WORLD IMPATIENT FOR F.R.'S TALK

Reds Counter-Attack; Check 3 Nazi Drives

Newswriters Claim Germans Fleeing Yelnya

Leningrad Suffers Incessant Bombing, Heavy Artillery Fire

MOSCOW, Thursday (AP)—Mighty red counter blows have crumpled three German drives on the vital central front and Soviet defenders are standing firm on the approaches to Leningrad, Kiev and Odessa, Russian front dispatches said early today.

These savage counter attacks aimed to relieve pressure on those besieged cities were not detailed in the early morning communique, but war correspondents said Nazi troops, defeated in the 26-day battle of Yelnya with a loss of from 75,000 to 80,000 men, were in headlong flight westward toward Smolensk, 40 miles away. The morning communique told only of continuing fierce fighting along the entire front and of repeated German air attacks on Leningrad, the big Baltic city.

Some German bombers broke through Leningrad's defenses Tuesday and dropped explosives and incendiaries but 31 planes were shot down, the communique said. On Monday 59 German planes compared to 27 Russian planes were shot down, it was added.

In the Gomel area, midway between Kiev and Smolensk, the 29th German infantry division was said to have been routed, leaving thousands of dead on the battlefield. The third prong of the counter assault was said to have driven the Germans back across the river "N" after a five day tank battle.

The battle of Yelnya was fought along a 38-mile front, the Russians said. The Germans concentrated their heaviest artillery fire of the war along both sides of a bottleneck through which the German troops retreated from Yelnya, the dispatches reported.

Reds Close Gap
The red army, however, was said to have closed the gap, catching many Germans in a trap. It was believed these were a part of the eight divisions which the Russians said Monday had been routed.

At Leningrad, workers in defense factories sent a delegation to the front and received assurances from political commissars that "fascist scoundrels will never enter our glorious city."

At Kiev, the Ukraine capital, dispatches reported, schools all remained opened, theaters were crowded, and 60 per cent of the Kiev province wheat crop was stored. Sowing of winter wheat was said to have been started.

The siege of Odessa went into its second month with sailors of the Black sea fleet reporting continued counterattacks against the Rumanians.

State of Seige Declared In Oslo, Norway

OSLO, German-Occupied Norway (AP)—Steel-helmeted police patrolled the streets of Oslo last night as a state of civil siege decreed by Joseph Terboven, the German commissioner for Norway, was imposed on this occupied capital and its environs.

Stubborn! Lindbergh Won't Pose For Photographers

Charles A. Lindbergh may be a great flyer and a "leading non-interventionist" but he is also a stubborn man. Last night Lindbergh was in Iowa City for about five minutes when he was on his way to Des Moines to speak at an America First rally. When the west-bound United Airlines mainliner stopped at the local airport at 8:50 last night, Lindbergh was seated with his back plainly visible to the crowd of photographers and newsmen waiting to shoot his picture. Despite requests of both the newsmen and airline officials, Lindbergh refused to show himself to the crowd—and incidentally didn't win any friends.

1,500 Attend Airport Dance

A crowd estimated at 1,500 persons danced to the free music of Doc Dawson and his orchestra last night at the new concrete runway at the municipal airport was officially dedicated in connection with the opening of Iowa City's fall shopping season.

Following the open-air style show and drum and bugle corps performance viewed by some 700 persons gathered around the wooden platform built on the Washington-Clinton intersection, a steady stream of traffic poured out of town to the airport.

Already during the day, crowds of about 400 persons had gathered at the airport to view the two air shows at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Dave Baker and Al Nelson, advance flight instructors at the airport, ran through the book of trick flying as they demonstrated loops, spins, Immelman turns, Cuban 8's, Chinese 8's, slow rolls, split 8's, falling leaves, snap rolls and inverted flying.

Another attraction at the airport during the morning was the display of a Canadian lightweight bomber built by the Cessna Aircraft company, Wichita, Kan.

Nazis Report Heavy Strafing Of Leningrad

Intensified Luftwaffe Attacks Break Down Field Fortifications

BERLIN (AP)—German military reports said yesterday that a number of Soviet field fortifications blocking the German advance on Leningrad had been destroyed in terrific dive-bombing raids. The raids also were said to have silenced a number of Soviet anti-aircraft and artillery positions about Leningrad.

Leningrad's water works received several direct bomb hits and large fires resulted, the dispatches said.

Meet 'Red Hot' Defense

The reports of intensified Luftwaffe activity came as Germans described Leningrad as "still shooting from all barrels" in a red-hot defense. There were intimations that to avoid a costly storming operation the Nazi high command might try to starve, shell and bomb the city to surrender.

Authorized sources acknowledged that Leningrad still had access to Lake Ladoga, but declared that the value of this route was diminishing rapidly and that all land approaches were cut off, with German forces within 15 miles of the city at the nearest point.

'Unpredictable Elements'
The effects of hunger and internal confusion as aids in breaking the Russian resistance were described as unpredictable elements, and Germans in responsible positions shunned speculation on the possible duration of the Leningrad siege.

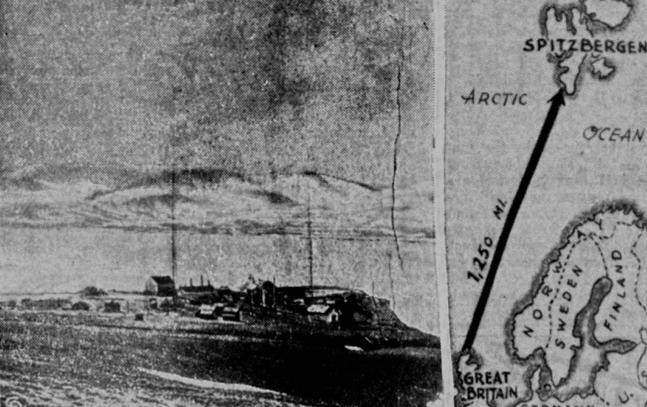

Dienst Aus Deutschland, an authoritative commentary, asserted that there would be no unnecessary sacrifices of lives to gain a swift triumph. It reiterated previous German declarations that the Nazis were not interested in "prestige successes."

