Iowa Ragged in 25 to 8 Victory

 BILL GREEN INTERCEPTS DRAKE PASS ***

By BILL BUCKLEY
Iowa's 1941 debut was a disappointing one, even though the Hawkeyes did trounce Drake's plucky little Bulldogs, 25 to 8, here yesterday afternoon before approximately 25,000 spectators, who left the stadium wondering just what it all meant. For the Hawkeyes had to come from behind twice in the early stages of the game, to even earn the right to be on the same field with the foe, and the sloppiness of the silver-shirted Iowa boys in even the fundamentals of the game was too glaring to be overlooked.

Perhaps it was the fact that the Bulldog aggregation was even faster and smarter than the coaching staff had been able to make the boys believe. It could have been that the team was looking past the present foe to mighty

YOUEL IN HOSPITAL
Jim Youel, Iowa's passing-kicking left halfback, was admitted to University hospital late yesterday afternoon for "rest and observation."
Youel was kicked in the head in the fourth quarter of yesterday's game with Drake, but seemed to have recovered when he left the locker room. He became ill at his fraternity house, however, and was taken to the hospital.

Opponents of Foreign Policy Are Organizing

Will Exert Pressure To Stop Revision Of Neutrality Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of administration foreign policy were organizing yesterday for a fight against revision of the neutrality act, and Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) made it clear that opposition senators would resist any changes.
President Roosevelt is expected to confer with his congressional lieutenants tomorrow and to decide then what recommendations to make in a formal message to congress later in the week.
"I am opposed to either repeal or modification of the neutrality act," LaFollette told reporters. "Either proposal would be another step toward actual participation in the war. Therefore, either would be violative of the pledges President Roosevelt made in the 1940 campaign."
Saying that the administration had not yet given a clear-cut outline of what changes were wanted in the neutrality act, LaFollette added that "apparently they are trying to decide whether to bury it completely or to leave a skeleton hanging up."

Another administration opponent, Senator Johnson (R-Cal), will return here early next week and, other senators said, is expected to call a meeting of the "non-interventionist bloc" immediately after Mr. Roosevelt announces his recommendations.
The present neutrality law, enacted in 1939, forbids the arming of American merchant ships and prevents them from entering belligerent ports or combat areas fixed by the president. In addition, it prohibits Americans from traveling on the vessels of belligerent nations.

Italian Government Proclaims Drastic Rationing, New Taxes

ROME (AP)—The Italian government yesterday announced a far-reaching series of measures designed to streamline the country's war effort, including bread rationing, increases in taxes, curbs on inflation, decentralization of industry and the weeding out of luke-warm fascists from public office.
The cabinet, meeting under Premier Mussolini, approved the group of laws.
These measures revised and reinforced previous decrees intended to discourage Italians from investing their cash in property or industrial securities rather than in the government bonds with which Italy is paying for the war. Their aim is partly also to prevent an inflationary flight from the lira.

Statistics Show U.S. Citizen Pays Higher Taxes Than Britisher

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States chamber of commerce said yesterday that the new tax bill would bring the tax burden of the United States above that of Great Britain, whether measured on a per capita basis or as a percentage of national income.
Commenting that there was a general "erroneous belief" that the tax burden is higher in Britain, the chamber, in its periodical Washington review, said a "conservative estimate" for federal, state and local taxes approximated $22,500,000,000 or a per capita figure of $168 for the fiscal year.

Meet Citizen Jones, Nation's Best Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take the case of Citizen Jones—one of those who will help bear the extra $846,800,000 annual tax burden which will fast next Wednesday on articles ranging from wine to washing machines, from perfume to pianos.
The so-called "nuisance" taxes, provided under the record-breaking $3,553,400,000 revenue bill enacted recently, might affect Citizen Jones this way:
Mr. Jones takes a late vacation and has to pay 5 per cent more on his railroad ticket. He arrives at a resort and is charged 5 per cent extra every time he takes his wife to the roof garden for dancing and drinks.
And, because the liquor tax is increased from $3 to $4 a gallon, he will pay more for the drinks. If he orders wine, he will pay higher taxes, but if he is satisfied with beer there will be no increased tax.
Picking up some trinkets for his wife in the resort novelty shop might cost Mr. Jones a 10 per cent tax on jewelry. If he wanted a tennis racket or a set of golf clubs that would be another 10 per cent.
Cigarettes will not cost him any more, but, because of a 2-cent-a-thousand tax on matches, he might have to pay for his lights.
If he decides to buy a new car (See JONES, page 8)

Steel Workers Strike in South

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The steel workers organizing committee (CIO) voted by acclamation last night to close the vast steel mills of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company in the Birmingham district at 10 p.m. (CST).
This action was taken at a mass meeting at the Fairfield CIO hall and followed the reading of a telegram from Governor Dixon in which the governor refused to withdraw state guard troops stationed earlier yesterday at the entrances to the Ensley works.

British Flyers Join Soviet Army Forces In Battling Germans

Reds Say RAF Units Engaged in 'Routing' Fascist Air Attacks

MOSCOW (AP)—RAF units on the Russian front have entrenched themselves with their Russian comrades-in-arms, coming out to their earthworks and taking to the sky whenever necessary to rout the Germans, according to a descriptive dispatch published yesterday by the Russian army newspaper Red Star.
The story was headlined: "Soviet and English flyers routing fascists side by side."
"The wide field, surrounded by hills, seems deserted but actually it is seething with life," said the dispatch. "The flyers are in deep trenches — some British, others Soviet."
"Standing groups of pilots are studying maps of possible places for aerial battles."
"Bushes are scattered over the field—these camouflaged the fighters, on the left are the Russian Little Falcons, or 'Split Seconds,' and straight ahead are the Hurricanes, pride of British aviation."
"The healthy, high spirited English pilots, gathered at the entrance of the trenches, are approached by Soviet commanders."
"Comrades of air flights, they warmly greet each other and converse with the aid of an interpreter."

