RAF Bombs Smash At Nazi - H Coast

BERLIN (AP)—Heavy overnight British air raids on German coastal cities (Hamburg and Stettin)—left dead and injured among the civilian population, the high command announced yesterday as the reich curbing activities in preparation for more frequent fall and winter attacks.

Attempts of "diving planes" to bomb Berlin were declared turned by anti-aircraft fire.

But as the warnings shrilled by sirens since the war began toward 100, motion pictures moved up their last showings at 7 p.m. Wagnerian operas starting as early as 3:30 and beginning this evening of Germany's biggest radio is shut down their program: 15 nightly.

Harry Bridges Denies Charges of Member Of Communist Party

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Bridges, west coast CIO director, issued a state yesterday denying he had been a member of the communist party and denouncing the imputation of a justice department inspector that he had been a member of the party in Australia.

"Judge (C. B.) Sears' decision shows understanding of labor and the working peoples' to secure decent living standards through organization," he said.

"The Sears decision that big business lobby in Washington have to be led."

House Passes 6 Billion Dollar Appropriation

2nd Lend-Lease Fund Aimed at Increasing Arms Flow to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $5,958,000,000 second lend-lease fund was approved by a house appropriations subcommittee yesterday and a short time later Jesse Jones said he would favor Russia "getting the benefits" of the bill.

In submitting his request for the new appropriation two weeks ago, Mr. Roosevelt suggested that the legislation permit him to authorize contracts to supply foreign governments with defense articles, information or services. This would apply to any country whose defense the president deemed advisable to the defense of this nation.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) said the appropriations committee had approved the president's request without major change.

He said that defense supplies corporation, a subsidiary of the reconstruction finance corporation, had made a disbursement of $20,000,000 to the Amtorg Trading corporation to be used in the purchase of equipment in the United States. This brought to $30,000,000, the advances made against an agreement to disburse $50,000,000 in advance delivery of manganese, chrome, asbestos, and platinum which will be purchased from Russia by defense supplies corporation.

Ickes Declares Petroleum Shortage Still Acute; Disputes Senate Committee Findings

Admits Transportation Tie-Up Main Reason For Fuel Rationing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and petroleum coordinator, hotly disputed yesterday a senate committee's conclusion that there is no imminent shortage of petroleum products on the eastern seaboard and challenged the credibility of some of the testimony on which the conclusion was based.

"I have said that there was a shortage," the peppy cabinet officer told the committee investigating the petroleum situation, "and I mean as I have always meant, a shortage in transportation. I still say that there is a shortage."

"To me, if your reserves have dropped, and your replacements have dropped, and your transportation facilities have been cut 20 per cent or more with prospects for still greater cuts, and your demand is up 10 or 11 per cent—to me that means shortage."

"It doesn't mean that there isn't enough for today, but it does mean that, if this trend were allowed to continue, there would not be enough for next winter."

Ickes took sharp exception to testimony by John P. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, on which the committee based in part a finding that there was no shortage of transportation facilities.

Asserting that the committee's report had "gravely handicapped" the program of the petroleum coordinator's office by creating "a wholly unjustified attitude of complacency" on the part of the public, Ickes said Pelley had given testimony "which was utterly without foundation—and I believe he knew that it was without foundation."

U.S., England Promise Reds Necessary Aid

The United States and Great Britain agreed to fill virtually every Soviet need for war supplies in exchange for mountains of Russian raw materials at the concluding session last night of the three-power conference.

The conference closed two days ahead of schedule after only three days of sessions—probably the shortest international council of such dimensions ever held. A communique issued by the British and American delegations and one by Russia announced its results.

For the United States and Great Britain, W. Averell Harriman and Lord Beaverbrook promised: "To place at the disposal of the Soviet government practically every requirement for which the Soviet military machine and civil authorities have asked."

Army Sends Arms, Troops To Arctic Post

Correspondent Says Iceland Has Become Gibraltar of Atlantic

By DREW MIDDLETON
REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—A field force of the United States army—infantry, artillery, and engineer, signal, ordnance and medical units—has arrived here with vast supplies of equipment and materials to make this one of the most formidable fortresses of the north.

The Americans brought what their commander, Major General Charles H. Bonesteel, called "some interesting equipment"—skis, snowshoes and Garand automatic rifles for every man—to take over camps built by United States marines and British forces.

Blitzher in Command
Major General H. O. Curtis, commander-in-chief of the British forces and general officer commanding the British troops on the islands, continues in command of all soldiers, including the American contingent.

General Bonesteel, a lean and lanky veteran of the last great war, told me aboard one of the transports:

The American disembarkation was carried out with precision. While General Bonesteel was ashore by General Curtis, men struggled quietly all day, pulling the equipment of modern warfare from the holds of the great transports.