Abandon Search For Lost Plane

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Because of bad weather, all aerial and land parties were recalled yesterday from the search for a missing twin-motored army bomber and its crew of six.

Seven army planes returned to McChord field air base just in time to miss a terrific thunderstorm. Land parties also returned from the Cascade mountain area east of Seattle.

British Raid in Spitzbergen Blocks Foe's Coal Aims

Canadian, British and Norwegian troops have made a spectacular round-trip expedition from England to Spitzbergen, Norway's Arctic archipelago, where, it was understood, they smashed valuable coal mines coveted by Germany. The raid, announced by London,

U. S. Emissary Discusses Peace Aims With Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal emissary, began an important exchange of views between the president and the Vatican yesterday in two long private audiences with Pope Pius XII and Luigi Cardinal Maglione, papal secretary of state. There were indications that war and peace aims figured largely in the talks. The president's envoy was understood in usually informed circles to have told the pope that insofar as Soviet Russia was concerned, Mr. Roosevelt was more interested in the welfare of the world's peoples than in the form of government as such.

Iranians Turn Germans Over To English

TEHERAN, Iran (AP)—German residents of Iran (Persia) named in the British and Russian blacklists as leading Nazi agents will be handed over to the allies by this country for immediate internment, a mixed commission decided yesterday.

The British legation arranged for a special train to transport 225 Germans to Ahwaz en route to India on Thursday night. The Russian embassy is sending 50 Germans to Kazvin, where they will be examined by the Soviet military commandant and then sent on to Siberia.

To Work Out Civil, Military Requirements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supply priorities and allocations board instructed its executive director, Donald M. Nelson last night to work out a complete schedule of the nation's military and civilian requirements in an effort to solve the problems of shortages of materials and of expansion of production facilities. The board announced the action, which it termed a detailed planning of the defense program, after bringing to a full stop the expansion of civilian industries which would require large quantities of defense materials.

Finance 3 New Plants

Simultaneously, the government moved to obtain vast new supplies of aluminum and magnesium for the defense effort by financing the construction of three new plants.

The board ordered Nelson to plan the program on a basis of accurate coordinated knowledge of military and civilian requirements and as far in advance as possible. The schedule which Nelson will compile will include procurement needs of the army, navy and the air force, and include also such goods as are to go to Great Britain and other lend-lease countries.

Both the military production schedules and the statements of civilian requirements are to be broken down into schedules of the raw materials, labor and machinery needed for their production.

Reason for Survey

"In calling for this long-range, all inclusive survey of the nation's total needs under the defense program," the announcement said, "SPAB followed the view that there must be one authority to develop the official requirement figures on both levels, holding that there would be confusion otherwise, because the several parts of the requirement picture must be developed by separate agencies."

All Major Radio Lines to Carry F.R.'s Broadcast

NEW YORK (AP)—The full complement of network stations, together with all available short wave units, will make President Roosevelt's broadcast from the White House Thursday night another world-wide transmission. He is scheduled to speak at 8 o'clock CST via NBC, CBS and MBS. In addition to direct short wave transmission, there will be translations in various languages.

At 11:05 NBC-Blue will broadcast reaction and comment, including pickups from London and Buenos Aires, with a similar program listed for CBS at 9:30. Broadcast of the Des Moines speech of Charles A. Lindbergh, which MBS previously had scheduled for 8, has been changed to 9:30 CST.

President Confers With Hull, Secretaries of War, Navy; Doubles Length of Address

Observers Anticipate Announcement of Steps Taken to Safeguard American Interests at Sea

By RICHARD L. TURNER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Word that the S. S. Sessa was torpedoed and shelled without warning at night and sank in two minutes was issued yesterday by the state department while President Roosevelt nearly doubled the length of the important address he has scheduled for Thursday night. Washington, the country and the capitals of the world looked forward expectantly and impatiently to the address as an expression of American reaction at a grim moment, with relations between the United States and the axis nations strained as they seldom have been before.

Argentina May Expel German Ambassador

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Expulsion of German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann was recommended yesterday by Argentina's congressional "Dias committee" on the grounds that he had "overstepped his functions and abused his privileges."

When the presentation of the committee investigating anti-Argentine activities was placed before the house of deputies a leading member of congress predicted privately that the house would vote today for von Thermann's ouster. The committee reported it had documentary proof that von Thermann was directing Nazi political organizations in violation of Argentine law.

The investigators earlier had decided to summon Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's world war commander and former consul-general at San Francisco, on his arrival in Buenos Aires on an unexplained mission. Meanwhile, Wiedemann announced in Rio de Janeiro that he would remain there two or three weeks awaiting the arrival of his wife from Europe by boat.

In Santiago, Chile, it was reported no arrangements had been made for Wiedemann's arrival by way of Argentina to take a ship for the far east on a reported mission for Germany. Wiedemann was expelled from the United States along with other axis consular officials and their aides. All returned to Europe on the U. S. naval transport West Point.

The Bolivian foreign office indicated it would refuse to grant Wiedemann a visa if he tried to change his original route and cross South America via Bolivia. Bolivia ejected the German minister to La Paz, Ernst Wendler, on July 17 on charges that he had conspired to overthrow the Bolivian government.

Expect Strong Statement
Most observers looked for a strong statement from the chief executive and an announcement of actual steps taken to safeguard American ships and lives upon the seas—possibly including orders to the Atlantic naval patrol to sink on sight any axis war vessels found in the area between Iceland and the United States.

Enroute to Washington after attending the funeral of his mother at Hyde Park, N. Y., Mr. Roosevelt announced that his speech, originally scheduled for fifteen minutes, had been increased to 25. The news of both the Sessa and the Steel Seafarer had been received since the original plan was made.

