To 'Freeze' War Workers

Nazis Open Libyan Drive Manpower Commission Moves To Prevent Any 'Labor Pirating'

Rommel Edges East 50 Miles Below Coast

Believe Axis Moving To Outflank British Desert Stronghold

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
Associated Press War Editor

The theater of North Africa sprang to life again yesterday, a sudden, strong armored thrust in Libya by the German Marshal Rommel overshadowing for the first time in 15 days the great and still inconclusive battle for the Russian Ukraine.

With tank columns officially described by the British imperial command as strong, Rommel sprang eastward in Libya to an area about 50 miles below the Mediterranean coast and just to the south of the British outpost of Bir Hacheim.

Flanking Action
This position, which the axis apparently was trying to flank, represents the point of a British triangle based along the shore at Ain El Gazala and Tobruk. About Bir Hacheim British tank forces were heavily engaging the enemy last night, and it was too early to say how affairs were going.

While it was clear from all official reports that Rommel had lunged forward with something closely resembling a major offensive, a more important question concerned his real designs.

Egyptian Invasion Unlikely
This being the season of terrible and wearing heat in the Libyan desert, it seemed most unlikely that there was any German plot to attempt to beat across a third of Libya and all the face of (See LIBYAN, page 3)

Lost in New Guinea Wilds 45 Days, Yank Bomb Crew Returns

AN ALLIED OPERATIONAL BASE, Australia (AP)—Tattered and shaggy but grinning big, an American bomber crew has returned to this base after being forced down in the swampy wilds of New Guinea, and lost from headquarters for a record span of 45 days.

It was a day of glad homecoming all around, for with them came an American fighter pilot who had been out 26 days.

Several bomber crews have made their way back to base after being lost many days among the native tribes, but this outfit, headed by Pilot Louis W. Ford, 22, of Los Angeles, set the record of nearly seven weeks in the brush.

Roosevelt Requests 6 Million For Housing of War Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt asked for a quick terday for a quick $600,000,000 to provide living quarters for thousands of workers in overcrowded war production centers and so avoid any loss of efficiency in the plants themselves.

Meanwhile the office of price administration served notice that rent ceiling would become effective in 20 industrial areas June 1. It said voluntary compliance thus far had been insufficient and warned that unless landlords cooperated, federal action would be taken to enforce the ceilings.

The president's special message estimated that 1,600,000 war workers would migrate to war-industry areas in the year beginning July 1. Existing housing facilities are insufficient, Mr. Roosevelt said, and the excess population must be

FIRST LARGE GROUP OF NAVAL CADETS ARRIVE FOR TRAINING

Escorted by Comdr. P. J. Huber, a group of 41 cadets arrived on a special interurban from Cedar Rapids late last night to begin their 3-month training course at the pre-flight naval training base here.

This was the first large group to arrive of the 242 cadets who are to report at the base by 5 o'clock this evening. About 25 men had reported earlier in the day.

House Again Okays $50 Monthly Minimum For Men in Service

Eliminates Chances For Boost to Become Effective Before July

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second time in two weeks, the house overwhelmingly voted yesterday for a minimum pay of $50 monthly for service men. It sent back to conference a compromise proposal worked out by a senate-house committee recommending $42.

The action virtually eliminated any chance for a service pay boost becoming effective before July 1 since the bill provides that any raises shall become effective on the first day of the calendar month following enactment. For the increase to go into effect June 1, the conferees would have to reach an agreement, and both branches and the president approve it, by Sunday.

Cries of "politics" and putting "a dollar sign" on patriotism highlighted the one hour of debate that preceded the 332 to 31 vote on a motion by Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) to reject the compromise and instruct the conferees to stand by the house figure. The vote was almost identical with the 332 to 28 count by which the house on May 13 turned down the senate-approved $42 scale.

Mid-West Gas Ration Unnecessary: Wiley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis) asserted yesterday there was no need for gasoline rationing in the mid-west and called for a "straightforward clearly defined" account by the government of the nation's war situation.

"We should think twice before attempting to do anything drastic with respect to rationing gasoline in areas in which gasoline is plentiful and also is not needed in the war effort," he told the senate.

Reds Advance on Kharkov-Barvenkova Fronts; Claim 4,500 Germans Slain, Supplies Captured

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—The Germans lost 1,000 dead in Russian troops battling on the Kharkov-Barvenkova fronts were reported today to have beaten their way forward in both areas after killing 4,500 more Germans and capturing large quantities of equipment.

The midnight Soviet communiqué announced that the red army had consolidated their gains before Kharkov while defeating fierce Nazi attacks in the Izyum-Barvenkova sector 80 miles to the south. A supplementary communiqué said 1,400 Germans had been slain "in the Izyum direction," by the men of one rifle unit, and that in another sector the Germans were in retreat after having failed to ford a river—an attempt that was broken up by Soviet artillery firing at short range.

90 Per Cent Cut in Liquor Output Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 90 per cent cut in hard liquor production is planned by the end of this year, a WPB spokesman said yesterday, so that the nation's stills may be put to the task of turning out alcohol for use in the manufacture of synthetic rubber and other vital war products.

There is expected to be no shortage of whiskey and other liquors, (See RUBBER, page 7)

Fear Nazi Reprisals At Heydrich Shooting

LONDON (AP)—Reinhard Heydrich, acting reich's protector of Bohemia and Moravia and gestapo purge master for Nazi-conquered territory, has been wounded in an assassination attempt in Prague and the threat of swift and terrible reprisal executions hung heavily last night over old Czechoslovakia.

One Berlin broadcast said Heydrich's wound was not expected to prove fatal but gave no other intimation of the seriousness of his condition. Another said the attack occurred at 1 p.m. yesterday on the Prague-Berlin highway but within the limits of greater Prague. Reuters heard the Vichy radio say late last night that Heydrich's condition was grave.

Whoever fired the shot, which Czech circles here feared would touch off an unprecedented wholesale slaughter of their countrymen, apparently escaped. The German radio said a reward of 10,000,000 crowns (worth $235,000 at the last quoted exchange rates a year ago) would be paid for his capture.

Martial law was clamped on immediately under which Karl Hermann Frank, Heydrich's deputy, announced: "No civilian is permitted to (See HEYDRICH, page 7)

Japan to Contribute Utmost As Axis War Partner, Tojo Says

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts) (AP)—Premier General Hideki Tojo declared in an address formally opening parliament yesterday that Japan would "do her utmost to contribute her share as the partner of Germany and Italy" in the war, and that she was prepared and determined to remain in the conflict "until the influence of Britain and America and their dreams of world domination" were wiped out.

General Tojo said "relations between Japan and the Soviet Union have undergone no change" since the outbreak of war in the Far East.

