Foreclosures Filed Against Two University Fraternity Properties

Alpha Sigma Phi,
Sigma Phi Epsilon
Defendants in Case

Foreclosures, totaling $182,450, were filed yesterday in the office of R. Neilson Miller, clerk of court, against two University of Iowa fraternity properties.

Defendants in the action are Alpha Sigma Phi house (One Hundred Nine River Street corporation) and the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity (Dubuque and Ronalds Street corporation).

Plaintiff is the First Trust and Savings bank, Davenport, trustee of the Bechtel Trust Co. Besides the foreclosure proceedings, the bank asks accounting of the properties.

Seek Unpaid Interest

According to the petition filed against the Alpha Sigma Phi house, the Davenport bank asks foreclosure on $54,500 worth of bonds now due. Bonds originally issued March 15, 1929, totaled $61,580. The bank also asks payment of $37,605 in interest from March 1, 1930.

Of the $60,000 worth of bonds issued by the Sigma Phi Epsilon house June 1, 1929, the principal amount of $57,000 still remains unpaid. The bank asks payment of the $57,000 and interest totaling $8,845.

During the past several months, 20 fraternities and one sorority have been pressing action to have their city taxes reduced.

After being refused a tax reduction by the city board of assessment review, the fraternities took their cases to court where they are now pending further action.

About half of the testimony has been heard by Judge James P. Gaffney and the rest is scheduled to be given at the end of the present civil docket or sometime during a break in the docket.

State Taxes 'Excessive'

The Greek letter groups have contended that they are non-profit making organizations and that "excessive taxes" will spell their financial ruin.

They testified in court that their properties originally valued at $80,000 are actually worth from $8,000 to $15,000 but are not being taxed accordingly.

Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters, a constant fraternity backer, has contended that the high taxes have made it impossible for the groups to take care of their regular bills let alone the high payments on their bonded indebtedness. He claims the taxes are running the fraternities off the campus.

STORES TO CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON

In accordance with the annual custom, Iowa City retail stores will be closed this afternoon until after the Homecoming game. Shoppers have been asked to do their buying early this morning to avoid the last minute rush before the game.

Drizzling Rain Fails To Dampen the Spirits Of SUI Homecomers

A Variety of Events Will Be Conducted Throughout the Day

By JOHN BUZBY

As steady rain as yet has failed to dampen the spirits of Iowa homecomers as more and more visitors pour into Iowa City. With a variety of events planned to entertain and honor old grads, parents and students, festivities began last night and will continue without let-up until tonight.

Highlights of all Homecoming celebrations, the football classic, will be the center of attraction today. But club meetings, the Homecoming party, Dolphin show and University theater production, "The Male Animal" provide an interesting program in keeping with the jubilant spirit present at all SUI reunions.

The return of the immortal Hawkeyes of 1921, led by All-Americans Aubrey Devine and Duke Slater, perhaps will split the 1941 Hawks on to greater effort and to their first conference victory in four starts.

The Iowa City police force has been doubled and 21 state highway patrolmen have been called in to assist in directing the huge Homecoming traffic.

Celebrities are plentiful with Gov. George A. Wilson and United States Senator Clyde L. Herring, both of Des Moines, heading the list of 152 distinguished Homecoming guests.

Six members of the United States House of Representatives will be present as well as five high state officials.

Snowstorm Hits Iowa

OMAHA (AP) — A Halloween snowstorm gripped central and eastern Nebraska and western Iowa yesterday, blocking some highways, causing scores of minor traffic accidents and hampering communication.

LASSIES WILL GIVE VERSION OF HIGHLAND FLING

U.S. Aeronautics Board Opens an Investigation Of Ontario Plane Crash

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (AP) — Three inspectors of the U. S. civil aeronautics board took over last night the investigation into the unexplained crash of an American airlines transport plane which plunged 17 passengers and three crew members to death in an oil field Thursday night in a drizzling rain.

As a meager beginning from which to work the investigators had a last radio report from the plane, only a few minutes before it crashed, and the statements of a farmer and his wife who saw the big 21-passenger Douglas smash and burst into flames 200 yards from their home, 14 miles west of here.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON — Soviet dispatches reported last night that Adolf Hitler's supreme offensive on Moscow had failed off yesterday—the 30th day of the grand campaign which he said was to bring a great decision at the Russian center—to mere local attacks in all sectors save one. Nazis Attacking Tirelessly

In this single region of present active menace—that limited on its northern extremity by Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and extending to the south somewhere about Volokolamsk, which is 65 miles above the capital—the invader was declared still beating tirelessly at the red line with infantry and tank charges.

Advance Checked

But even there, said the official Soviet news agency, the advance was checked by heavy and repeated Russian counter-attacks.

The red air arm was said to be still in heavy action in this area, reporting the destruction in recent operations of 14 German planes at a single improvised airdrome near Kalinin.

Holding Positions

In other sectors, and especially to the west and southwest of the capital, the red armies were said not only to be holding their positions but in some sectors to have extended them.

Crimean Situation Grave

In spite of the apparently great improvement in the Russian situation at the center, however, Soviet silence suggested that matters were going badly for the defenders in the south and more especially in the Crimea, where the Germans claimed to be still advancing in pursuit of retreating red forces, and in the direction of Sevastopol, the Soviet Black sea naval base.

Four Czechs Executed

BERLIN (AP) — DNB reported last night that four more Czechs were executed in Prague yesterday as members of a group active in sabotage and incendiarism.

Reds Claim Central Position Improved; Silent About Crimea

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BERLIN — Russian troops were reported retreating last night in the Crimea and Donets basin, hotly pursued by axis infantry and German dive-bombers, but official quarters acknowledged stubborn resistance in all sectors save one.

Defense Breached

The first big goal of the Germans apparently is the port of Sevastopol, 100 miles south of the Perekop isthmus where the Germans said Russian defenses cracked two days ago.

German planes ranged ahead to bomb an intermediate port at Yevpatoria, and Kremchik in eastern Crimea, sinking five freighters totalling 13,000 tons, the high command said.

Air Associates Rehires Laborers, Speed Work Under Army Supervision

BENDIX, N. J. (AP) — The bayonet-encircled plant of Air Associates, Inc., hummed last night with defense production under stern guard of 2,100 soldiers who poured into the strike-torn area during the early morning.

"The machines are turning in the shop and shipments already have been made of critical material," Col. Roy M. Jones, army air corps officer in charge of the operation of the aircraft factory, announced.

150 Good 'Joes' Scouts Will Usher At Game Today

Approximately 150 Boy Scouts from the Iowa river valley area and other cities in the state will serve as ushers in the east stand of Iowa stadium today at the Iowa-Indiana Homecoming football game, Owen B. Thiel, scout executive announced yesterday.

