Japanese Open New Offensive in Effort To Overrun Bataan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Japanese hurled wave upon wave of assault troops at Lieutenant General Jonathan Wainwright's American-Filipino forces yesterday, and gained ground in the third day of fierce fighting on the Bataan peninsula.

A late day communique from the war department said the attacks were supported by heavy artillery fire and dive bombers, and, for the second time in three days, reported that "The enemy made some gains," although paying heavily in casualties. Anti-aircraft gunners shot down one of the dive bombers, the second they have bagged in two days.

On the east coast of the peninsula, where the Japanese have been repulsed twice in the last 72 hours in attempts to land troops for a flank attack, enemy artillery harassed the defenses, firing from barges in Manila bay. Most of the shells fell short of their targets, the communique said.

The action reported yesterday was the seventh massed drive against the Bataan defenses in less than two weeks. Since Saturday the hammering at the right center of Wainwright's line has been almost continuous.

There was no mention in department communique yesterday of the extent of casualties among the defending forces in the savage fighting of the last three days, but it was believed likely that they have been much lighter than the Japanese losses.

A morning communique, covering the fighting of Sunday, had reported the Japanese unable to gain, and related the frustration of the second attempt to land troops from barges on the peninsula shore.

Panamanian Ship Sunk NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Eighth naval district headquarters here late yesterday announced the loss of eight seamen and the wounding of about 20 others among a crew of 50 in the torpedoing of a large Panamanian ship in the Caribbean March 8.

Surviving Norwegian Vessels Reach Port A BRITISH PORT (AP)—A number of the 11 Norwegian ships which last week made a daring dash toward Britain from Togeberg, Sweden, have reached this port, safely after being attacked repeatedly by German airplanes, naval surface craft and submarines.

Legislation to Freeze All Prices and Wages For Duration of Conflict Proposed by Pepper WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to freeze all prices and wages for the duration of the war and to outlaw union initiation fees in war industries was proposed yesterday by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.). Pepper proposed the measures as amendments to the pending $19,212,000,000 military appropriation bill. To consider the amendments, the senate would have to vote by a two-thirds majority to suspend rules which preclude legislative amendments to appropriation bills and Pepper served notice that he would move today for such a vote.

Nazis Lose 415 Planes

Nipponese Planes Raid Indian Coast

Enemy Bombers Hit Two Ports In First Air Assault on India

Report Jap Naval Force in Bay of Bengal Preparing for Mass Invasion of Country

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Bombs fell among the people of India proper yesterday when Japanese planes, attacking the Indian coast for the first time, raided two ports in Madras presidency, and worse to befall was hinted in the disclosure that a Japanese naval force is ranging the Bay of Bengal.

The naval force, which includes at least one aircraft carrier, already has attacked commerce both with its surface ships and its planes, said a communique.

These first direct manifestations of war came to India as its people still were torn with hesitation on their political future and a few hours after Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo in a broadcast from Tokyo had warned of "great calamities" to her 390,000,000 people. These would be unavoidable, he said, "in the course of our subjugation of British forces," a reference which seemed plainly to indicate his determination to direct a Japanese invasion.

Small Raiding Force The raiding force which attacked Vizagapatam, a city of more than 40,000 and site of a British naval base, and Cocanada, nearby provincial capital of 40,000, was officially described as small.

Vizagapatam and Colombo, capital of the British empire which the Japanese attacked on Sunday, are two of the points from which the Japanese might expect war supplies to move to Burma and China.

Slight damage to the Vizagapatam harbor area, which was attacked twice, was reported and only a few casualties occurred at Cocanada—possibly because the raiding force had been dealt with so severely when it attempted the surprise blow at Colombo only to be ambushed by a waiting RAF which asserted 27 of the 75 raiding planes were shot down and 30 more damaged.

U.S. Emissary Enters Indian Defense Talks Johnson Discusses Question With Heads Of Major Parties NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Louis Johnson, a special emissary from the United States, sought in a round of conferences yesterday to assist in solution of the complex Indian independence question, rendered even more urgent by the first Japanese air attacks on the mainland.

Allied Fliers Smash at Nippon Bases on New Britain Island

Air Raids Described As 'Among Heaviest Yet Made by Allies'

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA (AP)—Raids described as "among the heaviest yet made by the allies" were reported carried out yesterday by flying airmen and Americans striking at Rabaul and Gasmata in New Britain where Japan was said to be reinforcing her badly wrecked and overmatched air forces.

The Sydney Herald, which reported the raids, said direct hits were scored on large Japanese ships in Rabaul harbor on the northeast New Britain coast, where the Japanese secured their first foothold on Australia's outer island rim.