He appealed to the Indian people "to rise and obtain their liberty" by siding with Japan, and he similarly repeated his advice to Australia to reconsider her attitude toward Japan "or suffer the consequence."

Italy Incites French With Land Demands

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—Italy's new demands for territory from France have produced an upsurge of anti-collaborationist sentiment in that country in which the veteran military leader Gen. Maxime Weygand is taking an active part, it was reported authoritatively last night.

General Weygand, it was reported, has plunged into discussions in an effort to prevent the handing over of Tunisia or other French territory to Italy, thereby disclosing that important anti-collaborationist feeling still exists in Vichy.

The temper of at least some sections of the French public is sharp, a fact brought out clearly yesterday at Beziers, in unoccupied France, where allied sympathizers broke up a parade of French fascists in a street battle involving about 1,500 persons.

Jap Victory Claims Fool Only the Japs; Have Goebbels Touch

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Like Nazi claims of three Russian armies trapped and about to be annihilated in the Ukraine battle, Premier Tojo's assertion that a Japanese "victory" in the Coral sea had left Australia defenseless must be classed as largely propaganda.

For Home Consumption
Both were designed primarily for home-front consumption. They represent that most favored figure of speech in axis technique, hyperbole, the art of extreme exaggeration. They could not be expected to fool anybody but their author's own people.

Just why such an attempt at befuddlement of the home folks should be deemed necessary at this time is not clear. The winds of rumor have been busy with tales of rising discontent in Germany; but not in Japan.

Adding Fuel to Fire

Nor could General Tojo actually have expected his fire-breathing threats against India and Australia to bring those united nations falling into Japan's lap like ripe plums. He had some other purpose in mind and if it is not to bolster Japanese morale, it must have been to add fuel to the fire of Australian, Chinese and Indian pleas for more American troops, planes, tanks and guns.

Tojo knows that despite the impressive Japanese victories he could otherwise recite unchallenged, Japan's fate no less than (See INTERPRETING, page 7)

Report Officials Seeking Way To Equalize Wage Differences

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war manpower commission decided yesterday to "freeze" workers in critical war industries to their present jobs, to prevent "labor pirating."

A commission spokesman said that in the future an employe in such a critical industry would be unable to change jobs without approval of the United States employment service.

The policy will become effective, according to an announcement, as soon as the proper directive can be drafted.

Asked how it could be enforced, the spokesman said the control could be operated through contracts with the war production industries.

The "pirating of labor," especially through offer of larger wages, was reported to have become acute. This is especially true, the spokesman said, in the aircraft industry.

The freeze was expected to affect many hundreds of thousands, if not millions of persons. There was talk in some government circles of some sort of arrangement to equalize pay, so that a worker might be recompensed for his inability to move from what is now a relatively low-paid job, to a higher one.

At a hearing before the War Labor Board in a wage dispute case yesterday, Wayne Morse, public member of the board, brought up this possibility.

He said if government agencies take the position that men should not move from a low-paid job to a high-paid post, "Then we ought to see to it that the pay is somewhat equalized."

"It is not fair," he said, "for the government to say to a private citizen, 'we don't think you ought to be allowed to move into another higher-paying job because we need you in the job you are now in,' unless the government is willing to stabilize wages so that he is not going to suffer financially because of that policy of the government."

The commission also took further steps to make certain that men irreplaceable in war production may be deferred from the draft and remain at their work benches.

Plans Drawn Up
Preliminary plans were drawn up for classification of war plants according to their urgency, and for a system of manpower priorities to assure the critical plants ample supplies of skilled labor.

The commission previously had asked that local draft boards consult with the federal employment service offices before calling to the army individuals "skilled in critical war occupations."

The spokesman said the types of jobs to justify draft deferment might be broader than classes previously announced by the selective service system, and probably would include essential farm workers.

Grain Men Propose Pooling Plan to Meet ODT Full Load Order
DES MOINES (AP)—A proposal to pool truck cargoes and equipment to comply with the office of defense transportation "full load" order was adopted by the western grain and feed association here yesterday.

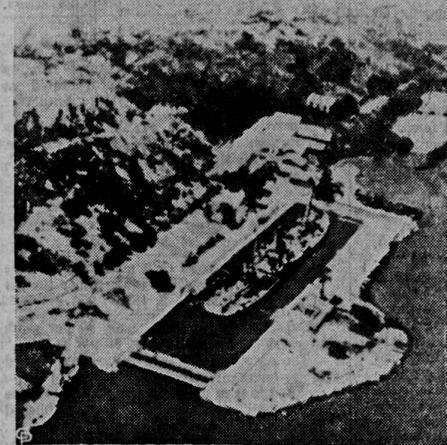

The plan, to be submitted to ODT immediately in the hope it will be approved before June 1, effective date of the order, was adopted unanimously at a meeting attended by more than 100 dealers.

Whether it is accepted by ODT is up to the national office in Washington, John H. Gillespie, Iowa field man for the ODT, told the conferees.

The association voted to organize district clearing offices in nine districts throughout the state, and county clearing offices in each of the 99 counties to provide the required loads for private trucks. The nine districts would be organized according to the boundaries of the nine crop reporting districts.

The proposal for pooling cargoes and private trucks was adopted in preference to another proposal for pooling equipment of contract haulers to handle the cargoes of shippers on a standard rate. The latter proposal was made by D. D. A. Herdyce, Hampton organizer of the Farm to Market Carriers, Inc.

BRITISH ATTACK ON MADAGASCAR

The German ship Warenfels is pictured above in the drydock at Diego Suarez, Madagascar, as the British launched their attack on the French island. The picture, radioed from Cairo to London and cabled from there to the United States, is the first received showing a phase of the assault. It apparently was taken from one of the attacking R. A. F. planes. An unsuccessful attempt to scuttle the Warenfels was made.

GRAPEVINE FROM ROME---

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Mussolini Will Certainly Be Out Of War by January or February

WASHINGTON — The grapevine from Rome says Mussolini will certainly be out of the war before next January or February (remember the date).

The youth groups, which furnished the numerical strength of the fascist movement (the old people were never strong for it), lost their last illusion in Hitler's tieup with Laval.

All Italy's claims were against France. Hope for rebuilding a Roman empire in the Mediterranean rested with prospects of acquiring Tunisia and other French colonies.

But Laval's major policy is the protection of those colonies for France under Hitler. Italy has nothing left to fight for.

This, of course, is but the final blow, in the well known series of Italian misadventures, including German occupation, the desperate food shortage, the disinclination of fascist youth to fight with Hitler.

It will take time for the anti-Mussolini forces that are afoot in Italy to work their way up, but the army should be in charge within at most eight or nine months. Invasion of this weakest axis spot by forces of the united nations would bring this result sooner.

