

America's Industrial Triumphs---

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

PAUL MALLON

The U.S. Didn't Know How Good It Was Until It Got to Work

WASHINGTON—A wallpaper manufacturer in the mid-west, who barely knew a bomb from a bum a year ago, made some of the incendiaries which General Doolittle and his 79 American bombardiers dropped on Japan.

This is another of the inside stories of how this country won its first battle of the war, the most important one for it, the battle of production.

It is the same inspiring tale explaining why nearly every phase of our production is already ahead of its blueprint schedule. America simply did not know how good it was until it got started.

This mid-west wallpaper maker appeared in this column nearly a year ago. Then he had been an assistant to Donald Nelson and yet could not get a government contract for defense work. He spent eight months trying to find out what his paper plant could make.

Personal research brought him finally to the conclusion that not many people know how to load incendiary bombs. His company set to work to find out everything anybody knew about the subject. Blueprints of what they thought they could do were submitted to the war department and approved.

Conversion of the wallpaper plant into a bomb factory was not started until last winter. A circus tent had to be erected to cover construction work on one new building, because of the intense cold.

Less than a month later, a conveyor line was installed. The plant was ahead of schedule the first month and has continued since to increase the gap.

Originally it was figured the shells would cost 40 cents apiece. In production, it was found the cost could be lowered to 30 cents, and more recently it has been lowered further by improvements in methods.

One improvement was the perfection of a typically ingenious American riveting machine to do work formerly done by hand. Girl workers simply dump the rivets into a hopper, step on a lever and the riveting is done.

The management says the girls are working a lot harder on bombs than they worked on wallpaper.

Gigantic Industrial Triumph

Much information about our success on this front is censorable, which explains why our own appreciation of our accomplishments is so restricted.

Names, places and inventions cannot be fully given yet, but there will come a time, when this victory will be acknowledged as the greatest industrial triumph of all history, a testimonial to our way of life (which they said was outmoded) and to our ingenuity and patriotism (which they said were soft).

Labor deserves as much credit as industry, judging from the rather full evidence at hand. In a west coast plane plant, for instance, production jumped 25 per cent in the first week after Pearl Harbor, for no apparent reason. Investigation traced it solely to the workers working harder.

Psychology in war production is just as important as raw materials. Shortage of American energy would be an unbreakable bottleneck (as France found).

The only machine without which you cannot produce, even if you have all others, is the mechanism of human enthusiasm. There have been some strikes and some slowdowns. They were disgraceful.

But the country can have pride in the fact that since Pearl Harbor, labor, as a whole, has been putting pressure on management for speed-ups. Labor, as a whole, is doing the job. The evidence shows about eight per cent of our unanticipated arms production is due solely to cessation of labor stoppages and strikes in one form or another.

Testimony of Ingenuity

Testimonials to American mechanical ingenuity in this communiques front, continue to pile up upon those recently cited in this column:

A certain metallurgical engineer has discovered and put into successful operation a new spinner process for making shells, by which loading capacity at the plant could be increased 7,000 per cent (yes sir, 7,000 per cent).

A new process for making artillery gun barrels is in use which will enable us to make as many barrels in a month as England has produced since the war started. The process does away with casting.

And More Testimonials

Just like the wallpaper manufacturer are thousands of others, including: The zipper plant which makes gas masks; hosiery mills and a bed company which do likewise; a cash register company making shell parts and fuses; a stove company making life-saving boats in the midwest far from the sea and shipping them to the ocean.

It did not take a Hitler to do all this; it only required unity.

toil so that later we may do it with less blood.

Let's quit kidding ourselves about the war. It's deadly, like an adder. It's near to us.

It's time we quit writing the folks on the Mainland about what heroes we are in the "front line trenches of the Pacific." Cut the baloney and let's go to work.

Wartime Puts Many a New Law On City, State Statute Books

Wartime is adding many special laws to municipal statute books in addition to general blackout and air-raid protection ordinances giving broad powers to local chief executives. The new ordinances range from laws increasing tire-theft penalties to control of rents.

Many cities levied more stringent penalties for tire stealing—Birmingham, Ala., enacting an ordinance providing for both fine and imprisonment or hard labor; Columbus, O., extending punishment for tire theft to include removal of any parts of motor vehicles or starting or changing any device on them; Lakewood, O., including penalties for buying, receiving or possessing stolen auto parts.

Lansing, Mich., attempts to guard against tire theft by requiring second-hand dealers to thumbprint persons from whom they buy bicycles, micrometer tools, tires and accessories, while Little Rock, Ark., requires second-hand tire dealers to file monthly reports with the police departments showing serial number and manufacturer of tires they buy for resale.

