State Department Announces Ruling by Attorney Biddle Permitting—

U. S. TO CARRY ARMS TO BRITISH

Navy's New Winged Battleship

Now undergoing wing and hull tests is this new air battleship being built for the United States navy at the Glenn L. Martin plant at Baltimore, Md. This new long-range patrol bomber—known as the XPB2M-1—is capable of flying

Navy to Guard Aid Cargoes To Iceland

U.S. Warships Ordered To Capture or Sink Axis-Controlled Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt discussed revision of the neutrality act with congressional leaders yesterday while Secretary Knox announced that the navy henceforth would guard all lend-lease cargoes as far as Iceland.

Against this background, foreshadowing further moves by the United States against German U-boats and raiders, the president sent his second report on lend-lease operations to congress showing that $171,191,948 worth of supplies had been transferred to Great Britain and other nations within the last three months. Prior to that period, $75,202,426 worth had been transferred.

Knox's declaration, apparently indicating that American warships would convoy British and other cargo ships most of the way across the Atlantic, was made at the American Legion convention in Milwaukee in these words:

"Beginning tomorrow, the American navy will provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-lease aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland.

"Capture or Destroy"
"These ships are ordered to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal axis-controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."
"That is our answer to Mr. Hitler's declaration that he will try to sink every ship his vessels encounter on the routes leading from the United States to British ports."

The extent of the neutrality act revisions being considered by the president and the congressional leaders was not disclosed.

Observer Says Greeks Dying From Hunger

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Greeks in Athens are collapsing in the streets from hunger and their suffering is being shared by numbers of British and Australian soldiers who failed to escape and are hiding in small towns and mountain villages, a recently arrived neutral observer reported yesterday.

The situation of allied soldiers left behind in the withdrawal from Greece was said to be especially difficult because they are without credentials for obtaining food.

Men and women who formerly refused to be seen with Germans now are capitulating socially, and otherwise as a means of getting food, the informant said.

Germans continue in control of Greece, he added, despite the technical assignment of administration to the Italians.

Willkie Vote for La Guardia
WASHINGTON (AP)—Wendell Willkie said today he would vote for Mayor F. H. La Guardia in today's New York City primaries.

December Auto Production Cut 48.4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sweeping 48.4 per cent reduction in passenger automobile production for December was ordered by the office of production management yesterday and some government sources predicted that an even deeper slash might be expected for January and succeeding months of 1942.

The curtailment after the first of the year probably will take the form of a leveling-off process, pinning production approximately to the figure specified by OPM for December—204,848 passenger cars, as compared with 396,823 in December, 1940.

Thus, the over-all production for the 1942 model year—Aug. 1, 1941, to July 31, 1942—would be brought to around 2,450,000 passenger cars, approximately half the 1941 model year output.

Germans Claim Repeated Red Attacks Halted

Tell of Huge Russian Counter-Attacks; Tank Thrusts at Leningrad

BERLIN (AP)—The German armies claimed last night they had beaten off repeated Russian counter-attacks supported by heavy tanks in a great and continuing yard-by-yard fight for possession of powerful modern fortifications of Leningrad.

More than five hundred motor vehicles were reported destroyed in a new German aerial thrust east of the Dnieper river, that is, hundreds of miles south of the Leningrad front.

DNB, reporting on broad scale action of the Luftwaffe, said also that a Russian armored train and six transport trains were halted by bombardment and various artillery positions knocked out of action.

Ranging over northern waters, German airmen also "effectively attacked" red army forces still clinging to Oesel island, at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga, the official news agency said.

The semi-circular line of men and steel seeking to throttle that second city of Russia, steadily pressed inward, the high command said, but was meeting the most stubborn resistance from inner red positions which were pictured in other accounts as obstacles fully as formidable as any ever breasted by German forces.

Of soviet counter-action there was no detail beyond the official report that red troops supported by big tanks had charged the German lines again and again, the counter-attack each time collapsing.

Argentina Acts To Expel Nazis

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine congress voted with but one dissenting voice yesterday for the expulsion within three days of the ringleaders of nazi undercover organizations, among whom its so-called "Dies committee" named German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann.

The nazi envoy was not mentioned by name in the ouster demand, but the resolution did censure him for abusing diplomatic privileges, in a form that holds him persona non grata in Argentina.

Diplomatic Precedence
It was the first time since the war's outbreak that an axis envoy of top rank has been the target of such drastic action by a neutral nation in the western hemisphere.

The vote was 79 to one. The ouster resolution was addressed to Acting President Ramon S. Castillo for action immediately, thereby posing a delicate problem for the chief executive who has been plotting a course of "neutrality toward all" for this powerful South American republic.

Limit Act to Non-Belligerents

British Say Axis Blitz-Thrust Into Egypt Completely Routed

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The heaviest fighting in weeks was reported from the Libyan front yesterday as the terrific heat of the western desert nerved its seasonal end and British quarters predicted "boiling" activity by early October.

General headquarters announced that two axis armored columns struck 35 miles into Egypt in sudden thrusts Sunday, but were routed back into Libya after losing considerable numbers of men and machines.

It was the first offensive move by axis forces in Libya for many weeks.

With the approach of good fighting weather in the desert, British forces pointed out that the Italians and Germans have been reinforcing their African army throughout the summer despite heavy RAF and naval raids on their convoys.

Tobruk is one of the strong points of the British. Located along the coast where the British are able to supply it through the wreck-straw harbor, the town stands on a flank of the axis forces, 75 miles behind their spearheads across the Egyptian border.

Finns Report Great Fires Set In Leningrad

HELSINKI (AP)—Great fires have been set inside Leningrad by a steady German artillery pounding which is creating deadly havoc in parks and streets crowded with refugees from outside the city, Finnish army correspondents reported last night from the front.

A railroad engineer said to have fled from Leningrad was quoted as saying that the shells were taking a terrific toll because the refugees from outside the city were unable to find raid shelters and were forced to live and sleep in public parks and squares while the battle raged.

Reds Repulse Nazi Landing Attempt On Oesel; Say 5 Troop Ships Sunk

MOSCOW, Tuesday (AP)—On the zig-zagging western front it was declared officially yesterday that the Germans are losing control of the occupied Russian areas by stripping their rear garrisons to fill gaps caused by enormous losses on the fighting lines.

Today's morning communique confined its report of western front fighting to its stock phrase—stubborn battles all along the line—while last night's official announcement stressed the situation back of the lines.