Thorough Analysis of World's War Capital—

Most thorough analysis of this new war capital of the world—in all its sprawling boomlike splendor and political bizzarrie—is presented in a new book "Washington Is Like That" by W. M. Kiplinger, the non-political business letter writer.

The storied magnificence of Rome, Paris, London, Berlin is Washington's now, with war construction hastening conclusion of the vast office, memorial and park programs, making it the most beautiful city on earth—as well as the most important.

All it lacks is a great place in history, which it is acquiring and a recognition in literature, which Mr. Kiplinger proposes to start.

He tells it all, straight-forwardly, about the new dealers as well as the new domes, and for instance, about labor becoming the wealthiest of landowning powers here next to the government itself.

He estimates labor real estate holdings here at $10,000,000 . . . the machinists financed construction of the large new Longfellow office building . . . the bricklayers loaned $300,000 to Evalyn Walsh McLean at 6 per cent to build the new bus terminal (they got it from the bank at 3 per cent, where she couldn't) . . . the bricklayers have $5,000,000 in liquid resources, $8,000,000 in net assets . . . the united mine workers keep $4,000,000 in convertible securities and cash . . . the house naval committee estimated that 101 of the 162 AFL international unions had $82,000,000 in 1941 . . . the electricians spent a cool $1,000,000 on their convention, explaining that as they hold only one in twelve years they thought they would do it in a fitting manner . . . John Lewis spent $250,000 redecorating the university club for UMW offices . . .

No one knows how much the unions have, says the Kiplinger book. Their finances are not published as a general policy. But inasmuch as labor is the only possessor of obviously great wealth which is not subject to confiscatory war taxes, or any taxes, it seems logical to assume that labor will be the only one to multiply its wealth out of this war.

Published A. P. figures of 211 merchant ships sunk in American waters since the start of the war includes only those announced. There have been innumerable others.

Precise numbers cannot be used for reasons of military secrecy, but the rate of all allied losses everywhere in the world for April was twice the average of the first 18 months of the war, before we got in.

It is true, however, that February was the worst month and a small decline has been noted each month since then.

"Massing on Moscow" Impossible at Present—

The idea that the nazis are "massing on Moscow" got out because Berlin claimed capture of 32 villages near Smolensk. They are still 200 miles from Moscow and massing has been impossible because of bad weather in the northern half of the front.

The blow, when it comes, will be aimed at the Donets basin in the south. Next few days should tell whether the flanking movements south of Kharkov are to develop into that drive.

Typically American Feats of Production—

Typically American feats of production, accomplished on the home front in the winning of that great battle, continue to grow in their unrivaled scope.

It may now be said officially that aluminum production before the end of this year will be five times that of 1939 . . . magnesium sixty times . . . the tin plate industry has completed the changeover to the electrolytic process, using one third less tin than the old method . . . Jap varnish gums have been fully replaced by newly discovered synthetic resins . . . we are now independent of camphor and menthol from Japan . . .

No other nation, no other political or economic system anywhere in the history of the world, can approach what has been done in this country, since the defense program started.

Ignorance, Economic Collapse May Mean Peace Without Victory

The world can have a "just peace" when the war is over, but not if the dictators win. And at present we can have no peace at all except on the dictator's terms. These are the beliefs of Dean William O. Scroggs of the graduate school at Louisiana State university.

If we seek to obtain "peace without victory," which some pacifists are now advocating, we shall have to submit to the German fuhrer and give up our liberty, Dean Scroggs asserts. Such action would not give us a just peace, but rather would bring us both defeat and dishonor, he said in a recent statement.

"This war is like a surgical operation," he continued. "It cannot be stopped while we are in the middle of it. The malignant cancer which is gnawing at the vitals of our civilization must be removed, and it can be removed only by heroic effort. The operation must go on, even though it does cause some loss of blood."

"If we are to have a just peace, we must obtain security as well as a cessation of warfare. Such a peace will require the re-establishment of international economic life and also some form of international organization to safeguard the world against a recurrence of recent evils. After the war, while setting our house in order, we shall need to collaborate with other nations who are likewise striving to bring about order in theirs."

"One of the main post-war problems will be to prevent a worldwide economic collapse and the inevitable political disturbances which would follow. To avoid such a debacle, every effort should be made to stimulate production, trade, and consumption throughout the world, and not merely in the victor countries. When the dictators go out, dollars and doughnuts should roll in and help repair the damage wrought by their misuse."

"In post-war reconstruction we must, above all, avoid regimentation or anything resembling totalitarian methods in promoting world recovery; otherwise we shall again lose the peace, as we did after the first World war."

"We shall need not only statesmanship of a high order on the part of the national leaders, but the education of the people of all countries in the fundamental economic and political requirements for enduring peace and prosperity."

"Society needs a changed conception of scientific management, which has too long been considered as hard and detached and coldly analytical, whereas it depends for its success on humane considerations. Our new conception of scientific management involves greater consideration for each of the factors involved in production, namely: men, machines, materials and money." Dr. Vernon D. Keeler, professor of management and industry at the University of California, stresses importance of the human equation in industrial management.

Democracy Must Always Take The Offensive in World Affairs—

"Democratic peoples must take the offensive all along the line. They must be sustained by conviction of the right, by confidence in their strength, and by hope of attainment. The advantage of the offensive has its moral as well as military application. Democracy is now forced to use measures which violate its conscience because it has launched no attacks of its own. It has lost the moral initiative and has allowed its foes to present it with the alternative of subjection or violence. Being in that situation, we must fight our way out as best we can. But if we are not to face that situation again, we must make our own situation. If we are not to be compelled again to obey a counsel of desperation, we must not only seize the military initiative now at the earliest possible moment, but hold that initiative and translate it in the hour of victory into an attack with political, economic, scientific, and moral weapons on the old unfinished work of civilization. If we do not relish the methods which any unscrupulous enemy can force us to employ as the price of our lives, then we must wage our own world war, with our own preferred methods of persuasion, humanity, and justice, and ourselves create, after our own model, the world of tomorrow." Dr. Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard university urges democracies to take the offensive against error, inertia and reaction.

Food for the Millions— That, Friend, Is a Show

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Chambers street. Warren street. Murray street. That's me. I'm New York's breadbasket. They dump it on my sidewalks every night. All night. In piles 20 feet high. Cabbages. Potatoes. Onions. In boxes, crates, gunny sacks, they bring it in in trucks. Big high-toned moving trucks. And in horse drawn carts. They make barricades out of carrots and castles out of lettuce and pyramids out of apples. Citrus Lane they call it, along about 4 a.m. By sun-up it's Cabbage Row. Then they take it away. To the restaurants. To the hotels and cafes. To the markets and the green grocers and the chain grocers and the independent grocers. All over town. All over Manhattan, and the Bronx. They take it to Staten Island. To Queens, and to Brooklyn.