Among cities establishing leave-of-absence benefits for employees in the armed forces are Evanston, Ill., Akron and Columbus, O.; Detroit and Flint, Mich.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Seattle, Olympia and Bellingham, Wash. Evanston is one of the few cities providing supplemental pay—up to three months after induction—for employees in service. Various benefit rights such as promotion, retirement, vacation and sick leave are protected in rulings of the other cities.

Another new type of ordinance relating to employees is the identification provision found in Houston, Tex., and in Chicago for Park District employees. The identification, to protect municipal properties from sabotage, consists of photograph, thumbprint and signature.

To facilitate blackout control, several cities, including Atlanta, Ga., and Jackson, Miss., enacted ordinances requiring owners of business establishments to place electric switches outside doors, so air raid wardens can extinguish lights. In the same direction, San Francisco modified requirements for the amount of illumination used as warning signals at street repair jobs. Protection from sabotage in blackouts is the objective of a new Seattle ordinance requiring registration with the chief of police of persons having authority to enter business establishments.

A few cities enacted rent control ordinances to curb profiteering as a result of local housing shortages. These cities include Baltimore and Washington, D. C., and Neosho, Mo. In general, the ordinances set rent ceilings as of specified dates, allowing landlords some leeway to charge for improvements.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

Gas Rationing May Help Theaters

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Gas rationing threatening to immobilize New Yorkers may react to the advantage of the Broadway theater. Or so showmen seem to believe. They are making plans for brisk summer patronage on the assumption that week-ending will be necessarily reduced by the lack of motor transport. An upsurge of business is expected in June, July and August—normally months of declining trade—by at least a dozen current attractions. Consequently, if your plans for the summer include an appearance in New York, you may want to clip these attractions, here listed, for possible consideration:

"Angel Street," the last of the thrillers, enlivened by the expert playing of a newcomer, Judith Evelyn.

"Arsenic and Old Lace," last season's comedy smash, still aiming to hang around until mid-season.

"Best Foot Forward," a musical peopled with youngsters, one of the first hits of the year.

"Blithe Spirit," Noel Coward's enormously successful comedy, winner of the Critics' Circle prize distinguished by four star performances by Clifton Webb, Peggy Wood, Leonora Corbett and Mildred Natwick.

"Junior Miss," the entertaining adaptation of Stella Benson's New Yorker stories.

"Keep 'Em Laughing," on of the vaudeville revivals, with The Hartmans, Hildegard and Gracie Fields.

"Let's Face It," the giant of the musical comedies. Danny Kaye, elevated to stardom in this hit, demonstrates very ably why.

"Life With Father," now three years old and steadily growing. Co-author Howard Lindsay and his wife, Dorothy Stickney, are the leading players.

"Porgy and Bess," the surprisingly profitable revival of George Gershwin's opera, which failed on its first attempt seven years ago. The same principals appear in their original roles.

"Priorities," the first of the bills that gave vaudeville its hope of resuscitation; offering Lou Holtz, Phil Baker, Willie Howard and Hazel Scott.

The producers, notoriously cautious at this time of year, are anxious to find new plays. Several are announced, while cagey investors are waiting to ascertain whether the venture is worthwhile. Most of the Broadway theaters are air cooled, which reduces the summer risk to a minimum.

Speaking of air-cooled theaters, one first line house lost a hit because it had neglected too long the installation of a cooling system. "Blithe Spirit," certain to remain well into next season, quit the Morocco to take up tenancy of the equipped Booth across the street. This ought to sting the Morocco management sharply, since it must start out all summer at its vanished prosperity.

Greer Garson In Newer Garb

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Miss Greer Garson, the lively redhead who proved there was a market for a screen lady, came off the set after a heavy emotional scene with Ronald Colman, greeted this dazed observer and retreated with him to her dressing room.

This d. o. ac., accustomed as he is to anything he sees on or off the movie sets, was practically out of the count. You could have knocked him over with an arc-light. Miss Greer Garson, she who was "Mrs. Chips" and the heroine of "Pride and Prejudice" and "Blossoms in the Dust" and a perfect ly-dy in every sense of the word, was in full view. Miss Greer Garson's—er—legs were more visible than Catalina on the clearest day—visible, shapely, and silken clad.

Miss Garson, who is a very sprightly young person for all of "Mrs. Chips," sank down on the divan in the portable miniature palace Metro provides for all its chosen ones. Miss Garson's—er—legs stretched out also.

"This is the picture," this o. d. observed with his usual keen gaucherie, trying to come out of it, "during which no one will comment on the color of your eyes and hair."