The university athletic department requested that the scouts usher for this game to help R. O. T. C. students who will work the west side of the stadium.

Boys from Iowa City, Burlington, Davenport, Clinton, Cedar Rapids, Ottumwa, and Marshalltown and leaders will meet in uniform at the south gate of the east stand at 11 o'clock this morning to receive instructions, Thiel said.

New Order Frenchmen Scorn Plea of De Gaulle

VICHY, Unoccupied France (AP) — The Frenchmen of Petain and the new order turned their backs yesterday on General Charles de Gaulle's plea for a five-minute standstill protest against the execution of French hostages by the Germans.

The extent of the response by other Frenchmen in the occupied zone could not be judged impartially but at least there were no reports of untoward incidents. The occupied zone was as usual, a dead spot in independent communications.

Fate of 67 Reuben James Crew Members, Seven Officers Still Subject of Inquiry; Third U.S. Destroyer to Be Nazi Target

Comment on Incident in Congress Divided
As Senators Argue 'Shoot on Sight'
Order of Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy tersely announced the rescue of 44 members of the crew of the American destroyer Reuben James last night, leaving the fate of some sixty more enlisted men and seven officers still the subject of anxious waiting and inquiry.

But beyond this and the fact that the ship had been torpedoed and sunk west of Iceland—the first American naval vessel to be sent to the bottom since the war started—the department was still without information.

Presumably, several ships may have taken part in the rescue work, for the Reuben James was on convoy duty, and most commonly advanced theory for the lack of news was that rescue ships were making no radio reports for fear of disclosing their positions to Nazi submarines.

The first word of the incident, which stirred and excited Washington, already embroiled in a bitter row over foreign policy and revising the neutrality act, was received yesterday morning in a short matter-of-fact statement from the navy.

Last night, almost twelve hours later it had this to add: "The navy department has received a report that 44 members of the crew of the U. S. S. Reuben James have been rescued. The survivors who have been accounted for are all enlisted men.

"The navy department has no further information at this time. But additional details will be released when received."

The forecast for today is "partly cloudy becoming fair sometime later in the day; there will be no snow and temperatures will not go below freezing."

Rain has caused the cancellation of all United Airlines flight schedules and grounded one "Mainliner" at the local airport.

Reuben James Sinking Produces Senate Fight By Barkley, Aiken

WASHINGTON (AP) — The torpedoing of the destroyer Reuben James produced a bitter row yesterday in the senate, where majority leader Barkley (Ky) angrily disputed a statement that President Roosevelt was "personally responsible" for any lives lost.

The charge of presidential responsibility was made by Senator Aiken (R-Vt). Reading in a loud voice from a prepared statement, he charged that President Roosevelt, "without the knowledge or consent of congress," had given orders to the navy to "hunt down and sink ships of another nation with which we are not legally at war."

QUEEN OF THE DOLPHIN FOLLIES

Betty Lou Little, A1 of Kingsley, representing Currier, was presented as queen of the Dolphin Follies of 1942 at the first of three performances of the show Thursday night. Judges were Bert McGrane, Harlan Miller and Ted Ashby. Chosen to attend the queen were Patricia McVicker, A3 of Iowa City; Tau Gamma; Beverly Anderson, C4 of Sterling, Ill.; Delta Delta Delta; Dorothy Binder, A3 of Marion, Ind.; Alpha Delta Pi, and Virginia Pyle, A1 of Marion, Currier.

And the Pattern Is O.K.--

ALUMNI AND STUDENT EYES EXAMINE AGAIN THE WORTHWHILENESS OF THE UNIVERSITY

Today, thousands of Homecomers are with us, from all over the nation and a good many foreign states. They're here for the game with Indiana, to greet old friends, again to get into the spirit which was the Iowa of old and which is the Iowa of today.

But they're here for more than that. Perhaps some of them don't even realize it themselves. We ourselves, the current crop of students at Iowa, won't know for a while why Homecomers come back, but as students, looking ahead when we'll come back, we address some remarks this morning to the older members of Iowa's growing family.

Why do you come back, you graduates? Is there more to it than just the game, the old friends, the spirit which was the Iowa of old?

We've got a great educational institution here today—greater than it was when you went to school, whether that was last year or 50 years ago.

We have our problems. Iowa isn't perfect. There are plenty of us here now who'd change a lot if we could. There are things we don't like. But over and above it all the pattern is there—a pattern which has proved itself through more than a century to be of value as a force in the progressive growth of this nation.

There are things about that pattern that make you want to return, to look at the change, and try to touch for a few hours the new applications of that old pattern, to see if it's still good.

What was the pattern in your day?

Well, there were professors, who expressed ideas, whether you thought them good or bad, and who interpreted in their own way the fund of knowledge which had come to you from the past—in education, in culture, in physics and medicine and law.

You were exposed to them, and to the fund of knowledge with which they and you were associated. You took a degree and left, to attempt to apply, in much more than just a practical way, the results of your exposure here.

You have doubtless found that the application, whether practical or cultural or what, was effective in almost direct relationship to the effectiveness of the professors who exposed you, to themselves and to their academic interpretations.

You are a good doctor in large measure because those who taught you got their ideas and their facts across to you.

You are a good lawyer because those who taught you law knew their stuff.

You are a good man, or a good woman, because among your student and faculty associates there were those who inspired you, who had an effect upon you, who set an example for you which demanded of yourself a higher standard than you might otherwise have set.

That situation is the same today. We, too, have found that at Iowa. The good and the bad among those who teach and interpret for us.

The professors are a part of the pattern—a vital part. We'd change some of them, kick them out on their ears, just as you would have when you were here.

But the good, we're convinced, overshadows the bad. And the pattern is O.K.

A Man About Manhattan—

By GEORGE TUCKER

You Like Carmen Miranda? Well, This Is About Her Sister, Aurora—

NEW YORK—You like Carmen Miranda, who sings about the "Sousie" American Way?

That's too bad, because this isn't about Carmen—it's about her sister, Aurora, a shoe-eyed gal from Brazil who hopes to make her own way without leaning too heavily on her sister's current red hot vogue.

Aurora never worked in an American night-club until she opened as the high priestess of the new revue at the Copacabana a few nights ago. But she has had plenty of cabaret experience at home. She is the girl about whom the song was written, the one named "Aurora." She's 22.

Though her gowns are tropics-inspired, she shies away from the "bahiana" headdress popularized by her sister. This is the head-dress inspired by a basket of fruit. The name comes from Bahia, Brazil's fourth largest city. A girl who comes from Bahia is known as a Bahiana. Aurora and Carmen and their sister, the latter now retired to domesticity, are all Bahianas.