Speech Already Written
The president had finished writing the speech before he left his home at Hyde Park, but it was, of course, still open to revision. Judge Samuel I. Roseman of the New York court said (See ROOSEVELT, page 3)

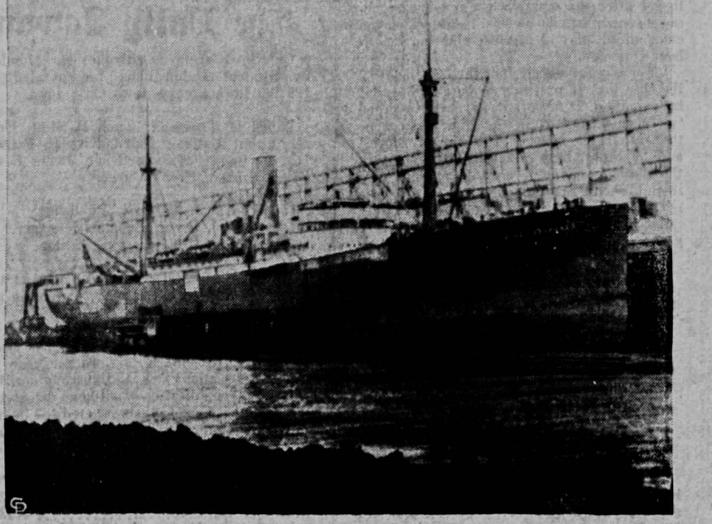

Alienists Find Colette 'Sane'

VERSAILLES, Occupied France (AP)—Paul Colette, who shot former Premier Pierre Laval and former Air Minister Marcel Deat because they are leading collaborators with Germany, was found sane yesterday by a court of alienists. "Paul Colette," they held, "shows no mental anomalies and must be considered fully responsible."

Army to Use Aerial Freighters

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Big Aerial freighters soon will be racing vital defense supplies to America's outposts in Alaska, on a regular schedule over a 2,000-mile route.

U. S. Freighter Sunk by Plane in the Red Sea

This is the American freighter Steel Seafarer, which was sunk by an unidentified airplane in the Red sea. All hands aboard, believed to number about 20, were reported saved. American ships have been carrying supplies to the British in the Middle East through the Red sea.

Fiery End of a Vichy Plane in Far-Off Syria

An Australian machine gunner had fired incendiary bullets into it. Damaged planes taken over by British and Free French forces when they occupied Syria are towed to this "burial ground" and destroyed.

Investigation of the Movies Gets All-Round Condemnation

The attempt of a sub-committee of the United States senate to discover war-mongering propaganda in the current productions of Hollywood has aroused the righteousness indignation of a good many million people.

There can't be much question about it. In this business of the determination of the foreign policy of a nation, there is no inherent righteousness on any side. There would be if future events could be known, if we might predict with certainty what Germany might do after the war, what Britain might do, what we might do.

The millions who disagree with Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler nevertheless are firm in their belief that Lindbergh and Wheeler have a right to argue their case. They believe in it, we presume, and they honestly place America First in accordance with their own interpretations of events past and present.

Many Hollywood productions of recent date have been powerful denunciations of nazi tyranny. Such movies as "Escape," "So Ends Our Night," "Four Sons," "The Mortal Storm" have painted nazism in unforgettable revolting terms.

But the rank and file of us have had ample opportunity to view that same tyranny in a less direct way. A broken promise is a broken promise, and Hitler has broken every one of major importance to the lives of great nations he has ever made.

To the million's, Hollywood's productions are more than accurate portrayals of a government. If they be "propaganda" they are but of a different kind than the propaganda of Senator Wheeler and Mr. Lindbergh. And propaganda is good or bad depending upon what you believe.

So it seems that this senate investigation of war-mongering is a travesty upon a right in which we most heartily believe. This is a symbol of the extent to which sane men can lose their sensibilities under fire.

We hope the investigation is turned upon the investigators. That Hollywood's representatives can convincingly and completely make of their investigators laughing stocks. It certainly seems that they could easily do so.

One of the stiffest rebukes to the senate sub-committee we have seen comes from the pen of Samuel Grafton of the New York Post.

"I should like to see this become a rough-house," says he. "Every consideration of morality and ethics requires that the witness be impudent enough to turn this into an investigation of the investigators."

"This is a stacked probe. It smells to heaven. Four out of five members of this senate sub-committee are isolationists. Wheeler and Nye have slipped togas on over their America First buttons to start this 'inquiry'; the propagandists are now hunting down propaganda. The witnesses recognize these facts, and are under a moral duty to be contemptuous, and even fractious."

"I trust that Hollywood will not follow its immemorial custom of crawling on its belly. It is being summoned to Washington to answer the dreadful charge of harboring anti-Hitler sentiments, during a fifty-billion-dollar anti-Hitler defense program. There will be a national revulsion of disgust if the industry attempts to prove plausibly that it is not so very anti-Hitler after all."

"Hollywood must say, in a clear, strong voice: 'Yes, we are anti-Hitler. And where do you stand, Mr. Senator? Are you pro-Hitler, by chance?' The question must be asked. It is time to create a Legion of Decency to get after the senate when it puts on obscene spectacles such as this, beside which the cinematic display of Marlene Dietrich's shinbone is as nothing."

"For this is obscene. It is the enactment of the 'big lie.' It pretends to be an impartial investigation. It is not. It purports to probe 'war-mongering,' as in the film versions of the anti-Hitler novels, 'The Mortal Storm' and 'Escape.' Does the committee summon the Saturday Evening Post to explain why it published 'Escape' as a serial? It does not. The Saturday Evening Post is safely isolationist. This committee is out for other game."

"The Mortal Storm" was published by Little, Brown & Co. Has the committee called Little, Brown to explain why it printed an anti-Hitler novel? It does not dare. As against Hollywood, one may dare anything, in part because of Hollywood's history of retreating under fire, and in part because Hollywood has been softened up by the racial attacks of Father Charles E. Coughlin and his school of pro-fascist isolationism."

