Iowa Beats Indiana, 13-7

MERTES STARTS ONE OF SLASHING RUNS

Bus Mertès, Hawkeye right halfback, who played a major role in yesterday's Homecoming victory over Indiana, is pictured starting on one of his famous slants off tackle and into the clear. That's Bill Green to his left for interference, and that's Al Couppee going through the hole ahead. Bill Burkett is at the extreme right. Ted Hasapes (88), end, is the only distinguishable Hoosier in the picture.

Says Iowa's Jim Walker: 'We Had to Do It to Prove It to the Fans—And to Ourselves!'

By JOHNNY NICHOLS
Put on your soundproof earplugs and come along to the Iowa locker room. Take a one-man riot and multiply it by the whole Iowa football squad and their well-wishers and you can get a vague idea of the scene there. There were more smiles per square inch than anywhere but a Gypsy Rose Lee burlesque show. Al Couppee did everything but stand on his head as he burst forth with, "You can't beat it. That was the one to win." Big Bill Diehl, Iowa's silken-handed center and captain, was the quietest fellow in the room. Bill, who has taken Iowa's previous defeats and still come back with all the courage that has characterized this year's squad, remarked seriously, "I feel swell. I knew we could do it."

Hawkeyes Stave Off Desperate Indiana Rallies To Hold Edge, Take First Big Ten Win Before A Homecoming Crowd of 28,000

By BILL BUCKLEY
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
Pentup Hawkeye fury, stored up over a six-week drought while Iowa was unimpressive in five straight starts, was unleashed here yesterday before a Homecoming crowd of 28,000, and rose to slash down a highly-favored Indiana team, 13-7.
It was one of the greatest games in Iowa football history, as the Hawks spotted the Hoosiers seven points in the first quarter, came back to hold the foe at bay for the rest of the first half, counted two rapid-fire markers in the third period, and went all out to stop three Hoosier offensives inside their 30-yard line to come through unscathed.
For the first time this year, the whole team got together and plugged its way to victory, and any individual stars who stood out in the game had to give the credit to their mates' cooperation. Indiana's famous aerial circus, no doubt held down some by the wet ground, caused Iowa plenty of anxious moments, but failed to figure in the scoring. Iowa's alert secondary was on the ball all the way, and the Hoosiers had to fall back on a powerful running game. It was not enough to beat that inspired bunch of Hawks.
Indiana pushed and roared, but Iowa gave ground more and more grudgingly. While the Hoosiers spent their efforts on several widespread drives, the Hawks got together for a pair of third-quarter punches which more than meant the game.
What Same Meant
It meant that Iowa's pre-season high flung hopes were aflutter once more; and it meant that the Hawks are able to finish out this season in predestined fashion; but most of all, it meant that the Hawks have justified themselves in their own eyes and in the eyes of their followers.
For Iowa won that ball game with a flourish yesterday, and the style with which it polished off Indiana was as heart-warming as it was thrilling. There was no luck connected with the hard-earned win, and there was no spotty play to spoil the enjoyment of the full fruits of victory. Iowa went out to win itself a ball game, and win it it did.
Crowd Plays Part
That Homecoming crowd played a big part in the triumph. It was the first home crowd to see the Hawks play since Drake six weeks ago. Although it was backing a team which had been a consistent loser in the past, that throng gave the team its whole-hearted support—after Indiana got its touchdown, when Iowa tied it up and then went ahead, and while the Hawks were fighting their hearts out with their backs to the wall for most of the fourth quarter.
Individual stars were almost a dime a dozen on the field, but their performances were anything but cheap. Iowa lights seemed to shine brighter, because the Hawks won, but there was one red-shirted back, Billy Hillenbrand, who all but made the Hawks give up trying to stop him in disgust on his will-of-the-wisp runs and accurate passes.
Mertes Sparkles Afield
But Iowa had more than one man out there giving his all for a cause, and together they led the Hawks on and on.
Bus Mertès played one of the best games of his career, sparking an attack which out-first-downed, outgained and outplayed the Hoosiers. He scintillated on dashes around end, slashes through tackle and bashes through guard. Invariably his runs ended with a lightning push for a few more yards with three Indiana players hanging on his back.
If Mertès played beautifully, so did Bill Green, who shook off a first-half lethargy to come back and take his part in the third-period drive, scoring both touchdowns, one around end from the 4, and one through center from the two. Then there was Tom armer, who completed two vital passes and finally Al Couppee, whose blocking was superb.
Line Comes Through
That was the backfield, and the line in front of it played an even more important part in the win. That forward wall beat back a potent Indiana ground attack time after time, surmounted obstacles which seemed impossible, and put in its best work in the clutch, when it counted most.
Indiana broke away for several long gains, which the Hawks were countering with a grinding attack all the way, but when the chips

To Take Neutrality Vote

Senate Plans To 'Speed Up' Consideration

Administration Heads Say 52 of 96 Senators Will Support Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate agreed yesterday to speed up consideration of neutrality revision as Senator Ball (R-Minn.) declared that a freedom-of-the-seas policy was necessary for this country's survival and Senator Clark (D-Mo.) dared President Roosevelt to ask congress for a declaration of war.
Winding up a week of debate on the momentous legislation to lift neutrality act provisions forbidding the arming of merchant ships and preventing them from sailing into belligerent ports or combat areas, the chamber agreed unanimously to a suggestion by democratic leader Barkley that it meet at 10 a. m. (CST) Monday, an hour earlier than usual.
Administration leaders, confident that at least 52 of the 96 members would support the bill, said the agreement would insure a vote by the middle of next week.
Clark said that the president should "muzzle" Secretaries Knox and Stimson and others of his administration "who constantly agitate for war." The Missourian described Knox as being similar to a person "suffering from rabies, without any constitutional authority whatever, declaring war on nation after nation and solemnly announcing a 100-year alliance with England."

House Committee O.K.s Commodity Price Control Bill; Ignores Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house banking committee approved a commodity price control bill last night after refusing to include wages and voting to prohibit ceilings on farm commodities lower than some of the highest agricultural prices in history.
With the farm bloc in full control, the committee accepted a formula for farm price ceilings which government experts said would permit food prices to rise as much as 20 per cent above the 110 per cent of parity level contained in the administration's original bill.

Delta Upsilon, Alpha Chi O Win Contests

Their Homecoming Decorations Voted Best on the Campus

A giant reproduction of Old Capitol and Hawkeye Captain Bill Diehl handing down victory, last night brought Delta Upsilon first prize in the Kiwanis club's contest for fraternity Homecoming decorations.
Placing second was Sigma Nu, with gilded gladiators as the theme for their decoration. Theta Xi's cannon shooting at an Indiana blimp placed them third. Alpha Tau Omega received honorable mention.
Last year Delta Upsilon placed second in the contest. For six successive years before that, the trophy awarded is a traveling cup which may be kept by the fraternity winning it for three successive years.
Judges, George Koster, chairman; Charles O. Ingersoll and Jack Beigle, awarded the trophy on the basis of lighting effects, theme chosen and skill in execution.
The committee in charge of planning and construction of the winning display was Walt Wright, A4 of Des Moines; Joe Gantz, A4 of Sioux City; Jack Marvel, C4 of Webster City, and Kenneth Klipp, E4 of Iowa Falls.
The contest for fraternity Homecoming decorations has been sponsored by the Iowa City Kiwanis club for 21 years. Sixteen fraternities participated this year. Cash prizes were awarded to the second and third place winners.
Alpha Chi Omega sorority won first prize in the contest sponsored by the Iowa City Lions club for sorority displays. Gamma Phi Beta placed second and Delta Gamma third.
The winning sorority in the competition will receive a cup. Kappa Alpha Theta won first place in 1940. This contest has been sponsored by the Lions club for 15 years.

When you can't get there on the ground, take to the air, was Tom Farmer's motto yesterday afternoon as Iowa beat Indiana, 13-7, in a Homecoming game. Not only did he take to the air to hurdle this pile of players, but he also completed two passes in playing a major part in the triumph. Tom was stopped for a short gain on this play. Indiana players visible are Kenny Smith (87), end; Walter Jurkiewicz (54), guard; Bob White (38), fullback; Charles Steele (65), guard, and Al Bragalone (64), guard.

