House Approves Neutrality Revision

Navy Ready to Arm Merchant Vessels at Roosevelt's Signal

Expanded Operations On Sea, Air Routes To Britain Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A general and rapid expansion of American naval and military activity along the sea and air routes to Britain is expected in authoritative quarters to follow the revision of the neutrality act.

With the navy all set to start placing guns and gun crews on merchant ships as soon as President Roosevelt gives the signal, and with the maritime commission ready to extend its routes of commercial operations for the first time since the war began, Secretary Knox strongly indicated last night the scope of enlarged operations.

Declaring that the house action yesterday holds out "greatly increased promise of ultimate victory," Knox asserted that it means this country itself can now determine how its merchant ships can best be used to get war supplies to any part of the world "where they can be usefully employed" against the axis powers.

In other quarters, probable steps in the expansion of operations were said to include:

(1) Extension of naval and air patrols and convoy escorts the rest of the way across the Atlantic to the British Isles. These American protective measures now operate only to the waters adjacent to Iceland.

(2) Establishment of United States bases on the British Isles, or joint U.S.-British use, as necessary, of the bases already there.

Other steps, it was said, might include:

(1) Operation of American convoys through Gibraltar to Britain's Mediterranean ports, thereby cutting the time of deliveries for Egypt which now are routed around Africa to Red Sea ports.

(2) U.S. army delivery of bombers across the Atlantic to Britain. This would be merely an extension (which some air officers have long expected and which others describe as unnecessary) of the army's present inland ferry command that now flies planes from factories to Atlantic coast departure points.

'Government Will See Coal Affair Through,' Roosevelt Declares

F. R. Hints Shut-Down Of Captive Coal Mines Will Not Be Allowed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, with a labor crisis obviously at hand, expressed belief yesterday that the government had the backing of an overwhelming majority of the public, including workers, and declared: "the government proposes to see this thing through."

The chief executive's assertion was made in a letter to the house where, in the midst of a bitter debate over foreign policy, some members were bluntly expressing unwillingness to vote far-reaching amendments of the neutrality act until the government took stronger measures against strikes.

To many, the communication seemed to carry a broadly-stated promise, although the only specific assurance it contained was that Mr. Roosevelt did not propose to permit a shut-down of the captive coal mines which supply fuel for steel mills.

In his letter, President Roosevelt noted that he had a conference scheduled for today with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (CIO), other miners' executives, and representatives of steel companies. This conference might be successful, he said.

"But if it is not successful," he added, "it is obvious that this coal must be mined in order to keep the essential steel mills at work."

The president mentioned no means of keeping the mines in operation, but there have been reports that the army was surveying them so that, if it were called on, it would be prepared to take them over.

The White House conference is set for 10:15 a.m. At 9 a.m., the 200 members of the United Mine Workers' policy committee are to meet at union headquarters here to consider the refusal of the defense mediation board to recommend a union shop in the coal mines owned by steel companies.

The only apparent alternative to acceptance of that decision would be to call a strike of the 53,000 miners in the captive mines.

Swiss Report 350 Rebel Serbs Killed in Clashes With Occupation Army

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss telegraph agency reported last night from Belgrade that 350 rebel Serbs had been killed in clashes with regular axis-directed troops in the last few days.

Heavy losses among the regulars also were reported, including the capture and shooting of one general.

U.S. OFFICIALS HOPE TO AVOID WAR WITH JAPAN AS CRISIS GROWS

Following Prime Minister Winston Churchill's declaration that Great Britain will back the United States immediately in the event of war with Japan and even Japan's special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, sped toward Washington, reports of increasing tension came from the Far East. Reports from Rangoon, Burma, said that the Japanese may attempt to invade Yunnan province, adjoining Burma, in an attempt to cut the vital Burma road, over which flow supplies from the United States and Great Britain to China's armies. Other reports stated that the Thailand government fears a possible Japanese move. The Central Press map, left above, shows the crisis area and the distances between Japanese bases and those of the U. S., Britain and Dutch East Indies.

Telephone Strike Postponed for Week

Labor Council Meets To Decide Further Action to Be Taken

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike called for midnight tonight which would affect the American Telephone and Telegraph communication system in 42 states and the nation's capital was postponed last night for at least a week.

John J. Moran, president of the federation of long lines telephone workers, an independent union, said that the walkout had been held up and the federation's national council called into session here Nov. 21 at the request of Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. conciliation service.

Moran said the council, the federation's 21-member executive body, would decide "on further action to be taken."

The strike was called in a wage dispute with the A.T.&T. Moran declared "one of the compelling reasons for acceding to Steelman's request is the turmoil and confusion with respect to the present situation in the national defense mediation board resulting from the resignation of its CIO representatives."

"The union is still determined to obtain certification of its dispute to the national defense mediation board. If there is certification the union will agree in advance to accept any recommendation or decision the board might make."

Football Mass Meeting Tonight

The mass meeting at 7:30 tonight will be held on the east steps of Old Capitol, instead of the field south of Iowa Union as announced in the official program.

Main feature of the meeting will be the Old Timers' band, playing its first and only appearance. Anyone may play and there will be no practice sessions.

Midwest Truck Drivers, Operators Resume Joint Negotiations at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Resumption of joint negotiations between representatives of midwest truckline operators and nearly 300,000 A.F.L. drivers indicated last night that a strike threatened for Sunday morning might be averted.

In the midst of a general meeting of several hundred operators, J. L. Keshin of Chicago announced publicly that negotiations were being resumed.

Speakers for 900,000 Reject Compromise Of Emergency Board

CHICAGO (AP)—Spokesmen for 900,000 railroad workers in the non-operating categories announced yesterday they could not tolerate the terms proposed by President Roosevelt's emergency board for settlement of their wage dispute.

Their joint statement completed labor's rejection of the compromise urged by the board to forestall a national railroad strike in the midst of the defense program.

Five brotherhoods already have spurned the recommendations, and Wednesday their membership of 350,000 was ordered to begin a strike Dec. 7.

The non-operating statement, which spoke for 14 giant unions, did not mention a strike, but asserted railroad workers were not willing to accept "injustice."

"They are determined to press their demands for equitable consideration and relief against present intolerable wage standards and to gain reasonable vacations," the statement said.

Non-operating employees demanded vacation privileges and wage increases of from 30 to 34 cents an hour for work which George M. Harrison, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, said in an hour pays them from 33 to 85 cents an hour. The emergency board recommended one week vacations with pay, plus an average pay boost of 13 1/2 per cent.

The operating employees, those who man the trains, demanded 30 per cent increases and were requested to accept 7 1/2 per cent.

Only railroad management accepted the board's proposals, and it did so with expressions of "disappointment", declaring it would cost the carriers about $260,000,000 a year to put them into effect.

Legislation Allowing U.S. to Arm Merchant Ships Passes by 18 Vote Margin Following President's Dramatic Last-Minute Appeal

Rayburn Reads Roosevelt Plea in Tense Chamber Just Before Voting; Will Become Law With F.R. Signature

WASHINGTON (AP)—Responding to a dramatic last-minute appeal from President Roosevelt, the house voted 212 to 194 yesterday to let armed American merchant ships carry cargoes through zones of battle directly into the harbors of belligerent nations.

By that 18 vote margin, it sent to the White House legislation repealing the remaining major provisions of the neutrality law, and saved the administration from a disastrous and prestige-shattering defeat.

But slender though the majority was, it was more than large enough to surprise and delight the administration leadership in the house. For two days, it had fought to avert what looked at times like certain defeat.

Largely because of displeasure at the strike situation and dissatisfaction with President Roosevelt's handling of it, a large segment of the southern democratic membership—hitherto solidly behind the government's foreign policy—was threatening to oppose the legislation.

Personal persuasion proved insufficient. Speaker Rayburn and Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the majority floor leader, asked Mr. Roosevelt to tell the membership what effect, in his opinion, an adverse vote would have upon the foreign and domestic situations.