Miss Garson smiled. "Yes, it's in black-and-white," she said amiably. Then she said "Oh!" and picked up her script to hide her face while she blushed prettily.

And I think she felt very gay and hopefully naughty about her kiltie and her silks, because she is pretty sick and tired of playing

Hydraulics Conference Scheduled to Be Held on Campus June 1-4

Albert Einstein's Son Slated to Participate in Hawkeye Conclave

Registration for Meet Will Be Held Sunday in Iowa Union Lobby

The second hydraulics conference of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research will begin next Monday and continue through Thursday, June 4, it was announced yesterday by Prof. J. W. Bove of the college of engineering.

The conference is sponsored by the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, and will bring to the campus many well-known engineering authorities.

Some of the outstanding engineers in the nation will participate in the Hawkeye conclave. Among notables at the conference will be Theodore von Karman, director of the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratories, California Institute of Technology; Boris Bahkmeteff, Civil Engineering college, Columbia university; Joseph B. Tiffany of the United States Army, Experiment station; A. M. Kuethe and L. A. Baier of the University of Michigan.

Max M. Munk
Max M. Munk of Catholic university, H. E. Babbitt and David H. Caldwell of the University of Illinois, Morris Muskat of the Gulf Research and Development company, J. M. Mousson of the Russell Iron and Steel company, J. K. Venard, New York university; G. F. Wallace, Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation; Harold A. Thomas, Carnegie Institute of Technology; William J. Hopkins of the United States army engineers; Merrill Bernard of the United States Weather Bureau.

Martin A. Mason
Martin A. Mason of the Beach Erosion board, Harry Wexler of the United States Weather bureau, Arthur T. Ippen of Lehigh university, A. F. Spilhaus of New York university, C. G. Rossby, University of Chicago geologist; C. W. Thornthwaite of the Soil Conservation service, Robert T. Knapp of the California Institute of Technology.

L. G. Straub of the University of Minnesota, Thomas R. Camp of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, W. C. Krumboltz and Helmut Landberg of the University of Chicago and H. A. Einstein, son of Albert Einstein, of the Soil Conservation service.

During the three years since the Iowa institute held the first of its conference series, fundamental principles of mechanics have played a steadily increasing role in the various engineering fields dealing with fluid motion—a trend which has been accelerated by the demands of war. In keeping with such developments, the program of the conference next week will be devoted to fundamental principles of importance to phases of the engineering profession and government defense agencies. Papers will be presented by outstanding hydraulic engineers and representatives of related fields.

Registration for the conference will be held Sunday afternoon and evening in the lobby of Iowa Union. Dean and Mrs. F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering will hold open house for conference guests, their families and friends from 5:30 to 8:30 Sunday evening.

The conference will open with a breakfast for presiding officers and speakers Monday morning on the sun porch of Iowa Union. The first session will be held in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 9 o'clock with Dean Dawson presiding.

The first session will discuss the "Scope and Importance of Fluid Mechanics." Boris A. Bahkmeteff, professor of civil engineering at Columbia university and former Russian ambassador to the United States will sound the keynote of the conference when he speaks on "The Significance of Fluid Mechanics to the Hydraulic Engineer."

Theodore von Karman, director of the Daniel Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratories, California Institute of Technology, will talk to the group of "The Role of Fluid Mechanics in Modern Warfare."

The session Monday afternoon will cover "Modern Methods of Research." J. C. Stevens, consulting engineer for Stevens and Koon, will preside. "Principles of Towing Tank Research" will be discussed by Prof. L. A. Baier of the University of Michigan.

Prof. A. M. Kuethe, also of the University of Michigan, will talk on the "General Aspects of Wind Tunnel Investigation." Professor Kuethe is one of the outstanding men in aeronautics and has been designing for the navy.

Prof. E. W. Lane of the college of engineering will close the afternoon session with a lecture on the "Measurement of Sediment Transportation." Following Professor Lane's talk, conference delegates will attend an informal dinner in the river room of Iowa Union.

EXERTION DURING PHYSICAL TESTS

When Iowa's first cadet unit leaves for flight-training after three months of preliminary conditioning at this base, its members will have had ample opportunity to put themselves in tip-top physical form. And base officers will be able to tell how well they've done. Each man was tested yesterday on the field house chinning bar. When he leaves he will be tested again, to see how many additional nip-ups he can do after three months of stringent muscular activity. On the bars here, left to right, are Cadet Bill Hoban of Detroit and Cadet Dave Hoedley of Chicago.

