Defense Mediation Unit Decides No Union Shop in Coal Mines

Lewis May Call 'Captive' Strike Second Time

3,500 Naval Workers In San Diego Walkout; Officers to Step In

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A recommendation by the defense mediation board against a union shop in "captive" coal mines and an AFL strike on $35,000,000 of naval construction on the San Diego, Cal., area topped a series of major labor developments yesterday.

The mediation board voted 9 to 2 against the union shop asked by the United Mine Workers (CIO) in coal mines owned by major steel companies. The board is composed of four labor members—two from the CIO and two from the AFL—four industry members and three public members. Only those from the CIO favored the union shop.

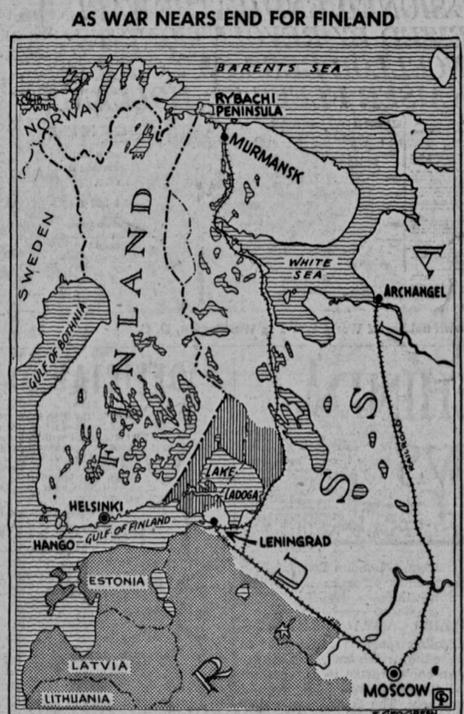

As defined in this instance, the union shop would permit the management to hire non-union employees but they would be required to join the UMW after a period of probationary employment.

President John L. Lewis of the UMW said he would have nothing to say on the board's recommendation before today.

A meeting of the union's scale committee, which has power to determine policy, was called Friday in Washington.

The issue was submitted to the board with the understanding that its decision would not be binding on either party to the dispute. This Lewis is free to renew the strike of 53,000 captive mine workers if he feels this should be done in the face of the board's action.

The San Diego strike was described by a navy official as "open revolt against the United States government." It halted work by 3,500 building craftsmen on hangars, barracks and a huge dry dock, among other projects.

This Central Press map shows how Finland's threatened withdrawal from the war against Russia may imperil the Germans' northern wing before Leningrad. If the Finns cease fighting the Russians probably will be able to reopen the strategic, vital railway line from Leningrad to Murmansk. The thin boundary line shows Finland's eastern frontier fixed by the peace pact which followed. The shaded area shows territory won by Finnish arms in the current war.

Britain to Support U.S. in Far East, Churchill Pledges

Warns Japan 'English Will Enter War Hour After United States'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON—In the midst of the Pacific crisis, Winston Churchill solemnly warned Japan yesterday that if she went to war with the United States she would be engaged to the death by Britain as well within an hour of her decision.

Speaking at a time that could not have been more important in Japanese-American relations, since a special Japanese envoy is even now en route to Washington, the prime minister loosed without the least equivocation or qualification this historic admonition:

"... I should view with keen sorrow the opening of a conflict between Japan and the English-speaking world. The United States' time-honored interests in the Far East are well known. They are doing their utmost to find ways of preserving peace in the Pacific. I do not know whether their efforts will be successful, but should they fail I take this occasion to say—and it is my duty to say it—that should the United States become involved in war with Japan the British declaration will follow within the hour.

"If steel is the basic foundation of modern war it would be rather dangerous for a power like Japan, whose steel production is only 7,000,000 tons a year, to provoke quite gratuitously a struggle with the United States, whose steel production is now about 90,000,000 tons—and this takes no account of the powerful contribution which the British empire can make in various ways."

This, an extraordinary pledge of Britain's resources and blood with none of the confusions and legalisms which have dulled Japan's mutual commitments to Germany and Italy, followed the prime minister's declaration that American aid had vastly improved the British situation in the Atlantic.

Report Reds Attacking Near Stoutly-Defended Sevastopol

Chilean Head Resigns Because of Ill Health

Leader of Radical Party Takes Over Presidential Duties

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—President Pedro Aguirre Cedra, who took office three years ago as head of the first—and only—popular front government in the western hemisphere, gave over the executive powers last night to Geronimo Mendez, leader of the radical party, declaring that ill health made it impossible for him to continue his duties.

Mendez first was appointed minister of interior, to give him cabinet rank, then Aguirre named him vice-president and turned the presidency over to him.

It was not immediately disclosed whether Aguirre's retirement was temporary or final.

Under the Chilean constitution, the minister of interior acts as vice-president when the president is absent from his post.

Leonardo Guzman, who stepped down as minister of interior so that Mendez could enter the cabinet, is a doctor and is reported to have urged the president to take the step. Guzman also is a radical party member.

There were unconfirmed reports that in addition to the bronchitis and gripe, Aguirre had suffered a heart attack.

Despite these reports and recent rumors that rightist elements were plotting against the regime, the change of leadership was accomplished with no sign of disturbance.

Important Northern Rail Junction Declared Captured by Germans

BERLIN—Strong Russian counter-attacks were acknowledged last night to have halted temporarily the German offensive upon Sevastopol in the Crimea, but important naz advances in the northern front about Leningrad were claimed.

Of the southern theater, the official German news agency DNB reported that Russian counter-thrusts had begun under cover of heavy artillery barrages, and that the numerous red hill-top positions were stoutly defended.

Subsequently, it was added, the Russians were thrown back from their starting points, falling by the hundreds, and pressure on Sevastopol was resumed.

As to the Leningrad front, the high command announced that German tanks and infantry had shot past the city to the important road and railway junction of Tokhvin, 110 miles east of a north-south line running through Leningrad itself.

By occupation of the junction, which is only 50 miles south of Lake Ladoga and just north of extensive swamps, German strategists said they had cut one of the secondary rail connections between Leningrad and Moscow not previously severed.

They thus disclosed for the first time that Leningrad heretofore had not been completely encircled, even by land, although they said bombing operations had made the line unfit for use for long periods.

It was recalled, however, that the fuhrer in his beer hall putsch anniversary speech Saturday night declared Leningrad completely cut off, and the high command said Tokhvin was occupied Nov. 8.

The staff of the fourth Soviet army was able to avoid capture only by leaving behind its automobiles and valuable papers, the high command said, and 20,000 prisoners were taken in three weeks of operations on this front. This brought Germany's total prisoners for the eastern war to 3,632,000, the communique said.

