By BILL BUCKLEY
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

It'll be Iowa and its highly partisan home crowd fighting the might of powerful Minnesota here this afternoon, and the question in the minds of everyone, for the first time since that tremendous 1939 season, is "Can the Hawks Do It?"

It doesn't seem possible that Iowa, after such a miserable start in the Big Ten, has built itself into the dangerous challenger to the Gopher king; but they have, with two blasting victories over Indiana and Illinois. Now it's up to Minnesota, the mightiest of them all, to stop the upward surge of this surprising Iowa aggregation.

There is no doubt, in the minds of all, that this current edition of the Hawks, growing stronger day by day and having reached peak performance for this, its most important tilt, has a chance against the Gopher gargantians from the north. The chance, however, is certainly on the short side, and Minnesota figures to take this one in stride.

Hawkeyes on Upswing
There's no room for argument when it is mentioned that Iowa is on the upswing, and seems to have everything necessary for an upset, including a good defensive line, a good backfield, and great morale. Also, there's no room for argument when the subject of Minnesota's invulnerable forward wall and unstoppable backs is mentioned. (See HAWKS, page 6)

PERSONALITIES AT FALL AP MEETING HERE

Iowa editors and publishers of Associated Press newspapers met last night for the opening session of their annual fall meeting—a dinner meeting in the Jefferson hotel. Among the personalities there were the ones pictured here, from left to right: Prof. Frank Luther Mott, director of the school of journalism, who welcomed the group to Iowa City; J. Norman Lodge, AP foreign correspondent, veteran of numerous scrapes of World War II, highlight speaker of the meetings; T. M. Metzger, chief of the Des Moines bureau of Associated Press, and W. Earl Hall, managing editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, who also addressed the editors and publishers. A business meeting and luncheon are scheduled for today at the Iowa City Press-Citizen.

British Aircraft Carrier Ark Royal Torpedoed, Sunk by Axis Submarine Off Gibraltar Coast

Plane Carrying U.S. Envoy Safe at Baku

LONDON (AP)—The ministry of information announced today the plane carrying Sir Walter Monckton, British middleeast information chief—and presumably also U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and Maxim M. Litvinoff, Russian envoy to Washington—had arrived safely at Baku, Russian oil port, Thursday.

There had been an earlier report, which proved erroneous, that the plane bearing the party from Kuibyshev, the auxiliary Russian capital had reached Pavlevi, Iranian port some 200 miles south of the Soviet Caspian seaport.

It was presumed the plane had been weatherbound since its arrival.

British Naval Chief Says Axis Troops Still Cross Mediterranean to Libya

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—"A large number of axis troops still are getting across from Italy to Libya," Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, commander in chief of the British Mediterranean fleet, acknowledged yesterday, but he added that most of these are reaching north Africa, "with wet shirts."

Million Dollar Damage Estimated As Quake Rocks Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Damage estimated at upwards of a million dollars resulted yesterday from an earthquake, centering in suburban Torrance and Gardena. Although it was the heaviest since the disastrous shock of 1933, which cost 130 lives, no deaths or injuries resulted.

In Torrance, industrial community of about 10,000 population southwest of Los Angeles, Supt. William H. Stranger of the city water department set property damage at $1,000,000 or more, with broken windows accounting for $25,000 of the total.

Walls of half a hundred business buildings were thrown down, hundreds of show windows were shattered and chimneys and fireplaces toppled.

Gardena's loss was estimated by Fire Chief D.B. Parrett as "many thousands of dollars." Several buildings in that community of 6,000 were badly damaged.

Trade schools in Torrance were closed when cracks appeared in the walls of one building. A survey of all school structures in both cities was ordered.

Greatest Casualty To Britain's Navy Since Hood Sinking

LONDON—The 22,000-ton British aircraft carrier Ark Royal, which from the Arctic Circle to the Cape of Good Hope had carried into action against the axis an honored name going back to the defeat of the Spanish Armada, went down yesterday with mortal torpedo wounds.

