Report Skirmish Between Russian, Japanese Forces on East Front

Reds Say Nipponese Raiding Party Tried To Take Prisoners

Tension Increases On Siberian Border; Japan Denies Clash

SHANGHAI—A raid by 20 Japanese soldiers across the tensely-patrolled Soviet-Japanese far eastern frontier, precipitating a clash in which both sides suffered casualties, was reported yesterday by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Japanese officials here said they had no information of such a clash which Tass said occurred four days ago.

The Russian account said the Japanese apparently were trying to take prisoners. (Such a raid might be to gain information on Russian border dispositions.)

After fighting with Russian patrols the Japanese had to withdraw, taking their wounded with them but leaving caps, rifles and cartridges behind, Tass declared.

The report received keen attention in view of a recent increase of tension along the far-flung frontier between Soviet Siberia and Japanese-controlled Manchukuo and Korea.

The brief Tass report placed the scene of the clash on Chertova mountain near the "border village of Raskino." Neither name appears on available maps, but the locality referred to was believed here to be along the frontier near the point where the borders of Siberia, Manchukuo and Korea come together.

(It was near this point, south of the big Soviet port of Vladivostok, that a pitched battle of several weeks was fought between Japanese and Soviet troops at Changkufeng in 1938. At various other points along the Siberian-Manchukuo and Siberian-Korean borders there have been recurrent clashes in the past ten years.)

Connally Urges U.S. to Assert 'Sea Freedom'

Senate Opens Debate On Neutrality Revision Measures Yesterday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate began its historic debate on neutrality revision yesterday, with Senator Connally (D-Tex) urging the United States to reassert its right to freedom of the seas and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) declaring that troop transports would follow in the wake of armed American merchantmen traveling to belligerent ports.

Before the chamber was a measure greatly broadened by the senate foreign relations committee, of which Connally is chairman. To the house provision for the arming of merchant ships, the committee added another abolishing the neutrality act's prohibitions against sending such ships into belligerent ports or combat zones.

During a 90-minute speech before packed galleries and grave-faced colleagues Connally asserted that the proposed revision "is a defense measure, not a war measure." He added that "the United States must claim its rights to the seas, its right as a free and equal nation among the nations of the earth."

Vandenberg, emphasizing each word, told his colleagues: "When you arm a merchant ship and send her to a belligerent port she will be followed one day by another ship—a troop transport. I am trying to remember the transport as well as the merchant ship."

Court to Rule On 'Over Time'

Believed Suez Drive Will Topple Turkey Broadening War Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ruling on the proper method of computing "over time" paid employees under the wage-hour act was promised yesterday by the supreme court.

The tribunal agreed to pass on a circuit court decision holding that the Dallas News had not violated the wage-hour law by determining overtime on the basis of an agreed hourly wage which was above the required minimum pay.

Challenging this ruling, the wage-hour administration asserted that the proper method of fixing the hourly rate was by "averaging the weekly wage over the number of hours worked."

Red Cross Workers Direct Largest Drive In History of County

Plans for the largest Red Cross roll call drive in the history of Johnson county got under way last night at a meeting of divisional chairmen in the headquarters rooms at the Iowa State Bank and Trust Co. building.

Because of the urgent demand for funds caused by the international situation the campaign will be conducted on a larger and more thorough basis than ever before. The university and rural areas will be more completely covered than in past drives.

Publicity films will be shown at local movies, speakers will contact all clubs and lodges and residential district workers will solicit every home.

It will be stressed throughout that when one member of a family joins at his place of employment it does not constitute a full family membership.

Each adult must subscribe before the family can enjoy a 100% membership.

'Islam's Protector' Takes Refuge With the Italians

ROME (AP)—Haj Amin Effendi Al Hussein, exiled grand mufti of Jerusalem who long has been a fugitive from the British, took refuge in Italy yesterday and it was authoritatively indicated he would carry on from here his anti-British activity among Moslems with the encouragement of Premier Mussolini, self-styled "protector of Islam."

British Armies Faced With German Thrust In Suez Canal Zone

Believed Suez Drive Will Topple Turkey Broadening War Area

LONDON (AP)—Increasing indications were seen last night that British armies in the middle east, ready for possible action against the Germans in the Caucasus, might be forced at the same time to oppose a two-way German thrust at the Suez canal.

Some quarters expressed the belief such a Suez drive would topple Turkey from the fence and broaden the whole amphitheater of the war.

Only scraps of news reached London from the Russian front but reliable sources said these seemed to indicate:

1—The Germans were increasing their pressure toward the southeast obviously with the hope of taking Rostov-on-the-Don, driving across the Caspian land bridge to Astrakhan on the Caspian sea and moving south against the big oil ports of Batum and Baku.

2—Bad weather, along with stiffened Russian resistance, was slowing at least temporarily the German march toward Moscow from the Mzhalsk region where fighting was so near the Soviet capital that the "guns could be heard in Red square."

3—Russians in the Kalinin sector apparently have blunted the northern claw of the German pincer around the capital.

One source said development of the campaign to the southeast "is quite likely to knock Turkey off the fence one way or another in the next few weeks."

Fifteen Killed In Mine Blast

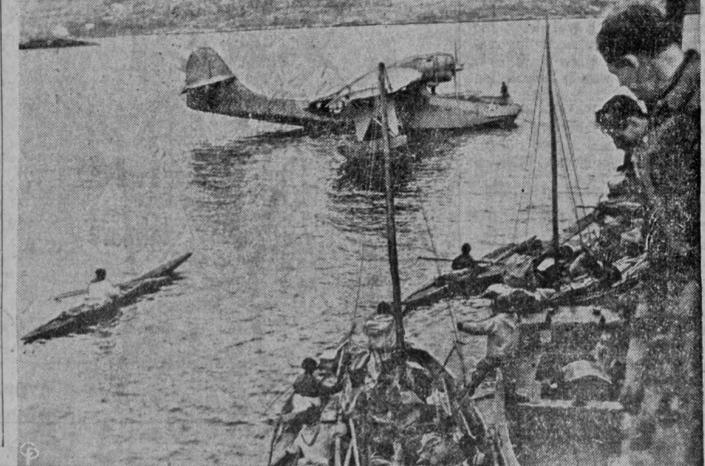

DANIEL BOONE, Ky. (AP)—Badly burned bodies of 15 miners trapped by an explosion in the Sterling Coal company mine about 7,000 feet from the main shaft were reached last night by rescue squads.