Conflicting Communiques Agree Only on One Point—Leningrad Is Still Russian Territory

'Nazis Pushing Ever Near Own Grave' Reds Spokesman Says

Declare Germans Fail In Desperate Attempt To Capture Crimea

MOSCOW (AP)—The Germans have failed to set a single boot on Crimean soil in the battle raging for the vital Black sea peninsula, and they are "pushing ever nearer their own grave" in fighting on the Kiev front, a Soviet spokesman declared today.
"All the fighting for Crimea is taking place outside of the peninsula itself," said S. A. Lozovsky, vice-commissioner of foreign affairs.
Fight Continues at Kiev
Scoffing at German claims of the capture of a half million Russians on the Kiev front, Lozovsky said that instead of ending, the fight there continues with undiminished fury.
"The Germans are trying desperately to achieve their main aim of annihilating Soviet manpower," he added. "Now I can say again that the further they push eastward, the nearer they are to the grave."
Today's early morning communique was a reiteration of similar pronouncements for days—fierce fighting along the whole front.
At the other end of the long front Russian and German forces are locked in "incessant" day and night battle for Leningrad, Lozovsky declared, but he asserted that he was "absolutely confident that the Germans never will take the city."
They Will Not Take Leningrad
"They already have lost tens of thousands of lives," he said, "but they will not capture Leningrad no matter how many more tens of thousands of German lives are lost."
"Incessant fighting day and night is raging on the distant approaches to Leningrad. The nazis say they are advancing, but even if they crawled they would already have been there. Leningrad is a hard nut to crack."
A communique yesterday stated that more than 4,000 German officers and men had been killed on the approaches to Leningrad in the repulse of a German attack, and that 66 aircraft and 34 tanks and other war material were captured or destroyed.

Giant 'Air Battleship,' World's Largest Flying Boat, Ready for Tests

BALTIMORE (AP)—The navy's mammoth "air battleship," described by its makers as the largest flying boat ever built, was rolled out into the open for the first time yesterday at the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft company's Middle River plant.
The bomber, 170 feet long and with a 200 foot wingspread, is powered with four 2,000-horsepower motors. It will carry a normal crew of eleven and if used as a troop transport could carry 150 armed men fully equipped.

Interpreting The War News

Russian Resistance In Ukraine Stronger Than Nazis Expected

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

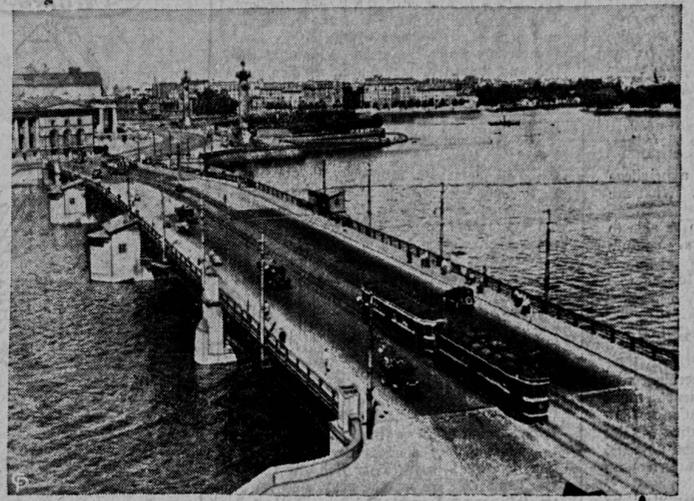

The astonishing thing about Germany's swift conquest of Kiev just over a week ago is that within that brief time and despite unquestionably terrible losses the Russians have rallied effectively.
Within those few days they have achieved a new defense set-up nearly 200 miles eastward of their former Dnieper front about Kiev. There is ample Nazi testimony that it is a front well implemented with guns and tanks as well as men.
And it has balked at least temporarily Nazi efforts to pinch off Kharkov, last great Ukrainian city except Odessa still in Russian hands. It is clear that the Nazi high command had expected quickly to drive wide-spreading pincer arms around Kharkov from the north and south as they did about Kiev, then take it from the rear as Kiev fell.
German strategy counted heavily on the expected confusion and disorganization resulting on a wide gap in Russian ranks due to the fall of Kiev and capture or destruction of Russian armies caught in the Kiev trap. This would have paved the way for an even swifter dash into the Donets basin. The week long stand of Red forces east of Kiev has upset those German calculations.
The explanation probably is that Russian leadership was well aware (See INTERPRETING, page 3)

Nazis Declare 'Soviet All But Knocked Out' On Every Battlefront

Claim Turning Point Of War Has Arrived; Name New Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BERLIN—Russia has been all but knocked out and the turning point of the whole war has arrived, authorized German sources declared last night, as the result of a German victory east of Kiev announced by the high command as a triumph "unparalleled in history."
In what Germans called the most destructive battle ever fought, a triumphant war bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said that Soviet defenses of the Dnieper river had been "uprooted" by the tremendous encirclement operation now brought to a successful conclusion, that five Russian armies were wiped out, 665,000 prisoners taken and that a vast array of munitions was seized or destroyed.
With Adolf Hitler's armies hammering at the gates of Leningrad, pushing ever eastward through the Ukraine and reported already at the headwaters of the Volga river, German sources attached particular significance to the communique's terse remark that "exploitation of these successes is in full swing."
Other dispatches, possibly hinting at the direction in which the high command was following up its gains, reported the air force bombing Bryansk, midway between Moscow and Kiev, and other towns along the double-track railway connecting those cities.
The German air force sank freighters of a total tonnage of 50,000 during the past week in the Black sea, DNB stated last night. Three freighters of a total of 10,000 tons were sent to the bottom off northwest Crimea, it was said.
Source of the Volga was reached at Seliger lake, 200 miles southeast of Leningrad, informed sources said. The 2,325-mile-long river reaches the Caspian sea, and would be a natural obstacle behind which Russian armies might retire if forced out of Moscow and the Don valley.
The German press and authorized spokesmen quickly expressed the view that effective help for Russia no longer was possible.
"North American and British help for Russia has remained on paper and will stay there if Russia must depend on long inefficient transport routes over Iran and through the Arctic seas via Siberia," declared the official German news agency.