The sinking of eight German vessels, including five troop-jammed transports, in the repulse of a nazi landing attempt on the Baltic island of Oesel and in a clash in Arctic waters was announced today by the Russians.

In the biggest of the two engagements the Soviet information bureau said four transports and two destroyers were sent to the bottom by Soviet naval, air and shore units which smashed the Germans attacking Oesel, an island off Estonia where Russia left strong forces after withdrawing from the Estonian mainland.

The landing force was wiped out, the communique said, and two transports and several torpedo boats among several others badly damaged.

Apparently out to smash any German effort to launch large-scale operations in the Black sea on the south, the Red air force heavily pounded Constanta and Sulina, off the Rumanian coast and Calati, Danubian oil port on Friday.

Chief of Staff Appeals For Understanding

MILWAUKEE (AP)—General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U.S. army, appealed to the American Legion national convention last night to help remove a lack of public understanding which he said was hampering the training of America's new army of selectees.

General Marshall told a gathering of distinguished Legionnaires and guests at the annual commander's dinner that it was impossible to develop an efficient army if decisions purely of a military nature were "continuously subjected to investigation, cross-examination, debate, ridicule and public discussion."

Area of Movement For Ships Defined

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department last night announced a ruling by Attorney General Biddle permitting American ships to carry arms, munitions and passengers to many areas of the far-flung British empire.

Under the ruling, the ships carrying war implements may go to all parts of the British empire other than the United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa and areas included in "combat zone" delineated by the president.

Under the neutrality act, when the president finds a state of war to exist, American ships must not carry arms and munitions to the belligerents. On Nov. 4, 1939, the president issued a proclamation recognizing a state of war between Germany on the one hand and the United Kingdom, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa on the other.

On Aug. 27, the attorney general was asked whether the terms of the proclamation applied also to British overseas areas not expressly enumerated.

Biddle concluded that the terms of the document included only England, Wales, Scotland and northern Ireland, India, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa.

State department officials said this meant that American ships could carry arms and ammunition to such British colonies as British East Africa, including Kenya colony, and British Somaliland; British West Africa, the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Naden and Perim, near the Arabian coast; and Sokotra, at the entrance to the Red sea.

It also meant, the officials added, that arms-bearing American vessels can go to Burma, Malaya, the Straits settlements, the Federated Malay states; British North Borneo, Brunei and Sarawak, in the south Pacific.

The ruling, a department announcement said, does not permit such shipments to presidential-proclaimed combat areas. Officials indicated they felt the chief importance of last night's announcement was to answer many queries as to where American vessels may and may not carry implements of war in connection with the aid-to-Britain program.

5 American Volunteers Missing
LONDON (AP)—Five American volunteers in Britain's air battle with Germany—one in the all-volunteer American Eagle squadron, three regular RAF men and one in the Royal Canadian Air force—were reported officially yesterday to be missing.

Harriman Confers With British In Effort to Speed Soviet Aid

Plan Increase of Arms Shipments; RAF Sends Squadron to Front

LONDON (AP)—W. Averell Harriman rushed into conferences with the British last night to find out how many United States guns, tanks and planes they will spare to Russia before the American delegation he heads hurries on to Moscow for three-power meetings to complete a plan of deliveries.

Within an hour after he and other top members of the United States mission arrived from the bombers which flew them across the Atlantic, Harriman had begun conversations in which Prime Minister Churchill and British army, navy and air experts were expected to participate.

The pressure for speed was indicated by announcement of expanding British aid to Russia and by reports from the war front indicating acute danger for the red army in the Ukraine.

Shortly after the announcement that an RAF wing of planes, men, fuel and munitions, had reached Russia and may already be in battle, Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, announced that every tank turned out from British factories next week will go immediately to the eastern front.

As soon as priorities have been established, it was believed, Britain will step up shipments of planes, guns and tanks from her reserve supply on the promise of replacements from the United States.

Beaverbrook Heads British Economic Group

LONDON (AP)—The British economic mission to Moscow, with Lord Beaverbrook as its head, was named today soon after W. Averell Harriman of the U. S. delegation conferred with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and after long editorial criticism over delays in selecting its members.

The British-American group is expected to leave as soon as possible after a series of hurried consultations.

The British delegation will include a military mission already in Moscow—Lieut.-Gen. F. M. Mason-MacFarlane, Rear Admiral Miles and Air Vice-Marshal A. C. Collier—and these other members from London, Capt. H. H. Balfour, undersecretary of state for air; Maj.-Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay and Maj.-Gen. G. N. Maccready.

Peru Renews Border Warfare

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP)—An official dispatch from Balao said that Peruvian planes attacked the town of Tenguell on the Gulf of Guayaquil yesterday, killing one adult and two children. The dispatch said that the planes dropped seven bombs in an unexplained renewal of border warfare.

Both Chambers Review Legislation for Final—

Tax Bill Action Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four months after the new tax legislation was introduced, a joint senate-house committee agreed yesterday on a $3,553,400,000 revenue bill and sent it on to both chambers for final action by Wednesday.

The measure, largest in history, would increase taxes all along the line, imposing heavier income levies on both individuals and corporations and jacking up the existing schedule of excise, or "nuisance" taxes—those on liquor, automobile sales, telephone bills, etc.

Total Below Senate Mark
The estimated total was $30,500,000 below the amount voted by the senate and $337,000,000 over that originally approved by the house.

By lowering income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single individuals, the conference committee estimated the measure would raise an extra $303,000,000 of revenue and would bring an additional $4,930,000 persons under the income tax structure.

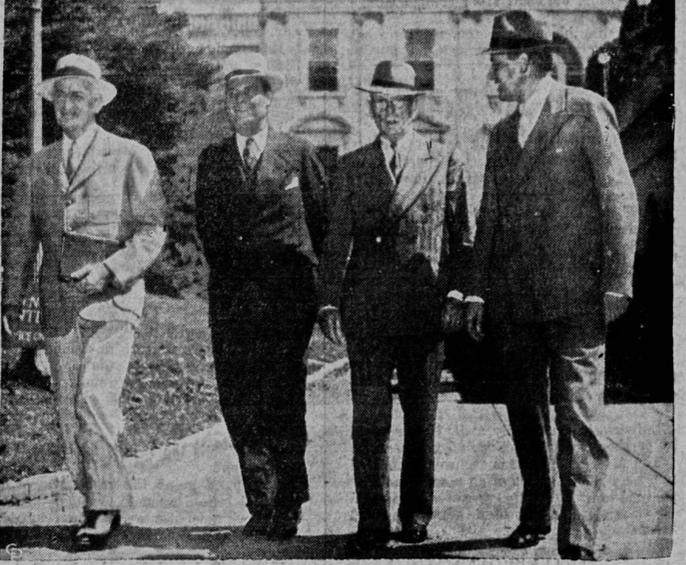

In addition to lowering exemptions, the bill places a surtax beginning at 6 per cent on all taxable income. This is in addition to the normal tax of 4 per cent.