Thirty-eight others in the mine at the time of the blast were rescued unharmed earlier.

Paul Gannon, general superintendent of the mine, said the bodies were found but none had been brought to the surface.

Experienced mine men thought the blast was touched off by an electric spark, but an official version was not yet available.

ESKIMOS EYE U.S. NAVY PATROL PLANE

The natives have seen other planes before but they are hopeful the crew may have some tin cans to spare which can be converted into weapons or utensils. This is a U.S. Navy photo.

NAZIS APPROACH ROSTOV

Tobacco Firms Found Guilty In U.S. Court

Report Reds Thrown Back With 'Bloody Losses' Around City

F.D.R. Issues Plea to Lewis

Makes Third Attempt To Halt Coal Strike Involving 53,000 Men

LEXINGTON (AP)—The billion-dollar tobacco industry's three largest companies, one subsidiary concern and 12 executives were convicted yesterday on charges of monopoly and price fixing criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The corporation convicted in United States district court in all four counts of the accusation were the R.J. Reynolds, Liggett and Myers and American Tobacco companies and American Suppliers, Inc., a subsidiary of American Tobacco.

Those acquitted: American Cigarette and Cigar Company, a subsidiary of the American Tobacco Company.

George Washington Hill, Jr., of American Tobacco.

Robert E. Lasater and John C. Whitaker of R.J. Reynolds.

William D. Carmichael, Ben Carroll and Benjamin F. Few of Liggett and Myers.

Charges carried as penalty a maximum fine of $20,000 for each of the defendant companies and a maximum penalty of $20,000 fine and four years' imprisonment for each of the executives convicted.

BERLIN (AP)—The German army appeared today to be driving for an early capture of Rostov, gateway to Caucasus oil and big Black sea port, as bad weather retarded the advance on other Russian fronts.

The high command said the Russians, launching desperate counterattacks in the Donets basin of the southern sector, were thrown back with "heavy and bloody casualties" and loss of hundreds of prisoners, and credited Italian troops with inflicting a major share of the repulse.

The exact location of the fighting and the strength of the Italian forces were not given, but foreign correspondents were furnished with copies of press material on Rostov. It was recalled that similar matter was put in their hands only a few days before the Germans announced the occupation of Kharkov, the "Russian Pittsburgh" 240 miles northwest of Rostov.

The praise of the Italians came at a time when the Italian foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano had been visiting Adolf Hitler at his headquarters. Observers noted it was one of a succession of high command tributes to allied forces.

Late last week it was the Spanish blue division. Before that the Hungarians and Slovaks were singled out. The Poles and Rumanians have come in for frequent mention.

The high command report on other fronts, particularly before Moscow, said only that operations were making continued progress "in spite of unfavorable weather."

100 Hostage French Saved

A Comedy Treat for Iowa's Homecoming Week—'Male Animal' Made-to-Order

VICHY, Unoccupied France (AP)—A hundred hostage Frenchmen marked for German firing squads appeared to have been saved tonight about four hours before half of them were to have been shot.

Only 48 hours before, the president of the United States and the prime minister of England had joined their voices in denouncing German reprisal executions.

They thus had added to the "broken outcry" of aged Marshal Petain who had pleaded publicly with Frenchmen to cease acts against German occupying forces which were provoking the reprisals and whose representatives had privately urged the German authorities to save the lives of the hostages.

Gen. Charles De Gaulle of the free French also had called for a five-minute standstill strike by all Frenchmen as a protest against the shootings.

From last season's Broadway comes "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent, made to order for Homecoming week at Iowa. Filled with what the French called joie de vivre, this hilarious comedy is about all of those things which are near but perhaps not dear to the hearts of students, faculties and boards of regents of universities.

"The Male Animal" does a remarkable job with plot and dialogue of debunking many things about college life which needs debunking. University theater's cast went all-out at last night's opening performance to see that a thorough job was done of it.

President Accuses Germans of Plotting To Seize 14 Latin American Countries; Says Secret Map Proves Nazi Ambitions

'If Hitler Wins, The Swastika and Naked Sword Will Hold Sway; Mein Kampf Will Be Law'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt declared last night that the "shooting has started" and solemnly called on the nation to help destroy a Hitler regime against which he leveled the following accusations:

1. It has drawn up a secret map showing how it intends to obliterate the existing boundary lines of 14 South and Central American countries and substitute five "vassal states"—one of which would have dominion "over our great line—the Panama canal."

2. It has drafted a detailed plan to wipe out all existing religions, if Hitler wins, and substitute an international nazi church. In place of the Bible, the words of Mein Kampf would be "imposed and enforced as holy writ" and in place of the cross of Christ, the Swastika and the naked sword would hold sway.

Mr. Roosevelt, making a major speech at a dinner at the Mayflower hotel here in observance of Navy Day, declared that he had document to prove his words—a copy of the secret map, and a detailed plan of the anti-religion program.

Pointing to the attacks on American vessels, Mr. Roosevelt asserted:

"We have wished to avoid shooting, but the shooting has started. And history has recorded who fired the first shot. In the long run, however, all that will matter is who fired the last shot."

Again, he said the nation stood ready to face its newest and greatest challenge — "we Americans have cleared our decks and taken our battle stations."

He called for greater armaments production, to provide every soldier with weapons "better than that of any army on earth" and he appealed again for peace between capital and labor.

Industrial output, he said, "cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of industrial managers who hold out for extra profits, or for 'business as usual.' It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of labor leaders who are a menace to the true cause of labor itself, as well as to the nation as a whole."

By an interpolation in his speech, President Roosevelt reinforced his thrice-repeated demands on John L. Lewis to call off the captive coal mine strike pending negotiations.