It is Aurora's ambition to give "Norse" American comedy in the form of songs. But you will have to be Portuguese to understand what they are about. One number her animated antics and facial highjinks have built into a stopper is called "Arca de Noe," which means Noah's Ark. The weird noises drifting to my ear as she sang suggested the Latinized cries and chatter of the beasts as they boarded the ark. Another number, "Kangaroo," is about Kangaroos, and Aurora has to hop like one.

She's a striking looking gal with clothes that cling and seem to have been suggested by the corals, yellows and greens of the jungle foliage.

When she came to this country her agents wanted to bill her as Aurora Miranda, but Aurora put a stop to that fast. "In this country Miranda means Carmen—I'm Aurora."

You will admit that the Northern Lights make a strange name for a girl born in Brazil.

It happened this way: Aurora was born about 6 o'clock one morning. Her father, slightly jittery at the moment, was pacing the floor. At 6 a.m. the old Doe shoved his head through the door and said something like this:

"Hey, it's fine. She's a girl."

Papa fetched a jubilant sigh. He glanced out the window. The sun was just breaking across the yard. "We'll call her Aurora," he decided.

That's what the New Yorkers are calling her, too. They call for more and more. The night I was there they called her for six encores.

"IN THE HUMPTY-DUMPTY MANNER"

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

• Why John L. Lewis Dared Mr. Roosevelt

WASHINGTON — Why John L. Lewis dared to take on Mr. Roosevelt for the apparently minor advantage of gaining a closed shop in Big Steel's few coal mines is no mystery to labor politicians sitting on the rim in the inner circle.

The apparently minor point of the strike was in reality the last niche into which Lewis needed to get his fingers in order to control completely steel, coal and autos, the nation's three largest industries. If he could win that point, he knew that he would be bigger than CIO.

The closed shop in those few mines would give him a stranglehold on Big Steel's source of fuel. The union—not the worker—owns the jobs under a closed shop, and in perpetuity. Able to cut off the fuel supply of Big Steel he could exert great personal power toward a closed shop upon the whole industry. (He was bought out of this demand before with a large wage increase from the companies.)

Through his hold on steel and his personal control over the United Mine Workers, he could thus individually draw into his sphere of influence the auto industry, largest consumer of steel.

Miss Trevor is definitely on the honey side, with enough ham to make her enjoy being back in front of a camera, not enough to make her feel the return should dent Hollywood's complacency, cause Ciro's to roll out the barrel, or the production wheels to pause for a moment of silent tribute.

Miss Trevor, sitting to her tea and toast and looking blonde, alive and pretty in a pert fur hat which she unstarchily dismissed as a last year's model, said she had stayed off the screen a year hoping for something worthwhile to act in, had not liked doing nothing, had signed a new movie contract hoping for the best.

She had seen two pictures she had made since her return—"Texas" and "Honky-Tonk," and thought she was terrible in both.

"Honky-Tonk" made her especially sad, she said, because before and during the filming it had promised so well.

MISS TREVOR, who might be a bigger star if she were more tragic about these matters, laughed and said, "I get scared sometimes—thinking, I mean, how I've been in pictures eight years and am no farther along than I am."

It was years ago that she came, fresh from the stage, to start her career as Queen of the B's at 20th. She had five years of it before her three minutes on the screen in "Dead End" put her over for the A's—as a gangster's moll. That brought her "Stagecoach," another shady lady role in her best movie, and a few tidbits along with some shameful tripe. She is to be with Glenn Ford in the Jack London story, "Martin Eden," and—

ICKES RAISES PRICE OF GAS—

Only aftermath of Mr. Ickes gas scare campaign is increased priced.

The government has made no announcement to that effect but you can ascertain at the bureau of labor statistics that the retail cost of straight gas has jumped in every eastern city except Pittsburgh between March 15 and September 15. (New York up 4.1 cents, Boston

3.1, Philadelphia 3.3, Baltimore 1.3,

Washington 2.5, Savannah 1.2,

Jacksonville 2.1, Scranton 2.6,

Portland 3.5 and Atlanta 2.9.) In all except Baltimore, Scranton and Washington this represents an increase above what price-fixer Leon Henderson said would be fair.

Bulls of these boosts come in anticipation of the program just before Ickes started. The increase afterward averaged under a cent.

EMPLOYMENT AND CLASS SCHEDULES

All students, men or women, having unusual class schedules—preferably three consecutive hours mornings and early afternoons—are asked to file these schedules at the employment bureau. In view of developments to date, this will be to the advantage of the applicant, inclusive of those whose needs can be answered only by cash. Due to economic conditions generally, unexpected work changes are continuing to occur.

A few openings exist at present for those with reduced class schedules interested in a small part-time cash income. Also, a number of night jobs are available, paying either in board or cash, for dish washers, restaurant waiters, and soda fountain men.

City Officials Believe No Formal Demand On PWA Claim Against City Will Be Made

City Says $36,558 Was a Grant Which Need Not Be Returned

City officials last night expressed the opinion that the notice of settlement of a claim totaling $36,558 which was received by the city council probably is only a matter of routine between agencies in Washington, and it was believed that no formal demand would be made upon Iowa City.

Atty. Louis Shulman, city solicitor, said that he would send a letter to the comptroller general immediately to outline the city's position in the matter. Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock stated an announcement either clearing the city of any complications or making a formal demand for the money would be issued in two or three weeks.

It is the city's contention, Shulman said, that the money was a grant and is not returnable. Both Shulman and Senator Clyde Herring will call this point to the attention of the comptroller general.

Herring, who conferred with Mayor Willenbrock and several Iowa City businessmen last Tuesday, will take up the matter with the comptroller as soon as he (Herring) returns to Washington.

The copy of the notice of settlement for the claim merely stated that a settlement for the amount had been made, officials pointed out. No request was made upon the city which led officials to believe that the action was taken in order to correct the government's books.

The $36,558 in question is the principal plus interest on the $28,140 granted to the city through PWA in 1935 for the construction of a municipal light plant. However, the city dropped the matter following several delays.

Divorce Petition Filed By James Albert Canny

A petition asking for divorce from James Albert Canny on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment was filed in Johnson county district court yesterday by Clara Alice Canny.

According to the petition, the plaintiff asks to resume her maiden name and asks for equitable settlement. The petition also states that the couple was married in Iowa City Oct. 28, 1939, and lived together until June 19, 1941.

The plaintiff is represented by Atty. George J. Jensen.

Devere Newberry, Fred Blum Named Homecoming Winners

Devere Newberry, E4 of Cedar Rapids, and Frederic Blum, E2 of Maplewood, N. J., were named winners of the 1941 corn-monument design contest yesterday by Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering at the dedication ceremony.

Newberry, E4 of Cedar Rapids, and Frederic Blum, E2 of Maplewood, N. J., were named winners of the 1941 corn-monument design contest yesterday by Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering at the dedication ceremony.