When you walk along there, say about eight o'clock, in the morning, on your way to the office, you don't see much. Oh, you see enough, but not so much as you see in the after dark hours. In the mornings, you see the white onions and the red onions . . . The people who put the onions in their loosely woven sacks know what they are doing . . . They emphasize color . . . They put white onions in the white sacks, and the red onions in the red sacks. That's what they do. It makes the white seem whiter, and the red redder.

Ask the shipping clerks and the receivers who stand around checking the items, in their long white robes. If they had on rubber gloves and if they wore white masks across their faces, they'd look like surgeons . . . Except for the mud on their shoes. And the tomato stains on their white aprons. And the oniony smell. And the wet cigarettes dangling from their lips.

"I got 600 crates of grapes." "I got 200 crates of cranberries." "I got 171 bags of potatoes."

That's Max talking. Max is 51. Been there long? You bet. Seventeen years. Does he like his job? You bet. Wouldn't he do anything else. People hafta be fed. People gotta be fed. When people get hungry, they reach for the bread basket. That's Chambers street, And Warren. And Murray. That's Max. You come along there, say after midnight, and you'll walk in the street, or else. Ain't no room in the sidewalks. Not after midnight, when the tomatoes and the cabbages and the carrots come in. Not when the celery and the grapefruit get there.

You'll walk in the street, you'll not in a straight line either. You'll weave in and out of vans and hacks and trucks. You'll get out of the way of horses, and you'll go home with the aroma of onion in your hair. For a boutonniere you'll wear a radish.

That's the bread-basket. New York's lower west side. Right by West street. If you've got a good arm, you can stand on Chambers, or Warren, or Murray, and pitch a potato into the Hudson.

Sure, you can see shows on Broadway. Any old Broadway. Good shows and bad. Past shows and smug shows and very, very dumb shows.

Tell you what. If I were a visitor to New York, I'd take in a show on Broadway. You bet. But not until I'd seen the bread-basket show. Not until I'd gone down there at night, and seen a real drama, where the actors are turnips and tomatoes and cabbages and not just hams.

U.S.-British War Council Believed Laying Plans For Continental Invasion, Air Blows at Germans

General Somervell Arrives in London To Complete Council

LONDON (AP) — Two of the chiefs of the U. S. army's three commands conferred with their British counterparts last night, and informed observers believed that plans for an invasion of the continent as well as a vast air assault on Germany were being advanced.

The arrival yesterday of Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the U. S. army service of supply, virtually completed a war council which these observers declared is the "prelude to a vast increase of American ground forces to give the allies immediate, overwhelming local superiority in men and equipment for an invasion of the continent."

It was understood the conference also was concerned with such world-wide coordinating efforts as a joint smash at the Japanese from India and blocking of an axis offensive in Africa.

Somervell's arrival followed the appearance Tuesday of Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air forces. This left only Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commander of the ground forces, out of the circle, but the presence of Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, head of the operations division, seemed to assure that land as well as air plans were afoot.

Also present was Maj. Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of staff of the army ground forces, Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of naval aviation, and Brigadier General Leroy Lutes, Charles P. Gross and William C. Lee who accompanied Somervell.

One source, emphasizing indications that American and British efforts were not being concentrated on air operations alone, said: "Because the technical transport problems are more simple, the American air effort will start first, but when the time comes we are going to be ready to hit on land just as hard or harder than we do in the air."

Murray Termed Labor Saboteur, Walks Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philip Murray walked out of a meeting of the United Mine workers' policy committee yesterday, protesting against accusations that the CIO leadership was guilty of sabotage and treason to labor.

District 50 of the mine union made the accusations in a resolution, which said Murray, as CIO president, refused to take any action to prevent a campaign of "abuse, insult, injury, intimidation and slander" against the organization efforts of the district. I did not mention him as vice president of the UMW. No action was taken immediately on the resolution. The district 50 membership includes Dairy farmers, coke, gas, chemical and cosmetic workers.

Both Sides Rest Case In New York Trial Of Madeline Webb

NEW YORK (AP) — After another day of courtroom fireworks, both sides rested last night in the trial of dark-haired Madeline Webb, Oklahoma-born model, her sweetheart Eli Shonbrun, and John D. Cullen on first-degree murder charges in the strangulation of Mrs. Susan Flora Reich, wealthy refugee.

Miss Webb, who had burst out with sharp words and tears during her own testimony and that of other witnesses yesterday, had to be restrained in her chair when a bell captain at the Hotel Sutton, where Mrs. Reich's body was found March 5, testified he had seen her in the vicinity of the hotel on the day of the slaying.

Throughout the questioning Miss Webb vehemently denied being in the hotel suite at the time of the crime. The state charges that she lured Mrs. Reich to the suite.

Shonbrun, avowing his love for the model, declared on the stand that he and Murray Hirschel, his uncle, "murdered the woman alone" and that Miss Webb had nothing to do with it.

The case is expected to go to the jury Friday.

Egypt to get at the Suez and then on into the middle east and the southern approaches of the Russian Caucasus.

The possibility that such a grand maneuver was in mind, however, was not wholly dismissed in London, although it seemed more likely that Rommel was attempting to screen some other thrust—possibly the long expected attempt to go into the middle east via Cyprus and Syria.

Rommel had been strongly reinforced in recent weeks; but so, too, had the British and they had been strengthened, moreover, by a flow of supplies to bases built both by themselves and by Americans.

Rommel's ultimate intention caused intense speculation in London, where a military commentator declared the nazis had undoubtedly loosed "an offensive of some sort," but added it was too early to tell much more about it.

There was some conjecture in London that Rommel actually was aiming at Egypt, at Iraq beyond and thus at the backdoor of the Russia Caucasus, although the difficulties and hazards of such a campaign at this season would be enormous.

There also was a possibility that all he was now doing was intended to serve as a screen for an attack on British-held Syria via the island of Cyprus.

Rommel's total army was estimated in some quarters at more than 125,000 men.

U.S. Glider Training Program Will Expand

WASHINGTON (AP) — An expansion of the glider pilot training program of the army air forces, with large number of students to be instructed at 27 schools beginning June 1 was announced yesterday by the war department.

The number of students was not disclosed, but training in light motor driven planes will be given at 18 civil aeronautics schools located in the middle west, and elementary and advance training in gliders at nine army schools.

Additional needs for persons experienced in particular branches of economics will be made known by the issuance of special bulletin or circulars covering such specialized personnel requirements.