Rayburn Reads Letter
Mr. Roosevelt complied in a letter which Rayburn read to a tense, stilled and packed chamber, a moment before the vote was taken.

The failure of congress to repeal the sections of the neutrality act in question, he said, "would be definitely discouraging" to Great Britain, to China and to Russia, all "fighting a defensive war against invasion."

Further, he said, it would "cause rejoicing in the axis nations," would "bolster aggressive steps and intentions in Germany" and other countries under the leadership of Adolf Hitler.

"Judging by all recent experience," he said, "we could, all of us, look forward to enthusiastic applause in those three nations based on the claim that the United States is disunited as they have so often prophesied."

"Our own position in the struggle against aggression would be definitely weakened not only in Europe and in Asia but also among our sister republics in the Americas. Foreign nations, friends and enemies, would misinterpret our own mind and purpose."

Turns to Labor
He turned next to the domestic labor situation and the threatened strike in coal mines owned by the steel industry.

"I am holding a conference tomorrow in the hope that certain essential coal mines can remain in continuous operation," he said. "This may prove successful."

"But if it is not successful, it is obvious that this coal must be mined in order to keep the essential steel mills at work."

"The government proposes to see this thing through."

Plane Carrying U.S., Russian Ambassadors Reported as Missing

LONDON (AP)—British air ministry sources last night expressed greatest anxiety for the safety of Laurence A. Steinhardt, U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Sir Walter Monckton, British information service head at Cairo, and Maxim Litvinoff, new Soviet ambassador to Washington, who left Kuybyshev, Russia, by plane two days ago en route to Teheran, Iran.

(It is possible that the plane may have taken a route which missed Teheran. Aircraft carrying official passengers through war zones operate amid strict official secrecy, and observe general radio silence in order to keep their movements from hostile ears.

Report Nazis Massing for New Offensive On Moscow; Kerch Under Heavy Assault

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The showdown for effective control of Russian Crimea and the bridgeheads to Caucasus appeared to be fast approaching last night in savage battles before Sevastopol and Kerch and there were signs that Hitler was disposing his stalemated armies of the center for one more grand offensive on Moscow.

In the south the great issue was yet in doubt; the great struggle was yet inconclusive.

The Germans claimed to be storming the outer fortifications of Kerch, which lies across a narrow strait from the western extremity of the Caucasus and its vital oil reservoirs, and by their own accounts had the city's defensive belt under assault from both west and south.

They reported that Anapa, on the Black sea coast of the Caucasus

HOW CAN IOWA FANS CREATE THE WINNING URGE WITHOUT DEGENERATING INTO A PEP RALLY MOB?

This is a little inside note to the students of the University of Iowa.

Tonight marks the beginning of our traditional week end. The eve of a Hawkeye-Gopher game, be it Homecoming, Dad's day or just an ordinary Saturday, is always an event to be remembered.

There will be a rousing pep rally tonight, and a good deal of activity afterwards—parades, snake dances, and lots of enthusiasm.

In past years, the good fun of pre-game demonstrations has been marred by a few who always seem to think that property must be destroyed, cars tipped, theaters crashed and so on, before there's any pep in the crowd.

Nobody feels right over that kind of enthusiasm. It accomplishes nothing, creates hard feelings, and chalks up a black mark against all of us.

So let's make the proceedings of this evening peppy—but orderly.

Too often we get the idea that a pre-game pep rally and all that goes with it is some kind of celebration—like a post-victory get-together.

It isn't. If we can generate enough pep tonight, and carry it through tomorrow; if we can charge the air around here with enough soul-stirring heart-felt enthusiasm—fill it so full that it seeps right into the spirits of the Hawkeyes—then we'll have fulfilled the mission of our pre-game rally. We don't need any rough-necks, any theater-crashing mob leaders, to do that. That comes from our hearts, not from low down in our heads.

The idea of tonight's rally is to start that invisible but powerfully potent spirit of victory, start it way down inside and work it up so that we're fighting as hard to beat the Gophers tomorrow as the Hawks themselves.

Nothing ought to interfere with that—no violence, no boishish prankishness, nothing—which detracts from the enervating spirit of quietly determined enthusiasm.

That's the kind of stuff that can win this game tomorrow, to make it the kind of victory which is a credit to the Hawkeyes, to Iowa AND to the coed and college boy who helped to generate that priceless, spinningling go-git-em that made it!

Of a French Violinist, Paige's New Band, and the U-Wear-It Shop

NEW YORK—Let me hear you say "Franciscatti" right fast. Franciscatti! That's fine. Here's why I said that:

After his appearances with the Pittsburgh Symphony under Fritz Reiner earlier this month, Zino Franciscatti was guest of honor at a party where he was introduced to a lady who at once cried, "Have you the original manuscript of The Star Spangled Banner?" "I beg your pardon," ejaculated the startled French violinist.

"But aren't you a descendant of Francis Scott Key?"

"No, no, I am Mr. Franciscatti," he assured her, and yet in repeating his own name, Franciscatti, he became aware that it all sounded alike . . . franciscatti . . . franciscott-key . . .

With this revelation he was delighted. "It makes me feel so American," he cried.

This is an item with an American touch too. Raymond Paige, who once conducted the Ninety-nine-men-and-a-girl program, which was broadcast out of New York, is now the conductor of the 45-boys organization known as the Young Americans' Orchestra. . . . None of the musicians is under 16, none over 25. . . . All were born in the United States. . . . They represent 21 states, yet among them are 18 different nationalities. . . . They play only American music. . . . Soon this organization, with Paige conducting, leaves on a tour. . . . Its initial chore was appearing with the Nameband jubilee, for the benefit of the British-

American Ambulance corps. Next it recorded an album of old American favorite songs, to be known as "From Golden Paiges of Melody" . . . At the moment it is getting ready for its tour. . . .

A peculiarly New Yorkian product about town are the U-Wear It shops, which rent "Tuxedos, Cutaways, Evening Clothes" to people who have no dress clothes of their own but who must get all dolled out for some special occasion. They are operated on the basis of the old U-drive it idea of renting an automobile for a day or a week—at so much per night.

What stands out about these places, especially along 6th Avenue and through the 40's are their billboards. They are as noticeable and conspicuous as the cigar store Indian, of hallowed memory. These displays show life size drawings of men in evening clothes, but the cut and style is that of the gay nineties. The britches are skin tight. The sleeves were the gaudily-cuffed variety so fashionable a quarter of a century ago. The men invariably sport handle-bar mustaches.

Do these shops do a business? Yes. They rent hundreds of formal wear units a week. . . . "Fittings guaranteed." . . . It's a full time industry.

Trademarks: If he draws a caricature of you within five minutes, it's Xavier Cugat. . . . If he talks faster than the late Floyd Gibbons, it's Elmer Leterman. . . . If she twists your hair into a spit-curl, it's Gracie Hartman. . . . If he's wearing a green hat with a blue hatband, it's Blue Barron.

What's the Matter With Iowa?

Would This Three-Point Program Put Zip Into Our University Experience?

Dear Mr. Editor:

During the last year there have appeared on your pages a number of stimulating editorials regarding the student in his relation to the university. You have suggested the many valuable experiences, both cultural and vocational, which the university can give him. Unfortunately, I suspect that the discussion which you might have hoped to generate among the students miscarried. The handful of students who may have read the editorials were unable to communicate effectively with enough of the others to start a vital examination of the principles involved. But there were (and are) plenty whose chief delight in The Iowan was in gleaming the Sunday gossip column to see if Daisy Grooble, Theta Eta Beta, had given the pin back to Ed Prokko, brawn-trust of the Gammars.

You are aware of this, Mr. Editor, and you must eventually ask yourself if your editorials are merely exercises in rhetoric, written to fill an empty column on the second page—or can they have meaning for all Iowa students. And you must honestly consider whether the problem of making Iowa a school of true, contemporary cultural focus is too big to be tackled.