Huge cranes lifted trucks, telephone poles, cement mixers, guns, the latest fighter aircraft, from the big transports to the docks as a keen breeze blew rain from the sea across the docks. Oaths of a familiar American flavor rolled up as infantrymen and artillerymen labored to take the equipment to the new camps of the waiting Americans.

"Damned glad to be on land," some American soldiers said. "The trip was a breeze," one of them remarked. "It was as calm as a lake, and not a sign of a submarine." British tommyes off duty soon were on the best of terms with the Americans. But the American marines—who call the soldiers "dogfaces" and bark at them when they go to post—stood aloof except for parties detailed to explain the docking facilities to the army.

Two Youths Sought By Iowa City Police For Minor Crimes

Iowa City police and the Iowa highway patrol last night were seeking two youths who started a minor crime wave through the southeastern section of Iowa yesterday afternoon.

The two teen-age boys, driving a 1941 black Ford car, pulled out of the drive at Hartvigsen's gasoline station yesterday afternoon without paying a gas bill.

Attendants there reported the car had no license plates and was headed southeast on highway No. 6. Highway patrolmen later traced the pair to Atalisa where they attempted to hold up another gas station.

Both youths were heavily armed, the patrol said, and when last seen were driving toward the Illinois state line.

German Firing Squads Execute 42 Hungarian 'Assassins, Communists'

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—German firing squads and hangmen were reported yesterday to have executed 42 persons in Banat, the Hungarian-occupied part of former Yugoslavia.

BULLETIN Ship Torpedoed

CAPE ELIZABETH, Me. (AP)—The Cape Elizabeth coast guard station said that it intercepted an SOS late yesterday from an unidentified freighter which radioed that it had been torpedoed by a submarine off the coast of Nova Scotia.

(In New York, marine circles reported intercepting an SOS, rebroadcast by station VOS in Campdown, Nova Scotia, from a vessel which said she had been "torpedoed by submarine on surface." The vessel gave her position as 52.50 north, 14.40 west, which would place it off Ireland.)

Nazi, Finnish Troops Claim Petrozavodsk, Rail Center, Captured

Say Italian-German Soldiers Wipe Out Three Red Divisions

BERLIN (AP)—Germany reported progress yesterday at both ends of the eastern front, sharing her claims in the north with Finnish forces which announced the capture of Petrozavodsk and in the south with Italians who are bolstering the push across the Ukraine.

Petrozavodsk, an eastern Karelian city about 180 miles northeast of Leningrad and a port on Lake Onega, is important to the axis war plans primarily as a point on the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad.

Official announcement of its capture was broadcast by the Finnish radio.

Several Russian batteries were captured as the result of surprise attacks by a German armored division east of Dniepropetrovsk, on the line of the German drive toward Kharkov and the industrial Donets river basin in the eastern Ukraine, the high command reported.

Other official sources said three Russian divisions had been wiped out by a combined German-Italian encirclement northeast of Dniepropetrovsk.

A Stefani news agency report from Rome said Italian troops already had captured 7,000 Russian prisoners and were eliminating the last Red army resistance in a large pocket east of the Dnieper river.

On the front before Leningrad, German heavy artillery kept up its pounding of the Russian city's industrial facilities, its water approaches and coastal defense centers.

NEW HURRICANE II MAKES ITS BOW

Claim 100,000 Germans Dead At Leningrad

Correspondent Says 160,000 Rumanians In Battle For Odessa

MOSCOW (AP)—Nazi airmen employing gliders were shot down yesterday in the Black Sea area, presumably the Crimean peninsula, and at least 260,000 Germans and Rumanians have fallen in their attempt to crack the defenses of Leningrad and Odessa, the Russians announced today.

"In one day 100,000 of an air unit of the Black Sea fleet brought down 10 enemy planes and three gliders," a Soviet communique said without elaboration.

Repulse Nazi Attack
Red land troops since last week had reported smashing Nazi efforts to storm the Perekop isthmus approaches to the Crimea. The reference to gliders immediately recalled to observers here the German use of those airplane-towed vehicles in the successful invasion of the Greek island of Crete.

Icy winds and snow struck the Ukraine for the first time yesterday, and the post-midnight communique today reported continued fighting along the entire front.

A Russian officer estimated the Germans have lost 100,000 men in the 10-week struggle against Leningrad, and a Tass correspondent said at least 160,000 Rumanian casualties were suffered in the enduring attempt to take encircled Odessa.

Nazis Lose 5,500
Moreover, front line dispatches said the Nazi invaders had lost 5,500 dead in the last three days.

