GRENADIERS MARCH IN ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

The Iowa City Grenadiers and Bugle Corps made a striking picture, above, as they rounded Washington and Clinton in yesterday's Armistice Day parade. Others participating in the parade included the university band, one squad of the university Pershing Rifles and Iowa City Legionnaires. The parade formed at the Community building at 10:30, marched east on Gilbert to Washington, followed Washington to Clinton, where it turned right and approached the east entrance of Old Capitol. Dr. George M. Marsh was marshal. Judge H. D. Evans was the general chairman of the committee handling plans for the celebration and worked in co-operation with Lou Clark and George F. Zeithamel.

University Theater's Experimental Series To Premiere Play by Mrs. Sara Pryor

A folk tale of the great father of waters "Mississippi" written by Mrs. Sara Pryor, opens the University theater experimental series Monday night for six performances.
First nighters attending "Mississippi" will view a world premiere of the play.
Mrs. Pryor, head of the dramatic department of Grinnell college, went directly to Cairo, Ill., at the time of the famous flood and secured material for the river drama. She finished the play last summer with the help of Prof. E. C. Mable, director of the University theater, on the characterizations.
"Mississippi" is not a story of the Cairo flood, however. It is the story of the happiness and tragedy that enters the lives of all river folk. The Cairo flood furnished Mrs. Pryor with realistic material.
The opening night for "Mississippi" will be "Grinnell night." The author and members of Grinnell college faculty will be special guests.
Members of the cast under the direction of Professor Mable are Leroy Morgan, A1 of Cleveland, Ohio; Harry Grinnell Barnes Jr., Gerry Giles, A3 of Lamoni.
Barbara Hudson, A3 of Ft. Dodge; Rosa Reynolds, G of Gary, Ind.; Marty Lose, A2 of Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Anderson, A2 of Nashville, Tenn.; Julian Benjamin, A2 of Cincinnati, Ohio; Margaret Rowland, A1 of Dayton, Ohio; Jessie Bird, A2 of Aurora, Ohio.

CIO Protests Board Decision Against Union

Murray Says Action Denies Union's Right To 'Normal Growth'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Angrily protesting the defense mediation board's ruling against a union shop in captive coal mines, CIO president Philip Murray and an aide resigned from the board yesterday, and reports were current that the army was preparing to cope with any new "emergency" in the pits.
From Pittsburgh came word that an army intelligence center had been established in that area. This gave rise to speculation that the army might take over the mines if John L. Lewis, united mine workers head, signalled for a renewal of the strike which was halted pending the mediation board's decision.
Army Doesn't Confirm Fact
However, no confirmation was forthcoming from the war department. At Pittsburgh, it was explained simply that precautionary steps were being taken to survey the coal fields and keep in touch with miners and operators.
Murray and Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the mine workers, resigned from the mediation board and sent a letter to President Roosevelt denouncing the 9 to 2 decision against the union shop.
"It said it was a denial of the union's right of normal growth and legitimate aspirations" and confirmation of the traditional open shop policy of the anti-labor employers."
The two men, who were the only board members to vote for the union shop, declared the decision "makes it impossible for labor to retain any confidence in its (the board's) future actions."
At a press conference, board chairman William H. Davis defended the decision and said: "I hope to God the union will have the good sense to accept the recommendations."
The majority decision, made public last night, asserted: "The final and determining consideration in our opinion is that the past performance of the united mine workers indicates very clearly that they are well able by themselves to complete the full organization of the bituminous coal industry and the mature development of industrial relations in that industry, if their efforts to do so are not interfered with by management."

Report Aid-to-Russia Railroad Endangered As Germans Attempt to Isolate Vital Arctic Seaports; Leningrad Declared 'Walled Off'

Finns Reject U.S. Warning to Cease Fighting; Announce New Advances in Northern Sector of Front