Dodgers, Yankees Both Continue Winning Ways

Brooklyn Squelches Braves Again, 6 to 4

Higbe Notches Third Triumph of Season; Max West Homers

BOSTON (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers continued their mastery over the Boston Braves yesterday, chalking up their sixth success of the season at the expense of Casey Stengel's men with a 6 to 4 decision.

In running their victory string to four straight, however, the Dodgers had to put down a ninth inning rally as the Braves sought to break the jinx that has kept them from winning a single game from the league leaders this year.

Higbe Strong Till 'th

For seven innings, Higbe, bidding for his third triumph, held the Braves scoreless and allowed only three hits.

Showing signs of tiring, he walked two men in the eighth. After a force out had moved Frank Demaree to third, Tommy Holmes came through with a run producing single.

The Braves continued their attack in the final frame with Max West connecting for his second homer of the year to account for two of the three runs the bean town boys scored in that inning. Higbe finally squelched the rally, however, by fanning pinch hitter Ernie Lombardi.

Error Paves the Way

An error by Froilan Fernandez paved the way for the Dodgers' first run in the third inning although the first of Pee Wee Reese's three hits sent the tally across. A single by Dolph Camilli, Dixie Walker's double and Eddie Miller's fumble produced two more for the champs in the fourth.

Camilli and Walker again hit safely in the sixth, following which Joe Medwick poked a triple into right field. Rizzo boosted Medwick home with a long fly.

Browns Score Four In Big Eighth Inning To Whip Sox, 6 to 4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Chicago White Sox contributed three walks and the Browns slammed out two hits, one a rousing double by Rick Ferrell, in a big eighth inning, in which St. Louis scored the plate four times for a final 6 to 4 triumph last night.

Harland Clift started the Browns' half of the eighth with a sneaky infield roller which went for a hit. Fitcher Orval Grove then walked two of the next three men to fill the bases and took a walk himself. Pete Appleton replaced him on the mound.

But St. Louis was just warming up. Chet Laubs walked, forcing Clift. Vernon Stephens forced Laubs but George McQuinn scored, and then veteran Rick Ferrell doubled for two more runs.

Great Lakes Keeps Going INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—

The Great Lakes naval training station baseball team refused to let the Indianapolis Indians stand in the way of its fifteenth straight victory, and the Sailors pounded out a 15 to 1 triumph in a twilight exhibition game yesterday. The game, which went seven innings, preceded an American association tilt between Indianapolis and Kansas City.

Michigan Needs Both Ends of Doubleheader For Big 10 Pennant

CHICAGO (AP)—One victory to tie for the Big Ten baseball pennant, two to win it—that's the setup for Michigan as the Wolverines square off against Ohio State today in the season's most crucial series.

The two-game series will end tomorrow and will complete the Wolverine's season. The games are on Michigan's diamond.

By halving the two-game program, Michigan would wind up its campaign with 10 wins and two defeats and thus move into a tie with Iowa, which closed its season two weeks ago, for the pennant. A sweep of the series would give Michigan outright possession of the championship.

Still in the running for a share of the title is Wisconsin which has four games to go. Two of them will be at Minnesota today and Saturday. The Badgers, currently with six wins in eight starts, close their books with Ohio State June 5 and 6.

Rookie 'Fire' Trucks Hurls Tigers to 6-2 Victory Over Indians

DETROIT (AP)—For the first time this season rookie Virgil (Fire) Trucks fulfilled expectations yesterday by pitching the Detroit Tigers to a four-hit, 6 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first of two games which will decide the American league's second place. The Tigers now trail the Indians by a single game.

While it was his second major league victory, it was the first time Trucks, 23-year-old right-hander up from Buffalo of the International league, was around at the finish in four games. Roy Weatherly gathered two of the safeties, including his third homer in the fourth inning, and Les Fleming singled across the other run in the seventh.

Three Cleveland pitchers yielded nine hits, and lefty Al Milnar, touched for all the runs in the first six innings, was charged with his third defeat against two victories.

Quarterfinals Today in PGA Championship

BY GAYLE TALBOT ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—

Outside of one brief scare in the afternoon, when the veteran Joe Kirkwood made an amazing rally to tie the Byron Nelson at the 32nd hole, the P.G.A. championships ran their pre-destined, untruffled course through the second round of match play at the Seaview club yesterday.

The eight survivors who will square off in today's quarterfinals all were fairways big shots. The little fellows who came here hopefully all were cleaned out.

Today's line up will look familiar to the golf fan: Jimmy Demaret plays Craig Wood; Sammy Snead plays Ed Dudley; Byron Nelson meets Harry Cooper, and Ben Hogan will endeavor to send Corporal Jim Turnesa back to the army.