She was attacked Friday east of Gibraltar by a submarine—most likely by an Italian submarine although this point was not officially made—while en route to that western Mediterranean fortress.

She sank yesterday morning under tow en route to port while some of her 1,600 men were working to the last to bring her safely into harbor.

The great majority of her crew, said the admiralty, was saved.

(Dispatches from La Linea, Spain, said the first casualty roll at Gibraltar listed 32 dead and 60 injured but that the aggregate might reach 100 dead and 200 wounded.)

She was the greatest casualty to the royal navy since the German battleship Bismarck sank the British battle cruiser Hood last May and was herself then destroyed by British squadrons that dogged her down and tore her to pieces.

It would not have been possible without the Ark Royal, for it was she who flung out her attacking planes to trap the German; it was the Ark Royal that was largely responsible for the Bismarck's doom.

She survived by more than two full years the first, and often repeated, German notice of her death, for Berlin had pronounced her sunk in the first months of the war and then had asked mockingly again and again: "Where is the Ark Royal? . . . Where is the Ark Royal?" Here, said the admiralty, was where the Ark Royal was part of that time and since: She took a hand in the search for the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee that ultimately ended in the Spee's suicide off Montevideo; she intercepted one of the Spee's supply ships and caused the bagging of several others; over 4,500,000 square miles of sea she hunted down the Spee's accompanying raiders; at one time she was 30 days in continuous patrol.

Following Neutrality Victory, Roosevelt Withdraws Marines From China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Swiftly following up his neutrality revision victory in the house, President Roosevelt announced yesterday a decision to withdraw the token force of American marines in China, thus leaving the protection of American interests in that section of the world to the Asiatic fleet.

The disclosure, at the president's press conference, was made even as a special Japanese envoy arrived in this country for what appeared to be one more—and possibly the last—joint effort to discover a formula for peace in the Pacific.

Mr. Roosevelt declined to discuss the significance of the China move in respect to Japanese-American relations, but diplomatic observers generally attached as much importance to the timing of the announcement as to the decision itself.

There are only 970 marines in China. They are broken up into three groups—the Fourth marines at Shanghai, numbering 750; a Tientsin detachment of 55, and a Peiping embassy detachment of 165. Those are all who remain of the thousands stationed in China at various times since 1854 when Commodore Perry took in the first group.

Why they were withdrawn Mr. Roosevelt did not say. Speculation centered on the fact that as a military force they were too few even to defend themselves should the United States become involved in war in the orient. Indications were, therefore, that they were withdrawn according to good military strategy, for their own protection in event of hostilities.

Those who held this view contended the timing of the announcement in relation to the house vote on neutrality Friday and the arrival of Saburo Kurusu in San Francisco yesterday morning on a trans-Pacific plane furnished its own significance. They believed the United States was showing Japan that its decks were cleared for action in case hostilities should break out.

For such a gesture, the president's hands apparently were strengthened by the house vote to remove combat zone restrictions on American shipping and authorize the arming of merchant vessels.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that he did not consider the close vote (212-194) by which revision finally was approved to be any indication of disunity in America.

10,000 Riotous Iowa Pepsters Take Over Town, Tie Up Traffic

Crash Currier Hall, Theatres After Dad's Day Pep Rally Talks

Reminiscent of the eve of Iowa's last victory, or anybody's for that matter, over the Golden Gophers, 10,000 rabid Hawkeye supporters here last night took over the town, tying up traffic and marching hundreds strong into business places.

Collecting at a 7:30 pep rally, the opening event of the three-day Dad's Day program at the University of Iowa, the pepsters took to the streets in one of the biggest pre-game demonstrations in the school's history.

Inspired by Football Captain Bill Diehl's promise for the Hawkeyes "that we'll do our level best," and Line Coach Jim Harris' encouraging words, "the spirit is willing and so is the flesh," the Iowa team followers went mad in a demonstration which violated every request that President Virgil Hancher's office had made of students two weeks before.

In the meantime, members of the Iowa squad who will meet the Gophers in today's midwest football classic were farmed out to private homes for the night to assure complete rest and top physical condition for the toughest test of their gridiron careers.

