F.D.R. Expected to Ask Arming Of U.S. Merchant Vessels Today

Administration Opposition Plans Action

Taft Declares Such Moves in Last War Proved 'Total Failure'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of the administration's foreign policy laid plans tonight to oppose the arming of American merchantmen, a step which President Roosevelt is expected to propose in a message to congress today.

"The main decision was to oppose in every way amendments to the neutrality act as being, in fact, an authorization to carry on war," announced Senator Taft (R-Ohio) following a conference of senators and representatives.

He said that approximately 60 members of congress, both democrats and republicans, attended the meeting. It followed a report of legislative leaders that Mr. Roosevelt would present his request today.

Taft added that the conferees were "very determined" that the house committee on foreign affairs hold hearings on the whole subject of arming cargo ships and that all felt at least a week should be set aside to hear representatives of the army, navy and others.

"In the world war arming of merchantmen was considered to be a complete failure," Taft asserted.

The Ohioan said the administration opponents were "generally pleased" at reports that the forthcoming legislation would provide only that cargo ships be allowed to arm.

He declared "it is apparent that the president hasn't got enough votes in the house to repeal the neutrality act."

The president hopes, it was reported, that later congress will also rescind provisions of the same law which forbid American ships to enter ports of belligerent nations.

A decision to confine the legislation to the armed ship issue was reached yesterday at a white house conference attended by leading members of both parties from both branches of congress and also by Harry Hopkins, coordinator of the lease-lend program, and a close personal adviser of the president.

Nazi Army Expedition Encounters Violent Resistance in Serbia

Declare Ninety Killed As Reich Troops Clash With Guerilla Bands

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—At least 90 persons have been killed in new mountain battles between a German army punitive expedition equipped with flame throwers, and Serbian insurgent bands, dispatches from Belgrade reported last night.

The German expedition was said to have put hundreds of Serbs to death but to have met fierce resistance in some areas. Fighting from village to village, the Germans were met at times by bands numbering as many as 500 men, it was stated.

One large band was said to have attacked a village near the Morava river in the eastern part of Nazi-occupied Serbia, in old Yugoslavia.

After several hours of fighting the insurgents were said to have been routed. The Belgrade newspaper Novo Vreme said 81 men were killed, 80 wounded and 17 taken prisoner.

Another report described battles at Sikola between important formations of communists and insurgents and the Serbian regular army. Twenty-seven communists were said to have been killed and four taken prisoner.

The insurgents were reported to have had automobiles, trucks, motorcycles, bicycles, a radio station and even typewriters.

U.S. Accuses Nazis of Distorting F.D.R. Letter to Stalin for Propaganda Purposes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The white house yesterday accused the nazis of distorting for propaganda purposes a letter in which President Roosevelt assured Premier Joseph Stalin of supplies to fight Hitler.

The personal message, which was delivered to the Soviet leader about ten days ago, expressed "great confidence" in a Soviet victory and promised that supplies would be found to "fight Hitler on all fronts, including your own."

In releasing the text belatedly yesterday, the white house invited a comparison of it with that of a purported text of the same document published yesterday by the German news agency, DNB.

"When such a comparison is made," a white house statement said, "the propaganda objectives of the nazi action become very clear."

The white house did not make available the DNB text, but there were reported to be differences between the salutations and conclusions of the two texts. While the white house text read "my dear Mr. Stalin" and ended "yours very sincerely" DNB's was said to have begun with "my dear friend Stalin" and concluded "yours in friendship."

Committee Approves Huge Lend-Lease Bill

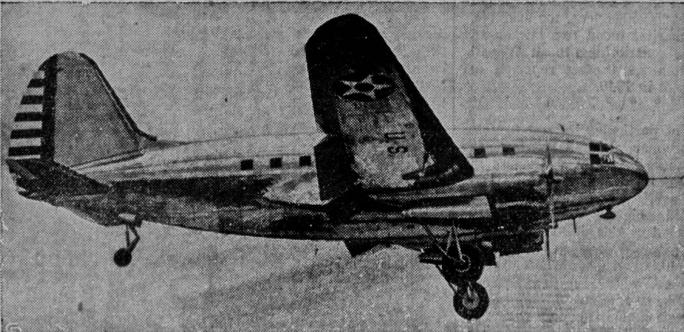

House Begins 3-Day Debate on 6 Billion Dollar Appropriation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's request for a $5,985,000,000 lend-lease fund was approved overwhelmingly by the house appropriations committee yesterday and its backers started it through congress with a cry that "clouds of airplanes" and "acres of tanks" are needed to beat Hitler.