New Returns Figures
Of the new returns, the conference group said, 4,453,000 would come from married persons and heads of families and 447,000 from single persons. Because of various deductions, it is said the lower exemptions would require only 2,275,000 additional persons to pay taxes. Of this group, it was stated, 1,850,000 would be married persons or heads of families and 425,000 single individuals.

"Of the total amount of additional revenue to be secured from lowering the exemptions," the conference committee report said, "approximately $47,000,000 will come from new taxpayers. . . . The balance of this additional revenue, $256,000,000, will be secured from persons taxable under existing law."

To Participate in British-U.S.-Russian Confab

Here is the American mission to the forthcoming British-American-Russian conference in Moscow, pictured just after the members had an hour's discussion with President Roosevelt, under instructions to ascertain how best the United States can aid Russia to victory over Germany. As Iowa's Rushing Season Opens—Job Ahead for Greek Groups

Sorority rushing has begun. Formal fraternity rushing gets underway this Thursday. The year really is about to begin. These are the last big signs.

The rushing season is the gayest time of the year. For fraternities and sororities it is a business, but pleasant business. There will be keen competition for the cream of the rushing crop. There will be happy men and women, and unhappy ones. There will be houses, in the end, with long pledge lists, and houses with but a few.

Rushes by now are stocked with advice from every source. They're doubtless pleasantly confused, a little ill at ease over the attention they're getting. That's all a part of the game.

But this year, more than ever before, rushes and actives alike should be on their toes—not just in the interests of rush week, but in the interests of the entire university year to follow.

Because Iowa fraternities and sororities, like every other Iowa student group, are faced this year with a heavier responsibility than they've had before.

They must assume a more productive and active role in the life of the university, in more than a social way.

They must emphasize their finest qualities in the building of firm, dependable and capable men and women, at the expense of the evils which are to be found in the Greek system—evils of poor management, a hostile attitude toward other houses in their own system and other units of the university's housing system.

They must improve their scholarship average.

They must get down to business—on all of these scores.

Because, in the tightening structure of defensive America, there is no place for non-contributing groups; no place for inefficiency, laxity, a half-way job—in universities no less than in industrial plants or the armed forces. The lax, the inefficient, the non-productive groups will be weeded out. They'll disappear of their own dead weight.

The university, too, must meet its obligations in regard to fraternities. The university must do more than it has done in the past to correctly emphasize those aspects of fraternity life which can do so much in the university's progress. The university must be aware of, and utilize fully, that potential leadership which appears, year by year, in the Greek system, but which is allowed to grow stale and disappear through the dual shortcomings of both the system and the university in failing to make good use of fraternity and sorority leadership.

As this rushing season opens, both actives and rushees must face the facts. This will be a tough year for Greek groups. They can meet the challenge if they will.

And there's no surer, more conclusive way to begin than by placing these rush weeks upon the highest plane. If each active, and each prospective pledge, of every house on the campus is duly concerned over the welfare of each and all groups; if each faces the business of rushing with determination to fit himself into a productive, sensible and purposeful program for the year, fraternities and sororities can for the first time in a long time demonstrate powerfully and conclusively not only that they have a place in university life, but that no other group or groups can fill it.

The Flowering of a City—

Many cities have taken steps to make more attractive the surroundings of water works and sewage treatment plants, but Hickory, N. C., population 7,363, has made the beautification a cooperative project of city and citizens, the American Municipal Association reports.

In six months, the North Carolina city's sewage plant grounds have been turned into a rose garden which 2,000 visitors from 11 states visited on a single day last month. Public contributions of cash, plants and materials installed the garden, which is maintained by employes of the disposal plant. Fertilizer for the bushes is obtained from sewage sludge at the plant.

During the blooming season, roses are cut once a week to provide bouquets for all pa-

Here's a little idea, brought to flower, which could turn many an Iowa city into a nicer place in which to live.

Lindbergh Boosts Freedom's Cause—

Fight for Freedom declares that they've had no greater boost in Iowa than the address of America First Charles A. Lindbergh at Des Moines last week. Not, of course, because Lindbergh was out recruiting for Fight for Freedom, but because he alienated so many people from the ranks of America First.

H. V. Kaltenborn, the noted news analyst, in his weekly summary of the news last Sunday was strong in his attack upon Lindbergh's mention of British and Jews as classes who seek to get us into war against our will.

We should like to think that there are millions of Americans who would shift away from the Lindbergh camp at the very hint of such anti-Semitic reasoning. Stuff like that has no place here, and it is regrettable indeed that a man like Lindbergh should say such a thing.

In the last analysis, if this is a question of those Americans who favor war versus those Americans who oppose war (and it certainly is that) then let's not make it a question of the religious creeds or the races of those Americans. If they're Americans, that's enough.

Why must the force of crisis and firm belief cause great men to become small in their code, their thought? Why must Lindbergh, no matter how sincerely he believes in his doctrine, be vicious and callous in his presentation?

Twenty-Four Hours Wasn't Long Enough to Stay in New Orleans—

By GEORGE TUCKER
ABOARD AIRLINER BUCCANEER (MIAMI BOUND)—Twenty-four hours in New Orleans wasn't long. . . . It wasn't a drop in the bucket, but no can help. . . . At that, it wasn't 24 hours. . . . We were four hours late getting into N. O., having been grounded five hours by fog in Richmond.

So, there was much ground to cover in a few brief hours. . . . Before I left, I did get around to see Estelle and LeRoy, my favorite dancers, at the Blue Room at the Roosevelt. . . . It was like old times, for I have seen them many times in New York, and in my files are letters from them from South America, Italy, Germany, London, France. . . . I saw Rosita Rios, too, and heard her sing, though I did not get to talk with her. . . . Del Casino dropped by our table for a chat. . . . These are people whose names are well known along the dimly lit precincts of Broadway's nightlife.