Led by Iowa cheer leaders who stopped the crowd of thousands almost every block to give a yell for the Hawkeyes to subdue the unbeaten Minnesota eleven, the group moved to the center of town, took over the square traffic light and put through traffic as they pleased.

A group of several hundred male students crashed Currier hall; city police were called to quell a riot in a main street tavern, and theater operators, fearing the (See PEP RALLY, page 4)

Japan Calls Thousands To Colors as Tension In Pacific Increases

TOKYO—Japan dug deeply yesterday into her reserves of men and money for war on the eve of a special session of parliament marking one of her sharpest crises in modern times.

The cabinet approved for submission today at the opening of the special session an extraordinary war fund of 3,800,000,000 yen (nominally $874,000,000) and a general account appropriation of 510,000,000 yen ($117,300,000).

The war office announced a drastic revision of conscription regulations, rendering scores of thousands of hitherto exempt men liable to early summons to the colors.

Men of the last 10 military classes, 20 to 30 years old, who had been exempted because of physical condition will be called for re-examination and possible induction.

Trade Commission Orders General Motors to Halt Monopolistic Practices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal trade commission announced yesterday that it had ordered General Motors corporation and General Motors Sales corporation, Detroit, to "discontinue coercive and monopolistic practices in their relations with General Motors dealers."

One variation in the long story of the siege of Leningrad, on the north, came with details of the reported sinking of a big Russian transport by a mine near the Kronstadt naval base. German reports said a terrific explosion tore the ship to bits.

With "village-by-village" fighting reported in the Moscow line, it appeared also that the Germans, at a critical stage of the battle for Crimea, were being forced to battle for every yard of Russian soil on the peninsula.

The Crimean fighting was summed up by German military commentators as a general tightening-up of the Nazi grip on Kerch and Sevastopol, with both cities still holding out.

Germans Continue To Bring Reserves Up to Central Front

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON—Only the broken bodies of the German battle-lead remained last night in the mine-sown outskirts of Tula, Russian military dispatches said after fifteen consecutive waves of nazi tanks had been smashed back in a two-week battle for this southern key to the defenses of Moscow.

This proud claim was broadcast by the Moscow radio to climax a series of military reports which depicted the Germans, on a true black Friday for nazi arms, retreating in every sector of the Moscow front.

Staggering Losses
The Tula battle was won on the mine-sown southern approaches to the town, in the village of Rodzhesny, a Tass news agency account declared. Here, some 100 miles due south of the red capital, the Germans won a shaky foothold at staggering cost in men and equipment, only to be crushed back.

"The Germans were here yesterday," a Tass reporter wrote from Tula. "Today only their corpses are here."

This was the Russian picture on the other battlefields before Moscow: Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest; Soviet troops wiped the Germans from the east bank of the Nara river after stubborn fighting, and stopped a new nazi thrust to the west bank.

Kalinin, 95 miles northwest; the Germans were driven from twenty villages in 24 hours.

Bring Up Reserves
The Germans continued to bring up reserves to the Moscow front, but successful red army assaults were reported in the direction of at least one operating base, Zarzchie.

On both north and south extremities of the front the Russian position was described as equally good.

The Germans were reported driven from strategic heights and forced back several kilometers in the Arctic Murmansk zone; a mobile SS (elite) nazi division was declared routed before Rostov-On-Don, northern key to the Caucasus.

Russian reinforcements were pressing toward the Caucasian front to block a German drive from the Crimea.

Fire Destroys Section Of Large Bomber Plant At Fort Worth, Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Fire which broke out shortly after the army gave newsmen a preview yesterday of the world's largest blackout defense plant—a factory for the assembly of 29-ton bombers—destroyed a warehouse at the site and caused damage estimated at from $200,000 to $100,000.

The 200 by 50-foot warehouse west of the main building in which four-engined bombers will be put together was used for the fabrication of airconditioning equipment.