"Now we can see the picture in all its beauty. A group of senators, several of whom are prominently identified, through America First, with a deliberate propaganda apparatus for moulding American opinion, is investigating Hollywood on the charge that Hollywood is attempting to mold American opinion. The plotters smell a plot. "The charge on which they are proceeding comes out of the editorials of Father Coughlin's 'Social Justice.' The committee hearings will be a kind of living theater enactment of the columns of his paper. They will be palmed off on the public as an investigation of war-mongering; actually they will be one of the ugly boils in American life coming majestically to a head."

"Somewhere a mournful bell tolls a warning. Not all the big lies are spoken. Some are merely acted out, smoothly and smugly. This is one. The mendacious quality of this proceeding, the deliberate selection of an easy victim, the quick covering-up of America First insignnia, all, all this has the distorted quality of what passes for truth in soprano speeches of the fuhrer at the Kroll Opera house. Who will deny that the man who burnt the books dates on this investigation of the American movies? He bans them in Germany, while Wheeler would hobble them in America; a community of interest which I leave it to the committee to explain away."

"The big lie must be crushed by the contemptuous sneer, and by the embarrassing question, squarely, and bravely put. Have there been untruths in these anti-nazi pictures, senators? Would you rather they had not been made? Would you probe an anti-English film? The people of Hollywood must be men and not mice. They must stand up in simply human dignity and say 'Yes!' to the charge of anti-nazism, adding: 'We're proud of it, and how are you?'"

Ballroom Dancers Wend Ways Into Popular Entertainment

NEW YORK—Dancers of the concert stage do not take ballroom dancers very seriously, although they admire the salaries the better ballroom dancers earn. As one well known interpretative dancer said to me the other day: "What are the ballroom dancers anyway? The girl wears a beautiful gown, and the man lifts her. They haven't contributed a thing since the Castles began the fad 25 years ago."

I would not go so far as to say that, but the trend in dancing in the more exclusive night clubs, particularly the Rainbow Room, during the last 20 months has been toward a more classical, interpretative vein.

The first of these I noticed—at this same rendezvous—was Jack Cole and his East Indian classic done to a jazz tempo. Cole had studied under Ted Shawn and Ruth St. Denis, and when he brought his Oriental style of presentation to Mr. Rockefeller's roof, he was well received.

Since then, though not necessarily in this order, I have seen Fernandez and the beautiful Monna Montes of the Met, Chandra Kaly and his dancers, similar in a sense to the Cole dancers; and Agnes de Mille and Hugh Laing, noted for their comedy and choreographic inventiveness.

This trend seems a rational and a logical move. It is too bad that Miss Montes, who refuses to leave the Met, must therefore sacrifice a great deal of pleasure and also a lot of money in being unable to follow a career that can take her into such places as the Rainbow Room at a cute salary. She likes night clubs, but she loves the Met more. I remember this young woman when she first started out; I believe that I even saw her first appearance in New York. It was in the Village at Ben Collada's El Chico. Her rare beauty and grace won her prompt acclaim, and the next season she was at the Metropolitan.

Now her former partner, Fernandez, has a new partner, Juanita Deering, whom I have not seen but who is said to be very good.

I think it is a good thing that a more interpretative form of dance is coming into night clubs because—well, why should someone like Monna Montes be seen only on Sunday evening at the Met? Why shouldn't she be seen every night by changing audiences, and why shouldn't she reap the proper remuneration?

Inner Confusion In Kearny Affair

WASHINGTON—The government has worked itself into such complete confusion over the Kearny shipyard settlement that someone will probably have to call Mr. Roosevelt in again to straighten it out.

Root of the trouble is the union president John Green though he was going to get a prize new union privilege—"the maintenance of union contract"—out of the government if it seized the plant.

Congress took the destroyer situation without indicating unusual alarm. Beyond his published quotes, senate foreign relations chairman Tom Connally, for a typical instance, expressed the opinion only that a series of repeated attacks would inspire an open declaration.

PARK BENCH OFFICE—Since the picture of Bernard Baruch holding council with friends like Leon Henderson in La Fayette park was published in magazines, the post office has been receiving letters addressed to him in care of "the bench in the park."

NAVY WOULD KEEP PLANT—Just to make the matter about as bad as possible, the navy department now wants to keep the plant permanently. The U. S. Steel company publicly announced it was willing to sell. Navy Secretary Knox has been working in that direction, in conference with the company officials.

But as the navy is now operating the plant, the union has no contract whatever. If the navy takes it over permanently, the union suspects it will have lost its prestige and will lose its members also.

PROGRESS IN A BACKWARDLY DIRECTION—Mr. Hillman has been working on a solution which would sidetrack the argument deftly but weakly and not without embarrassment. If he and the union could get the government to purchase the plant through the usual RFC loan subterfuge, the curse of direct government management could be avoided and the union could get what it wants. RFC would merely put up the money and have the plant managed privately, as has been done in some

Washington Tells A Story or Two

WASHINGTON—It's been a year since Washington was in a mood to tell stories. The town has been too serious to award more than a bored smile to the out-of-towners who arrived with the "latest one."

BUG-HOUSE FABLE

Two men were sitting across a desk hard at work when suddenly in walked a tiny little man. He walked straight up the left wall, trotted across the ceiling, down the right wall, and then out the door without a word.

In ten minutes the door swung open again. In came the same little man. He hurried up the left wall, across the ceiling and then down the right wall and out the door.

"Say, what's going on here?" asked one of the men at work. "I don't know," said the second, "but he's crazy."

POME

There's a new version of an old poem which is done with gestures, first dreamy and then irritated. It goes this way:

"I shot an arrow into the air, It fell to earth I know not where, I lost ten of the cock-eyed things that way."

CAN'T GET USED TO IT

The Easterner, having his first look around a silver fox ranch, walked down rows and rows of pens, each with a sleek fox in it. He kept murmuring, "Marvelous, marvelous."

"Suddenly he stopped and asked brightly, 'How often do you skin them?'"

LUCK OF THE BRITISH

There's quite a batch of Hitler stories. One tells about him coming out of brown fog to ask for Moses. It was quite an order but his aides finally got him through.