About four o'clock in the morning I observed the tradition that any self-respecting Mohammedan would observe on a visit to Mecca. . . . I went down to the old French Market, now newly-painted and air-conditioned, and had coffee and sour doughnuts. . . . Then I ambled along Decatur street, parallel with the river, and watched the old French Market come alive. . . . Crates of chickens cackling, but sleepily. . . . Negroes sorting huge fleets of watermelons on the curbs. Berries and fruits. . . . Green vegetables and fish.

I sauntered on back to the corner of Jackson Square, where old Andrew sits astride his giant iron horse. . . . Across the square was the Cabildo, home (some say) of the Spanish inquisition, home of the law, of rule and misrule, now a rendezvous of historic archives and treasures that testify to Louisiana's enchanting history. . . . Through the high iron fence I could see the Cathedral of St. Louis. . . . At that moment a great Eastern Airlines sleeper, with her running lights running strong, ploughed overhead, the hum of her motors wafted earthward by the soft gulf breeze.

I got into a cab then and returned to the St. Charles and to breakfast. . . . There was packing to do, souvenirs to mail, and then the trip to the airport, perched beautifully and commandingly on the lips of Lake Pontchartrain.

So here we are now, seven thousand feet above sea level, with New Orleans receding and Miami coming up. . . . I can still see the broad, yellow Mississippi—it's that clear today.

In Miami, I will go sailfishing in the Gulf Stream and try to outdo Ernest Hemingway who holds the world's record. . . . Unless I miss a guess, our stewardess isn't long for this line. . . . She will surely wind up in the movies. She is Miss Ann Taylor, of Jacksonville, named this year Miss Florida Aviation. . . . It's her first week on the job.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. What are the nation's retail stores doing to help national defense?

A. They are uniting in a huge program to sell defense savings stamps, inaugurated today at the beginning of retailers-for-defense week—September 15 to 20—in most communities throughout the land.

Q. What is the object of retailers-for-defense week?

A. To set going the greatest sales drive ever put behind a single product—the "product" being defense savings stamps, exchangeable for defense savings bonds.

NOTE:—To buy defense bonds and stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Stamps are now on sale, too, at most retail stores.

"DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS!"

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Roosevelt's Well-Known Strategy Is Evident—

WASHINGTON—Now that all has been said and little done about Mr. Roosevelt's new policy, its skin at least is fully evident. Mr. Roosevelt presented some specific evidence, laid down some broad principles and now intends to do as he pleases. This is the same formula he has been using lately.

He gave the evidence of how the Nazis had been sinking some ships. He projected the broad policy of the freedom of the seas and of shooting to protect them. Then he did not say where he was going to limit himself.

The effect is a declaration of war against the Nazis, a sea and air war to range all the waters of the world possibly excluding only a small indistinct area (the combat zone) in some respects.

UNDECLARED WAR POSSIBILITIES—

In this new kind of undeclared war (as he vaguely limited it), Mr. Roosevelt can perform any of the projects that have recently been discussed. He could convoy, seize Dakar and the Azores, patrol the Red Sea, even send the navy into the English channel and North sea. No one here thinks he intends to do all these things immediately. He just chose to leave himself wide open limits as usual.

His game is the same as always, to keep Hitler guessing as to his intentions. If Hitler knew how far Roosevelt intends to send ships or naval scouting planes, the German navy could be kept out of those areas. As it is wherever a navy ship or plane meets a German ship or plane, there the undeclared war will be on.

The only obvious important restrictions upon Mr. Roosevelt's all-out purpose to shoot Nazi war vessels on sight are three. He cannot send draftees outside the western hemisphere, although he possibly could send them to Iceland. (There is a law against that.) He cannot send American merchant men into combat areas imposed by the neutrality act. He cannot permit American citizens to travel on belligerent vessels.

BATTLES CAN'T BE AVOIDED—

The Germans are supposed to have around 200 submarines (they had 100 when they started the war). Their operations lately have been limited for lack of fuel. But their sub fleet is certainly sufficiently large so that incidents (battles) cannot be avoided whenever an American ship or plane meets a German ship or plane in the north or south Atlantic, the Indian ocean or wherever.

Mr. Roosevelt said, is to protect the freedom of the seas. What he meant was the Anglo-British freedom of the seas, certainly not German freedom of the seas. They said around the top official desks Mr. Roosevelt was induced to take this further step because he was convinced Germany is beaten (although some few top officials estimate the war might last two years yet) and because the Japanese emperor's assumption of control over the wild army of Japan gave cause for relief that some portions of our fleet could safely be moved from the Pacific to the Atlantic to enforce the new policy where it is likely to need its greatest force.

The most important matter now, lies behind the indefinite new Roosevelt policy to guarantee transport of goods to anti-Nazi nations on the seas. The real question still is production. If you cannot produce enough fighting material no amount of protection for its transport will do you any good.

Mr. Roosevelt thinks he has solved this problem, temporarily at any rate by adopting the Rosenman defense reorganization plan, shifting men, bureaus and authority here and there, but leaving the full time (unpressed by other grave matters) and the responsibility of doing it. If this proposition is accepted there would be no trouble finding a man in whom the defense authorities would have confidence.

Suppressed groans were evident down in the defense setup when Mr. Roosevelt made this decision and dropped the plan of Bernard M. Baruch which centers in one-man control. Mr. Baruch's one-man plan originated in the World War but it has been studied and brought up to date by the war college and army industrial college, so it is really not his plan. Baruch knows more about these things than anyone else around government because he has been through them before.

Mr. Roosevelt turned Baruch down because he does not want to delegate the final say to another man. He does not want anyone else to run away with the show. Some of his officials are suggesting he also did not believe he had anyone in sight who could do the job.

Advocates of the mis-named Baruch plan think it is not a question of who could do the job. The question is to give one authority, with full time (unpressed by other grave matters) and the responsibility of doing it. If this proposition is accepted there would be no trouble finding a man in whom the defense authorities would have confidence.

Unknown Yesterday, Stars of Today—

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—The years are so short.

She was a pretty youngster of 16, and Samuel Goldwyn saw her at a tennis match, and partly because she looked like Norma Talmadge, partly because Sam Talmadge, partly because Sam Talmadge was signing tennis players, he put her under contract.

For six months she went to school on movie sets, and watched Sam's stars work. Sam gave some thought to changing her name—which was and is "impossible" for the movies, but then she was lost in the shuffle.