"Hardest hitting fighter" is the way the United States army's new Curtiss-Hawk P-40F pursuit-fighter plane is described by aviation authorities. The picture above, retouched by the war department to conceal details of armament, is the first to be released showing the new plane.

Notre Dame Favored Over Northwestern Today

Passing the Buck
by BILL BUCKLEY

Iowa took its last workout yesterday, that is, its last before the Minnesota game, just about the biggest thing in its current players' lives. . . . And that session was far from a funeral dirge for a promising team, awaiting the executioner's axe.

It's a queer thing about those boys who will be donning silver pants and gold and black shirts today. . . . The HAWKS are the ones who are confident, not Minnesota, the favorite. . . . Whether that's a healthy attitude for an underdog is a moot question, but it's a cinch the Gophers won't have a psychological edge on Iowa. . . . Which is really an advantage for the Hawks before the game starts.

Minnesota is too powerful for the home team. . . . The Gophers are good, and they know it. . . . That natural cockiness that perennially is a part of a champion exacerbates most teams to the point of trying too hard, and while fighting blindly, the champ sneaks behind and knocks another one off. . . . It won't work against Iowa, though, because you can't find a team more cocky about its own ability than ours.

Those players were smearing Minnesota formations in practice yesterday before they could get started. . . . It was a highly encouraging performance, considering the doubtful work during the first part of the week. . . . Nile Kinicki's passes weren't going anywhere, and his and Jim Harris' runs were stopped behind the line of scrimmage all the time.

Don't be surprised if Dr. Eddie pulls a fooler in this one, and goes in for wholesale substitution. . . . It's doubtful if the Iowa line can stand the pounding in store for it, and no less than three sets of guards will be ready to take part in the action. . . . Besides Ross Anderson and Gene Curran, the regulars, that includes Don Twedell and Del Dickerhoff, and Joe Byrd and Al Urban, two converted tackles.

That home crowd should help Iowa to a certain extent, as it has twice in the past. . . . And it should hinder the Gophers, who have played on foreign fields only twice in six games. . . . Their 7,000 rooters shouldn't make much of a dent on the background of 35,000 Iowa fans' yelling. . . . If the Hawks can hear anything out on the field, it will be encouraging.

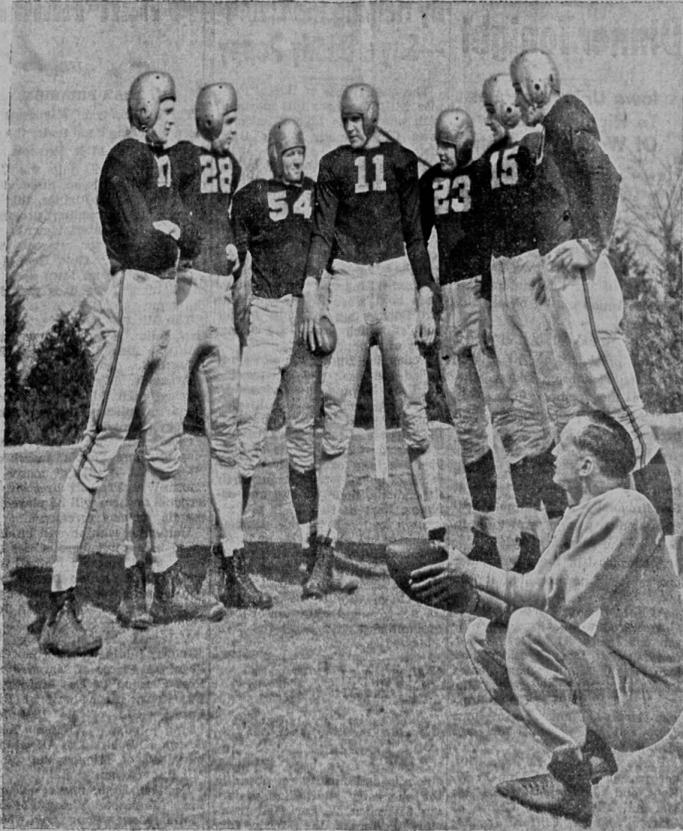

All the foregoing is pre-game guessing, however, the truth of which is never decided until the game is played. . . . If the Hawks can win, all Iowa will be happy and in I-hold-you-so mood. . . . If they fall, football gloom will once more descend on the state, and that old cry of "Why can't Iowa produce?" will start once more.