Included in the eight were the National Open champion, Wood; the Augusta Masters' king, Nelson; the holder of the Vardon trophy and leading money winner, Hogan; the man who once took eight strokes on the 72nd hole of an open championship, Sammy Snead, and the Argentine Open champion, Demaret.

Nelson, the tournament favorite, must have been the most startled man in New Jersey when Kirkwood, the 45-year-old trick shot star, caught him and looked him in the eye on the 32nd green. Nelson had been 4-up at lunch and appeared to have the match safely sealed away. And then he started frittering strokes away while Kirkwood settled down to par-shattering golf.

Nelson whips Kirkwood. At any rate, the jolt appeared to have done Nelson good. He gathered himself to shoot birdies both on the 33rd and 34th holes and to send Kirkwood tumbling eventually, 2 and 1.

Hogan continued to shoot superlative golf in crushing Ky Lafone yesterday by 9 and 8.

The tournament "dark horse", Leland Gibson of Kansas City, blew sky high in the afternoon to fall an unexpectedly easy victim to Wood, 7 and 6.

Snead, one of the navy's newest recruits, had no difficulty crashing Willie Goggin of White Plains, N.Y., 9 and 8.

Demaret was three under par for 34 but way most of the afternoon. Harmon of Montclair, N.J., 3 and 2 yesterday and he was clubhouse favorite to knock Wood out of the meet today.

The closest, most evenly fought match of the day was the one in which Cooper, the tournament medalist from Minneapolis, finally nosed out Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, on the 36th green, 1-up. They stood even at 18 after each had shot a stubborn 71, and they stayed that way most of the afternoon. Mangrum was 1-up through the 27th but Cooper squared it on the 28th, went in front by winning the 31st with a par and won out as they halved the last five holes.

Turnesa also was forced to go to the final green to subdue Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Philadelphia, 1-up.

Ed Dudley needed only to shoot even par for 34 holes to eliminate Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, 4 and 2.

N.Y.U., Penn State Favored in I.C. 4A Games at New York

NEW YORK (AP)—New York university and Penn State are favored to fight it out for the intercollegiate A. A. A. two-day track and field championship starting today, but chief interest will be in the performances of three senior athletes who have played important roles in the sport for the last three years.

The big three who are expected to dominate the 66th games at the Triborough stadium are Leslie MacMitchell of New York university, Norwood (Barney) Ewell of Penn State, and Al Blozis, Georgetown's giant weightman.

The Pacific entrance to the Panama Canal is 27 miles east of the Atlantic entrance.

Golfer Harry Cooper Perennial No. 2 Man in Golfing Matches

NEW YORK—He won't win the P.G.A. tournament after all. Medallists seldom do, particularly if they are golfers like Harry Cooper, who has been runner-up so often his name should be Harry Cooper, the second.

If Lighthorse Harry had run true to form he would have lost out on the final green in the final match when his opponent sank a chip shot for a birdie. That's his kind of luck.

He's a Money-Winner

If you consider the number of times he's come close to winning one of the major tournaments, and failed, you might describe his career as a saga of futility. The only drawback to that description is that few golfers have profited more financially over a long period of years, and someone once said the goal of a pro golfer is to make money. And, come to think of it, why limit it to pro golfers?

He's a slight, baldish little gentleman who practically teethed on a niblick. He was born in Leatherhead, England, although he'd probably get sore if you called him leatherhead. His dad was a pro before him, and started initiating his offspring into the mysteries of the game when Harry was six. Consequently the lad developed a style which today is rated almost flawless.

He's the most jittery guy you ever saw on a golf links, and we've seen him give a hot-foot leap when a camera clicked while he was putting. It's a mystery to us how he could win the medal at Atlantic City with the gnats as bad as our Mr. Gayle Talbot told you they were.

Our only theory is that they were just apprentice gnats, as the gnats we've seen out in the mid-west would have picked up the second nine holes and put them ahead of the first nine, instead of first forcing the tournament committee to play the two nines transposed. What we mean, they were mean, and we've seen night ball games practically gnatted out.

Cooper is an 'Almost'

Anyway, Cooper's string of "almosts" reads like the story of a man who never quite made it, although he had seconds to spare. He finished second in the 1927 open, losing in the playoff after tying Tommy Armour for first.

He finished second in the 1936 open, with Tony Manero coming out of nowhere after Lighthorse Harry appeared safely in with a record 284. He finished second in the 1936 Masters, tied for second in the same event in 1938. He was runner-up in the San Francisco match play tournament in 1935, and in that same year finished second in the Agua Caliente, Atlanta Metropolitan, Pasadena and Louisville opens.

