NAZIS REPORTED NEARING ATHENS

Nazi Strategy Aims to Engulf Mediterranean, Eastern Oil Fields

Admit Thermopylae Victory Cost Heavily

Allies Declare Fighting Still Going on at Pass; Anzacs Repel Panzer Attack; British In Egypt Retreat

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Smashing British resistance at strategic Thermopylae pass 100 miles north of Athens, Germany's army was reported last night fighting on toward the Greek capital, and Nazi spokesmen expected it to fall soon like "a ripe apple."
Nazi dive-bombers relentlessly sprayed the withdrawing British in the valley south of the pass and ranged far ahead to cut off escape to sea by bombing shipping in Greece's southern ports.

An Athens dispatch filed yesterday at 6 p.m. (10 a.m. C.S.T.) left the allied position in doubt but said a New Zealand anti-tank unit had wrecked 23 German tanks and repelled a panzer attack near Mount Oeta which overhangs Thermopylae pass.

The Germans admitted that this announced victory after two days of savage fighting cost them in men. The communique spoke of "punishing" machine-gun fire laid down by British mountain nests.

But fighting against terrific odds, the British were admitted by the middle-eastern command in Cairo to have fallen back after inflicting heavy casualties in the Nazis. Evacuation Considered Safe Defense Board Told of Strike Threat in G.M.

Orders 30 Day 'Cool Off' Period; to Mediate If Walkout Occurs

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Secretary Perkins tonight certified to the defense mediation board the threat of a strike in the vast General Motors corporation.

The labor department said her decision was made after reports had been received that 41 of 61 plants in which strike votes were held up to last midnight had voted for a walkout.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO) had ordered the strike poll to enforce its demands for wage increases and a union shop.

The union, at the outset, served a five-day notice on the Michigan mediation board of its intent to take the strike vote. Michigan authorities, acting under a "cooling off" period law, ordered that a 30-day period elapse before the walkout.

General Motors, with plants scattered throughout the automobile manufacturing belt of the mid-west, has about $700,000,000 in defense orders. It employs approximately 160,000 men in the 61 plants.

Union officials have asserted that men working on defense would not be called out if a strike occurs, but General Motors executives contended it was impossible to distinguish between defense and non-defense work because of inter-related tasks of plants and employees.

The labor department twice before had handed cases to the mediation board in which strikes had not developed at the time of the certification.

Turkey to Halt German Ships At Dardanelles

ANKARA, Turkey, April 25—(AP)—Turkey has decided to halt and inspect German ships enroute from the Black sea through the Straits of Bosphorus and Dardanelles to determine if they are carrying troops or war materials into the middle eastern war zone, it was reported tonight.

Reliable informants heard that several German freighters, plying presumably from occupied Rumanian or Bulgarian ports, have slipped through the straits recently without stopping or flying the required transit flag.

If Germany is sending troops or war material through the straits, Turkey may contend this is a violation of the Montreux convention of July 20, 1936, under which Turkey was permitted to demilitarize the straits.

In a special communique the German high command said German bombers had destroyed 13 merchant ships totalling about 50,000 tons and seriously damaged 17 others Thursday in Greek waters.

The Greeks announced that German troops occupied the Greek island of Lemnos Thursday after a four-hour fight in which the local garrison was overpowered. This island is only about 50 miles from the entrance to Turkish-controlled Dardanelles, the western gateway to the Black sea.

In the face of increasing threats to Gibraltar at the western end of the Mediterranean the British government assigned direction of the famous fortress to Viscount Gort, former commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force knocked out of Flanders a year ago.

Lord Gort was named governor and commander-in-chief of the Rock in a shift which sent Lieut. General Sir Clive Liddell back to Britain to take over Gort's duties as army inspector general for the training of British home forces girded against a Nazi invasion attempt.

In Africa, bitter fighting continued with the British announcing repulse of another axis attack on Tobruk.

Castillo Orders Marshal Law In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, April 25 (AP)—Acting President Ramon S. Castillo, charging Argentina's congress with "inactivity" in the face of an economic crisis, announced today that he would govern the country by decree for the time being.

In an announcement of the decision, taken by the cabinet, he said a series of "very important" decrees would be issued next week in a frontal attack on the situation which has stifled Argentina since her best customers in Europe were plunged into war in 1939.

Castillo charged that congress had failed to cooperate with the administration and declared the first executive decrees would extend the 1940 budget, itself an extension of the 1939 budget, into 1941.

Asked if members of congress would continue to receive their salaries, he answered, "yes, and they shall have vacations."

With defeat near for Anglo-Greek armies in Greece, the axis has accomplished successfully another step in what appears to be a long-range campaign to secure complete control of the Mediterranean sea, cut Great Britain's "life-line" to the far east and India, and secure possession of the oil fields of Iraq. Several moves now appear possible for the German high command and all of them have been rumored at least once from various European sources as the next possible Nazi step. One report is that the Germans may move into the grain fields of Soviet Russia's Ukraine district. Another is that the axis may concentrate upon a two-pronged move to reach Iraq and to capture the Suez canal, continuing their thrust eastward from Libya and driving through Turkey. Stories emanating from Vichy say that German officials have sought Spanish permission to move troops through Spain to attack Gibraltar and close the western entrance of the Mediterranean, but Generalissimo Francisco Franco is said to frown upon this plan.

London Observers See Invasion Plan in Pattern of Nazi Bombings

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—Thoughtful London observers are beginning to suspect a definite invasion design in the bomb pattern which the Germans have blasted throughout Britain in last eight months.
It is argued that the importance of the areas which have been attacked, despite the heavy nature of the bombings, is not comparable with other objectives which could be reached but which have barely been touched.
It can be said that interior transport facilities, for instance, have been left practically unharmed. Ports have been attacked but a survey of the railway network of the nation indicates that damage has been negligible.

Draft Objector Camps to Open

2,000 Men Already Certified to Work On Conservation Projects

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The first work camps for conscientious objectors will open May 15, the national service board for religious objectors announced today and men who 24 years ago would have the choice of joining up or going to jail will engage in conservation projects under civilian supervision.
Already 2,000 men have been certified by their local selective service boards as sincere in their scruples against any kind of military service. Next month the first contingents from this group will be assigned to camps at Patuxent, Md., and Grottoes, Va.

Four additional camps have been completed, the board said, and 14 more are being prepared. The board expects the number of certified objectors to reach 7,000 by mid-summer.

The men assigned to the camps are subject to the same period of service as those who go into the army. They differ from the latter, however, in two respects——they will wear work clothes instead of uniforms, and they draw no pay.

Work to which the men will be assigned includes soil conservation, land reclamation, forestry, public health, and fish and wildlife conservation.

British Bombers Blast Nazi Steel Mills in Holland

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—British bombers struck heavy daylight blows today at a Netherlands plant making Nazi war steel in a quick follow-up of night attacks on the German warship cradles of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, the British reported tonight.

With heavy loads of bombs, the air ministry's news service said, RAF formations blasted the furnaces and mills of Ijmuiden, steel manufacturing city on the west coast of Holland.

In an earlier raid, at dawn, the British said they bombed a supply ship of 1,600 tons in the Nieuwe Waterweg, the canal between the hook of Holland and Rotterdam.

In the raids on Kiel and Wilhelmshaven, largest warship building centers in the reich, British bombers were said to have penetrated curtains of anti-aircraft fire to reach their targets with explosives.

F.D.R. Assails Flier's Speech

Classifies Lindbergh With Appeasers Who Run From the Fight

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Asserting it was dumb to consider a Nazi victory inevitable, President Roosevelt today classified Col. Charles A. Lindbergh with appeasers who urged peace during the Revolutionary and Civil wars on the ground that those wars could not be won.