Both at Rabaul and at Gasmata, on the south coast of New Britain, aircraft were said to have been damaged on the airdromes. Earlier it had been reported that Japan was strengthening her air forces in that area to bolster her faltering Australian offensive, and it was assumed that the allies determined to destroy the new planes before they could get in action.

It remained for official reports, however, to tell whether the raid had been as successful as that of March 21 when the Japanese are claimed to have suffered one of the most devastating blows of the southwest Pacific with 23 ships sunk, burned, beached and damaged and the equivalent of two squadrons of planes knocked out.

Russian Air Forces, Ground Batteries Score Great Victory at Cost of Eighty-Four Aircraft

Interpreting The War News

Nippon Air Losses Increase as Allies Deal Heavy Blows

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON, Wide World War Analyst Headlined by a smashing British air victory at Colombo, Ceylon, the Easter week-end piled up a significant toll of Japanese air casualties on the Pacific—Indian ocean war front.

United nations officials figures from that sector accounted for some 100 enemy planes downed or damaged within a three day period. Figures for allied losses are not complete; but a ratio of 10-to-1 or possibly even double that against the Nipponese is indicated.

That comes close to being a record plane bag in this war, excepting only the German surprise attack on Poland which caught the Polish air force ground. A far smaller ratio of losses by the German Luftwaffe won the battle of Britain for the royal air force.

Japan's plane replacement capacity from reserves or new production is the least of any of the major belligerents. That and her over-extended communication lines in waging two-front war simultaneously against Australia and the British in Burma and India are the most encouraging factors for united nations leadership in the struggle.

Coupled with previous air losses, the fresh inroads of the Easter season have cut deeply into Japanese ability to maintain an adequate aerial screen for her far separated fronts.

Ten percent casualties among Nazi planes attacking England from close-up bases across the channel were sufficient to break the Luftwaffe assault. At Colombo the indicated Japanese loss was around 70 percent of the attacking force.

Reds Report Tremendous Toll of German Planes Rolled Up During Period of Eight Days

KUIBYSHEV, Russia (AP)—Russian airmen and ground batteries, scoring one of the biggest bags of the war, destroyed 415 German planes in blazing aerial war during the 8-day period up to and including Sunday, a Soviet communique announced last night.

This tremendous toll was rolled up, a Moscow communique said at a cost of only 84 Soviet planes. On Saturday and Sunday alone, it added, 221 Nazi craft were destroyed.

Erupting in full fury over the weekend, the biggest day's total was reported Sunday, when 119 Nazi craft were listed as destroyed in the air and on the ground after Saturday's count reached 102.

The communique said briefly that "no essential changes took place at the front."

Mighty British Bombers Blast Nazi Industry

LONDON (AP)—One of the mightiest British air fleets ever to cross the English channel—a force of more than 300 bombers—cast a thousand tons of explosives and countless fire bombs upon German war plants in an overnight raid extending from the French coast inland to the Parisian industrial suburbs and on east to the heart of the Rhineland.

In this great attack, a part of a master plan to choke the flow of German arms eastward to the Russian front, only five British craft were lost, the air ministry announced today in briefly recapitulating one of the most successful operations of recent months.

More than 150 British planes beat at Cologne, in the 105th assault upon that city.

Textile Strike Ends FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—Members of the American federation of textile operatives voted unanimously last night to end a two-week strike which had closed 17 textile mills and thrown 18,000 workers out of employment.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Everyone to Blame for Slow Start on Synthetic Rubber

WASHINGTON — A fair sifting of the charges of rubber treason against Standard Oil—as sensationally disclosed and answered in the Truman committee—will show the following residue of facts:

The synthetic rubber on which our army will roll in the future will be buna, the process which Standard obtained from Hitler's I. G. Farben.

The manufacture of this synthetic rubber in anything like the quantity needed was started only after the war began.

The evidence as to why it was not started sooner can be twisted around to blame nearly anyone.

You can blame Standard on the suspicion that its early offers to the government were not ardently pursued because it wanted royalties.

You can praise Standard, if you choose, because its officials were at least ahead of the government in seeing a probable need for synthetic rubber.

You can blame the Japs for not telling us they were going to cut off our eastern supply of natural rubber.

You can even blame Roosevelt because his pre-war inclinations were against breaking off relations (by starting synthetic production) with our friendly (now allied) British-Dutch rubber monopoly—a break which would have plunged Java and the East Indies into economic depression and thus have laid another carpet for the Japs to walk in on.

You can blame Jesse Jones for not having pressed the matter to any earlier conclusion, although he is supposed to have a memo from the White House in his possession asking him not to offend the British and Dutch by his rubber actions.

Or you can blame the limitations of human vision for not having permitted anyone back in 1940 and 1941—our statesmen, our big business men, congress, or the nation, including the Truman committee — to appreciate fully what a rubber problem was in store for us after last December 7.