By this time it may be seen that anybody who answered, "Just a second" when Harry asked them to hustle up was in danger of getting his ears slapped down, but to just quell any hurried impression that the little guy never won anything, it might be remarked that the won plenty of tournaments.

Wardon Trophy in 1937

Enough, in fact, to make him the leading money winner in 1937 with $14,138. That year he also won the first P.G.A. Vardon trophy with 500 points, and he had the best scoring average of the year.

Since 1923 when, at 19, he crashed into the money by winning the Texas P.G.A. championship, he's been up there at the payoff window consistently, and usually well up in front. You can't feel sorry for the fellows in those kind of chips.

He was runner-up in the San Francisco match play tournament in 1935, and in that same year finished second in the Agua Caliente, Atlanta Metropolitan, Pasadena and Louisville opens.

Yanks Take 2 Game Series From Athletics

Gordon's Ninth Inning Single Proves Clincher For 3 to 2 Triumph

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Gordon waited until the ninth inning to stretch his batting streak to 13 straight games yesterday and then he came through with the blow that gave the New York Yankees a 3 to 2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The single, hit with the bases loaded, and scoring Tommy Henrich broke up a pitching duel between veteran Jack Knott and rookie Hank Borowy and gave the world champions a sweep of the two-game series.

Both teams scored in the first inning with Buddy Hassett's single doing much to push the Yankees around the bases. An error by Borowy coupled with singles by Pete Suder and Dick Siebert gave the A's their first inning tally.

Three consecutive hits by Suder, Siebert and Wilson Miles in the fourth sent the Athletics in front but Borowy fixed that up in the fifth when his double over Miles' head scored Phil Rizzuto with the tying run.

Army Makes Ready For Jap Return Blow

Stimson Announces Nation Now Preparing To Fend Off Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said yesterday the army was making active preparations to fend off an "almost inevitable" Japanese return blow for last month's spectacular air raid on Tokyo and other Japanese war production centers.

Pacific coast cities are considered the most likely target of attack, the war secretary indicated, but added that a raid on the national capital was not inconceivable, despite the distance involved.

"Whatever happens, we shan't relax our most effective defense, the preparation of a major offensive," he promised.

Without revealing from what quarter the army expected an attack to be attempted, or what measures were being taken to meet it, Stimson told a press conference that "we are on the alert and are doing everything we can to prepare."

Stimson coupled the warning with announcement of new offensive preparations by the army, but left unanswered the direction of the major offensive he said was being prepared.

Brazilian Pilots Attack 3 Enemy Subs, Sink One

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazilian airmen have sunk at least one out of three U-boats attacked off their home coasts, the air ministry announced last night in its first communique of the war, and a few hours later an unconfirmed report from Recife said that a German submarine supply ship had been captured.

The seized ship was said to have been disguised as a Dutch vessel, and to have been carrying a large quantity of oil, torpedoes and other materials. Confirmation of this report was unobtainable here.

Brazilian airmen were operating under newly disclosed "shoot on violence, of the government of the United States."

At the same time, Biddle sketched the "pentative activities" of the communist party and named as "front organizations" the Workers Alliance, International Labor Defense, the All-American Anti-Imperialist League, the American Negro Labor Congress, and the American League Against War and Fascism.

The deportation order was a direct reversal of the unanimous finding of the four members of the board of immigration appeals who reviewed the case last fall. The board rejected completely the recommendation of Charles B. Sears, who presided at a 10-week hearing in San Francisco, and canceled the deportation proceeding.

This latter action was held in abeyance, however, pending a review by the attorney general.

Because of wide interest in the case—the Bridges matter has been pending since March 2, 1939—Biddle read all the 7,546 pages of testimony and the subsequent briefs before writing yesterday's opinion.

Bridges, now free under $3,000 bond, will be rearrested under a warrant telegraphed to San Francisco immediately after the deportation order was issued. Biddle explained at a press conference that bond could be arranged immediately, and Bridges then could attack the order with a habeas corpus proceeding in federal district court. He also may appeal to the federal circuit court of appeals and to the supreme court.

In a telegram to Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, Bridges said:

"I wish to assure you that despite the outrageous decision of Attorney General Biddle and numerous protests already pouring in from workers, I will do all possible to offset any effect it might have on the production program and labor management unity.

"I will urge all workers and unions I can influence to redouble efforts in speeding production to win the main fight, the fight against the axis."

half. He also was said to have informed Hitler that crop estimates indicated that a 30 per cent deficit must be expected in grains this year, as well as large deficits in other food crops.