2 I.C. Men to Get Medic Commissions

Robert J. Coen, 217 Grand, and John C. Paulus, 1039 E. College, will graduate from the officer candidate school at the army's medical field service school, Carlisle Barracks.

For three months the men trained in an intensive course, having been chosen from the ranks of the enlisted men for their merit, ability and outstanding performance of duty.

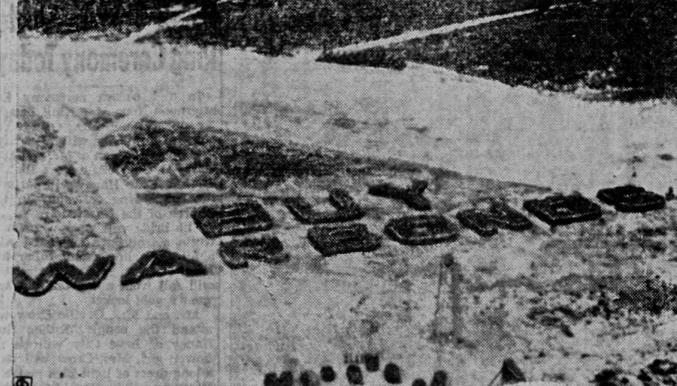

A previous three months service was a prerequisite for admission. Upon graduation, these men will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the medical administrative corps.

Frank L. Tallman, 410 S. Clinton, has graduated from the armored force officer candidate school at Ft. Knox, Ky., with the gold bars and commission of a second lieutenant in the army. He probably will be assigned to duty with an armored division or tank battalion.

FT. BRAGG TROOPS VOICE PLEA—'BUY WAR BONDS'

Mexican Solidarity Behind War Policies Of President Grows

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The solidarity of Mexico behind the war policies of President Manuel Avila Camacho grew steadily yesterday while the government rushed defense preparations and deputies and senators met to elect officers and committees for today's joint session of congress, which Avila Camacho has convoked for a declaration of war against the axis.

Former Presidents Abelardo Rodriguez and Plutarco Elias Calles, still powerful figures in Mexico, publicly pledged their support.

Navy Minister General Heriberto Jara said the government was speeding construction of 25 torpedo patrol boats not only to defend the coast but to give convoy protection to Mexican and allied ships in the Gulf of Mexico.

Naval Gunner Stays With Sinking Ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Naval gunner Woodrow Wilson Harrison of Augusta, Ga., tried so hard to bag the axis submarine that sank the medium sized American freighter on which he was stationed May 19 in the Gulf of Mexico that he went down with the ship riding the carriage of his blazing gun.

The second class seaman, reportedly only 17 years old, was the only man lost aboard the ship, which sank in five minutes in early afternoon, but 19 crew members in a lifeboat struck by the stricken submerging ship were sucked under and lost. Twenty-two men were rescued 28 hours later by a passing ship and brought here.

The sinking produced two other remarkable adventures, one of a gunner whose foot was caught in a rope and pulled under the surface before an explosion freed him, and the other of the submarine commander pulling two crewmen from the sea, treating one's injuries and giving them cigarettes before putting them aboard the only life raft that remained afloat.

Second mate Amigo Soriano of Seattle, Wash., and Theodore Snow of El Segundo, Calif., said the snow commander wore shorts and spoke perfect English with an Oxford accent. He dressed Snow's cuts

War Agitation Grows In Brazil as U-Boats Continue Operations

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Agitation for Brazil to engage in active warfare upon axis submarines operating off the Brazilian coast developed yesterday as continuing and somewhat confused reports of U-boat activity reached the capital.

From Fortaleza came an unconfirmed report that an Italian submarine had surrendered to authorities at a northeastern Brazilian port. The craft was identified as the Pamplona, a name not listed in naval directories.

Usually reliable sources confirmed that two axis submarines have been attacked within the last nine days off the Brazilian coast. Whether either of these actually was sunk lacked absolute confirmation.

Thousands Register First Day in WAAC Drive for Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women applied by the thousands yesterday for the 450 places as officer candidates in the new Women's Army Auxiliary Corps and many of them arose at dawn to be first in line at the army recruiting stations.

An unofficial and incomplete poll of recruiting offices throughout the country on the number of applicants—actual count in some places and estimated count in others where definite figures were unavailable — yielded a total of 13,208.

Some cities reported that the eager women snatched up all the pink application blanks that had been supplied and disappointed applicants had to be turned away thereafter.

The women besieged the recruiting offices on the opening day regardless of the fact that applications will be received until June 4 and that priority in applying will count for nothing. The candidates selected will report at Fort Des Moines in July.

Applied Hose

You can be smartly attired and still conform to all hosiery deaths by applying your stockings with mixtures out of a bottle. The method shown here is the use of a dampened tea bag.

Almost every beautician in the business has developed a leg make-up to substitute for milady's traditional silk stockings. Applications come in jars, bottles, spray mechanisms and cakes. Ingenious lassies who quibble about leg seams can manufacture their own with an eyebrow stick and a steady hand. Others simulate the "seamless" hose brought out a year ago and dispense with all but the bronzed glow.

Further design to conserve on material is followed in this summer suit of navy and white. This silhouette simplicity looks like fine, light-weight wool, but is actually woven from rayon and cotton with detailed cotton handstitching. The laquered fabric hat which emulates straw is trimmed with cotton mesh veiling and navy bands.

'Iowa's Orson Welles'

That's Barbara Hudson

—Able WSUI Announcer

Have you ever wondered who is behind the voice with the great big smile you hear and almost see over WSUI's children's hour? It belongs to one of the most versatile women on campus, Barbara Hudson.

Barbara has just completed an outstanding performance in the role of "Rosalind" in the University theater's production of "As You Like It." She also had a leading role in the experimental play "Mississippi" which was produced last winter.

Barbara has been referred to as "Iowa's Orson Welles" by Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the speech department. This is not too far-fetched to be true, for she is one of the best performers at the university radio station as well as being a very promising actress, writer and director.

Ft. Dodge Senior

The accomplishments of this pretty blue eyed senior from Ft. Dodge are too numerous to list in a single paragraph. Among other things she is a dramatic actress, a fine sculptress and a licensed airplane pilot.

Barbara began her radio career at station KVFD in Ft. Dodge and since transferring to Iowa from St. Olaf college last September has won positions of ever increasing importance on the staff of WSUI.

Although she is primarily an actress, Barbara has focused her talents on writing and directing as well. She is now writing, acting and directing the "You Never Know" show sponsored by the State Highway Patrol. Barbara has been co-starring on WSUI's "Teatime Melodies" with Bob Clausen in recent weeks.

She has 60 solo flying hours to her credit since she first began her aviation career less than a year ago, and is a member of the Civil Air Patrol—her contribution to national defense. Barbara has flown home on several occasions, and once this spring she flew to Ft. Dodge with only the guide of a road map and her compass.