U. S. Fired First--Germans

Secretary Knox Declares 'We Are in This Fight to Finish'

Navy Has 'No New Information About Reuben James Crew'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON — German-American relations entered a phase of greater tension last night with a charge from Adolf Hitler that American destroyers had engaged in aggression and a declaration from Secretary of the Navy Knox that "we are in this fight to the finish."
Knox's assertion was made in an address to a marine corps audience at Quantico, Va., while his subordinates at the navy department hopefully awaited word from the north Atlantic increasing the list of known survivors of the torpedoed destroyer Reuben James. Forty-four enlisted men had been rescued out of personnel roster of about 120. The fact that these survivors were safe, and that the destroyer had been torpedoed and sunk while on convoy duty was all the information which the department had.
Some hopefully assumed that ships of the convoy had effected rescues which they had not yet reported, and would not report until they made port. The practice has been to use the radio as little as possible, lest the ship's position be divulged to lurking submarines.
Official comment on the extraordinary statement issued from Hitler's headquarters in Russia was limited to the remark by a state department spokesman, in response to questions, that German propaganda seemed to be trying to exploit the tragedy.

Expect Destroyer Sinking to Increase U.S.-Japanese Crisis

Under Terms of Axis Pact, Japan Would Go To Aid of Germany

TOKYO, Sunday (AP)—Germany's declaration that she had been "attacked" by the United States in the Atlantic is expected to intensify the crisis in the Pacific in view of Japan's critical attitude towards Americans.
Under terms of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact the signatories are pledged to go to one another's aid in event of attack from a power not then engaged in the European war.
Last December former Foreign Minister Yousuke Matsuoka said it was discretionary with the axis partners to decide whether another was the object of aggression.
The increasingly critical attitude of the Japanese press and official statements regarding the alleged "encirclement" of Japan are indications that the Tokyo government is less likely now to take an impartial view should Germany ask her to invoke the tri-partite agreement.
Japan's suspicions of Washington's motives, therefore, become doubly significant and today's positive action by Germany may very well spread the war to both the Pacific and the Atlantic, informed observers said.
Obviously, Japan has nothing to gain by not accepting the German version of the incidents involving American destroyers and nazi submarines, it was said, particularly if the United States continues her economic blockade.

Say Destroyers Greer, Kearny Attacked Subs

'Only After Vessels Fired Did U-Boats Use Their Weapons'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
BERLIN—An official statement from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters to counter President Roosevelt's assertion that Germany had started shooting charged the United States yesterday with aggression in attacks by its destroyers, the Greer and Kearny.
For the first time it was admitted that it was German submarines which had fired torpedoes at the Kearny, which the navy department in Washington has announced was ripped open but not sunk with a loss of 11 lives and 10 injured on the night of Oct. 16-17 southwest of Iceland.
(Previously German spokesmen had sought to cast doubt on the navy department's announcement of the torpedoing of the Kearny, indicating their belief it was a trumped up story to boost the President's neutrality act revisions through congress.
(The navy department's version Oct. 29 said the Kearny went to the aid of another convoy which was under attack and dropped depth bombs. Three torpedoes then were fired, the navy said, and the third struck the Kearny.)
The German statement said the Kearny was protecting one convoy when it received a call for help from another which was engaged in battle with German naval

Millis New Head of Vermont U.

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Dr. John S. Millis, for the past two years dean of administration at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., yesterday was elected president of the University of Vermont by the board of trustees.
The trustees said the 37 year old president will begin his new duties at once. He succeeds the late Guy W. Bailey.
(Iowa's Dean Paul C. Packer of the college of education has served as temporary executive of the Vermont institution since Sept. 1.)

Defying Winter Weather, Germans Mass for New Moscow Offensive, While in the South—

Nazis Threaten Rostov in New Drives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Russia threw great masses of reserves into the 19-weeks-struggle against Adolf Hitler's invasion armies last night as the Germans momentarily threatened to capture the key city of Rostov-on-Don, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields, and the munitions center of Tula 100 miles south of Moscow.
The Germans were smashing full-blast across the upper Donets river, marking all but the end of the trans-Ukraine drive, in an apparent effort to cut off the line of United States war supplies to the U.S.S.R. via the middle east.
A bulletin from Hitler's headquarters said nazi troops had crossed the Donets river at several points, presumably in a wide flanking sweep to engulf Rostov-on-Don, and that German and Rumanian troops were advancing into the Crimea peninsula in pursuit of retreating Soviet forces.
German military spokesmen declared emphatically that Russia's winter snows—the factor that spelled disaster for Napoleon on his drive to Moscow in 1812—would mean no halt in the campaign. Germany is prepared "to the last detail" for cold weather combat, they said, and this seemed borne out by recent reports of nazi orders requisitioning winter blankets, heavy coats and boots in the German-conquered countries.
Already, the Germans said, supply trains moving east are carrying millions of winter garments and devices enabling Hitler's military juggernaut to operate in freezing temperatures.
Soviet front-line dispatches said the German central front armies under Gen. Fedor von Bock were massing huge forces for a violent new offensive against Moscow and that "heavier fighting will begin in the near future."
The Soviet commander on the central front, Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov, was reported speeding fresh troops from Russia's vast manpower reservoirs and training bases in Siberia to meet the German assault.

Advices reaching London said the German northern armies were now trying to fight their way east, beyond the Volkhov river, in an attempt to join hands with Finnish troops pressing down from the north and thus isolate Leningrad completely for a final "starve or surrender" siege of the one-time capital of the czars.

American Harvest----

By Paul Engle

(Illustrated with reproductions of paintings by Marvin Cone)

America now in the many-colored weather
Moves like a covered wagon over the world.
Driving beyond tomorrow's trackless wood
Its definite and native destiny.

Yet there are some, the too infirm of faith,
Who feel in Europe and in their own lives
A continental ice-cap of despair
Crawl over heart and house. They can ignore
The powerful and daily pain of men
Beaten for pride, mauled for the working mind,
The child corrupted and the father killed,
The one, loved language torn out of the teeth,
A man only a number without name.
They can watch with unaverted eyes
Grief like lichen grow on the living face.

It's simple enough for us, they say, we've got Deserts, Mojave, Great Salt Lake, let's go
Stick our heads in the sand and wait to drown,
Our shoulders bowed, our scared eyes closed, beneath
One black oncoming wave.

That's not the way
Of certain old Americans who died
To give those men the right to speak their own
However hopeless thoughts. Nor by that fear
To look the future squarely in the eye
Was the first leaking; little ship brought over
Unmapped oceans to uncharted coasts,
The frail house built against the freezing winter,
All the westward country won by men
Whose lone conviction was a plain, proud thing—
Root hog or die.

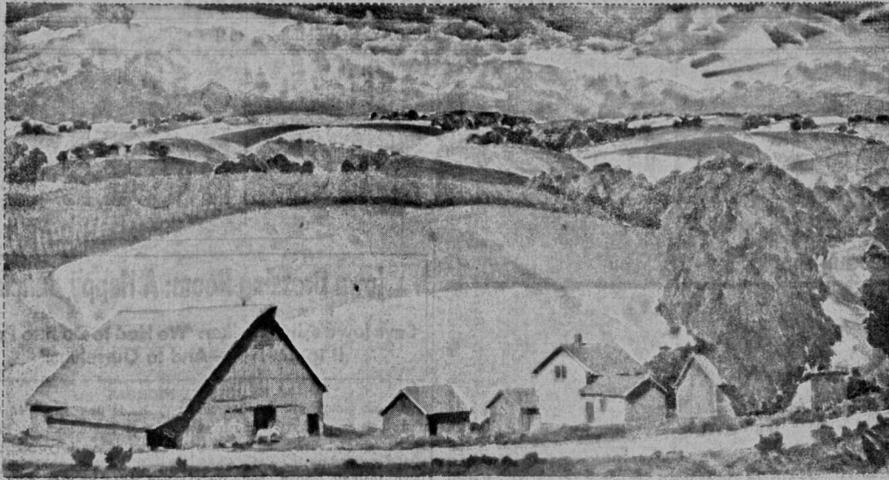

Now it's the same for us:
To set our teeth against an iron time
And do the tough job in an iron way,
But not until we live with iron nerves
Or the hard mind grows calloused like a hand.
Now must we shape our life until we keep
Liberty stored in us as in a barn
To nourish all our children all their days
And feed a world starving in bone and brain.