HELSINKI—The Finnish government rejected yesterday the United States' warning to stop fighting Russia or risk loss of American friendship.
BERLIN (AP)—German-Finnish military successes on the northern sector of the Russian front were stressed by German commentators yesterday.
However, the German high command's statement that German and Finnish troops in northern Karelia had destroyed the bulk of a Soviet division and had taken 700 bunkers was heavily played up by the Berlin press.
While there were accounts of continuing action in the south, around Tula, the Crimea and the Black sea, the emphasis was placed on what appeared to be a steadily-developing strategy aimed at cutting off Russia's access to the Arctic ocean.
Military sources said the Soviet Union's Arctic seaports were being isolated to an increasing degree. (The main ones are Murmansk, on the Kola peninsula, and Archangel, on the southern shores of the White sea. Most ships carrying British and American supplies to Russia have been reported using Archangel.)
The Arctic is more difficult to block than the other water inlets to the great Soviet land empire because of the distances from the zones of active warfare.
However, German military spokesmen said tonight that German and Finnish advances east of Leningrad and operations in the region of Lake Ladoga and Karelia were cutting off the Arctic from the Russian armies, even though the main attacking forces were hundreds of miles from northern shores.
With the Germans now at Tikhvin, 110 miles southeast of Leningrad, and the Finns and the Germans making progress in the Ladoga area, these spokesmen said it was extremely difficult to bring American aid British material from the northern ports down to Moscow and the Caucasus.
It was conceded that war materials brought to Murmansk or White sea ports still could be delivered to Leningrad over Lake Ladoga, but the German commentators insisted that Leningrad, "walled off from the rest of Russia by German weapons," is losing military significance.
The high command claimed that in northern Karelia, Finns and Germans had destroyed large parts of a Soviet division after over-running 700 casemates in a sector not specifically located. It was announced that 1,200 prisoners were taken and several times that number killed or wounded.
The German radio said that SS (Elite) shocktroops penetrated the Leningrad defense ring, occupying 14 pillboxes and then dynamiting them as they retired.
The Crimea remained the scene of the hardest fighting. German sources reported that the Russians were trying to evacuate troops from the naval base of Sevastopol by sea and said the German air force was disrupting this.

Officials Considering Location of Bomber Training Station Here

The possibility that Iowa City may become a bomber plane training station, now under consideration by the national government, was revealed here yesterday.
Besides the hope that Iowa City may be considered as a possible location for a bomber center, local officials also seek to encourage the establishment of a north-south airline service.
It is reported that a local committee conferred recently with Senator Clyde L. Herring about the bomber training station. Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Sioux City are also being considered for the site.
In order to qualify for the defense station, the city would be asked to furnish the site, tentatively set at 1,500 acres. Runways would be approximately 7,200 feet long and army engineers would construct the base at a cost of between eight and ten million dollars.
The announcement said that 3,000 men and about 300 officers would be stationed at the base.

New Chilean Leader Flayed by Enemies

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Anti-administration forces yesterday attacked the qualifications of Jeronimo Mendez, who became acting president of Chile last night when President Pedro Aguirre Cerda retired temporarily because of illness.
Eduardo Moore, leader of the liberal party, declared in the chamber of deputies that designation of Mendez, who is leader of the radical party, was unwise at a time when Chile was facing "great problems in its political, economic and social life."

General Marshall Warns Nation To Guard Against Sabotage

WASHINGTON (AP)—General George C. Marshall summoned the nation last night to be on guard against a "sudden and widespread attempt" by the axis powers to sabotage the United States munitions, utility and transportation industries.
"Each sector is some 65 miles from Moscow, the one below and the other above the capital."
In the third major area of heavy fighting—around Tula, 100 miles due south of Moscow—action by the available accounts was bloody inconclusive.
Last night's Russian communiqué said that in the last four days of fighting on the Tula front Russian units had annihilated more than 1,000 Germans, capturing some field guns, 19 mortars, 300 cases of miles, 38 machine guns, more than 200 rifles, over 100 horses, two wireless transmitters and much other equipment.
"We should realize," the army chief of staff said in a broadcast on civilian defense week, "that the more we, as a nation, influence the course of this war, the more important it becomes for us to protect every phase of our national life against the efforts of the axis powers to deter or weaken us."
The citizens defense corps, he said, will serve "a vital purpose in completing our general organization for the security of America, and I am sure that it will exert a strong influence in combating secret and destructive efforts to divide and confuse our people."
Marshall said it was not difficult for persons living along the coast to see the need for an air raid warning service, but was "more difficult to convince people in the interior of the country that some of the most serious schemes for destructive action against our interests are possibilities in their midst."
"It seems best to speak very frankly on this particular subject," he continued, "the government today is constantly on guard against damage to our industries or their products, but we must be prepared for a sudden and widespread attempt at sabotage directed against the entire munitions industry, including the critical utilities and transportation facilities."
"Nothing should be taken for granted. We should assume that at a given moment wholesale sabotage may be attempted by the far-reaching organization which has secretly and ceaselessly been planning for just such an occasion."
Despite the "seriousness of the possibilities" of sabotage, Marshall said he was more concerned over axis propaganda methods "which for a long time have been directed against the development of our entire defense program."