Butyl Rubber, Buna Rubber

Standard, in this case, seems to have been a big international business concern, looking out for its own interests, but in a way short of treasonous implications. It did not get the worst of its deal with Farben. The synthetic rubber patent it gave Hitler is for a cheaper but less efficient method than the one it got from him.

The butyl process it gave, will not be used much as long as natural rubber cases are available upon which to build buna tires. No expert eye is needed to detect the great difference between them. You can mash the soft butyl tire with your hand.

Tests indicate it is good for only 10,000 miles at 35 to 40 miles an hour. It may be manufactured now for civilian use, but the army will not want it, as long as it can get buna.

Du Pont has a synthetic rubber which will make a better tire than either, but it costs much more and requires the building of more facilities, and hence may not be widely used.

Standard also obtained from Hitler the process for synthetic toluol, a base for TNT. One army official told the Truman committee our prospects for TNT production would be only one-fifth of what it is today, without this process.

The evidence does not yet show if Standard gave away its process for synthetic gas, which would be very valuable to Germany, but it does show Standard collected about 2,000 German processes for whatever it gave.

No politician would care to be caught saying a good word for Standard, because it is not good policy, but the bad words hereafter are likely to concern other matters than its rubber deal with Farben.

Few Good Words for Standard Oil

Few good words for Standard seem justified, in fact, as it was looking out for itself. It did come to the national defense advisory council of the government as early as July or September 1940, and thus apparently roused the interest of Edward Stettinius and W. L. Batt in the synthetic rubber problem, and Batt urged Mr. Roosevelt and Jones to get busy because the Japs might someday cut our Far East rubber supply.

Negotiations lagged a year or so before Jones authorized money for four plants. Apparently Standard wanted 3 per cent royalty but now has finally accepted a consent decree giving up its claims to royalties for the war period—which entails loss of the money it has spent.

In dealing with other private business on the matter, Standard apparently was mainly trying to freeze out Goodrich and some of the other competitive patent holders.

There is some ground for the committee suspicion that it did not lose its profits consciousness entirely until investigators from the Truman committee started calling around and asking embarrassing questions—possibly at the behest of assistant attorney general Thurman Arnold who was trying to squeeze Standard into accepting a consent decree abandoning their royalty claims.

The threat of this publicity may have brought Standard around faster than the threat of the anti-trust laws.

Great Opportunities Growing For Young American Leadership

Timid official announcements concerning the way the war will have to be fought and won point to drastic changes in the regimentation of manpower for the armed forces and in industry.

But what does this mean to the college man and others who yet are to some degree unaware of the character of offensive principles which the U. S. has espoused itself?

It can be exemplified best by the statement made by Lieutenant-Colonel Shaw at a recent talk in Iowa City. "Business as usual is over," said he. "The army will come first, and if it fails, then it makes no difference."

It is to say that total conscription is here, is becoming an actuality. But in this connection the college man may wonder where he fits into the picture and what he can do best.

Indications point to a future army of from eight to ten million men, an increase in the navy personnel to one million or more and an estimated schedule of two million men in the air force. And that takes leadership.

Stewardship, therefore, of the eventual staggering-sized armed forces is the paramount consideration of military leaders who this year will seek at least 100,000 new officers to lead ground forces when the united nations finally launch their offensive.

The responsibility of leadership in modern war not only requires the technical capacity in all ranks from the squad leader to the commanding general, but there is a challenge to the initiative of the leaders in every rank.

As the induction of men into service increases, either through the draft or by the volunteer method, due consideration should be given young men with special training and aptitude to become leaders. Recent changes in the official attitude toward the use of manpower indicates that.

Undoubtedly the challenge for trained military leaders is a partial solution to the college man's dilemma.

If men with liberal educations become leaders of our armed forces, it would be refreshing to look forward to the time when men of this caliber become the leaders of our peacetime movements.

How About Some Feminine Cheer Leaders for SUI

The idea of having girl cheer leaders has long been a favorite topic of debate among the more sports-conscious members of the student body. These discussions inevitably wind up with but one conclusion—they're all for it.

Many universities and colleges throughout the country have had girl cheer leaders leading the students for many years, and on the numerous occasions we have witnessed them perform, we'd say the results were from 50 to 100 per cent better than when males alone are used.

There is no doubt in our mind that the student rooting section at Iowa needs more pep than it has shown signs of having the last two seasons, and we feel that it is about time to let the fair sex turn on the charm and see what they can do about it. Nobody can deny that it will add more spice and color to the too-often lifeless rooting section.

And while we're on the subject of girl cheer leaders, why not let them get a start at the baseball season now getting under way? As is the custom here, no cheer leaders at all are out at the ball diamond to cheer the lads on, so let's use the baseball games as a sort of proving ground and give the lassies a try at it.