Likes to Sculpt

If you should happen to pass by the fine arts building you might find Barbara putting the finishing touches to a statue. Having started in a sculpture class only last January, she now has several pieces on display at the fine arts building.

Barbara's sorority sisters at the Gamma Phi Beta house marvel at the endurance and pleasant personality which have become her trademark on the campus. She is the Gamma Phi rushing chairman for next year.

Meet Barbara anytime and you will always be greeted with a cheery "hello"—for that's the personality of the busiest woman on the university campus, "Iowa's Orson Welles."

Reliever Joe Haynes Pitches, Hits Chisox To Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Jim Bagby lost little time in clubbing a home run for Cleveland flinger Joe Haynes proved the better batter and the White Sox yesterday, but Chicago's relief earned a 9-7 triumph.

Better yet, Haynes singled home the sixth-inning run which tied the score at seven all, and after Bob Kennedy and Myril Hoag singled in the eighth and advanced on a sacrifice, he produced another one-baser which plated the winning tally.

Ninth Inning Rampage Loosens 1-1 Deadlock; Herman, Sisti Homer

BOSTON (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers broke Jim Tobin's handcuffs in the ninth inning yesterday, and slapped the veteran righthander for three runs to break a tie and belt the Boston Braves 4 to 1 before a crowd of 10,265.

Wyatt gave up only five hits, and the only loss he suffered was one of prestige when Sibby Sisti connected for his fourth homer in the third inning for the Braves only run. This marked the first time the Braves have managed to score on Whitney in 47 successive innings.

Billy Herman started the ball rolling in the first inning by clouting his first homer of the year. Sisti's round-tripper tied it up in the third.

Reds Wallop Cubs In Benefit Game

CHICAGO (AP)—As the second portion of a doubleheader played with all receipts going to army-navy relief, Cincinnati's Reds walloped the Chicago Cubs, 10 to 1, yesterday before a crowd of 9,966 which paid $10,455.27.

In the first game, the Great Lakes naval training station team defeated Camp Grant's soldiers, 4 to 1.

In the second contest, the Reds smashed over seven runs in the fourth inning to knock out Paul Erickson and win easily while Bucky Walters was scoring his fourth triumph with a seven-hit performance.

The Reds made a total of 13 hits, including Gerry Walker's second homer of the season, which came with the bases loaded in the fourth.

Eighth Inning Rally Gives Cards Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates fell apart at the seams yesterday as they lost 5-3 to St. Louis.

The Cardinals had two runs handed them on a platter yet still needed an eight inning rally to break a 3-3 deadlock.

Fat Freddie Fitz Really Vital to Dodgers

Stout Heart, Sense of Humor Inspiring Factor In Rise of Flatbush Flock

BY WHITNEY MARTIN NEW YORK (Wide World)—Last Sept. 11 a battered, bewildered and slightly panicky bunch of Brooklyn Dodgers rolled into St. Louis for a three-game series with the tenacious Cardinals.

The Dodgers had just dropped a doubleheader to the Chicago Cubs, and the defeats had sliced the Dodger lead to one slim game. And a one-game lead at that stage of a race is nothing to lean back and coast on.

The Dodgers just had to win that one, and Leo Durocher knew it. And he also knew the guy who could do it for them if anybody could. He knew one man who could get out there and pitch baseball even if the rest of the team fell apart like a phony alibi.

So he called on old fat and 40. And when the hectic afternoon was over the Dodgers were leading by two games and again were their own cocky selves.

Old fat and 40 was Freddy Fitzsimmons, and we like to remember that game as one that tells more than any other just the kind of pitcher he was.

The Brooklyn scene wouldn't be quite the same without the big fellow with the minding steps and intent expression. He's the kind who leaves mental pictures of such inconsequential details as the sight of him hustling to the coaching box, digging a black baseball out of his hip pocket, and tossing it out for infield practice.

From the above you might gather that we think Freddy Fitzsimmons is a right guy, and you're right. He'd be a good influence on a club if he didn't know a bunt from a base on balls.

Tiny Bonham Chalks Up Seventh Victory At A's Expense, 8-3

Phils Break String Of Scoreless Innings At 15 for Yank Star

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernest (Tiny) Bonham, this year's pitching marvel of the major leagues, chalked up his seventh successive triumph yesterday as the world championship New York Yankees toyed with the Philadelphia Athletics to win, 8-3.

The huge right hander pitched seven-hit ball without apparent exertion, after his comrades gave him the margin of victory with a five-run spurge in the fourth inning.

Before yesterday the big fellow had pitched 49 scoreless frames in the total of 53 innings that he had worked this season. In the second stanza Dee Miles drove a liner to left center for a triple and scored when Elmer Valo grounded out.

The Yankees pounded two runs across in the first on a walk to Frank Crossetti, singles by Buddy Hassett and Tom Henrich and DiMaggio's infield out.

Philadelphia tied the score in the fourth when Pete Suder doubled and Miles singled, but in the last half of the same frame the champions crashed through for five runs. After two were out Phil Ruzuzo singled, Bonham walked, Crossetti singled for one run and Hassett for another. Then Henrich slammed out his fourth homer for three tallies.

In the next inning Tex Shirley replaced Fred Caligiuri and was tapped for the Yanks' final run on singles by Charley Keller, Joe Gordon and Rizzuto.

The A's other run came in the ninth on a double by Dick Siebert, an infield out and a long fly by Valo.

Craig Wood, the National Open champion, had a first round 68 and didn't let up a particle in the afternoon as he subdued Rod Monday of Toledo, 5 and 4.

Corp. Jim Turnesa proved his great form in the qualifying round was no idle rumor as he bounced E. J. "Dutch" Harrison by 6 and 4. Harold "Jug" McSpadden disposed of Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, 7 and 5. Joe Kirkwood, the Irish shot artist ousted Jimmy Thomson, the long driver, 4 and 2.

Tom Harmon of Montclair, N.J., eliminated the host professional Bruce Coltart, 3 and 2.

Byron Nelson of Toledo literally toyed with Harry Nettleblatt, of Avon, Conn., winning by a score of 5 and 3. He was four strokes under par for 33 holes.

Senate Kills Proposal For Using Subsidies To Control 'Ceilings'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A surge of last-minute opposition, which leaders acknowledged they had not foreseen, dealt sudden defeat in the senate yesterday to an administration proposal for using subsidies to keep price ceilings intact.

At the request of majority leader Barkley (D-Ky) the chamber unanimously rejected the plan, which had been offered as an amendment to house-approved legislation to increase reconstruction finance corporation borrowing power by $5,000,000,000.