'People Burning With Anger,' Nippon Press Warns Britain

TOKYO—The Japanese government was cautiously silent today in the face of the most direct challenge leveled at this country in years—Winston Churchill's warning that Japan's involvement in war with the United States would mean war with Britain, too, within the hour—but the influential newspaper Yomiuri declared the Japanese people were "burning with anger."
In the nature of the case and because atmospheric conditions had interrupted the transmission of the full Churchill text from London it appeared likely that official reticence would continue for some hours.
The press, however, was not so restrained.
"Britain," said Yomiuri, "is dancing to the tune of the United States and digging her own grave. The Churchill speech indicates British desperation. . . (Britain) is attempting to prolong Japanese-United States talks."
"The Japanese people are burning with anger and yet remaining in complete silence, trusting the government's high policy and iron will to cope with the situation. Churchill desperately attempts to

1941 Barnyard Fashions— Something to Crow About

—Brighten Fall Outfits

By PAULINE PARKER

Look into the barnyard for fashion this year. If you have a farm or garden nearby, fashion is all about you.

In the jewelry field, one could wear a necklace made of a steer's head—just a little number in gold with ruby eyes, to be pinned to her suit lapel.

If you like horses a good bet is a bright green suede bag with a wooden horse head and real horse tail. Another lapel sports a team of winged horses, midnight blue with gold tracery. These pins are like buttons.

Fall in Iowa hints of ripened corn, and you may find this idea carried out on date dresses. Ears of corn nestled in green husks form a decorative idea for one date dress. Grapes clustered about the neckline adorn another.

It is a well known fact that women's hats may be as extreme as the wearer desires and still be in vogue. One shop shows a hat glorifying a rooster, and quite a hat it is too. Bluebirds or butterflies flit about the crown.

One young thing wears a black porcelain goat—a gift—just be-

Plans for Construction of the Municipal Swimming Pool Abandoned by City Council

Give Lack of Steel As the Main Reason For Dropping Plans

Lack of steel, due to defense priorities, is the main reason for abandonment of plans for construction of a municipal pool for Iowa City, Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock said yesterday.

It was announced that the necessary steel needed in the pool construction is difficult to get at this time when defense needs are so urgent. It is doubtful even if steel were available in the near future that the pool could be finished before early summer.

Since other materials are obtainable now, councilmen believed it to be the best policy to make other city improvements that do not need steel in their construction.

It was the general opinion of the council that improvement of the Ralston creek project should be considered. Another suggestion offered was further needed construction at the Iowa City airport.

No application has been made for a WPA grant for the swimming pool project, councilmen explained, because it was believed that with the shortage of steel now the pool could not be completed by early summer as first planned.

In a special election, Sept. 5, voters approved the construction of a municipal pool, and it was hoped then that the pool would be ready some time during the month of June.

After the special election, councilmen hoped to obtain a minimum grant of 55 per cent from the WPA on the proposed $32,500 project.

The city proposed to issue bonds for the remainder of cost with bonds hearing two to two and three-quarters per cent interest. Per capita cost was expected to be less than $1 a year.

Mayor Willenbrock indicated that as soon as steel became more readily obtainable and defense needs were not so tremendous, the committee in charge would make arrangements to take up the matter.

Red Cross Nursing Director to Conduct One Day Conference

Rebecca Pond, Red Cross mid-western assistant director of nursing services, will conduct a one day disaster nursing institute conference, Nov. 17, at the Westlawn Nurses' residence Lois B. Corder, chairman of the Iowa Red Cross nursing service, announced yesterday.

According to Miss Corder, the institute is being held for the purpose of familiarizing nurses who have had previous disaster training with certain procedures and policies regarding the routine of Red Cross disaster nursing. Meetings will be held at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

"Disasters and epidemics frequently tax the regular nursing facilities of a community beyond their strength. At such times there is need that the nursing services of a community be supplemented temporarily by nurses who are well qualified and can be reached immediately.

"To facilitate this the Red Cross maintains a roll of all nurses who have not signed their willingness to serve, but have met the necessary qualification," Miss Corder explained.

While with the organization, Conference Director Rebecca Pond, has had extensive experience in nursing supervision during major flood, tornado and other disaster operations in the midwest.

She joined the Red Cross national organization as an itinerant nurse in Nebraska and Colorado. For several years she was nursing consultant for Red Cross chapters and state and local nursing committees. Her present appointment was received this year.