Lucy Monroe Gets Back to New York

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Arturo Toscanini rounded out his seventy-fifth year by recording the Star Spangled Banner for the Red Cross. The orchestra was the NBC symphony. The place was Carnegie Hall.

When Tosky came out the orchestra was in its seats and everything was in readiness. "We will rehearse it once," he said. Half way through the rehearsal he held up his hand. "Something is wrong," he cried. "Something is not right. . . I know what it is, you're sitting down. . . Stand up when you play the Star Spangled Banner."

Perhaps for the first time on record a major symphonic organization recorded music on its feet. . . Even the pianist was on his toes. . . The royalties on this recording will go to the Red Cross.

Quiz kid question: What currently popular soprano do you think of when you mention the Star Spangled Banner?

That's right, Lucy Monroe. Not long ago Miss Monroe, after singing the Star Spangled Banner, was forced to endure almost as much anguish as Francis Scott Key when he languished out the night on the deck of a British battleship, waiting to see if the flag was still there.

Miss Monroe had participated in a Victory Sing, at Colorado Springs, Colorado Springs is a long way from New York, and Miss Monroe had to get back to Manhattan in a hurry.

"If you hire a car," someone suggested, "you can get to Denver in time to catch the express for Chicago, and from there it'll be a shoe-in." The fee for a car would be $20.

But Miss Monroe got on a bus instead. An hour out of Colorado Springs the man who sat in the seat ahead of Miss Monroe suddenly crushed his cigar against the windshield and slumped in his seat. He began to grimace and go through various contortions. The driver stopped the bus and they got the man out on the side of the road. He was an epileptic and for nearly an hour he lay in the throes of his seizure.

At last he grew better, and they placed him back into the bus and continued. But a few minutes later they blew a tire. . . Miss Monroe was becoming extremely nervous. Just then a farmer came by and Miss Monroe offered him $10 if he'd take her to Denver. "Cost you $20, ma'am, if you ride with me," he cried.

Miss Monroe and two other passengers crowded into the old jalopy. It hadn't gone 20 miles before a wheel came off. The farmer refused the refund or any part thereof.

A garage was nearby and the man there said, "I'll take you to Denver, but it'll cost you $20." It being too late to argue, they piled in. . . I could end this story here by saying that she got back to NY on time, but that would be omitting the fact that they banged into a station wagon on the outskirts of Denver. It didn't hurt the car but it broke the fender off the wagon.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Geraldine Fitzgerald Is Dublin Irish

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The red-haired girl with the laughing green eyes and the freckles tripped down the stairs, shook hands, and said, "Let's get out of here."

"Here" was the confusion of her new residence in Beverly Hills. The Edward Lindsay-Hoggs were just moving in. A movie star's house on moving day looks just like yours or mine: pictures strewn around, books, chairs asked, windows being washed vacuum cleaner going, no place to sit. We got out of there and over to the Derby.

But I still didn't believe it for a while. This girl in the green slacks suit, animated and down-to-earth, she couldn't be Geraldine Fitzgerald, no ma'am! She couldn't fool me. Miss G. F. is a stately, dignified brunette who suffers beautifully. Miss G. F. is a lady on a pedestal, lovely and remote.

I said so—not entirely originally. I learned, Miss Fitzgerald said people were always surprised and there wasn't anything she could do about it, short of making a color movie so she could have her red hair and freckles back, and her "redhead personality." Otherwise she would always photograph brunette, and have to hide her freckles because on black-and-white film they looked like dirt. And go on "squeezing herself into people she never was—dull characters to play. Good worthy people, but dull."

"I've always been victims—and I'm not a victim! I'm a victimizer," she exclaimed with conviction, half defiantly as if she feared she wouldn't be believed. "I mean that in pictures things always happen to me; actually, I like to make things happen."

Closest to a make-things-happen part she's had is in "The Gay Sisters." She's the monocle-wearing sister and she's gay about the role.

"Usually, she said, she was in pictures of a type not her own favorite entertainment—noble, unhappy pictures, "Dark Victory," "Shining Victory"—you know them. "They're pictures I see only because I'm in them, and I watch myself with a thrilling horror."

Miss Fitzgerald is definitely not the long-suffering type. She's Dublin-Irish, though accentless. She thought she would be an artist, and was dismayed when her teacher, with kind brutality, advised her to get married instead. She woke up one day with the conviction that she would be an actress. She went around, eventually, to the famed Gate theater, was assigned a role by a harassed director who thought she was someone else, and played it. After this, nothing in Hollywood could surprise her. Nothing does.

"The sky here is empty—no furniture," she put it aptly.

NUTRITION FOR DEFENSE

Be PATRIOTIC! EAT SENSIBLY! To live an efficient life we must have efficient bodies! For efficient bodies, we must eat protective foods daily.