He was speaking of how the sinews of war must be delivered to nations battling the axis and said:

"Our national will must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast industrial machine."

The words, "yes, from every coal mine" had not appeared in the advance text of his address distributed to the press.

"The nazis have made up their own list of modern American heroes," he said. "It is, fortunately, a short list. I am glad that it does not contain my name."

FLOOD DAMAGES AT $2,000,000 IN HUTCHINSON

Here's a view of a downtown street in Hutchinson, Kan., after waters from a broken dyke inundated three-fourths of the city causing damages estimated at $2,000,000. Although the water stood at eight-foot levels in many sectors of the city, rescue workers and state guard members rushed to the scene by Governor Payne Ratner, succeeded in effecting all rescues without a fatality.

Crisis Is a Good Thing--

IT AWAKENS MOST YOUNG PEOPLE OUT OF THE TRADITIONAL SLEEP OF YOUTH

A few years ago, the college student read about conflict abroad, accepted it as something remotely distressful and tossed the thought aside with his daily paper. His worries centered mostly about the scheme of his immediate existence, his studies, his social life, and an acceptance of a well defined goal for the future.

Then a year passed, and another, and the papers began to devote more and more columns to the woes of the Europeans until, suddenly, the sharp and terrifying reality of an immediate emergency awakened the average youth to the full awareness that his life had changed from an indifferent acceptance of American ideals to the question of "Where is the country heading and what guarantee do I have of a future?"

The nation as a whole stirred itself into action and the people began to wonder and speculate upon what part Americans were to play in the drama.

That is the position of the United States today. Overnight, almost, the youth of America have for the most part paused and considered seriously and deliberately—not the present, but the future. They have paused, and then gone forward with a changed routine of existence. The army, the navy, the government have taken them from schools, jobs, and homes into service. The future is their hope, and for the future they are preparing. What will become of them in 20 or 30 years? They don't know, but they are beginning to be worried, and that is the most promising sign of a nation which must be fully awakened and watchful!

Whatever the eventual destiny of this country, American youth must face it squarely. This is no time for unwelcome theories. Many a college student realizes this and is beginning to see more and more clearly the relation between his efforts today and the shape of his tomorrow. He is faced with the beginning of a realization that his youth is the key to the future, the instrument which will determine his world 20 years from now. Accepting maturity earlier than those of a few years back, he can contribute in some way to the solution of the problems of today.

We should all be thankful for one phase of the present crises—it is teaching young people to realize their responsibilities to the future and is stirring a complacent nation to alertness.

A Man About Manhattan—

By GEORGE TUCKER

The 'No-Glamour Girl of the Year' And the Story of How She Clicked

NEW YORK — D'ju get a load of that Nancy Walker kid in "Best Foot Forward?" Her pop's the little half of Barto & Mann, in Hellzapoppin', and I understand she was born in a trunk (figuratively) and has been tramping around with the old man ever since. This is Nancy's first stage assignment and the reason she clicked is that the Abbott office liked her but not having a part for her, said, "Look, kid, you're a blind act—now make people believe it!" She just acted natural-like, she claims; loves to face audiences; doesn't want to go Hollywood because her ambition is to be the "No-Glamour Girl of the Year." Doesn't use makeup. "It doesn't do any good," Age 19.

This is a McCoy story. Jesse Addler is a character. He's the bachelor who invented those shoes that "make you two inches taller," "invented" them at popular prices. Recently one of his stores was held up and the clerk was tied and tossed behind the counter. When the stick-up man rifled the cash register and complained because there was only $78 and some odd change in it, the clerk apologized. "You don't know how to run a store," the hold-up man bawled. "Last week I held up a much smaller store than yours and got twice as much!" When Addler heard about the complaint he looked up his figures—and transferred the clerk—for the figures showed the holdup guy was right. The figures showed

I see jockeys in the nightclubs frequently. They invariably have dancing partners six feet tall. . . . The Comedian has a waiter who is a dead ringer for Bob Hope. . . . Central Park Fountain on Sunday afternoons looks like a restless blueberry patch—there are so many sailors there. . . . Odd information: alexandrite, formerly the national gem of Russia, is green in daylight but red under artificial light. . . . When cameramen take pictures of the penguins on the edge of Prometheus Fountain, they rush right up and pose enthusiastically. Not that they're camera-hogs. They think those camera boxes contain food.

Georgie Price, an ex-Wall streeteer who turned to Broadway and heads the show at LaConga, was accosted by a stranger the other night who said, "Excuse this intrusion. I once lived with you day and night for six months, but we never met. Through you I was able to make a lot of money." Price blinked, and confessed he found nothing familiar in the stranger's face. "Well," said the stranger, "I'm Victor. I'm the inventor of the 16-millimeter film. While conducting experiments, I used a short you made back in 1927. I looked at that short every day and night for six months. Finally, I hit. They paid me $150,000 for the invention." And he led the bewildered Price to the bar!

America's Movieland—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—You start being an agent in Hollywood in one of two ways. Either you try to lure names off the lists of established agents, or you start from scratch and look for nobodies who you're sure can be somebody.

Pretty Sue Carol, once a leading ingenue herself, took the latter course less than three years ago. She was selecting office furniture and renting space, even though she hadn't a single client, when she heard a local radio playlet featuring a splendid voice. The voice belonged to one Alan Ladd who, the announcer said, was playing the roles of a young man and his grandfather. Sight unseen—and Mr. Ladd might have been fat and 40 or lean and bald—Sue wrote him a letter. In response came a young blond gentleman, with a physique built by swimming and track at North Hollywood High, and Sue Carol was an agent with a client.

She's had others since—Sheila Ryan, Lois Ranson, Dick Travis and others—for whom she got contracts. The other day she "sold" her prize pupil, her agency baby, to Paramount for a role with Veronica Lake in "This Gun For Hire"—and a contract.

Ladd, previously sold for a part in "Joan of Paris" by Agent Carol, proceeded to sell Producer David Hempstead on Sue Carol as the actress to play a Nazi secret agent in Paris. If she takes the part, Agent Ladd gets 10 per cent commission from Client Carol.