Hitler came right to the point. "Moses, how did you divide the Red sea that time?"

Moses hemmed a bit, said it was a long time ago. But then he remembered. "Oh, I had a rod and I waved it."

"Well, where's the rod now?" "Now?" echoed Moses. "It's in the British museum."

Then let me tell one that really happened, and to me. I had two tickets for the premiere of "Sergeant York."

By 6 o'clock I realized I couldn't make the very gala opening. But I wanted the tickets used, so I called friends in the

YOUR FOREIGN POLICY: HOW, WHAT AND WHY?

By Robert Aura Smith (Viking; $2.75).

HOW many times have you heard the smart paradox that "The foreign policy of the United States consists in not having foreign policy?"

You probably have heard it a great many times, and although it sounds clever, Robert Aura Smith hopes that next time it bobs up in conversation, you will say flatly, "that is not true."

Actually, Mr. Smith proceeds, our foreign policy is a "characteristic national mode of behavior." It is a way of getting on with our neighbors, and a way of doing business. We do behave, we do go on with our neighbors, and we do conduct business. Therefore we must have a foreign policy.

And the policy, Mr. Smith shows, is not only definite and workable—it also has been for the most part good. We are often called upon to blush at our relations with China, the famous Panama Canal deal, certain other matters. We have not always been right, of course, yet Mr. Smith produces a great amount of evidence to prove that we have been right more often than not—that our average of international probity is actually high average, and that we do not need to blush, but may actually be proud of the way we have lived with our neighbors in the world.

Critics of the democratic formula have very often maintained that our policy has been neither continuous, nor consistent. Aside from the fact that most of these critics change policies themselves at the whim of a dictator, or upon the fall of a ministry (either accomplished in a tenth the time that an American reversal would need), survey shows, Mr. Smith indicates, that we have been rather more consistent and rather less whimsical than our critics.

Wherefore the value of Mr. Smith's "Your Foreign Policy" contains a brief consideration of the most important facets of our policy. More important, it contains a careful, highly readable explanation of the mechanics by which our foreign policy works. It is the famous man in the street, and he should like it.

same apartment. They couldn't use them. So I thought of cheery Alberta Peterson on the apartment switchboard.

I called her and explained. She sounded very pleased. "I'd love to go. You see, Sergeant York is my uncle."

U.S. Marine Corps Division Over Top In Des Moines Area

Col. R. M. Montague, officer in charge of the U.S. Marine Corps central recruiting division announces that during August the rush of young men to the corps resulted in a greater number of enlistments than were required for this division.

Colonel Montague attributes this increase to several causes. Recently the marine corps began accepting for enlistment qualified young men of 17 years of age and has also made it possible to enlist for duration of the emergency in the marine corps to serve. Surprising as it may seem, reports Colonel Montague, the majority of men enlisted preferred the four-year term of enlistment.

The educational qualifications of men enlisted during August are of exceptional interest. Of the number of men entering the Marine Corps during this period 14 per cent were college graduates, 7.8 per cent had college training but did not graduate, 40.8 per cent had one or more years of high school, 33.8 per cent were high school graduates, and 11 per cent completed elementary school.

Capt. L. J. Demmire, officer in charge of the recruiting district of Des Moines, gives part credit for the increase in his district to the present day desire of young men to receive specialized training while serving their country. He points out that the marine corps has a wide variety of specialized training schools. These schools train specialists for maintenance of the increasing quantities of new mechanized equipment being received by the corps. In addition, a marine may enroll in any one of 126 correspondence courses available free through the marine corps institute, an affiliation of the International Correspondence schools.

According to Captain Demmire, the tremendous response of young men in the Des Moines district greatly contributed to the success of the division.

course, yet Mr. Smith produces a great amount of evidence to prove that we have been right more often than not—that our average of international probity is actually high average, and that we do not need to blush, but may actually be proud of the way we have lived with our neighbors in the world.

Critics of the democratic formula have very often maintained that our policy has been neither continuous, nor consistent. Aside from the fact that most of these critics change policies themselves at the whim of a dictator, or upon the fall of a ministry (either accomplished in a tenth the time that an American reversal would need), survey shows, Mr. Smith indicates, that we have been rather more consistent and rather less whimsical than our critics.

Wherefore the value of Mr. Smith's "Your Foreign Policy" contains a brief consideration of the most important facets of our policy. More important, it contains a careful, highly readable explanation of the mechanics by which our foreign policy works. It is the famous man in the street, and he should like it.

'Giant Killer' Cubs Cuff Brooks Twice

Lead Reduced To One Game Over Cardinals

Bruins Use Steady Pitching, Unexpected Power for Victories

By EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO (AP)—Playing the role of "giant killers" for the second time within a week, the sixth place Chicago Cubs rammed a big dent in Brooklyn's National league pennant hopes yesterday by sweeping a double-header from the Dodgers as the second place St. Louis Cardinals were taking two games from Philadelphia.

The Cubs, who just last Thursday knocked the Cardinals into second place, whipped the Dodgers, 5 to 4, in the opener and then took the nightcap, 5 to 3. The defeats cut Brooklyn's lead over the Cardinals from three games to one on the eve of the big three-game series between the two rivals on the Cardinals' home grounds.

Cubs Reverse Form
The usually docile Cubs combined unexpected power with steady hurling for yesterday's wins. Trailing, 3 to 0, after seven innings, the Chicagoans scored five runs in the eighth and ninth innings to capture the first game, then rolled along to the nightcap victory behind Paul Erickson's six-hit pitching, which was aided measurably by Bill Nicholson's two-run homer in the seventh.

Not only did the two defeats toss Brooklyn back into a dog-fight battle with the Cardinals, but they also saw Brooklyn's pitching suffer a rough afternoon. In the first game the two Dodger mound ace, Kirby Higbe and Whit Wyatt, both were shelled from the hill. Two more Dodger hurlers were used in the second game.