Braving a steady downpour of rain, Dean Dawson presented each winner with a prize of $5. Speaking of the weather which allowed only a handful of spectators, Dean Dawson said, "If we expect the boys (football team) to play tomorrow in the rain, we can play ball too—rain or shine."

Mayor H. F. Willenbrock also spoke on behalf of the people of Iowa City who have made it possible for the monument to stand where it is.

Jim Dower, staff announcer of WSUI, announced the speakers and remarked that those people who were present would be "charter members" of the first corn-monument dedication ceremony ever held.

As a final dedication gesture, Dean Dawson turned on the switch that lighted the monument with colored neon lights.

Members of the corn monument committee included Prof. Thomas G. Caywood of the college of engineering, faculty representative; Prof. George B. Haskell of the college of commerce, general chairman of Homecoming activities; Francis Maternik, E4 of Trenton, N. John W. Kintzinger Awarded Damages In District Court Damages of $500 were awarded yesterday morning in Johnson county district court to John W. Kintzinger, plaintiff in the $5,668 Kintzinger-Beranek damage suit, according to an agreement reached by attorneys.

The defendant, Fred L. Beranek, also must pay the costs of the action, the agreement stipulated.

The action grew out of a truck accident July 22, 1940, on the highway four miles east of Solon in which Mrs. Catherine Kintzinger received injuries. Her son, Warren, was driver of the car and Lee Fredericks, employee of Beranek, was driving the truck at the time of the crash.

In the original petition, Kintzinger asked $5,000 for injuries to his wife and $688 for damages to his car, while Beranek in a counterclaim asked for $122 damages.

SUI Bands, Ponponiers to Thrill Homecomers At Game Today; '21 Squad Will Be Presented

Colorful Formations Will Feature Today's Game Entertainment

By JOHN R. TRUITT

The University of Iowa bands, under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, will present new and colorful pre-game and half-time formations for the benefit of Homecoming crowds today.

Shortly before game time, the University of Iowa band will march down the steps at the south end of the football field playing "March of the Champions." They will be led by Professor Righter and Assistant Director Arnold L. Oehlson. Drum majors are Jean Hedlund, A4 of Des Moines, and James Burnside, A2 of Shenandoah.

Immediately behind the band will be the University of Iowa Scottish Highlanders, (pronounced hilander) the largest and most completely equipped bagpipe unit in the United States and the only group of its kind sponsored by an American university. The unit is under the direction of Pipe Major William L. Adamson.

The 21 pipers wear the uniform of the famous Black Watch regiment, blue doublets and Royal Stewart tartan (plaid) kilts. Drummers wear the crimson doublets and Hunting Stewart kilts. All the men wear the tall Highland feather bonnet. Leading drum major, Clifford Crowe, A4 of Clarion, wears a white doublet and a Dress Stewart kilt.

One of the new features of the Highlanders is the addition of the twirling drum majors in the personnel of the Hart twins—Buddy and Buster, freshmen from Rapid City, S. D. This pair of identical twins wear the crimson doublets and "trews"; not kilts. The trews are trousers made from the same material as the kilts and are worn by the officers of several Scottish Regiments.

Ponponiers in blue military caps, blue coats and red trousers, led by Donald E. Spencer, E4 of Iowa City, and Pershing Rifles in blue caps and coats and white trousers, led by William W. Henthorne, A4 of Marquette, will follow onto the field.

"Flourishes and Ruffles" and "Hail to the Chief" will be played as a salute to Governor George A. Wilson and state officials who are here as Homecoming guests.

Professor Righter will lead the band in the national anthem as the flag raising ceremonies are introduced.

"At half time, as the Big Ten banner bearers and trumpeters advance to midfield, the band will play "Hail! Hail!" Then the entire band will move to the center of the field playing "Indiana."

Trumpeters will sound a series of rhythmic chords as the band members form the word "Hello," one letter at a time. The entire band will repeat the chords, face the north end of the field, and march in the "Hello" formation as they play "On Iowa."

A special arrangement of "You and I" will follow, written by Arnold Oehlson, assistant director, while the band members stand in the formation of the letters "I" and "I" in front of the Iowa student section.

Another feature of the half-time ceremonies will be the presentation of the 1921 championship football team, which went through the 7-game schedule without a defeat, beating Indiana that year 41 to 0.

Members of the 1921 squad are Captain Aubrey Devine of Pasadena, Cal., quarterback; Glenn Devine, of Iowa City, right halfback; Craven Shuttleworth of Cedar

LIBRARIES CLOSE AT NOON TODAY

The university libraries will close at noon today or Homecoming day. Reserve books may be drawn from 11 o'clock to 12 noon for overnight use, and should be returned by 8 a.m. Monday.

Iowa Business Gain Of 15 to 20 Per Cent Over 1940 Reported

Business in Iowa averages 15 to 20 per cent above that of a year ago, Prof. George B. Davies of the university bureau of business research asserted in the monthly summary of business conditions.

Some of the gains in September as compared with August marks include total building permits, 17.9 per cent; life insurance sales, 8 per cent; farm products' prices, 5.4 per cent; department store sales, 2 per cent; bank debits, 3.7 per cent, and total electric power, 21 per cent.

For the period from January to September, 1941, compared to those of the same period in 1940, the gains are marked. These include total building contracts' 65.2 per cent; farm products' prices, 33 per cent; industrial payrolls, 20.8 per cent; employment, 11.2 per cent, and bank debits, 15.7 per cent.

In regard to the national picture, Professor Davies says that industrial production has reached a high plateau which would have been considered unattainable in pre-war days. The index for September was 60 per cent above the average for 1935-39.

The price trend still is upward and inflationary increases are becoming more general, he said.

Initial impetus of the price boosts is government buying. The impact has spread from defense industries to raw materials and wages and from there to food and other commodities. None of the forces yet brought into play are likely to stop the upward movement.

"Theoretical cure for inflation," Professor Davies states, "lies in a painful and skillful pressure exerted by government, beginning with economy in its own affairs and reaching out to the whole network of markets."

"But," he continued, "recent congressional proposals to exclude wages and farm products' prices from the areas of control endanger the whole anti-inflation effort and lay the government open to the charge of playing politics in a serious emergency."

Epidemic of Influenza Feared by Authorities

Warnings to Iowa druggists to confer with physicians and health officers in connection with the expected outbreak of influenza this winter has been issued by Dean R. A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy.

American public health authorities have asserted that the present situation is identical with the one in 1918 when influenza spread with devastating effect.

The minor 'flu' epidemic of last year has lain dormant during the summer and has built up its power, authorities said.

In the current issue of "Pharmacy News," Dean Kuever asked that druggists be ready to provide proper medicinal agents promptly to curb the epidemic, should it release itself.