He spoke at a press conference in a discussion developing from a request for an amplification of a previous statement that the people were inadequately aware of the gravity of the situation. Lindbergh's name was brought into it when a reporter asked why, although he holds a commission in the army reserve, the flier had not been summoned up for service.

"U.S. Cannot Win War"
On Wednesday night Lindbergh made a speech in New York City in which he said the "United States cannot win this war for England, regardless of how much assistance we extend."

In answer to the question, why Lindbergh had not been called to the colors, Mr. Roosevelt said that during the Civil war, numerous foreigners, liberty loving people, fought on both sides, and that at the same time, both sides led certain people go—that is, did not call them into service.

Vallandigham
The people who were thus ignored, he added, were the Vallandighams. The name apparently meant little to the correspondents, and the president explained that the Vallandighams were people who, from 1863 on, urged immediate peace, arguing that the north could not win the war between the states.

(Clement L. Vallandigham was a member of the house from Ohio. In 1863 he was arrested by military authorities for alleged "treasonable utterances" and banished to the Confederate states. He was known as a leader of the "Copperheads.")

Dienst Asserts 'New Order' Must Be Total

BERLIN, April 25 (AP)—The well-informed commentary Dienst aus Deutschland, discussing what it called British reports that Germany has certain obscure designs concerning Spain, Portugal and Turkey, coined the phrase: "The new unified European order is indivisible."

Dienst said the war had started as internal differences between Poland and Germany but had grown into "a war of total European new order."

No Convoys Yet--F. D. R.; Nazis to Sink Aid Ships

Plymouth, Hit Hard by Nazis, A Ruined City

PLYMOUTH, England, April 25 (AP)—Pounded and burned mercilessly by the German Luftwaffe for three consecutive nights this south coast port is going through its blackest day as long lines of women, children and aged begin a long trek to nowhere in search of shelter and safety.

Three times Tuesday night the raiders roared overhead, dropping tons of explosives and incendiaries.
The next night they scattered a hail of explosives among homes, public shelters, hospitals, churches and theaters; and again Thursday night they loosed hundreds of explosive and fire bombs among the debris of an already battered city.

Passing the lines of refugees trudging wearily in search of new shelter were long convoys of cars, buses, trucks, vans and horse-drawn carts, some of which turned a cold shoulder to pleas for a lift.

Berlin Warns Such Vessels Face Attack

Will Not Be Provoked By 'Intemperate' Words Of U.S. War Agitators

BERLIN, April 25 (AP)—Warnings that United States war materials for Britain will be sent to the bottom of the sea as fast as German military power is able to do so—convoys or not—were repeated with increasing emphasis in Berlin tonight.

The general attitude was that Germany "will not permit herself to be provoked by intemperate statements of American war agitators," and the reich, obviously, was trying to avoid any incident which would further strain relations with the United States.

But it was emphasized that Germany has met explicitly laid down an Atlantic warzone which now includes Iceland and extends to the territorial waters of Greenland, and it is stated here that the world long has been on notice that ships in this area taking material to England would be subject to air and naval attack.

This attitude is no departure from the well known German policy, commentators were saying. All referred to the statement made by Adolf Hitler months ago that any vessel sailing for England—with or without convoy—will be sunk if she comes within range of German torpedo tubes.

The Berlin press was angered and officialdom plainly irked by the strong declarations of Secretaries Knox and Hull in favor of decisive U.S. action to insure a maximum flow of supplies to Britain.

F.D.R. Hints German Forces In Greenland

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt spoke today of the possibility that axis forces might be in Greenland—and answered affirmatively when asked whether the United States was going to do anything about it.

His press conference discussion of the huge island—owned by German-dominated Denmark but declared by the United States to come within the scope of western hemisphere defense—evoked comment on Capitol Hill.

Senator Nye (R-ND) told reporters that the President's discussion was an attempt "to scare the American people" and that there should be "less of this scare with so little substantiation."

Senator Lee (D-Okla.) said that "if the Nazis try to get into Greenland we've got to stop them and if they're already there we've got to throw them out."

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters he was not at all satisfied that part of Greenland was not occupied by the axis, but added he would not say positively that this was so. His statement, he commented, was surprising.

Na Clues
He offered no clues on the nature of the occupying force except to reply negatively when asked whether fifth columnists were involved.

That produced much speculation in the capital, some defense experts suggesting that U-boat bases in the remote, almost hidden fjords, were impossible. From those bases, where axis submarines could be fueled, their crews rested and batteries recharged, sallies could be made south to the great circle course of British-bound merchantmen.

F.R. Reveals New System Of Naval Patrol

Intended to Scout 'Aggressor' Warcraft, Warn of Their Presence

By J. C. STARK
WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—A far-flung system of United States naval patrols to scout for "aggressor" warcraft and warn of their presence was disclosed by President Roosevelt today but he rejected at the same time any idea of conveying American supplies to Great Britain.

This patrol, the president emphasized at his press conference, is in no sense a convoy system; it is only an extension on the part of the United States of the "neutrality" naval patrol established by all the American republics in 1939 soon after the outbreak of the European war.

For Hemisphere Defense
And it is designed for the same purpose, he said—for the protection of the western hemisphere.

He compared this vast extension of patrols—extension anywhere on the seven seas where it is considered necessary to protect this hemisphere—with the scout system employed in the old west for the protection of wagon trains.

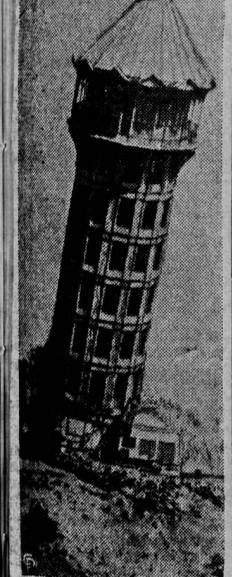

The train had a guard around it but it got its reports from a long way off—it didn't wait until the Indians were in sight but had to know if they were ahead, he explained.

Would the patrol warn other wagon trains, the president was asked.

All kinds of wagon trains, the president replied.

This was interpreted immediately (See ROOSEVELT, Page 7)

London Tower Goes

The 250-foot north tower of the Crystal Palace in London is demolished by dynamite because the bomb-shattered structure acted as a guiding pylon for German flyers in raids over the British capital. The more than 800 tons of cast iron in the structure will be converted into arms and munitions.

Wage Raises; Price Inflation

There is a "school" of thought in this country exerting pressure on public opinion through the medium of the press which likes to argue that enforced wage increases add to the burden of production, which is met by the manufacturers by a general increase in prices, resulting inevitably in another wage demand by labor, then another shooting up of prices, and so on, and so on, ending finally in a dread inflationary spiral.

What is so conveniently forgotten, in the first place, is that initial wage demands are usually based upon skyrocketing profits, resulting from an increased—not static—capacity of production; consequently upon capital's full ability to pay without retaliatory efforts at boosting prices.

So, at least, Price Administrator Leon Henderson must have reasoned in last week's move fixing a maximum price upon steel and other crucial commodities immediately after the recent 10 cents-an-hour wage increase had been granted in the steel industry.

Nevertheless many of its press supporters still continue to insist that wage demands and price control together combine as a dangerous pincer movement on industry. Capitalism cannot exist without profits, it is warned. Almost in the same breath it is contended that wage increases down along the line will certainly lead to inflation. Thus again an attempt is made to portray labor as the arch villain.

Here however is what the April 14 issue of the New Republic has to say on the matter of inflation: "It may be laid down as a basic principle that wage increases do not cause inflation. Wage increases obtained in orderly collective bargaining may raise costs of production a little, but they cannot be the cause of an uncontrollable inflationary spiral. Wages do not go up fast enough for that. In every inflation on record, prices rise first, fastest, and farthest. The principle danger from wage increases in a period of full production arise not from their effect on costs, but from their effect on purchasing power."