ARMIES SURGE IN BLOODY DUEL AROUND LENINGRAD

Government buildings on the Fontanka river in Leningrad, top, and the Republic bridge, below. Leningrad, second largest city of Russia, shown in the views above, is withstanding the greatest siege in military history. German armies are attempting to turn the northern end of the Russian defense lines by capturing the city and its extensive industries, but so far the Soviet defenders have been able to hold off the attacks.

Axis Observes Signing of Pact

BERLIN (AP)—Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini and Japanese Premier Prince Konoye exchanged telegrams today on the occasion of the first anniversary of the signing of the three-power pact which aligned Japan with the axis.
Hitler's telegram said the pact was the foundation of the new order. Further generations, he said, would appreciate the fact the signatory powers had saved the world from "the deadly menace of bolshevism."
Il Duce answered with a telegram asserting that decisions as great as those of the past year lie ahead.

Navy Destroyers Rescue Six Members of Crew Of Missing Freighter

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The navy reported the rescue by destroyers today of six of the crew of the foundered freighter Libby Maine in the Caribbean, with search continuing for the 25 listed as still missing.
Third Mate Francis Holmes and a crewman whose name was given as James Moore were taken off a raft by a destroyer which found them with the aid of a searchlight at 1 a.m.
Later yesterday four additional crewmen were reported rescued in heavy seas. No details were available.

Bridge of Ships Takes Form As—

14 U.S. Cargo Vessels Launched

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With 14 new cargo ships sliding down the ways, America put a vital span yesterday into the "bridge of ships," by which this government expects to contribute to the downfall of Adolf Hitler.

It was the largest mass launching since World war days, and was notable, too, because among the vessels which hit the salt tides were three of the new "Liberty ships," designed for mass production. The launchings took place on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Gulf of Mexico as well.
President Roosevelt signaled the occasion with the unusual device of an electrically transcribed speech, heard at all the launching ceremonies, in which he called the event a "telling blow at the menace to our nation."

He told the shipworkers of America they were doing "a great job" and had "caught the true spirit with which all this nation must be imbued if Hitler and other aggressors of his ilk are to be prevented from crushing us."
"With every new ship," he said, "the menace to our nation and the liberties of the free peoples of the world. They struck fourteen such blows today."
And, he reiterated this nation's insistence upon maintaining the freedom of the seas in the face of axis submarines and raiders with an assertion that to the best of this country's ability the new vessels will be protected "from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."
The president focused attention particularly on the launching of the "Patrick Henry," one of the liberty ships, at Baltimore, by recalling the Virginian's famous "Give me liberty or give me death."
"There shall be no death for America, for democracy, for freedom!" Mr. Roosevelt said. "There must be liberty, worldwide and eternal. That is our prayer—our pledge to mankind."
At the hour of the Patrick Henry's launching, American merchant ships, wherever they might be, were dressed—if conditions permitted—in their brightest bunting, and blew a salute blast on their whistles to the new vessel. Shipyard whistles all over America did the same, and American naval ships as well.

Higher Education Still Bulwark Of America; Will We Guard It?

(The following editorial appeared last week in the Minnesota Daily. Directed at college students wherever they may be, it is equally applicable to Iowa.—The Editor.)

"Education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave."

—Lord Brougham.

VICIOUS BATTLE FOR KIEV RAGING ON. NAZIS SMASH AT RED FLEET. NAZI ORDER IS DEATH THREAT TO ALL FRENCH. ITALIAN BOATS RAID GIBRALTAR HARBOR.

Headlines flood the newspapers shouting "war in Europe." But here in the Western hemisphere no bombs are falling, no guns are firing, food is plentiful and free speech is a fact, not a dream.

Within this small population of free people lies another, still smaller population, which contains those who are also endowed with blessings of free speech, thought and action. YOU WHO READ THIS BELONG TO THAT SMALLER POPULATION, THE STUDENT BODY OF THE UNITED STATES.

Of us there are only 1,350,000—just 1 per cent of the population of our country, 7/100 of 1 per cent of this war-torn world's total population.

One of Hitler's first steps in controlling Germany was to strike at the root of free thinking, the schools. He deliberately injected totalitarian philosophy into the blood of German youth, knowing that here he would strike his greatest blow. When support was needed, the young men of the nation, schooled in Nazi tactics, provided it. Blindly they followed Der Fuehrer's orders.

Their fate need not be ours. We are not told what is right and what is wrong, we are merely told what is, and from that we draw our own conclusions. The future of free education is in doubt: If Germany wins it is logical to assume that education—German style—will be extended to the vassal nations.

The United States is one of the few remaining countries in which students are reasonably certain that they will remain free, for the time being, at least, to think and to speak as they wish, discussing systems of government other than ours without quaking at the sound of a footstep in the hall outside.

Diogenes, an early Greek philosopher, once said, "The foundation of every state is the education of its youth." Since freedom is our basis for living, the defense of that freedom is put squarely up to us, the students. We are among that 1 per cent to which the privilege of higher education is offered: "the foundation of the state." It has been said that the students of today are the leaders of tomorrow; it is certain we will be held responsible for getting the most from the university education that is ours for the taking.