Within a few minutes after the committee approved a $6,159,416,229 omnibus bill carrying the aid fund, chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) took it to the house floor for three days of debate with this statement: "Our allies abroad are fighting with their backs to the wall and cannot survive without our assistance. And if they succumb we must at some portion of our continent be faced by an aggressor who in two short years has destroyed every nation in Europe."

Each of the five counts carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison or a $2,000 fine. Viereck, whose general appearance belies his age, is a German-born, naturalized American citizen.

George S. Viereck, Chief German Propagandist In U.S., Indicted Under Alien Registration Law

Treasury Begins Large Cash Borrowing; Issues $1,300,000,000 of Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treasury announced last night that the $1,300,000,000 of new bonds to be sold today will bear two and one-half per cent interest and mature in from 26 to 31 years. Those bonds maturing in 31 years will have the second longest maturity of any bonds ever issued by the treasury. The only longer term bonds were $50,000,000 of Panama Canal bonds issued in 1911 at three per cent to mature in 50 years.

Fails to List Various Pro-Nazi Activities Carried on Incognito

NEW YORK (AP)—George Sylvester Viereck, 56-year-old journalist described by the government as chief German propagandist in this country, was released in $15,000 bail yesterday on an indictment charging him with failure to set forth material facts in his state department registration as a representative of a foreign government.

He said he would plead in Washington, D. C., Friday, where the five-count sealed indictment, returned by a grand jury there, was opened as soon as Viereck was taken into custody this morning at his Riverside drive apartment by federal agents.

"He is one of the most serious menaces in this country," William Power Maloney, special assistant to the attorney general, told U. S. Commissioner Isaac Platt, before whom Viereck was arraigned. "He has received from the German government as much as $40,000 in one year to carry on his propaganda work."

The indictment set forth that Viereck consulted with divers persons on matters pertaining to political interests, public policy and public relations. It said he had prepared and disseminated speeches relating to those matters and that this information was printed in books and the congressional record and broadcast by radio.

It alleged that Viereck wrote articles under fictitious names and sent them to newspapers for publication. The indictment further alleged that Viereck failed to list the various activities in which the fictitious names were employed when he registered with the state department.

Each of the five counts carries a maximum penalty of one year in prison or a $2,000 fine.

Viereck, whose general appearance belies his age, is a German-born, naturalized American citizen.

Three-Year-Old Boy Run Over by Car; Seriously Injured

Kenneth Carney, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Carney, 1012 E. Market, was seriously injured last night when he was run over by a car driven by Harry Aicher, rural route No. 2.

Kenneth was taken to Mercy hospital where attaches said he suffered a concussion of the brain and a possible skull fracture.

According to Iowa City police the boy was walking diagonally across the street in front of his home when he was struck by the automobile.

The car passed over the boy and 10 feet beyond before Aicher could bring it to a stop, police said. Kenneth however was not hit by the car's wheels.

Last night hospital authorities said that the boy was in "fair condition" and doing as well as could be expected.

Declare Von Bock's Central Army Advancing Ever Eastward on Broad Highway to Capital; Armored Forces 125 Miles From Red Square

Germans Fighting Backbone of Soviet Defenses In Vast Chain of Encirclement Battles On Central Front

BERLIN—While General Fedor von Bock's German armies of the center fought a chain of vast encirclement battles against the backbone of the red army less than 125 miles short of Moscow, German sources reported today that heavily armored reconnaissance forces were thrusting ever eastward much nearer to Red Square, the heart of the Soviet Union.

Just how much nearer they did not say, but von Bock's main striking force was declared to be at Vyazma, on the broad highway leading to Moscow.

Red Armies Withdraw From Orel, Railroad Center Below Moscow

Successes, the Russian admission of withdrawal from Orel, 220 miles south of Moscow, and German announcement that the Soviet ninth army was trapped in a catastrophe in the south along the shores of the Sea of Azov, a well-placed source here said these did not measure the full extent of German triumphs.

Although German foreign office circles remained tight-lipped, Dienst Aus Deutschland, a commentary which has high connections there, asserted:

"In other sections... great successes of the same type (as at Vyazma) are visible. Shortly, new bulletins announcing great progress are expectable."

Where or what these successes might be it did not disclose.

Locked, admittedly, in a struggle of tremendous moment with the flower of the Soviet Union's defensive power on the central front, the Germans were reported to have erected a "kettle" of encirclement and destruction already around several Russian armies in the Vyazma area after tearing a breach in a stalwart red line of fortifications east of Smolensk.