Intimating that the north and central fronts are tending toward stabilization, these dispatches by Red Star, the army paper, said the Soviet defense was holding firmly to new positions in Leningrad's approaches and that the 268th German division lost 1,300 dead in a three-day attack just concluded in the center.

That division, reorganized after a crushing defeat around Telyna, attacked along the river "S" on Sept. 27, but finally fell back last night, the Red Star said.

In the southwest, Red Star continued, Russian tanks struck the German ninth tank division on the flank, and general counter-attacks cost the Germans 2,300 dead in two days.

In another unspecified southern area where the Germans were bringing up reinforcements, two battalions of the first German alpine division and several other units were destroyed, with 1,400 killed near the village of "U" alone, Red Star stated.

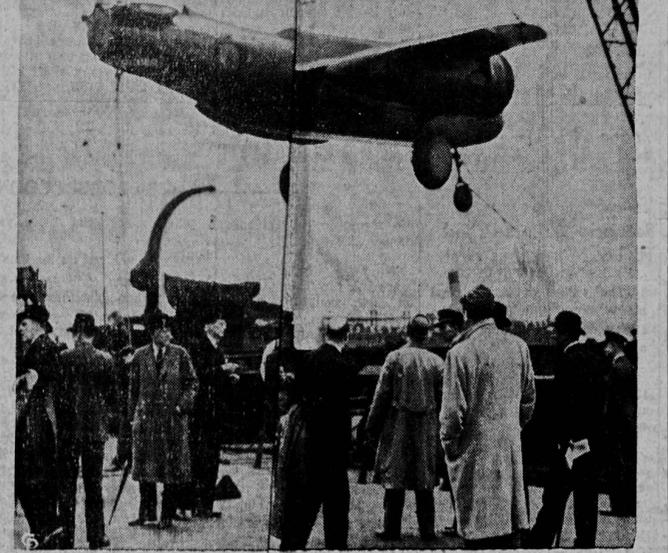

The estimate of 100,000 German casualties before Leningrad came from Colonel Borisov, in a survey in Red Star. It did not include the German losses in Estonia and around Novgorod, 100 miles south of Leningrad, he said.

Mother of Slain Golf Star, Marion Miley, Dies of Bullet Wounds

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Elsa Ego Miley, 50, died yesterday of bullet wounds only a few hours after the burial of her slain daughter, golf star Marion Miley.

Thus, investigators' hopes of solving the mysterious shooting of the two women through further statements of the mother were frustrated.

A FIGHTING 'BUNDIR BRITAIN' IS DELIVERED

Prominent British government officials watch as an American-made bomber is unloaded "somewhere in England" from a ship of a receiver which brought a wide assortment of fighting and bombing planes across the Atlantic. Three after this bomber was landed on the pier it was in the air, part of a royal air force flight. Many are "ferried" to England by air—but not this one.

The Home Should Teach Religion, But So, Too, Should the College

This is the Coe college Cornellian speaking: Much has been written of late charging the colleges with failure to develop an adequate religious program for their students. The accusers point out that college students display laxity and attitudes of indifference toward religious problems, and that it should be a function of the school to provide and promote religious programs to meet these problems.

It is true to some extent that religion and education, the church and the school, are facing a separation; this divorce, however, is not due to negligence on the part of the colleges, either in curriculum or policy. College is not the place where religion is introduced; it is verified and broadened by college experience, but no program can hope to convert the unreligious toward habits of devout religion.

The cause for this laxity and attitude of indifference goes back into the family environment of the potential student. If a student in his home environment and in his own experience has not acquired religious habits, he will not be greatly changed in college. The real laxity is on the part of parents who, themselves not sufficiently imbued, fail to develop an interest in religion among their children.

Here is a stimulating discussion of one of today's vital problems. But if Mr. Slothower is attempting to divorce the teaching of religion from the campus, even in theory or fact, we'll have to disagree.

What this writer has to say about "the use for this laxity and attitude of indifference" about religion unquestionably is true in very large measure. Were there more religious homes and parents in this day and age, there unquestionably would be more evidence of the existence of religious principles on college campuses.

But let's go beyond the fact that there's a lack of such show. Accepting the fact that the spiritual integer on the campus is small, recognizing the fact that it should be larger, isn't it the responsibility of the college or the university to do as much as it can to create that spiritual integer, by whatever means it may be created?

This business of placing the responsibility where it normally should rest and letting it go at that isn't a very constructive way of arguing about building a civilization. If a thing good in toto (and it's to be assumed that human spiritual manifestation is) than whatever means that good may be fostered, should be fostered. The function of the elementary school is to teach children to read and write, but since reading and writing are not so vital to them as they are to us, we don't really let one of our family's children grow up to be an illiterate, simply because he isn't able to go to school. Quite the contrary. He'd be taught in the home, though teaching isn't a function of the home in stylized society.