Durocher Keeps Plan
Nevertheless, Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn stuck to his original pitching plan, stating he would lead off today with veteran Fred Fitzsimmons and follow with Curt Davis and Wyatt.

With the Dodgers leading, 3 to 0, in the opener and apparently headed for an easy triumph, the Cubs exploded the first of their dynamite in the eighth inning, then came back in the ninth with a vengeance. Sturgeon opened with a single. Pinch-hitting Bob Scheffing flied out but Stan Hack singled, Sturgeon holding second. Lou Stringer doubled, scoring Sturgeon and Hack to tie up the game.

Wyatt Shelled Out
That meant curtains for Wyatt who was replaced by that old Cub southpaw Larry French, who wild-pitched Stringer to third base. Cavarretta popped weakly, but Nicholson shot a ground single into right scoring Stringer with the game winning run.

Erickson, who beat the Cardinals in last week's Cub uprising, gave the Dodgers only one hit and no runs through the first six innings of the nightcap. The Cubs meanwhile, scored a run in the fifth off Luke Hamlin, got two in the sixth and added two more in the seventh, when with two out and Cavarretta on first, Nicholson blasted his 25th homer.

Hawkeye Tackles Charge for Coach Jim Harris

These six prospective Iowa tackles typified the spirit of the first fall workout of the 1941 season, which took place yesterday, as 57 grid candidates pranced and panted for Hawk coaches and photographers in two workouts. This line of huskies, averaging over 200 pounds, includes Joe Byrd, experienced junior tackle (extreme left), Bob Beck, Iowa City junior (second from left), Alvin Schmoltd, fine sophomore prospect (middle), Jim Walker, winner of two major letters (third from right), and Al Urban, junior who won a minor letter last fall (extreme right).

Red Sox Defeat Tigers, 11 to 2

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox closed their 1941 series with Detroit yesterday by taking the Tigers, 11 to 2, thus splitting even in the season's 22 games.

The Sox scored enough runs in the four-run first off Bobo Newson to settle the issue.

Both Detroit runs—the only Tiger tallies of the two-game series—came in the second inning off starting pitcher Charley Wagner.

Why Chisox Don't Get More Homers

CHICAGO (AP)—A home run took a $10,000 bounce into the superior court yesterday.

Harry Sachs sued the owners of the Chicago White Sox club for that amount. He averred that in dodging a four-base ball in the right field stand at Comiskey park last April 29, he fell over a seat and suffered permanent eye injuries.

East's Golfers Predominate In Women's Meet

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Eastern standard-bearers made a determined bid to gain the women's national amateur golfing crown for the first time since 1935 when, after two rounds of match play today at the Country club, they nailed down half of the eight quarter-final berths.

But the fortunes of the draw and the high calibre of the other survivors, including Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., the 1937 winner, loomed as terrific obstacles.

Three in Upper
Three of the four eastern victors were bunched in the upper bracket—Mrs. Reinert M. Torgerson, of Great Neck, N. Y.; Helen Sigel of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Sylvia Annenberg Leichter, the metropolitan champion—along with Texas' last remaining hopeful, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, of Ft. Worth.

The fourth easterner, Janet Younker, of White Plains, N. Y., who provided the tourney's major upset by eliminating defending champion Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., found herself paired against Mrs. Page in the other half after she conquered a pair of her own sectional rivals.

California Chances Dimmed
The California delegations' chances dimmed slightly when its last two survivors, Mrs. Betty Hicks Newell of Long Beach, and Clara Callender of Pasadena, entered the same bracket. Miss Callender, a semi-finalist last year, reached the last eight by overwhelming Mrs. Glenna Collett Vore, of Philadelphia, who won her sixth title six years ago, by a 4 and 3 margin.

Among the outstanding second-round casualties were Louise Suggs, the southern titlist; Mrs. James Ferrie of Long Beach, Cal., another 1940 semi-finalist; Mrs. Russell C. Mann, the Trans-Mississippi and Western champion, and the only foreign threat in the starting field of 116, Toronto's Grace Sears.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Losing no time, Coach H. A. (Fritz) Crisler sent 60 University of Michigan football candidates through two brisk opening day drills yesterday in preparation for the opening game Sept. 27 against Michigan State.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Sophomore Herman Frickey was moved into the new Minnesota backfield combination necessitated by graduation of All-American George Franck. Frickey, the only sophomore on the first team tentatively picked by Coach Bernie Bierman on opening practice day, is a speedster, like Franck.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held, but classes begin tomorrow and hereafter there will be only one drill daily.

Harry (Tuffy) Brooks, veteran fullback, didn't don a uniform but he is scheduled to assume Uncle Sam's khaki a week from yesterday.

Drills Begin For Hawks

Gable's Injured Knee Still Not Well After Summer Operation
A squad of 57 Hawkeyes, minus two players of the original roster who were heavily counted upon in the coming grid campaign, plus two men not included in the first list, reported to Dr. Eddie Anderson yesterday, and immediately received a dose of the heavy work in store for them in the next two weeks.

Steve Mizen, who had just begun to find himself as a Big Ten end at the last of the 1940 season, and who was a favored choice by Anderson to plug the sagging wing gap this fall, was definitely given up to the draft by the coaching staff, although no word has been heard from the 200-pound flanker. Mizen was to have come up before his Chicago draft board for examination last Friday.

Gable May Be Out
George Gable, 215-pound understudy of Mike Enich last fall, reported with a sore knee, and after X-rays were taken, hospital surgeons advised the Cedar Rapids junior not to play football this season. His knee was operated on this summer to correct an old aggravation, and Gable was a possible regular for the coming season. No final decision has been made, however.

Ben Trickey, Marshalltown back, and Paul Powell, small fast back, admittedly "as fast as a hiccup," reported for the first days' drills, although not included in the first list put out by Anderson.

Although the first day was turned largely over to the photographers for their annual "Field Day", Anderson, Jim Harris, Frank Carideo, Bill Hofer and Nile Kinick found plenty of time to give their charges a stiff opening-day workout.