It's a predicament for the Hawks—they'll be praised to the skies for winning, and blamed under the ground for losing. . . . But are they thinking of that? . . . No. . . . There's the game to play, a few old scores to settle, and a place to maintain in their own consciences. . . . After that can come the glory or the depths of despair, Iowa will be ready for either, just as its as ready as it'll ever be for Minnesota today.

By the way, Tom Farmer, the newly unfurled star halfback, made the All-Western conference team of the week last Sunday, by the scouts who go out each Saturday to get a line on future opposition. . . . His outstanding play at Illinois, where he pitched two touchdown passes and ran for another, rated him the position. . . . Other positions on the team were given to Schreiner of Wisconsin and Smith of Indiana at ends, Daniell of Ohio State and Wildung of Minnesota at tackles, Burke of Northwestern and Cherokee of Ohio State at guards, Johnson of Purdue at center, Farris of Wisconsin at quarterback, Graham of Northwestern at the other half, and Graf of Ohio State at fullback.

Buck Seniors in Finale
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A dozen Ohio State seniors—11 of them lettermen and seven in the starting lineup—dig their cleats into Buckeye stadium turf for the last time today as the Bucks clash with Illinois in their Big Ten homecoming contest.

DO THESE HAWKS LOOK BIG ENOUGH, MINNESOTA?

Hawks—

brought up. It's just a matter of "ya pays yer money, and ya takes yer choice."

A feeling of upset is in the air, there's no doubt, on the part of Hawkeye fans, between 40,000 and 43,000 strong, and on the part of the team, which has been priming itself all week. There's a feeling among the Hawks that their spirit, increased morale and ability to come back against big odds will carry them through the Gophers.

Gophers Can't Relax

What Minnesota has to say about this is another matter, however. Coach Bernie Bierman and his charges know the mind of Iowa in this game, and realize they cannot let down in this game, most of all. After two super-charged battles with Michigan and Northwestern, there should be a tendency toward a letdown, but in this case the champion can never relax without fear of a knockout punch.

Weakened by the loss of Bruce Smith and Herman Frickey, their two ace offensive threats, the Gophers have not been impressive in winning of late. Now Smith and Frickey can see limited action, but the bulk of the game will fall on that monstrous line. Aggravation of old injuries can take two or three of the biggest in the wall out, and a decision in the battle may hinge on how long these regulars can hold out.

3 Sets of Squads Ready

Iowa will have to depend on most of its first string to do 60-minute duty during the game, but with Coach Eddie Anderson grooming several linemen for relief duty, the tradition of the "Iron Man" era may be given the air today. Along this line, Anderson will have three sets of guards ready for duty, including two converted tackles, Al Urban and Joe Byrd.

Ross Anderson and Gene Curran, the regulars, will start the game, but Del Dickerhoff and Don Twedell and the other two, will undoubtedly see plenty of action. All the Hawks are in top shape.

Hawks Will Pass

Tommy Farmer's passing arm will be given another workout, with the Hawks trying to puncture a vulnerable Minnesota pass defense. It might be such a thing, too, that the completion of a few passes might open the line for some ground-gaining antics by Bill Green, Bus Mertes and Farmer.

That offensive game and a special defense, designed to pile up on the Gophers on the ground, will be Iowa's stock in trade against Minnesota today. That, plus its spirit and morale, will be the full extent of its output. If it's enough to stop those mammoth Gophers, it's enough. But if it's not well, there's always Nebraska next week.

Lesnevich Lefts Way Past Tami Mauriello

NEW YORK (AP)—His left hook hitting like a cannon, Gus Lesnevich retained his world light heavyweight championship before a howling crowd in Madison Square Garden last night by giving young Tami Mauriello an artistic going over for 15 rip-roaring rounds. Lesnevich weighed 173 3-4, Mauriello 173 1-2.