In other words, if there is an existing shortage of goods in ratio to the purchasing power, naturally this will hike up prices—or would without price control. The best solution all the way around would be for industry to increase its productive capacity, both in civilian needs and in armaments, which, experts admit, it could easily do, except for the fear of "excess capacity" upon the part of the few industrial magnates after the war is over.

Already there are looming shortages in many critical materials seriously threatening this country's defense production. These shortages are directly due to the refusal of the industrial heads to expand their plants as far as a year ago when the present production crisis was foreseen. They now are tardily beginning to cooperate with the government, mainly because of administration pressure.

It is desirable that the people have full publicity on these things—if for no other reason than to know where the greatest criticism is to be applied for undue defense hold-ups. It hardly seems fair to let labor carry all the blame as it has all winter in its "unreasonable" defense of human rights when, as all evidence indicates, the industrialists have been much more so in their defense of profits and of property rights.

Grinnell's 1941 Institute

First announcements have arrived of the seventh annual Grinnell Institute of International Relations, to be in session from June 12 to June 21 at Grinnell College. Students of the university, faculty members and a good many leaders in community affairs here have taken part in past sessions of the Institute, which attracts each year outstanding leaders in the fields of education, theology and international affairs.

Egon Ranshofen Wertheimer, Austrian political scientist now at American university, Washington, D. C., Norman Angell, noted British author and lecturer, author of "The Great Illusion," Peter Drucker, author of "The End of Economic Man," James M. Manfredini, professor of Latin American studies at the University of Houston.

Henry Jeol Cadbury, Hollis professor of divinity at Harvard, and Earl D. Strong, head of the department of economics, Grinnell college, in charge of the Institute's credit course.

The credit course permits students to earn two hours of college credit for fulfilling certain requirements and passing an examination on the subjects covered in the Institute's lectures.

The theme of this year's institute: "What of Future World Order?" What better theme?

More Deaths on the Highway

There were 109 motor vehicle traffic fatalities in Iowa during the first three months of 1941, we are told by the Iowa Department of Public Safety. Let's look at that record.

The causes of these accidents according to reports received are: 32 by collision with other motor vehicles, 25 in non-collision accidents, 29 were pedestrians, 13 collided with fixed objects and 10 were killed in accidents with trains.

The March statistical summary of motor vehicle traffic accidents in Iowa shows that a total of 1,495 accidents resulted in 39 fatalities.

Of these accidents 1,301 resulted from a traffic violation; 1,653 of the 2,520 drivers involved in accidents during March had over five years driving experience; 2,138 of them were residents of urban areas.

Although urban accidents outnumbered rural accidents 913 to 582, fatal accidents in rural areas were highest 21 to 14.

The department of safety education pointed out the following tips for drivers to help reduce the death toll of Iowa's highways:

- 1. Be on the alert for elderly persons strolling along the highways these warm spring days. 2. If a bee, or wasp invades your car. Stop! Dispose of him at your leisure. Don't sweat at him wildly trying to drive. It's too dangerous. Let's hope, with these facts before us, the record improves.

Mr. Tucker May Be Forced To Hide Behind Miss Bette Davis

NEW YORK—I do not enjoy hiding behind a woman's skirts, yet it may become necessary to ask Miss Bette Davis to help protect me from the minions of the law. A couple of weekends ago there was delivered to this desk a dull-looking sort of communication that I shoved aside without bothering to open and then I got on a train and went up to the sturdy little town of Littleton, N. H., for the week end.

When I eventually returned and got around to opening that communication it turned out to be an "invitation" to jury duty in the Case of the People vs. some poor wretch who had either wrecked or stolen an automobile. I don't know which. "Fail not," it said, "under penalty of the law."

Wherefore and without further ado I call upon Miss Bette Davis, cinema star, to bear witness that at precisely the moment this jury was being impaneled I was innocently and happily surrendering to an atmosphere of maple sugar, dotted ski slopes, festooned streets, and second helpings of birthday cake, high in the hills of New Hampshire.

It was Bette's cake, for it was her 33rd birthday, and she was there in a pert red flannel skirt that did not reach her knees and a sheriff's badge that weighed almost as much as she does. Perhaps the authority invested in this badge will be what the doctor orders when the time comes for me to make my explanations and my manners to the authorities.

In any case I call upon Miss Davis to remember that I journeyed to New Hampshire not only to share her birthday cake and to meet her husband, whom she wedded on New Year's Eve, but to attend the world premiere of her newest picture, "The Great Lie," and that I sat on the aisle within arm's reach of her while she pinned posies, or was it roses, on the chests of the proud boys' choir which serenaded her with songs appropriate for the occasion; that I stood next to her at her cocktail party and lighted cigars for her and had my picture taken with her while standing on the piazza of the inn. Of course there were between six and seven thousand others who had their picture taken with Miss Davis, and who lit cigars for her and shared her birthday cake and sat on, in, and around the aisles at the premiere of "The Great Lie" and huzzahed when she pinned the posies, or was it roses, on the shirt-fronts of the members of the boys' choir. Nevertheless, I ask her to remember.

Meanwhile, I recall gallant pictures of Littleton, and of Sugar Hill, and the birthday greeting that spanned the river, and of ozen in the snow. Walking along its alert, new-scrubbed streets I counted 187 shop and store windows before I grew weary of counting, and each of them contained a "Happy Birthday, Bette" sign. All the streets had been renamed in favor of previous Bette Davis pictures, with the result that it was no trick at all to stroll down "The Letter," avenue, cross "The Great Lie Concourse," and turn into "Of Human Bondage Lane."

CLEAN UP, AND PAINT UP WEEK

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.) Hitlerian Technique Evident in Greece—WASHINGTON—Hitler glued the soles of British shoes to Greek soil for the final kill, by some adroit and unscrupulous propaganda. It was a typical Nazi trick. The day the Balkan fight started, Berlin headquarters screamed that the British were evacuating already, leaving the Greeks in the lurch. It sounded then like a meaningless lie. But on the second and third days the same screeches continued to come from Nazi G.H.A. Finally the British denied it, announcing they were still moving in transports. That was what the Germans wanted. With comic irony thereafter they publicly conceded their mistake.

The shrewd German propagandists well know that face is nearly as important in the near east as in the far east. Prestige in Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Turkey, India and with Weygand is a controlling decisive point. By deliberately spreading the false rumor, the Germans created a situation whereby the British could not leave without ignominy. Evacuation had to be delayed until too late to rescue the maximum amount of men and equipment.

Marlene Dietrich, 'Complete' Movie Star By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Marlene Dietrich is still and always Ye Complete Movie Star, for which, in a sometimes pale world, praise be. The lady of the gams has added another studio to her list; the Warner domain where, as a rule, stars are called by their first names (if not "Butch") and bum cigarettes as casually as they permit themselves to be bummed.

The Dietrich arrival, for the first day of "Manpower," was an eye-popping event. Her long, sleek, shiny black limousine was driven by a chauffeur in a tunic. With her there arrived on the stage a nice garden of cut flowers and greenery and a magnum of champagne—mostly tribute from satellites at Universal, her last stop-over. Also there was trundled out the Dietrich full-length mirror, framed in chromium, the matching chair, each piece bearing a metal plate labeling it a gift from the crews of her last three films. Miss Dietrich, in the kind of clothes a gal just leaving prison would wear, made for the mirror, accompanied by Nellie Marie Stanley, her hair-dresser for the past seven years. Miss Dietrich, at the mirror, touched up her own make-up ("Nobody knows my face as well as I do") and shortly went into her scene.

