For A 'Sweet'

Solve the "sweets" problem in your home by serving a nutritious broiler meal to which fruit has been added. The sweetness in banana or canned peaches and pears is enhanced after a few minutes under the open flame of your gas broiler and satisfies the craving for sugar.

To prepare the meal wrap lamb patties in bacon strips and when they are almost done, top them with button mushrooms and add halves of canned pears brushed with butter. Resume broiling until pears are lightly browned.

Women's Land Army Has 'Farm Problem' In Midst of Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Women's Voluntary Services last night had a "farm problem" that blossomed right in the midst of the nation's capital city.

Amid charges and counter charges of bickering, Mrs. R. Ernest DuPuy, wife of an army colonel, resigned with "profound regret" as chairman of the women's land army of the American Voluntary Services.

It was also "with regret" that Miss Anita Phipps, chairman of the Washington Metropolitan Unit of the A.W.V.S., announced acceptance of Mrs. DuPuy's resignation.

230 Killed at Malta VALLETTA, Malta (AP)—Axis bombs killed 230 persons on the island of Malta during March, British communiques said last night.

Set Fire to Cruiser, Damage 2 Other Jap Ships in Bengal Bay

London (AP)—Huge United States fortress bombers spread their wings over the Burma front for the first time and, taking off from bases in India, today the personal command of Major General Lewis H. Brereton, have set fire to one Japanese cruiser and a troopship and probably damaged two other ships in the bay of Bengal.

The action—the first by this new outpost of American arms—look place at Port Blair in the Andaman Islands, recently occupied by the Japanese as a base from which to prey on the supply route to India and China.

The first communique issued by the New Delhi headquarters of Gen. Brereton, who is commander of the U.S. air forces in India, said one enemy fighter was encountered by the squadron of United States bombers and the enemy anti-aircraft fire was intense. But all the American ships returned safely and without damage, according to the communique as published in the Daily Sketeher.

This first activity of American heavy bombers in this theater came as the Japanese were pressing the British hard in Burma to the north.

Text of the Communique "American flying fortresses of the United States air forces made their first attack from India today. "Led by Major General Lewis Brereton, commanding the United States air force in India, a squadron of heavy bombers attacked the enemy's shipping at Port Blair (Andaman Islands) setting fire to one Japanese cruiser and one troopship and probably damaging two other ships.

"An enemy fighter was encountered and intense anti-aircraft fire, but no damage was sustained. All our aircraft returned safely."