What is the matter with our school, it is asked. Materially we have thrived exceedingly well in the last few years. The landscaping program has contributed much to the scenic beauty of our campus, the splendid new equipment for the fine arts has attracted students from all over the country, our promised central library will fill a sorely needed gap in the university's buildings. We have much for which to be grateful to the people who make this complex university possible.

But can or will it be denied that this university lacks an elan vital, a dominant cultural focus which could not mould the mutual cumulative experiences of its students into an attitude, or better yet, spirit which would

BEAUTY AND THE BROKEN GASKET

Screw-driver or rat-tailed comb—pretty Helen Villhauer can handle either like a master. At a glance, she fits well into the dainty background of the shop where she is a favorite beautician. But her experience as a mechanic in her father's garage is happy even there. The workings of a hot oil steamer may look complicated to most girls, but not to her. With a twist of her wrist, the leaky gasket of the steamer is no longer leaky.

From Mechanic to Beauty Operator— Pretty, Petite Helen Villhauer Can Do Anything From Fixing Cars to Finger Waves

Covered with grease, dressed in dirty overalls and a scull cap, Helen Villhauer was a "crack mechanic" while still in her teens. That was only a few years ago.

Now she wears a neat white uniform and is surrounded by the femininity typical of a beauty shop. You would never recognize her as the same person. Customers at the Villhauer garage were always a little surprised to see a girl grind the valves and put the brake linings in their cars. But they seldom had any complaints. Few men could have done better.

"I guess I got started in the garage because I was a Daddy's girl," Miss Villhauer remarked, her brown eyes sparkling shyly.

When only a child of eight, she washed automobile parts to be near her father in the garage. Gradually he taught her to make the more simple repairs. During summer vacations and holidays, she worked as a regular member of the force, saving her money to attend beauty school.

The attractive little mechanic-beautician is only 5 feet, 4 inches tall. She was one of eight children—the only one to show an interest in her father's business.

"Maybe I did it to avoid doing housework," she smiled. Then she added quickly, "But I don't think that was the real reason."

"She's an expert" declared Jake Wegmuller, who used to supply automotive parts for the garage. "She would tell you when she didn't know what was wrong with a car (which wasn't often). That's more than some men will do."

"I've seen her lift transmission cases that I wouldn't lift," he continued. But she insisted that her father watched her carefully and

Objectives in Speech Pathology, Research Discussed in Baconian Lecture Last Night

Professor Strother Explains Disorders, Remedies for Defect

By GENE GOODWIN
"The three major objectives of research in speech pathology are: to provide an accurate and comprehensive picture of the nature of various disorders of speech, to determine the causes of these disorders and to discover the most effective methods of prevention and treatment," Prof. Charles R. Strother of the departments of speech and psychology declared here last night.

Speaking on "Recent Research in Speech Pathology" at the third Baconian lecture in Senate chamber, Old Capitol, Professor Strother reviewed the development of speech pathology from the time that Alexander Graham Bell instructed the first university classes in this subject in America to the present.

"Speech disorders may be classified into four major categories," he asserted. "They are disorders of articulation, voice, rhythm and language."

The speaker explained that true stuttering is a developmental disorder with its onset in early childhood and that it is a normal condition during the early stage of speech development.

"We find two different points of view in connection with the study of stuttering spasms," Professor Strother declared. "One is that stuttering has a physical basis, that there are differences between stutters and non-stutters that predispose certain individuals to development of the disorder. The other holds that there are no significant physical differences between stutters and non-stutters, that it is environmentally determined."

In the opinion of the lecturer, based on evidence which he reiterated to his audience, stuttering does tend to recur in stuttering families. Social environment is in part responsible for this inheritance.

Ten slides were shown representing different categories of stutters.

"From a clinical standpoint, speech retardation is one of the most complex and difficult problems with which the speech pathologist has to deal," he said.

Professor Strother enumerated the known etiological factors of speech retardation, which were mental deficiency, deafness, the absence of either opportunity or incentive to acquire speech and emotional maladjustment.

In conclusion, the speaker expressed the hope that "as speech clinics and laboratories have been disabled in Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, France and now in Russia, research will somehow continue until we have an answer to the many problems that remain unsolved."

SUI Civilian Pilots' Training Courses Play Important Role in U.S. Defense Program

Few people realize the important part that the civilian pilots' training program here at the University of Iowa is playing in the national defense set-up, according to Elmer C. Lundquist, instructor of aeronautics.

"Roughly about 20 per cent of our students have gone into the army and navy air corps," Lundquist declared. "Considering this fact, the civilian pilot's training program is certainly of great value in stimulating interest in army and navy flying careers and providing basic training. This is, indeed, a worthwhile contribution to our national defense effort."

Since the establishment of C.A.A. training here at the university in the fall of 1939, five primary and four secondary programs have been conducted. One hundred eighty nine students of a possible 217 have successfully completed primary requirements and 41 of a possible 49 have graduated from the secondary course. These figures do not include students presently enrolled in C.P.T. courses.

"We know of 17 SUI students who have entered the army air corps and 17 more who have been admitted to the air corps of the navy," Lundquist added. "Many more of which we have no knowledge may have decided to continue their training in the army and navy."

Students enrolling in the navy air corps who have had basic instruction through C.P.T. primary and secondary courses are allowed to omit navy primary training. They are given a rating equivalent to a student who has passed his 30 hour check.

Five Iowa C.P.T. students have

MEET KOALA BEAR—MUSEUM ODDITY

Paradoxically, the koala bear is one odd animal on display in the University museum which should be familiar to all, for it served as model for that beloved friend of childhood—the teddy bear. Harmless, and now almost extinct, it lives in trees in its native Australia, eating leaves and other vegetation. About 2 feet long and weighing approximately 30 pounds, it has soft, thick grayish-brown fur with white underparts and a peculiar smooth and hairless black nose. The young is carried on the back of the female koala, giving the amusing appearance of a miniature piggy-back ride.

GREENBERG 'HOME' AS SOLDIER

A medical corps uniform on the left represents Pvt. John Smith of 1917 and the modern medical corps uniform on the right is Pvt. John Smith, Jr., of 1941.

Copies of "Over There" and "God Bless America" on either side of the window contrast the popular patriotic music of then and now.

Samples of drugs available to both soldiers are also shown. Comparatively few medicines protected the health of the 1917 soldier.

Pediatrician Says Diets Lack Vitamins

Dr. Philip Jeans of the department of pediatrics at the children's hospital, speaker at the regular Rotary club luncheon yesterday, informed members of the club that dietary surveys made in this country have shown there are large groups of people with inferior diets.

"The complacent stage of mind about our diets is not justified," he said.

Emphasizing the lack of Vitamin B1 in American diets, Jeans said that many anxieties, fears, disagreeable mental states and lack of energy are often caused from this deficiency.

A more widespread knowledge of diets in state and local communities has been brought about by the National Research Council, a government agency set up in the last world war to study scientific

Final Decisions on Tax Appeal Cases Of 21 Fraternities to Be Made in 30 Days

Attorneys Present Closing Arguments Prior to Decision

Final decisions in the individual tax appeal cases of 21 campus fraternities against the city board of assessment and review, asking tax reduction, will be announced within the next 30 days, Judge James P. Gaffney declared late yesterday.

Before Judge Gaffney's announcement that he would take the case under advisement, attorneys for the appellants and appellees presented closing arguments.

Atty. William F. Morrison, representing 19 fraternities, argued first, followed by City Attorney Louis Shulman. The law firm of Dutcher, Ries and Dutcher, representing the Phi Kappa Psi association, then presented its final arguments.

Next to argue was County Attorney Edward F. Rate, followed by Atty. D. C. Nolan, representative of one of the fraternal groups.