Barkley broke into a brisk debate on the proposal to announce the decision to abandon it, saying that a canvass of sentiment had convinced him it could not be passed.

The amendment would have authorized the RFC and the Commodity Credit corporation, upon request of the Price Administrator, not only to subsidize business caught in a "squeeze" between rising costs and ceiling prices, but to buy and sell commodities to keep prices down.

Heydrich—

leave his house between 9 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m. Thursday. "All public bars, cinemas, theaters, and public entertainments will be closed, and all transport stopped."

"Anyone found on the streets during those hours and who does not stop when called upon to do so will be shot immediately."

A later announcement said: "Whoever hopes to hide the guilty persons or who gives them any kind of help or security, or secretly withholds any knowledge of the crime will be executed."

Some broadcasts said the entire family of any such persons also would be put to death.

A Czech government source here expressed grave fears that "the shooting of Heydrich will result in mass executions of innocent people on a scale unprecedented—even in this war."

Czech circles here expressed belief the shooting either was in protest to Heydrich's order concerning the shooting of Czech youths for war service on the Russian front or against his announcement Tuesday night that there would be a reorganization of the administrative set-up in Bohemia and Moravia. This was interpreted as an indication that Adolf Hitler had decided to incorporate the protectorate within the Reich proper.

Czechs already have learned from Heydrich, himself, of the stern drumhead justice and ironfisted measures of suppression which they can expect from any revolt against their masters.

Within two weeks after Heydrich came to Bohemia and Moravia last September as protector, charged with putting down unrest, 250 Czechs had died before German firing squads.

Interpreting—

German's is in process of being decided in Russia. The caution, not unshared with implied threats, with which he dealt with Russian-Japanese relations testified to that.

His reiterated promise that Japan would do her full share as a partner of Germany and Italy excluded a diversion attack on Russia, at least so long as Russia maintained her part of the non-aggression bargain. By implication that suggests Japanese readiness to attack if Russia offers aid and comfort to the allies against Japan.

If Tojo hoped to aid Germany

by diverting British-American forces from the Atlantic and Mediterranean to the Pacific and Indian oceans he is not apt to be successful. Arrival of important American military and naval leaders in England is sufficient notice that it is in Europe, not the Orient, that Washington and London look for major war developments relatively soon.

Tojo's new pledge of axis fellowship was mere lip service unless Japan is prepared to march against Russia now, when war intervention to aid Germany could greatly increase Russia's peril. Tojo obviously realizes that such a move would expose Japan to close air attack from the north as well as the east.

however, because ample stocks are on hand.

A goal of 540,000,000 gallons of alcohol has been set for 1943, with 240,000,000 gallons to come from distilleries now producing beverages. Of the total, 200,000,000 gallons derived from grain is to be allocated to the production of butadiene for synthetic rubber. The whole program is expected to consume 138,000,000 bushels of grain, with the emphasis on corn, but with an increased use of wheat as well.

While officers discussed this method of easing the rubber shortage, the eastern gasoline scarcity, received attention in the house rules committee. It decided that the house tomorrow would consider and vote upon legislation to lay a pipe line and dig a barge canal across northern Florida.

The project would facilitate the flow of oil and gasoline from gulf coast points, by linking 2,000 miles of submarine-proof inland waterways between the Mexican border and Trenton, N. J.

The committee was told by chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) of the rivers and harbors committee that the pipe line would give the

Dutch Freighter Sunk In Caribbean by Sub

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Dutch West Indies—The freighter Flora of the Royal Dutch Netherlands Steamship company has been torpedoed in the Caribbean, the Netherlands news agency Aneta stated late yesterday.

The Flora, a 1,417-ton cargo vessel, is the fourth ship sunk in recent weeks out of this Dutch company's Caribbean fleet.

Aneta pointed out that ship sinkings in the Caribbean have affected transportation of food to the Dutch West Indies, but described the situation as not dangerous. "Meatless days" have been introduced as a result of sharp shipping curtailment.

Rents—

not met Mr. (Leon) Henderson's recommendations in the 60 days provided by the statute, the price administrator was required to make federal control effective.

In 14 areas, rents were ordered restored to the level of April 1, 1941; four were set back to the level of Jan. 1, 1941, and two to July 1, 1941.

"Beginning June 1," the statement said, "as a general principle with few exceptions, tenants are to cut their rents back to what was being charged on the maximum rent date set for their respective areas."

The landlord, it was emphasized, has no choice in the matter. Exceptions are provided where a dwelling has been substantially improved, where it is now being rented furnished and formerly was rented unfurnished, and where previous rents were affected by a personal relationship between landlord and tenant.

PUBLIC SERVANTS--
America goes to the polls next Monday to select party representatives for the coming general elections. It's to be hoped that all the talk about the importance of those elections is indicative that the people have their eyes on the merits of the candidates...

As far as the national scene is concerned, one thing is sure. If the good citizens of Iowa vote solely on the basis of how the present representatives voted on major national issues during the last two years, they'll return practically nobody to the house...

Of course voting that way may not be sensible. A representative who voted against the re-formation of Guam back in 1939 undoubtedly would reverse his vote now if he had the chance...

That might give him an "A" for patriotism, but the "F" he'd have got for vision would remain unchanged. If the Japanese invasion of Manchukuo and the rest of China thereafter didn't mean anything to him when Guann came up in 1939, then it's quite possible that something on the same order wouldn't mean anything to him now—or later...

Vision is a little like money for taxes. You've either got it or you haven't. And I for one am suspicious of congressmen who appear to develop vision overnight. In wartime especially...

But on the other side of the ledger, it's just as unwise to vote for a senator or representative in this election, simply because he happened to be on the boat every time it left the dock on those important issues...

Iowa has public servants in Washington who'd vote for an Atlantic-to-the-Pacific canal if the administration wanted it. I am also suspicious of people like that. It looks too much as though their faith were in the administration, right or wrong... that they somehow feel that the administration, right or wrong, is more powerful than the voters back home...

No administration, not even Mr. Roosevelt's, has been right all the time, and some of Mr. Roosevelt's henchmen who have backed him nonetheless know that well enough...

A lot of people like me can't understand the blindness of the old guards of both parties who wouldn't vote for a representative of the other side, no matter what. There are still plenty of folks like that...

Some republicans I know would rather end up in hell and still be republicans than to get to heaven with the democrats. Of course the democrats would have difficulty pointing out the road they've built toward heaven, as it is, but that has nothing to do with the argument...

There are democratic party members in congress—and plenty of them—who don't even warrant the primary support of any self-respecting democrat of the capital-D class, let alone the small-d variety. There are republicans in the same boat...

If the voters back home take due cognizance of that, we will be a sight better off...