Whatever else may be the verdict on "Joan of Paris," no unkind critic may complain that its garbage smells. No adventure film laid in Paris would be complete without an escape via the famous sewers, and no Paris sewer presumably would be realistic without floating garbage. RKO's garbage, however, is something special—chopped fresh vegetables, scattered in the morning, scooped up at noon, replaced with fresher ones for the afternoon shooting. The sewer water, likewise for reasons of health, is pure and constantly flowing.

The effect, as Stan Michele Morgan, Ladd, Jack Briggs and others wade through the dank tunnels pursued by Gestapoman Laird Cregar and his minions, is very much like fresh vegetable salad—adorned, of course, with lam.

Bing Crosby, who has introduced a song hit in most of his other 24 pictures, hasn't a chance to repeat in "Birth of the Blues"—the only new tune of its 15 songs is "The Waiter and the Porter and the Upstairs Maid."

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q.—Does the government make redemption of defense savings bonds difficult?
A.—Not at all. After a short period the owner of a bond can follow a simple procedure to get his money. See the list of redemption values printed on your bond, and instructions for redeeming it.

Q.—Are the defense savings stamps sold at retail stores exchangeable for defense savings bonds?
A.—Yes. They are the same as stamps on sale at post offices and elsewhere.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

How Ickes Fell Out of His Oil Shortage

WASHINGTON—Mr. Ickes fell out of his own oil crisis as gracefully as an elephant from a tree. The feather bed upon which he chose to alight was the excuse that the British would return 15 tankers by November first and 25 more about the end of the month. Not a feather will be found in this ticking upon inspection. The proven facts are that there is no shortage on the eastern seaboard, never has been, even while the tankers were away. Mr. Ickes' own bureau of mines announced the day he spoke that eastern gasoline stocks were larger than a year ago.

The conclusion when Mr. Ickes hit the ground, shook his whole coordination organization. Some public mention has been made that his decision to abandon his program entirely was a surprise. It was a shock when the announcement came out his own assistants were making up the oil allotments for November. His marketing division was not informed until after the news was in the papers. His bureau of mines believed at the time that the restriction would continue until about January 1st. The oil industry leaders with whom he had been working had no word.

Dolphin Follies of 1942 to Open Three Night Stand Thursday

Presentation of Queen in Picturesque Setting Highlights First Show

National Recognition Received by Follies in the Past 26 Years

By JOHN BUZY

"It has everything." That's the way the Dolphin fraternity describes its annual aquacade, the Dolphin Follies of 1942, which opens a three night stand Thursday.

From the information released about the production, that's about the only way to describe it. In the picturesque setting, "Tropical Trade Winds," there is everything from an authentic Hawaiian hula and music of a steel guitar to trapeze performers, fancy and comic diving, bubble dancers, weight lifting demonstrations, intricate water drills, varsity vs. freshmen races and a spectacular 37 foot "fire dive."

Entering its 26th year, the Dolphin Follies has in the past received national recognition for the originality of the acts and the top-

One of the highlights of the Dolphin Follies of 1942 to be presented in the field house pool Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be the masculine version of the Hawaiian hula to be performed by the six members of the cast pictured above. They are from left to right, Harold Krizan, A2 of Chicago; Tom Poulos, A4 of Dubuque; Vito Lopin, A3 of Rockford, Ill.; Clyde Kemnitz, E3 of Chicago; Leo Biedrzycki, C4 of Hartford, Conn.; and George Poulos, A4 of Marshalltown. One of the main diving specialties will be a "flame dive" by Biedrzycki from a 37 foot platform. His clothing will be soaked with gasoline and set afire before the final plunge into the water.

The producers of the Dolphin Follies of 1942 urge students and Iowa City residents to see "Tropical Trade Winds" on either Thursday, Oct. 30 or Friday, Oct. 31, in order to allow out-of-town homecoming visitors an opportunity to see the show Saturday, Nov. 1.

notch individual performances. Anton Zukas and Larry Griswold, two well known professional performers, first appeared in a water show here in a Dolphin production.

Highlighting of opening night will be the presentation of the Dolphin Queen and her four attendants. Ted Ashby, Harlan Miller and Bert McGraw, all staff writers of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, will make the selections this year from 20 candidates representing the women's organizations on the campus.

The aesthetic tropical influence of the show is provided by a huge backdrop painted by Dick Spencer, which is complete with palms, a tropical shore and a background of mountains.

One of the Follies' perennial favorites, "The Flying Collegians," will again perform their intricate routines. Flying through the air 40 feet above the water without the usual measure of precaution, a safety net, the "Collegians" will do their somersaults, twists and flips of all sorts. Bob Parry and Larry Hayes are the fliers and Erwin Anthoner will perform the extremely difficult feat of catching these men as they complete their aerial acrobatics.

An authentic Hawaiian hula will be presented by Jean Badgley, A1 of Panama, to the steel guitar accompaniment of Clifford Kobayashi, M1 of Hawaii.

The "Three Question Marks," Vic Vargon, Leo Biedrzycki, and Frank Brandon, will present their difficult and dangerous repertoire of "flying mares," "pick-a-backs" and springboard antics of all kinds.

During intermission there will be an exhibition of aquatic skill which, according to Coach Dave Amburster, shouldn't be missed by anyone interested in the water sports.

One of the highlights of the show will be a competitive event between the varsity and frosh swimming squads. A speedy freshman outfit is expected to make it plenty tough for the varsity to come out on top this year.

Dolphin divers, some of whom are expected to be among the top men in the Western conference this year, will display their wares from the 40 foot platform, which is the highest indoor platform in the state and one of the highest in the country.

Vargon, Connell, and Spencer will demonstrate various dives from this platform both singly and in unison. The dives will range from the simplest to the most difficult.

Climax of the diving sequences will be a "flame dive" from the 37 foot platform by Leo Biedrzycki. In this scene, the diver's clothes are soaked with gasoline and set afire before the final plunge into the pool.

Ladies Aid to Convene

The Ladies Aid society of the Christian church will meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the church. The morning will be spent in quilting. After the luncheon at noon, there will be a business meeting.