10 Win Costume Awards At Recreation Center's Annual Halloween Frolic

Pirates and skeletons, Arab and Nipponese princesses, and sheiks and gypsies were well represented in the costume judging at the recreation center's annual Halloween frolic in the junior high school gymnasium last night.

Of the 35 children entered in the contest, the following were awarded boxes of candy for the most outstanding costumes: Jerry Diehl, David Zak, Sherry Reichardt, Mary Frances Lantz, Dick Sheesley, Leonie Baker, Carroll Trowbridge, Patty Rogers, Billy Grimm, and Donna Lucy.

Approximately 300 watched a program of comedies, animated cartoons, and musical specialties, furnished by the university visual education department following the competition.

The four movements of Sibelius' "Symphony No. 2 in D Major," allegro, andante, vivacissimo and allegro moderato will be played last by the Boston Symphony orchestra. Serge Koussevitzky will be the conductor.

WESLEY PLAYERS PRESENT 'THE LIFE OF FANNY CROSBY'

"The Life of Fanny Crosby," the famous blind hymn writer, dramatized by the Rev. Marcus Bach, of the school of religion, will be given by the Wesley Players tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church as a part of the vespers services. The players are, standing left to right, Richard Brink, A2 of Luverne; Margaret Clark, A3 of Rockwell City; the Rev. Stanley Martin, director of the Methodist student center; Marilyn Melcher, A2 of Charles City, and Dorothy Kohl, A3 of Des Moines. Seated is Mildred Bradshaw, A4 of Chicago, Ill.

KEEP THEM FLYING—HART STYLE

Double exposure! Buddy and Buster Hart, freshmen from Rapid City, S. D., demonstrate the ABC's of the intricate art of baton twirling. These identical twins will lead the Scottish Highlanders down the field today at Iowa's Homecoming game against Indiana. The Highlanders will present a full routine before and during the half-time entertainment. On or off the field, the Harts provide quite a problem for friends who try to keep them straight.

Iowa Homecomers Have .500 Mark

13 Wins, 13 Losses, Three Ties Denote Hawkeyes' Record

Throughout the period of 29 years that Iowa football teams have met eight different schools on Homecoming days, the Hawks have a record that is exactly at the .500 mark—13 wins, 13 losses and three ties.

Most frequent opponent has been the Golden Gophers of the North—Minnesota. Against this toe the Iowans again have an even split with six victories and six defeats in 12 starts, the last win recorded in 1938 when Eddie Anderson's team of "Iron Men" spoiled Minnesota's record, 13-9.

Split With Illinois

The Orange and Blue of Illinois is next on the list with six appearances and once more a .500 record, each team having won two contests, with two ties in each. The last Homecoming victory over Illinois was back in 1925 when an Iowa eleven coached by Burt Ingwersen came through with a 12-10 triumph.

Among non-conference foes, Iowa State has played before four Homecoming crowds, but memories of those tilts must go back to the days of the first World war, with the final Cyclone appearance at an Iowa Homecoming in 1919. This series stands at three to one for the Hawkeyes.

Split With Outsiders

Still in the ranks of non-conference opposition, Penn State and Nebraska have put in one showing each, with Iowa victorious over the Nittany Lion in 1930, 19 to 0. The Cornhuskers spoiled 1916 festivities.

Wisconsin's Badgers have wrecked more Homecoming dreams than any other foe with two wins in three tries. As late as 1938 Harry Stuhldreher's men came through with a damaging 31-13 victory. Wisconsin's other triumph came at the outset of Iowa Homecomings in 1912 as the Hawkeyes fell, 28-10. The Old Gold and Black's only win over Wisconsin at a Homecoming was in 1933 when the Badgers were soundly trounced, 26 to 7.

Two elevens from the Hoosier state, Indiana and Purdue, have been guests at one Homecoming each. In 1931 Indiana and the Hawkeyes played a scoreless tie, while last year the Boilermakers ran through Eddie Anderson's eleven, 21-6.

Western Conference Discussions Tournament Will Be Held Here Next Monday and Tuesday

U.S. Policy Toward Industrial Disputes Subject of Discussion

Eight universities will be represented in the western conference discussion tournament here next Monday and Tuesday to consider the question, "What Program Shall the United States Follow to Deal With Industrial Disputes?"

Prof. Craig Baird, director of debate activities and Clair Henderider, G of Onawa are arranging tournament plans.

Schools which will participate are Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Missouri, South Dakota and Iowa.

Climaxing the two-day tourney, debaters will formulate a series of resolutions, or formal declaration of decisions on the topic.

Tuesday evening the six best speakers, chosen by critics' rankings will give short speeches following a dinner in the River room of Iowa Union. Professor Baird will be toastmaster.

Three members of the university faculty will discuss "Industrial Disputes and National Defense" Monday night. Prof. Clarence Updegraff of the college of law will open the panel, in which Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the political science department, and Prof. Addison Hickman of the college of commerce will also take part.

Preceding the evening panel, Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger will be toastmaster at a dinner at Iowa Union. A representative from the Suite Bergamasque of Debussy. Piano soloist will be Nan McHenry, G of Conway, Ark.

Two songs of Dvorak will be sung by Katherine Reeds, A4 of Iowa City. They are "Als die alte Mutter" and "Reingestimmt die Saiten."

The program will be concluded by the "Prelude from the Suite Bergamasque" of Debussy. Piano soloist will be Nan McHenry, G of Conway, Ark.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 11 to 12 a.m.; Tuesday and Thursday from 2 to 5 p.m.; Saturday from 9 to 12 a.m. If you are unable to contact him in person or by telephone (Ext. 247), please let him know by mail where you can be reached.

Patients in University Children's Hospital See Mystical Feats

In commemoration of the 15th anniversary of Houdini's death, Stanley Susan, G. of Marquette, Mich., entertained the boys and girls in the University children's hospital last night with a magic show.

Susan presented his repertoire to a group of children at 7 o'clock. Then he went from room to room pulling a rabbit from his hat and performing other mystical feats for those children who were unable to be moved from their beds.

Fifteen years ago, the famous magician's wife and Dr. Edward Saint, his business manager, designated Oct. 31 as National Magic Day. On this day, magicians in all parts of the United States visit children's hospitals and orphanages and present free shows in remembrance of Houdini.

The Rev. Herman Strub performed the single ring ceremony. Miriam McLaughlin, cousin of the bride, and Marold Glaspay, brother of the bride attended the couple. Margaret June Letts and Billy John Stevens were ring bearers.