Afterward George Raft, one shoe off, inquired if she'd ever seen a broken toe. After duly admiring same, Marlene and George, awaiting the next set-up, turned on a portable phonograph and did a nice little rumba, which one and all admired, gathering round. Pretty soon Miss Dietrich was "Marlene" to the others and there was cigarette swapping all around. A few days later, after the usual report had been spread that "Dietrich is acting up again," Marlene was out of her prison drabs and working as a B-girl, enticing stewed gentry to buy themselves whiskey and Marlene tea-and-soda in Director Raoul Walsh's honky-tonk clip joint, operated by one Smiley, or Barton MacLane. Marlene looked colossal (in an alluring, sylph-like, black satin Milo Anderson revelation molded around her figger. (Question: "What's she wear underneath that?" Answer: "Nothing—she never wears anything underneath 'em. She doesn't wear a girdle.") It's some dress, with a knee-high slit up one side revealing a jewel-gartered gam. After the take, Marlene came over. Friendly—like, by request she exhibited the jeweled garter close-up—"these are diamonds... I also have some with topazes and some with sapphires... Picked them up in Paris." She was excited because Hal Wallis, the boss, had been telephoning all morning about her doing another Warner picture.

ing the expected Balkan reverses so seriously. As far back as March 5, weeks before this fight started, this column was able to pass on information: "The Greeks are given no more than two weeks as the limit of possible endurance against the heavy German mechanized units on the Salonika front." Again March 14: "The Anglo-Greek line will have to fall back to the mountains of old Greece... hopes that even this better line can be held are not high. Military odds strongly favor success for a German drive through Greece to the southernmost tip." On March 28: "The best our people can now expect is that the Germans will be required to spend at least 30 days in the conquest of Yugoslavia." ODDS AND ENDS—La Guardia will definitely run for a third term unless a cabinet office opens in Washington where he does... When house naval Chairman Vinson asked AFL and CIO opinion on his plan to provide a strike cooling off period, CIO's Phil Murray did not reply and Green neglected an invitation to appear. Now both are exerting every pressure to stop the bill. The scheme is to pass it in the house and let it hang in the senate as a warning against further strikes... Congress has quietly shelved the White House approved idea of reducing the draft limit age to 18. Both house and senate military affairs committees have discussed the proposition in executive session and dropped it. Not unless war comes will it be revived.

White Declares Local Bus Strike Fight of All Working Men

Asserts Wage Conditions In City 'Pitiful'

Cedar Rapids Union Official Speaks Before Labor Mass Meeting

Stating that "wages in Iowa City are pitiful," James White, business agent of the Cedar Rapids teamsters union, last night told the crowd at Iowa City's third labor mass meeting that the local bus strike is not just a fight of 13 drivers against the bus company, but a fight of every Iowa City man who works for a living.

Wages in Iowa City barely come up to the level set by the government for relief jobs, White maintained, declaring "I have never before seen a city where the people have such a don't care attitude."

Main speaker at the first of a new series of weekly "education-series" of weekly "education-series" of the city council for lack of interest in settling the two-month old strike. "They have been asked to solve the problem and so far have failed."

Referring to the attitude of Henry Negus, bus company president, in considering the strike as closed, White said "Negus can well rest because he has money, but meanwhile he is merely crucifying these 13 union men."

White, who conducted the meeting, spoke following addresses by Milo Himes, university student, and Earl Stark, president of the Cedar Rapids truckers' union.

Himes, declaring that he was not interested in the union as a cause but as an example of democracy working in everyday life, offered knowledge as the solution to the strike.

"People of Iowa City should be acquainted with the aims of the strike," he asserted. "Contact the various student organizations such as fraternities, dormitories and religious groups and also contact women's and men's groups in the city. Convince them and you will win the strike."

Stark, speaking briefly, compared the local situation to the European war. "The bus drivers here are up against the same thing as the invaded countries of Europe. Negus is in reality a dictator. He will abide only by his own terms with no regard for his employees."

Other speakers at the meeting included G. K. Strausser, president of the Cedar Rapids A. F. of A. affiliate, and Wade Stephenson, president of the local bus drivers' union.

Declaring that "Mr. Negus has spent thousands of dollars in refusing to recognize organized labor," Stephenson said that he will find that the laborer must have a voice.

"We don't care how long the strike lasts because we will win in the end. Apparently we are going to have to bear the hardship of informing the people of Iowa City about the advantages of organized labor."

Medic Tests Given May 1

Permission to Take Test to Be Obtained From Registrar

All students planning to enter medical school in 1942 will take the aptitude test of the Association of American Medical Colleges, to be given here Thursday, May 1.

The test, one of the requirements for admission to medical school, will take approximately two hours. In order to familiarize the student with the nature of the test, a practice sheet, giving a description of the test and some sample questions, will be available at the time he makes application in the registrar's office.

Students planning to enter medical schools in 1942 who have not made application for permission to take the test should do so at once. It is not necessary that all pre-medical requirements be completed at the time the test is taken if the requirements will be completed in time for entrance to medical school in the fall of 1942.

A fee of $1 is required of each student taking the test, and must be paid at the time the applicant registers. The test is given only once each year.

Music Over a Cup of English Tea

Ray Noble's Drummer Sketches 'Piano Tinkerer's' Biography

By ROSEMARY CHASE

While we waited for Ray Noble to arrive (he was driving in from Chicago), Bill Hartey—the drummer in Ray's orchestra—and I sipped tea (English fashion—skim milk and absolutely no lemon!) in a local restaurant, and Bill talked about Ray, his background and the orchestra.

Bill is the only man playing with the band now who was a member of the original British band, and besides being a musician and general manager of the band, he's one of Ray's closest friends.

Al Bowly, the original singer with Ray Noble's band, was killed a week ago in a nazi air-raid over London. Members of the band received notice of his death the day after the bombing—one of the worst London has known—occurred.

According to Bill, Ray began his band career in London years ago. As a youngster, he collected a few players—"someone who played the drum badly and someone who played the fiddle even worse"—and started arrangements of his own.

During his college years at Dulwich (in the southwest part of London), Noble continued his musical arrangements as a sort of hobby. His major field was accounting which he disliked most heartily.

Although none of them ever actually thought seriously of a musical career for the boy, Ray's family encouraged his talent ("he was forever tinkering on the piano"). Ray's father was a famous surgeon in London.

Ray's first chance in the musical world came when he entered a contest sponsored by a London magazine for the best musical arrangement of a certain piece. Ray entered the contest on something of a wager. Much to his friends' and his own amazement, he won. As a result, he was offered a job as musical arranger for the British Broadcasting company.

In 1928 and '29, he worked for HMV—the London Victor recording house, and was made house director—a job which entailed everything from recording, and composition, to just plain office work.

Through the recordings made in London under the Victor company, the American audience first became acquainted with him.

He and Bill came over in 1934, and since then he has made his career as a band leader, and his reputation as a song-writer. They played engagements at the Rainbow Room in Rockefeller center, New York City, on the Cody show, Coco-Cola show, and well you know the rest!

There are seventeen pieces in the band: 5 bases, 4 saxophones three violins and four rhythms. Snookey Lanson is the featured singer, and Lee, Lynn and Lou do the novelty numbers.

When Ray's on vacation, though, or just relaxing, his favorite hobby is still arranging. Bill says that Ray does ninety-five per cent of the orchestral arrangements—you've heard all of his most popular songs, for which he not only writes the score, but also the lyrics.

Some of his "best sellers" are "Goodnight, Sweetheart"; "Love Is the Sweetest Thing"; "Because of You"; "I'll Be Good"; "Love Locked Out," and his theme song, "The Very Thought of You."

Another favorite of Ray's (besides tennis, and Bill says "he used to be a very good player"), is romping with his three wire-haired terriers whose names are Minor, Major and Tacet (the latter a musical term for "keep quiet").