Earlier in the day following the testimony of R. J. Baschnagel, real estate dealer who testified as to Iowa City property values, Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters took the stand for the plaintiffs.

Teeters, consistent fraternity backer and member of the review board, testified that the methods of assessment as employed by the city did not take into consideration the resale value of property or its earning capacity.

He stated that the city assessor's office did not assess fraternity property as other property but stressed the cubic foot method, less two per cent depreciation.

Francis Sueppel, deputy city assessor, was then recalled to the witness stand and stated that besides the cubic foot measurement plan used by the city, earnings, depreciation and resale values were taken into account when making assessments.

Final hearings yesterday ended a six months' plea by 20 fraternities and one sorority that city property tax assessments are unfair and discriminatory. The board of review overruled the formal protests made by the organizations last May and passed the original assessments made by the city assessor.

In their original petitions the fraternal groups declared that assessments should be reduced or removed because they are non-profit organizations and that the assessed value of their property is out of proportion to their income.

It was their contention before the city board that fraternities should be granted the same tax exemption privileges as fraternal lodges and religious groups.

They pointed out that unless some consideration is given these organizations, the county and city will be forced to take them over and lose the tax revenue.

Fraternities and sororities on the campus paid $25,742.91 taxes in the last assessment and total value of the properties is set at $540,000, according to figures revealed at the review board's meeting last spring.

High taxes plus a heavy burden of building bonds create an excessive debt for the organizations, it is said. Some groups find it necessary to rent their houses during the summer to private individuals in order to help meet debts.

Since the tax dispute started, five foreclosure actions have been filed against fraternity properties here.

'Why Children Quarrel,' Subject of P.T.A. Talk

Longfellow school's P. T. A. child study group will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Longfellow school.

'Why Our Children Quarrel' will be discussed by Prof. Ralph Ojemann of the university child psychology department.

Meetings 3 Local Organizations Convene Today

Friday, November 14 Masonic Service Club—Masonic temple, 12 noon—Dr. E. E. Harper, director of the university school of fine arts, will speak on Russia showing movies of the country.

Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors — Jefferson hotel, 12 noon.

Iowa City Rifle Club — Iowa City recreation center, 7:30 tonight.

Recreation Center's Gymnasium Program Will Begin Monday

The Recreation center's winter gymnasium program will open Monday, Eugene M. Trowbridge, director of the center, announced yesterday.

Junior boys from 8 to 13 years old will hold classes on Monday and Wednesday from 4 to 5 p. m. and on Saturday mornings from 10 to 12. After school hours on Fridays will be used for organized grade school teams. Any grade school team may arrange for a game with a team from the center at that time, Trowbridge said.

From 1 to 4 p. m. on Saturdays, the gymnasium will be used by the high school girls' basketball league. Starting Saturday afternoon, Nov. 22, the center's entire facilities will be given over to girls' activities.

Tuesday and Thursday afternoon hours have been reserved for girls' social dancing classes, but have not been scheduled as yet, Trowbridge said.

Junior and senior city league basketball teams will use the gymnasium on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Anyone interested in organizing a city league team is urged to get in touch with Robert Brennan at the center.

Monday nights will be left open for special activities, and center officials plan to use Wednesday evenings for a young business girls' sport club under direction of Miss Billie Young, 44 of Iowa City.

Trowbridge stated that if sufficient interest was shown, an adult badminton group would be formed. He also said that with the possible installation of a record player, a young people's dancing club would be held on Friday nights.

Farm Bureau to Hear Prof. Hew Roberts

Prof. Hew Roberts of the university education department has been named as one of the main speakers at the annual meeting of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation in Des Moines Nov. 17 to 21.

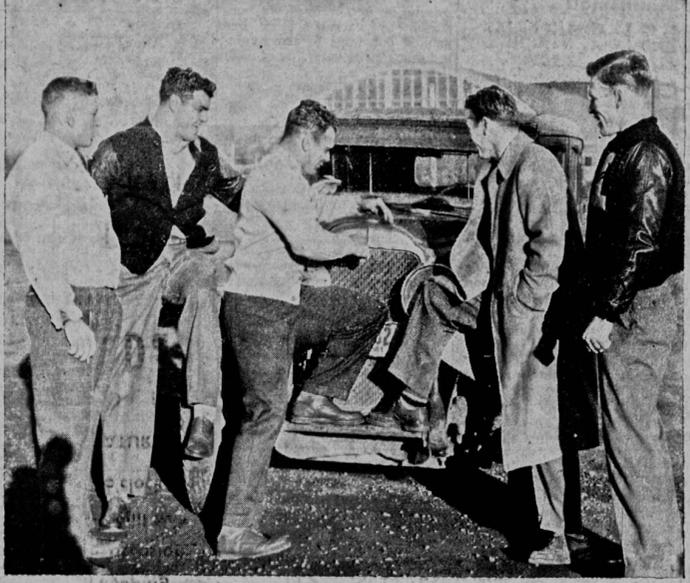

Professor Roberts will speak Thursday morning, Nov. 20, on a program which will feature R. M. ("Spike") Evans, AAA administrator, and Clifford Townsend, director of agricultural defense relations.

Other headline speakers named are L. A. Williams, nationally known sales director of the Indiana farm bureau, and Liette Holbert, an American-French refugee.

Farm bureau officials have predicted a record attendance for the convention this year, because the time of the year promises good weather for travel, and because of the appearance of Evans and Townsend on the same program.

Beer is being rationed in Tokyo, Japan, the department of commerce reported.

FIVE IOWA PLAYERS ARE RIDING HIGH THIS WEEK

Five Iowa football players have been riding especially high this week following their decisive win over Illinois last Saturday. The reason is they now have a car, a '29 Buick, given to them by an enthusiastic Iowa fan upon their return from Champaign, Ill., Sunday. Ross Anderson, Bob Otto, Al Coupee, Tom Farmer, and Red Frye (left to right, above) received the gift from Joe Gartner, manager of Gartner Motors, in appreciation of the 21-0 shellacking the Hawks gave the Illini last week end. In addition, for a victory over the Gophers Saturday, Gartner has promised the five gridmen a $10 gas book and E. Y. Sangster, manager of the Yellow Cab company, has offered them a month's supply of gas, which "would amount to quite a bit of gas," according to Farmer.

ITALIANS IN RUSSIA—PROOF

This picture finally answers the question as to whether or not Premier Mussolini had actually sent any Italian troops to the Russian front to aid the German forces. The caption of this censor-approved photo says these are Italian soldiers chatting with native Russian peasants somewhere in axis-occupied Russia.

Knights of Columbus Plan Annual Memorial Services November 30

Members of the Marquette Council of the Knights of Columbus will hold their annual memorial service Nov. 30, it was announced at the regular meeting last night.

Following a mass and communion service at 7:30 a.m. and breakfast at the clubhouse, memorial services will be held for deceased members.

A special meeting was announced for next Thursday night at which Ray Conley of Des Moines, state secretary, will be present. Plans are being made to hold a radio dance at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse Saturday night, Nov. 22.

Paul Stockman Finishes Marine Recruit Training

Pvt. Paul Joseph Stockman, 318 N. Linn, has finished his recruit training at the marine base in San Diego, Cal., it was announced yesterday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stockman of Iowa City.

During his training Stockman qualified as a marksman with the pistol and rifle and as an expert with the bayonet.

Stockman enlisted in the marine corps at Des Moines Sept. 20, 1941. He was a student at the consolidated and Oxford high schools.

Dr. Sorensen Reports 33 Per Cent Syphilis Decrease Since 1937

Since the beginning of the Iowa campaign against syphilis in 1937, new cases have dropped approximately 33 per cent, Dr. R. M. Sorensen, venereal disease control director, declared yesterday.

