University Orchestra Will Present Final Concert Wednesday

Program Will Climax Season

Tickets Go on Sale Today at Union Desk; Two Soloists Perform

The University of Iowa symphony orchestra, conducted by Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will present its sixth and final concert of the season in the main lounge of Iowa Union, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Featured soloists on Wednesday's program will be Prof. Herald Stark of the music department, and John F. Latimer, G of Cornell, piano.

Professor Stark is best known as conductor of the University chorus. He was tenor soloist at the Palm Sunday presentation of Franz Liszt's "Christus."

Latimer received his B.P.A. degree in music here last June. He has performed at several recitals and was one of several soloists at the performance of Saint-Saens' "Carnival of Animals" on the second orchestra concert this year.

The orchestra has given six scheduled concerts in the Union; has appeared with the University chorus twice in the performance of "Christus"; played for the February Commencement, and gave a short concert during the recent high school music festival.

Outside Iowa City, the group presented two or three concerts each year. Professor Clapp and the Iowa group have made 14 appearances this season. Four of these concerts have been out of town.

Two works on the program will have their first campus performance Wednesday night. Professor Stark will sing Gustav Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" with orchestral accompaniment, and Latimer will play Brahms' "Concerto No. 2 in B flat major for piano and orchestra."

The Brahms composition is recognized as one of the greatest piano concertos ever written.

Easter Seals Drive Reaches High of $425

Total receipts for the Easter seal drive are now $425.20, officials of the Johnson county Society for Crippled children announced yesterday.

The figure already exceeds last year's total of over $400. Persons who received seals in the mail are urged to return either the money or unused seals as soon as possible so that a final report can be completed.

The funds raised by the Johnson county group will be used locally, it was pointed out. The organization co-ordinates help for crippled children through lay and professional agencies, governmental and private.

The state society cooperates with the county organizations. Prof. C. M. Updegraff is chairman of the county group. Mrs. Howard L. Beye is secretary-treasurer.

The election took place yesterday at a meeting of the faculty of the school of journalism. A grade point of 3.2 in all work done in journalism is the basic requirement for election to membership.

Those elected are Margaret Rodman, J3 of Tabor; William Schontgen, J3 of Dubuque; Donald McClurg, J4 of Marshalltown; Constance Bulske, J3 of Western Springs, Ill.; Elizabeth Kelly, G of Rock Hill, S.C.; and Richard Boyce, G of Kansas City, Mo.

Arrangements are being made for an initiation ceremony tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m. in the home of Prof. E. L. Mott, director of the school of journalism.

Dorothy Bradbury of the child welfare department was elected president of the group for the year 1941-42, succeeding Earl English, instructor in the school of journalism. Prof. C. L. Sanders was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the group.

Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock yesterday declared June 8 to 14 "flag week" in Iowa City and requested local residents to display Old Glory at their homes, places of business and on their automobiles.

The seven-day patriotic celebration, observed nationally, will provide the theme for civic, fraternal, veteran and educational organization meetings during the week.

The mayor said the significance of the celebration "is one of public expression of love for one's country."

Martha Lois Koch, A4 of Evansville, Ind., honorary cadet colonel, President Virgil M. Hancher, and Col. C. A. Iowa's cadets streamed past the governor's stand rank after rank yesterday as the 61st annual Governor's Day ceremonies were celebrated by the university and the military department.

Review--

Rifles and Pontoniers held their annual competition for the "old brown jug" which the engineer unit won for the first time in many years.

An informal reception for the governor was held at 12:15 p.m. at Iowa Union with the annual luncheon in his honor given in the river room a half hour later.

Guest speaker at the affair was Brigadier General Strong who will leave his post in this corps area soon to assume command of the eighth corps field army, Brownsville, Tex.

Speaking to the 250 guests of the university and military department attending the luncheon, as well as a WSUI audience, he stressed the need of national unity in the present world crisis.

A military machine, capable in the future of defending the United States from any probable enemy, is being built as quickly as possible, General Strong, former chief of military plans for the army, said.

"The world is too small for America to tolerate Hitler dominance," he maintained. "If England falls, we will be next in line." Governor Wilson spoke briefly to the gathering, expressing a firm conviction that the national defense program would continue to be successfully conducted under a republican form of government.

President Hancher, who attended his first Governor's day review as a drilling cadet, and Colonel Bagby, acting toastmaster, completed the small list of speakers.

Immediately after the luncheon, Governor Wilson and his party drove to the stadium where they watched the spring inter-squad football game.

Phi Beta Kappa To Prolong City Bus Strike

James Gormley, vice president of the A. F. of L. national union board, is expected to arrive in Iowa City in the near future to take up strike problems with members of the local bus drivers' affiliate, it was learned here last night.

Wade Stephenson, president of the local, said that Gormley had been assigned to the prolonged Iowa City Coach company strike by the national's executive committee.

After a two-weeks' layoff, picketing at the downtown bus stops of the coach company will be resumed either this week or next, Stephenson said. The president emphasized that cessation of picketing "is no indication that the strike has stopped."

Stephenson said he expected the strike to be intensified in the future.

Addressing the group will be Prof. George H. Coleman of the chemistry department, president of the society, who will also extend greetings to the new members.

Responding for the initiates will be Helen Frazer, A4 of Griswold, holding the highest grade point average of the group.

The musical portion of the program will be provided by Prof. Arnold Small of the music department, and Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department. They will play "Sonata No. 5 in F Major, Op. 24" by Beethoven.

The initiates will be introduced by H. R. Butts of the classical languages department, while G. P. Cuttino of the history department, secretary-treasurer, will read to them the constitution of Alpha chapter.

Pointing out the history and ideals of Phi Beta Kappa will be Prof. Harrison J. Thornton of the department and vice-president of the society.

Symbols and tokens of Phi Beta Kappa will be explained by Prof. Franklin H. Potter, head of the classical languages department and member of the national Phi Beta Kappa senate.