Military spokesmen said the outer defenses of the Soviet capital were thoroughly shaken and that "a solid German front" is within 125 miles of the Kremlin.

Far to the south, the ninth army of Marshal Semeon Budennyi was declared to have been cut off from retreat after a crushing defeat on the Melitopol front north of the Sea of Azov, with between six and seven Russian divisions facing destruction in a tight trap and "weak remnants" trying to flee to Rostov-on-Don at the eastern extremity of the sea.

AFL Head Asks Cooperation

SEATTLE (AP)—In direct response to President Roosevelt's appeal for labor peace and unity without work stoppages, AFL President William Green last night called "upon every member and every union in the American Federation of Labor to stay on the job and keep defense production going at full blast until the enemies of America are soundly defeated."

As to the plea for AFL-CIO unity, Green declared that the AFL's proposals for resumption of peace negotiations had been "rejected or ignored each time," and added:

But it was on the shifting approaches where the hour of greatest crisis was at hand. There, in the greatest mechanized battle ever fought, the central Russian armies beat back desperately at a series of mighty concentric thrusts by which superior German forces were slowly extending their bloody salients.

In a later chaos on the shifting fronts, German advances were acknowledged here and there. But they were achieved, said Soviet military dispatches, at immense cost to the invaders.

U.S. Experts to Study Russian-British Supply Line Transport Plan

TEHERAN, Iran (AP)—American transportation experts with W. Averell Harriman's United States mission to Moscow will be sent here to iron out difficulties in the Russian-British supply line to the eastern front through Iran, semi-official sources said last night.

They added that despite plans on paper for sending 2,000 tons of war material daily across Iran by spring, serious hitches have developed in coordinating the supply efforts.

Now, with effective liaison yet to be arranged, even minor questions must be referred to Moscow, some neutral sources said. This was regarded as delaying decisions. High British officers, including Brigadier J. A. Aizelwood, commanding the British brigade at Teheran reportedly was unable last week to obtain a military pass to enter Soviet occupied territory.

Army Air Force to Test Civilian Raid Spotters Over 10 Coastal States

NEW YORK (AP)—A wide-spread test to determine the ability of the army air force and civilian air raid spotters to defend the country from bombing raids will be launched today over an area covering the whole or part of 10 northeastern states and the District of Columbia.

From today until October 16 at least eight squadrons of the newest type of bombers, with headquarters at Langley Field, Va., will criss-cross the area from Massachusetts to North Carolina to rate the skill of 40,000 civilian spotters stationed in 1800 observation posts.

As soon as bombers are spotted by the modern Paul Reveres, the information will be telephoned to the nearest information center.

SUI Chinese Student Will Be Interviewed Over WSUI Today

On this, the day before her native land's greatest holiday, Ruth Chang, chairman of the Chinese Students association at the University of Iowa, will be interviewed at 12:45 today over WSUI by Jeanette Holaday.

Tomorrow is Oct. 10; and to the Chinese, a day of extreme importance. With the intention of explaining to WSUI listeners the significance of the day, Miss Chang has chosen for her interview topic—"The Meaning of Oct. 10."

Miss Chang points out that it was on this day in 1911, that the first successful overthrow of a monarchical government occurred on the continent of Asia. The Manchu dynasty, which had been in power for over 270 years, was at last deposed, and the Republic of China was set up under Sun Yat Sen, China's first president. Today the people of her homeland look upon Oct. 10 much as a citizen of the United States looks upon the Fourth of July.

"The Meaning of Oct. 10" is another of the "Views and Interviews" programs heard over WSUI each week.

DATING BUREAU OFFICIALLY OPENS

Rita Goodrich, A1 of Ft. Dodge, is filing her preferences at the Newman Club Dating bureau with Maurice Jensen, A3 of Dougherty. The purpose of the date bureau is to make it possible for Catholic students in the university to become better acquainted. This group, the first of its kind on the campus, was started as an experiment last year to help students obtain dates for the main dances sponsored by the club. Because it was successful, it is now operating on a full-time basis.

Newman Club Opens New Dating Bureau Over One Hundred Prospects Sign Up For Coming Season

"How tall is she? Can she dance?"—just a few of the questions the officers of the Newman Club Dating bureau must answer. Catholic men and women now have official aid in finding a suitable date for a big party or an evening of fun. Last year, as an experiment, two or three members of Newman club got together and decided to set up a temporary dating bureau to help other members find partners for the big club parties of the year. The idea proved so successful that it is being put on a full-time basis this year.