Tom Farmer Shines as Hawkeyes Drill on Passes

Sophomore Unknown Volunteers Services As Placement Kicker

Hawkeyes Look Good In Passing Session; Hoosiers Here Next

Dr. Eddie Anderson set out immediately to correct Iowa's outstanding defect in Saturday's game with Purdue yesterday, giving the Hawkeyes a two-hour session on offensive passing, with Tom Farmer doing the pitching.

Another defect, that of kicking points, was also on its way to being remedied, as Bob Matthews, Hamburg sophomore, worked out with the team and showed nice placekicking ability. Matthews, who cannot engage in scrimmage because of a high school shoulder injury, volunteered for service. He kicked them far and accurately yesterday, and will certainly be a help if practice will make him more accurate.

Green, Mertes Back

Anderson went back to his former starting lineup in the drill, except for the right tackle slot, where Bob Otto, as a reward for his work against Purdue, has evidently got a first team job. Bill Green was again at fullback, and Bernard "Bis" Mertes at right half.

Farmer was hitting receivers both with and against the varsity regularly, with aerials to Green, Bill Burkett, Al Coupee and John Maher especially good. Considering the wet field and strong, cold wind, the performance was outstanding.

Frosh Ape Hoosiers

At the same time as the varsity was working on passing, a team of mixed reserves and freshmen worked out a sham Indiana attack under the direction of Frank Carideo and Pat Boland, each of whom has scouted the Hoosiers. Dick Hoerner and Chuck Uknes, both freshmen, were simulating Billy Hillenbrand and Lou Saban, Indiana passing and running axes. This team will run Indiana plays against the varsity for the rest of the week.

Anderson had praise for both Hank Vollenweider and Bill Stauff, who, he said, "looked well" starting against the Boilermakers Saturday.

So the Hawkeyes began work for their Homecoming game with the Hoosiers Saturday, the first time they have played at home since their opener against Drake Sept. 27. Iowa, in good physical shape, has definitely improved over its letdown against Wisconsin two weeks ago, but just how much will be shown in the tussle coming up.

Indiana Tough Foe

In Indiana, Iowa will find an opponent which has definitely found itself in its last two games. After losing to Detroit, Texas Christian and Notre Dame in their first three games, the Hoosiers bounced back with a victory over Nebraska two weeks ago, and lost to Wisconsin only after a terrific fight, 27-25.

A host of good backs, plus a steady line, spells Indiana this year, and the team is dangerous from the word go. It was Hillenbrand last week against Wisconsin who started passing from his own end zone, and four plays later had a touchdown.

Hoosiers Look At Last Year's Movies

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana university's first string football squad, cheered by reports from Madison, Wis., that sophomore center John Tavener was not seriously hurt in Saturday's game with Wisconsin, spent yesterday's practice session looking at pictures of last year's tilt with Iowa. The Hoosiers will invade the Hawkeye stronghold Saturday.

Landes Leads Attack With 2 Passes, One Run for Touchdowns

In spite of a cold, driving wind, First of Hillcrest put its passing attack into action yesterday afternoon, and triumphed over Second South, 24-0, to maintain its undefeated status in the Hillcrest league. Max Landes sparked the First team with two scoring passes and a running touchdown.

Landes fired a pass to Bill Pinkston, who sprinted over the goal for the opening score. Then Landes broke into the open on a running play and scored to give First a 12-0 lead at the end of the half.

In the second period, Landes kept the ball rolling with a pass to Gene Ingold, who crossed the goal. Jim Slater accounted for the final touchdown with an end run.

Second North wrestled a 13-6 victory from Third South yesterday, to set its record at three wins and one loss. Herb Morgan kept

Vet, Soph Grapplers Make Outlook for '42 Team Look Promising

Sprinkled with toughened veterans and a host of ambitious sophomores, Iowa's 1942 wrestling team has a promising outlook.

Led by Loy Julius, a senior and conference champion in the 128 pound weight division, Coach Mike Howard's team has five veteran major letter winners back for the coming winter campaign.

Other returning lettermen are Bernard Conrad (121), Russell Miller (145) and Art Johnson (175), all juniors, and Herb Taylor (155), a senior.

Sophomore candidates who are pushing the veterans for places on the team include Kenneth Arch (121), Roy Pickett (128), Ed Kemp, Herb Williams and Richard Engle (145). Best bets of the 155 pounders are Robert Maher and Leo Vergamini.

In the heavyweight and 165 pound divisions the outlook is not so bright, since Coach Howard has only two sophomores on whom to pin his hopes. For the heaviest the burden falls upon Glenn Schoening, and in the 165 weight class Richard Geppert is the sole contender.

Capt. Glenn Stimmel Eligible to Play In U-High's Season Finale

Capt. Glenn Stimmel will be eligible to play in U-High's season finale against Tipton Friday, as he learned last Saturday by Coach Paul Brechler.

Word received from the Iowa High School Athletic association stated that even though the tough season was born on October 31, the same date as the game, he would be eligible to play for "any boy is considered 19 years of age until midnight of his birthday."

A brief, to the point chalk talk was yesterday's practice session for the Bluehaws. Brechler made it clear that the boys who demonstrate ability to tackle in the next four days of practice, will be the starting lineup for the game.

He also outlined a hard week of work ahead for the Bluehaws, and told the boys to expect a change of lineup which will necessitate some of them learning new positions.

U-High's second team met the West Liberty scrubs at West Liberty yesterday afternoon, and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Conference standings are:

W	L	Pct.
West Branch	4	0 1.000
Anamosa	2	0 1.000
Monticello	2	2 .500
Tipton	2	2 .500
U-High	2	2 .500

- Old Prof Worried
- When Our Navy
- Drops From Sight

NEW YORK (The Iowan's Special News Service)—The old professor, mumbling to himself, was checking over the list of undefeated and untied teams as his Monday morning class of football coaches filed in, one step after another.

Old professor — Minnesota. Duke, Texas, Army—hey, hey, no Navy. Where's the Navy? A one-ocean Navy, a two-ocean Navy, a rowboat. Any kind of Navy. It was here last week.