After the band finishes a two day contract in Davenport, they'll leave for home—Beverly Hills, California, where Ray plans to open the Catalina season May 16.

Six Records Fall at Drake Relays

DES MOINES, April 25 (AP)—A crack quartet of fliers from the University of Texas raced to a new American sprint medley record on this balmy, spring day in the opening of the 32nd Drake relay carnival, which also resulted in the smashing of six Drake records and the tying of another.

The speedsters from the Lone Star state dug their spikes into the cinders in assignments 440-220-220 and 880 yards to cover the distances in 3:23.2, clipping eight-tenths of a second off the American record these Texans set in their own relays at Austin two weeks ago. The performance blotted out the Drake mark of 3:25.1 established by Rice Institute in 1929 and tied by Indiana last year.

The Texas team was made up of Morris Barefield, Billy Seay, Freddie Ramsdell and Mac Umstadt. They ran Ohio State into the dust, and later, Seay and Ramsdell, paired with Lonnie Hill and Carlton Terry, came back to establish a new Drake record of :41 in winning their preliminary heat in the 400-yard university relay. Their performance was a half a second under the record set by Rice three years ago.

Previous to the sensational showings of the Texans, Al Blozis, giant weight star from Georgetown university, Washington, D.C., had tossed the discus 161 feet, 5 inches to smash the old Drake mark of 159.97 feet made in 1940 by Jack Hughes of Texas, whose best effort today was 160 feet, 3/4 inches to take second place.

Blozis, holder of the world's indoor shot put record, also qualified for tomorrow's final in shot put with a toss of 52 feet, and 1/4 inch.

The Kansas State Teachers college, Pittsburgh, Kan., smashed the college sprint medley record, ripping off the distance in 3:27.5, as compared with the 3:27.9 performance of Loyola of Chicago last year. Another foursome of Texans from the East Texas State Teachers college tied their own college half mile mark of 1:27.5 established a year ago, while the Iowa State Teachers college set records in the half and mile relays restricted to Iowa colleges.

Lean Billy Brown of Louisiana State won the broad jump for the third straight time with a leap of 24 feet 5-7-8 inches and also qualified for the final of the 100-yard dash by coasting to victory in his heat of :10. Ramsdell and Terry, the Texas speedsters, also won two of the four qualifying trials in the century. Pete Owens of Howard Payne university led the eight qualifiers in 120-yard high hurdles by winning his heat easily in :14.5.

Coach Vogel's Diamondmen Swat Eleven Safeties to Win

Bob Stastny Goes Distance for Hawks; Allows Six Bingles

BY MERREL GOLDBERG

In their first venture into the current Big Ten pennant chase here yesterday afternoon, Coach Otto Vogel's Hawkeye diamondmen, with 11 dynamite-charged hits, blasted Indiana, 9 to 3, in the first of a two-game series with the Hoosiers.

Bob Stastny, ace Hawk hurler, went the limit for Iowa as he allowed six hits, walked one man and struck out five. Opposing Stastny on the mound for Indiana was Don Dunker, recent subduer of Illinois and Minnesota who suffered his first defeat of the season yesterday at the hands of Iowa.

Leading the batting attack for Iowa was Clarence Dunagan, a sophomore shortstop who collected four of the Hawks' total of 11 safeties. Dunker, in addition to his hurling duties, managed to swat out two healthy bingles to head the visitors' hit column.

For two and a half innings both pitchers retired batters in double quick time, and early indications were of a nip and tuck hurlers' duel. In the last half of the third, however, Capt. Frankie Kocur collected the first hit off Dunker, a sharp double over the shortstop's head. Kocur was brought home on Warren Smith's weak grounder to Dunker which was muffed by both the pitcher and the first baseman.

After the third inning warm-up activities, the Vogelmen came back strong their next time up to score five runs on four hits and a pair of errors by the visitors. In the fifth frame, Dunagan smashed a mighty blow to the left field fence which was good for two bases. Other potent Hawkeye hits followed and Dunker found himself facing possible dire results with the bases loaded. However, bearing down heavily, the Hoosier mound ace was able to retire the side with no runs being scored.

Stastny was in trouble only once—when Indiana scored all three of its runs as Don Danielson clouted out a circuit blow to score Kosman and Dunker.

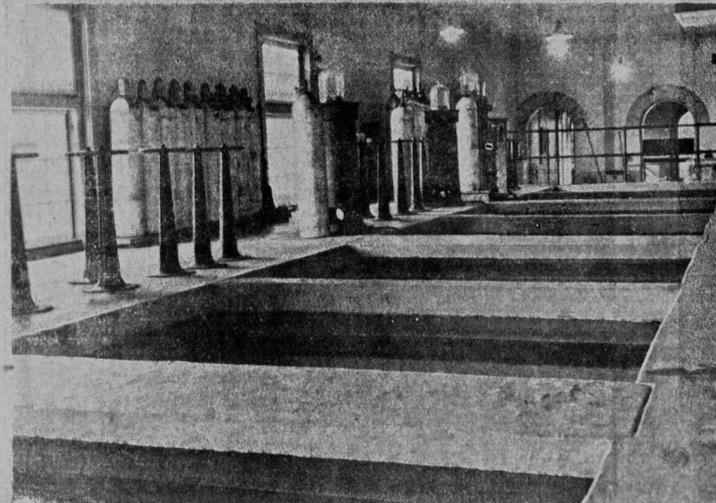

This afternoon at 2 p.m. the two clubs will square off again to complete their two-game schedule. For Iowa either big Dick Hein or Dick Gordnier will perform the mound duties while Dick Boehm will be the probable Hoosier starter. So far this season Boehm has won the only conference game he has pitched.

Iowa City fans will see the Vogelmen in action on their home diamond until May 16 when they meet Minnesota.

Daily Iowan Business Review

Pumping an average of over 1,066,000 gallons of water every day, the Iowa Water Service company supplies 4,300 homes and business establishments in the city through 53 miles of water mains. A total of 441 hydrants furnish water for the city fire department and the city street department.

Two tests are given the water supply every day, explained George J. Keller, company manager. Rigid inspection and regulation is required by the state health department. The Iowa City supply meets all required taste, odor and quality tests, Keller said.

Above is shown the filtering room where the water passes through mixtures of white sand and gravel to remove the residue from the purification process. The water is then treated with chlorine to kill any remaining bacteria. About 40,000 gallons of water are used in cleansing the four filter tanks daily, Keller said.

Rupert Kountz, state health board analyst, explained that five chemicals are added to the water before it is ready for human consumption. Alum and lime are put in the water to trap fine sediment when it is sent to settling basins. Activated charcoal serves to clear gas and odor from the water but is removed when the filtration process is through. Chlorine and ammonia are added to purify and kill bacteria.

Kountz said although the amount of chlorine needed varies from day to day, the chlorine content is usually about one-half of one part for every million parts of water. This amount is left in the water as protection while it is in storage.

A minute quantity of ammonia is added as a fixing agent to stabilize the chlorine and reduce its sharp taste.

The city water supply is obtained from the Iowa river, since quantity and reliability of sources is an important consideration in setting up a water service system. All the latest modern scientific equipment is used at the company plant on N. Madison.

Water is pumped to the plant from the river and given aeration treatment before purification operations take place. After storage for 14 to 18 hours in two settling tanks, remaining impurities are filtered out of the water and it goes to "clear wells" for storage until needed.

Three huge pumps distribute the water throughout the city system, but only one pump is operated at one time to supply normal demands. Two of the pumps are powered by steam; the third is operated by an eight-cylinder marine engine.