LESSON NUMBER THREE
One or more servings of meat, fish, or cheese are required daily to supply the amount of PROTEIN necessary for an adult. Protein furnishes the "building blocks" of muscle and tissue, and a certain amount must be eaten to keep the body "in repair." These foods are our best sources, along with milk and eggs, of complete, or first class PROTEIN. Other essentials present are VITAMIN B-COMPLEX, PHOSPHOROUS, IRON. Include liver (very high in A. B. I. iron) and fish once a week.

Hawkeyes Oppose Bradley Tech Nine Here Today

Hawks Seek Second Win Over Braves

Either Kenney, Stille Will Draw Starting Pitching Assignment

Lineups:

Iowa	Bradley Tech
Flanders, cf	Thompson, cf
Thompson, 3b	Peterson, 1b
Dunagan, ss	Leonard, ss
Lind, rf	Markoski, 3b
Farmer, 2b	Klesath, rf

Koehnke, lf	Bauer, lf
Welp, c	Ormsbee, c
Stille, p	Darst, p

Fresh from their 14-1 opening game victory over Luther Saturday, Iowa's Hawkeyes will be out to gain their second non-conference baseball victory here at 4 o'clock this afternoon over the Bradley Tech nine—weather permitting.

The game will be the first of three to be played by the Hawks here this week, and will be their last non-conference tilt before starting the Big Ten campaign against Minnesota this week end.

This will be Bradley's second game of the season, and its second fracas in two days as well. Yesterday the Braves took on Northwestern in their opener.

Kenney or Stille
The Iowa starting pitching assignment today will probably fall to either Jack Kenney or Roy Stille, since the other veterans, Dick Hein, Bob Faber and Wendell Hill, all worked in Saturday's game.

Both Kenney and Stille will undoubtedly see action so that Coach Otto Vogel will have a chance to look at all his experienced pitchers under fire before starting the conference race Friday.

Iowa's hurling in the Luther game left little to be desired, as Hein, Faber and Hill allowed only six hits, three of which could be blamed directly upon the strong wind. Luther's only run came in the fifth inning when Faber allowed two doubles.

JUNIOR PROM

LAST FORMAL PARTY
APRIL 17th

KEITH KENNETT, KEYSTONE GUARDIAN—For the Bradley Tech Braves, makes up one half of a fine double play combination. Along with Larry Leonard, shortstop, the second base pair is reputed to be among the best in the middle west. Kennett is a senior this year.

ers, Iowa's two new outfielders, both started off on the right foot by slamming out three hits apiece. Together they accounted for six of Iowa's 13 safeties, and scored 4 of the 14 runs.

Sophomore Don Thompson started the game at third base, and after failing to hit in his first two appearances at the plate, drove in a run with a sharp hit to right field on his next trip. He was then relieved by Ben Trickey who batted twice without a base hit.

Thompson hurt his leg during the game, and it still bothered him somewhat yesterday. It will probably be all right for today's game, but Vogel did not indicate who would be the starting third baseman. Although Trickey and

Thompson appear to have the inside posts, there is the possibility that Merle Benhart may be given his chance today.

Veterans Dominate
The remainder of the lineup will again consist of veterans. Capt. Bill Welp, who connected for two hits in the opener, will be behind the plate. Rudy Radics will hold down left field, and Merle Benhart will play second base. The smooth double-play combination of Doc Dunagan and Tommy Farmer will take care of short and second respectively.

Like Iowa, Bradley has almost a veteran infield and claims a keystone combination in Larry Leonard at shortstop and Keith Kennett at second base. At third is Bernie Markoski, leading Bradley batter in 1941.

Three big right-handers will be ready for action on the mound. A sophomore, Major Darst, may draw the starting assignment, with Art Ecklund in reserve. Dick Haack, a speedball hurler, is another possibility.

Due to the rainy weather, yesterday's practice was held inside the fieldhouse, and was limited to limbering up exercises and pepper games.

State 'Y' Swimming Meet Here Saturday

Winner, Runner-Up of Eight District Meets Will Compete in Three Divisions

Eight swimming teams will compete in the state Y.M.C.A. swimming and diving championships in the fieldhouse pool Saturday afternoon. Coach David Armstrong announced yesterday. Clinton is the defending champion.

The teams that have qualified for the meet are the champion and runner-up of four district meets. The roster of the teams and competitors will be made known today.

Five Advance In Freshman Mat Tourney

Five advancements were rung up yesterday afternoon in the first-round matches of the freshman mat tournament in the wrestling room of the fieldhouse. The tourney opened with a field of 28 contenders, which will be cut down to the eight weight division champions, who will be awarded numerical sweaters.