So it is that universities and colleges must be awake to all the needs of the human race, be they spiritual or material. It is the province of colleges and universities to educate liberally, and that implies a total education—one which builds rounded men and women—those equipped with material AND spiritual training which will create for them a more abundant life.

So, while it is fair that we may place a responsibility upon the home in the writing of religious principles, we dare not wince out of the province of the university, use universities are maintained as continuing factors in the building of a progressive, each generation of which is more fully qualified to build a utopia than the generation actually don't look at it in any way. That they should there doesn't to be much question.

A Note on Auto Horn Blowing

Automobile horn blowing in Iowa is rapidly approaching the point where it constitutes not only a nuisance but also a public health hazard, Dr. Eric P. Pfeiffer of the state health department thinks. He cites excessive use of the horn as a "possible" factor in the 1941 automobile accident death toll.

The director of the vital statistics division, he said that 35 more accident death records reached his office the first seven months this year than during the same period in 1940. Totals were 383 deaths through August this year contrasted with 348 the corresponding period last year.

Said he: "With too many motorists, horn blowing has long since transcended its original and legal use as a warning and is now over-practiced to the extent that it has become an obsession where psychologically the horn is used on the same basis that a dynamiter uses dynamite in blasting an obstruction out of his way."

Rather than feeling their own obligation in avoiding accident, he added, certain motorists depend on their horns and in the resultant blare, particularly in cities, the individual pedestrian or driver for whom the warning is intended is apt not to heed it or even to know that it is meant for him.

Another danger from what he called "this nerve-jangling exercise" is that "people are developing a natural defensive immunity to horns and their sound is becoming just added noise of the street rather than warnings," the doctor commented.

"The nuisance value of noise is high enough and causes sufficient irritability," he concluded, "without adding to it the uproar of many instruments which, in the beginning at least, were contrived to serve a good purpose."

To that we say, "Hear, hear!"

Nothing More to Be Said

Once in a while you run across some little story told in such a way that much more is said than could have been said in 1,000 different ways.

One such is the one they tell on the reporter who interviewed Jim Farley.

"Do you think Roosevelt will run for a fourth term?" Farley was asked.

Said Farley: "I didn't think he'd run for a third term."

SMART SOLDIERS

Tests covering 130,000 trainees in Uncle Sam's new army, according to a Washington announcement, show that 47.13 per cent are 31 per cent of the population in general that falls into the "above normal" classification.—Your Life Magazine.

You've Got to Have What Customers Want—After They Get There—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Restaurant men have a belief that "location" is essential to success in New York. They place great stress on just the right "location." They say, "If a man can find the right spot, he can't miss. He'll make a killing."

Unfortunately, this isn't true. Location doesn't mean very much if you haven't got what the customers want after they get there. The busiest bar in all New York, I think, is the Astor bar, at 45th street on Broadway. I have never seen it when it wasn't crowded, not once in all the times I have ambled past it on Broadway.

Just across the street, on the site exactly opposite, used to be what is remembered as the International Casino. The International had not one bar but four bars, one of which was a winding bar that wound up the spiral stairway from the ground floor to the mezzanine—the idea being that if the weary traveler exhausted himself on the journey upstairs he could always pause at any time and refresh himself.

But despite the elaborate appointment to these bars, their smooth lighting, their streamline waiters and hidden orchestras which played enticing music, they failed. No crowds ever gathered there. No one seemed to care whether they were there or not. Barely 50 feet away, the Astor remained crowded, just as it always has been and is today. What was the answer? Not "location" surely; they had the same location—Times Square, Broadway, the heart of the world. For some perhaps indefinable reason, the International didn't have what it takes. The Astor did.