FDR Urges Congress to Hasten New Tax Legislation to Forestall Further Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed last night that he had made an urgent appeal to congress to hasten new tax legislation lest a large part of the national income "evaporate through inflation."

The appeal was dispatched to Rep. Doughton (D-NC), chairman of the house ways and means committee, which sidetracked last week a proposal by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for a new $4,850,000,000 tax program. This proposal, legislators said, would raise the average salaried person's effective income tax rate to almost 22 per cent.

Congress enacted a $3,500,000,000 tax measure, and some legislators, including Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee, have expressed the view that additional legislation should be delayed until next year.

Some members of the house committee have contended that the new tax bill was being offered in lieu of "a proper price control bill." Doughton, in a reply to President Roosevelt's appeal, said he was anxious to cooperate in finding a practical approach to the tax problem, but asserted that the job of perfecting a price control measure would require the full attention of the house for the time being.

The White House made public the exchange of letters between the president and Doughton in which Mr. Roosevelt said that "we must take immediate steps to absorb a large amount of purchasing power through additional taxes, and incidentally to pay cash for greater part of our defense production."

In an exchange of letters with Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee the chief executive added: "We must remember that taxation is a necessary complement of price control legislation, because the continuing effectiveness of price control is largely dependant upon the restrictions of the demand for goods."

British Ships Attack Two Italian Convoys Embarked for Libya

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—The smashing of two Italian convoys believed ferrying thousands of Axis troops and war supplies to Libya Sunday was described by British naval officers yesterday as the heaviest blow dealt the axis' North African "ferry service" since last spring.

A British naval headquarters statement said nine of the ten convoyed supply ships and one escorting destroyer were sunk and the tenth and remaining vessel, a large tanker, was left "furiously ablaze." A second destroyer was seriously damaged, the statement said.

The four attacking British warships all escaped without casualties or damages, it was said.

12 Killed, 40 Injured in Freak Train Wreck Near Kenton, Ohio

KENTON, O. (AP)—A half-ton cylinder head blown from a passing freight locomotive into the path of a speeding Pennsylvania railroad luxury train was blamed tonight for a wreck that killed 12 persons and injured at least 40 others.

H. E. Newcomb, vice president of the railroad, said that the Chicago-to-New York Flyer struck the obstacle before there was time to flag it down.

The big locomotive rocked, then plunged from the track and smashed a control tower at Dunkirk, 10 miles north of here at 10:19 o'clock last night.

The tower stood at the west edge of the little community where Pennsylvania tracks cross a north-south line of the New York Central. Rails on both lines were torn up badly, but service was restored at noon. One railroad spokesman estimated damage at about $250,000.

Ten of the fatally injured had been identified tonight, but authorities still sought clues to the identity of two women. One was in a mortuary at Ada, the other at Findlay. Eight of the dead, including Fireman J. L. Gephart of Fort Wayne and the unknown women, were killed outright. The other four died during the day in hospitals.

Daniel O'Malley, 1940 SUI Alumnus, Naval Air Corps Instructor, Dies

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Ensign Daniel H. O'Malley, son of Mrs. D. J. O'Malley of Glen Ellyn, Ill., 1940 graduate of the University of Iowa, died yesterday of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Saturday night.

The car he was driving left the highway and overturned several times.

O'Malley took elimination flight training at Glenview, Ill., from September to October of 1940, came to the Pensacola air station as a naval cadet in December of 1940.

Nazi-Occupied Europe Is Forced to Ignore Armistice Day Rites

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—German-dominated Europe will ignore armistice day except in unoccupied France, where the observance will be restricted to memorial services for the war dead.

German military authorities have forbidden demonstrations or celebrations of the allied victory of 1918 in Belgium and occupied France, and have taken strict measures to prevent any repetition of incidents which occurred last year.

Wintering Frenchmen Will Have Tough Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Porter, Associated Press foreign correspondent, returned from Paris and Vichy yesterday with the prediction that the French would experience one of the most rigorous winters in many years.

"With not enough food, fuel supplies low and clothing strictly rationed," he said, "the average Frenchman will have a tough time keeping even fairly comfortable, let alone warm."

Porter was in Paris for four years before going to Vichy early this year.

He said he believed there was more of a defeatist attitude in France after nearly a year and a half of occupation than there was for a time immediately after the German invasion.

Japanese 'Not Surprised'
TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese spokesman declared yesterday that he was not surprised at Prime Minister Churchill's statement that Britain would declare war in an hour if Japan became involved in war with the United States.

Finland Claims Her Sole Aim To Be Security

NEW YORK (AP)—Finland's chief spokesman, in a cable received here yesterday from Helsinki, reiterated that his country's fight against Soviet Russia is motivated solely by the question on security "which no third party can guarantee."

This statement from Vaino Tanner, Finnish commerce secretary, was considered a possible clue to the formal answer Finland would give to the warning of Secretary of State Cordell Hull to Finland to stop fighting the Russians or lose American friendship.

Tanner's cable was in reply to a request from Preston Davie, president of an American group organized in the spring of 1940 to promote Finnish-American goodwill, asking "reassurances" regarding Finland's position.

City Investigates Financing for $93,000—

Ralston Creek Improvement Plan

On motion by Walter E. Riley, first ward councilman, the city council last night instructed the city attorney to investigate the possibilities of financing, in coordination with the WPA, a $93,000 improvement program near the mouth of Ralston creek.

Riley's proposed project calls for straightening and widening the creek bed to form an angle channel of rock and cement. This would increase the creek's capacity, lessening the danger of floods and making more efficient the city's sewage disposal unit, Riley said.

At the present time, soil is continually washing along the banks, especially near the sewage plant and under bridge abutments. According to Riley minor improvements made at various points along the creek cannot be permanent and must be replaced from time to time.

However, the proposed construction would remedy most of the existing evils and would need very little repairs or maintenance work, he said.

The project could be financed through WPA grants amounting to nearly three-fourths of the total cost and by sewage revenue bonds. The city's cost would be about $23,000 Riley estimated. He said that Harold Sendt, regional WPA director, had expressed great interest in the program.

An ordinance requiring that all vehicles stop at school children's crossings when indicated by stop signs was given two readings by the council.

At the hearing on the necessity of the proposed sewer project in Holt and Oakridge streets, a petition bearing signatures of five property owners objecting to the program was received by the council and placed on file. The petitioners, O. K. Patton, Henry S. Houghton, Caroline C. Houghton, John T. McClintock and Frank Senska, stated that much of the proposed piping would serve undeveloped lots. They also said that the cost was excessive.