Here is the actual storage of our crop,
Livestock and fodder and the skilled machines,
And with them courage, confidence laid by
For the appropriate season of our need.
Look at them scattered on the upland fields
Where evening levels the uneven hills,
Or in alluvial valleys black with silt,
The wide midwestern barns, built like the land,
Foundation rock deep in the rigid earth,
Broad with a prairie breadth from door to door,
High to the rooftop as a gathering cloud,
Multi-windowed, many-raftered, made
Room after room a cattle-castle.

Look
From any hill or plane or hurrying car:
The state runs out in fields of green and grain,
Clover purple and the oats clean gold,
Corn dark green and the alfalfa darker,
Timber walnut, maple, hickory, elm.
Follow the lines of lanes, the farms are marked
Not by a house where men and women live
And kids play under the apple trees,
But always by the dominant, tall barn
Towered with a silo, pointed with a taut
Weather vane guided by a trotting horse
Or by a long-backed cow. Here is the whole
Cause and meaning of the human life
Scattered along that landscape for no end
But plowing, planting, reaping to fill up
Bin and mow of barn with gathered crop,
Hallowed to harvest.

Let's drive off the paved
Highway, onto the county gravel, turn
Into a lane and at the farmyard park
Under a shade tree (brittle box elder, oak),
Take a long, cold drink at the pump, then get
The lay of the land: patch of grass with a house
Plain and needing paint, a windmill turning
Wearily in the slow half breeze, a shed
For mower, hay rake, tractor, corn crib built
With sides half open to the weather, coops
For chickens, water tank, but over all
One lofty building, backed by windbreak pine
Or water-loving willow.

Let's go in
The half doors, wide for a wagon and a team:
Runaway down the center all the length
And at the end another double door,
Tunneled from the long, interior dark.
One corner, bull stall barred with iron pipe,
Then stanchions for the milk herd, Jersey, Black
Angus, Holstein, Guernsey or Brown Swiss,
Holding the powerful neck at milking time,
Stalls for work horses, rounded in the rump,
Ponderous feet pounding the floor, shoulders
Broad for the lunge in harness leather, eyes
Where images fall in like stones in water.
The other side for hogs, Duroc Red,
Hampshire, Poland China, huge in the hams,
Ribbed like a barrel, ringed in the nose, tusked,

Rooting the necessary daily dirt,
Hide foul, but meat and lard white marbled.
Workshop proving many skills: a big
Two man timber saw, an emery wheel
For edging tools, cold chisels, sledge, an axe,
Post hole digger, chain, a cow dehorner,
Hundreds of things hung up and then forgotten
Until the needed day, then searched and found.
A milk room with a separator pouring
Yellow cream and pale skimmed milk, turned
By motor or a boy with tiring arms.
Oat bin filled with golden nourishment.
Center a stock tank and a shallow well
With a pump handle glad to shake your hand.
Time for another drink of water pulled
Gold from the under-flowing water level
Through bedded limestone.

Up a ladder then,
Hand over hand, from daylight to half dark,
Into an air heavy with floating dust,
The dry, clean smell of sunlight on the leaf
Of cut alfalfa, clover, timothy,
Ton upon ton and floor to roof hay piled.
Here in the mow the barn is magnified
From all its many uses on the ground
To one high, hollow room and its one crop.
In broken stalk and brittle leaf are held
Tomorrow's meat and milk. Listen. You hear
Multitudes of tiny rustlings, all
The labored animal breathing of the hay.
Sun falls through the roof holes solidly.
Above, the melancholy pigeons mumble.
Down to the cornfield wind, the dazzling day,
And one look back: Built like a natural thing,
Mound or boulder from the massive earth,
Bluntly the worn barn stands in any weather,
Grain of the wood turning back the white
Teeth of August sun, the molelike frost
Working against foundation rock, the snow
Crawling through cracks and underneath closed doors,
Over the vaulted roof the roving rain.

Then home through fields fat as a corn-fed steer.
As the great strength of barns grows from the land
Bearing their weight, filling their bin and mow,
So from the way and wonder of our living
Have we a power and fury of our own
Defying those who would by argument
Within ourselves, or desperate threat outside,
Leach our minds like a furrowed hillside farm.
And as a north slope orchard toughens under
Blizzard, snow, drought and the brutal sun,
We will, beneath whatever history
Falls unpredictable or wild or strange,
Put deeper down into the western earth
That bold, immortal root which is our blood.

In our time we will bring to a hungry world
Peace like a meadow marvelous in grass
And fill the future like an autumn barn
Over the eaves, clear to the rooftree, with American harvest—freedom, corn and life.

The New Books—

— by Ruth K. Mason

THE AUTHOR: Thomas Mann.
THE REVIEWER: Ruth K. Mason.

Here Tuesday

THOMAS MANN

With the coming of Thomas Mann to the campus on Tuesday it seems fitting that the book review section of The Daily Iowan should devote itself to the consideration of an author whom many critics and scholars regard as the foremost contemporary man of letters.

Any attempt to present a definite analysis of Thomas Mann's art, a survey of his thought, or an evaluation of his contribution to modern literature would be a ridiculous attempt of the impossible. Volumes of interpretation have already been devoted to various phases of his voluminous writings and more will be written for Mann, like Goethe, takes all human experience as his province and the scholar can find in him, inexhaustible sources of speculation and research.

With all this in mind, however, it still seems possible to present, sketchily and superficially, it must be admitted, a few basic Mann concepts. And since his lecture here will be, if the "Coming Victory of Democracy" is any basis upon which to judge, largely concerned with political and social affairs, it is his social and political ideas which will be considered.

In the first place, the social and political (as those terms are usually interpreted) are not Mann's primary interests. The economic or biological determinist; the person who conceives individual behavior only in terms of herd instinct or physical drive, will find Mann little in sympathy with him. And the reader who searches his books for an outlined plan of social reconstruction will be sadly disappointed. For Thomas Mann's basic preoccupation is with the human (human defined not as the mammal evolved from primordial slime, but as the created man a little lower than the angels) individual as a moral and metaphysical being.

"Conscience," he says in the "Coming Victory of Democracy," "is higher than innocence." Conscience implies the knowledge of good and evil. And it is man the knowing, man the embodiment of conscience, man the reasoning that he subjects to searching scrutiny. Hans Castorp in "The Magic Mountain," and Joseph in the monumental Joseph trilogy are men who acquire conscience; that is, they learn the distinction between good and evil. Let it be noted, however, that in each case, knowledge is a purely individual thing; the act of knowing is an individual process for which an individual sensitivity is necessary.

Conscience is not acquired through any system of mass education; it is a product subjectively arrived at through individual experience which may itself be purely subjective. In other words, man learns individually, and is capable of individual choice and action.

This is not a political idea; it is a moral concept; neither is it a blueprint for Utopia. Political viewpoints, however, can have moral concepts as their basis, and this is true in Mann's case. He is a believer in democracy not so much as a social, political, or economic system, but as a way of life which permits the development of individual conscience. Democracy acknowledges what fascism denies, that man's moral choices need not be dictated to him, that he is individually capable of right knowledge, and of right behavior on the basis of right knowledge.

This is a lofty view of man. It is not a sentimental view, however, nor is it based on the belief that man is of himself naturally good and wise. Human experience, Mann believes, is always the contradiction of such a view. Mann's faith in the dignity of human being rests on another, and more complementary, idea: the capability for personal responsibility in determining a course of action.

You Needn't Be a Harpy Any Longer

If the Wind and the Rain Gets in Your Hair, Here Are Some Wet Weather Hints

By DOROTHY MAY MYERS

Into each of our lives a little rain must fall. A cloudburst gives that heads-up look to the smartest of duds. In fact, it nearly makes harpies out of women not dressed for the occasion. (Consider SUI women of late.)