The bride's gown of white silk brocaded taffeta was made princess style with a train, sweetheart neckline and long sleeves pointed to the wrists. Her shoulder length veil of net fell from a tiara. She carried white tea roses and baby breath and wore a locket and chain, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss McLaughlin wore a floor length dress of blue silk taffeta, patterned similar to the bridal gown of peach taffeta with blue trim.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of navy blue silk with accessories of light blue and a corsage of gardenias.

Pifty guests attended the reception at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. DeBrie of Hills.

The bride was graduated from Iowa City high school and has been employed by the Economy Advertising company. Mr. Letts attended the Campion academy at Prairie du Chien, Wis. He is employed at Jones' Service station.

For the wedding trip to Milwaukee, Wis., the bride chose a suit of navy blue wool with matching accessories.

After Nov. 15, the couple will be at home at 1125 E. Burlington.

Col. Carroll A. Bagby, former professor of military science and tactics at the University of Iowa, has been detailed to the command of the 12th Infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga., according to information received.

Col. Bagby had been in command of the 12th Infantry company at Arlington, Va., and was appointed chairman of the army retirement board at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Capt. Kenneth J. Cramsie, also detailed here last year, has left Ft. Dix and is in command of a company of the 12th Infantry.

Initiation service will be held and officers will be nominated for next year.

To Hold Picnic, Meeting
Daughters of Union Veterans will have a picnic supper at the Johnson county court house Monday at 6 p.m. Immediately following there will be a business meeting.

Initiation service will be held and officers will be nominated for next year.

Hawks Hit Indiana Today

Passing
the Buck

Crayne Most Recent
Establisher of Iowa
Individual Records

Individual players on Iowa football teams have established many records for Hawkeye teams, and old-time players hold most of the marks, with Dick Crayne, fullback in 1934, the most recent establisher.

Highest point total scored by an Iowan in a single game was made by Ralph McGinnis, a fullback, who in 1913 scored 30 points while his team was defeating Northwestern 78 to 6. McGinnis scored five touchdowns.

Willis O'Brien kicked the longest field goal in Hawkeye athletic history in 1911 against Minnesota, when he dropkicked one 52 yards.

Gordon Locke of the 1922 team not only holds the Iowa record for scoring the most points during a season in conference games, but his mark is also the Big Ten scoring record.

As a fullback, Locke scored 12 touchdowns in five games.

Crayne's record, the longest punt made by an Iowa player, was established in 1934, when the Hawks were playing Indiana to a scoreless tie at Bloomington. He stood behind his own goal line in a downpour of rain, and punted a ball out of bounds on the Hoosier three-yard line. The ball traveled 92 yards from the scrimmage line, and 102 yards from Crayne's toe. There was an aiding wind.

Purdue, in years past, has an athletic history in football, closely parallel to Iowa's. There have been no championship contenders in recent Boilermaker history. In fact, the teams have not even come close. And this year is no exception. Before Purdue met Iowa there was only one victory, that over Pittsburgh.

Possibly the queerest part of the record, however, is that nobody's yelling for Coach Mal Edward's scalp, and there's no one crying that the players are laying down. Purdue fans are taking it for granted that the team can't be a champion every year and letting it go at that. Right there is where the similarity between Iowa and Purdue ends.

To go back to that game last Saturday, however—we watched Purdue, beaten and ready to quit, reeling and set to give up the game right there, come back and win a well-earned ball game. What made the difference? Not anything the coach could do, and not anything the players could do. But confidence in a team, which inspired that Homecoming crowd to cheer its Boilermakers on, made that team win that game.

Well, the Hawks are playing their Homecoming game today, and they've only won one game to date—Drake. It'll be the first home game for the team in five weeks, and we're just wondering what kind of a reception will be given by loyal Iowa fans. Will they cheer, even if their team is points behind? Will they keep up hope and confidence, even after all seems lost? We hope those fans won't have to be tested that way, but if they are, just what kind of good sports will they turn out to be?

Purdue was just another team until the fourth quarter, when the crowd finally woke up to the fact that its team was going to lose unless it did something on its own hook. It started out with a mass movement of 20,000 hands pointing toward the Hawk goal line. And if you don't think that makes a team want to go there, just try it sometime. Then the crowd cheered every little play, everything good on the part of every Boilermaker, and soon each play-

Bill Boni Selects Cats Over Gophers

Picks Northwestern
Because of Line,
Backfield Material

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK (AP)—The college football season heads into the home stretch today, and does so with a resounding "bang". All eleven of the undefeated and untied major teams will be in action against high-caliber opposition, and at least four of them will play before capacity houses.

All down the line the schedule is packed with games which, by the margin of a missed signal or an intercepted pass, can go either way. Running down that line, and hoping they go this way, here are this corner's forecasts (home teams first, probable attendance in parentheses).

Minnesota - Northwestern (64,464)—After losing a long flyer on Michigan last week, the choice here probably should be Minnesota. The Gophers didn't appear mentally "up" for the Wolverines, and still won. Northwestern has a wealth of backs, their line must be better than fair, so this choice is Northwestern.

Army-Notre Dame (76,000)—The Irish virtually were conceded last year's game, then had to fight like demons to win by 7-0. This is a better Army team, with terrific spirit. But Notre Dame has a great sophomore passer in Angelo Bertelli, who gets fine protection; appears to have an edge in experience and manpower, and gets the Penn-Navy (74,000)—Off showings against their only common rival, Penn should be ready to pick. Stringing with Navy in what appears a toss-up, pure and simple.

Texas-Southern Methodist (23,000)—Texas to keep rolling so it can go bowling.

Stanford-Santa Clara (65,000)—Stanford, guided by one of the game's most daring and best quarterbacks in Frankie Albert.

Fordham - Purdue (35,000)—Against the tough Boilermakers, the Rams would do well to heed Coach Jim Crowley's warning against any more of these mid-game letdowns. Fordham.

Georgia Tech-Duke (20,000)—The Dukes' last big one, if they get by this, they should finish unbeaten and untied. They should.

U.C.L.A.-California (65,000)—In a league where anything can happen and has been happening, U.C.L.A.

Illinois - Michigan (30,000)—Michigan.

Wisconsin-Syracuse (25,000)—Quite possibly a mistake, but a fly on that Syracuse "Y."

Oregon-Washington State (18,000)—A shade to Oregon.

Iowa-Indiana (35,000)—With Hillenbrand in high, Indiana.

Marquette-Mississippi (15,000)—From that job on Tulane, Ole Miss,

Illini, Wolves Meet Today

At that time Iowa will be on the march; and when the Hawkeyes are marching, there's no telling how far they'll go.

Iowa Ready to Show Homecoming Crowd Losing Games Doesn't Mean Weakness; Diehl Will Probably Start Despite Injury

Hoosiers, Possibly Most Dangerous 11 in Big Ten,
May Have to Scrap Attack in Rain;
Hawks Then Rate Even

Iowa's Hawkeyes, as yet an unknown quantity, go to battle with their third conference opponent, Indiana's feared Hoosiers, here this afternoon, and it will be up to the Hawks to show its Homecoming crowd, the first to see them in action for five weeks, just why losing ball games doesn't indicate team weakness.