Expect the Completion Of Fraternities Tax Case Testimony Today

Attorneys of Plaintiffs Plan to Enter Oral Arguments Tomorrow

Testimony is expected to be completed today in the tax appeal cases of 21 fraternities and sororities against the Iowa City board of assessment and review, protesting that the tax assessments are discriminatory and asking the court to reverse the decision of the board.

So far in the hearing, which started Monday, Ralph Adams, realty dealer, William G. Seiffert, fraternity business manager, and Assessor William J. White have testified on property values, the fraternal business setup and computation of assessments.

Adams cited reasons that unless tax rates were reduced on the fraternity properties the county and city will be forced to take them.

He stated that city property assessments were considerably lower and that due consideration was not given to actual value of the houses operating as homes for university men and women.

Furthermore, Adams pointed out that it would be too costly to convert the buildings into apartments. He testified that it would cost over $25,000 to convert the buildings that were constructed solely for sorority and fraternity purposes.

In the original petitions, the fraternal groups declared that the assessed value of their property was out of proportion to their income and that assessments should be reduced or removed because they are non-profit organizations.

After the Sigma Nu fraternity filed the first petition, 20 other houses followed in the mass protest against the city board's assessments. The city refused to make assessment changes at their special meeting May 23.

Following the presentation of testimony today, it is expected that oral arguments will be presented tomorrow by attorneys for the fraternities and city and county.

Judge James P. Gaffney is hearing the appeal.

Gopher Ground Plays Click Against Hawks In Long Scrimmage

Passing the Buck by BILL BUCKLEY

Here's the latest sports release from the University of Minnesota News service, edited by Dick MacMillan

Minneapolis—Note to Coach Eddie Anderson and Iowa Hawkeyes: Don't spend all your time this week concentrating on ways and means of halting that power and relentless Gopher game along the ground... True, the Minnesotans still roll along with their old, irrestistible backs and sweeps, but they have a new and to date successful variation in their pattern of getting the football over the goal line.

For example, in their last three games against Michigan, Northwestern and Nebraska, the Gophers have maintained an undefeated record with a pair of passes, a trick play, a safety, and a field goal... You'll admit those are rather strange touchdown tools for Minnesota.

Of course, it has been the injury list of two key Gopher backs that is primarily the cause of the variation in the Minnesota attack... At this writing, the big question is the availability of Smith and Frickey for the game with the Hawkeyes... The answer is important for two reasons: First, because their return will put Minnesota at full strength for the first time in a month, and second, because Smith must necessarily get back into action to protect his all-star ratings.

"There is a good chance that Smith will be back in the lineup by Saturday, and the same goes for Frickey... Meanwhile, it is worthy of note that the Gophers have run their consecutive victory string to 15 games with a backfield composed of two quarterbacks and two fullbacks."

That last paragraph sort of puts Iowa's chances for the game in a different light, doesn't it, Hawkeye fans?... But then you weren't thinking that it'd be nice to sneak past Minnesota when it wasn't up to snuff, were you?... Wouldn't it be so much better to beat "Dem Gopher Bums" at full strength, when no excuses or alibis could be offered?... And, on the other hand, if the Hawks are beaten, it'd certainly look better if they're whipped by the Gopher first string, not a bunch of jump-bled subs.

Mental attitude will play the most important part in that classic Saturday, we believe, especially at the starting whistle... If the Hawks can knock Minnesota on its collective ears from the start, and are keyed up and ready to shoot right on through, we'd rate them as having an even chance... Otherwise, it's no go, for the Gophers have too much reserve power and too much confidence in their own ability to give up without being shocked into it.

Received a letter from Ned Poyneer, who graduated from the institution in 1938... The other day, with a clipping from a Chicago newspaper about an incident connected with Judge Mike McKinley's reelection to the superior court of Illinois... "Mr. Hinkey Quill's greetings to Chief Justice Michael McKinley of the Superior Court, after his fine showing in Tuesday's election: Congratulations, Judge. You ran like Iowa..." Ned also says to "get that spirit at Iowa to be consistent with last Saturday's, win or lose"... and you can bet your boots, Ned, with Minnesota as an opponent, that it will.

Nary an Iowa man is listed in the latest weekly compilation of conference football marks by the Big Ten service bureau... Departments included are scoring, rushing, passing and total offense for individuals... That can be directly attributed to that mid-season slump, in which the team lost two games it wouldn't now, and there's no doubt that if the upward surge continues, Iowa men will make the ratings.

In team pairings, however, the Hawks came through, even though the showing was not so good... In conference games alone, Iowa rates ninth offensively and third defensively... That means there are eight teams ahead in offensive gains, but only two in defensive showings... Minnesota ranks first in both offense and defense, Wisconsin is second in offense and Purdue is second on defense.