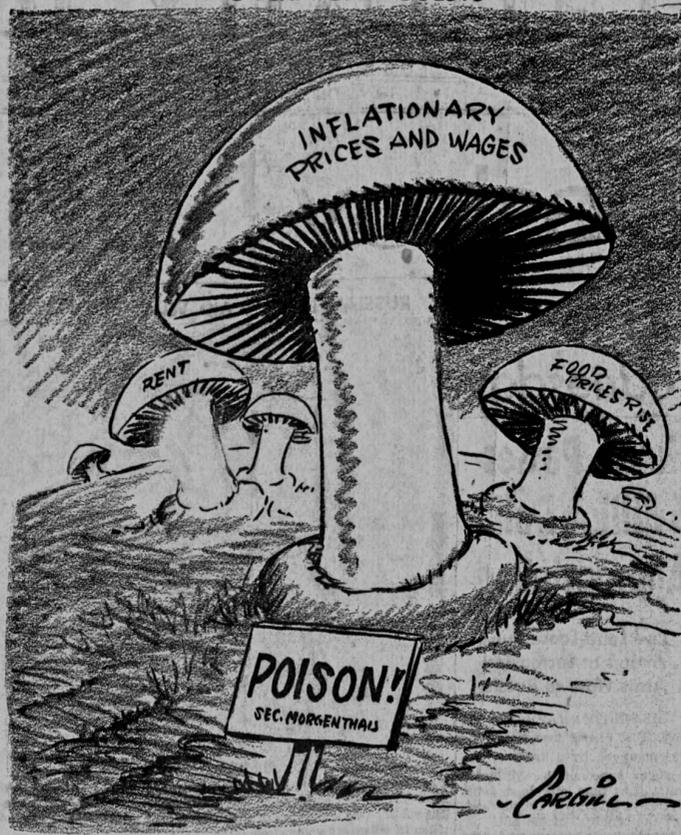

It seems to me there is another lesson in "location" to be learned from the Diamond Horseshoe, which is in the basement of the Paramount Hotel, in west 47th street.

When Billy Rose announced his intentions of opening the Horseshoe in this basement many of his friends went to him and earnestly tried to dissuade him. "You are making a mistake," they told him, "a very bad mistake. You're away from Broadway—the west side, where almost nobody ever goes. Furthermore you're in a basement. People hate basements, especially since repeal. . . that's the worst possible location you could have."

After thanking his friends for this counsel, Billy went right ahead with his plans. He opened. That was more than two and a half years ago. This off-the-path basement of Billy's today is known as a sort of local Comstock lode. It's a gold mine. And if it has a "location" problem, it is the problem of the customers obtaining locations close to the ringside.

So the matter of location in New York doesn't matter very much, not in this observer's opinion anyway. It's a question of what you've got, not where you've got it. I can show you a dozen places in almost any section of town you may care to name that bears this out.

"OVERNIGHT GUESTS"

In the Nation's Capital—

By HUGH JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mr. Donald Nelson, the priorities pooh-bah says its too late to put a ceiling over all prices to stop inflation and so we must attack only a few—not including wages.

Mr. Floyd Odlum, who is charged with getting the little fellow a break in farming out defense contracts, says that started six months too late.

After jimmying around for two years with inadequate tax bills, Mr. Morgenthau in an off-hand moment suddenly proposes a 5% profits limitation tax on industry which would ruin most of small employers not already ruined by the unplanned and headlong priorities excess.

The supposed gasoline shortage was sprung on us out of a clear sky and rather absurd and apparently futile restrictions applied without warning.

Why THE DELAY? If all these moves were so late what explains the delay? The increasing difficulty of the situation has been apparent for over a year. The means to attack it had been suggested over and over again by veterans of our first World War effort. That precedent stood on the record so plainly that it had been adopted by every other country in the war, including Germany.

But for some reason our government would have none of it. Various reasons were advanced. One was that this was a 1941 war and didn't need any 1918 advice. Another—and this has been persistent and imbedded in all the reasoning—was that this new deal government was fully provided with talent and didn't need more or advice.

It may be so, but it is a significant thing that all that old and rejected advice is gradually being reluctantly accepted under the iron clutch and compulsion of circumstances and—as usual—"too little and too late."

A SERIOUS SITUATION—Since this column has been conducting a modest crusade for the bearing of these errors on the little fellow and the consumer, its mail has never been so copious. The instances are enough to bring tears to the eyes of a granite gargoyles.

Don't make any mistake about it. The elimination of small business through inability to get reasonable supplies is not something in the distant future. It is now going on. The pinch on housewives through rising prices is nothing that they do not feel. Mr. Leon Henderson testified that the cost of feeding families has gone up eight per cent in the past few weeks and is going further unless it is stopped. For the average family that hasn't enough income to save much, that is just eight per cent taken out of papa's pay-envelope—it is only a beginning. If it isn't stopped it is going to rise to 20 per cent or 30 per cent and nobody knows how much higher.

TAX ON THOSE LEAST ABLE TO PAY—This is a great hidden tax. It is a tax on those least able to bear it. Go on a little further with this trend. Whom do you hit? The rich? They can stand it, you hit the poor. You hit them in the bread-basket—painfully. You hit the very classes upon which this administration has relied for votes. Furthermore you do good to nobody. There is scarcely a military commentator from Julius Caesar through Napoleon, Hindenburg, Von Ludendorff on who doesn't say that the morale of the civilian population in war is as important as the morale of the armies.