It will be the game of the year in the eyes of the grididers. They have lost three straight games after winning the opener from

Seasoned Cage Team Set for Big Season

Williams Shifts Siegel To Guard, Soderquist To Forward Position

If experience is any criterion, Iowa's cagers are going to make it tough, not only on their season non-conference foes, but on their Big Ten rivals as well. Eight major lettermen are returning to a 26-man squad that is planning revenge for those two- and three-point defeats that they were handed last year.

The center position will be taken care of by two lettermen—six-foot, six-inch Milt Kuhl, Ida Grove junior, and Dick Hein senior from Erie, Ill., who will report later. Bruce Fountain, Missouri Valley, senior; Jim O'Brien, McGregor, junior, and Jack Movold, International Falls, Minn., sophomore, complete the center roster.

Soderquist at Forward

Co-captain Rudy Soderquist, senior letterman from Rapid City, S. D., who has been changed from a guard position to a front line post, and Wendell Hill, a senior monogram winner from Cambridge, lead the forward candidates, with Tom Chapman, Storm Lake junior, and Ben Trickey, Marshalltown letterman, making them hustle for their positions. The latter, who has been playing quarterback for the Hawkeye grid team, will report after that season is over.

Also in the fight for the forward positions are sophomores Bob O'Brien of McGregor, Carroll Mullins of Cromwell, Don Thompson of Mapleton, Carroll Allen of Tipton, Claire Sharp of Ute, Bob Ophine of Livermore, and John Mortel of Oshkosh, Wis.

Siegel at Guard

Vic Siegal, co-captain from Davenport, who led the Hawks scoring last year from a forward position, has been shifted to the back court to help senior letterman Vince Harsha of Oxford, and Bill Wheeler of Newton.

Second Century Of Iowa Football

First Unbeaten Team Won Eight, Tied One During Fall of 1899

University of Iowa football teams entered their second half-century of American football last fall, for the game was established here in 1899.

With little financial support, the pioneer athletes of the early nineties struggled on, playing from three to six games each fall, until in 1896, A. E. Bull of Pennsylvania, the first paid coach, sent the Hawkeyes through a seven-game schedule.

'99 Team Unbeaten

Teams from that time on improved, until the team of 1899, coached by A. A. Knipe, another Pennsylvanian, won eight games and was tied once, giving Iowa its first undefeated season.

Iowa entered the Western Inter-collegiate conference in December, 1899, and this, the first Haw football team to play under conference rules, shared the 1900 title with Minnesota.

Knipe left in 1901 and four coaches were hired in the ensuing nine years, the best of whose teams, 1903 and 1905, won nine out of 11 and eight out of 10, respectively.

Iowa had some fairly good teams between 1913 and 1920, but in 1921, Howard Jones developed the first undefeated and untied Hawk eleven, which won the clear Big Ten title, and beat Notre Dame to shatter an Irish 20-game winning string. The team of 1922, likewise undefeated and untied, shared the title with Michigan.

Turbulent Thirties

First-division places in the conference were won in 1924, 1928 and 1933. The turbulent thirties were marked by three coaching changes, and it took years for athletics to recover from the depression caused by its 1929-30 suspension from the conference.

Dr. Eddie Anderson brought the Hawkeyes back in 1939, when his first team won 6, lost 1 and tied 1, finishing second in the conference, and beating Notre Dame to win national attention. The 1940 team beat even in eight games, again beating the Irish.

Here's How Iowa Lined Up in 1921

Now It Can Be Told—Inside Yarns on the 1921 Conference Championship Team

All-American 'Duke' Slater Coached Opponents in Knox Game;
Aubrey Devine Humbled Gophers in 41-7 Battle

(For this article we wish to thank William Shoenthal, WSU's Hawkeye reporter, from whose script of Oct. 29 this story was written.)

This is the story of Iowa's original ironmen — Coach Howard Jones' undefeated, untied 1921 Hawkeye football team was crowned undisputed Western conference champion that year. Even today, the names of those men are still heard on the tongues of admiring Iowa students—something in the nature of a real tribute from these people, many of whom hadn't yet been born when the 1921 Hawkeyes were freely ranging mid-western gridirons in all their glory.

Team Returns Today

This championship eleven—some of the members at least—are getting together this Homecoming to review old plays and old formations; and they're going to talk over old times like all old grads re-assembled once again—you can bet your life on that. The roster will not be complete, though. It's rather difficult to bring together a group of men who have scattered all over the country; and one of the team's tackles, George Thompson, died in 1939 . . . their great coach, Howard Jones, is dead too.

Twelve of the squad members will be here for a certainty this week end: Glen and Aubrey Devine, Chester Mead, Duke Slater, Max Kadesky, Craven Shuttleworth, Lester Belding, Glenn Miller, Paul Minick, Robert Harding, Angus Cotton and Clifford Anderson.

Iowa's history-making 1921 team played seven games and was victorious in every contest. The Old Gold machine eliminated Knox and Notre Dame in two non-conference tilts, and then went on to blitzkrieg Illinois, Purdue, Minnesota, Indiana and Northwestern in the Hawks met Notre Dame, winning for the team's last home game, and was beaten, 41-0, on a snow-bound field.

In the first game of the season, Coach Jones relegated most of the warm-up play to the reserves. Big Duke Slater was an exception here, however; the Hawkeye mentor wanted to give his great Negro tackle a good workout and had him play almost the entire game. When Slater found that the opposing linemen were no match for his power and tactics, so the story goes, he tried a new angle. He actually took upon himself the task of coaching the Knox tackle playing opposite him on the fine points in the art of football—and both men seemed to enjoy it.

Slater would show the Knox player his faults and how to correct them. Then, after each play, the men on the sidelines would see Duke either beam and pat his protege on the back or throw up his hands in disgust and shake his head as a look of pain came over his face. Between the halves, he demonstrated football as it should be played for the other members of the Knox team. This is just a sample of the many stories about the Iron Duke, a consistent gentleman.

Another favorite of the oldsters is the story concerning Slater after he had left Iowa and was playing professional football. In one of the games, an opposing lineman would energetically tear into Duke, eyes glaring, fists swinging, elbows jabbing. Not wishing to retaliate in kind, Slater held his peace. But at length, on one play, the man charged just a little too savagely to suit him. So the big Negro, a gentleman to the last, just put his mighty hand in his opponent's face, pushed a little, and said, "Say, boy, ain't you won your letter yet?"