To the freshman class we say that you are part of the second largest university in the country, probably the second largest free-thinking university in the world. YOU ARE ON YOUR OWN FROM NOW ON. WITH EVERY FACILITY AT YOUR DISPOSAL, YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE. NOT ONLY FOR YOUR OWN LIFE, BUT FOR THE FUTURE OF A NATION AS WELL. This is an opportunity that may not be offered to you again. It is yours—now.

In no other country today are the educational institutions so free from political influence as they are here. It is a privilege that carries with it an obligation. What are you going to do about it?

We consider ourselves lucky to be able to attend the University of Minnesota. You are lucky to be able to avail yourselves of its advantages, too, and we expect you to make the most of it while you are here.

How Iowans Died on the Highways During 1941's First Eight Months

In a summary issued by the accident record division of the Iowa department of public safety for the first eight months of 1941 the death toll of highway fatalities was 32 over last year for the same period of time, 1941 having 353 highway deaths as against 321 for '40.

The report showed that 175 persons have been killed at night and 178 during daytime. Of this total 262 have been males and 91 females.

Twelve counties had a perfect record during this period of time with no fatalities.

They were: Appanoose, Clayton, Delaware, Humboldt, Ida, Jones, Mitchell, Ringgold, Union, Washington, Worth and Winnebago. Winnebago had reported no fatalities for the first eight months in 1940 and, thus, is the only county in the state having both years without a fatality the first eight months of the two years.

Polk, with 22, has the blackest record of highway deaths. Blackhawk follows with 15. Scott is in third place with 13 and Clinton and Dubuque each have suffered 11 highway fatalities.

Seventeen counties reported but one highway fatality for the first eight months: Allamakee, Cherokee, Clay, Dallas, Fayette, Franklin, Greene, Hancock, Hardin, Howard, Jackson, Madison, Montgomery, Plymouth, Taylor, Wayne, and Winneshiek were these counties.

The greatest increase in the type of fatal accident was the non-collision accident which, during the first eight months of this year, caused 86 deaths as compared with 55 of a year ago. Collision with other motor vehicles claimed 134 lives this year as against 121 for the first eight months of 1940. 35 were killed in collisions with fixed objects as against 26 for the same period last year.

Collisions with railroad trains show a decrease of 2 being 28 for this year and 30 for the same period last year. Bicycle-motor vehicle deaths also dropped 2 being 10 in the first 8 months of 1940 as against 8 for this year.

Although pedestrian deaths show a decline in the first eight months of 1941 of 14, (75 in '40, 61 in '41) John R. Hattery, president of the Iowa Safety council warned all motorists and pedestrians that days are growing shorter and that it is during the fall and winter that pedestrian deaths mount. He urged motorists to be on the alert for the pedestrian during the hours of dusk as pedestrians now wear dark clothing and it is very hard to see them at night.

The month by month fatality chart shows that during four months Iowa has had a reduction in deaths as compared with 1940 and in the other four months there has been an increase.

Guppies Won't Gup at the Battery Anymore; Aquarium's Being Moved

NEW YORK—The decision of Park Commissioner Moses to move the Aquarium from Manhattan to the Bronx was bad news for most New Yorkers. The old land mark has been a point of pride for decades, and transferring it from the city's best known borough to its least glamorous precinct may be the beginning of the end for a relic of a bygone age in New York.

For the Aquarium was once Fort Clinton, built by the citizens doggedly intent on keeping out sea-borne invaders. . . . Years after this it became Castle Gardens, a point of social festivities, and Jenny Lind made her first American appearance there. Later it was turned into a home for rare fishes and, as such, has delighted thousands of people each week who come to New York and tarry by its glass walled exhibits.

Commissioner Moses says he has no objections to the building remaining where it is if the city wants to put up the $182,000 necessary for its restoration as a fort. It is probable that no such amount will be forthcoming, which means, in the end, that one fine morning the wrecking crews will bear down on the old Battery Park scene and the cranes and sledgehammers of Manhattan's demolishers will succeed where the guns of enemy ships more than a century ago failed.

In rambling about the streets of New York for almost a decade and reporting its activities I have received communications from people in almost every one of the 48 states. As a rule, these writers were potential tourists to New York. Scores have asked about the Aquarium—what admission was charged, was it easily reached by subway or trolley, what were the hours—but not one soul has ever asked me "What about the Bronx?" The Bronx is one of the five boroughs of this city. It is the home of the Bronx Bombers—the New York Yankees—and Joe DiMaggio, and it is also the home of the Bronx Zoo. Commissioner Moses wants to put most of the fish and the marine exhibits at the Zoo temporarily. Why he wants to touch them at all is a question that many people would like answered.

The Aquarium is not the first of New York's curios to be banished. Civic Virtue, that odd piece of sculptury which for years riled some of our sensitive citizens—probably because it represented a man with his foot on a woman's neck—has been exiled to Queens, a sister borough of the Bronx. For years old "Civic" hung around City Hall and inspired both awe and delight in hundreds of thousands of citizens and visitors.

Now the Aquarium is to be evicted, and I am beginning to wonder whether Liberty, on her island in the harbor, or U. S. Grant, in his cupola tomb on Riverside Drive, may not be next. If the old general's shade continues to hover at the scene, it might be a good idea to drop Bob Moses a little note, and forestall, perhaps, one of those impromptu journeys that seem to be the new order around here. The note might say, "Dear Bob, drop in at the Tomb and see me the next time you're up this way. I want to have a little talk with you. Nothing very important, but I like it fine up here on the Drive. After all these years, I sure would hate to wind up in some place like Fur Rockaway, or Coney, Y. R. Obd't. Svt., U. S. Grant."