Pious idea—visit the umbrella man. The umbrellas are weather sealed against the casual care they receive. No rigorous shopping spree need be made to discover some ducky ones. (They all shed water.)

Alice in Wonderland found thrills under an umbrella. One would wager that our umbrellas can fare as whimsical, but hers went out with black steeple blouses and high top shoes.

An umbrella designed with cozy fall leaves, dotted with flippant dog ears, painted with conventional mannequin faces or with - - - or V's - - - are all attractive.

A time saving device would be a wise purchase. That's a reversible raincoat. A quick change and you're no longer a wallflower waiting for the rain to stop.

A game-reversible with a while inside-out will make no pauper of your father. In fact it's more thrifty than an ordinary coat. It can do two things at the same time.

Upperclass plaids are just the stuff this year. Thriving colors—especially red - challenge the imagination. A turn around town will reveal ragamuffin plaids ones. A conscientious objector may turn to a conservative tweed duo.

You can not keep time—even on ice—so shop through the apparel shops soon. Coats that build reversibles of durable fleeces and gabardine. Zippers and stitching make them great buys.

Now to get to the bottom of things, boots—especially red rubber boots. Two tiers of attractiveness—boots and coats. These are rainy boots. They suit the top styles of dress coats as well as campus togs.

Like old cars with new models are the leather boots. Zipped they fit tightly over heavy wool socks. Air squadron like, some reach high. Last year's cowboy boots are good, as well as leather swaggers cuts. Tooling and a splash of the wild west dress them up.

Moccasin rubbers—they're the latest!

Student Religious Foundations Hold Special Gatherings Over Homecoming Week End

Dinners, Meetings Scheduled by Groups For This Evening

Student religious foundations and associations are holding special dinners, dances and meetings over the Homecoming week end. The following activities have been announced by student leaders.

Wesley Foundation

A dine-a-mite supper will be held at 6 o'clock, followed by a social hour and discussion group.

The foundation's graduate seminar, held at 9:30 tonight will be led by Claude J. Lapp who will discuss contemporary religious literature.

The undergraduate seminar, led by the Rev. Stanley Martin, will consider "Christianity and Conflicting Philosophies."

A vespers service will be held at 8 o'clock tonight. The Wesley players will present "The Life of Fanny Crosby van Alstine," written and directed by the Rev. Marcus Bach of the school of religion.

A chorus of 16 members will provide a musical background for the play. Mrs. Maud Wheadon Smith will be at the organ. Cast of the play consists of Mildred Bradshaw, A4 of Chicago, as Frances Crosby; Richard Brink, A2 of Luverne, as Alexander van Alstine; Margaret Clark, A3 of Rockwell City, as Miss Ferris; Margaret Melcher as Miss Wilson; Dorothy Cole as Mrs. Anderson, and Stanley Martin as Dwight L. Moody.

Assisting with the production will be Lester Shawver, make-up; Ed Wiehen, lighting, and Eloise Ristinen, costumes. Ushers, dressed in the costumes of the times, will be Mrs. Marcus Bach and Mrs. Glendine Martin.

Westminster Foundation

Dr. Ilion T. Jones will speak at 7:30 tonight on "Modern Jonahs," a study of the book of Jonah. There will be a fellowship supper and a social hour at 6:30. Mary Beth Godfrey will lead the worship service.

Hillel Foundation

Second of Hillel's mixers will be the Homecoming dance at 9 o'clock at the Hillel foundation home, 630 East Washington. Dance committee members are Irwin Katz of Bayonne, N. J., and Naomi Braverman, A3 of Iowa City, chairman; Paul Cohen, A2 of New York City, decorations; Maurice Selkin, entertainment; Don Gelman, A2 of Newark, N. J., house arrangements; Agnes Lou Mandelbaum, guests, and Ruth Newman, hosts and hostesses. Chaparones will be the Rabbi and Mrs. Morris N. Kertzer.

Members of Hillel will join with townspeople and Avukah members at a memorial meeting for Justice Louis Brandeis and Mendel Ushukin at 7:30 tonight at the synagogue.

Roger Williams Club

The Rev. Elmer E. Dierks will discuss "Leadership of Worship" at the Roger Williams Bible class at 9:30 this morning.

The Rev. Dr. Newton C. Feter, director of the department of university pastors and student work of the northern Baptist convention, will speak at the Roger Williams club meeting at 6:30 this evening.

Pledged by Theta Epsilon, national Baptist girls sorority, are Catherine Lindsay, Mary Rochel Anstach, Lois Stirdley, Hazel Jenham, Catherine Fetland and Jane Lueser.

Lutheran Students Association

Members of the Zion Lutheran student association and the First Lutheran student association will have a joint meeting and the First English Lutheran church at 5:30 for fellowship luncheon. Discussion will be held on the subject "Is It Right for a Christian to Go to War?"

Iowa City 'Turned Upside Down' by Homecomers as Hawks Win

Victory-Wild Fans Gather to Witness Burning of Monument

All Visitors Agree That Iowa Played 'Story Book Game'

Iowa City was virtually turned upside down late yesterday afternoon and last night by victory wild homecoming crowds who saw Iowa's rejuvenated football team hand Indiana a 13 to 7 shellacking.

The final gun ending the game yesterday afternoon had barely sounded before the victory whistle atop the engineering building commenced to inform all within hearing range that Iowa had won.

Corn Monument Burned
Fans flocked to Iowa avenue and Clinton street after the game to witness the burning of the corn monument.

One unidentified student, evidently unable to shake off the stinging chill of the stadium, edged too close to the flames and one of the embers caught fire to his trousers.

Crowds flocked the streets of the business section and police were barely able to keep the automobile traffic moving at a snail's pace. Horns blasted, people shouted—New York's Manhattan had nothing on "The University City" yesterday.

"It was a wonderful game" was the typical Iowa Hawkeye fan's remark last night.

Future 'Pep-Up'
"The boys certainly deserved to win. It's just what they need for a future 'pep-up,'" was the comment made by Senator John Berg, Cedar Falls, as he left Iowa campus.

"It was a game made to order—in typical story-book fashion. The pep-talk at the half by Dr. Eddie Anderson really lit the spark that set Iowa off to its second victory," said Arthur H. Brayton, director of the Brayton sales school.

Emerson Cooper, district superintendent of the Equitable Insurance agency of Iowa and graduate of the law school here declared, "It was a grand game, and I'll never forget the third quarter."

Another homecoming guest, E. D. Loring of the American Automobile Insurance company, exuberantly exclaimed, "Any team coming from the bottom deserves to win—especially its homecoming game."

Referees Like Game
A short visit with the referees in their hotel room following yesterday's game revealed that both teams played a "bang-up" clean game.

Both teams were thoroughly enjoying the contest and were hitting hard at every play," remarked Rollie Barnum, Wisconsin, field judge.

Referee Fred Gardner, Cornell, added, "It was a clean game—well played. Both teams played good, hard football throughout the two hours and thirteen minutes' playing time."

A former Iowa basketball star and present manager of the Iowa division of the American Automobile Insurance company, declared, "It was a beautiful game. The boys made a remarkable comeback in the last half."

Thomas McDonough, also of the American Automobile Insurance company which met in the Jefferson hotel for their annual homecoming party, said that he was thoroughly impressed by the Hawkeye spirit and the loyalty of the Iowa fans.

Methodist Council to Meet
There will be a Methodist student council meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Wesley foundation. All members are expected to be present.

ANOTHER HOMECOMING VICTORY

"Excuse the pun," said Alpha Chi Omega sorority, eyeing the Old Gold theme of its Homecoming display. But the judges of the Lions club contest approved and awarded it first place among sorority decorations. The winning display, designed by Frances Sutton, A4 of Danville, Ill., will receive a cup. Gamma Phi Beta was named second place winner and Delta Gamma third. The Iowa City Lions club has sponsored this contest for 15 years.

Mann Will Lecture On Campus Tuesday

Dr. Thomas Mann, second university lecturer, will speak on "War and the Future" Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

In 1938, Dr. Mann published a little volume, "The Coming Victory of Democracy." The faith he has in the principles of our type of government is clearly stated in the book.