Break Irish Streak
After the Knox victory, the 1921

Glen Devine tells one last story in connection with that trip, and the setting is in the railroad station just after the team had arrived in Chicago. A small Negro boy came up to Glen, and said: "Say, boss, can yo' tell me where I can find Abie Deviney and Duke Slater?"

Glen, of course, knew Abie Deviney as Aubrey Devine; and immediately pointed the pair out to the youngster, who immediately attached himself to his idols. But forever after, Aubrey was known to his teammates as "Abie."

Aubrey All-American

At the close of the season, Walter Camp picked Aubrey as his All-American quarterback. Locke, Slater, Belding and Mead were named on several all-western and all-conference teams. It was a fitting ending and tribute to the original Iowa ironmen, who never knew defeat in the 1921 season.

That same team, with only two exceptions, will line up before the 1941 Homecoming crowd today.

It'll be a different stadium than what they performed on, and a bigger crowd will be there than they've ever played before. But line that team up again—Belding and Kadesky at ends, Slater and Thompson at tackles, Minick and Mead at guards, Heldt at center, Aubrey Devine at quarter, Shuttleworth at left half, Glen Devine at right half and Locke at fullback—and honestly, now, what present-day team would you pick to defeat that aggregation of Iowa immortals?

feel that their program has been successful.

The aim of the program is to provide the student body of the university with an ample opportunity to take part in exercise and recreation. Before the students failed to see the benefits provided, but the present energetic policy and the fierce competition between the various organizations have brought out approximately 500 students for competition in touch football alone.

As the program unfolds, and basketball, swimming, track, and the other sports come into season, there will be a great addition to the total.

Cast in Mold of Hero, Duke Slater—

Jim Walker on Trail of All-American

—'Jay Walk' Having Best of 3 Years

By GIL MAIENKNECHT

Cast in the mold of his hero and sponsor, Fred (Duke) Slater, Big Jim Walker, Iowa's strapping Negro left tackle is, without doubt, one of the finest linemen in the nation.

After playing two years of great football, through both a fat and a lean year of Hawkeye victories, "Jay-Walk", as he is called by his teammates, has hit his stride in his senior year, and will undoubtedly rate the All-American title which has been denied him in both his other years.

Jim has shown brightly in every game this year, playing what his line coach, Jim Harris, termed "his greatest game" against Michigan four weeks ago, and then surpassing even that performance against Purdue last week.

Always Hits Indiana

Walker always plays well against Indiana teams, for he evidently wants to please the "home folks" who invariably travel to see him play against state opponents. If it's Purdue, Indiana or Notre Dame that faces Iowa, it'll be Jim Walker who stars in the line.

Why? Because Jim Walker's home town is South Bend, Ind., and it was just 23 years ago that he was born there. He went to Washington high school in South Bend, where he gained all-state honors as a tackle, and participated in baseball as a first-baseman and in basketball as a guard.

Walker, born on March 13, 1918, now stands 6 feet, 1 inch tall, and weighs 200 pounds. He is one of six children, having two older brothers, and three sisters, two of them younger.

Always Liked Basketball

Jim confesses he liked basketball better than football during his high school days, and he captained the cage team in his senior year. That no doubt explains his amazing agility, extraordinary for a man of his size, and his lightning footwork, which never allows opponents to get to his legs for blocking purposes.

Although his high school didn't have a track team, Walker is trying his hand at putting the shot here at Iowa, and may win a letter in the sport this spring.

Jim, always a gentleman both on and off the field, just as was the famous Slater, fits well into the Notre Dame style of play expounded by Dr. Eddie Anderson. His prep coach was a graduate of Notre Dame.

Part-Time Janitor

Jim spent the past summer working for the South Bend City Electrical company as an excavating engineer on a steam shovel, practicing up to shovel his way through opponents' lines this fall. While he goes to school, he spends two hours a day as a part-time janitor.

He belongs to Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, hopes to teach and coach after graduation. Right now he is in line for service in the army having been deferred until June, 1942 to finish school, but wants to get into physical education as soon as possible.

"Jay-Walk" loves to play cards, and regrets that he never learned to play the saxophone. He is an accomplished jitter-bug, however, and amuses the team no end with his antics. Once Coach Anderson told the squad that if Jim would give them a dance, he would call off a scheduled chalk talk, and the graceful giant more than obliged. In fact, the encores took longer than the original chalk talk would have.

"Ah'll Eat Anything"

When it comes to food, he just cracks a big smile and says, "Ah'm not particular. Ah eat anything that comes along." He will pick steak first, ham second and chicken third, however.

Jim admits a certain feminine incentive to play good football, but that's as far as the subject got.

Indiana Here Today As Homecoming Foe 1st Time in 10 Years

Two Teams Fought
To 0 to 0 Deadlock
Last Time in 1931

Today's appearance of Indiana at Iowa stadium will mark the first time in ten years that a Hoosier eleven has been guest at a Hawkeye Homecoming. Back in 1931 the two teams fought to a drab scoreless tie.

Since that time, however, the Hawks have met Indiana through nine straight years, with the Hoosiers on top, five wins to one. Two games were tied. The all-time series, dating back to 1912, stands exactly even, with five wins apiece and three ties.

'32 Hoosiers Win

It was not until 1932 that Indiana could pull a victory out of the bag, that one by a 12-0 score. For years, however, games were few, with none played between 1921 and 1931, and only four between 1912—the first one—and 1921.

Before 1921 the Hoosiers were comparatively easy prey for the Hawks, with scores of 60-0 and 41-0 rung up in 1912 and 1913 respectively.

Many of these battles produced fond memories that still linger in the minds of many alumni such as Dick Crayne's 102-yard punt with a wet ball in the 1934 clash that ended in a scoreless tie.

Simmons Stars in '35

Again in 1935, the great Ozzie Simmons shook his feet loose from the mire for a 59-yard gallop that brought Iowa the tying touchdown in a 6-6 encounter.

Many students still remember that heart-chilling clash two years ago when spectators hoped rose and fell as Iowa twice came from behind to wind up on the long end of a 32-29 count.

The tides of that battle changed like the sea, with the score running (Iowa first) 0-3, 0-10, 7-10,

14-10, 20-10, 20-17, 20-23, 20-29,

26-19, and finally 32-29.

Iowa Won

13-6 in 1912, 60-0 in 1913, 14-7 in 1920, 41-0 in 1921, 32-29 in 1929,

Indiana Won

12-0 in 1932, 13-6 in 1936, 3-0 in 1937, 7-3 in 1938, 10-6 in 1940.

Teams Tied

0-0 in 1931, 0-0 in 1934, 6-6 in 1935.

Iowa State Seeks 2nd Win

AMES (AP)—Iowa State college, hoping for its first football victory since the season's opener, tangles with the University of South Dakota in a non-conference game today.