It's interesting to compare the

Two former tackles, Joe Byrd and Al Urban, were shoved into first string guard posts by Coach Eddie Anderson in yesterday's workout, adding plenty of weight to the forward wall and giving the Hawks two able replacements to spell the pounding expected from a grinding Minnesota attack.

It was not expected that Byrd, who asked to be converted into a guard so as to see some action, and Urban, regular right tackle in the first three games of the season, would start the game, but since both regular guards are light, the new pair will undoubtedly see plenty of action.

Curran, Anderson Light
Gene Curran, who weighs 185, and Ross Anderson, who tips the scales at 180, were with the second team in yesterday's workout. Urban weighs 215, and Byrd 210.

Iowa went through another extensive offense and defense drill, with the first two teams getting another look at Minnesota plays, which were highly successful for the second straight day.

All on the injury list were back in uniform yesterday with the exception of Bill Green, who spent the session in sweatclothes. He is nursing a twisted knee, but took his regular turn on defense and will be ready to go Saturday. Bill Stauss spelled him on offense most of the time.

Frye Comes Back
George Frye took an active part in the drill, after missing Monday while taking heat treatment for a nerve injury in his shoulder. All the rest of the Hawks are in top shape.

Only two more heavy days of work await the team before it meets Minnesota Saturday. Friday's workout will undoubtedly be light. That means the Hawks will have to build their defense to far greater heights in two drills than have been achieved in the first two. The scrubs have shown none of a dangerous Gopher passing attack, and the ground game has found wide holes in the line, even in dummy scrimmage.

Fifteen special trains will arrive in Iowa City Saturday, and a crowd of upwards of 40,000 is expected to attend. Seven specials from Minneapolis alone will bring Gopher rooters and their band.

Broncos Broken, 21-19
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Santa Clara's resilient Broncos bowed to the University of Oregon football team yesterday, but it was the accurate place-kicking toe of utility fullback Jim Newquist that turned the trick, 21 to 19, before a crowd of 16,000 fans.

The Broncos came to life with a terrific passing game late in the third period after Oregon had scored three times and converted three times. The time clock came to Oregon's rescue after Santa Clara, which once completed nine passes in a row, had scored its third touchdown.

game marks of Minnesota and Iowa... The Gophers have only played three conference games to Iowa's five, but have scored 49 points to the Hawks 43... At the same time, they've allowed only 13 points to Iowa's 43... They've totalled 302.3 net yards per game so far, and the Hawks have only gathered 147.6... Even in passing, supposedly the weak spot of their offense, the Gophers have picked up 42 yards per game to Iowa's 32.8.

On pass defense, however, Iowa is far out in front, second only to Purdue, the leader... While opponents have completed only .377 per cent of their passes against Minnesota, Iowa's foes have completed only .256 per cent of the time... This may put Iowa at some advantage, for if Tom Farmer can keep connecting on passes, the Hawks may cause a lot of trouble.

Leads Scribes' Vote For Americans' Best During 1941 Season

Bob Feller, Williams Draw But Nine Votes From 24-Man Board

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Di Maggio, the New York Yankees' blasting outfielder, was the American league's most valuable player in 1941.

So decided a committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, which announced yesterday the selection of the 6-foot 2-inch Italian slugger for this honor—the second time in three years.

Passed over were Boston's Red Williams, the league's leading hitter, and Cleveland's Bob Feller, whose pitching victories were high in the circuit.

Di Maggio batted .357 in 139 games in 1941, but he was more outstanding because of his record-making feat of hitting safely in 56 consecutive games.

Joe is a native of California and will be 27 years old Nov. 25. He has been with the Yankees for six seasons and never has hit under .300.

Promotion of Material Science Necessary For Post-War Peace, Says Prof. G. Davies

Work in Laboratories Essential to Defense, Economist Declares

By JOHN R. TRUITT

In the postwar world that is now being envisioned by the peace-minded countries of the world, material science must be promoted as never before in order to maintain defensive power, Prof. George R. Davies of the University of Iowa believes.

Professor Davies is head of the bureau of business research in the college of commerce. He juggles figures, watches the rise and fall of businesses and industry throughout the country and keeps a close tab on the economic activity at home and abroad.

"Though the most critical phases of the struggle may still lie ahead, the outlook for the democratic way of life does not appear as dark as it did a year ago after the collapse of France and the bombing of a seemingly helpless Britain," he said.