Already, more than 100 Catholic students have "signed up" as prospective daters. This list includes students of all classifications and represents most of the schools and colleges on the campus. Incidentally, there are more men than women registered. (According to present statistics, blondes are more in demand than brunettes.) The main purpose of the dating bureau is to give the Catholic students on this campus an opportunity to become better acquainted. Those interested in registering are given a blank sheet to fill out. The student signs his or her name, telephone number, address, age, color of hair, eyes and complexion, height, interests (dancing, movies, concerts, sports and the like), and personality preference. On this same sheet the students in charge of the bureau may put incidental remarks about the member registering. Co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the group are Rita Rush, G of Williamsburg, and Maurice Jensen, A3 of Dougherty. Assisting members are Bob Sulentic, A1 of Waterloo, and Thomas Chuhak, A3 of Chicago, Ill.

Because a number of Indian boys were students at Dartmouth college during the Revolutionary war, the Connecticut valley was attacked by Indians but once, and then by a very small party.

'Artist Must Bridge Gap Between Artists and Public'

Guston Expresses Sentiment of Today's Young American Painter

"The gap between artist and public must be bridged," declares Philip Guston, nationally-known mural painter and instructor in the art department. "And," he adds, "it is up to the artist to bridge it." Said with utmost seriousness, by an outstanding member of the younger school of American artists, these are significant words. They are significant in that they express the sentiment of almost every leading young American artist today; they epitomize his new social consciousness, especially evident since the depression. Often social consciousness was not part of the intellectual make-up common in the older school of artists. This venerable school was more or less intent upon expressing itself with vague symbols understood only in its own mind—if even comprehended there.

Such narrowness of virtuosity antagonized the public by making it feel that art was a matter for the artist, to be understood and appreciated only by him. The public therefore retaliated, in calling the artist a "long-haired Bohemian" among other names, and his supporters, "art-crazy." But this unhappy day may soon be over, according to Guston. "The public is beginning to accept art as a necessary part of life-experience," he says. "And there is good reason for it. The artist is realizing that art is for the public, and should concern community interests. He is therefore creating a set of symbols easily understood by laymen because these symbols suggest important phases of immediate environment. And aided by art-conscious patronage in government and industry, the artist can afford now to express his social-consciousness as never before.

"Again, the public has never seen enough art to appreciate it. Americans have been intent—and justifiably so—in carving out a civilization from raw frontiers. Now, however, the nation has practically conquered its physical frontiers; now, in its industrial phase, it may begin to relax and appreciate the intellectual joys to come while exploring new cultural frontiers."

Guston's own murals show faith in the American public's increasing acceptance of art. Clean-cut in form, strongly architectural in design, restrained in color, they somehow seem to give the society portrayed in symbolic terms a hint of its ultimate purpose—the use of wealth and industry as means, not ends, to achieve a more democratic way of life.

Much of Guston's work has been for the federal government, for instance, a mural in the Commerce, Ga., post office. Another project was done by him for Brooklyn college, New York City. He has installed paintings in the S. S. President Adams, S. S. President Van Buren, while the ships were being completed at Newport News, Va.

Before he came to the university to teach this fall, Guston and his wife cooperated on a mural in the Forestry building, Laconia, N.H. Mrs. Guston, also a well-known painter, signs her work "Musa McKim."

Guston, 29, has had only one year in art school. Otherwise he has been entirely self-trained. He likes the old and new masters equally well, but confesses he has a special weakness for art of the American Indian.

Having recently completed designs on a three-inch scale for a mural triptych—a picture in three parts, side by side—to be installed in the Social Security building, Washington, D.C., Guston will soon set to work on the mural itself, in the north studio of the art building.

Guston left Tuesday for the nation's capital, where he will help judge a $29,000 mural competition. The designs he will help pick are for a mural to be placed in the new annex of the San Francisco, Cal., post office.

Military Cadets Fewer In Elementary Courses

Figures released from the military department show an increase of 117 cadets in military training as compared to last year's enrollment.

The freshman enrollment has dropped from 883 of last year to 794. Sophomores number 519 as compared to the 603 total of a year ago.

A marked increase has been made, however, in the size of the first year advanced course with 115 registered this fall. An increase of 33 has been made in the second year advanced course, with 85 registered this year as compared to the 52 total last year.

Moose to Initiate 15
Loyal Order of the Moose, Lodge No. 1096, will hold initiation for 15 candidates in a regular ritualistic ceremony, Wednesday night, Oct. 22, it was announced at the regular business meeting held last night.

By KARL HINKLE

Agency building at the New York World's fair was done by Guston. With it he won first prize in the outdoor class. Fair visitors were the judges. Concave, 30 by 30 feet, the mural interpreted the idea of maintaining American skills.