A petition asking the council to change a proposed traffic signal from the intersection of Burlington and Linn streets to the intersection of Burlington and Gilbert streets and another petition asking that the signal be placed at Burlington and Gilbert streets as originally planned were received by the council. The communications were placed on file.

The council received and placed on file a notice of filing in district court a judgment seeking $15,200 for personal injuries allegedly suffered by Ethel Cook when she fell on a sidewalk in front of 115 E. Iowa avenue.

A resolution authorizing the city engineer to purchase or contract for materials for which Iowa City has been given a preference rating by the Office of Production Management was adopted by the council. The Johnson county Red Cross committee was given permission to hang a cloth banner over E. Washington street.

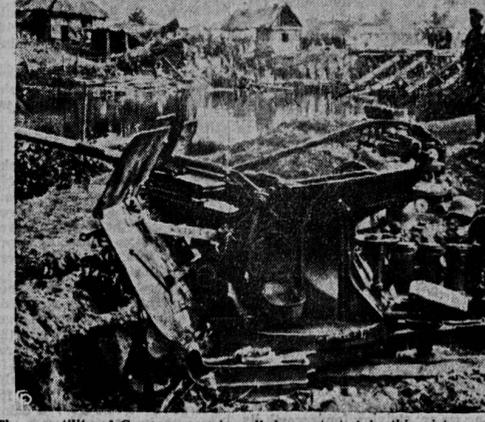

Fire Chief James J. Clark reported to the council that $8,953 was lost on contents and $2,860 on buildings due to fires in the month of October. All was recovered through insurance. The fire department answered 14 alarms in October.

The police department reported 105 traffic violations and 15 accidents in October. An application by Ben Monroe for a class C beer permit at 127 E. Burlington was referred to the city attorney.

The council approved a $10 per month raise for the manager of the sewage plant. Robert Mott was authorized to represent the city at a sewage workers' conference Nov. 20 and 21 in Ames. Claims totaling $21,474 for October were allowed.

The council adjourned to meet Nov. 24.

Mexican Officials Ask Arrest of Six Persons in Metal Smuggling Plot

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Six persons including names in the latest supplement to the U. S. blacklist were ordered arrested today in connection with the plot to smuggle contraband mercury and other metals out of Mexico aboard the Japanese ship Azuma Maru.

The mercury, used in making primers and detonators for munitions, was concealed in falsely labeled iron drums as was zinc, copper and lead discovered during the investigation of the mercury smuggling.

Armistice Day, 1918 and 1941--

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD STILL IS FREEDOM AS MANKIND FIGHTS FOR A REAL WORLD PEACE

Armistice Day, 1918.

On a dismal November morn 23 years ago, 10,000,000 weary and despondent men laid down their arms and tried to wash the crimson stain of innocent blood from their calloused hands. For four long years, they had been wading blindly in a slimy muck of hatred and killing—not knowing whom they hated and killed, or why.

And a deteriorated world fell to its knees and prayed to the Almighty, "Thank Thee for our salvation; the carnage is over."

Europe once again has undergone the rigors of post-war rehabilitation, and out of that chaotic period there has arisen a man—just as Satan emerged from the smoke and fire of Hell.

He has girded the mailed fist and iron club to smash Europe back into the Stygian dregs of sorrow and blood that are World War II. His steel fist has ripped the heart of European liberty from the breast of democracy and hurled it into the gutter to lie bleeding. He has commanded the titanic might of his fanatical armies against the last outposts of human sanity in the old world. But these dogged nations fight on and on, groggy and reeling, determined to protect the civil rights and freedom of mankind.

Today, we pay solemn tribute to those who fought and died in the slaughter of 1917 and 1918. They died trying to protect that which was so precious to them—principles of human liberty. They were told that they were the rightful saviors of democracy, that theirs was a war to end all wars. And they believed, and they died with this faith.

Armistice day, 1914, should bear a new significance for all men on earth. We have watched history repeat itself. Deeply imbedded in our hearts is the hope that righteousness will triumph in this recurrence of old evils.

Today we are again a part of the struggle. As before, only the strong in heart will pull through. But this we know: the principles for which we fought before are still the most sacred of all men's principles, and freedom will not die, for there are enough, here and in fallen nations, to whom freedom is the only hope of man.

When the superfluous is cut away, when men's minds react with their hearts, when man's last great hope is bared within its setting of misunderstanding and abuse, that hope, as always, is freedom.

Freedom will survive again. Armistice day will yet be meaningful. The hopes of man are pinned to that belief, and man lives on hope; without it he perishes.

We may bleed, and many die, before this is over. But freedom will not perish, so long as men believe in it, for when they believe in freedom they fight, and a fighter for freedom is the greatest fighter of them all.

Who will it be, where is he striding,
Is he under the sea, a submarine guiding,
Or hurling a plane through the Autumn sky
Watching terrain where bombs explode and people die?
Is he on the bridge of a hound of the sea,
Does he lie on a ridge, devoid of grass or tree?

Unknown Soldier II

Is he from Spain or Germany or Norway or France?
From Britain or Canada? Does he carry a Bengal lance?
Was his home on the Zuyder Zee or in Naples,
Or in Liege or under New England maples?

Who will it be, where is he striding,
Is there one who can see, is there one who is guiding
Another soul to a destined fate,
A marble tomb, and a raised bronze plate,
Where thousands will come to watch and gape,
Or place a wreath on special days?

International Democracy--

AN INDICTMENT OF THE INNOCENT AMERICANS WHO SPREAD THE STORIES WHICH DESTROY IT

National enthusiasm breeds general mental excitement, and America is passing through a day when a unified enthusiasm is becoming more and more compact and omnipresent.

Granting the necessity and all the virtues of unified strength in the project before us, certain disastrous outgrowths of such a state of mind ought to be consciously and scrupulously avoided in this war.

American men and women are not too far removed from their last war to remember with shame the deplorable errors committed in the name of patriotism in those days when emotion set its hand upon everyone's arm for better or worse.

Those of us too young to remember have heard our elders recount with distress in their eyes the physical brutality, the public mortification and disgraceful treatment accorded good, solid American citizens of German birth or descent. Lives and morale wrecked and undermined by suspicion are still in their minds. Nor is the Leavenworth of those years among their more glorious memories of American democracy.

They can yet recall the absurdity of wholesale rejection of German culture, and the years when the German language was barred from high school and college curricula, when all bearing the name or atmosphere of Germany was tainted with corruption in American eyes.

Today we stand firmly entrenched in our attitudes against Hitler, the Nazi philosophy, and those who believe in it. We have taken no stand against German culture. We are still entertaining on our lecture platforms, men such as Thomas Mann and Wilhelm Solzbacher—German men, but refugees from Hitlerism. All looks well on the public surface.