The growing tide of resentment among masses of our people against the wretched mismanagement and lack of planning may be in its first stages, but the evidence of it are unmistakable. The high-wide-and-handsome boys in the seat of the mighty would do well to heed.

Iowa Retailers Have 18 Per Cent Gain During August, '41

With an "all out" for defense program ringing in the ears of America, economists and business men have noted a marked gain in business this year. Independent retailers in Iowa realized an 18 per cent gain in August, according to J. C. Capt, director of the census. This figure is based upon reports from 865 stores in most kinds of business exceeding department stores. Sales of 19 department stores averaged 19 per cent higher in August of this year than in 1940. So far this year department store sales are 11 per cent higher and all other kinds of business are 15 per cent higher than during the same time last year, he reported. Of the several kinds of business covered in the current survey, retailers of durable goods made the most marked advances. Apparel stores, with sharp seasonal sales, were 22 per cent ahead of August 1940, showing an increase in sales as compared with the 13 per cent year-to-date gain. All non-durable lines except liquor stores showed August gains to exceed the year to date record. Dollar sales in food stores increased 9 per cent, while restaurants were up 14 per cent from August 1940.

Easy, isn't it?

Prof. Davies Stresses Scientific Development For National Defense

"Material science must be promoted as never before in order to maintain defensive power," emphasizes Prof. George Davies in his article, "The National Outlook," which appeared in the September issue of the Iowa Business Digest.

"Americans are accustomed to high standards of living and liberty, and fail to understand the menace of Europe," Professor Davies continues. "Its military aspects are becoming obvious, but even more dangerous are its ideologies, which spread like epidemics and foster disunity and strife."

A rising trend of national industrial production coupled with an evident rise in prices is clear from the charts and computations printed in the Digest. Costs of living in August, 1941, were 4.7 per cent higher than they were in August, 1940; retail food, 12.8 per cent; wholesale prices, 16.7 per cent; basic commodities, 40.3 per cent.

The only decreases in evidence are the 9.8 per cent decrease in life insurance sales in Iowa and the 26.5 per cent decrease in building permits. But employment in Iowa has increased 10.8 per cent; automobile sales, 23.7 per cent; farm products prices, 31.5 per cent; farm income, 17.1 per cent.

It must not be forgotten, however, that a part of the present inflationary tendency is due to advance buying by both consumers and business concerns.

Interpreting The War News

Moscow, London Seem Optimistic About Eastern Battle

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Despite a grave Russian disaster in the battle of Kiev, there are signs that Moscow and London are feeling more optimistic about the whole east front from Leningrad to the head of the Crimean isthmus.

There seems no doubt that Leningrad's defenders, like those at Odessa, are still balking Nazi siege operations. It is even possible that they have cracked the German steel ring sufficiently for a supply route from Moscow to Leningrad to be reopened at least temporarily.

Nowhere else southward for a thousand miles or more is there any intimation of German progress since the fall of Kiev nearly two weeks ago and subsequent mop-up of the Kiev pocket.

Moscow now admits loss of Poltava, which Germany claimed many days ago, but also reports the Russian defense line stabilized along the east bank of the Vorskla river on that sector of the new Kharkov defense front. Poltava lies on the west bank of that stream, which is a major tributary of the Dnieper.

The Nazi thrust northeastward toward Kharkov from Kremenchug (below Kiev) was the most dangerous spearhead pointed at the Donets basin. However, the Vorskla offers the Russians a reasonably strong front on which to stand, covering nearly half of the 100-mile-wide gap east of Kiev through which the Germans had hoped to drive on swiftly to Kharkov.

Perhaps the most encouraging item for the British, however, is the London report that the Nazi drive to seize the Crimean peninsula has made small progress along the Perekop isthmus, the only land approach to the Crimea.

The thrust has travelled only seven miles south of the town of Perekop, London said.

If that is true after days of fierce fighting, German attempts to invade the peninsula have bogged down. The narrow gateways to the Crimea on both sides of Lake Sol, which lies in the center of the isthmus, are still to be reached. It is there that the Russians obviously expect to make their main stand in defense of the Crimea. It also is probable that British royal air force planes operating jointly with the Russians on some undesignated front are assigned to aid in the Crimean defense.

The peninsula is one possible key to Nazi invasion of the Caucasus to reach the Baku oil fields. The first skirmishes between German and Russian forces for control of those vitally essential oil fields probably is already being fought on the Perekop isthmus.

Plans for the participation of Hillcrest and Quadrangle in the intramural activities for the coming year were discussed yesterday in a meeting between Pat Boland, director of intramural activities, Dr. Fred Beebe, his assistant, and the acting team managers for the respective dormitories present.