In the Nation's Capital—

By HUGH JOHNSON

The Utter Nonsense Of the Treasury Move—

WASHINGTON D. C.—When Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said he thinks profits should be limited to 6% of invested capital, he wasn't reading from his prepared manuscript, which made no such suggestion. Henry ought not to try ad libbing that way. His getting to be the "best secretary of the treasury since Willie Woodin" has been largely due to his choice of some smart assistants. Henry, on his own, ain't any too smart. His 6% recommendation was either very vicious or very ignorant. In these troubled times it is more charitable to say "very ignorant."

Invested capital is not the important thing to look at in examining the performance of any enterprise. Proof of that is that no financial expert on securities looks first at the balance sheet of a company in question. It looks first at its income statement to learn what it earns, not in percentage of invested capital, but on each share of stock. In many cases (as in non-pare common stock) that has nothing whatever to do with invested capital—which usually means largely bricks, mortar and machinery and which isn't worth a tinker's dam if it can't earn and in that case a liability rather than an asset.

THE STUPIDITY OF IT

Furthermore, some companies, railroads for example, are heavily over-capitalized, burdened with some "assets" which are just dead horses—unburied corpses of dead mistakes. 6% on their "invested capital" would be a boonanza for them. At the other end of the list are companies which depend almost entirely on good-will and skill which can't properly be written in their "invested capital."

Consider a great law firm. Its "invested capital" is in a snag of books and a group of offices, sometimes sumptuous, but even this is unnecessary if it is getting results. Its "invested capital" is negligible. If it had to be restricted to 6% on that, its whole value would be gone. Think about chewing-gum companies. Lots of their factories are marvels of efficiency, but their value lies in the intangibles of public preference and confidence. A good deal of this is true about newspapers and magazines.

There is another vital point. Most old and long established industrial companies, the "economic empires" and "potential monopolies" have very large "invested capital" relatively unburdened with debt. Most new and up-and-coming little fellows have much larger proportions of debt. 6% isn't so bad for the big guy. It is poison and bankruptcy for the little one. He can't get out of debt at 6%.

LITTLE FELLOW TRIMMED AGAIN

The real murderous bearing of this Morgenthau suggestion is not on the companies at all. They are mostly corporations—artificial persons. The real bearing is on the man in the street who has bought a few shares of common stock in this or that company—not for speculation but for investment. He did it on the universal rule of market prices, not on the tricky and inapplicable rule of "return on invested capital," but on the long established principle of "earnings per share." Once Morgenthau's suggestion becomes a law a large but in-terminable proportion of the holdings of investors in common stocks would become chaff in the wind. Perhaps unconsciously, but nevertheless effectively, almost every recent policy, headlong priorities, proposed piece-meal price legislation and now this 6% nonsense has tended toward an alarming increase of monopoly and destruction of small enterprises in the United States. It is the intention to corral private property into big pieces because it is easier thus to absorb it into the equivalent of government ownership? I think there is no such intention, but if there were it couldn't be done faster or more effectively than it is being done.

America's Movieland—

By ROBBIN COONS

Might Pay to See America First—

By HAROLD LAMB

(The historian and screen writer, author of "Genghis Khan," "The Crusades," and currently, the screenplay for "Gwangi," writes a column for vacating Robbin Coons.)

HOLLYWOOD—Lewis Carroll wrote his Alice in Wonderland stories to amuse children. His mathematical works are no more than old printed paper today, but Alice has been cherished by the mass of English-speaking human beings. We escape from the reality in the same way within Treasure Island and with Mr. Pickwick.

American motion pictures supply an escape to the people overseas. Our films give new frontiers of imagination. I've seen Persians in Isfahan lost in an American comedy, even while a reader at the back of the house had to explain the writer's captious as the story went on. And once in Baghdad one of our films was stopped for a few moments because some devout Arabs scrambled into the aisles to pray, when they heard a muezzin call to prayer on the screen.

Such audiences seldom laughed. The picture provided them with a wonderland in which they lost themselves. Even Mickey Mouse had a magic touch about him. Our westerns offered people like the Swiss an escape from routine. They could ride after cattle thieves—explore new plains and mountains.

An escape is just as vital now to Americans as it is to the Far East. The escape story is the real heritage of the common folk in any land. It dates from the poets of Homer's time, who chanted their fantastic yarns of Troy, and the story-tellers of the bazzars and minstrels of the days before books were printed. And the great mass of human beings hold more closely to this heritage of the escape story than we realize. They want to be caught up by a film and carried out of themselves.

In the same way, Americans have welcomed a film of the Persian tribes, leading their herds over the mountain passes, or Esquimaux managing to keep himself alive on ice. Or a boy who grew up with the elephants.

We can't escape through propaganda or problems, or sophistication. Our studio heads might take a leaf from the reaction of those foreign audiences who wanted "just a story." Why not explore the Seven Seas, with old ships? What has happened to the Flying Dutchman and the spirits of Cape Horn? What about the Indians who lived in a new world before the coming of the white man with his politics?

There are more stories in the American navy than have ever been told, and they remain a closed book to us. Where are the lost horizons of our own land? Or that adventurous sailor from China who may have been the first discoverer of America?

Our sea captains' have their stories, almost unknown. John Paul Jones in Russia, for instance. Once we built a Panama canal, and found our way through the snows of Alaska.

There was prehistoric life in these United States, at which we have almost never glanced. One studio (RKO) is filming a story of ordinary cowboys who counter that unknown prehistoric world in the desert badlands, as I happen to know, having had a hand in writing the story.

Why should we lose the spirit of the Americans who explored beyond the horizon and found new frontiers?

"No attention at all has been paid to requests that instructors be deferred (from military service), and it is almost impossible to recruit teachers of engineering. As a result while we are asked to train more engineers, we have fewer teachers to conduct the classes." Harrison C. Dale, president of the University of Idaho, urges that college instructors be deferred from selective service.