Highlighting the afternoon's grappling was the heavyweight bout, when approximately 460 pounds of scrappy heavyweight material clashed on the mat to earn a shot at the title. Bruno Niedziela, Illinois high school all-star, took charge of Roger Kane, winning the bout on a 3-1 decision.

The fastest match of the afternoon came in the 155-pound slot when Ed Wafful brought Stan Ulanoff to the mat in 1:12. John Martensen also scored an advancement in this weight bracket by chalking up a fall over Jack Linkletter in 2:31.

Merle Branstetter banged out another quick time fall by throwing Robert Schneberger in 1:40 for an advancement in the 155-pound class. Dick McKinstry, all-university intramural titleholder, scored his first victory in this bracket by piling up a 6-0 lead over George Witters.

The pairings for the semi-final round, which will be held at 4:15

Competition will occur in three classes; the combined senior and intermediate, and the junior A and B. Included on the long program are relays, back and breast stroke races, diving and free style events from 40 to 220 yards.

Clinton last year won the title with 180 points, followed by Cedar Rapids with 95, as four records were shattered and one was equalled.

Cards Break Camp; Two Positions Worry Manager Southworth

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The pennant-minded St. Louis Cardinals broke camp yesterday with big question marks hanging over the first base and left field jobs—both in the hands of rookies.

Manager Billy Southworth said "it was our most successful training season," but admitted he had his fingers crossed. If Stan Musial makes the grade in left and Ray Sanders at first his worries will be over. But if they should fail, Johnny Hopp, the Card's general handy man, can't plug but one of the holes. "That's the awful truth," admitted Southworth.

15 Varsity Golfers Prepare For Opening Dual April 21

Hawk Schedule Cut To 4 Loop Matches For Short Semester

Capt. George Larson, Arnie Osterberg Only Returning Lettermen

Awaiting a four-match schedule, cut short in comparison to previous years because of the short semester, 15 varsity golfers are getting into the swing of spring practice at Finkbine.

Coach Charles Kennett reports that the varsity squad is made up of six sophomores, seven juniors and two seniors, and that there are 12 men working out on the freshman squad this spring.

Iowa will open the '42 season when it meets Chicago here April 27. The Hawks play Illinois at Champaign May 2; Northwestern at Evanston May 4, and Minnesota at Minneapolis May 7.

Capt. George Larson and Arnie Osterberg are the only returning major lettermen of last year's team, and Bob Gustafson is the only minor letterman back, but this doesn't mean that there isn't plenty of good material from which to pick a team. Coach Kennett expects some keen competition in the intrasquad tournament, which will start as soon as the matches are able to be played.

The varsity squad includes

 'Missing in Action'

The fourth Johnson county youth to lose his life in the present war was reported Saturday when Mrs. Mae Musser of Lone Tree was informed by the U. S. Navy department that her son John Dolson Musser Jr., 25, is "missing in action."

Other Johnson county men who have been reported to be missing are James Junior Herring, signalman, third class, U. S. navy, Dec. 7, 1941; Creighton H. Workman, fireman, first class, U. S. navy, Dec. 7, 1941; and Pvt. First Class Grealey B. Williams, U. S. army air corps, Dec. 8, 1941.

Musser, who was born near Lone Tree the son of John and Mae Musser, enlisted in the navy in December, 1936. His first assignment was on the U. S. S. Vega for an Alaskan cruise in the summer of 1938.

He has been on duty with the Asiatic fleet since September, 1939, when he was stationed at Cavite, P. I.

communication lines is becoming clear. Recent raids against the Port Moresby pivot in New Guinea and Darwin in Australia have been little more than nuisance affairs. Half a dozen to a dozen planes have come over, and have been savagely dealt with each time.

It seems clear now that the Japanese concentration against British-Chinese forces in Burma to beat the wet monsoon, and an effort to achieve and maintain air mastery of the Indian ocean, or possibly to overawe India against a rapprochement with Britain, have prevented full scale air operations at the same time either against Australia or Bataan and the Manila forts.

Perhaps the most significant aspect of the Colombo operations, however, is what it implies as to British air and sea reinforcements reaching India and the Bay of Bengal. Unless the Japanese had

By LOREN HICKERSON

NOTES TO THE LOCAL RAINMAKERS . . .

Nobody has ever devised a system whereby Iowans may enjoy the May flowers without enduring the April showers . . .

For approximately the same reason, the average college student has to undergo quite a bit of exposure before he begins to assimilate and use constructively the knowledge he manages to pick up about the campus . . .

Educators argue endlessly about the rainfall . . . Should it come in downpours, with scarcely a let-up, until the ground is well saturated, and therefore enriched and more fertile . . . ?

Or should the rain come in drizzles, with an occasional shower, but with a reasonable amount of sunshine permitted to dry off the ground between storms . . . ?