"For an outdoor mural," Guston explains, "you must use a medium that will stand weathering. On the world's fair picture I experimented with a new one—a non-corrosive, chlorinated rubber paint. It has withstood the elements extremely well." Guston has also used almost every other mural medium, from true fresco to casein tempera on gesso ground. But he is not only a mural painter; he also does oils.

"The small painting, too, is becoming popular with the public," he asserts, "although the mural, much larger, is more easily noticed."

Thus Guston does not forget for a moment the public's side in art appreciation. "Its growing interest," he says, "even in the finer points of technique, gives me deep pleasure."

"While painting the mural at the Queensbridge community center, New York City—where slums had been leveled, fireproof, sanitary buildings erected—I was watched, day after day, by a poor but highly curious and appreciative group.

"I could not but try, in the best sense of the word, to concentrate all my feeble skill in making interpretations of everyday things significant to them."

With such laudable thoughts expressed by the modern artist, perhaps the gap between artist and public will be bridged faster than Guston expects!

INDUSTRY AS SYMBOL OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

The men who labor to help create the great industrial resources of America receive their rightful share of space in this section of a mural design by Philip Guston, nationally-known painter and instructor in the art department. The design, on a three-inch scale, is for a painting to be installed in the Social Security building, Washington, D. C. Guston will begin work on the mural itself during spare time this school year, in the north studio of the art building. He left Tuesday for the capital city, where he will be on a jury to select mural designs for the new annex of a San Francisco, Calif., post office.

Luxury Tax Will Be Added to Price Of Football Tickets

Iowa City school board members last night declared that Shrader field would become a playground for the Longfellow school should Iowa City voters decide to construct a new stadium.

Shrader field has been in use since 1925. A special election will be held at the city hall today to determine whether or not the project will be approved by voters. The board, at their regular meeting, also made a recommendation that the new federal luxury tax which went into effect Oct. 1 be added to the price of the remaining home football games, including those with Pella, Dubuque, Franklin and Centerville. This would change the admission price from 40 to 44 cents.

Other business included an approval of the use of school buildings for demonstration purposes of the local nutrition society, recommendation for a canvass to decide if there is a need for the reinstallation of national defense shop classes, and an approval for the purchase of electrical equipment for the high school cafeteria.

Bills were read and approved and standing committee reports were given.

Passing the Buck by BILL BUCKLEY

One of the most remarkable insights to the game of football is an article by Paul N. Swaffield, a flesh-and-blood referee, to appear in the next issue of American magazine...

Swaffield, an advertising executive for a rubber company in Watertown, Mass., five days out of the week, is one of the top officials in the East, and New Year's day of 1940 refereed the Cotton Bowl game between Clemson and Boston college...

As you no doubt know, all officials take a real panning from each and every fan at one time or another, and Swaffield has found that the best way to pass it off is not to let it get your goat...

Not only the fans, but the players themselves are on officials' necks, Swaffield relates, and the physical contact involved is none too pleasant to bear...

Then there was the player who accidentally blocked him, and was horrified at the thought... He helped him up with, "I'm dreadfully sorry, sir," and Swaffield almost keeled over from shock...

Swaffield claims that the highest tribute paid to him was by an on player... A teammate had just run 30 yards for a touchdown, and the play was called back for a penalty...

Latest news from the ticket department: Almost all of the 500 tickets for Newton's Bill Green day have been sold in that town, and the buyers will sit in a special section to pay tribute to the Hawkeye speedster at the homecoming game with Indiana, Nov. 1...

Iowa gridlers have played at Madison three times, and have won only once... That was in 1939, when Nile Kinnick pitched one to Bill Green in the fourth quarter for a 19-13 victory...

Charlie Root Gets Unconditional Release

Pitcher Says He'll Accept Coaching Job

Los Angeles Team Seeks Services Of Chicago Cub Hurler

CHICAGO (AP)—Charlie Root, for 16 years a Chicago Cub pitcher and a popular figure in the city's baseball scene, was given his unconditional release by the Cubs yesterday.

The 42-year-old Root, winner of 201 major league victories through that 16-year span, was notified of his release by the Cubs' general manager, Jim Gallagher, who said Root had been offered a coaching job with Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league.

Leaves Immediately The hurler, accompanied by Mrs. Root, left immediately by motor for his ranch at Hollister, Cal., stating he would confer soon with Dave Fleming, Los Angeles club president. He indicated he would accept the post.

Root declined to leave the Cubs a week ago when offered a chance to negotiate for a job with another major league team, stating, "I started my major league career here and I might as well end it here." He was in uniform last night as the Cubs lost the fall city series title to the Chicago White Sox.