Denies Propaganda

Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers motion picture company, is pictured above as he told a senate sub-committee investigating war propaganda in films that he was bitterly anti-Nazi but emphatically denied he had produced pictures to create war hysteria.

The New Books—

By JOHN SELBY

By JOHN SELBY "PARDON MY HARVARD ACCENT," by William G. Morse. (Farrar & Rinehart; $3.) IT is a little early to be suggesting Christmas books, but if you have a man on your list you might do much worse that make a note of "Pardon My Harvard Accent," by William G. Morse. Mr. Morse is, of all things, purchasing agent for Harvard, and the book is his autobiography. It is difficult to imagine how the autobiography of a college purchasing agent could be one of the most amusing books of the fall—but it is. Mr. Morse has been other things besides a purchasing agent. He was a motor car salesman in the '90s, when Locomobile Steamers were being made, and people yelled after him, "Get a horse," and the bicycle wheels upon which the contraption rolled sometimes were knocked out of plumb by the curbing, and he drove back to the sales-room with the vehicle thrashing about like one of those trick cars the clowns use in circuses. Mr. Morse also has worked in mills, as employe and employer. Later he worked in a plush mill to report at 6:30 in the morning, and when after a year Morse asked why, the owner said he only wanted to know whether his new man would stand for it. Morse thereafter could report at 8:30 like everybody else! Then Mr. Morse became a partner in a mill making "cotton waste yarns on the woolen system," and that was also an adventure. It was and ordeal between fire and water, to be exact. If the Schuykill river was not rising 20 or 30 feet to drown out the machinery, some lint was catching fire. There were 23 fires in 12 months, only one serious but all potentially dangerous. And the water tank on the roof fell through to the basement, too. Mr. Morse was an officer in the Navy through the war. Then, after some other things, he went to Harvard to save the university money on its purchases. It is a tribute to the remarkable zest with which this account is written that this last experiment is full of excitement as well as sound sense. The whole book is full of the same. The army's new "shirt-pocket" food rations—12 ounces, condensed meals—were developed by Dr. Ansel Keys of the University of Minnesota.

"Conversation at Eight," first in a series of forums to be heard every Monday evening, will present students in an unrehearsed discussion of some topic of current interest.

This restriction also applies to the families of retired workers who receive their checks. Nor can the families receive insurance payments if they receive jobs.

of the impending stroke on the Kiev front long before it came. It took time for the Germans, with fantastically long and difficult communication lines, to assemble sufficient forces for the drive about Kiev.

In hostile territory where grapevine Russian communications must be the order of the day, the possibilities of surprise were strictly limited. The Russians knew what was coming.

The fact that for a week after the fall of Kiev the nazis cited no specific advances beyond the Poltava to the south or Glukova to the north (the gateposts of that 100 mile gap), nor claimed seizure of new towns in the center bears witness to Russian army staff skill in a terrific emergency.

It is now clear that Russian resistance exhausted their hitting power for the moment. Whether the Red army can hold the indicated Kharkov front remains to be seen.

It is the lesson of all military history that the first blow of a major attack is always the hardest. Succeeding blows, once the initial thrust is halted, come with waning force. Nazi failure to press forward toward Kharkov and Rostov promptly might mean an indecisive winter stale-mate in the east—the thing Hitler clearly hoped to avert by a smashing quick breakthrough in the Kiev battle.

Gophers Win Over Washington Huskies, 14 to 6

Bruce Smith Paces Mates With 2 Tallies

Washington Shades Minnesota Only In 1 Department, Passing

By GAIL FOWLER
SEATTLE (AP)—The boy they've talked up as an All-American candidate, 193-pound halfback Bruce Smith, lived up to all the advance notices yesterday as he led the mighty Minnesota Gophers to a 14-6 victory over the University of Washington before 43,000 impressed spectators.

The intersectional gridiron opener, witnessed by Seattle's record crowd, saw Smith virtually alone carry on his team's offensive to score touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters.

It was the toe of Bill Garneas, playing his first season, that made victory doubly sure, because the Gophers were leading 7-6 up to the last two minutes of play.

Washington Tallies
Washington had made a ball game of it in the third quarter, aided by a fumble deep in Minnesota territory. From the 14-yard line, Washington fullback Ernie Steele ran back to his right to pass, was cornered, reversed his field and ran down the left side lines to score.

But a b'd pass from center ruined chances for the extra point and Minnesota kept its one point lead.

Gophers Line Tired

The Minnesota forwards appeared tired when Washington was getting its score, and later didn't have the punch as the stalwart Washingtons held the Gophers for downs on the one-yard line, after four cracks from the eight.

But Coach Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, astutely juggling his man-power, managed to rest some of his key linemen like Tackles Urban Odson and Dick Wildung, and they had enough soup left to push over the clincher, just before the finish, with the driving Smith fugged the ball.

Smith netted 109 yards in 23 tries for a 4.19 average per crack. He completed two passes out of five for 28 yards and averaged 31.1 as a punter, with two over the goal line.

Minnesota outdressed Washington, 12 to 5, and outtrashed the Huskies 19 to 40. Washington shaded the Gophers only in passing, netting 45 yards to Minnesota's 38.

ACTION AS HAWKS RAN OVER, AROUND DRAKE

Iowa used running plays almost exclusively to subdue Drake's stubborn Bulldogs here yesterday, 25 to 8, in a ragged game. In the top photo, Bus Mertes, who played a bangup game for the Hawks at right half, scoring two touchdowns, is pictured being stopped after a run of 20 yards in the second quarter. The tackler is Willis Neesen, Drake tackle and co-captain. Others in the picture are Bill Stauss (70), Al Urban (18), Bill Burkett (15) and Jim Walker (63), all of Iowa. Bulldogs are Ralph Frank (44), Ernest Michna (40), Leonard Adams (61), Ralph Burton (54) and Tom Arneson (11). In the bottom picture, Iowa's "Bullet Bill" Green, candidate for All-American honors, cuts inside tackle for six yards and Iowa's third touchdown in the third quarter. Note the block by Iowa player (on ground). Al Coupee (at left) looks back on play, with Bill Stauss in background. Drake player edging toward Green is Dale Peason, substitute quarterback.

