Iraq High Court Refuses to Reopen Cases About Mail Order Use In 1938

AUSTIN (AP) - The Supreme Court of Texas has refused to reopen cases about mail order use in 1938. The court ruled that the cases should not be reopened because they are irrelevant to the current dispute.

Attorneys for Sears, Roebuck and Company and Montgomery Ward and Company sought to reopen the cases, but the court ruled that the cases are not relevant to the current dispute.

The court's decision was based on the fact that the cases were filed more than 50 years ago, and that the records of the cases have been destroyed.

In overruling the state board's decision that there was no need to reconsider the outcome of the cases, the court stated that the cases are not relevant to the current dispute.