It is certain that six teams will represent Hillcrest, but as yet it is not known how many squads will take part from the Quadrangle. This information must be submitted to Dr. Beebe by Friday, it was decided.

Boys on the various teams are urged to check out lockers in the fieldhouse as soon as possible, this privilege being included in the tuition paid upon entering the university, and available through the equipment manager at the fieldhouse.

Eligibility of boys participating in the sports was stressed by Beebe. It was emphasized that managers should make a careful check of their players before allowing them to compete. Not only are major letter-winners of the university ineligible, but also students having won major letters in junior colleges.

It was pointed out that fields could be reserved for practice by calling the intramural office, Ext. 491. The schedule of games has not been completed, but will be finished within a few days, and it is planned that all will take place on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Awards for the winning teams will be the same as in the past, although slight changes may be made before the completion of the season.

The managers present for the respective dormitories are as follows: Hillcrest—first floor, Max Landes; second floor, Bob Ohme; third floor, Earl Mastin; third South, Bob Jones; fourth floor, Ed Hoag; athletic proctor, John Seaton. Quadrangle—upper A, Rodney Wood; lower A, Robert Roegel; upper B, Frank Webb; lower B, Ed Clauson; upper C, George Willhoite; lower C, Murray Underwood; upper D, Carlisle; lower D, James Paul, athletic proctor, Joe Leleka.

Yanks Win; So What? NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle world series extra yesterday carried this eight-column banner: "Yanks Win; So What?"

Three sets to capture a match. Those desiring to enter who cannot attend the meeting today, are urged to contact Wendler at the fieldhouse.

Brooklyn (AP)—The Yankees won their sixth straight game today, 3-2, over the Dodgers at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees' offense was powered by a home run from Socks Homer in the first inning and a triple from Joe Gordon in the fourth. Red Ruffing pitched a complete game, allowing only two runs, one earned, and striking out seven.

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's White Sox drew first blood in the battle of civic pride yesterday by unloading a volley of six ninth-inning hits to score a 4 to 1 victory over Claude Passeau in the opener of the city series with the National League Cubs.

Iowa's fall baseball players engaged in their first intra-squad practice game yesterday afternoon, with all members of the squad who were in uniform being given a chance to play by Coach Otto Vogel.

Jim Youel regained his left half as the Hawkeyes halted Wolverine plays in their first intra-squad game yesterday afternoon. Youel, who has been out of action since a knee injury in August, was back in the lineup at left halfback.

Wolves drilled to stop Jim Youel's passes. The Michigan Wolverines spent most of yesterday's workout brushing up on pass defense in anticipation of some highly-rated flinging by Jim Youel, the University of Iowa's star passer, in Saturday's Big Ten opener.

Prevention Week Will Be October 5-11

Citizens Asked Willenbrock to Aid National Observance

Nineteenth consecutive year Iowa citizens as well as citizens throughout the state will help their local fire departments observe National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 to 11.

Henry Willenbrock, last year's fire prevention week chairman, asked the people of Iowa to wholeheartedly cooperate with the local fire department in observing common causes of fire.

Success of fire prevention depends largely upon you. You may best render aid by removing fire hazards from your home and business property," the mayor said.

Chief J. J. Clark said that he has already started their inspection of the city, by being to suggest elimination of common fire hazards.

According to Chief Clark, some more common hazards are and wood piled in basements, unknotted electric cords; within reach of children; less use of cleaning fluids.

Interesting fact to note is that in the lives of 1,673 infants every year, Clark said, 500 American soldiers lost in World War 1, but close to that war, 203,208 have lost their lives in through carelessness in on with fires.

On Oct. 16 daily in American Chief Clark stated and the National Board of Fire Underwriters, "Let's save a life."

This year makes the 19th consecutive year that Iowa City has participated in National Fire Prevention week. The poster itself is in four colors, measures 19 x 23 inches and may be obtained by writing to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York City.

Gaffney Will Hear Assessment Appeals

21 Fraternities And Sororities to Appeal For Reduced Taxes

Appeals made by 21 University of Iowa fraternities and sororities for reduced property assessments will be heard by Judge James P. Gaffney this morning in district court. The hearing will get under way at 9 o'clock.

The Iowa City board of assessment and review, defendants in the action, last April declined to allow a plea for reduced assessments. The request was put before the board by Dean-Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the university's college of pharmacy, William Siefert, the fraternity business service manager, and Atty. William Morrison.

Property is now taxed at 60 per cent of its actual value as provided by a recent amendment to the state tax laws. The cases beginning this morning will hinge on the question of the actual value of the property of the plaintiffs.

New Walkouts Occur In Coast Shipyards, Ohio Ordnance Plant

CIO Workers Leave Yards; Union Objects To Wage Standards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Two Detroit automobile strikes were settled yesterday but new walkouts occurred at an Ohio ordnance plant and three Gulf coast shipyards.