Hawkeyes as Gloomy as London Blackout

Plenty of Work to Do, Play Them One at a Time
Voices Sentiment of Whole Squad

By JOHNNY NICHOLS
A photograph of a London blackout would be a picture of sweetness and light compared to the Iowa locker room as the team filed in after its opening game victory over Drake university. On the whole, the Hawkeyes seemed to feel the victory was a hollow one.

The squad as a group was about as verbose as a dyspeptic clam. There was no noise except the rip of tape and the slamming of locker doors. The general sentiment of the squad was voiced by Al Urban's "We all have a lot of work to do this week—especially me." Every man on the squad gave the impression that it was his own personal fault the score wasn't 50 to 0.

Eddie Praises Four
Much of the feeling of dissatisfaction was counterbalanced by the work of a few men who played under heads up ball all the way through. Dr. Eddie Anderson was particularly pleased with the work of Bus Mertes who in his junior year seems destined to live up to the promise he has shown only in flashes heretofore. Also mentioned for sterling performance was the work of brawny Jim Walker, big Negro tackle, who last year was bothered by a trick knee. Asked if it troubled him at all, he confessed to a little stiffness but hastened to add, "it'll be all right for Michigan, though." Bill Burkett, end, and Ross Anderson, watch-charm guard, also received praise from Dr. Eddie for their play. Both have a year's experience back of them which showed in the dependability of their play.

Kennedy Felt Good
When asked how he felt after getting in the game for the first time, Jack Kennedy, the Sioux City speed merchant, said, "Well I felt kinda numb when I ran out there, but once I got started it was all right." The Sioux City boy came in for some favorable comment from Anderson but as yet lacks the experience that brings stability. Big Hank Miller, sophomore end from Ida Grove, wiped some blood from a scratch on his face and remarked he was "sure glad" to get that first game under his belt. Al Coupee grabbing a towel and heading for the shower, paused just long enough to say, "From now on we're going to start playing them just one at a time."

There is little doubt but that the boys went into the game looking a week ahead for Michigan and weren't prepared for the resistance they met. This may be no good for Michigan, but at the same time it was a good lesson for the team from the seniors on down.

Irish Mix Running Plays, Passes For Win Over Arizona

Score Touchdowns In Every Quarter For Easy 38-7 Win

SOUTH BEND Ind. (AP)—A new era in Notre Dame football opened to the impressive blast of six touchdowns yesterday as Coach Frank Leahy's initial Irish eleven routed the University of Arizona 38 to 7 before 35,000 spectators.

Scoring three times by air and as many times with a running game, Notre Dame presented a diversified attack which brought touchdowns in every period and gave the invaders no chance for victory. Only a long pass in the second period, completed against the Irish reserves, saved Arizona from a shutout.

Taking into consideration that the invaders were outclassed, both offensively and defensively, Notre Dame demonstrated that Coach Leahy in his first season has come up with an eleven capable of giving any club trouble. Owen Evans, Steve Juzwik and several reserves displayed speed and running talents, while in sophomore Angelo Bertelli the Irish produced a passer who showed promise of developing into one of the best Notre Dame tossers in years.

Notre Dame completed 14 out of 20 passes with Bertelli making 11 of them aided measurably by consistent protection from his mates.

Detroit Smashes Indiana Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Accurate-passing, hard-driving Detroit university smothered Indiana's vaunted sophomore backs and beat Bo McMillin's Western conference team, 14 to 7, in a football season opener before some 12,000 spectators yesterday.

Halfback Bill Hillenbrand of Evansville, Ind., and Charlie Jacoby of Chicago got loose from Gus Dorais' Titans only in the third quarter. The duo drove 55 yards to the four-yard line and Hillenbrand pilled through center for Indiana's lone touchdown. Captain Gene White place kicked for the extra point.

Detroit got down to business early with sophomores carrying the brunt of the offensive. Fullback Al Schmidt's center smash inside the 10-yard line accounted for the initial Titan marker. Right halfback Art Link converted with a place kick.

The Titans solved the Hoosier passing plays midway in the third period, but couldn't halt Jacoby and Hillenbrand as they knifed through the line in a persistent drive which tied the score.

In the final quarter, Indiana

Tom Kuzma Leads Wolverines to Win Over Michigan State

Bob Westfall Makes Winning Touchdown From One-Yard Line

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—All-American Tom Harmon was no nearer than the radio booth yesterday, but Michigan's football team alternated two players in his position effectively to defeat its intrastate rivals, Michigan State's Spartans, 19 to 7, before 67,079 spectators.

To replace Harmon's power running, Coach Fritz Crisler called on Sophomore Tom Kuzma, 204-pound halfback from Harmon's home town of Gary, Ind. Kuzma scored two touchdowns. For speed at the position Michigan used little Davey Nelson, who ran the Spartans dizzy.

With the two filling the tailback slot seemingly to Crisler's satisfaction, Michigan looked much like the powerhouse of 1940 as it spotted State a 7-point lead and then roared back to its fourth successive victory in the series that started in 1898.

What proved to be the winning touchdown was contributed by Fullback Bob Westfall, Harmon's former running mate, who dove across from the one-yard line in the third period. Just to make certain, Kuzma pounded over from the one to climax a 66-yard drive later that period.

Kuzma's touchdown from the two-yard line in the second period of balanced Michigan State's score of balanced Michigan State's score which came in the game's second minute on Halfback Jack Fenton's spectacular 74-yard run.