A total of 1,710,000 gallons of water can be stored in reservoirs located in various parts of the city. Two new elevated storage tanks are located in University Heights, and on N. Dodge. An "above-ground" reservoir on N. Dodge has a million gallon capacity, while wells at the plant can store 530,000 gallons.

A new addition to the many services offered Iowa Water company customers is a water-softener service. Installed and maintained by company service men, the softeners insure soft water at all times.

Dodgers Get Four-Hit Pitching for 3rd Straight Day as Kirby Higbe Blanks Boston Bees, 5-0

BROOKLYN, April 25 (AP)—Sparked by a four-hit pitching effort for the third straight day, the Dodgers blanked the Boston Bees 5 to 0 today, with Kirby Higbe, the "fugitive" from the Phillies, doing the hurling.

Cubs Wake Up; Win in 9th, 8-7

PITTSBURGH, April 25, (AP)—After being held to four hits, one of them a home run by Billy Myers, in eight innings, the Chicago Cubs cut loose in the ninth inning today with a four run rally and beat Pittsburgh 8 to 7.

Giants Win With Five in Ninth, 7-4

PHILADELPHIA, April 25—(AP)—The National league leading Giants woke up in the ninth inning today, scored five runs and trounced the luckless Philadelphia Phillies 7 to 4.

inning today, scored five runs and trounced the luckless Philadelphia Phillies 7 to 4.

Morrie Aronovitch, whose teeth got him a draft deferment, had nothing wrong with his batting eye. He came up as a pinch-hitter with the bases loaded and promptly unloaded them with a triple to spark the winning rally.

York's Hit in 9th Stops Browns, 12-11

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—The champion Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Browns indulged in a typical grocers' picnic ball game today with the Tigers finally coming out on top in a wierd three-hour struggle, 12-11 with their third straight victory. Rudy York put an end to the whacky business with a bases-full single in the ninth for two runs after the Browns had gone ahead in their half.

Cards Crack Reds' Winning Streak, 8-4

ST. LOUIS, April 25 (AP)—Scoring runs in bursts of two and clicking off five double plays in the field, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Cincinnati Reds today, 8 to 4, breaking the world champions' 5-game winning streak. Lon Warneke got credit for today's victory although he didn't finish.

Yankees Win, 6-0 Take 1-Game Lead

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Ernie Bonham tossed a three-hit shut-out today to lead the Yankees to a 6 to 0 victory over the Washington Senators and leave the New Yorkers a full game in front of the American league pack.

Red Sox Rookie Wins 5-Hitter, 3-1

BOSTON, April 25 (AP)—Heber "Dick" Newsome, 23-year-old Boston Red Sox rookie, turned in a glittering five-hit performance today in his first start of the season to quell the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1, and snap a four-game Boston losing streak.

Indians Club Chisox, 5-3, in 9th Inning

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians scored three runs after two were out in the ninth inning today to defeat Chicago's White Sox, 5 to 3, and nullify a protest they had made on a play in the fourth inning.

ately as meaning that the patrols would serve a useful purpose for the British by warning of the presence of enemy warcraft.

What else an American naval vessel would do if it encountered hostile warcraft was the major question raised by the president's remarks. He said only that it would tell him.

Matter of Conjecture Also unexplained was the extent to which it might help protect British shipping crossing the Atlantic—to carry out the declaration of Secretary of the Navy Knox last night that "we cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic" for "we shall be beaten if they do."

Whether the extended U.S. patrol would relieve Britain and Canada entirely of the task of conveying merchant ships in this side of the Atlantic or perhaps merely increase their warships' effectiveness by warning of hostile warcraft ahead, was a matter of conjecture.

Allied, Neutral Shipping Losses The president's announcement however, coincided with the release of figures by the commerce department on the speed with which British, allied and neutral ships are being sent to the bottom.

The total of these losses since the war began until the end of March was placed at 5,400,000 gross tons, as compared with 7,900,000 tons sunk from the time the Germans started unrestricted submarine warfare in February, 1917, until the end of the World war.

British, allied and neutral shipping losses last month, the commerce department said, were 394,000 gross tons, a figure exceeded in only three previous months in this war.

In talking of the increased dangers on this hemisphere, the president declared he was not certain that Greenland was not now occupied partly by hostile forces.

He did not specify the type of occupation of this Danish colony in the north Atlantic only recently taken under American protection but he did say it was not by "fifth columnists." There was no elaboration by him or other officials on the meaning of his remark.

farmers, Morgenthau and that 'Smart Aleck' Donovan (Col. William J. Donovan, unofficial American observer who toured Europe), but we also know that the great majority of American people do not think their way," a spokesman declared.

As a psychological explanation of speeches by Knox, Hull and Secretary of War Stimson, authorized German sources said "obviously the prognoses of these gentlemen regarding the indubitable efficacy of American aid to Yugoslavia and Greece have been proven so wrong, and Donovan proved such a nincompoop that they must befuddle the American people with vocal strength rather than logic; that's the way they sing in chorus."

These comments were accompanied by reports of new German blows in the battle of the Atlantic. Three British merchantmen totalling 14,000 tons, were said to have been sunk out of a convoy east of Dundee, Scotland, a 10,000-ton ship sunk by air attack off northwest Ireland and 30,000 tons destroyed recently by "one warship operating overseas."

Iowa City high school music groups will present a public concert at 8 p.m. Monday in the school auditorium.

Under the direction of William Gower, director of orchestra and band, and Ansel C. Martin, director of the chorus and glee clubs, the concert will be a prelude to the Red and White carnival to be held on the junior high school grounds May 9 and 10.

Numbers on the program will be: "Allegro Molto from Symphony in G Minor," by Mozart, and "Introduction to the Third Act from Lohengrin," by Wagner, played by the orchestra.

Girls' glee club will sing "The Cloud," by Fletcher; "The Shepherdess," by Robertson, and "A May Day Carol," by Taylor.

The boys' glee club will sing "Dearest Believe," by Giordani, and "Song of the Jolly Roger," by Candish.

Selections to be played by the band are "Knightsbridge March," by Coates; "Finale from the Second Symphony," by Saint-Saens, and "First Movement from Symphony No. 1," by Borodin.

Hold On! Hellzapoppin' in C.R. Monday Night

"Anyone who doesn't laugh at this should sit himself quietly in a barrel of wet cement, wait until same dries, and then roll quietly toward the nearest river."

This was the reaction of Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent, on his first exposure to "Hellzapoppin'," the craziest assault on the human funnybone in the whole history of modern show business.

"Hellzapoppin'" will play at the Iowa theater in Cedar Rapids next Monday night.

The revue has been like that ever since it began its sensational career in New York some years ago. No other show has attracted so many celebrities, or found them so eager to turn cheer leader in its behalf.

"The audience roars, roars and aches with spasms of endless laughter," says Walter Winchell, who on another occasion referred to "Hellzapoppin'": "It hasn't a dull moment, not even the intermission."

Earlier in the week, state officials said they would conduct an investigation into the Coralville traffic situation.

1,200 Players Expected At Music Festival

St. Mary's Chorus, Choir of 60 Voices To Go to Davenport

More than 60 students of St. Mary's high school and grade school will participate in the Diocesan music festival Monday and Tuesday at St. Ambrose college in Davenport.

The festival is expected to attract 1,200 musicians from the majority of Catholic schools in the Davenport diocese.

Music groups from St. Mary's to compete Monday are the grade boys' vested choir of 30 voices and several piano soloists. Entered in Tuesday's contests are St. Mary's boys' chorus, girls' chorus and mixed chorus.

Highlight of the festival will be a students' mass at 10 a.m. Tuesday at which the combined choruses will sing "Missa Orbis Factor" and "Salvis Regina." All will sing the "Christi Vinut," a recessional.