Best Year in 1927 Root came from the Los Angeles team to the Cubs in 1926, winning 18 games in his first season. In 1927 he had his best year, winning 26 games. In 1929, as the Cubs took the National league pennant, he won 19 and lost only six games. He also played important parts in Cub drives to pennants in 1932, 1935 and 1938, but in the four world series he lost three games and won none. His departure marks another step in the Cub program of rebuilding with young players.

He won eight games this last season and lost seven.

Bluehawks Prepare For Friday's Tilt With Scrimmages

Coach Paul Brechler sent his U-high gridlers through another scrimmage session yesterday afternoon in search of a satisfactory starting eleven to meet the highly-rated Monticello team here next Friday.

In an attempt to stop the aerial attack of Monticello, Coach Brechler spent a great share of the practice period working on a defense. Blocking pass after pass, the linemen showed considerable improvement in their fast-charging defensive attack against the second team.

The Rivermen were also given an intensive tackling drill. Bud Halverson and Capt. Glenn Stimmell starred in this phase of the practice, slicing through the offense to throw the ball carriers for large losses.

One of the surprise changes in the lineup was the appearance of Captain Stimmell at the right tackle position. Believing the backfield to be superior to the linemen, Coach Brechler hopes that Stimmell will bolster the latter group.

Many shifts and changes occurred in the line during the practice session. George Lehman and Bill Cobbs, ends, and Jack Reed, center, were the only three linemen to retain their posts.

Bob Alderman, regular left half, and Don Wagner, reserve right half, both still absent from practice because of knee injuries, believe they will be ready for the homecoming tilt.

Cartoon by Dick Spencer III titled 'AL URBAN'. It depicts a man in a suit sitting at a desk, looking at a newspaper. A speech bubble says 'AL WANTS TO BECOME A COMMERCIAL ARTIST'. A starburst says 'MINOR 1940'. A sign on the wall says 'HAWK SQUAD'. A speech bubble from the man says 'A SIX FOOT, 215 LB JUNIOR FROM CEDAR RAPIDS HOLDS A RIGHT TACKLE POST ON THE HAWK SQUAD'. A speech bubble from the newspaper says 'IN THE BEST OF HEALTH, HE SPENDS A LOT OF TIME HANGING AROUND THE HOSPITAL ON THE WAY TO PRACTICE'. A sign on the wall says 'HOSPITAL'.

Anderson Puts Team Through Tough Drill

Attempts to Iron Out Blocking Assignments; Working on Pass Defense

If Dr. Eddie Anderson has his way, the Iowa gridlers will have each meticulous detail of offensive football down to a fine art by the time the season ends seven weeks hence.

Yesterday, for a good part of a tough drill, Anderson sent his linemen through a workout which was designed once and for all to iron out blocking assignments on quick-opening T-formation plays, and on defense against passes. By the end of the session, there was no doubt that each of the Hawk forwards knew how to do the work.

Scrimmage Freshman Then the good doctor gave most of his first-team lineup a chance to apply the knowledge on a scrimmage with a rough, tough bunch of freshmen, and the drill panned out all right in some instances, but fizzled in others.

With seven regulars in the lineup, the varsity ran T-formation plays almost exclusively against the fresh, and, although piled up plenty of times at the line of scrimmage, managed to break away for several long gains and touchdown runs.

Bill Parker and Bill Burkett were at ends, Jim Walker and Al Urban at tackles, Del Dickerhoff and Ross Anderson at guards, George Frye at center, Ben Trickey at quarterback, Tom Farmer and Bus Mertes at halves, and Hank Vollenweider at fullback.

Backs Change Around In the signal drill prior to the scrimmage, some changes in backfield posts were temporarily made, Farmer trying the quarterback position, Bill Green moving to left half, and Bill Stauss filling in at full.

Regulars who did not participate in the scrimmage are all nursing injuries, including Green, with bruised knuckles; Capt. Bill Diehl, slightly injured shoulder; Gene Curran, charleyhorse, and Jim Youel, slightly sprained ankle.

Two on the sprained ankle list, Al Couppee and Jack Kennedy, both were running with a trace of former zest yesterday, and both will undoubtedly be ready to go against Wisconsin a week from Saturday. It was learned that Al Littleman, sophomore back who was operated on for appendicitis before the season started, will soon start conditioning drills.

Magerkurth Loses Job

CHICAGO (AP)—The Daily News said yesterday that George Magerkurth, husky National league umpire who had several run-ins with the Brooklyn Dodgers the last season, not only lost his world series assignment but will not return as a major league umpire next year.