Extensive Drills
Limbering-up exercises, laps, signal drills, punting and passing for the backs and ends, and charging workouts for the linemen all found their place in the two drills yesterday. In between, the boys were closeted by Anderson three times for skull practice and chalk talks.

These two-a-day drills will continue until school starts, two days before the opener with Drake here, Sept. 27.

Senator Abbe Wins Race
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Driven by his owner-trainer Otis Lowen of Wilmington, O., Senator Abbe paced to victory six other starters in the commissioner of agriculture trophy race, $2,000 feature of yesterday's grand circuit program at the Kentucky State fair.

Cards Bound Past Phillies Twice to Gain

Warneke Wins First, 3-2; Gumbert Hurls 1-0 Nightcap Shutout

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The injury-harassed Cardinals, counted out of the pennant race early in the week even by some of their faithful followers, leaped within one game of league-leading Brooklyn by winning a double header from Philadelphia yesterday, 3 to 2 and 1 to 0, while the Dodgers dropped a pair to the Chicago Cubs.

Today the Cards and Dodgers tangle here in the first of a three-game series which may determine the 1941 National league champion.

Harry Gumbert was the hero of the shutout, even though one must not forget Johnny Mize's triple and Marty Marion's single which scored him with the only run of the game in the fourth.

Gumbert allowed only three scattered hits, all singles; he walked none, struck out five and was making the last place Phillies hit to the infield. There were 20 assists by the infielders and the battery, two outfielders didn't get a putout and Johnny Hopp, the other, had only two. It was Gumbert's tenth victory.

Lon Warneke won No. 16—equalling his mark of all last season—in the first game, but he received aid from Bill Crouch in the ninth. It was his second start and first victory since his no-hitter Aug. 30.

Braves Victor In 15-Inning Go With Reds, 4 to 1

Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Braves put on one of their marathons yesterday, and it was the Braves who panted in to victory in the 15th inning, 4 to 1.

Paul Derringer, beginning to show his 1940 form after an operation to correct a training camp injury, and Jim Tobin, fought for 12 of the innings with a run on each side, but Joe Beggs, premier first man of last year for the Reds, couldn't hold the hose in the 15th.

The Giants got one run and the Pirates two in the first inning. Then followed five scoreless frames of airtight baseball with Max Butcher bottling Harry Feldman, a rookie pitcher just up from Jersey City. However, in the seventh and eighth innings the two teams between them made 18 hits and 14 runs and brought in a parade of pitchers. It was the last meeting of the year for the teams and gave Pittsburgh the season's series 14 to 8.

Interpreting War News Failure to Capture Leningrad Indicates Nazi Weak Points

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Indications from Berlin that a policy has been formulated shelling, bombing and starving Leningrad into surrender rather than of attacking the city frontally with its inevitable high nazi casualties do not sound convincing.

If German pressure on the former Russian capital is to be reduced to slow-going siege warfare, only dire necessity could have forced that decision on Hitler. He is urgently in need of a victory in Russia that could be trumpeted by nazi propagandists as decisive. And nowhere along the vast Russian-German war front except at Leningrad is any such victory in sight for him before snow flies in Russia.

A better explanation of a change in nazi tactics against but encircled Leningrad, if there is a change, would be Hitler's need of bolstering his shaken Moscow front. The Russians officially claim virtual rout of a German army and their greatest offensive achievement of the war there. Moscow spokesmen hint at possible recapture of Smolensk within days.

It is impossible to piece together a distinct battle line within the great triangle east and south of the north end of the Dnieper river of which Smolensk, Bryansk and Gomel are the pivots. Russian recapture of Smolensk, however, would place in grave jeopardy the whole German force strung out along the Smolensk-Roslavl-Bryansk double rail system.

That is the main root of the nazi advance in the center. Tough Russian resistance directly east of Smolensk on the main road to Moscow forced southeasterly deflection toward Bryansk.

At Elmya and northwest of that village on the Smolensk-Ershovka single track railroad, the Russians are threatening both Smolensk and the communications of the nazi forces in the Roslavl sector or beyond it toward Bryansk. Moscow also reports a successful counter-drive in the Gomel region, the southern tip of the great triangle in which some 2,000,000 Russian and nazi troops are fiercely battling. Presumably that means the Gomel-Bryansk railroad also has been cut as a nazi supply line for most advanced forces.

Unofficial Russian accounts further report red army offensives making progress in the Chanski region, due east of Mogilev on the Dnieper. That is about mid-way of the base line of the triangle, between Gomel and Smolensk. If the Russians are still in force there and are attacking on both the Gomel and Smolensk flanks, the peril of the nazi forces at Roslavl or near Bryansk is obvious to justify Russian hopes that a telling counter blow has been struck, forcing transfer of German forces from the Leningrad to the Moscow fronts.

Hitler must regard quick capture of Leningrad as essential for prestige reasons alone, with his sea war against Britain obviously dropping to a new low; the tide of opposition to Hitlerism rising in German-conquered countries; his Japanese axmate possibly wavering toward a rapprochement policy with the United States; and with British bombers heavily hammering Berlin and other German cities night after night.

Hitler already is forced in to a winter war in Russia and must anticipate also a British offensive against his Italian ally in Africa while he is powerless to help materially due to his Russian involvement.

It has been reported that Hitler ordered quick capture of Leningrad at whatever cost of life to his troops. If he has changed that, it must be because possibilities of a major disaster on the Moscow front have been developed, as Moscow claims, to force a revision of his plans.

Merchants Present Preview of Town and Gown Fashions

Military Theme Is Prominent In Fall Clothes

Red Dominating Color Of Clothes to Be Worn By School Children

By TERRY TESTER
A military flare — present in fashions for all ages.
Two little boys led last night's parade of fall fashions wearing suits of khaki-colored twill with matching overseas caps.
Beginning the fall opening sponsored by the Iowa City chamber of commerce, the style show was presented at 7:30 last night at the corner of Washington and Clinton. L. D. Wareham, chairman of the committee in charge, was master of ceremonies. Doc Lawson's orchestra provided the musical background.