Swede Larson, Navy — sorry, professor, we were sunk last Saturday. We came to the Harvard stadium expecting to win and got our cars pinned back. Peabody and Pfister are a pair of guards who could play on anybody's team. They ruined our timing. Harvard is much better than we expected or Navy has been greatly over-rated.

Dick Harlow, Harvard—Whew excuse me, professor. I can't say a word. My boys were wonderful.

Old professor—Mr. Crisler, did you like the Minnesota team? Fritz Crisler, Michigan—Which team? I liked all three Minnesota teams. The turning point seemed to have been Smith's long punt that put us back on our heels. Say, with all those sophomores on hand do you think we are ever going to beat Minnesota?

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota—I thought it was a real championship, hard-fighting game from start to finish. My fullback, Bill Daley, played 60 minutes of football despite a toe injury, and all my boys deserve credit. Say, that Bob Westfall can smack that line, and Tom Kuzma looks like the real article.

Old professor — Mr. Horrell, what's brewing? Babe Horrell, UCLA — Our "T." I guess. It's the first time this season we've really shown what the formation can do. We've had wet fields before. We'll show a lot more, now we have found ourselves.

Tex Oliver, Oregon—We weren't thinking about the Rose Bowl. The Bruins just outplayed us. They were alert, and charging hard.

Old Professor — Speaking of charge, that reminds me. Mr. Don Faurot, you seem quite chipper. Will you please run down and order some flowers sent to Buck Shaw. He probably isn't feeling so well today, and just charge them to me. Mr. Sanders, please wipe that grin off your face.

Red Sanders, Vanderbilt—Can't help it. I guess we did all right, although we'll have to do better to beat Tulane Saturday. We certainly did better than last year, Princeton beat us then you know.

Tad Wieman, Princeton—Vanderbilt has a great team and it should go far. It's too bad captain Peters wasn't in shape. Maybe this wouldn't have happened.

Old Professor—Maybe not, maybe not. Mr. Brown, you don't seem downhearted? Paul Brown, Ohio State—No sir. We lost to a better team and we can hold our heads up. Northwestern had too much backfield power for us.

Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern—Whew, I'm glad that's over. Ohio State is better in a pinch than Michigan. Imagine those Ducks hitting us twice on the one-foot line and once on the 10-yard line. Brownie has done a great job with the material at hand.

Old Professor—Spoken like a gentleman. Well, gentlemen, I'm sorry the rest of you haven't time to recite. Is Red Dawson here today? Oh, so he has a headache too. Better make that two orders of flowers, and better charge them up to the overhead. This perfumed aspirin demand keeps me broke. Good day, gentlemen.

Hawklets Practice On Aerial Plays, Signals Before Franklin Tilt

Cold weather slowed things down at City high's practice yesterday afternoon as Coach Herb Cormack drilled his boys lightly for the coming Franklin high tilt to be played on Shrader field Thursday night.

The rest was also a reward for last Friday's game against the powerful Blue Devils of Davenport, who finally won the contest that was billed the most outstanding in the state.

Practice Blocking

The husky Red and White line-men drew some contact work as they practiced blocking for about an hour. The backs, however, had an easy time and even shed all their pads for the session.

The main event of the afternoon was a signal drill for the first team and a long drill on pass-defense and offense.

The Little Hawks came through Friday's game without injury and will be at full strength for the Thunderbolts Thursday. Joe Casey, who last year played for the Parlor City school and has been starting for the Hawklets this year, will be playing against his former mates.

Sophis Win, 13-7

The Iowa City freshman-sophomore team scored its third victory of the season last Saturday morning by defeating McKinley's youngsters, 13 to 7.

The Hawklets scored both of the touchdowns on passes from "Triple Threat" Todd to "Curly" Brack. Likewise, a pass set up McKinley's score, but the marker was finally made on a plunge from the 2-yard line.

Brack was the individual star of the Iowa City team as he ran circles around the opposing players. Playing a supporting role in the line, Tom Hirt was the outstanding lineman on the field.

Next Saturday the Hawklet lightweights will end their season playing Wilson high of Cedar Rapids at Hill park.

HAWKEYE HIGHLIGHTS

Indiana is somewhat of a football stranger at Iowa's homecoming... Hoosiers made only one previous appearance... that was in 1931 and the game's result was a scoreless tie.

Last time Indiana came to Iowa City they had Hal Hursh, who threw passes all over the field (but Nile Kinnick's passes whipped them, 32-29)... now the Hoosiers have Bill Hillenbrand... this sophomore started passing in his own end zone in the Wisconsin game and the four completions covered 100 yards for a touchdown.

WSUI to Present 7 Special Broadcasts On Iowa Homecoming Activities This Week

Dower to Announce Iowa-Indiana Game Saturday Afternoon

Radio station WSUI is this week presenting seven special programs on the Homecoming activities of the university, finishing with a broadcast of the Iowa-Indiana football game on Saturday afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon at 12:45 p.m. the "Hawkeye Reporter," Bill Schoenigen, will go on the air with a program of interesting and little-known facts about the 1921 championship football team and highlights of former Iowa Homecomings.

A special broadcast of the pregame special meeting will be aired Friday evening at 7:35 p.m., followed by an interview with Prof. George Haskell of the commerce department, chairman of this year's Homecoming committee, at 9 p.m. At 9:10 the Homecoming Party will be broadcast.

Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m., the members of the 1921 team will be interviewed, and at 11:15 a.m. the "Homecoming Scene"—a program describing the Homecoming decorations on the campus—will be presented by Jeanette Holaday and Ed Bowman of the WSUI staff.

The culmination of Homecoming activities—the Iowa-Indiana football game—will be broadcast starting at 1:45 Saturday afternoon by Jim Dower, WSUI sports announcer, assisted by Bob Pfeiffer.

Approximately 135 Board Members, Clerks Hear— Officials Discuss Selective Service Problems

Approximately 135 draft board members and clerks from 23 southeast Iowa counties met yesterday in the Johnson county court house to confer with state officials on the administration of the selective service act.