Student Is Former A.A.U. Champion

Paul Powell, Sophomore Pre-Medic, Won National Amateur Bantamweight Title in 1939

Although the University of Iowa has never been represented in intercollegiate boxing competition, the school has almost always been able to boast some outstanding fistic talent.

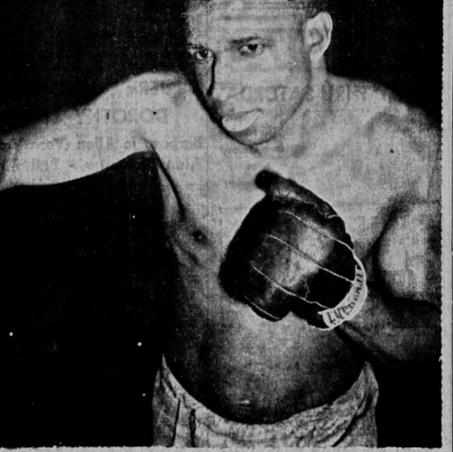

Last year there was Vance Balsler, twice semi-finalist in the Chicago Golden Gloves and National A.A.U. 175-pound class, and holder of the state Golden Gloves and A.A.U. titles. Balsler is now enrolled at Drake.

His place this year is being well taken care of by Paul Powell, a hard-working, well-built little Negro, who has a great past record, and may attempt to carve a niche for himself in the professional world.

Sophomore Pre-Med The 20-year-old sophomore is a pre-medic, going to school on a scholarship. He hails from Pittsburgh, where the fight competition is plenty tough, and there in his home town he's tops.

Weighing 125 pounds dripping wet, Paul fought 46 amateur fights, winning 41 by knockouts and losing the remaining five by decisions. He either wins the hard way, or not at all.

In the course of those battles, Powell has of course annexed many titles, the most important of which was the National A.A.U. bantam-weight crown, which he won in Baltimore in 1939. Just this last winter he won his division

PAUL POWELL Sophomore Star Ready ANV ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler said yesterday he hoped to use Don Robinson, triple-threat sophomore star, in Michigan's non-conference tilt this Saturday with University of Pittsburgh.

Hillcrest, Quad Teams Compete in Intramural Elimination Tourney

Teams of both Hillcrest and Quadrangle played first-round games of their elimination tournament in the intramural competition yesterday, and winners from the two dormitories will compete against the various other teams engaged in the competition at a later date.

In the Hillcrest league, Second South defeated Third North, 14 to 7. Both teams scored through passes, with the Talby to Nelson combination of Second South proving too much for Third North.

Fourth floor downed Third South, 16 to 0, but the contest was much closer than the score indicates.

Games Today

- Class A Alpha Tau Omega vs. Pi Kappa Alpha (field 5). Class B Beta Theta Pi vs. Phi Epsilon Pi (field 1). Sigma Chi vs. Sigma Nu (field 2). Delta Tau Delta vs. Delta Upsilon (field 7). Phi Kappa Psi vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon (field 8).

Results Yesterday

- Hillcrest First 19, Second North 6, Second South 14, Third North 7, Fourth 16, Third South 0. Quadrangle Upper A 39, Upper B 32, Upper C 7, Upper D 6, Lower A 22, Lower B 0, Lower D 6, Lower C 0.

Extra Point Wins

Upper C had a tough time defeating Upper D, 7 to 6. All the scoring was done in the first half, and at the time, the one-point margin seemed trivial. When the game ended, however, the conversion made on a pass from Slye to Keasling proved the margin of victory.

Hawklets Get Long Scrimmage Session, 3rd in Three Days

Scrimmage and more scrimmage is what Coach Herb Cormack has been dishing out to his Little Hawks all week, and yesterday afternoon was no exception because the City high team ran play for a full hour.

Yesterday was the third time in three days that scrimmage has been the main dish on the Little Hawk practice schedule, and, as on the other nights, the first team ran rings around the second team as they passed and plunged for several touchdowns.

Sangster to Danner Passing Combination Clicks During Drill

Bill Sangster's passing arm was in fine shape and makes Iowa City's attack for Bells look stronger than ever. Sangster threw several long passes to Dave Danner, who twisted and turned through the entire secondary for touchdown runs. Joe Fackler also was on the receiving end of many of the aeriels and proved again he is ready to take over one of the wing posts should anything happen to the regulars.

Danner Looks Good

After the scrimmage, Sangster practiced sending punts down the field to Danner, who looked good on returns. Several times Danner left the team groping in thin air as he dodged the entire team to score standing up.