We heard no more of her until she began showing up on magazine covers and billboards and in ads, and then there was a line or two about her going into a show with Al Tolson, and then into summer stock, and then she was back in Hollywood, doing Spanish pictures because, though an American, she was born in Spain and could speak the language.

She's 22 now and doesn't look like Norma Talmadge any more but like Jinx Falkenburg, which is very pretty, too. Jinx has been "discovered" for other pictures—"Two Latins in Manhattan" and the current "Sing for Your Supper" with Charles (Buddy) Rogers. She expects to keep her "impossible" name, not caring for a Daisy Delicious, Dearie Delight, or Honey Bunny substitute. She won't even shorten it to "Jinx Falken."

All of which goes to show that (if Jinx gets to be a star) you never can tell what gangly adolescent kid is going to be a movie name of six years from now . . . and neither can Sam Goldwyn.

She was hot stuff on Broadway, but here she was just the missus of a star. She came around his sets sometimes, and she watched, and people referred to her vaguely as his wife—which must have hurt a gal who back there was considered so good. She wasn't jealous—she never was that kind of person—but it must have hurt just the same, especially as Hollywood had given her a chance of sorts (in a flop picture) and she hadn't meant anything. If they'd given her that play of her's "Burlesque" to make into a movie thing might have been different—but they gave it to Nancy Carroll.

Well, it has taken time—and Mrs. Frank Fay is now Mrs. Robert Taylor and long famous in her own right—but Barbara Stanwyck again is playing a burlesque girl, not in "Burlesque" but in "Ball of Fire" with Gary Cooper.

It must have been all of seven years ago, but I remember I got a letter from a fan asking about a funny fellow she had seen on the stage. I'd never heard of the funny fellow, and I asked around the studios and they hadn't heard of him, either.

But the funny fellow came to town, as most funny fellows do eventually, and I looked him up. He had a contract, and he played in pictures without causing much of a stir. He played in one that caused so little stir he was about to go home to Broadway—but then another of his efforts came out in the well-known nick. It was the one in which, with Shirley Ross, he sang "Thanks for the Memory."

The movie career of Bob Hope was on its way, because the fans as usual—like the one who wrote me earlier—had done their own "discovering."

GRACE VAN WORMER Acting Director. Board Employment August-September Men and women, students or non-students, inclusive of those having other employment, who may be available for board employment at any time from the present to September 22, are requested to report to the Employment Bureau, Old Dental building immediately. Most of these jobs have schedules of one hour at each meal, and there would be no more loss of time than that usually given to the meal hour.

The Selective Service and National Defense Service programs have made the August-September period especially difficult. The cooperation of all who can be of assistance is urged, in order that the maximum number of jobs for students this fall can be retained. LEE H. The Book Parade

By JOHN SELBY "HAVANA MANANA" by Consuelo Hermer and Marjorie May; (Random: $2).

HERE at last is a travel book which really exploits the possibilities. Actually "Havana Manana" is by intention not even a "travel book" in the sense that term is meant usually. It is a guide book, which is often even duller. But when its readers open its covers to find out how to get from the airport to their Havana hotel they will discover something more, to wit, that they hold in their hand not only a book of places and the routes between them but an integrated essay on what makes Cubans tick.

The authors are Consuelo Hermer and Marjorie May. Mrs. Hermer taught herself to love Cuba; Miss May was born in this country but was taken to Cuba as a baby and grew up there speaking Spanish and English equally well. She still speaks English with a slight accent. Probably the partnership that produced "Havana Manana" was the ideal; there was Mrs. Hermer to know what visitors want to see and do and understand, and Miss May to relate the answers to the Cuban background.

Havana gets most of the book, for obvious reasons, although the rest of the island is surveyed rapidly. There could be no corner of the capital city unexplored—whether you want a phonograph record or a langosta, a bath or a new suit of those handsome linens the Cubans wear. The restaurants are rated frankly and the hotels the same. Tourists are usually supposed to ride taxis only, but not by these paragons; they list the bus lines, and tell what everything should cost.

But after the obvious facts come the underlying factors. Cuban life is different from North American life. There are things one simply does not do in Cuba, and if one

SUI Students Will Participate in Civil Pilot Training Program

First Semester Quota Set For Fifty Students

Prof. Huber O. Croft Gives Requirements For Course Applicants

Prof. Huber O. Croft, coordinator of civilian pilot training, announced yesterday that the university would again participate in the civilian pilot training program.

A quota of 30 primary students and 20 secondary students has been assigned for the first semester.

Primary applicants are required to be citizens of the United States and must have reached their 19th birthday by Sept. 1. Students are not allowed to enroll if they are over 26 years of age.

One full year of college work must be completed and they must be regularly enrolled students in the university.

The written consent of the students' parents or guardians is also demanded. Finally, they must be able to pass a rigid physical examination.

Secondary applicants must meet in general the same requirements except that they must have completed at least two years of college at the time of applying or they must be able to show that they will have earned a total of 60 college credits at the end of the first semester.

Secondary student pilots must also be graduates of the primary C.P.T. course and must possess a currently effective private pilot certificate.

All undergraduates taking the courses are required to enroll for credit. The primary course offers three credits and the secondary course, five.

Graduate students may enroll without credit if they can show that their schedule is such as to permit time enough for the work the courses involve.

Both courses are composed of two distinct parts, ground school conducted by the university and flight instruction by the Shaw Aircraft company at the municipal airport.

The primary course consists of 72 hours of classroom work and from 35 to 45 hours of flight training. A total of 108 hours of classroom instruction and 40 to 50 hours of flight instruction is included in the secondary course.

Enrollment for either course ceases Oct. 1 for the first semester. Applications are to be made with Elmer C. Lundquist, room 109, Engineering building.

Johnson County Women Will Begin Defense Nutrition Project Today

Johnson county women from Oxford, Hardin, Monroe, Clear Creek and Jefferson townships will take the first active steps toward beginning their defense nutrition project when they meet at 1:30 this afternoon at the Methodist church at Tiffin.

Part of a state-wide project to acquaint women with the subject of nutrition as part of their contribution to national defense, the study is being conducted in each county in the state.

During the rest of the week women from the other townships will hold meetings at centrally located places.

25 Per Cent Of Iowa Women Live in Currier

Currier Hall dormitory is the favorite living place for university women, according to the university housing service. The dormitory accommodates 529 persons or 25 per cent of the university women.