It's a little bit funny to me to watch congressmen go scurrying off to home districts to make speeches when they're attacked on the basis of their ability to represent...

How many names you know in the Congressional Record have been home recently defending themselves against unjust tirades? Of course I'm not talking about Iowa...

I'm one of those old-fashioned boys naive enough to think that even now the people would rather vote for a man they dislike if he's honest. They know he'll be neither a political fence-sitter nor a "my-party-right-or-wrong" kind of voter on important legislation...

Answering the attacks upon them, excitedly and in detail, is usually an admission on the part of the answerer that he was wrong in the first place... and knows it. But he seldom says it...

My own personal idea of what kind of a congressman I don't want is clarified every time I look at the voting records in the Congressional Record—and at the speeches...

Benton Street Bridge Now Open for Light Passenger Traffic

Limited traffic was allowed on the Benton street bridge yesterday morning for the first time in five months as cars were permitted to travel at their own risk in a single lane of traffic.

The bridge will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and will be closed all night. The speed limit is 15 miles per hour. Medium or heavy weight trucks are not permitted to cross.

Maximum penalty for violation of any rules is $100 or 30 days in jail. George Maloney has been appointed watchman.

It was voted to reopen the bridge at the city council meeting April 27.

The span was closed last December following reports by City Engineer Walter Buche and Prof. Charles Looney of the college of engineering that the bridge should be condemned.

After studying the report of Professor Looney, the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. suggested the bridge either be closed entirely or be opened for light traffic only.

name on an important bill isn't good, usually. And it is likewise amazing how some congressmen can go through any number of legislative sessions without ever making a speech. No speech may be better than a poor one, but how can they ever make a good one without a little practice?

Departmental Libraries to Be Under New Supervision June 1

Edward C. Heintz, who will become supervisor of the university departmental libraries June 1, heads the list of personnel changes being made in the staff of the university library, according to Grace Van Wormer, acting director.

Heintz received his B.A. degree from Brown university, Providence, R.I., in 1938 and his B.S. degree from the University of Michigan this month. Heintz, who is married and has a daughter, has had experience in Brown university library, in the Springfield, Mass., city library, and in the University of Michigan library.

Maxwell O. White, on leave of absence from his position as superintendent of the serials department, has been acting supervisor since the resignation in February of Fred Folmer to enter the armed forces.

Gretchen Wismer Gretchen Wismer is now assistant in the binding department, succeeding Marjorie Hall who resigned in April to accept a position as junior assistant librarian at Navy Pier, Chicago. Miss Wismer received her B.S. at South Dakota state college in 1938 and her B.S. in L.S. at the University of Denver library school in 1942.

Patricia Warner will become assistant supervisor of reserve reading room June 3, succeeding Hiltrude Braulick. Miss Warner, B.A. Morningside college in Sioux City, 1940, and B.S. in L.S. at the University of Illinois in 1942, has had experience as an assistant in the Sioux City public library.

Vera Bacon Other new members of the library staff include Vera Josephine Bacon, who will succeed Mrs. Alice Flint as assistant in the education-philosophy-psychology library. Miss Bacon received her B.A. degree at Iowa State Teachers college in 1930 and her B.S. degree at the University of Minnesota library school in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1942.

Charlotte Harnish, B.A., Macalester college, St. Paul, Minn., in 1941 and B.S., University of Minnesota library school in 1942, will join the staff as circulation assistant succeeding Muriel Luers.

Mrs. Gladys Bartholow Mrs. Gladys S. Bartholow will leave the position of senior assistant in the reserve library to assume the position as assistant in the medical library succeeding Mrs. Hartman who resigned.

Mrs. Sylvia Hjelte, formerly senior assistant in the reserve library, returns to that position succeeding Mrs. Bartholow. Dorothy Louise Mott, who received her B.A. at the University of Iowa this month, has been appointed junior assistant in the reserve department succeeding Mrs. Ruth Boardman.

Helen Graver, who received her B.S. degree May 10 at the University of Iowa, has assumed a stenographic position in the order department succeeding Mrs. DeBuchanne who resigned.

Cadet No. 1 Arrives For Naval Training

Donald J. Stewart, Butler Gridiron Star, First by 5 Minutes

Donald James Stewart of Indianapolis, Ind. has the distinction of being the first cadet in the nation to enter one of the navy's new pre-flight training schools.

The strapping 200-pound former Butler university football star reported to Iowa naval officials yesterday morning and was greatly surprised to learn that he was the first of his pre-flight class to arrive in Iowa City.

When asked how he felt about being the first cadet to enter the Iowa training station, the handsome blond youth smiled and said, "It certainly came as a surprise to me and of course, I feel it is a real honor." He continued to say that he thought the Hawkeye naval setup was "a very fine place and looks like it is adequately prepared to train the flying cadets."

Before coming here Stewart was a junior student at the Indianapolis, Ind., college where he played two years of varsity football as well as being a member of the freshman basketball squad. While at Butler he was affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

65 Workers to Help Build Road to Alaska

The W. R. Horrabin Contracting Co. of Iowa City has signed approximately 65 men to work on the road to be built from the United States to Alaska.

The men, including skilled laborers, common workers and camp orderlies will leave Iowa City sometime in June. About half the minutes after Stewart were Ashton Blanchard Geren Jr. of Woodriver, Ill. and Vernon James Peebles of Alton, Ill.

Also included in the list of 25 men reporting are Daniel H. Hancock of Chicago; Fredrick Mack Fowley of Bay City, Mich.; Edward A. Crandell of Durand, Mich.; Sheldon Grant Farr of Devils Lake, N. D.; Alfred John Schuster of South Lyon, Mich.; Ralph Martin Reimer of St. Louis, Mo.; Alec Jerome Chapman of Detroit; R. O. Boldt; Ford Kennedy, and Ralph Morton Reimer of St. Louis.

As the cadets arrive here they will be issued 74 separate articles of clothing and small stores, 13 textbooks, and various forms of athletic equipment. Each man will be given a thorough physical examination and inoculations. After the various examinations and issuance of the uniforms they will be assigned rooms in the Quadrangle.

The cadets will be restricted to the grounds in the vicinity of the fieldhouse, Hillcrest, and the athletic fields.

This is the first of the four pre-flight schools in the country to receive cadets for training.

Workers to be sent to Alaska by local firm

It is expected the men will return to Iowa City in October. They probably will return to Alaska to continue work next summer.

The "Trail Blazers" will be quartered in tents with wood floors. The camps will be provided with electricity and two-way radios.

Medical and dental care, nursing, banking and barbering will be provided by a central organization.

Depths of oil wells range from a few hundred feet to nearly three miles.

of the local firm are from Johnson county.