Hitler was said to have flown into a rage upon hearing this gloomy forecast and was reported to have declared that food rations could not be cut further because of the effect on morale.

The winter must take care of itself, Hitler is said to have declared.

When Darre protested that he could not be responsible if such course were followed, Hitler sent him to prison along with party members who supported his view, according to the report reaching here.

Just where Von Brauchitsch fitted into the picture was not wholly clear. One report said Hitler tried to induce the former commander in chief to return to his old duties, but that Von Brauchitsch declined.

Sugar Comparatively New in British Homes
Before the war, sugar was still used as a condiment in England. Sugar castors, similar to salt shakers, were standard equipment on every English table. Until the reign of Henry VIII, sugar was used mainly by doctors, but during the Elizabethan period, it became a household article. Today, as never before, sugar is being used in England for quick energy and sustained vitality.

ENTY ARRIVES—
And the cadets pulled in, by car and bus and train, to take a look at Iowa, and to add sudden and intense meaning to Iowa's west campus pre-flight base . . .

Until yesterday, there had been something sadly amiss over there . . . There was plenty of work to be done, and the winter blue and summer tan of uniforms marked it for the thing it was . . . But it lacked a certain entity . . .

The entity arrived yesterday . . . It sneaked up on us unexpectedly in the persons of the more than 200 cadets who launched the good ship Iowa on the high seas of real training . . .

Everything was suddenly completely all right as those young men scrambled about in their new quarters, made beds and unpacked suitcases and boxes, donned new uniforms . . .

Their very presence had been the last bit necessary to make the west-campus full-grown and suddenly very important . . . As additional units arrive, it will only be more completely complete . . .

I rode up from St. Louis Wednesday night with ten cadets from that area . . . One thing almost all of them had in common, mothers had packed suitcases with many items Mother deems essential, but which the boys suspected would end up in the return mail . . .

One of them had been all set to embark on an Ozark fishing trip when his call to report May 28 at Iowa arrived . . . He'd never been to college, and he was happy when the navy began recruiting high school graduates for its V-5 program . . .

Chief topic of conversation on the Rocket that night was the forthcoming training period, regret that this first group would miss out on the fall football schedules of Iowa and the cadet teams, and a hope that when this three months is over, the next training will come at home-town Lambert Field . . .

In this first group are boys from almost half the states in the Union . . . They come from Iowa, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Michigan, North and South Dakota, Minnesota, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, West Virginia, Nebraska, Connecticut, Wisconsin, North Carolina and Colorado . . .

Their time will be pretty well taken up, but we'll doubtless see a lot of them . . . And may they all leave Iowa City with a new-found pride in the friendliness and sincerity of Iowa folks . . .

Candidates For Fall Elections To Be Chosen

Voters of Iowa will go to the polls Monday, June 1, to nominate candidates to run in the fall election Nov. 3. Nominees for state, county and township officers will be chosen at this election, called the June primaries.

Voters will be allowed to vote only the straight ticket, as the election serves the purpose of making nominations. Republicans will choose their candidates for the fall election and the democrats will likewise. Voters will go on record as to what party they voted in.

In the national scene, Iowa voters will not only nominate representatives for the house, but will pick candidates to run for the senate in the fall election.

This is the first time since Guy M. Gillette of Cherokee, a democrat, was elected in 1938 that Iowa has had a senatorial race. It is the seat now held by Clyde L. Herring of Des Moines, also a democrat, that is up for election.

Great attention will be focused on the nominations for representatives to run next Nov. 3 as a result of the redistricting brought about by the 1940 census. Instead of nine congressmen, Iowa will have eight representatives in the lower house.

Johnson county is in the first district which includes Lee, Van Buren, Des Moines, Henry, Jefferson, Washington, Louisa, Muscatine, Scott, Cedar and Iowa counties.

The outcome of nominations for state officers is especially significant this year, particularly in the gubernatorial race left wide open by the departure of George A. Wilson, present governor, into the senatorial campaign.

Voters Go to Polls in Primaries Monday

Besides the governorship, nominations will be made for lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, secretary of agriculture, attorney general, commerce commissioner, superintendent of public instruction and state representative.

Nominations also will be made for officials of Johnson county and for township officers.

County officers are auditor, treasurer, clerk of the district court, sheriff, recorder, county attorney, coroner and two members of the board of supervisors, one term beginning January 1943 and one January, 1944.

Township officers include two justices of the peace, two constables, county central committeeman, county central committeewoman and delegates to the county convention.