Outstanding among the state speakers was Lieut. Col. Robert J. Shaw, advisor on occupational deferment. Other speakers were Maj. Oliver P. Bennett, legal advisor, who discussed classifications and delinquencies; Lieut. Col. Robert Fulton, mobilization officer, who spoke on induction problems; and Lieut. Col. Ralph A. Lancaster, assistant state director, who talked on administrative functions.

Colonel Shaw in his opening statement made it clear that "business isn't as usual." "We wouldn't be here if business was normal," he said.

"If you are in doubt about the classification of an individual, ask yourself, 'will his induction into the army impede the national safety or interest?'" the colonel said.

Then he asked the local service directors to answer these three simple questions:

- 1. Is the registrant now working or training for a "necessary occupation?"
- 2. Is there a shortage of his kind of help that can't be replaced?
- 4. Would induction cause a reduction in that necessary activity?

Colonel Shaw illustrated his points in the case of the farmer buying a farm for his son. "If the farm should lie idle, there is reason for deferment, but generally it is like the story of the prodigal son. Let the army feed and clothe him," was the colonel's statement.

He stressed the fact that farmers should not be considered as a class, because deferment applies only to individuals. He would classify the partner in a farm with the hired man and tenant with the owner. There is no scarcity of labor in Iowa, he said, and so the hired man or partner may easily be replaced in most cases.

College students, too, offer some problems, the colonel said. He cited as an example the case of an Ames graduate studying for his doctor's degree in New York. His main project was the potato scab problem, and his professors indicated that this was a "necessary occupation."

After a federal inquiry, it was found that there was no shortage of plant pathologists and therefore the man was drafted.

There is a general opinion that if a man is employed in a defense project, he is automatically exempted from army service. The colonel destroyed this delusion by stating that if a man became skilled after three or four months' specialized training, it was possible to replace him in his defense job with a family man.

It was pointed out that if a man wished to learn to fly, he might better be in the army air service than in the civil pilot training course. He urged that the local board members help put men in the air corps if possible.

County Husking Champ Will Compete in District Contest at Preston Today

Harry Brenneman, county corn-husking champion, will compete at Preston today for the district championship.

Ten counties are sending contestants, with the winner eligible to compete in the state meet Oct. 30, in O'Brien county. Counties to be represented are Linn, Benton, Jones, Jackson, Iowa, Cedar, Clinton, Scott and Muscatine.

Brenneman, who husked 2,559 pounds in the contest at the Lloyd Burr farm, Oct. 20, became county champion for the second consecutive year.

Erwin J. Brannen Files Petition Against Mutual Life Insurance Company

Erwin J. Brannen and his assignee, A.B. Counsell, Saturday filed a petition in district court against the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York asking for the continuation of disability benefits from a policy which Brannen held with that company.

According to the petition, Brannen, injured in an accident in May, 1937, received $100 a month until Sept. 29, 1940, when payments ceased. He now asks judgment of $100 a month from May to October, 1941, and the disability insurance feature restored.

Brannen also asks that the company subtract $311.78 to take care of a loan and continue the disability payments.
The law firm of Messer, Hamilton and Cahill represents the plaintiff.

Jurors to Be Chosen To Hear Damage Suit

Petit jurors will be chosen at 9 o'clock this morning to hear the $5,668 Kintzinger-Beranek damage suit in Johnson county district court, it was announced by Judge James P. Gaffney.

According to the petition, Kintzinger asks $5,000 for injuries his wife, Mrs. Catherine A. Kintzinger, received in an automobile accident July 22, 1940, with a truck driven by Lee Fredericks, employee of Fred. L. Beranek.

As plaintiff, John W. Kintzinger claims in his petition that the defendant was negligent in the operation of his truck and so caused the accident.

The plaintiff also asks $668 for damages to his car, the petition states. The accident occurred on the Cedar Bluffs-Solon road.

George Anderson went too far in his satirical presentation of Football Star Wally Myers. Toned down a few degrees, he will shine more brightly.

Bill Dozier is splendidly funny as all-time all-American Joe Ferguson, although he has trouble subjugating a natural culture to act an ex-grid star. But he deserves special commendation. He took the role only a week ago, when Frank Barnhardt was hospitalized with pneumonia. Dozier's best scene, which influences several acts: the Statue of Liberty play.

Lois Tallman does a fine job as Patricia Stanley, and Catherine Harmer as Myrtle Keller and Edra Allanson as Mrs. Damon are important parts of one scene, which they help to blend into a delightfully confusing pre-game party.

Meyer Shines
And now for Lloyd Meyer, who plays Professor Turner. A highly important role, we weren't always convinced that he had full command of it. He seemed perhaps too young. But we do know this. Although he demonstrated faults last night, and wasn't always hearable in certain spots, he nevertheless turned in the most remarkable one-scene performance of the evening—a scene in which he drinks himself into a philosophical daze, and performs in almost brilliant fashion. He has the more than capable assistance of Rodman Jones.

The entire cast suffered from a tendency to overact, to be too energetic in its efforts to get the full out of the sparkling dialogue of the authors. Toned down considerably in the opening scenes, the play should be even funnier, and the performances of the characters more delightful still.

If you love to let yourself go, smile subtly to yourself at risque lines and see a university's too-solemn side properly laughed at by a competent cast in a good play, don't miss "The Male Animal." Homecomers will like it, and so will faculty, students and the general public.

Vance M. Morton directed this one, assisted by Bill Dozier. It runs like clockwork, smoothly and surely to climax after climax. The beautiful settings were designed by Arnold S. Gillette. The lighting is Hunton Sellman's. "The Male Animal" will be repeated each night this week.

Homecoming Badge Sales Start Today

The 1941 Homecoming badge sale begins this morning. Members of Alpha Xi Delta, Zeta Tau Alpha and Sigma Delta Tau sororities, who are conducting the sale, have set their goal at 20,000 badges. "Be a Booster, Wear a Badge," is the 1941 slogan.