But the hoarse whisper of suspicion already goes round in the attitude of the average well-meaning but unthinking American, and settles, in his everyday comments, on the head of any handy though innocent naturalized or American-born German man or woman.

People love to talk. People love to create excitement. And so, over the country can be observed mutterings behind lecture programs, gossip over the bridge table, drugstore conversation to this effect: "There goes so-and-so—he was born in Germany, you know . . . grandpa says he is in sympathy with the Nazis . . ." Or, "That's Mrs. M. . . over there; did you know her husband fought in the German army in the last war? Do you suppose . . .?"

And then we Americans have a keen sense of humor: we can make anything ridiculous, and a keen dislike for Nazi blunders turns in many places into making the German people in general a target for our ridicule and sharp humor.

Attitudes like these have already become common. No harm in it? Not at the moment. But as the snowball gathers weight, size, momentum, when we find ourselves in actual conflict, then what? Inevitably, the same old story, and not worth telling just once more.

Ungrounded suspicion, a mean and narrow distrust within the ranks of American people, will undermine the quality of their goals—the splendor of their way of living—and corrode in more deadly manner the principles of democracy and fair play which they seek to defend than the insidious propaganda and sabotage which the Nazi government might perpetrate.

We are not fools enough to live in a paradise of unbounded faith in humanity and thus to leave ourselves wide open to damage from foreign menace within. But the average American citizen is not qualified to judge or to detect foreign "spies" or "saboteurs." That is why we have an efficient and ubiquitous F.B.I. to ferret out such influences in our national life.

The gossiping suspicion of the man on the street does nothing but breed unhealthy distrust and cause untold sorrow and distress, both publicly and privately, for victims who are for the most part genuine citizens of democracy. Those who are not can on the whole be taken care of pretty capably by the trained corps of the government.

We are not yet in the maelstrom of actual war. We still are cool enough to set up level-headed rules of conduct by which to govern our action in the days ahead, which are certain to prove difficult and trying for normal living. Tolerance ought to be the first to govern our thinking; and intelligent trust in the other fellow ought to be included; but decent respect for the dignity of the individual ought to be starred with asterisks on the list of rules for every American democrat.

If this thing we are striving for is worth its salt, we ought to be able to realize democracy internally now as a reality existing while we are defending it.

How Education Affects Pictures—

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—This was where we came in . . .

The scene for "On the Sunny Side" was a boys' clubhouse, improvised in an old abandoned bus. Roddy McDowall was in there, and a bunch of the boys who wanted to elect him their president because his dad was an important man in the war over in England. But Roddy would have none of it—even though it meant a personal triumph over his enemy, the ousted prexy.

On the sidelines, discreetly in the background was Roddy's mother. Roddy's mother was wishing she had the nerve to tell somebody in authority that Kipling's "Kim" would be just the picture for Roddy. But she was also thinking—out loud to me—that she didn't want to be a movie mama, so she wasn't going to put her foot forward.

Harold Schuster, the director, was putting the boys through the scene, with harried side-glances at the inevitable schoolroom and its waiting teacher—waiting to take over Roddy, his co-star, Stanley Clements (the kid from Brooklyn), and Ann Todd and all the others for their prescribed poses of education.

Roddy clicked with the studio in "How Green Was My Valley" and was being launched on his own even before the public saw it. A few years ago it was Jane Withers, fresh from a click in "Bright Eyes" with Shirley Temple, off on her own making "Ginger."

A few years ago it was Mrs. Withers, discreetly in the background, wishing and hoping. The director then was Lew Seiler, but the schoolroom was there—the schoolroom that still takes Jane and Shirley and Ann Todd and Carolyn Lee and all the other bright youngsters; the schoolroom that until recently took Linda Darnell and Deanna Durbin and Judy Garland; the schoolroom that costs a movie studio about $12,000 extra on each picture employing youngsters, because their schooling adds about four or five days to a picture's schedule.

HAZEL WASHINGTON, ex-maid of Garbo and Rosalind Russell, now "vice-president in charge of production" at her new leather-goods shoppe, always showed a proprietary interest in Miss Russell.

Shopping for the star, she would frequently surprise a clerk with the remark, "Oh, no. We wouldn't 6:45—The Inside of Sports

When Hazel read reports that Roz would wed Fred Brisson, she said, "Oh, Miss Russell, are we going to get married?" Now "we" are, of course.

JOE E. BROWN, soon to make a movie come-back in "Shut My Big Mouth," recently went to Canada for a broadcast short-waved to the rest of the empire. He was guest for a day at "Little Norway," Canadian training base for Norwegian refugee fliers.

The Norwegians, in deference to their hosts, speak only English, Joe reports, and occasionally get a little involved. For example, the officer who was his guide remarked that the day he landed in Canada he learned that his wife had just had a child. "But for several weeks," he said, "I didn't know whether I was a mamma or a papa."

He now knows, Joe is happy to add, that it was a boy.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Stalin Acquainted With the Hess Affair

WASHINGTON—Stalin talked as if he knew something about the mysterious descent of Herr Hess into England. No doubt he does. That mystery has been cleared in every chancellery in the world.

The story is that Hitler turned his back and let Hess go to London with a world anti-communist peace proposal. The idea was Hess's own, but he was furnished with a double tanked airplane, complete charts showing the way to England, and a full set of navigation instruments (not plentiful in nazidom).

Hess thought he could contact anti-communist peers and high-ranking Britishers to force a peace upon the British government. The plan he submitted would leave the British empire untouched. Churchill buried the scheme with the approval of Mr. Roosevelt. They recognized the project for what it was—a compromise with Hitlerism.

The Duke of Hamilton, upon whose estate Hess landed, has suffered from the incident more than Hitler's right-hand man. The duke was busy fighting in the RAF at the time, and since, has taken a severe ragging from British officials. Hess was removed some months ago from a London hospital to a comfortable place in the British countryside.

ALLIED CAMPAIGN FOR 1941—

Stalin's speech was designed to incite the British and Americans to open another front in Europe. But the suggestion has fallen on flat ears here. The British claim they have insufficient equipment although their secret production figures indicate they have made a sensational progress in that respect since Dunkirk. In any event, we certainly have insufficient power to start anything.

Around here the idea of an invasion through France or Spain is considered preposterous. All plans locally are projected toward the possibility of a 1942 campaign.

REPUBLICANS AGAINST WAR

At a not too widely advertised session of the 156 house republicans (only 9 absent) a resolution was adopted re-affirming the Philadelphia platform. The re-affirmation pledged the house minority to this following stated party principle:

"The republican party is firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign war."