"I believe democracy is something eternal—the moral and spiritual concept," is the basis for all his predictions. To him, Britain's fight for a democratic way of life is a reason more practical than simple spiritual facts for being optimistic.

Dr. Mann's hopes for the future lie in a recognized European state based on the ideals of a free people who believe in democracy.

Dr. and Mrs. Mann are expected to arrive in Iowa City late Tuesday afternoon and will be the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Erich Funke, 909 E. Burlington.

65 Engineering Grads Honored at Reception

Sixty-five alumni of the college of engineering returned to the University of Iowa campus yesterday and were entertained by members of the faculty and their wives at a reception in the engineering building from 10 o'clock until noon.

Headed the list of older "grads" were R. Drew Musser of Little Falls, Minn., and M. H. Dey of Iowa City.

Mr. Musser, 74, graduated from the engineering class of 1888. Mr. Dey is an alumnus of 1887.

According to Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering, who invited the alumni to make his office a "gathering place for the graduates before the game," yesterday's Homecoming had good attendance in spite of the weather. "I am well pleased," Dean Dawson declared.

Report Ticket Supply For T. Mann Lecture Tuesday Is Exhausted

Games Will Be Held On Women's Athletic Field November 8, 9

The Iowa City Hockey club will be hostess to the mid-west field hockey tournament Nov. 8 and 9 here for the first time since 1933. Teams will attend from St. Louis; Kansas City, Kan.; Chicago; North Shore, Chicago; Madison, Wis., and Milwaukee, Wis.

Mary Judd, president of the Iowa City Hockey club, will be the official tournament hostess. Chairmen of other tournament committees are Margaret Morley, publicity; Olive Young, programs; Joyce Templin, registration; Bernice Cooper, ground and equipment; Esther French, games, Hazel Fowler, social, and Orrisa Lanar, sale of programs.

The Mid-West hockey tournament is held each year in which teams from this section of the country compete. The Mid-West section is part of the United States field hockey association and a team is selected from each sectional tournament to compete at the national tournament which is being held this year at Buffalo, N.Y.

Members of the teams are made up of women out of school who are interested in playing hockey as a recreational sport and as a means of improving their health and physical fitness.

Spectators will arrive in Iowa City from many eastern as well as midwestern states to witness the hockey tournament. There is no admission to the games and expenses are defrayed by the cooperation of interested business concerns.

Schedule of games has been announced by Prof. Loraine Frost, secretary of the Mid-West field hockey association, and each team will play two games.

DUMMIES TEST PARACHUTES REGULARLY TO PROTECT LIVES OF FLYERS

To give its flyers as much protection as possible in the event of an emergency, the United States army air corps requires that every parachute be tested at least once every two years during the first four years of its service and once a year for the next three. After that it is "retired" to drop inanimate objects, such as guns, medicine and supplies. For the tests, 150-pound dummies are attached to the parachutes at Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., taken aloft and dropped from the bomb racks of planes flying 100 miles an hour, 300 feet above the ground. If the chute works, well and good. If it fails to open, it means that the life of a flyer, who might have used it, has been saved. Ground crew members are shown, left above, placing the dummies in the bomb racks; as the dummies are released, center, a card attached to the plane and the rip cord opens the chutes. One of the dummies floats gently down, right, under its opened chute.

PICTURES: They Tell the Story of Week's News Highlights

Wreckage of an American Airlines transport plane which crashed west of St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, killing all 20 persons aboard, is pictured right. The plane was en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to Detroit. Only eye-witnesses to the tragedy said that the pilot, Capt. David I. Cooper of Plandome, N.Y., apparently was attempting an emergency landing when the ship crashed and burst into flames. It was the second major air tragedy in two days, 14 persons being killed in a crash of a Northwest Airlines plane near Moorhead, Minn., the day before.

Many New Yorkers have found something to take their minds off the war in the verbally flaming battle between Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia and Brooklyn District Attorney William O'Dwyer to determine New York's next mayor. Words have been plentiful and barbed as La-

Guardia, who has held the office eight years, and O'Dwyer, who exposed Murder, Inc., fought down to the wire for the ballots that will be cast next Tuesday, Nov. 4. LaGuardia is running on the fusion ticket and O'Dwyer on the democratic.

Three couples were issued licenses to marry yesterday. Those receiving permits from R. Neilson Miller, clerk of court, are: John O. Maruth, legal, and Alice N. Brown, legal, both of Iowa City; J. Donald Olson, 24, of Atkins and Mary Helen Morehead, 23, of Des Moines, and William Leuz, 23, and Annetta Connell, 21, both of Iowa City.

As 'Food for Fitness' Program Enters Third Week—

Nutrition Society Features Course in Vegetable Preparation

Believing that "it's patriotic to be healthy" the Johnson county nutrition society has chosen a course in vegetable preparation for the third week of the "Food for Fitness" program, Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, chairman, announced yesterday.

Captioned "Vim, Vigor and Vegetables," the demonstrations will stress the importance of including vegetables each day in the diet and the different ways that they can be cooked in order to retain their full nutritive value. Demonstrators for the meetings have taken a short preparation course under the direction of Mrs. Cleora Roberts, instructor in foods at the University home economics department.

According to Mrs. Roberts, vegetables, one of the best sources of vitamins "A" and "C," should be cooked quickly in as little water as possible. She said that new ways of serving raw vegetables in salads and relish plates would be taught at the meetings.

Vitamin "A," found in nearly all vegetables, helps keep body tissues in good condition, assists in protecting the eyes from a disease called "Ophthalmia" and aids them in adjusting to changes of light and darkness. It is needed for sound tooth enamel and for normal bones.

Often destroyed in food preparation, Vitamin "C" prevents and cures scurvy, helps to build and keep well the connective tissue of the teeth and bones and is needed for a healthy blood system.

After each actual cooking demonstration, a movie titled "Food and Growth" will be shown. Mimeographed information and recipe sheets that failed to arrive in time for the "Stronger Staff of Life" meetings held last week will be given out at the "vegetable" shows.

Meetings scheduled for this week are, fifth ward, Community building, 7:30 tomorrow night; first ward and University Heights, Community building, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday; third ward, Horace Mann school, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday; second ward and Coralville, Community building, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, and fourth ward, Community building, 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Fifth ward chairman and co-chairman are Mrs. Verne Bales and Mrs. Sidney Miller. Hostesses are Mrs. W. H. Cress, Mrs. Howard Snyder, Mrs. Hugh Carson and Mrs. Arnold Small.

Demonstrators will be Mrs.

This official referred reporters to President Roosevelt's address of last Monday for a statement of this government's attitude as to who was the aggressor in clashes in the north Atlantic between American destroyers and Nazi craft.

In that address, Mr. Roosevelt said: "We have wished to avoid shooting. But the shooting has started. And history has recorded who fired the first shot. In the long run, however, all that will matter is who fired the last shot."

MERTES RAMBLES AS HAWKS WIN, 13-7

Bus Mertes, who sparkled in a running role in yesterday's Homecoming victory over Indiana, is shown cutting in at his own left tackle to pick up six yards in the third quarter, at a time when Iowa was on its way to two quick touchdowns. Bill Green, acting as a blocking decoy in front of Mertes, is shown in the foreground (43). Gene Curran (20), Hawkeye left guard, is leading the play, and Ross Anderson (53) may be seen blocking out an Indiana player. Indiana players whose numbers may be seen are Al Bragalone (64) and Lou Saban (22).

FARMER AIDS GROUND ATTACK IN VICTORY

Tom Farmer, who completed two essential passes in yesterday's 13-6 win over Indiana, also played a highly-essential part in the Hawkeye running attack. In this picture, it appears that Farmer is about to be thrown for a sizeable loss by Charles Steel (65), Hoosier guard, but Farmer evaded him and proceeded to earn three yards against this herd of Indiana players. Gene Curran (20), Iowa guard, is on the ground, and Capt. Bill Diehl (29), Hawkeye center, is in the background, looking over the pile of players. Indiana players identified by their numbers are Fred Huff (73), tackle, and Walter Jurkiewicz (54), guard.