The majority of American institutions, of both higher and secondary learning, follow the drizzle methods . . . They dot their academic calendars with holidays and vacation periods — sunshine between storms . . .

Their liberal schedules, moreover, aren't designed to saturate the student too speedily . . . They figure that if a little learning is a dangerous thing, then the danger should be spread out thinly . . .

But there are institutions which believe in downpours, sometimes deluges . . . Their spots of sunshine are few and far between . . .

Robert Maynard Hutchins thinks that two years of intensive rain will so moisten the ground that anything will grow . . . St. John's famous "100 books" course isn't exactly a drizzle . . . There are others . . .

But by far the greatest percentage of our institutions, both conservative and liberal, take plenty of time at their rain making . . . They have ritualized it, academized it, stylized it . . .

Like the rest of America, they have let their rain grow great bushy forests, too few big trees . . .

But whenever a crisis comes along, and the old business of education suddenly becomes important in specific terms, storms develop all over the country . . .

The rains came to Iowa this semester . . . It's the wettest season we've had in many a year . . .

In the face of the need to force the current crops, students in law, medicine, engineering and the other professional colleges have been caught with their umbrellas down . . . Even in liberal arts, where the moisture usually maintains no more than a tropical humidity and the dew dries off by late morning, there have been April showers out of the ordinary this year . . .

And I have a hunch that this is only the beginning . . .

But if there are to be May flowers at all this year, or next year, or any year as far ahead as we can see, it will have to be because students suddenly developed taproots to take care of their extra moisture . . .

Student sub-soil has been so dry for so long around here that it will take some stirring up around the base to open the pores to the rain . . .

Therefore it seems a good idea to start thinking about the freshmen who will enroll next June 8 and next September 5 and the following February . . .

They can be a fertile crop indeed if they learn soon enough that the new heavy rains can do a lot for them if they'll develop early root systems which cover their own little plots so thoroughly that little moisture goes unassimilated . . .

Rain alone won't do that . . . The rainmakers need to be busy now on some kind of a program which will really orient the newcomers more in an academic sense, less in the social sense . . .

If Professor A asks his ten top students during what period in the last couple of years they learned the most, nine of the ten will answer "since Pearl Harbor . . ." And then Professor A must realize that the lacks of his pre-Pearl Harbor training are as much their fault as his students' . . .

So oriented, young plants can thrive on a lot of rain . . . So oriented, excess moisture in the student pours out normally in

H. M. Schuppert to Direct 1942 Christmas Seal Drive

Organization's Other Officers Unanimously Re-Elected to Posts

Spring Dinner Meeting Of Association Held In City Last Night

Harold M. Schuppert of Iowa City, cashier of the First National bank, was elected 1942 Christmas seal sale chairman at the annual spring dinner meeting of the officers and directors of the Johnson County Tuberculosis and Health association held last night at the Jefferson hotel.

All other officers of the association were unanimously re-elected. They are Dr. George C. Albright, president, Mrs. H. S. Ivie, vice president, and Mrs. Sadie Seagrave, secretary.

Approve Teachers Tests

The association endorsed a program recently decided upon by the executive committee whereby all county boards of education will give compulsory tuberculosis tests to all school employees.

Those with positive reactions will be given X-rays, the expense to be borne by the county tuberculosis association.

Dr. Albright pointed out that teachers are one of the fertile sources of the spreading of tuberculosis and that he felt that a positive test film should indicate a termination of the teacher's employment.

Atty. Emil G. Trott, 1941 chairman of the Christmas seal drive, reported that Johnson county's gross receipts for last year were $4,261, amounting to 10.8 cents per capita. Approximately $664 of this amount came from university students, he said. Johnson county had the highest per capita sale in the state last year and also surpassed all previous state records.

New Seal Program

The chairman cited three reasons contributing to the increased county sale: adoption of the mail sale in all townships, increased student participation and certain refinements made in the Iowa City sale.

Reporting on the state convention recently held in Sioux City, Attorney Trott said that Iowa now has the third lowest death rate in the United States with a death rate of 15.4 per 100,000 in 1941.

In 1940 the state was fourth lowest with a death rate of 18 per 100,000.

The organization voted to pay an honorarium to the seal sale chairman for the coming year, the amount to be determined by the executive committee. It was also decided to allocate 10 per cent of the gross receipts to Oakdale sanitarium as its share of the Christmas seal fund.

The association will hold a dinner meeting at the Jefferson hotel the second Monday in May for the appointment of new committees.

Louis Wirth Begins Lecture Series Here

Dean Louis Wirth of the division of social sciences of the University of Chicago began a series of lectures here yesterday which will extend through 3 weeks on "The Urban Community and the National Economy."