Only four votes were cast feebly

F.R. ISN'T THINKING OF U.S. ECONOMY—
Senator Tydings gave expression to a cloakroom conviction when he suggested that Mr. Roosevelt has not thought out the economic results of his war program.

Disturbing to many a political authority here is the disinclination of the White House to take hold sharply of the price and wage problems, and the official inclination to let labor work out its selfish destiny.

The theory upon which the government is working is apparently based on the supposition that taxation will pay the huge debt in time, but little thought has been given to post-war problems.

Monday, November 17
4 p.m.—Phi Beta Kappa election, Senate Chamber, Old Capitol.
8 p.m.—University lecture by Major George F. Elliott, Macbride auditorium.

Tuesday, November 18

SUI to Debate Toronto Here

Dean Emeritus Kay Will Present Teams At International Event

The University of Toronto debate team will meet the University of Iowa here Nov. 18, continuing the Iowa tradition of an annual international debate.

Dean Emeritus George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts will preside at the evening session in Macbride hall. Dean Kay is a former graduate of the University of Toronto.

The Canadian team will take the affirmative issues of the question, "Resolved, That the United States Should Initiate a Reconstruction of the League of Nations."

Kirkland is president of the Victoria college union and vice-president of the students' administrative council of the University of Toronto. He was one of the representative students of Canada elected to attend the coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth, and is a scholarship man at the university.

TORONTO DEBATERS TO APPEAR HERE

DAVID M. HAYNE

The debate team of E. S. Kirkland and David M. Hayne from the University of Toronto will compete with Iowa in the annual international debate here Nov. 18. Both men are well qualified in the field of forensic activity and are prominent in their university.

Amendment Asking Still Lower Evaluation Filed by Fraternities, Sorority in Tax Case

Tax Expert Testifies City's Assessments Are Much Too High

After hearing evidence yesterday in the tax assessment appeal cases of 21 campus fraternities and sororities against the Iowa City board of assessment and review, an amendment was filed by attorneys asking for a still lower valuation.

The action followed testimony given by R. E. Adams, one of two appraisers for the fraternal organizations, who stated at the hearing that the valuations had been set too high.

used by the city assessor did not take into consideration the actual past, present and future market value of the property.

Seiffert stated at the hearing that taxes are a factor in the situation here because there are less men available here than on many campuses and the income per man is considerably less than in former years.

The fraternal business service manager revealed that some houses readjusted their financial position but that it remained more expensive here than at Iowa State college where assessments were less.

In their notices of appeal the fraternities, and one sorority, ask the court to reverse the decision of the board of review when it upheld tax assessments placed upon their properties by the city assessor in the spring.

WSUI Will Observe National Art Week By Special Programs

In observance of National Art week, WSUI will carry four special broadcasts, the first of which is to be presented today.

Emphasizing National Art week as a local observance, a round-table explaining the activities planned by the Art guild and students is scheduled for 8:15 tonight. Participating will be Alice Rohm, A2 of Glen Elynn, Ill., chairman of the Art guild committee on Art week; Bob Cody, A2 of Monte Vista, Col., president of the Art guild; Ted Seely, an Iowa City member of the Art guild; and Joe Cox of the art department.

On Thursday at 12:45 p.m., Prof. Alden Megrew of the art department will discuss the aims and purposes of National Art week. He will describe the part Iowans are playing in the observance, and point out the outstanding exhibits planned for the state. President Roosevelt's letter on Art week will also be discussed by Professor Megrew, as will the possibility of an "Art Year" instead of an "Art Week."

Professor Megrew, who is a student chairman of National Art week, will speak again on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 3:30 p.m., when he appears on the Iowa Union Radio hour with Mrs. Helen Foss, an officer in the Art guild and member of the art department. They will discuss National Art week.

"The Part Elementary School Children and Their Parents Can Have in Art Week" is the subject of a discussion to be held Tuesday evening at 7:15 p.m. by Mrs. George Coleman, local chairman of National Art week. Others on the program are Mrs. Mary Parker, art instructor in the University schools, and Charlotte Jeffries, who is in charge of all art teaching in Iowa City grade and junior high schools.

M. Buckner Becomes Bride of Gerald Hirt

Mary Buckner, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Buckner of Lincoln, Neb., and Gerald Hirt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hirt of Riverside, were married in a single ring ceremony in the Unitarian church parish Saturday at 5 p.m.

The Rev. Evans Worthley performed the ceremony. Wearing a gold crepe street-length frock with brown accessories, the bride had a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Russell Hirt, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She was attired in a powder blue wool frock and wore a corsage of pink roses. Bridesmaid Betty Buckner, sister of the bride, wore a black crepe dress with pink sequin trim and a corsage of pink roses.

Russell Hirt, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride attended Colby college in Waterville, Me., and was graduated from the university here, where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority.

The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Iowa. He was affiliated with Theta Tau, professional engineering fraternity. After a week's visit in Iowa City, the couple will live in Philadelphia, Pa., where Mr. Hirt is employed in defense work.

Fashion by the Meter

Means Fun for Your Money

By DOROTHY MAY MYERS

Fashion by the meter—an economic leisure!

By the yard you can measure off fun for your money, and you'll get your money's worth. Hop and stitch something for the 1-Blanket Hop. During odds and ends of time you can turn out something. No "static" need develop in your dress style if you can whip up a bright idea from a modicum of imagination to alter a dress pattern. Yet, fashion books offer an apothecary's variety—with all the decor.

A rayon moire basque bodice with a V-neck worn over a swirling skirt will be a corker on the Iowa Union floor.

To make a two piece black wool jersey dress would be simple. The pull over top is tucked in or out of the six gored skirt. Its three-quarter sleeves and square neck are okay with the blouse.

A "post haste" swirling skirt from red rayon crepe would require only a couple of yards. A bodice with convertible collar and full sleeves worn with this skirt

You can't stick your neck out too far in a black taffeta dirndl with a high round neck line. Cuffs on the three-quarter length sleeves will cut out of a fourth of a yard of striped taffeta.

Trim dropped shoulders on a two-buttoned jacket and seven unpressed plaits in the skirt front are neat as a withy.

Put up a green front in a long bodice with three dazzers for buttons. Let three unpressed plaits fall in the skirt.

Sewing can be an art—if you don't make bread.

Phi Sigma Iota to Hold Initiation Services Friday

'Dem Gopher Bums' Next on Hawks' Grid List

'Red' Frye Treated For Shoulder Injury; Will Play Saturday

Diehl, Curran Back, But Bill Green Rests; Gopher Plays Work

"Dem Gopher bums," in the words of one Iowa player, are next on the list of Hawkeye opponents, and the meeting Saturday before a Dads' Day crowd of over 40,000 will pit the Hawks against one of four undefeated, untied teams of the nation—Minnesota.