The highest percentage of men, 28.5, room in private homes.

Fraternities rank second among the men, 19.5 per cent living in 17 houses; while Westlaw, nurses' home, is the residence of the second largest percentage of girls.

Private homes are in third place among the women, 17.5 per cent and sororities fourth with 17. Quadrangle, with space for 686 men, and Hillcrest holding 419, are third and fourth among the men, 15.3-4 and 9.6 per cent, respectively.

Other facts compiled about student living quarters are that 11.5 per cent of the women and eight per cent of the men live with relatives; 7.5 per cent of the men and 3.2 per cent of the women are married; 6.5 per cent of the men and 2.5 per cent of the women live in cooperative dormitories, and 1.5 per cent of both men and women commute to the campus from nearby towns.

Dodgers Down Reds in Seventeen Innings

Score 5 Runs In Last Inning To Win, 5 to 1

Brooklyn Increases Lead Over Cardinals To Two Full Games

By JOHN FRYE
CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds put on one of the most peculiar ball games in the memory of man yesterday, with practically all the peculiarities coming in the 17th inning, and the Dodgers finally bundling up the game like Arabs in the night.

The score was 5 to 1, giving the Dodgers their second straight victory here and increasing their margin over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to two games.

For 16 solid innings Paul Derringer, ace veteran of the Reds, and Johnny Allen, 36-year old American league cast-off, and chubby Hugh Casey pitched brilliant scoreless ball.

Turns to Hoopla
Then, with afternoon turning to twilight and twilight turning to night, the ball game became the grandest assortment of Hoopla that 5,961 baseball fans ever were called on to witness.

What happened as the bleachers lit bonfires of papers and scorecards was this in general: Pete Reiser, who had hit only a single in his six other times at bat, opened the 17th with a booming homer into the right field "sun" seats. Derringer, who had pitched his heart out, was through, but you couldn't tell for sure in the shadows.

Derringer Clubbed
Dolf Camilli whipped out a single to left and Lew Riggs sent one to right. That was all for Derringer, who went out to his 14th defeat amid cheers, and Joe Beggs came in.

About now, the funny stuff

Do These Ailments Develop From Piles?
The pain and annoyance of piles, fistula and other Rectal and Colon disorders are not the only serious results. Even more alarming is the fact that associated ailments (as shown on the diagram below) may develop.

For encouraging news, read the large, illustrated book published by Thornton & Minor Clinic, Suite 2020-J, 926 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo. ## Browns Take Third Straight From A's, 4-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 10th inning single off pitcher Fred Caligiuri's glove gave the St. Louis Browns their third straight triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 4 to 3.

Harold Cliff's sizzling drive came with the bases loaded, and sent Joe Grace in with the counter. Grace had opened the extra inning with a double off the score board.

Stop at 7 P.M.

But there was still a good chance for the game to be called and the score revert to the 16th inning. Two walks, prolonged all possible, then a single by Harry Craft and an infield out produced the run that kept the Reds from being shut out shortly after 7 o'clock. Casey at last squeezed Eddie Joost's little popper and tossed to first to end the exhibition.

However, not before Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds had suggested a couple of times to Umpire Larry Goetz that the moon wouldn't be up for hours.

About the only light on the field at this time was from the big red illuminated numbers on the score board and the fires in the bleachers, but the umpires saw it to the bitterest of bitter ends.

For Derringer it was the second extra inning defeat in a few days. Last week the Boston Braves beat him in 15 innings, and on June 22 the Dodgers beat him, 2 to 1, in 16 in the first

City High Gets Stiff Grid Drill

Coach Herb Cormack, not entirely satisfied with his gridgers' showing against Kalona last Friday night, sent them through a stiff drill last night in preparation for this week's encounter with Indianola.

The Little Hawks, showing off their powerful T-formation for the first time last Friday night, showed they were potent on offense, but their defense needed polishing touches.

The Cormackmen went through several conditioning drills last night, and then went into a tough scrimmage against the second team, who used the single wing back formation that Indianola is expected to use Friday night.

Bob Crumley, veteran center, was missing from drills. He reported to Cormack that he was suffering from a sore throat and a fever. Art Cornwall, regular guard, came up with the second injury of the season thus far. Cornwall was kicked in the left leg during scrimmage and received a severe muscle injury. The exact seriousness of the injury was not immediately learned, but Coach Cormack stated last night that he expects Cornwall to be ready to go again by Friday night.

Deferred Veteran Bolsters Bulldogs

DES MOINES (AP)—Drake university football hopes were bolstered yesterday by the return of Harold Anderson, Duluth, Minn., quarterback, who was deferred from army service.

Anderson, a junior, was a major letter winner last year and will be ready to go against St. Ambrose in the season opener Sept. 19, Coach Vee Green said.

The team went through a long pass defense drill yesterday. Jim Cushingberry was injured during practice, but should be available for the St. Ambrose game, Green said.

GREATEST YEAR - By Jack Sords

Lefty Gomez Beats Indians, 4 to 2, for Fifteenth Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees were held to six hits yesterday, but made every one count, and beat the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 2, for Lefty Gomez' 15th triumph of the season.

Tom Henrich opened the attack on southpaw Al Smith with his 30th home run in the first inning. A walk, a sacrifice and a single by Johnny Sturm added a run in the third. Singles by Gomez and Sturm and a double play led one across in the sixth while in the seventh two singles and a walk loaded the bases and a final run trickled across on a forceout.

Blocks Ragged In Long Drill

Johnson, Youel Shine As Backs Dominate Four-Hour Workout

Rain forested Iowa's gridgers inside for a skull workout yesterday morning, but the Hawks more than made up for it yesterday afternoon as Dr. Eddie Anderson sent his charges through the first scrimmage of the season.

Scrimmage was really not the word for it, however, for it consisted wholly of sending the first and second teams against a third string line alternately. There was tackling in the line, but once the backs got beyond, the play automatically ceased.

Workout Ragged
However, it gave the Hawkeye coaches a chance to see the boys in action, and, as usual in the first rough work of the season, play was ragged, showing the need of further work on blocking.

Previous to the scrimmage, the linemen had an intensive bulldog blocking session, while the backs ran off the plays. Sled work was also on the program for the linemen, and the backs kicked and passed as usual.