In preparation for a massed concert which will conclude the festival Tuesday evening, students from all schools will join in orchestra and chorus rehearsals throughout the week.

At the concert to be given at the Davenport high school gymnasium, a massed orchestra, massed boys', girls' and mixed choruses will entertain. A final number will be sung by the choruses accompanied by the orchestra.

Additional numbers will include an instrumental solo, vocal solo, small instrumental ensemble and a small vocal ensemble. Musicians for solos and ensembles will be chosen by lot.

Orientation Council Chooses Leaders

Orientation council for 1941-42 has been busily working since the close of Orientation interviews to select leaders and assistants for the fall program. Pictured above, left to right, are Edith Stuart, A3 of Dubuque; Corinne Hayes, J3 of Iowa City; Miriam Katz, A3 of Osage; Barbara Kent, A3 of Iowa City; Kathryn Klingbeil, A3 of Postville, and Josephine McElhinney, A3 of Iowa City. According to Miss Kent, orientation chairman, the names of women selected to serve as leaders and assistants will be announced Sunday. Several women have been selected to work on special committees for orientation, and their names will be announced later. Helen Focht, assistant dean of women, is adviser to the orientation council. The orientation program seeks to adjust freshmen and transfer students to the university and the campus life.

64 Suits Filed For May Term

At the 5 p.m. deadline yesterday, County Clerk R. Neilson Miller reported that 64 petitions have been filed in Johnson county district court for the May term.

Miller said the petitions, along with other material, will be taken to the printer this morning for publishing of the May term docket. The new term begins May 5, with Judge Harold D. Evans presiding.

Mrs. Benda Service Will Be Monday

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Benda, 78, who died Thursday night at her home in Cedar Bluffs near Solon, will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Bridget's church, east of Solon.

The Rev. M. J. Diamond will officiate at the service. Burial will be in the St. Joseph's cemetery.

Plan Services For G. Maloney

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Patrick's church for George Maloney Jr., 15, St. Patrick's high school freshman who died in a local hospital Thursday.

He was a member of the school Boy Scout troop and the sodality. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Maloney, 632 S. Capitol, and one sister, Carolyn.

The rosary was said last night at the Riley chapel. Burial today will be in St. Bridget's cemetery at Nolan Settlement.

New Carillon Bells To Be Heard May 1 In 'Chime Concert'

The carillon bells of St. Mary's church will be heard in a dedication "chime concert" May 1 at 6:45 p.m., the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl H. Meinberg announced yesterday.

The 17 bells, recently "electrified" as part of St. Mary's centennial church remodeling program, will be played for 15 minutes following a brief dedication and blessing service. The carillon has not been announced.

Father Meinberg said May 1 would be a fitting date for the concert, since the month of May is dedicated to St. Mary. The church is also dedicated to St. Mary, Blessed Virgin of the Visitation.

The carillon bells have not been played in chorus for over 38 years.

FBI Expanded For Defense Aid--Harmon

"The federal bureau of investigation has been greatly expanded to cope with the added duties in connection with the national defense program and in dealing with problems of internal security," said Ralph Harmon of the FBI office in Des Moines.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Masonic Service club yesterday, Harmon explained the background of the FBI since it was organized in 1908. Two of the greatest improvements in the bureau since that time, the speaker pointed out, were the establishment of a national clearinghouse of fingerprints by J. Edgar Hoover in 1924, and the federal kidnapping law which was passed after the Lindbergh kidnapping in 1932.

"Most of the violations over which the FBI has jurisdiction are based on the interstate commerce laws of the constitution," Harmon said.

After the outbreak of war in Sept., 1939, the president called upon each police department in the United States to conduct investigations to ascertain individuals engaged in activities to undermine the government. This was done because it was impossible for the federal bureau of investigation to take care of all the investigation of subversive influences alone, the speaker explained.

Harmon was graduated from the university college of law in 1935.

Johnson County Bond Drive to Be Launched Tomorrow to Raise Quota of $2,215,800

Last minute preparations for Johnson county's huge drive to be launched to raise a quota of $2,215,800 in savings bonds and stamps were completed yesterday, Frank D. Williams, general chairman, announced.

According to Williams, committee chairmen have their personnel organized and instructions given. Committees in the rural areas, Williams said, are already working on soliciting pledges to purchase bonds.

Stamp books with a 10 cent stamp affixed have already gone out to the rural schools, the chairman said, and business firms are in readiness to discuss with their employees the payroll allotment plan, which allows a voluntary deduction from each paycheck to go for the purchase of bonds.

If adverse weather conditions do not develop, nine airplanes forming two "V" formations will fly over Iowa City tomorrow at 5 o'clock in observance of the drive.

Also in connection with the campaign, chamber of commerce officials have announced that flags will be on display downtown. Explanatory material concerning the drive was distributed by Boy Scouts to Iowa City homes Friday and yesterday.

Williams, in commenting on the drive yesterday, emphasized that all purchases were to be on a voluntary basis. The treasury department, he said, has asked to keep it this way because it has confidence that the American people will contribute liberally.

Each person contacted in the campaign is to sign a blank pledging a certain number of bonds for a definite period. No money is to be turned over to the solicitors, Williams said.

Nutrition Study Club To Hold Final Meeting

The final meeting of the Iowa City Nutrition Study group's present series will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the W.R.C. rooms of the community building, it was announced yesterday.

At the meeting, which will center around the theme of "A Day With the Farm Bureau," Mrs. H. J. Dune will give a demonstration of the noon day lunches which have been used by the farm bureau besides presenting one of the talks which are usually given at the farm meeting by Ruth Cessna of Iowa State college.

Other speakers will be Prof. Pearl Janssen of the university's home economics department, who will speak on "Better Buying," and Mrs. Verne Bales, who will give a summary of the 14 meetings which have been held by the group.

The study group's nutrition booklets, which are now being sold by 16 local groups, will be on sale at the meeting, officers announced yesterday.

William James Barry Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow Morning

Funeral service for William James Barry, 78, 1132 E. Burlington, who died at his home yesterday morning of a heart attack, will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The body will be taken from the McGovern funeral home to the Barry residence this morning. The rosary will be said at the residence at 7:30 this evening.

A life long resident of Iowa City, Barry was born June 3, 1868. He married Beatrice Hanley in 1896.

A retired baker, Barry formerly was assistant supervisor of university buildings and grounds for 20 years. He also worked at the contracting business for several years.

He is survived by two daughters,

SHIRTS WAY *

The Listening Post

By LOREN HICKERSON

(Ed. note: Many a student still on the campus remembers the superlative workmanship of the blazing stories which appeared under the byline of Oscar Hargrave. The Iowan's sports editor during the gridiron saga of 1935.

(Since he left The Iowan last summer, Oscar has been pounding a beat for the Rock Island Argus, his eyes ahead on a high spot in the sports-writers' world. But like millions of young men, he's had to postpone his ambitions. He left Iowa City yesterday as an army selectee.

(To Oscar, my thanks for this column, one of anybody's best. L.H.)

VERY WARM FOR APRIL. . . . This is being written as I prepare to leave for Fort Des Moines, so any reader should be able to figure out that it isn't being done under compulsion or for any other reason except that a columnist likes to see his stuff in print. . . .

That should prove to the sheep that it's a good idea to look out even if the wolf doesn't look hungry. He must like his work, too. . . .

Time was when such a morning might have been sad and I might have denounced wars as an unseemly and stupid sort of occupation. . . . I can't see it that way now, though—not since it became pretty obvious that we have a war on our hands, along with the isolationists. . . .

Even the most anti-of the anti-war groups are beginning to realize that it's too warm now for a sheepskin coat. . . .

The whole business seems to prove that a university can be the thing to save humanity from its own stupidity. At the same time this day proves to me that universities haven't saved us from anything. Not yet!