The lectures will be given at 2 p. m. in room 107, University hall, in connection with the scheduled urban community and national economy courses. They will be open to a limited number of people outside of the regular students.

Foerster Returns From National Conference

Prof. Norman Foerster, director of the school of letters, has returned from New York City where he served in his capacities as a member of the executive council of the Modern Language association and as director of the College English association.

He reports that the next annual meeting of the Modern Language association will be in New York City instead of Washington, D. C.

Police Judge Fines Four City Residents

Police Judge William J. Smith fined four persons Sunday for traffic violations.

Roger Kane was fined $5 and costs for speeding, James Peoples was fined $1 and costs for displaying 1941 license plates, Carl Cloe was fined $1 for parking with left wheel to the curb, and William Neuzil was fined $1 for parking in a prohibited zone.

Two Journalistic Fraternities Initiate Thirty-Six Into Organizations at Sunday Meeting in Union

Richard Wilson Speaks At Waygoose Dinner In Memorial Union

Three professional journalists and 20 undergraduate men were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, and 13 undergraduate women were initiated into Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity for women in journalism, Sunday afternoon in Iowa Union.

The initiations were held as part of the annual Waygoose festival, sponsored by the two groups and the Associated Students of Journalism. The festival, held annually, is built around the Waygoose banquet at which Richard Wilson, Washington correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, for the past eight years, spoke last Sunday evening.

Wilson, a former student of the University of Iowa and member of the local Sigma Delta Chi chapter, spoke on the Washington scene, especially touching on the problems of censorship and maintenance of morale.

Pointing out that for the first time in the history of the country at war a voluntary censorship is being carried on by newspapers, Wilson stressed the need for giving the American people all the information possible without disclosing information that would be helpful to the enemy.

The fact that many of the national governmental organizations have conflicting views about what information should be made public and the fact that the smaller country newspapers are violating the present censorship code makes more apparent the need for the government to set up a standard of censorship to which all papers and agencies can be held responsible, he said.

"Public information and morale is very important today, more important than in any other war," he asserted, "and it is useless to deny the American people the truth."

Wilson commented on the dangers of defeatism, the retaining of confidence in the government and the progress of defense production.

He pointed out that enemy propaganda has taken a much greater hold in certain sections of the country than we would expect. As examples he cited several bits of propaganda which originated from axis-controlled radios and circulated widely along certain sections of the two coasts.

Declaring that although he presented a rather gloomy picture of the war, he was not at all pessimistic, Wilson said he believed that by next fall we should know the eventual outcome of the war.

"Everyone should be wise enough to realize that the United States and her allies are going to win the war."

At the banquet Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the school of journalism, presented the Brewer Torch Press key to Gene Claussen, local Associated Press correspondent. The key is awarded on the basis of scholastic record and promise for a future in journalism by the faculty of the school.

Claussen was also awarded first prize in the feature writing contest sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi. Art Paddock, J4 of Somerville, N. J., received second prize.

A national award certificate for first place in the spot news photography division of the 1941 Sigma Delta Chi national contest for journalism students was presented to John Mueller, G of Iowa City, for his picture "Midnight Fire." Don Ohl, J4 of Iowa City, mas-

Donovan Goodyear Lost in Sea Action

A former University of Iowa student, Donovan Goodyear, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Goodyear of Marion, has been reported lost in action. According to a telegram received by his parents, he was "lost in action at sea."

Goodyear, who had taken student pilot training at the university, left about a year ago to enlist in the air corps. Ray E. Goodyear, 603 E. Burlington, is Donovan's uncle.

History Conference Assumes Vital Role In Current Problems

University of Iowa students caught like an earlier generation in disrupting times of war, are specially invited to attend the 22nd annual conference for teachers and students of the social sciences, to be held on campus Friday and Saturday.

Directed to the supreme problems created by war—to break down the barriers of totalitarianism and open the way to shaping of orderly, reasonable, decent relationship among nations—this year's conference subject is pertinent to war and peace.

It is hard to prepare the lion's armed forces for war, will be even harder to prepare the national mind to understand the issues of war and to meet problems of victory and peace which the war is fought.

This year's historical conference recognizes the burden upon teachers of the social sciences to prepare the mind of youth to intelligently discuss the issues of war and peace.

A change in the conference program finds Dr. J. Fred Ripton of the University of Chicago, outstanding writer on Latin America, on the program—discuss "Building the American Front." He takes place of Dr. Joaquin Ortega of the University of New Mexico, unable to attend the conference because of illness.

Other conference highlights include Prof. L. A. Van Dyke, principal of University high school, speak on "Pressing Problems of High School Social Studies." Howard Bowen of the college of commerce will interpret "The Social Sciences in War Reconstruction."

Prof. W. T. Hutchison of the University of Chicago, author of "The American Historian in War Time."