HAWKS

were down, and the Hoosiers were in pay-dirt territory, then's when the Iowa line looked best. Hillenbrand and his star mate, Charley Jacoby, couldn't do a thing with Bill Burkett and Bill Parker, the ends. Plays were turned in time after time, and what gains were made against them could be chalked up to slackness in filling in on the part of the secondary.

Walker, Otto Good
All-American Jim Walker and Bob Otto had trouble with the powerful Hoosier off-tackle slants, but in time they pinched it up and made the foe go elsewhere for its yardage. Ross Anderson, Gene Curran and Del Dickerhoof were brilliant, both in the line, and on pass defense.

Capt. Bill Diehl did a grand job of linebacking, and fought his head off until he could hardly stand up. He and Coupee left few plays past them, and Diehl, especially, made his presence felt all through the game. He went out for a few minutes in the fourth quarter, and Red Frye jumped into his spot with style.

Iowa received the kickoff, but in three plays had to punt from its own 45, and after two line plays had gained only two yards. Bob White, Hoosier fullback, batted loose over his own right tackle, cut around the Iowa secondary and rambled to the Hawks' 25.

Hillenbrand Scores
White tried the same spot again, gained but two yards, and then Indiana decided to rely on its passing game. Hillenbrand dropped back to his right, fading to the 40, and decided to run with it, circled a pile of Hawks on his left and raced to a touchdown, skirting the east sideline. Capt. Gene White came in to boot a perfect placekick, and the Hoosiers had an early 7-0 lead.

That was the first half, too, as far as the action was concerned for the teams banded back and forth, evenly between the 30-yard stripes. Iowa made plenty of offensive gestures of its own, and stopped Indiana with its own tactics.

The second half was as different from the first as black from white, however, as the Hawks came out fighting and didn't quit until they were six points to the good.

Bill Green ignited the spark, taking the kickoff on his own 15, and facing 31 yards right up the middle to the 46, all but breaking into the clear. Bus Mertes returned the compliment just two plays later, circling his own left end to the Indiana 38 for a first down, and the Hawks were on the march.

Green, Mertes, Farmer.
Green, Mertes, Farmer. Farmer, Mertes, Green. Green smacked it to the 35, Farmer completed one to Coupee, and the ball was on the 29, from where another first down was easy. Green skirted his left end to the 22, and Mertes smacked right tackle for a first down on the Hoosier 11. Then, after a two-yard try by Green, Farmer raced wide around end with a lateral from Coupee off the T-formation to the 4, and Green worked the same play to the left for a touchdown. Tom Farmer kicked the extra point and the game was tied up after only two and one-half minutes of the third quarter had gone by.

That wasn't enough for Iowa. It kicked off to the Hoosiers, and immediately forced them to punt back to the Hawk 36. Farmer hit left guard to the 44, and Mertes slipped through right tackle for a first down on the Indiana 47. Buster reversed tackles to the 17. Hillenbrand was held to no gain around end, a Hillenbrand pass was incomplete, and another was only good on the 13 where Iowa took over.

That was the ball game, for Iowa forced Indiana back and back with an offense of its own, and with the aid of Farmer's kick which rolled out on the 9-yard line, forced the Hoosiers to make their last try in the shadow of their own goal posts.

HAPPY BUNCH

from one end to the other. It didn't surprise me. I knew they could do it when they got clicking.

"If there was to be an individual star named, the boys did it themselves. Red Frye came up, as did others, slapped Bus Mertes on the back and said, 'Swell game, Bus.' If anyone should know who the kingpin was, it would be Red, who played an outstanding game at center himself. Bus, while receiving the congratulations of his teammates, confessed to a few qualms, and said, 'Boy, was I scared. That six points looked awfully big to me.'

There were no injuries of consequence. Bill Parker had a slightly bruised shoulder, but will be all right for the Illinois game next week. Bill said, "I really like it, and from here on in, watch out." Ross Anderson was skinned up some, and Bill Diehl still had his charleyhorse, but that was the extent of the injuries.

Team Praises Hillenbrand
The team as a whole was full of praise for Indiana's sophomore star, Billy Hillenbrand. Bill Burkett and Ross Anderson both credited him with being as good a back as they have faced this season. Bill Stauss summed up Hillenbrand by saying, "He not only was shifty, but he had a lot of drive straight ahead. That's kind of unusual."

Jim Trimble, Indiana's 230-pound tackle, also came in for some praise by the Iowa squad. It was Homecoming in another way for Gene Curran. Gene plays had three first downs, and were embattled on the Iowa 26. Four plays only took the Hoosiers to the 18, however, and Iowa took over on downs.

Only five plays later, Indiana took over on Green's fumble on his own 28. Four plays only got the Hoosiers to the 21, and Iowa again took over.

Indiana Makes Try
Then Indiana made one last, titanic effort to pull the game out of the fire. It took over on its own 39, and although the Iowa line held, Jacoby threw a 17-yard pass to Eddie Herbert, and the little Hoosier raced from the 48 to Iowa's 43. On the first play after Hillenbrand found a hole at his own left tackle, and squirmed his way to the 19. White hit right guard to the 17. Hillenbrand was held to no gain around end, a Hillenbrand pass was incomplete, and another was only good on the 13 where Iowa took over.

That was the ball game, for Iowa forced Indiana back and back with an offense of its own, and with the aid of Farmer's kick which rolled out on the 9-yard line, forced the Hoosiers to make their last try in the shadow of their own goal posts.

Mud, Mire, Halfback Lets Army Hold Irish With Scoreless Tie

Mazur Leads Cadets, Who Outgain Foes, In Running, Punting

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK (AP)—Mud, mire and a hard-bitten Army halfback from Lowell, Mass., combined to hold a favored Notre Dame football team to a scoreless tie yesterday.

At the end of an afternoon of sloshing over the Yankee stadium gridiron all the players were so many mystery men, so far as identification was concerned. But there was no doubt in the minds of the 75,000-odd spectators that, obscured as he might be by muck, Cadet Hank Mazur was the star of the game.

Mazur Plays 60
Mazur, who last year helped another Army team ougfight it not out score the Irish, was one of the Cadet's three 60-minute men. It was his running, off tackle and around ends, that piled up most of Army's 120 yards rushing (to 86 for Notre Dame). Above all it was his punting, for an average of 39 yards a boot, that helped keep Notre Dame from getting into position for any serious threats.

With this showing Army, in its first season under civilian Coach Red Blaik, definitely regained its place in football's big-time. Both clubs had come up to this battle unbroken and untied, and what little edge there was in the game belonged to the Cadets.

The one real threat by either team came in the second quarter. On the next-to-last play of the first period Dippy Evans, Notre Dame's most consistent gainer, got off a wobbling punt that carried only 11 yards and went out of bounds.

Army Gets to 10
Mazur and fullback Johnny Hatch, another 60-minute man, made it first down on the 20 in three plays at the line. On the third play from there sophomore Ralph Hill brought it so close to another first down it had to be measured. He was stopped inches shy, and the drive fell flat as the soldiers were penalized five yards for offside, and Mazur was smeared yards short on fourth down.

Notre Dame, checked twice when sophomore Angelo Bertelli's passes were intercepted, got its break later in the quarter after three 15-yard penalties had pushed Army back deep into its own territory.

Finally Mazur, kicking almost from his goal line, got off a punt which Steve Juzwick returned 21 yards to the Army 28. The Army line held twice, then Juzwick went wide for eight yards and over the middle for three more to a first down. Notre Dame got only a yard further, for a man-in-motion penalty cost them five and on the next two plays Mazur helped knock down Bertelli passes.

Buckeyes Trample Pitt, 21 to 14, But Ed Jones Makes Things Miserable

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Heavily favored Ohio State yesterday trampled victory-less Pitt, 21-14, before 50,000 spectators, but all during the sizzling offensive struggle, Edgar Jones, fleet Panther back, haunted the Buckeyes like a Halloween spook working overtime.

Ohio State, running up a 12-0 lead in the first twenty minutes of play, needed only three plays to score 65 yards for its first score, Thomas Kinkade romping 33-yards for a touchdown.