Hawkeye Harriers In Strenuous Drill

Favorable weather conditions yesterday permitted Iowa's cross-country squad to get in one of its most successful practices of the season.

Fourteen of the 15 men competing for berths on the team went through a strenuous drill, consisting of a three-mile workout, half of which was devoted to speed and pace judgement. Bob Orth was the only man who failed to report.

Iowa Diamondmen Hold Intra-Squad Workout

Iowa's fall baseball squad engaged in another intra-squad game yesterday, as Coach Otto Vogel stressed the importance of heads-up base running.

The squad was again divided into two teams, and a five-inning game was played. The team captained by Bill Welp won, 5-0, from the team captained by reserve catcher Bill Harbor.

University Receives Equipment of Crum, Noted Iowa Sprinter

Spiked shoes and the uniform worn by John V. Crum, famous University of Iowa sprinter who set a world's record in 1895, have been presented to the athletic department.

Given by Sister, Brother

The equipment has been given to the university by W. E. Crum Jr., his brother, and Mrs. Mary C. Reynolds, his sister, of Bedford.

Despite the fact that they are 46 years old, the shoes are in remarkably good condition. They are very similar to the shoes used by the present-day sprinters, with pliable leather uppers and light soles.

Crum competed between 1892 and 1895, winning a total of 37 victories in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in home, state, conference and national meets. He had his greatest season in 1895 when he won 27 straight races.

The Iowa gained national fame when he won the I.C.A. dashes at Morris Heights near New York City in 1895 in :10 for the 100 and :22 for the 220. Later, in the Central A.A.U. games in Chicago, Crum, running for the Chicago A.A., created a new world's record of :21.8 for the 220-yard dash around one curve.

In May, 1897, at the age of 24 years, Crum died in Des Moines following an operation for acute appendicitis.

Fate of Soviet Army In Balance as Nazi Forces Near Capital of Moscow south to the coast of the Sea of Azov Hitler's week-old and monstrous attack is now in full swing. And if German accounts are taken at face value, it has already shattered Russian resistance in the south and perilously breached the outer defenses of Moscow is ominously silent about Moscow in the north.

the true situation in the south. Berlin boasts that a Nazi spearhead from the lower bend of the Dnieper has leaped forward 200 miles to seize important ports on the north coast of the Sea of Azov. The battle on that front the Germans say, has degenerated into a Russian flight, the Nazi pursuers now only about 100 miles from vitally important Rostov, key to a land invasion of the oil-rich Russian Caucasus.

A hardly less swift and menacing Nazi pincer attack that has brought the sound of the guns almost within earshot of Moscow is admitted by the Russians. Vyazma Junction, 130 miles or less west of the Soviet capital, is again a battle theater. About the same distance southward, another Nazi onslaught is pounding for possession of the important Bryansk junction, if it has not already fallen. Berlin claims contact has already been made by these or other Nazi columns to freeze a steel ring about "several" Russian armies in the north.

Just how the Nazi spearheads reached the Vyazma region, 80 miles east of Rostov, is more imminently Smolensk, is not indicated. The German claim of encirclement indicates, however, that it was not only by frontal attack along the main route from the west to Moscow via Smolensk; but by sweeping panzer division dashes north and south to get behind unestimated numbers of Russian troops and cut them off from Moscow.

Meagre reports from the battle fronts furnish no clear clue to the actual situation on either flank of the 800 mile span that separates the twin German attacks. It is obvious, however, that Rostov and the land route for a Nazi invasion of the Caucasus is in more imminent peril than Moscow. The capture of Rostov would cut off Russia's main oil supply, outflank the industrially important Donets basin and even threaten Moscow with encirclement from the south.

It appears possible that the Nazi dash along the north coast of the Sea of Azov to Mariupol, 110 miles west of Rostov, is no more yet than an armored-division spearhead. There are still strong Russian forces behind it and a direct advance along the coast toward Rostov from Mariupol does not seem feasible if there is any semblance of continuing Russian resistance on that front.

The Sea of Azov coast is seamed with estuaries, sea lakes and other barriers all the way, and to a depth of 60 miles or more inland. There is good holding ground still for the Russians west of Rostov if they can rally as they did east of Kiev.

In the north, however, it now appears that the first Nazi objective is not Moscow; but to react on an even vaster scale the entrapment of red armies that occurred east of Kiev. The flower of the Russian army unquestionably is deployed along the western defenses of Moscow. Some important units were last reported in action on the Lovat and upper Dvina rivers 175 miles or more west and north of Vyazma. Nazi capture of Vyazma would cut off their retreat by rail or road.