Stressing the fact that the day of hush-hushing syphilis is gone, Dr. Sorensen attributed much of the credit for the reduction in the rate of the disease to newspapers, radio stations, civic groups, schools, churches and other organizations which have led the fight against the infection.

"The bold stand taken four years ago is paying dividends in improved public health," he said. In 1937 the case reports for the first 10 months of the year totaled 3,037. In the corresponding period for this year only 2,030 new cases appeared.

During the period between 1937 and this year, a steady decline for the same months occurred, cases falling to 2,870 in 1938, 2,547 in 1939, and 2,317 in 1940.

The job is not done, the doctor warned, as an average of approximately 50 new cases is being reported each week. The danger of spread to national defense projects and army camps makes it imperative that efforts to control and eventually wipe out the disease should not be relaxed.

Conscientious Objectors Will Leave for Camps

Elmer E. Hemingway, route 7, and Robert B. Oswald, Wellman, will report at conscientious objector camps Nov. 25, draft board officials said Wednesday.

Hemingway is to report at Buck Creek camp, Marion, N. C., while Oswald is to go to Camp Denison, Ia.

E. J. Koester Honored

Rank of page was conferred on one candidate, E. J. Koester, at the regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias last night. Following the ceremony and business meeting, refreshments were served.

ly on a voluntary basis, each boy enrolling as a defense agent and signing a treasury department pledge.

Expenses for the campaign as well as literature, buttons, pins, merit awards and stamp albums for the carriers will be borne by the treasury department.

The plan is set to go into operation Nov. 24.

Louis Barnes Funeral Will Be Conducted Today

Funeral services for Louis Barnes, 615 S. Clinton, will be held at 3:15 today at the Oathout funeral chapel with Dr. E. E. Voigt of the Methodist church in charge. Burial will be in the Oxford cemetery.

Barnes, who died of a heart attack here Wednesday, was a printer and painter. He was born at Oxford, Oct. 2, 1885, the son of Francis M. and Margaret Barnes, and moved to Iowa City in 1919. He was a member of the Moose, Elks and the Methodist church in Oxford.

He is survived by two brothers, W. E. Barnes of Sleepy Eye, Minn., and Frank of Omaha, and one sister, Mrs. Joseph Thompson of Carboncliff, Ill.

Major George Eliot Will Lecture Monday

U.S. Military Expert To Present Analysis Of Present War Crisis

Major George Fielding Eliot, author, lecturer and radio war commentator, will be presented in Macbride auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday, for the fourth university lecture in the current series. "The War and Us" is his subject.

Major Eliot's war experience and advanced study have established him as being the foremost authority on military affairs in the United States.

Although American born, Major Eliot grew up in Australia and served in the Australian imperial force (infantry) where his school cadet corps training won him a second lieutenant's commission. Later he was promoted to acting major.

For four years he knew active service in the Dardanelles, Egypt, the Western Front, the battles of Ist Somme, Arras, Passchendaele and the Hindenburg line.

After the war, Major Eliot came back to the United States, and earned his Major's title during eight years' service as a reserve officer in the military intelligence reserve (1922-30).

In Kansas City, he became an accountant, a field he had studied before the war.

In 1928 he turned to serious military writing for "The Infantry Journal" and "United States Naval Institute Proceedings."

His latest books are the best sellers, "The Ramparts We Watch," and "Bombs Bursting in Air."

The March of Time released a full-length feature film based on "The Ramparts We Watch."

Major Eliot writes for Harpers, Foreign Affairs, Life, Fortune, New Republic, Current History, American Mercury and the Saturday Evening Post magazines.

In the field of radio, he appears for America's Town Meeting of the Air, the Peoples Platform, University of Chicago Round Table, the American Forum and three times a week analyzes the last minute news.

Rev. E. Strong Talks At Religious Services

The Rev. E. J. Strong, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Allerton, is the evangelist for a series of evangelistic services which opened Wednesday night at the local Church of the Nazarene.

The services, beginning at 7:30 each evening, will continue through Nov. 23.

500,000 Paperboys May Become Official U.S. Defense Agents

Approximately 500,000 American newspaper carrier boys will become official United States defense agents in the next two weeks if present plans by eight national regional and state press associations, cooperating with the treasury department, go into effect.

The plan, approved by Secretary Morgenthau, is for newspaper carrier boys to sell defense savings stamps as they make their deliveries from house to house.

The boys will wear red, white and blue buttons designating them as agents of the United States government for defense stamps sales. When collecting for the week on Saturday, they will take stamp orders for the following week and will deliver and collect for the preceding week.

The plan will be conducted purely

Passing the Buck by BILL BUCKLEY

It was a cool atmosphere that we watched Iowa practice yesterday... The sun was shining, balmy breezes were playing, but it was still cool...

For the first time this week, we got the feeling that the Hawks were ready to meet Minnesota... The attitude was noticeably different, all were there for a purpose...

With that off our chests, and feeling a little conscience-stricken about saying it, let's go into something else that's going to be a big part of the game...

"Like the growing wave of power the Hawk gridders are discovering within themselves, a slight landslide of school spirit is developing... There has been a lot of talk about Iowa school spirit...

"That spirit should be kindled in the grandstands first, and then burst into flames on the field... As it is, the team is the group that is cheering up the students."

"If you were one of the Iowa delegates to the Illinois game, you'd get a pretty good idea of how it should be... Everyone really yelled there... Next time you bump into some joker with six layers of circles under each eye and a collapsed lung, ask him... he was probably there."

"Whether the team heard us or not, we can feel we were with them all the way against the Illinois... This week the Golden Gophers are invading our campus to settle a little dispute about a pigskin... They're bringing with them half the state of Minnesota to emphasize their claim... and they are going to be noisy."

Let's make some noise, too... Even if our team didn't show up for the game (THEY WILL), let's yell these guys... Bring something to make noise, even if it's just a can of marshmallows to rattle... Don't worry about the cheerleaders, either, for they'll be going through their gyrations until their backbones are like a string of soaked noodles... YELL... Loosen up your larynx, and get a set of tonsil blisters you'll be proud of!"

Well said, Dick, and thank you. Drake Stars Sick, Injured DES MOINES (AP)—Bud Vincent and Herm Harvey, Drake university's scooter backs, were both on the shady side yesterday and Coach Vee Green canceled football practice, hoping to maintain the keen edge the Bulldogs have reached for their homecoming tilt against Iowa State college Saturday.

Hawks Smear Gopher Plays in Drill

Team Displays Renewed Spirit In Scrimmage

Hawks' Offense Gets Attention In Last Stiff Practice

Iowa's Hawkeyes finally came through against Minnesota formations in their final heavy workout yesterday, smearing all but a few of the Gopher runs and passes. It was a different team out there on the field, with the Hawks showing renewed spirit and alertness, diagnosing the opposition's plays correctly time after time. For the first time this week the scrub team was set back on its haunches by a fast-charging forward of both the first and second teams.

Two sets of guards alternated in the first string lineup, as Ross Anderson and Gene Curran traded off with Joe Byrd and Al Urban, two converted tackles, on defense. Both sets looked equally good. With those two exceptions, the first team lined up this way: Bill Parker and Bill Burkett at ends, Jim Walker and Bob Otto at tackles, Capt. Bill Diehl at center, Al Coupee at quarterback, Tom Farmer and Bus Mertes at halfbacks and Bill Green at full.

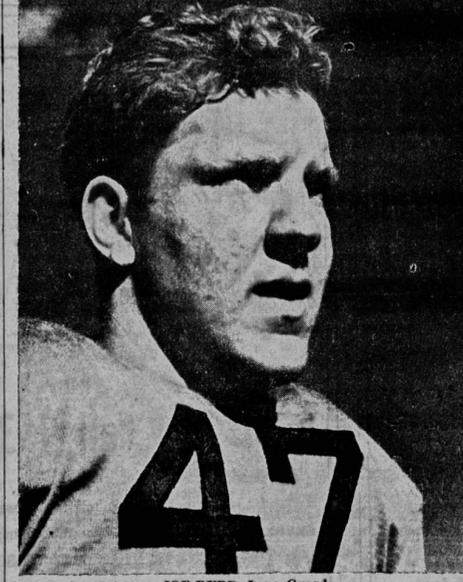

All team members were in top shape for the all-important Minnesota tiff, which brings the nation's No. 1 team to Iowa City, and it was the first time that situation has existed since the season's opener against Drake.