The second Buckeye touchdown was carted over by Richard Burgett on a fourth-down plunge from 1-1/4 yards out after the Panthers had held stoutly for three plays following Fisher's 16-yard scamper to their two-yard line.

The Bucks missed both extra points but they made the scoring look so ridiculously easy nobody worried much. Then the Panthers turned loose elusive Edgar, the Scranton, Pa., scammer.

Starting from the Pitt 18 after the second Ohio kickoff, Jones sparked an 82-yard touchdown drive with runs of 14, 38 and 12 yards. The last of these dashes put the ball on the Buckeye 1/2-yard line from where Frank Saks bull-dozed it over.

played football with Chuck Jacoby, Hillenbrand's running mate, in high school, and as he said, "He sure is fast."

Iowa tasted sweet victory yesterday, and as Bob Otto said, "It feels swell." It was a great Homecoming for the fans, but it was even greater for the team. They erased many of the moral scars that accumulated in earlier games. From now on in it's all on the upgrade, and they will be in there swinging from the shoestrings at Illinois next week, and thereafter.

Three Old Men of Iowa Football Frank Pierce, Burt German, Dr. Henry Kallenberg Played on Iowa's 1891 Team

It was only fitting that the three old men of Iowa football should watch Iowa's Homecoming victory yesterday, for it was 50 years ago this season that they played on the university's first coached football team.

Those three men were Frank G. Pierce, Burt German and Dr. Henry F. Kallenberg, quarterback, left halfback, and coach respectively, of Iowa's 1891 eleven.

"The team of 1891 wasn't the first," explained gray-haired Dr. Kallenberg, "but we were the first ones to have a coach and to play out-of-state games."

"There was no conference in those days, but games were played with Grinnell, Cornell, Nebraska, Missouri and Minnesota."

Played Under Stagg
Dr. Kallenberg came to the university from a physical education school in Springfield, Mass., as a freshman student and athletic director of the Y. M. C. A. He was a student at Springfield under the memorable Amos Alonzo Stagg.

By BOB FRINK

After his arrival here, he was requested to coach a football team, since he was the only one on the campus with any experience. Dr. Kallenberg then proceeded to coach and play at the same time.

"When other schools say anything about Iowa disregarding eligibility rules," Kallenberg said, "just tell them Iowa was the first to make the rulings. They would not let me play my second year, because it was unfair to coach and play at the same time."

Furnished Own Uniforms
"We didn't have uniforms or dressing rooms," reported German, "but furnished our own clothes and dressed in our own before practice. We paid our own expenses on trips away from home."

"I hadn't ever seen a football, but I was the whole team," joked German. According to reports, however, he wasn't far wrong. German personally scored 52 points in Iowa's 66-0 victory over Cornell. "I still play baseball," he stated.

"You didn't quit in those days," German said. "You were carried off the field." He later went to Iowa State, where he again became coach. "I was coach when they got the name of Cyclones," he laughed.

Dr. Kallenberg now makes his home in River Forest, Ill., where he is in the field of prevention of disease and health education. German is in the real estate business in Des Moines and Pierce is secretary of the Iowa municipal leagues at Marshalltown.

U-High's Frank Zeller Places Second in State High School Race Here

State Interscholastic Annual One-Mile Team races for high school classes A, B and C were run yesterday morning with John Baxter of Davenport turning in the sensational time of 4:52 for a wet track winning the class A division.

East high of Des Moines won the Class A with a minimum of 23 points. Knoxville placed second and Davenport placed third. Last year's winner was Ottumwa.

U-high of Iowa City, last year's champ, was defeated by Onawa, 14-18. Onawa placed third, fourth and seventh against U-high's second, fifth and eleventh. Frank Zeller came in second for U-high with John Jacobs of DeWitt leading Zeller for the time of 5:06.5. LeClaire was fourth, and Avoca fifth.

In the Class C division, Harold Ellison of Buffalo crossed the finish line first with the time of 5:19. Minburn, 1941 champion, placed second, third and fifth for a minimum of 10 points. Ten schools were entered in this class. Buffalo was second, Shellsburg third, Stanley fourth, Martinsburg fifth and Center Junction sixth.

Syracuse Rolls Over Badger Eleven, 27-20

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Displaying a dazzling lateral passing attack and a brilliant running game, Syracuse defeated a favored Wisconsin football team, 27 to 20, before 19,000 chilled and dampened spectators yesterday.

Syracuse took the lead in the first period and never was headed though tied momentarily in the second quarter.

The Badgers, expected to make alphabet soup out of the Syracuse "Y" formation with its turn-around center, had trouble bringing down slippery and hard-running Orange ball carriers, principally Bo Heald, Tommy Maines and Leland Morris.

The first period opened with a touchdown by Wisconsin's sophomore fullback, Pat Harder, who also added the extra point after the Badgers drove from the Syracuse 49 without much trouble.

Two minutes later fullback Heald slashed off right tackle for 49 yards and a Syracuse touchdown. Charles McPhail missed the kick for the extra point, but Syracuse went ahead shortly after. Starting from its 15 Syracuse opened with lateral passes and scored in five plays, the touchdown coming from the Wisconsin 30 on a lateral from Heald to Halfback Morris. McPhail booted the extra point.

On the second play of the second quarter Harder fumbled as he started from the Syracuse nine and Quarterback Tom Farris, of Wisconsin recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown to tie the score.

Near the end of the first half Syracuse went ahead to stay. Heald recovered Mark Hoskins' fumble on the Wisconsin 13 and went left over from the four yard line. McPhail converted.

3 Touchdown Aerials Let Iowa State Win, 27-0

AMES (AP)—Sophomore Howard Tippee hurled three touchdown passes to lead Iowa State to a 27 to 0 victory over South Dakota university here yesterday as 6,000 persons watched the Cyclones score their second victory of the season.

Starting slowly in the non-conference contest, the Big Six Cyclones struck in the second period with Tippee unleashing scoring heaves to Bud Schalk and George Gast, other Cyclone sophomores.

In the third period a pass from Tippee to Gast clicked for the Cyclones third touchdown. Fullback Paul Darling led a 28-yard sustained drive in the last quarter to complete the rout.

The victory, Iowa State's first of the season on Clyde Williams field, was the Cyclones' only triumph since edging out Denver in the season's first contest, also a non-conference affair.

Higgins Tears 41 Yards For Winning Tally

Minnesota Collects Automatic Safety Early in 1st Period

By EARL HILLIGAN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)

Minnesota's mighty mite—147-pound Bud Higgins—took the controls for one quick scoring drive yesterday to send the Golden Gopher express rolling along the Big Ten and national championship roadway with a well-earned 8 to 7 victory over Northwestern's Wildcats.

With his team trailing, 7-2, in the third period, the diminutive Gopher back streaked 41 yards for the touchdown that ran Minnesota's victory string to 14 straight and made the victors a stronger favorite than ever to take the Western conference title.

That game-breaking play came so suddenly that the 64,464 spectators—largest crowd in Gopher history—hardly knew what had happened as they watched Higgins streak across the goal line.

The Gophers were five points to the bad after getting two points on a safety and then seeing Northwestern score on a second period pass by Otto Graham, when they took the ball at Northwestern's 41 after a poor Wildcat punt.

Bob Sweiger failed to gain, and the Gophers, literally racing to position, caught Northwestern flat-footed. Center Gene Flick whipped the center pass to Higgins and the Mite was around right end and down the sidelines, crossing the goal line untouched for the score that wrecked Northwestern's last hope for the Big Ten crown.

Surprises From Start
This battle—as savagely waged as any of a hard fought series—was packed with breath-taking surprises from start to finish. Not the least was Northwestern's half-time lead of 7 to 2 after the Wildcats had been widely outplayed through the first two periods. And after scoring the winning touchdown, Higgins came up with another thrilling ball-carrying performance which almost sparked the Gophers to a wider margin of victory and one which would more correctly reflect their superiority, particularly in the line.

The game—played on a field kept in good shape by canvas through a heavy morning snow—started out just as it finished, with Northwestern in the hole.

Breaks Beat Wildcats
Northwestern couldn't crack Minnesota's line and after punting out to its own 48, the Gophers drove down to the Wildcat 17 before Don Clawson intercepted a pass to temporarily avert the scoring danger.