Red Scores for Fall
Red—in large and small quantities—dominated the clothes worn by the grade school children who were first around the platform. Pinafors, corduroy raincoats and red felt hats of all descriptions dotted the presentation.

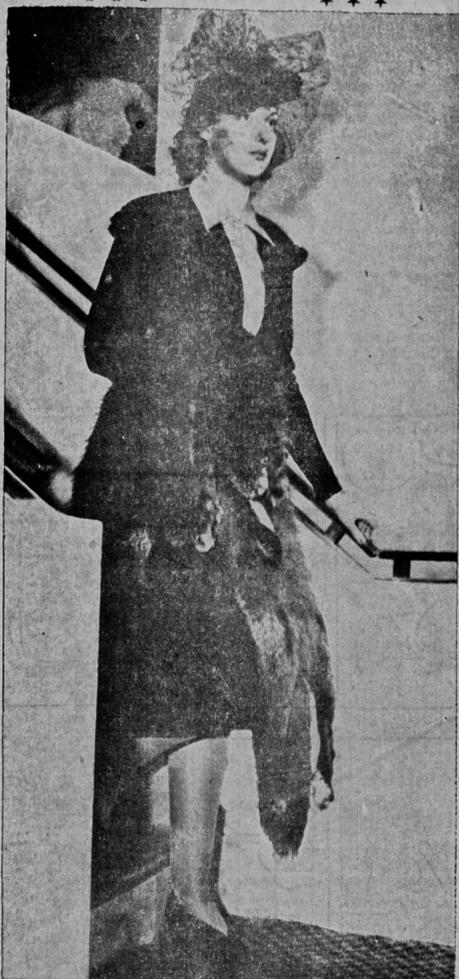

For dress (in the kiddies' division) was a camel hair coat with brown velvet trim and brown velvet lined detachable hood worn over a green spun rayon jumper dress with a yellow blouse.

Typical college wear was the ten laskin lamb torso length sport jacket trimmed in tabasco red. Under this was a blue and red plaid skirt with "all round" pleats. To make it doubly warm, there was a matching hood of laskin lamb lined with the plaid.

Suits Were Shown
Blazing the trail for two piece suits was a gray wool trimmed with embroidery of the same bright red—still riding high in the 'teen age crowd.

A "three piece" of plaid tweed was outstanding in its field. The topcoat is worn casually over the long three button torso style suit.

A black dress under a red jacket trimmed with skunk-dyed opossum and a simple black two piece suit were distinctive among the dress suits. Feather covered hats complemented both of these costumes, the first of red and the second of black.
Back-to-school fashions favor the plaids—and a green plaid skirt with a matching jacket faced with yellow corduroy fills the bill. A brown felt hat topped this out-

SALLY WALLACE, MARGARET STROUD AND MRS. DREW McNAMARA

A dressy afternoon ensemble of black crepe touched with an ice-green satin vestee front and collar was modeled by Mary Helen Taylor, a senior in the University of Iowa. Dignified and sophisticated, Miss Taylor carries two silver fox scarves. Her fine-veiled, forward beret of gored felt and velvet completed her ensemble of black. The gay sparkle of her unusual costume clip adds the finishing touches.

be most popular for women the country over.
Campus Clothes Are Casual
Boys—collegiate or otherwise—will find the shetland coats a becoming asset. Tweeds as always are the thing for sports wear.

Celebration--

Two Douglas observation planes and a North American trainer ship from the Iowa national guard unit at Des Moines were added to the show yesterday afternoon.

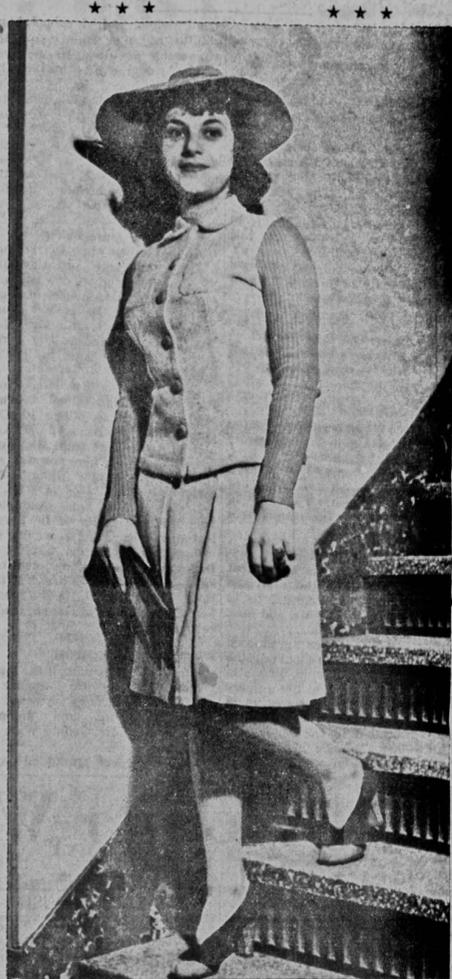

John Piper, local aviator and chairman of the committee in charge of flying for the show, became so interested in the Cessna bomber that he took the trip to Winnipeg, Canada, in the ship which will be turned over to the R. C. A. F.

During the afternoon, the crowd pushed into the main hangar at the port and watched Natalie Ellis, local aviatrix and parachute rigger, demonstrate the proper method of packing a parachute.

Chamber of commerce officials last night expressed the belief that this was one of the most successful events ever staged for the whole city.

Altogether about 2,000 persons saw some part of the all-day program, one person estimated.

Sponsored by the retail trade division of the chamber, the program was in charge of general co-chairmen Wilbur D. Cannon and Leslie A. Moore.

They DEPEND on the Newspaper

The "freedom of the press" is a very real thing to them—although they probably aren't conscious of it at all. But as long as a Free Press keeps them posted on what's actually going on, just so long will their liberties, their rights and privileges, be safe. Upon a Free Press depends their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.