With this foremost in mind, Iowa romped through an extensive and spirited scrimmage yesterday, running out the kinks picked up at Illinois and looking over the powerful Minnesota offensive for the first time.

Line Has Trouble
The line had plenty of trouble stopping Gopher running plays, but the special defense worked out for the Hawks in practice will undoubtedly be ironed out in the week of work which remains. But yesterday, the scrubs, with Nile Kinnick and three freshmen, Dick Hoerner, Chuck Uknes and Tom Curran in the backfield, were pounding through tackle and around end off three different formations for consistent gains.

Only one injury cropped up from the Illinois game last Saturday, and that is not expected to keep the player from action this week. George (Red) Frye took a diathermic treatment for a nerve injury in his shoulder, which forced him out of the game because a blow deadened his arm.

Diehl, Curran Back
On the other hand, Capt. Bill Diehl and Gene Curran, regular center and guard, were back in first string positions after a week of absence—Diehl because of injuries and Curran because of sickness. Bill Green, who was forced from action with a knee injury, spent the workout in sweatclothes, but took his regular turn in the defensive drill, and will probably be ready by Saturday. Bill Stauss worked at fullback part of the time.

Iowa groundkeepers made sure yesterday that the Hawks will have a dry field to work on this Saturday, putting down the waterproof canvas before any rain or snow could fall. The Hawks would be at a great disadvantage, playing the heavier Gophers on a muddy field.

Freshman Cage Drills To Begin Tomorrow

Daily freshman basketball practice will begin tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, Coach Rollie Williams announced yesterday.

Coach Williams pointed out that all candidates will be required to furnish their own equipment for the time being.

Atlanta High School Gridder Has Scored 90 Points This Year

ATLANTA (AP)—If Clint Castleberry, record-challenging halfback of Boys' high school, were less efficient as touchdown maker, maybe he'd be much happier.

Castleberry, southpaw triple-threat ace of the undefeated, untied Atlanta last Saturday... Not only did he win himself a grand ball game, but it was the kind that's a joy to take—the type that builds morale, confidence and a will to win.

Team Scores 353 Points
The touchdown-minded purple hurricane has rolled up 353 points against none of its opponents, and is well on the way to a second straight unbeaten season. The scoring has averaged 44 points a game, which Doyal thinks is entirely too much.

Clint wearied of the whole thing after being benched last week-end at the start of a 46-0 rout of Jordan high of Columbus, Ga. Seeking out Doyal, he pleaded: "Please let me in there. Let me play guard. Let me play anywhere. I don't want to run with the ball. I want to play some."

Still at Half
Castleberry still is playing halfback, probably will start for Boys' high as usual when the Hurricane meets Hopkintonville (Ky.), winner of 20 straight games, in an inter-sectional match Nov. 28.

The 153-pounder is playing his last season of schoolboy football. His coaches say he is being sought by Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt, Alabama and Duke. And they're willing to bet collegiate opponents won't find him playing guard.

Hawkeye Varsity Cagers In Long Practice Session

Alternating four teams, Coach Rollie Williams put the Iowa varsity basketball squad through a two-hour practice yesterday afternoon.

The first half of the drill was devoted to offensive and defensive work, and the last hour was taken up with a scrimmage.

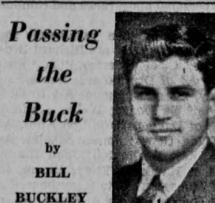

Iowa's reserve strength, about which Dr. Anderson has moaned all season, looked anything but impotent in the tussle... Of course, the second team came in as a unit after the regulars had pounded the daylight out of Illinois, but its work was highly commendable, and its ground-gaining performance was definitely past snuff.

Three Hawkeye left halfbacks turned in fine performances, Farmer, Jim Youel and Bob Bender all looking great... After Thumpin' Tommy had mopped up for 50 minutes, Youel came in to race around right end for 43 yards in a manner which definitely stamped him as a running threat, something he's never claimed before... He picked up blockers like mad on the trip, and only missed a touchdown because he tried to pick up one too many... If he'd continued down the sideline instead of cutting back, the last Illinois defender could not have pulled him down from behind.

Later Bender entered, picked up five yards on a run, and passed 30 yards to Jack Maher in the end zone for what was thought to be a touchdown... It was just one of those things that there was illegal use of the hands by some Hawk on the play, but it gave "Spotsy" a chance to show what a ball player he is.

Iowa's performance prompted Minnesota's Bierman to place two Hawkeyes on his all-conference team of the week Sunday... You can tell who the Gophers play on the succeeding week end, because there's always a predominance of the opposition's players on the team... It's not that Bill Parker and Bob Penaluna didn't earn their posts at left end and right guard, but so did a couple of other Hawks, who weren't even mentioned.

Iowa's last half drive not only gave the Hawks the edge over the Illini, but shoved them ahead in statistics over the whole season... At the half, Iowa had five first downs to Illinois' seven, 71 yards rushing to Illinois' 130, and 28 yards passing to 27... After the game, the Hawks had 16 first downs to 10, 288 yards to 163 on rushing, and 44 yards passing to 63... Yes, it was a great day.

Passing the Buck
by BILL BUCKLEY

It was a great day for the Hawks down at Illinois last Saturday... Not only did he win himself a grand ball game, but it was the kind that's a joy to take—the type that builds morale, confidence and a will to win.

Iowa won coming back in the second half with a terrific drive, and smashing the Illini right into the ground with power and precision... We couldn't help but think, as we watched, that the Minnesota scouts in the stands were getting an eyeful to take back to Minneapolis... Those Hawks were downright impressive, even considering the competition, and it's no wonder that Bernie Bierman was moaning like a banshee on his radio program Sunday night.

That's the big trouble with the prospects for this Saturday, we think... The Gophers know Iowa's primed to knock them off, and it won't be a lucky upset if the Hawks do win... They'll have to earn that victory, if they get it... By the way, Iowa fans, it's all right to talk about beating Minnesota, but don't bank on it... The letdown is too terrific.

Tom Farmer and Bill Parker came into their own last Saturday, and great things are expected of this pair the rest of this season, and all of next... Alongside these two, who made a Hawkeye passing threat a reality, was another player, a newcomer playing his first Big Ten game—Bob Penaluna... Penaluna, the key man of the special defense thrown up for the Illini, came through, emphatically... He made a slug of tackles, recovered two fumbles and generally made himself a first-class nuisance to the Illini.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Spills Phi Psis, 8-7, In Frat League Tilt

Sigma Alpha Epsilon's gridders nosed out the Phi Delta Thetas, 8-7, yesterday afternoon to win second place in section one of the class A frats, and wind up the season's schedule. Phi Kappa Phi holds the lead in the section with four wins and no defeats.