Chosen by their sororities to captain the teams are Barbara Wendt, A4 of DeWitt, Alpha Xi Delta; Ruth Goodman, A3 of Milwaukee, Wis., Sigma Delta Tau; and Jean Cordes, A2 of White

The Homecoming badge is a symbol of loyalty, and an emblem of pride; it signifies loyalty to the University and pride in the team. The wearing of a single badge may seem a little thing, but twenty thousand badges worn by twenty thousand students, alumni and friends will be an inspiring sight and a material factor in making Homecoming a success.

Let each one wear one and the result will be gratifying. Students and townspeople alike are urged to cooperate in all phases of the Homecoming program.

Proceeds from the sale will finance smokers, entertainments, and the traditional corn monument.

Featuring a huge golden hawk perched high on a block "I," the 1941 Homecoming badge was designed by Dan Enich, of Davenport, Superimposed upon the "I" is the word "Iowa," with Nov. 1, 1941, Homecoming, located near the bottom.

Graduated from the school of fine arts here in 1937, Dan is now employed as a commercial artist for the A. W. Ramsey Co. in Davenport. His winning badge design was selected from 24 designs entered in the contest, May, 1941.

'40 Tax Suspension Given to Federation of Colored Women

Direct City Engineer To Cut Undergrowth Along River Banks

In accordance with decisions made in previous years, the city council last night suspended the 1940 taxes on property owned by the Iowa Federation of Colored Women which sponsor a home for colored women students here.

The action was taken on petition by the federation. The petition also requested the council to cancel a statement for 1939 taxes received by the association although the council had ordered them suspended. The request was referred to the board of supervisors.

Authorization was given the city engineer to hire Charles T. Looney of the college of engineering to test the Park and Ryerson bridges over the Iowa river. The council had been advised that the bridges are unsafe.

City Clerk William Condon informed the council that an engineer from the state board of health had called on him in answer to the city's request that sewage conditions at Cornville be investigated. The engineer said that accurate tests could not be made at the present time because of the recent heavy rains.

In a resolution adopted by the council, the city engineer was directed to clean out willows and undergrowth along both sides of the Iowa river from the Benton street bridge to the railroad bridge.

A resolution authorizing the investment of $1,000 in defense bonds was adopted. The money will be taken from the perpetual care fund.

In a report to the council, the health department said that the number of complaints of unsanitary conditions had decreased in the month of September. Two cases of whooping cough and one case of scarlet fever were the only cases on contagious diseases.

Chief of Police Frank J. Burns recommended that the city council install traffic lights at the intersections of Clinton and Burlington streets and Linn and Burlington streets. The communication was received and placed on file.

The bid of $51 by Samuel T. Morrison for the old scale house on South Gilbert street was accepted.

Mary Jane Glenn and Lois Metzger were appointed secretaries in the office of city engineer and city clerk, respectively. The resignation of Catherine Welch Rohrer

Alva B. Oathout Reports Community Chest Fund Collections Reach $14,000

With the Community Chest fund clean-up work still lagging, $14,000 in collections was reported by the chest office last night, exactly a week after the campaign was supposed to be officially closed.

However, Alva B. Oathout, drive chairman, expects the set budget of $16,993 to be reached by the end of this week. The chairman urged solicitors to turn in their collections immediately.

I. C. High School Opens 'Wheat Bread Campaign'

In tune with the national and local nutrition programs, Iowa City high school cafeteria is sponsoring an "eat whole wheat bread" campaign today, Byrdine Reece, dietitian announced yesterday.

Purpose of the drive is to interest students in a bread with greater nutrition values. The whole wheat bread which is made from a University of Iowa recipe is baked in the cafeteria.

Tuberculosis and Health Associations Will Meet

Members of the Johnson County Tuberculosis and Health association will meet at 6:30 tonight in the C.S.P.S. hall at Solon for a dinner meeting to make plans for the coming Christmas seal campaign.

William A. Doppler, director of adult health and education for the National Tuberculosis association will be the principal speaker of the evening.

Blaze Causes Damage To Robert Lucas Home

Iowa City firemen yesterday morning extinguished a small fire at the 97-year old home of Robert Lucas, Iowa's first territorial governor.

Located at 727 Switzer, the home which was recently purchased by the state as a memorial, was only slightly damaged.

The city engineer was given authorization to purchase equipment for enlarging various storm sewers and for work in the construction of the new runway at the municipal airport.

Permission was given the American Legion to mark off the bounds for the annual Armistice day observance. Two taxi cab licenses and one beer permit were granted.

The council adjourned to meet Monday, Nov. 3, as a board of health.

Col. R. Shaw Urges 'Home Morale Spirit' As Defense Objective

'We Must Be United' Speaker Points Out At Legion Meeting

"We are not defending our shores if we wait until the enemy gets to those shores," declared Col. R. J. Shaw, past state commander of the American Legion at the monthly chow of the Roy L. Chappek post No. 17 last night at the Community building.

"Nations that furnish the battle ground lose," the speaker asserted. "No one wants America to be a battle-field. Because Germany didn't furnish a battle-field in the last war, her recovery was quicker than that of the Netherlands and Belgium where the war was fought."

Colonel Shaw, advisor on occupational deferments of the state selective service board, spoke to the local Legion post on "The Consistency of the American Legion Throughout the Years Regarding National Defense."

Asserting that for 20 years the American Legion has wanted America strong enough to keep peace, Colonel Shaw pointed out various plans proposed by the Legion in the past to maintain America's defense by recommending sufficient manufacture of munitions in time of peace to defend the country in event of war.

"Nations that relied on the treaties and neutrality went down from the time of Ethiopia," the speaker declared. "To be stronger than the aggressor is the only way to maintain America at this time," he added.

Colonel Shaw explained that the defeat of Hitler and what he stands for should be the present national objective. One of the basic principles of this objective, he went on, would be the ability to carry war to the enemy to keep him from bringing it to us.

The speaker explained that the way to keep up the morale of the armed forces is to build up home morale. We may keep up our domestic differences, he said, but when it comes to facing the rest of the world, we must be united to attain maximum strength.

"Let us build and support the best army and navy in the world by building at home an aggressive, fighting spirit that never quits," Colonel Shaw urged in conclusion.