It's too late now to talk about the wasted time and the bigoted stupidity of the last several years, the period when the present war was actually in the making. . . .

But it isn't too late to cast aside the theories of those who should have seen the signs during that time and acted accordingly. . . . It should be a real education for us now, because the tuition we're paying is too much to waste. . . .

To us men it is proving that anything in the world is our personal responsibility. . . . To the women it will prove that childbirth is hardest on the father. . . . At least you haven't seen the draftees weeping as they climb on the train. . . .

In fact, I think most of us draftees think this business is all right. . . . We didn't originally want to be soldiers, but we expect to do good work on the project ahead. . . .

It is actually a privilege to fight in the one war that means so much and in which we can settle so many things that need settling.

Hillel Plans Dinner For Senior Members

Senior members of the Hillel foundation will be the guests of the organization at its annual closing dinner. The dinner is to be held at 6:30 p.m. tonight in the River room of the Iowa Union.

Toastmaster will be Sam Becker, A2 of Quincy, Ill. President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lubin will extend greetings to the foundation at the closing banquet.

Lubin, president of the Iowa City B'nai B'rith lodge, will present the honor keys to the most outstanding members of the organization selected by the advisor, Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer.

Newly elected officers of the foundation will take office and be installed at the dinner. Marcia Izove, A2 of Davenport is chairman of arrangements.

Two Petitions Filed With Clerk of Court

Two more petitions were filed in the office of R. Neilson Miller, clerk of court. . . . Floyd E. Housel seeks $225 judgment against Emma R. Weber, William L. Rowland and Anna R. Griffith for a commission on a real estate deal arranged by the Koser Bros. agency.

Housel is now owner of the claim. Atty. F. B. Olsen represents the plaintiff.

In another action filed before the deadline Friday, Glenn H. Fleck seeks a divorce from Wanda B. Fleck. Atty. Edward Lucas represents the plaintiff.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

Please call for your invitations at the alumni office at once.

Chairmen of U.W.A. Projects to Be Chosen By Application System

Project chairmen for next year's university sing, coffee hours and vocational conferences, will be chosen next week by a new application system adopted by the University Women's association council.

Application blanks, now available in the dean of women's office, must be submitted Monday, Tuesday or by 4 o'clock Wednesday. All university women interested in these positions are urged to apply early. Only those who made application will be considered.

Each application will be considered by the general council of U.W.A. and the chairman will be chosen on the basis of experience and personal data.

The chairmen who are chosen will conduct individual interviews next fall to select committees for each project.

The new system of selecting these chairmen has been adopted in order to provide an equal opportunity for all those really interested and to coordinate these activities with the year's program.

Each County to Send 6 Women Delegates To Defense Meeting

The local and state defense councils have issued a request that each county in the state send six women as delegates to an organizational meeting of the new "United Service Women of Iowa" in Des Moines May 11 and 12.

Rodney Q. Selby, director of the Iowa Defense Council, and Atty. Kenneth M. Dunlop, chairman of the local defense council, made the announcement.

One woman will represent each of the three major services, the army, navy and air service, in the Johnson county delegation. These three representatives will have alternates, completing the required six.

Suggestions for names of women to represent the air service are invited by Mrs. Louis Pelzer, president of the Sustaining Wings of Iowa. They may be sent to Mrs. Charles Bowman.

Appointments to the delegation will be made by the Johnson county defense council from the suggestions submitted.

Each of the three units of this new group will work on separate projects which can be co-ordinated to produce a more efficient whole, Mrs. Pelzer said.

Members of Hospital Staff to Attend Meet

Several members of the University hospital staff will attend the 13th annual convention of the Iowa Hospital Association in Des Moines, beginning tomorrow and ending Wednesday.

Lois B. Corder, director of the school of nursing and chairman of the Iowa State committee of Red Cross nursing service, will speak on "Are We Meeting the Nursing Needs of the Armed Forces?"

"Hospital Administration in Civilian Defense" is the discussion topic of Robert E. Neff, administrator of the University hospital.

"Occupational Therapy in a Psychopathic Hospital Program" will be the subject of Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, acting medical director of the university psychopathic hospital. Marjorie Moberg, hospital pharmacist, will speak on "Managing a Pharmacy Department in a State Institution."

Three delegates from the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis at Oakdale will also attend the convention. They are Dr. John H. Beck, superintendent; Mrs. Beatrice Voigt, director of occupational therapy, and Jessie MacBride, librarian.

Meetings of the convention, in which representatives from all parts of the state will participate will deal chiefly with the hospital's part in the world situation.

City High Orchestra, Glee Clubs, Chorus Will Present Concert

The high school auditorium will be the scene of the final concert of the Iowa City high school orchestra, glee clubs and chorus at 8 p.m. Tuesday, it was announced yesterday.

Music students will not attend state or regional contests this year because of war conditions and the concert Tuesday will be the last public appearance of the current group of high school musicians.

William Gower will direct the orchestra and the vocal groups will be under the direction of Ansel C. Martin. Helen Shideler is string instructor.

It's cotton time! Time to braid your hair, dig out those Mexican harches, tan your legs and slip into STRUB'S crisp, cool cottons. You can wear them on picnics, to classes and even to church with long white gloves. You'll want a good collection of STRUB'S cottons for the summer . . . for all occasions . . . to work because they're fresh, smart and tailored . . . to play . . . to dance. So spend your pin money for a bright new lipstick and a couple of cool non-rushable "butcher linen" two-piece sets at STRUB'S FASHION FLOOR.

For the office or summer classes, you'll like STRUB'S crisp pique in red and white stripes with white collar and cuffs and tiny pearl buttons to make you look like home was just that traditional hand-box you stepped out of. Or you might prefer STRUB'S brown and white checked in a soft gingham with a tiny tucked fitted belt and large patch pockets for summer necessities. If you're strictly the tailored type . . . you'll want a smart butcher linen suit with a pleated skirt and long slim lines in a fitted jacket. You can choose this one at STRUB'S in British tan, chocolate brown or navy blue with white embroidered accents.

Or you can buy a red ribbon for your hair and slip into a red pique with white pine cone embroidery with all-around pleats and pique collar. You'll love this one of STRUB'S. And how about a white waffle pique with ocean green jersey blouse; or a chambray of color with drop of contrasting stripes? Just drop into STRUB'S FASHION FLOOR this week and have first choice on summer butcher linens. You want them . . . they have them!

Ask "Scootes" Gribenburg, ADP, why she ran out of a certain favorite spot the other night! And those yells!

When your car is in need of repairs, large or small, don't neglect it! . . . You want it to last "for the duration," don't you? . . . So your car wants a repair job that's absolutely correct. . . . So you'll take your car to NALL'S REPAIR DEPARTMENT where the repair service is efficient and reasonable in price. . . . To insure your car for a longer life, have its repair work done at NALL'S.

Pat McVicker, Tau Gamma president, got a diamond from Salvatore Amato of Iowa City—now working at Rock Island arsenal.

You'll have to pinch yourself to believe it . . . the large assortment of China base lamps at the IOWA ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY. Yes . . . they still have a large supply for yee coeds and yee housewives . . . China base lamps with the plastic reflector bowl and delicately tinted silk shades. You'll find these China base lamps for your spring accent on your spring house planning. You'll rave about the enchanting smartness of their gold finish metal bases and the varied shapes and bases to choose from. What's best . . . the price is only $4.95 and up.

Mary Pennington, Alpha Chi, is now wearing a diamond from Bill Hull of Iowa City now in the army. It happened on his three-day furlough here.

It's time to get out those summer silk prints and send them to . . . BROWN'S UNIQUE CLEANERS, so they will be ready when you want them—Dial 3663.