Iowa's offense also came in for its share of attention in the workout, as the Hawks polished their tricks to shoot against the mighty Gophers. A wide-open game is in the offing, for each team fears the other, and will be shooting the works—one to protect an undefeated record, and the other to keep its own record on the upswing.

It was just two years ago Saturday that the Minnesota was beaten by the Hawks in 1939 against Iowa here, a never-to-be-forgotten thriller, 13-9.

It was passed then, from Nile Kinnick to Erwin Prasse and Bill Green, which won for the Hawkeyes, and another passing offense is being readied for the Gophers this Saturday. Tom Farmer continued yesterday to shoot strikes into the arms of his ends and backs, and if he can do the same in the game, will undoubtedly make the day a little warm for the vulnerable Minnesota pass defense.

Missou Harness For Sooner Blocker Vital for Win

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Senior Marvin Whited, Oklahoma's dandy blocking back, is one boy Missouri must harness Saturday... After four years of football, Whited finally has the feel of a touchdown running through his veins... He scored for the first time against Iowa State last week.

It came as sort of a reward from his mates, who have scored to more than one touchdown behind his teeth-jarring blocking... After a 50-yard push, Oklahoma was down near the scoring stripe... The Sooners went into a huddle, turned to Whited and panted: "Marve, old pal, you've been blocking for us long enough. Now you take the ball and score!"

Two standout sophomores, Ray Evans of Kansas and Mike Zeleznek of Kansas State, were arch rivals in high school... They come from Kansas City, Kan., where Evans performed at Wyan-dotte and Zeleznek at Ward... The K-State fellow has written Evans several times, predicting a big score of the Wildcats over the Jayhawks Saturday... It's made Evans so mad he can't sleep nights.

Last time the two met, Evans punched across two touchdowns. Jay Kern, K.U. right guard, was scheduled to begin selective service duty Sept. 1... But he didn't want to give up football, so he enlisted in the naval air corps, obtaining a 90-day deferment... Jay is to report Dec. 1, just nine days after Kansas' last game... Missouri's 38-man squad traveled 2,647 miles on the New York trip, through 11 states, five state capitals and the national capital.

Eastern football writers agreed Darold Jenkins, Tigers' captain, was the finest defensive center to show in the east this year... And after that Michigan State game, writers heralded Missouri as one of the greatest clubs to appear on Macklin field... Looks like a good bowl blow.

Coach Paul Brechler Uses Fundamentals In Bluehawk Cage Drill

Believing footwork is one of the fundamental necessities for a winning basketball team, Coach Paul Brechler started yesterday's U-high practice session with each player doing a minimum of a hundred skips with the skipping rope. The fundamental principles of basketball will be continued for another week before the Bluehawks get any scrimmage. Ball handling, passing and pivot shots were the main exercises of yesterday's practice.

Capt. George Lehman, returning letterman, in the first four days of practice, has showed he will be an important cog in the Bluehawk machine this year. Towering over the rest of his teammates, Lehman, 6 feet 4 inch center, rings the bell consistently with one handed pivot shots from within the free-throw circle.

Brechler's boys will undoubtedly rule the court in the coming contests as far as height is concerned. Besides Lehman, Jim Semberger, 6 feet 4 inches, at forward, and Jack Shay, 6 feet 4 inches at guard, show promise of holding down first string posts.

With the shortage of guard material, it seems as if Bud Halvorson has appointed himself a committee of one to fill one of these positions. His eagle eye for putting the ball through the hoop from mid-court may determine the outcome of a number of Bluehawk contests before the current season is over.

U-High Harriers to Run In State High School Meet

U-high's harriers will leave this afternoon for Des Moines where they will participate in the class B division of the annual State high school cross country meet to be run tomorrow morning at 10:30 on the Waveland golf course.

Bluehawk runners who will participate include Fred Zeller, Frank Zeller, Ed Smith, Lewis Ward and Joe Arndt. The team will stay at Newton tonight and go into Des Moines tomorrow morning. In the afternoon the boys will attend the Drake-Iowa State football game.

The Bluehawks were victorious in their class last year, when the meet was held at Iowa City. Dr. M. F. Carpenter has seen his runners through three and four mile workouts daily for the last week in preparation for this meet.

Lesnevich, Mauriello to Fight NEW YORK (AP)—The appetites of fighters being what they are, Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., and Tami Mauriello of the Bronx are due to fight 15 rounds at Madison Square Garden tonight for a title that neither is likely to defend again.

Phi Psis' Class A Team Advances Into Final Play-Off Round

Drops Delta Upsilon Eleven by 7-6 Score; DU 'B' Team Wins

The Phi Kappa Psi Class A team advanced into the final round of the championship play-offs by virtue of a 7 to 6 victory over Delta Upsilon.

After the ball had changed hands several times, the Phi Psis started their winning drive. Jim Bowers took a short pass from Walt Byers, and weaved down the sidelines for 30-yards. After the Phi Psis had been held for two downs, Bowers ran around for 5 yards and the touchdown. Wolfe grabbed a pass from Bowers for the conversion. After Joe Gantz, star DU back, at the start of the second half had run back a kick by Bowers to the mid-field stripe, the losers started their touchdown drive. The score came, when Gantz passed to Walt Wright who lateraled to Larry Cole for the tally. The try for the extra point was a failure.

Delta Upsilon's Class B team gained revenge for their Class A team loss, when they defeated the Phi Kappa Psi B team by a 7 to 6 score to win the Class B championship.

RESULTS YESTERDAY Class B Championship

Delta Upsilon 7, Phi Kappa Psi 6

Class A Play-Off Phi Kappa Psi 7, Delta Upsilon 6

After Phi Psi John Hunter had sparked his team into scoring territory, Dick Grossman faded deep, and rifled a pass to Fred Adams, who took the ball over his shoulder to score. As darkness closed in on the field, Bob Pine, hard-running DU back, took the ball on a reverse and ran to the Phi Psi 5-yard line. Pine then tossed the ball to John Morrison for the touchdown. Pine, then worked the same play to Morrison for the conversion, and the ball game.

Phi Delta Phi maintained its undefeated record with a 9 to 6 victory over Delta Sigma Delta. Mike Smith accounted for the winner's first score, when he broke through the Delta Sig line and trapped the ball carrier for two points. Just before the half ended, John Phillips, Phi Delta Phi tailback, passed to speedy Bill Stuart for a touchdown. Phillips then added the extra point on a drop-kick. The losers tallied their only touchdown in the first half, when Bob Vessy intercepted one of Phillips' throws, and ran through the whole Phi Delta Phi team to score untouched.

Delta Theta Phi, led by Chuck Arnold, defeated Phi Chi by a 19 to 12 total. Howard accounted for the first tally as he passed to Elmer Bloom for a touchdown. The try for conversion was a failure. The Phi Chi came back to score, just before the first half ended, but the conversion attempt was no good. The losers made their other tally, when Knapp threw to Warren Smith. Again they failed to convert.

Honold passed to Chuck Riter for the winner's second touchdown, and then the versatile back added the extra point on a drop-kick.

Mike Jacobs All Excited About Navy Charity Go

'Old Ticket Broker' To Donate Services Of His Organization

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Close associates of Mike Jacobs, the fight promoter, never thought they would see the day when Mike would become enthusiastic about charity, but they were shaking their heads yesterday and admitting that the 'old ticket broker' had it bad.