Some 1,500 CIO workers walked out at two yards of the Alabama Drydock and Shipbuilding company in Mobile in a move which a union spokesman insisted was not a strike but a "job action"—a protest against alleged contract violations and refusal "to raise wages when the time came to raise wages."

Inter-Union Trouble Union officials gave no details of their grievances but a company official said that the CIO leader "wanted to fire a man who was soliciting AFL memberships." The union and Gulf shipbuilders recently negotiated a stabilization agreement stipulating that there would be no work stoppage for two years.

Several hundred AFL welders left their jobs at the Ingalls shipbuilding plant at Pascagoula, Miss., following reported disagreement over wage scales. Company and union officials were silent on details.

Meanwhile the labor department certified to the defense mediation board a CIO strike against three Chicago meat packers and an AFL strike against the Shaw-Box Crane and Hoist division of Manning, Maxwell and Moore company, Muskegon, Mich. The Chicago strike, reported to involve 1,500 workers engaged partly on defense contracts, began Sept. 28 over the alleged discharge of 17 unionists. The Muskegon strike, which started Sept. 17, involved a dispute over wage classifications and a contract providing for maintenance of union membership.

Employees of the frame department of one of the Briggs Manufacturing company's plants voted to return to work after the company had followed the advice of Melvin Bishop, regional director of the CIO United Auto Workers union, and discharged leaders of the strike.

This unusual recommendation brought from officials of the company an expression of confidence in Bishop and a declaration that international officers of the union were determined to end a wave

Welch Pleads Innocent Of 2 Charges in Court; Released on $1000 Bond

Tom Welch, charged with obtaining property under false pretenses and engaging in the practice of veterinary medicine without a license, pleaded innocent before Judge James P. Gaffney in district court here yesterday and was released on $1,000 bond.

The two counts against Welch were based on allegations made by several farmers near Lone Tree.

According to the information, Welch sold hog mineral and hog medicine to the farmers last August.

Welch was represented in court by Atty. D. C. Nolan.

Services to Be Held For D. R. Webb Sr., Tomorrow Afternoon

Funeral service for Daniel Ross Webb Sr., 79, who died early yesterday morning at Coralville, will be held at Beckman's funeral home at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Rev. E. E. Voigt of the Methodist church will conduct the service. Burial will be in the Oakland cemetery.

Webb, who died at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Webb Jr., 352 Chapman street, Coralville, was very active in politics. During his career he served a term in the of strikes at the plant. The latest strike resulted from a seniority dispute after four men had been transferred to the frame department. Briggs manufactures automobile bodies.

Production Resumed at Chrysler Production also was resumed at the Dodge division of the Chrysler Motor company after an agreement between the company and the UAW, terms of which were not disclosed.

Union leaders said the strike was in protest against "intolerable" working conditions in the paint department. A Dodge official said 100 paint department workers were sent home Monday because of curtailed production and that the remaining 300 employees of the department had stopped work, insisting there was enough work for everybody.

While these disputes were being adjusted a strike of AFL office workers was called at the army's Plum Brook (Ohio) ordnance works. The strikers, employed by a contractor at the $32,000,000 project, are demanding reinstatement of discharged associates and overtime pay for a work week of more than 40 hours.

Knox Says U.S. Navy Providing Lend-Lease Cargoes Protection Anywhere It Is Needed

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox told the American Bar association yesterday, "we are already sweeping the German pirates from the north Atlantic, and bringing to England the products of the arsenal we have set up here."

He didn't disclose any evidence of actual fighting by the United States navy since the Sept. 16 orders to the Atlantic fleet to shoot on sight, but he added:

"Eventually we (the British and American navies) shall lock Nazi Germany up in an iron ring, and within that ring of seapower she shall perish."

After his speech, the navy chief said at a press conference that he had no reports of any new incidents involving the Atlantic fleet. He described the battle of the Atlantic as "very quietest." The word "convoy" is now obsolete in describing the task of the United States fleet, he said, explaining that he preferred the word "protection."

"The navy is providing whatever protection is needed anywhere," he said.

In his address before one of the few general sessions which the convention will hold, Secretary Knox asserted that the United States must quit "indulging in the fatuous folly of declaring that we will not fight when war threatens unless our own shores are invaded."

"If we must fight," he said, "and mark this well, there will not be for many years to come a time when we may not have to fight, then with modern weapons which they are let us determine that we will fight elsewhere than on our own soil."

He emphasized frequently that freedom of the seas is essential to peace and declared such freedom could be enforced only by joint leadership of the United States and Great Britain.