The Phi Deltas held a 7-2 advantage over the SAE's at the half-time. Early in the game, the Phi Deltas were caught behind their own goal, and the SAE's stepped into the lead 2-0. Midway through the first half, the Phi Deltas marched into scoring position, and Bob Hoffman completed a pass to Bill

The SAE's started the second half with a bang, and went into the lead, 8-7, when Burt Gardner nailed a long touchdown pass to Ned Willis in the opening minutes. The remainder of the game was evenly fought, and neither team could boost its score.

Upper B (2) Whips Upper D (2)
Upper B (2) established itself as champion of the third section in the Quad schedule by eliminating Upper D (2), 18-7, yesterday afternoon. Upper B (2), with a perfect record in four starts, led Upper D (2) 12-0 at the end of the first half, and held the upper hand throughout the game.

Frank Webb set off the Upper B (2) attack early in the game with a toss to Maher, who scampered the distance to a touchdown. Later in the period, Webb again completed a touchdown pass to Maher, and the Upper B (2) squad held a 12-0 advantage at the midway mark.

Butner heaved a pass to Moore early in the final period to start the ball rolling for Upper D (2). In a counter-attack, Webb rifled a pass to Tom Chukak, and the score was rounded out at 18-7.

Grover Downs Kellogg, 31-6
In the concluding round of section one co-op games, Grover established itself as section winner by topping Kellogg in a lopsided battle, 31-6. John Roalson, Louis DeGuise, and Bob Opheim made up the scoring combinations for Grover.

John Roalson set Grover in motion with a completion to Louis now scored 65 points to opponents' 51, gathered 65 first downs to 58, and 945 yards to 903 rushing... The Hawks still trail in total net yards gained, however, 1,149 to 1,191, because they have lost 64 more yards than opponents and have been outgained in the passing department, 288 to 204... Iowa has completed 20 out of 68 passes, while foes have completed 20 out of 78... In other departments, the kicking averages stand 33.8 to 33.9 in favor of opponents; punts and kickoffs have been returned for 610 yards to 499 in favor of Iowa; and the Hawks have lost 235 yards on penalties to foes' 280.

Bluehawk Cagers Open Season's Drills; To Play First Tilt on Vinton Floor Nov. 26

The U-high Bluehawks officially opened their 1941-42 basketball season yesterday afternoon when 30 boys reported for the first practice of the season.

DeGuise for six points. Roalson followed up with another touchdown, this time on the run. Bob Opheim pulled down a Roalson pass for the third score, and DeGuise received from Opheim to tally the extra point. Roalson again completed to Opheim for a touchdown, and late in the game Roalson brought the Grover total to 31 by racing over the goal. Kellogg's only score came early in the second half when Bob Pace carried the ball over for a touchdown.

Two other co-op games were scheduled, but Chesley forfeited to Gables, and Folsom won on a forfeit from Mansie.

Practice Starts Wednesday
Dr. F. S. Beebe announced yesterday that floors would be available for intramural basketball practice starting tomorrow. Teams wishing to reserve floors should call the Intramural office, X-491. Reservations for one-hour sessions may be made for 7, 8 or 9 p.m. The regular intramural basketball program will begin next week.

Fordham's Coach Has No Answer

Coach Jim Crowley Says Pitt's Win 'Just One of Those Things'

By BILL BONI
NEW YORK (AP)—"That Pitt football team," said Coach Jimmy Crowley, "certainly stuck to the de-emphasis program. Only this time they were de-emphasizing Fordham."

The Fordham coach, introduced as a "man who has been through an experience since you saw him last," was asked at yesterday's luncheon of the New York football writers to explain the stunning 13-0 defeat handed his previously-unbeaten Rams. The best he could offer was that it was "just one of those things."

"It wasn't overconfidence on the part of our boys, I'm sure of that," said Crowley. "I talked to our captain, Larry Sartori, the morning of the game, and to the rest of the squad before the kickoff. All of them knew they were going to have a real scrap on their hands, and told me so."

"Pitt scored on us early, and that seemed to rattle our club—which was odd, because against Southern Methodist, when we won in the last minute, and against North Carolina, when we trailed 6-7 at the half, they showed they could come from behind."

Team Didn't Click
"For some reason the team didn't click, and at the same time Pitt played as good ball as we've been up against all season. Twice Jimmy Blumenstock dropped passes, once when he was on their five yard-line and once on the 20. Another time we had first down on their 8, on pass interference, and fumbled. That's the way it went all day."

"But I know," he added, "that the boys were putting out, because when the game was over eight or nine of them were in tears—and when football players come out of a game crying you can be damn sure they've been in there giving all they've got."

year's guards were lost by graduation. Other promising boys include Calvin Stimmel, Bob Alderman, Emory Stagg, Bud Halverson, Don Wagner and Chuck Barber.

'Pedro' Sings 'Sweet Adeline' for Audience

Dr. J. Perrine Presents Most Advanced Creation For Speech Production

"Pedro, the Voder" advanced in one evening from the baby stage of saying "Mama" to the adult stage of singing "Sweet Adeline" in true barbershop harmony, to the amazement of the audience attending the Dr. J. O. Perrine lecture on "The Artificial Creation of Speech" in Macbride auditorium last night.

"Pedro" in all his electrical complexity displayed himself across the platform of the auditorium and under the operation of Miss Anna Mae Swenson, deftly imitated the voice of Dr. Perrine.

"Pedro," the most advanced creation in the artificial production of speech known today is not a phonograph that reproduces the voice—it is a machine whereby electrical currents can be fused to manufacture a voice.

"This machine introduces a new philosophic approach to matters and problems of electrical communication," stated Dr. Perrine.

The practical application of the Voder in years to come will be to use the machine in transmission of voice messages over the wire, as telegraph signals are sent today.

The same technique followed in natural speech is copied mechanically by "Pedro" and despite the "electrical accent," his voice has more versatility than a person's.

Dr. Perrine explained simply and clearly the mechanism employed in the process of creating speech.

In the Voder, the source of energy is a current of electricity. Instead of the vocal cords, there is an oscillator which generates a buzz rich in overtones that resembles a squawk. The fundamental frequency of the buzz can be varied to correspond to the change of pitch in the human voice.

Instead of the throat and mouth cavities, the Voder has ten electrical wave filters, which sort out the components of either the buzz or the human speech by their rates of vibration and allow only selected components to pass.