As Mike bounced happily about his office and discussed the record-breaking possibilities of the heavy-weight fight he is putting on between Joe Louis and Buddy Baer here Jan. 9 for the benefit of navy relief, the wonderment grew, for Mike was shattering one of the cardinal rules of his organization. Mike Forgets Next Bout

Not once did he even mention the fact that he has Gus Lesnevich and Tami Mauriello meeting for the 175-pound crown tonight in the Garden. It figures to be quite a scrap, too. And yet Mike has been known to border on hysteria if one of his employees thoughtlessly mentioned a contest other than the next one on the Jacobs' calendar.

"This charity is the last word, y'understand," Mike enthused. "We'll get society in on it. No telling what we might get for tickets—maybe a hundred dollars for some of them."

"Not Taking a Cent" "I'm not taking a cent, y'understand, except maybe for a little extra clerical help we might have to put on. I'm donating the services of myself and my organization."

"And what do you think of that Louis? He's really giving something, and he and his managers are happy birds about it. All hell'll take its training expenses. Baer's going to take a little, but it ain't much."

Backed by the navy, it is more than probable that Mike will kick the final touchdown game in the last 15 seconds, as Dean Brackley intercepted a Phi Chi pass and eluded the entire Phi Chi team to score.

Wallace Wade's Duke 11 'Has Done Great Job Of Using Potentialities'

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—"This," said Coach Wallace Wade, "is a football team that has done a remarkable job of capitalizing on its potentialities."

The coach was speaking of his Duke university Blue Devils, one of the country's four remaining undefeated and untied major elevens and a good bet to stay that way by whipping North Carolina in Saturday's traditional battle. "It's hard," Wade continued, "to compare any two teams, especially when one of them hasn't finished its schedule yet. You have to wait until the end of the season to see whether a team can do all of its job."

break all records for receipts at Madison Square Garden. The present mark of $201,000 was set in 1927 for a bout between Jack Delaney and Jimmy Maloney. So far as the plans have progressed, Louis and Baer will come here about Dec. 1 to sign the papers and open their training camps.

Original Iron Man Has Played Each Tilt For 4 Years

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Curtis Sandig has played in 45 games—every game on the St. Mary's university schedule in four years and that ought to be a record in college football.

And unless illness or injury step in he will finish out his string Dec. 13 with a total of 49. How did he do it? Well, when the 175-pound Sandig came to St. Mary's, the Alamo conference had just voted to allow freshmen on the varsity. He got in the first game of the 1938 season against San Francisco university and averaged 5.7 yards each time he carried the ball. Since then, no one has even thought of St. Mary's playing a game without the brilliant Sandig. In his 45 games, Sandig has gained more than three miles by rushing or pass-receiving. This season, termed Sandig's greatest by Coach Lloyd Russell, the fleet young man has scored 83 points.

Florida Limes Open New Culinary Field For Mrs. Housewife

Juice Combines Well With Lamb Casserole, Brown Swiss Steak

Up from Florida limes are flowing—ready to league up with housewives coping with appetites difficult to satisfy. The lime is packed with juice, with flavor and with a capacity for combining in countless ways with other liquid or spoon-up foods. There's no limit to lime uses, so share today's limelight by cooking up such brand-new dishes as Lime-Lamb Casserole and Lime Swiss Steak.

Lime-Lamb Casserole

- 2 pounds neck of lamb, cut in cubes
  - 2 tablespoons fat
  - 4 cups boiling water
  - 1/2 cup lime juice
  - 1 bunch carrots, sliced
  - 1 onion, sliced
  - 4 medium-sized potatoes
  - 1/2 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 1 teaspoon butter
- Wipe lamb. Sauté in fat until brown. Add boiling water and lime juice. Cover and simmer one hour or until tender. Cook carrots and onions together until tender; cook potatoes in boiling water until tender. Drain vegetables. Place carrots and onions in bottom of casserole. Place lamb on top. Thicken liquid left from meat; add seasoning and pour over lamb. Force potatoes through ricer. Spread over top of lamb. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper; dot with butter. Brown in hot oven (450° F.) for 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Lime Swiss Steak

- 1 1/2 pounds round or rump beef
  - 1 1/2 inch thick
  - 1/2 cup flour
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 tablespoons shortening
  - 1 cup canned tomatoes
  - 1/2 cup lime juice
  - 3 onions, sliced
  - 1 stalk celery, chopped
  - 1/2 teaspoon tabasco sauce
- Trim excess fat from meat. Combine flour, salt, and pepper, and with the edge of a saucer, pound 1/2 of it into one side of the steak. Turn steak over and pound remaining flour into other side. Heat shortening in heavy skillet, and when very hot, brown steak quickly on both sides. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over steak in skillet. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 2 hours or until tender. Uncover the last one half hour so the sauce may cook down and thicken. Makes 6 servings.

The addition of lime juice to the tougher cuts of meat shortens the cooking time, since it has a tenderizing effect on the meat.

All-Bran Fudge Squares Will Make a Tasty Gift For That Boy in Camp

Are you looking for a very special treat to send to a college man or woman, or to "him" in the army camp? These brownies are the correct solution to your problem. But beware, once you start sending them you are in for many more requests for the same.

All-Bran Fudge Squares

- 3 squares of unsweetened chocolate
  - 1/3 cup of butter
  - 2 eggs
  - 1 cup of sugar
  - 2/3 cup of flour
  - 1/2 cup of all-bran flakes
  - 1/2 cup of chopped nut meats
  - 1 teaspoon of vanilla extract
- Melt chocolate over hot water and add butter. Beat eggs well, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted butter and chocolate. Stir in flour, all-bran, nut meats and flavoring. Pour into greased pan, making a layer about 1/3 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 16 2-inch squares (8 by 8 inch pan).

Egg Plant Halves

Stuff pre-cooked egg plant halves with a mixture of sausage meat and bread crumbs. For a flavorful dinner or luncheon dish add grated parmesan or nippy long-horn cheese to the filling.

Mrs. Chas. Rogler's Puerto Rican Specialties

Iowa City Hostess Uses Fruits to Put Zest in Dull Meals

By CORINNE HAYES Daily Iowan Food Editor

Life and sparkle can be added to your meals by including fruits on your menus. All too seldom do we serve these fresh eatables.

Pastries and sweets replace the fruits on our tables, Mrs. Charles Rogler, 722 Dearborn, discovers as she compares our menus with those of her native Puerto Rico. "We are often criticized for eating so many fried foods, but here you eat much more grease in your pastry, gravy and other dishes. And butter—why the Puerto Rican never eats butter!"

Mrs. Rogler went on to explain they do not eat as many vegetables as we do here, but they have fruits served raw, boiled, and fried.

A special sour fruit salad adding savouriness to any meal calls for pineapple, grapefruit, oranges, bananas and pomegranates. Our hostess serves this salad with French dressing.

Bien Me Sabe is a recipe for a sauce made from the coconut. In selecting the coconut, Mrs. Rogler suggests that you see that the three "eyes" of the fruit are clear—not soft and black.

Bien Me Sabe

- 1 coconut
  - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
  - 2 cups of sugar
  - 1/2 cup of water
  - 4 egg yolks
- Break and cut the coconut into 4 or 5 pieces. (Pour the water off.) Put the coconut on the oven a minute to facilitate removing the meat from the shell. Peel the meat and grate it. Pour 1 cup of boiling water over the grated coconut and strain the mixture through a sugar sack to get 1 cup of juice.

Boil the sugar and 1/2 cup of water until it threads. Beat the 4 egg yolks well and mix with the cup of coconut juice. Pour this mixture on the boiling syrup. Put over a low fire and cook until thick. Serve hot as a sauce on plain cake. Top with whipped cream.

For an interesting cake filling use the grated coconut. Add 1 1/2 cups of sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of vanilla. Cook until smooth and thick.