Statistics gave Michigan a wide margin of superiority with 14 first downs to seven and 235 yards by rushing to 104. Even the famed Spartan aerial attack, which last year brought two touchdowns, was limited to 56 yards.

fought its way to the Titan eight, but the Husky Detroit forward wall stiffened and White's attempted place kick from the 15-yard line was wide of the posts.

down without releasing the ball. Bud Vincent took Bob Otto's boot on the 3 and raced back to the 38, then hit right end to the 38. The Bulldogs had two first downs on line plays before taking to the air lanes with a pass from Vincent to Ralph Burton, good for 24 yards to the Iowa 25. One pass was incomplete, but a line play took the ball to the 19, and from there Vincent heaved one to Emory Reeves in the end zone for the score. The try for extra point was no good.

Iowa, not a little dazed, exchanged a few series of downs with Drake before the first-stringers came into the game. The varsity, benefiting from an exchange of kicks, took over on Drake's 35, and in three tries, two by Al Coupee and one by Bill Green, won on the 15. A penalty nipped them a little, but Mertes' merriment made it up with a brilliant dash at tackle, around end and down the west sideline for the game-tying score. Youel missed the point.

Bulldogs Get Safety
The game settled down a bit for the rest of the period, but Clint Stille caught the Hawks napping on the first play of the second quarter, quick-kicking to the Iowa 20. Iowa, confident, lined up ready to go, but a wide, high pass from center eluded Al Coupee, and "The Dictator" was knocked over the goal by two Drake tacklers for a safety.

That made it 8 to 6 for Drake, and for the second time Iowa had to come back.

After Vincent punted over the goal line, the two Hawkeye speedsters—Mertes and Green—went to work. They collaborated for two plays and a first down to the 41, and then Bus took over. He circled his own left end, shook himself loose from two pileups, reversed his field and outraced two Bulldog backs for a touchdown. Curran's kick was wide.

A ding-dong battle was turned into a rout midway in the third quarter, when Drake was penalized half the distance to the goal for unnecessary roughness on the part of Jerry St. Clair, Bulldog tackle. That was the spark Iowa needed, for in three plays it was on the two-yard line from the 39.

Green picked up eight yards, and Mertes 11, before "Game-Bustin' Buster" twisted loose around left end again, and shook himself and eleven Drake players to the 2. Iowa tried to give him the touchdown, but two line-backs by Mertes failed, so Green lit out through right tackle to score standing up, Mertes blocking beautifully for him. This time Youel's kick was good.

Capt. Bill Diehl, who showed flashes of great linebacking form yesterday, kicked off, and Drake punted after three tries. Then the Hawks marched again.

Youel to Coupee
Green picked up a first down to his own 48, and Bill Stauss rambled to the Drake 43 for another. Mertes, Stauss, Kennedy and Green took it to the 21, but after Stauss and Kennedy ran Iowa to the 1-yard stripe, two plunges and an end run brought it back to the 6. The quarter ended, but the Hawks' threat didn't.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Youel whipped a running pass to Al Coupee in the end zone for Iowa's fourth counter. Youel's kick was low and blocked.

Iowa Band Scores Success in Season's First Performance

By JAMES BURNSIDE

In a sparkling preview of what banddom fans may expect to see in the future, the Hawkeye football band yesterday showed the spectators that "V" stands for something else besides victory—vim, vigor, vitality and above all versatility.

Overcoming the handicap of few practices before the early season Drake game, the colorful "red-coats" under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Richter, joined the Drake band in presenting an entertaining spectacle as has ever been seen at a first game.

Entering the flag-bedecked stadium from the south end, the 125 piece double-header band swung down the field to the strains of the "Circus Fans of America" march.

In midfield position the Hawkeye musicians next officially saluted the Drake fans with the familiar "Hello" march, immediately followed by the "Howdy" march to the Iowa fans.

Gordon Bird, Drake band director, then led the two bands in unison to the "Star Spangled Banner" while the flag was being raised.

A new twist was given to the usual half-time band entertainment when the Drake band surprised the fans with their version of the "Marial Swing." Led by a band member "giving out" a hot trumpet break, the band proceeded to modernize the "National Emblem" with a decidedly "solid" arrangement.

Also featured in the impressive pre-game ceremonies were the famous Scottish Highlanders, directed by Pipe Major William L. Adamson, and the Pershing Rifles and Pontoniers, crack drill squads of the military department.

and drive home he will pay a 7 per cent tax on the car, a levy of 5 cents a pound on the tires and a 9-cent-a-pound impost on the tubes. And a $5 annual use tax on the car will go into effect next February.

Deciding on his return home that he needs a new radio and refrigerator, Mr. Jones will pay a 10 per cent tax on each. Should he want to buy his wife a piano, a bottle of perfume or piece of luggage he will pay 10 per cent tax also on them.

When visitors come for a game of bridge, he will pay a levy of 13 cents a pack for cards. When he wants to take a picture of his family there will be the 10 per cent on photographic apparatus.

The telephone bill will go up—5 per cent on local bills and 10 per cent on most long distance calls—and a new typewriter will invoke the 10 per cent tax on business machines.

If Mr. Jones is a laundry operator he will have to pay 10 per cent more for his washing machines, but he could buy one for his home without tax.

Keeping a safe deposit box will cost him 20 per cent of the rental price, and belonging to his club might bring on the 10 per cent levy on club dues of more than $10 annually.

The movies will cost more, too, because the new bill puts an approximate 10 per cent tax on all admissions costing 10 cents and more. If Mr. Jones shoots a game of pool or spends a half-hour in a bowling alley he might pay a trifle more because of the annual $15 tax on bowling alleys, billiard and pool tables.

Then, there were the torso-length jersey wool skirts . . . gathered on the sides at the waistline . . . having those three-quarter sleeve lengths . . . at DUNN'S for $3.98.