The apparatus is controlled from a keyboard. The operator, in order to connect the buzz and the hiss and produce understandable sounds, depresses the wrist-bar under her left hand to let out the exact amount of both currents required to produce a clear tone.

"Pedro" produced speech sounds by the combination of five controls. The sound source, or buzz, produced the vowels; the squawkers, three buttons manipulated by the thumb, made the consonants; the filters through which the sound passes determined the quality; the foot pedal controlled the inflection and when singing was produced, the vibrators were used.

J. L. Richey, of the information department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, travels with Dr. Perrine and Miss Swenson and operates the controls of the voice operator demonstrator.

Miss Swenson, the operator, evidenced her keen ear, skillful fingers and expert coordination when she made "Pedro" repeat the most difficult words Dr. Perrine used in his explanation.

Miss Swenson kept "Pedro" under perfect control through words like "concentration," "Macbride auditorium" and "extemporaneous."

The highpoint of the lecture was reached when Miss Swenson assisted "Pedro" in his rendition of "Loch Lomond" and produced a chorus affect in "Just a Song at Twilight."

World Will Pause Today to Pay Tribute To Those Who Fought in World War I

By CHARLES W. JENSEN

At exactly 11 o'clock this morning the world will pause for a few moments to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the great conflict of World War I.

The armistice which was signed on November 11, 1918 was perhaps the most welcome news the world has ever known, according to the accounts of the men who were in service in France and the people back home.

Louis F. Mueller, proprietor of the Mueller shoe store here relates that Iowa City was the most wide open town he has ever seen.

"Church bells rang, people were blowing horns, old autos had all kinds of junk tied behind them for the most noise they could make, and everyone was in the highest of spirits."

Schools in Iowa City were closed for the day, and students paraded through the streets carrying banners and filling the thoroughfares to capacity.

Dances were held in many of the public buildings in the city and the celebration which began at approximately 3 o'clock in the morning continued until midnight.

The declaration of peace was viewed with skepticism by the boys on the battlefield and the common folk of France according to American Legion members here who served overseas.

"We thought it was another hoax, so we didn't take the news too seriously," said Dr. C. W. Jiras of Solon. "When the French people finally were convinced of the truth of the armistice, they broke into a wild frenzy of excitement and threw vegetables and anything they could get their hands on in an exuberant display of relief from the long suffering," Dr. Jiras commented.

Donald A. Davis, who was in Flanders Field at the time word of the armistice was received, declares that the men in his company also considered the news as more propaganda, false reports being so prevalent at that time.

"When we finally did believe what we heard, we put our helmets on our rifles and waved them above the parapet. We noticed that the 'heines' did the same thing so we crawled from the dugouts, sat upon the parapet and smoked our cigarettes," Davis remarked.

Noel Harrison, who was in the Meuse Argonne, recalls that his company attacked on the morning of the armistice as they were not sure that it was all true. "Paris was in one big celebration for a week after the official declaration of peace," he added.

Clem J. Shay, stationed in Le Mons, France recalls how the many French church bells rang out, and how the people there fell on their knees and cried for joy when they met the American doughboys.

Today, 23 years after that memorable day, the world awaits with solemn silence the outcome of World War II.

Retail Store Remodeling Project Completed Here; Opening Will Be Today

Remodeling of Koza and McCollister's—once a meat market, now a streamlined grocery store—at 115 S. Dubuque street, was completed Friday and a grand new opening is being held today.

Improvements which have been made include the addition of two new meat counters, a modern counter for vegetables and a Hill meat refrigerator of the latest type.

A green and white color scheme is followed throughout the store, including the glazed tile front. The store is also equipped with fluorescent lighting.

J. Bradley Rust was the architect in charge of the design.

United Light-Power Announces New Head Of Local Company

Capt. John V. McKinney, executive vice president of the Kansas City Public Service company of Kansas City, Mo., will succeed R. B. MacDonald, former president of the Iowa City Light and Power company, on Dec. 1.

Roscoe E. Taylor, vice president of the local company, announced yesterday. MacDonald resigned a few months ago.

The new president will also be head of other public utility subsidiaries of the United Light and Power company in Cedar Rapids, Ft. Dodge, Ottumwa, Rock Island and Moline. Captain McKinney will have his headquarters in Davenport.

Plans, expected to be completed by the end of this year, are now underway to combine these operating companies into a single company, to be called the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company. The proposed consolidation will be one of the largest gas, electric, and transportation companies operating in Iowa.

Special Y.W.C.A. Group Plans Meeting for Today

The minorities and civil liberties discussion group of the Y.W.C.A. will meet with chairman, Lois Hamilton, A3 of Hutchinson, Kan., at 4 o'clock today in the conference room of Iowa Union.

Plans for the semester will be discussed. Special consideration will be given this year to friendly relations with the women students on the campus from foreign countries.

Any student interested in this topic is cordially invited to attend.

Roll Call Drive Of Red Cross Begins Today

"In this roll call drive we are aiming not for one adult membership but for a membership of every adult in the family," Prof. George Haskell, chairman of the roll call drive, told members of the Johnson County Red Cross executive board and roll call workers last night at their final meeting before the start of today's drive.

Roll call supplies were distributed to the workers and each person checked last minute plans with his divisional chairman.

The executive board approved the budget for expenditures from Nov. 1, 1940 to Nov. 1, 1941. The budget, totaling $2,727.64, included salaries, $635; telephone and telegraph service, $80.90; express and freight, $177.16; miscellaneous expenses, $206.61.

Sewing room materials and findings, $450.00; surety bond, $10; share of the mid-western branch in the 1940 roll call, $88.78; and purchases of text books, first aid kits, life buoys, emblems and subscriptions to the Red Cross Courier, $278.52.

Mrs. L. E. Clarke, chairman of the production department, reported that since the first of October, her committee had shipped 67 articles to relief centers. At the request of the national office, she added, her committee is working on an emergency call for hospital and operating gowns to be sent to Britain. The British reserve supply has been transferred to hospital bases in the Soviet.

Mrs. Julia Beyer Rites To Be Conducted Today

The Rev. W. A. Smith of the Methodist church will be in charge of funeral services at 2:30 this afternoon for Mrs. Julia Beyer, 69, who died Sunday afternoon at her home in West Liberty after an illness of several years. Burial will be at the Oakridge cemetery.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Robert Little of Camden, Ark., Mrs. O. W. Tripp of Salina, Kan., and Mrs. Albert Scott of West Liberty; two sisters, Mrs. Lillian Michener of Englewood, N. J., Mrs. Harry Richards of West Liberty, one brother, Joe Munday of Los Angeles and four grandchildren.