Then came the break that started Northwestern to defeat. After Bill De Corveant had lost a yard at his own nine yard marker, a pass from center sailed just beyond De Corveant's fingers into and then past the end zone for an automatic safety and two points for Minnesota.

Northwestern fell victim to a severe jolt from lady luck midway in the second period. With the Wildcats in possession at their 27, Graham, who had just entered the game, streaked far to the right and then fired the ball. Downfield it sailed, with End Bob Motl making a great catch on the Gopher 38 and racing over the goal line.

But the play was called back, the officials ruling Leon Cook of Northwestern, an ineligible lineman, had gone beyond the scrimmage line. That kind of fortune would have taken the heart out of most teams, yet this game Wildcat aggression scored to go ahead before the half ended.

Interpreting The War News

Adverse Weather Not Only Factor Holding Up Nazis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Something more formidable than bad fighting weather delayed Hitler's armies on all fronts in recent weeks.

The Nazi war machine that has shattered army after army in its conquests in manner unrivaled in history, could not be thus held up by a disorganized mob of armed civilians alone.

Berlin has admitted bitter Russian resistance and ceaseless Red counter attacks everywhere except in the Crimea. Red forces seem not only to have made an aggressive stand before Rostov, but to have begun an orderly and fighting retreat east of Khar'kov in the Donets Basin.

On some sections of the Moscow front, Red army sources said, Soviet troops had switched to winter attack. But activity flared in the Leningrad area, where a stalemate has existed with Germans claiming a break-through in one strongly fortified zone.

Finnish reports strongly intimate, without saying so, that on the Arctic front northward from Leningrad the Nazi allies have halted or been halted. The Finns may have attained their own objective in territory regained, but under German pressure refrain from saying so as yet.

Far to the south, from axis-captured Odessa, come authentic reports of Rumanian troops moving westward toward home, not eastward to bolster the German advance in force. With Bessarabia regained, Rumania seems passing out of the fight except for a token force still cooperating with the Germans.

White the battle of Moscow still fluctuates uncertainly, and southward of its perimeter the situation remains obscure, there is growing prospect of a winter stalemate before or about the Russian fighting capital. It is not yet even half enclosed in the Nazi siege ring. Winter is moving up.

There is no assurance, however, that winter will halt Nazi offensive operations. Reports from the front yesterday said freezing weather had hardened the mud and facilitated tank operations. That permits panzer units—upon which the German army has relied primarily in every battle of this war forces.

EARLY WINTER SNOW HELPS SLOW GERMAN ADVANCE

One of the reasons for slowing of the German advance on the central front in Russia is revealed in this radiophoto from Berlin, which shows a German sentry standing guard before a snow-covered wooden shelter. For several days, Berlin has claimed that bad weather, rather than Soviet resistance, has been responsible for the lagging of their drive.

'FIRST TO FIRE'

The Kearny then attacked a German U-boat with depth charges, the statement said, before to punch their way ahead.

Short of that, however, over much of the Russian front the necessity of digging in now or very soon seems indicated for the Nazis. And there is grim significance to that for Hitler if so well informed an observer of the war as President Roosevelt reads the signs aright.

Turning back to Mr. Roosevelt's recent Navy day address, this excerpt catches the eye:

"He (Hitler) can be stopped and can be compelled to dig in. And that will be the beginning of the end of his down-fall, because dictatorships of the Hitler type can live only through continuing victories and increasing conquests."

Whether Hitler, actually forced to dig in for the winter in Russia, thereby would begin digging the grave of his own vast ambitions, is a matter of conjecture. He has never yet been forced to dig in anywhere except along the channel coast of the continent, always finding other fronts on which to strike instead of stand.

the U-boats acted in their own defense.

This report, the statement said, was based both on published statements of the United States navy and reports of German U-boat commanders.

In the Greer incident, the statement said, was based both on published statements of the United States navy and reports of German U-boat commanders.

In the Greer incident, the statement continued, the United States destroyer pursued for several hours "in close military cooperation with English naval forces," a German submarine and in the pursuit the submarine was attacked by several depth bombs while it was under water.

"Only after this attack did the German U-boat use its weapons. The destroyer continued its pursuit with depth bombs a number of hours."

U. S. Account

(The navy department's account said the Greer, shot at by torpedoes but not hit on Oct. 4, was informed of the submarine's position by a British plane which then dropped four depth charges in the U-boat's vicinity and flew away. While the destroyer was following the submarine, the latter turned and fired its torpedoes.)

Another statement, also released from Hitler's headquarters, assailed as "forgeries of the clumsiest grossest type" the map and document referred to by President Roosevelt in his navy day speech.

"There exists neither a map prepared in Germany by the reichs government regarding the dividing up of Central and South America, nor a document pronounced by the reichs government regarding the dissolution of the religions of the world," the statement declared.

Relations Unchanged

Despite the strong wording of these statements, however, it was said by spokesmen that they did not intimate any change in relations with the United States.

The statement made no mention of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James, a third U. S. destroyer which the navy department has announced was sunk Oct. 31 with only 44 of its 120 officers and men so far reported saved.

Authorized quarters, however, referred to President Roosevelt's statement yesterday that the incident had not changed United States-German relations, and said he was "suffering from an upset political stomach."

"It is noteworthy how cautious he has become," these quarters added. "Apparently he has the feeling that he bit off more in recent days than he could digest."

They said they had no confirmation of the Reuben James sinking. As if to emphasize the implacability of Germany's determination to press the war in the Atlantic, a German resume of operations in the past week said 151,000 tons of British shipping had been destroyed in the Atlantic, with planes and submarines sinking 35 vessels.

Attack on Roosevelt

After reading the statements to a conference of foreign correspondents, an authorized spokesman went on to make a more direct attack upon President Roosevelt, declaring:

"He has started plowing under American boys. He is mobilizing super in plain and simple formalisms . . . the one in mind is a gold gown with simple lines . . . and the only decoration being golden beads, forming designs which give an oriental appearance. So there you have them . . . we've taken our formal inventory . . . and we send you an invitation to make yours at STRUB'S FASHION FLOOR."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

What U.S. Learned From Army Maneuvers

WASHINGTON—The army maneuvers showed a dismal lack of coordination between the air and infantry—primary essential of modern war. The boys did not even have the beginnings of efficiency. Army was so excited it threw intensified efforts into three coordination training centers (Forts Benning and Knox and Bowman Field) just getting under way.

Lack of practice with the best equipped aircraft is given as the reason for the failure. We produced 1,900 planes in September of which 900 were trainers lacking the best ground communication facilities. Of the 1,000 top notches, most went to Britain.

Rumors are around that the aim of our bombers was just as bad in maneuvers but the generals are not worried about this phase. The bombers had to throw sacks of flour over the side in training with troops. They could not use flour in their bomb racks. But at Barksdale Field, Alabama, September 22nd, they staged an amazing demonstration with live projectiles. From 18,000 feet they unloaded upon old tanks assembled in an area about the size of two football fields, showing no larger than pinpoints through the bomb-sights. Everything in the field was completely demolished.

Nazi Threat in Spain

A more disturbing Nazi threat to go into Spain has been heard by the official ear. A special task force of the U.S. army and marines has been prepared to seize the Spanish and Portuguese islands in that case. The force is composed of a division of the marines and the first division of the army (which has no draftees and could go outside the western hemisphere). In command is the marine corps general Holland Smith. A second similar task force is being prepared in full secrecy.

The Spanish government is noticeably shaky. Food shortage is causing economic chaos. About 4,000 cases of typhus have developed among the civil population although these have not been publicly reported as yet.

High Hope for Russia

Stalin has been mustering what strength he can for two final desperate counter-drives. One is aimed to strike the German flank from the north between Leningrad and Moscow. The other was intended to drive a wedge into the exposed bulging German flank in the Ukraine.

Both the state and the war departments privately hold the highest expectations that the Reds will be able to maintain armed opposition indefinitely.

No Bombing Truce

Over the German grapevine comes information that Hitler has avoided bombing London for three months because he finds it too expensive. The loss of 10 or 15 bombers in big raids was not