Both backfields in yesterday's session looked exceptionally fast and deceptive. It was no trouble at all for Bill Green, Jim Youel, Tom Farmer and Art Johnson to get past the forward wall and into open territory. Johnson and Youel showed effectively the new-found speed which each has picked up since last fall.

Thomae at End
A sprinkling of new faces patterned the first and second team lineups, with Ed Thomae moving into a first string end position in place of Bill Parker, who is nursing a minor leg injury. Bob Bender alternated with Youel at left half on the first team, and Hank Vollenweider shared work with Johnson.

However good the backs looked on the ground game, it was evident that the aerial game needs plenty of polishing. Only a few of the passes thrown were caught, and the misses were equally the fault of throwers and receivers.

Harrier Team To Meet Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin
Cross-country races with Wisconsin, Illinois, and Minnesota have been scheduled for the University of Iowa's 1941 team, Coach George T. Bresnahan has announced.

The races will be held on the days of football games between the universities and the distance of each will be about two miles.

Iowa will open the season Oct. 18 against Wisconsin at Madison, Illinois is the opponent at Champaign Nov. 3 and Minnesota sends its team to Iowa City Nov. 15. There is a possibility that an early October meet may be scheduled.

Among the runners expected to report next week are George Vack of West Branch, Robert Albright of Cedar Rapids, Richard Keil, John McCollister, and Donald Welt of Iowa City; Jack Reinking and Robert Orth of Sioux City, Carl Schnoor and Robert Workman of Perry, David Meyer of Decorah, Richard Lord of Evanston, Ill., and Harold Stevenson of Collins.

Red Sox Down Chisox, 6-1, To Win 7th Straight

BOSTON (AP)—For the first time this season the Boston Red Sox ran a winning streak into seven consecutive games yesterday as they cleaned up the three-game series with the Chicago White Sox with a 6 to 1 victory.

It was the end of the Chicago-Boston 1941 season, the Red Sox taking 16 of the 22 games.

Ted Williams got his 35th homer with two on in the four-run seventh.

The only Chicago run came in the ninth when Dario Lodigiani homered to left field off Mickey Harris, who held the White Sox to six hits.

Second Annual Laundry Short Course Opens Today

Laundrymen From 7 States Convene Here

Laundrymen representing seven states will attend the university's second annual short course on laundry techniques and the annual meeting of the Iowa Laundry association here today and continuing on through Thursday.

The three-day course is designed to give a complete understanding of washroom chemistry, textiles, motion and time study principles. L. A. Bradley, manager of the university laundry service, is in charge.

Sponsors are the colleges of engineering, pharmacy and commerce and the extension division of the university, the Iowa Laundry association and the Iowa Hospital association.

There will be no registration or tuition fee and text materials will be furnished at cost by the university.

The general text is a 250 page book edited by Bradley. It contains contributions by Prof. Ralph Barnes, time and motion study expert in the college of engineering; Arthur Henderson, director of the research department of the American Institute of Laundering; George H. Johnson, general manager of the American Institute of Laundering, Joliet, Ill.; and Ward Wilson, superintendent of the Cascade Laundry, Des Moines.

Outstanding speakers will be Mr. Johnson, Noel Grady, editor of the Starchroom Laundry Journal, New York City; Mr. Wilson, Mr. Anderson, and Prof. Barnes.

Experts from Iowa laundries serving as program chairmen or discussion leaders are E. J. Lambers and Richard Pohlman, Davenport; Gilbert Choquette and Gene Hawk, Des Moines; Robert Camp, Burlington; Glenn Wilson of Des Moines; president of the Iowa Laundry Owner's association; R. H. Gilliland, Centerville; Douglas Boynton, Cedar Rapids and C. F. Leinhauser, Ottumwa.

Schedule of main program events:

Registration: 8:30-9:30 today.

Today's lectures:

"Value of Laundry Service to Public," Richard Conner.

"Water Analysis," Ward Wilson.

"Demonstration of the Use of Textiles," George H. Johnson.

Dinner banquet—6:30 tonight, Iowa Union.

Dinner banquet—6:30 tomorrow, Iowa Union.

Luncheon conference—12 noon, Thursday.

Bookman to Review Frost's Latest Novel Over WSUI Tonight

"Uncle Snowball" by Frances Frost will be reviewed by the world bookman at 7 o'clock tonight over WSUI.

Frost has written an episodic tale of a loveable and kind old sinner, Uncle Snowball. The real New England is present in this humorous and understanding story of human nature.

Other well-known novels by Frost are "Innocent Sinner" and "Yoke of Stars." He is also the author of "Pool in the Meadow," "Women of This Earth" and "Blue Harvest" popular volumes of poetry.

PERSONS In the News

Having his ship torpedoed and sunk is an old story to Niels G. Aarre, second mate aboard the American-owned Montana, sunk off Greenland. A year ago his ship was torpedoed off Scotland and he drifted in a lifeboat for a week before rescue came. Aarre recently married a British dancer in New York City.

Former congressman from Texas and mayor of San Antonio, Maury Maverick has been appointed an assistant and consultant to Leon Henderson, price administrator.

Funeral Service For Former SUI Student To Be Held Today

Word was received yesterday of the death of Louis Herbert Naeckel of Davenport, former university student.

His death occurred Sunday night after a two months' illness. Funeral services will be held today in Davenport.

Naeckel was a graduate student in the English department here last year and had attended Harvard university in Cambridge, Mass.

He was affiliated with Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Lu Verne Miller Sent to Missouri

Lu Verne F. Miller of Iowa City, recently inducted and processed at the Fort Des Moines reception center, left Sept. 12 for Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he will receive 13 weeks of basic training in the Air Corps replacement training center.

I.C. Employers Plan Roundtable Sales Meeting

Store managers and employers will meet for a special roundtable discussion and dinner at 5:45 tonight at the Jefferson hotel, preceding the first meeting of the six-evening series of sales school classes at 7:30 tonight in the community building.

Sponsored by the retail trade division of the chamber of commerce, the classes will be conducted by Arthur Brayton, who will also attend the dinner for employers.

About 350 employees of local retail stores have signed up to attend the school. Only those signed up may attend.

Stromstens Open Photographic Studio On Washington Street

A new photographic studio, operated by Mr. and Mrs. John Stromsten, formerly of Cedar Rapids, was opened at 130 1-2 E. Washington yesterday.

Mrs. Stromsten was graduated from the university here in 1937 and has been employed in a Cedar Rapids department store since then.

The couple are now living with Mr. Stromsten's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Stromsten, 121 Richards.