Superior Production
"Our factories, when fully utilized," Davies added, "turn out half the industrial products of the world. Now that their energies are swinging chiefly to implements of war—implements generally superior to those produced elsewhere—the tide of the battle may turn."

Serious thought is also being turned to the past to discover the steps by which Europe descended to its present plight, he commented. He related the following brief history of modern Europe, showing how, in an economic sense, Germany came to blows with the rest of the continent:

"The first significant change came when science was applied to business. With the advent of effective power machinery, apparently the hopes and travail of past centuries in Christian Europe were coming to fruition.

Catastrophic Change
"Then came that catastrophic change in European ideals which characterized the nineteenth century. In trade, 'to get more than you give' was honored as the creative profit motive. Might not only made right; if successful, it was by that token defined as right. Cunning and deception were the laudable characteristics of business success.

"Gradually the reaction took shape. First a sentimental socialism protested, with some slight results, inhuman 'stunt' conditions. This was eventually replaced by various creeds of so-called 'scientific socialism,' which in effect declared war on capital and sought its confiscation by a proposed totalitarian state.

Fast-Spreading Creeds
"The new creeds spread fast, particularly in the industrial centers of continental Europe. Instead of cooperation between capital and labor, bitter strife ensued. Thus the so-called 'business cycle' in Europe became a phase of the class struggle.

"Nineteenth century philosophies reached their natural goal in twentieth century Germany. Cynical toward the claims of both capital and labor, and particularly toward religious idealism, German leaders concluded that strife is the law of nature, 'every war is a good war.' 'Eventually they united capital and labor by proclaiming the Germans to be superior race, and by adopting world military domination as the national objective. They implemented this objective by the development of an efficient military machine, backed by an already highly developed corporate business system, which, more than any other European system, used organized laboratory science.

"Hence the present challenge to world freedom."

Electron Microscope Subject of RCA Film

The new electron microscope is the subject of "Unseen Worlds," a film produced by RCA which will be distributed by the visual instruction department.

Electrons instead of light rays and electrostatic fields instead of glass lenses make this instrument capable of magnifying to 100,000 diameters. Formerly scientists were limited by the fact that light rays are longer than some of the smallest things. Light itself limited sight. Electrons, tiny charges of electricity, have solved this difficulty. Electron microscopes have opened up great areas of the unseen world to the eyes of scientists. Now the viruses of disease, the structure of industrial products and even molecules will be studied.

Recent studies indicate that highway transportation furnishes employment to 6,700,000.

According to Professor Strother, about 70 in-patient cases of psychological and speech maladjustment are treated regularly by the clinic staff during a university session. Approximately seven persons are brought in each week for examination only.

Professor Strother returned to Iowa in 1939 after receiving his doctor's degree here in 1935.

He is a member of Sigma Chi, Phi Beta Kappa, American Psychological association, National association of teachers of speech and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Expert Asserts Iowa Coal Not Inferior In Thermal Content

Iowa coal, if well prepared and properly burned, is not inferior to competing out-of-state coals in British thermal content, ash and smoke content, storage qualities and coking properties, according to Prof. H. L. Olin of the chemical engineering department. Professor Olin is in charge of Iowa coal utilization research.

Tests, which cover geological field and laboratory work on the coal beds of Iowa, and the associated clays, shales, sandstones, and limestones, is being carried on by Prof. A. C. Tester of the geology department of the University of Iowa and Prof. L. M. Cline of Iowa State college. Mapping of coal-bearing formations has been completed.

Candy Campaign For Camp Claiborne On Thanksgiving

Following up their cookie campaign of a few months ago, women of Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota will send "candy to Claiborne" Thanksgiving day under a plan recently approved by Maj. DeLoss Marken, 34th division chaplain at Camp Claiborne, La.

Pointing out that the regular army menu does not provide for candy on Thanksgiving, although unit commanders may purchase sweets from company or battery funds, Marken urged mothers, wives, sweethearts and friends of the soldiers at Camp Claiborne to send them gifts so that they will arrive before the Thanksgiving week end.

When residents of the four states sent cookies to the men at Camp Claiborne several months ago, three additional mail trucks were needed to handle the great volume of packages for the several days during which the bulk of the packages arrived.

Expecting an even greater response for the Thanksgiving program, Chaplain Marken anticipates a package for each man in the division. If so, this means that 8,000 packages will be sent from Iowa.

Gifts for Iowans may be sent directly to the soldier or simply to the Iowa regiment, Camp Claiborne, La.