"At a Spanish tea, we serve fruit juice and perhaps salami and crackers. And when we entertain in the evening we serve cocktails. Cuba Libre or Daquiri are favorites."

Cuba Libre

- 2 Servings
- 1 bottle coca cola
- 1/2 lemon
- 1 jigger of rum

Fill glasses with chipped ice. Mix ingredients and pour over ice.

Daquiri

- 1/2 lime
- 1/8 teaspoon of sugar
- 1 jigger of rum

Fill glasses with chipped ice. Mix rum with the lime and sugar. Pour over ice. This will serve 2.

Mrs. Rogler recommends Tequenos be served at luncheons or teas.

IN MRS. ROGLER'S KITCHEN

Native Puerto Rican dishes are a treat that comes often at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Charles Rogler, 722 Dearborn. A Christmas dinner in true Puerto Rican style will be served in the Rogler home this year, Mrs. Rogler promises. Visiting Professor Rogler is from the University of Puerto Rico.

pie crust—omitting the shortening.

Add the water, making the mixture like a crust dough. Roll the dough out as thin as possible. Cut out sections in the shape of a triangle. Put a long piece of old-fashioned American cheese at the wide end of the triangle. Roll the pieces up in the dough. Fry in deep fat until brown. These are excellent when filled with peanut butter.

Individual servings of an almost complete meal will be found in Asopas de Pollo.

Asopas de Pollo

- 1 chicken
- 1 onion
- 3 grains of garlic
- 5 cups of rice
- 3 tablespoons of tomato paste
- 1 piece of bacon
- 1 tablespoon of achiote
- 1 tablespoon of capers
- 7 olives

Asparagus and red pepper to decorate.

Boil the chicken with the onion and garlic. Soak the rice in cold water 1/2 hour before cooking. Fry the achiote in a little lard, strain and use the lard for cooking. Take the meat off the chicken bones and fry it in the red lard. Add rice, paste, bacon, a pinch of salt, capers and the olives. Cook the ingredients over a very low fire for 1/2 hour. Put into individual baking dishes and decorate with asparagus and sliced red peppers.

Claiming that we do not know how to correctly prepare rice, Mrs. Rogler suggests the following method:

Rice

- 2 cups of rice
- 5 cups of boiling water
- 2 tablespoons of Crisco

Add the Crisco to the boiling water to keep the rice from sticking. Wash the rice, add it to the boiling water and put this over a very low fire. Don't stir constantly—let it stick. Stir only once to ### remove all bones. Mash the fish and add 1 teaspoon of tomato cat-sup, salt and pepper. Make little fish cakes. Dip in well beaten eggs and roll in cracker crumbs. Fry the cakes in a little lard over a low flame for about 15 minutes (until brown).

"These cakes are served with Puerto Rican Fried Potatoes."

Puerto Rican Fried Potatoes

Peel potatoes and cut them into 4 or five pieces—having each piece larger than for French fries. (This causes the potato to absorb less fat.) Cook in deep fat until brown.

When Mrs. Rogler serves these potatoes with fish or steak, she also serves a tomato and lettuce salad with olive oil.

Among Iowa City People

Mrs. and Mrs. George Johnston, 527 Iowa, have as a week end guest Mr. Johnston's sister, Phebe Johnston of Kewanee, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Heinen of Des Moines, have moved to Washington, D.C. where Mr. Heinen has accepted a position as radio specialist with the department of agriculture. Mrs. Heinen is the former June Herring of Iowa City.

David Foerster, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Foerster, 421 Woolf, has returned to Camp Claiborne, La., where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Freeman of Indianapolis, Ind., have been guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, 710 Summit. Mr. Freeman has returned to Indianapolis, but Mrs. Freeman will remain in Iowa City for a longer visit with her parents.

Unspiced Cup Cakes

Unspiced cup cakes from the bakeshop become company fare when the tops are removed and a butter mocha frosting is spread generously on the little cakes. Finish them off by replacing the tops and garnishing them with a little more of the frosting.

Mince-meat Muffins

Mince-meat now takes its place in the muffin parade. One-half cup of spicy mince-meat added to a standard muffin batter is all that is necessary to put a fall, 1941 touch into the menu.

A SKILLET MEAL IS GOOD!

In the present nation-wide cause of thrift, inexpensive skillet meals served with salad and dessert may be relied upon to occasionally relieve your food budget. Try meat balls and spaghetti covered with onions, chili powder and tomato sauce for variety. A whole meal can be planned around this main dish. It also has a stimulating effect on digestion on these chilly fall days. This is practically effortless cooking, too; just use a skillet with a cover, brown the meat before adding other ingredients and cook the food over a top burner on full flame until steam escapes freely; then reduce burner to simmer and continue cooking gently for 45 to 60 minutes.

Coffee-Making Suggestions to Transform Bad Humor Man Into Good-Will Ambassador

Are you irritated and discouraged in the morning? Try dissolving that ill-humor with a cup of hot steaming coffee. If you want to add buoyancy to your own disposition, as well as to others, here are some coffee-making methods that will turn you into a veritable good-will ambassador.

Be sure that your coffee pot is scrupulously clean. Wash it thoroughly with hot water. Be sure to clean such parts as the spout and any tubes or baskets in the pot.

Use fresh coffee. The flavor of roasted coffee deteriorates rapidly when in contact with the air. Use as fine a grind as is possible with your coffee pot. Too fine a grind will give a muddy brew. Too coarse a grind will make it difficult to extract the flavor.

The proportions of coffee and water suggested below suit the average taste and are intended as recommendations only. You can use any proportion that suits your preference. In any case, always measure the coffee and water carefully. Use standard measuring cups and spoons.

Steeping method: Measure two level tablespoons of coffee for each standard measuring cupful of water into the pot. Pour the measured amount of boiling water over the coffee and stir well. Cover and let stand on an asbestos mat over low heat or in a warm place where coffee will keep hot, but not boil. The water should drip through in six or ten minutes. When dripping is completed, remove upper compartment with grounds.

Vacuum method: Measure water into lower bowl and apply heat. Do not place upper bowl in position until the water boils. Adjust the filter in the upper part and measure in two level tablespoons of coffee for each standard measuring cupful of water. Place on lower bowl. Water will almost immediately be forced through center tube into upper level.

When all but the small amount of water below the bottom of the tube has risen, stir the mixture in the upper bowl. Turn off the electric current or turn the gas flame very low. (The water should remain in the upper bowl two to five minutes.) The coffee should then return to the lower bowl. Remove the upper bowl.

Coffee is at its best when fresh-

Candy Gives Soldiers Energy on Maneuvers

Idea Could Be Used To Stop Children's Eating Between Meals

Here's some good news for the children and their mothers, too. The United States army thought this one up, but it might prove a way for mothers with a between-meal-eating problem, and for their youngsters who like candy—and which ones don't!

Instead of the ounce of chocolate they have been getting at meals, Uncle Sam's boys are going to get their candy between meals. The army has learned through tests that soldiers have more energy if sugar is consumed periodically during the day. Therefore, they are planning to issue five pieces of hard candy to troops in the field at specific intervals throughout the day.

The Quartermaster corps is in charge of the plans for the new candy ration, which will supplement the field ration soldiers carry with them on maneuvers. The candy will be individually wrapped and in assorted flavors.

The army believes the candy will provide the soldier with an even flow of between-meal energy.

This might be a good idea for mothers to try—the only variation suggested being that she do the issuing, one piece at a time, for the proper effect.

Stuffed Ham Rolls

On a brisk, cold day serve stuffed ham rolls for dinner. They are made by stuffing slices of ham with savory bread filling and simmering the rolls in an oven casserole with a little water or gravy until tender.

ly made, therefore serve at once with sugar and cream to suit the individual taste.

Do not attempt to use left-over brew or once-used grounds when making a new lot of coffee.