Bureau of Business Says War Production To Double Next Year

War production, now hitting an unprecedented high, will double within the next year, according to the university bureau of business research.

Consumer production, however, is expected to decline, and problems of transition to a war economy will increase, the bureau's monthly report said.

Compiling past records, the bureau reported that national industrial production in April was up 21 per cent as compared with 12 months earlier. In Iowa, building figures are following a downward trend, contrasted to increased activity in some fields.

"It has been authoritatively estimated that as a result of rapid American progress, the united nations are now producing more war material than the axis," the report declared. "By another year, unless Germany breaks through to new resources, as in Russia and farther east, our advantage in respect to war production should be in the ratio of three to five."

USO Official To Give Plans For Campaign

Raymond Harrington of Des Moines, state representative for the United Service organizations, will explain plans for the USO appeal to Johnson county residents at a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in the Community building, General Chairman Dwight Edwards announced yesterday.

Harrington will also outline the experiences of other cities in the USO appeal for funds.

National and state USO campaigns have been underway since May 11. A quota of $6,000 has been set for Johnson county and the appeal will be open Monday continuing through June 10. House to house solicitations have been planned.

"This is a direct appeal to people for money to be used for their own children," Edwards declared yesterday, explaining USO activity. He said that the nationwide appeal is being made to increase the recreational, social and entertainment facilities and comforts provided by the USO for United States soldiers, sailors and marines everywhere.

The Johnson county committee has already received donations from local organizations, Edwards announced. Many housewives and members of service men have volunteered to work in the residential sections of the city under Mrs. M. E. Taylor and Waldo Geiger, district chairmen. A committee to canvass farm areas of Johnson county has also been organized.

Conservation Week Program Announced By Emmett Gardner

Plans for observance in Johnson county of Iowa's fifth annual Soil Conservation week, June 1 to 6, were announced yesterday by Emmett C. Gardner, county agent.

Gardner will interview Kenneth Wagner, farmer in Lincoln township, Monday at 11:50 a.m. over station WSUI. Wagner will discuss contour farming.

Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation service, commenting on the celebration, said:

"It is high time that we began to show that we can produce the goods that are needed to win this war, not by forgetting conservation, but by means of conservation. The conception of soil conservation as hoarding, scrimping, saving up, or putting aside for a rainy day has no place in wartime. Conservation in that sense is a drag on our productive machinery. If we ever shall have to draw on the productive capacity we've been storing up, it must be done now. If we ever shall have to draw on the fertility of the fields, the wealth of our forests, the power of our streams and the bounty of our lands, we must do it now."

Golfers to Meet Today

Women's Golfers association will meet at 9 o'clock this morning at the Iowa City Country club. A luncheon will follow the game.

Farm Group Urges Land Cost Freezing

Representatives of National Farm Loan associations from 28 southeast Iowa counties yesterday endorsed a policy urging farmers to "freeze the costs of their land obligations while money costs are low."

Discussing methods of broadening and expediting the service of the co-operative associations, which at present are serving about 40 per cent of all Iowa farmers having land loans, Leo E. Manion, vice-president of the land bank, pointed out that there is no price ceiling on the cost of money.

Farmers with encumbered land can avoid the risk of possible high interest rates later by taking out long-term loans at the present low rates, Manion explained.

Thirty-two Americans have been vice-president, but only thirty-one have been President.

U.S. Torpedo-Boats Have Long History

Torpedo-boat-destroyers, the little "black boats" that have begun to assume the size, combativeness and function of light cruisers, have an interesting history in the United States navy.

Born during an emergency in naval history, they still steam, steer and shoot in such contingencies. It all started with the War of the American Revolution and the efforts of an American one-man submarine to torpedo a British man-of-war.

With the aid of an engineer named Whitehead, an Austrian naval officer built torpedoes powered by clock-work, and launched them from cradles at either side of a small steam cutter. Now, in World War II, we are still relying upon the improved version of that first torpedo-boat for harbor and coast defense.

Everybody thought the battleship was doomed. The struggle between the battleship and the torpedo and its carriers has affected all naval tactics and led the way to many developments.

When the torpedo boat was combined with the fast little torpedo-boat-destroyer, the battleship fleet began the mad race for numerical superiority. Then came the submarine.

Dauntless, the destroyer met the emergency with depth charges fitted into her slim stern and peppered at the submerged torpedo-carriers until they cracked a d and sank, the tell-tale circle of oil rising to the surface.

Still particularly good at the hit-and-run maneuver, the destroyers can combat torpedoes from above or below. Speed and maneuverability make them truly "all-or-nothing" instruments of war in Uncle Sam's navy.