Fire at Currier

The Iowa City fire department was called at 6:40 last night to extinguish a small fire at Currier hall. Firemen reported that the blaze started in a paper chute. Only small damage was reported.

Argentina-- (continued from page 1)

Von Thermann himself declared defiantly yesterday that if he leaves he would have to be asked to go, that he had no intention of going voluntarily. Informed quarters said the foreign office was taking the position that the ambassador should go on the grounds of personal indiscretions, thus preventing a break in German-Argentine relations.

Emissaries Under Surveillance
Today's action came while another of Adolf Hitler's emissaries, Capt. Fritz Weidemann, former consul-general at San Francisco, was being kept under surveillance by detectives of the Argentine committee investigating subversive activities, the same group that instituted the proceedings against von Thermann.

Von Thermann's attitude toward the committee charges that they were ridiculous and "do not constitute a reason for my withdrawal."

American-Built Airplanes Prove Superior in Front Line Action

British Pilots Find Pursuits, Bombers Outfight, Outfly Axis Ships; London Dispatches Laud Maneuverability

WASHINGTON (ANF)—Actual combats on the warfronts of World War II—the North Atlantic, England, Europe and Africa—are daily proving the superiority of military aircraft produced in the factories of the United States.

This is the story told by dispatches received from London today by the Aviation News committee of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, which reported that pilots of the Royal Air Force were high in their praise of the speed, range, maneuverability and striking power of the warplanes built in this country for Great Britain under the lend-lease law.

Typical of British reaction to the American planes was this headline from the London press:

"American Planes Fly on All RAF Fronts; Superior to Nazi Ships' Say Pilots."

The unprecedented success on the European war fronts of the fighters, bombers and trainers from the United States has a vital bearing on America's own aerial armament program. For virtually all the planes have counterparts being produced in tremendous numbers for U. S. army and navy air forces, and the lessons learned in the crucible of war are being applied to design and production of these aircraft intended for western hemisphere defense.

The 'Fortress' Raids
Recent exploits of Boeing Flying Fortress bombers in high-altitude raids on Nazi naval bases, described as being "virtually beyond the range of sight or hearing of the Nazis, who only knew of the attack when bombs screamed down on sky," centered worldwide attention on American aircraft.

Here are excerpts from London dispatches to Aviation News Features describing the war work of other U. S.-built aircraft:

"The Curtis P-40—known to the British as the Tomahawk—is one of the fastest and most versatile fighter planes now in operational use. The mounting toll of axis planes which have tangled with Tomahawks in the Middle East (they were credited with the destruction of 25 enemy ships in one month) attests to its superiority over the axis craft.

"American planes made their RAF debut in the coastal command, where reconnaissance patrols composed of Lockheed Hudson bombers proved very effective.

Praise for 'Cats'
"Recently these Hudsons have been supplemented by a growing fleet of Consolidated PBV-5 flying boats, called Catalinas. The 'Cats' are perhaps the most popular of the RAF flying boats. . . . They frequently patrol for three days at a stretch without landing, and serve as patrol ships and convoy escorts. It was one of these ships which first spotted the German battleship Bismarck. . . .

"Newest recruits to the coastal command fleet are the squadron of Northrop (N-3PB) seaplanes recently commissioned by the Norwegian air force fighting with the RAF. These planes are being used for anti-submarine convoy duty off the British coast." (An N-3PB reportedly took part in the aerial

Conquered Nations Face Famine

Marylands and Havocs
"In the Middle East . . . RAF fliers report they are deeply impressed with the performance of the Glenn Martin Maryland bomber, which is being used by the 'International Squadron' composed of American, British Empire, Free French and Rhodesian fliers. . . .

"In the recently opened Battle of Germany, middle-distance American Havoc bombers (also used as nightfighters) have played an important role. These nightflying Douglas planes have been carrying loads of Britain's superbombs on almost nightly attacks on Berlin, Kiel and other important German objectives. They have great speed and maneuverability and few of them have been lost."

Many Other Types
Military censorship restricts comment on the appearance of other American-built ships on the European scene. However, it is known here that additional U. S. models are arriving in ever-increasing numbers and reports of their exploits are being awaited.

They include the four-engine Consolidated Liberator bomber, the Douglas Boston light bomber and such fighters as the Bell Airacobra, new Curtiss Kittyhawk, Vultee Vanguard, Brewster Buffalo and Grumman Martlet.

And the British are reported to be eagerly awaiting such newly-perfected aircraft as the Brewster, Bermuda and Vultee Vengeance dive bombers, the Martin Baltimore and Vega Ventura medium bombers, and the Lockheed Lightning and North American Mustang fighters.

British and Canadian air forces have long used American-built trainers of the North American Harvard series and have lately been receiving deliveries of Cessna twin-engine trainers known as Cranes.

That the people of Europe's conquered countries cannot look to their German overlords for food this winter, is indicated in the statement of a Nazi government spokesman who said Germany "reflected all responsibility for feeding the populations of occupied countries." England and the United States, he said, must accept such obligation and responsibility. Pictured above are French refugee children and oldsters enjoying a scanty meal which may become far scantier with the coming of dreaded winter.

Four Speakers Added to Visual Lecture-Forum

Four speakers have been added to the program for the university's second annual visual instruction conference to be held here Sept. 26 and 27.

According to Lee Lochran of the department of visual instruction the additional speakers are A. J. McClelland of the Erpi Classroom Films, Inc., Long Island City, N. Y.; Nellie Hagen of Harding junior high school, Des Moines; Carl F. Mahne of Vocational Guidance Films, Inc., and Donald W. McCavick of Iowa City junior high school.

Questions to be answered during a panel forum include financing the program, selling it to the board of education, stimulating teachers to use visual aids, materials necessary for schools to own and best handling of film projection.

Cadet Dale Smith Killed Yesterday
Dale Smith, formerly of Anamosa and a flying cadet at Brady, Tex., was killed in action yesterday morning. He was the nephew of Mrs. R. L. Strasburg, 938 Jefferson, and a brother of Ray Smith, instructor in the university mathematics department last year.

Dr. Robert Gibson Addresses Lions Club
Dr. Robert Gibson of the college of medicine will address the members of the Lions club at a luncheon meeting in Reich's Pine room tomorrow.

"Blood Tests for Alcohol at Their Significance to the Drunken Driver," will be the subject of Dr. Gibson's lecture.