Turning in his second decision in three months over the kid from the Bronx, the rugged Russian from Cliffside, N.J., had Tami wobbly-legged three times during the fight, piling up a big early margin and was the decisive victor, despite an amazing comeback by Mauriello.

It was Lesnevich's first defense of the 175 pound crown since he became undisputed king of the division three months ago—and it may be his last. He had trouble getting down under the light heavyweight limit for this tussle, and has his eye on the big boys now. His first outing among the heavyweights may be against Billy Conn, for whom he has been tentatively pencilled in as a February opponent.

There was no question about the winner last night, as there was in the last fight. Referee Arthur Donovan and both judges voted in his favor and the Associated Press score card gave him eight rounds, with five for Mauriello and two even.

Eddie Anderson, Hawks Reach New Style High In Week's Last Workout

IOWA CITY (AP)—Clad in their gold, black and silver game uniforms, Iowa's football team dashed through a short, but thorough workout in the stadium yesterday, its last-minute preparation before Saturday's Dad's Day battle with mighty Minnesota. Coach Eddie Anderson, wearing a turned-up baseball cap and turtle neck sweater, gave the squad more defensive work but the Hawkeys spent most of the session polishing up on the plays they will spring against the Gophers.

Wilson in Semifinals Of Co-op Tournament By Default Triumph

Wilson's gridders advanced to the semifinals of the intramural cooperative football tournament yesterday when they won by a forfeit from the Whetstone team. The game was awarded to Wilson when the players from Whetstone failed to put in an appearance.

This was the only game scheduled for yesterday, but action will be resumed again Monday with four games.

Other semifinalists besides Wilson in the cooperative competition include Grover, Gables and Jefferson. Grover is paired with Jefferson, while Gables will tangle with Wilson for the right to play in the finals. These semifinal battles will be held Monday afternoon, with the finals scheduled for Wednesday.

The football schedule will be brought to a close Thursday, after which attention will be shifted to the basket ball league. Arrangements are now being made for the opening of cage play, and athletic managers of all the leagues are urged to attend a meeting in room 200 at the fieldhouse next Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 to discuss plans for organization of the league.

Boni, Out on Limb, Picks Northwestern, Duquesne, Stanford

Minnesota, Michigan, Harvard, Princeton, Penn Also Favored

By BILL BONI

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—On a college football program like today's, almost any selection you make is likely to bounce back in your face. Virtually every game renews a traditional rivalry, and tradition has a nasty habit of packing an upset punch.

Of the eight front line teams which still are undefeated, this corner looks for two to be eliminated from that select group, Northwestern attending to the eliminating in the case of Notre Dame and undefeated, untied Duquesne being the choice over unbeaten, once tied Mississippi State. That leaves Minnesota, Texas A. and M., and Duke in the all winning class, and Texas and Utah in the tied division. All of them are picked to win but they can't afford to take anything for granted.

Having stuck out its neck in a general way, this corner proceeds to get specific about its selections (home teams first):

Northwestern-Notre Dame—This choice goes to Northwestern because of an inescapable feeling that somebody should be able to whip the Irish. That task must include stopping the passes of Angelo Bertelli, something no team has done on a dry field. Getting shakier every minute, but still a vote, if a shaky one, for Northwestern.

Stanford-Washington State—With the Rose Bowl almost in sight, the Indians won't be overlooking this one. Stanford.

Iowa-Minnesota—A new found passer, Tommy Farmer, gives the Hawkeys an added threat, but that Gopher defense remains one of the best in the business and earns the nod for Minnesota.

Duke-North Carolina—Off the records, Duke should win as it pleases.

Duquesne-Mississippi State—This is Duke's final game, and they can shoot the works. Accordingly, Duquesne.

Texas-Texas Christian—After that tie with Baylor, the Longhorns are likely to be boiling mad. Texas.

Rice-Texas A. and M.—This vote goes to A. and M.

Yale-Princeton—Princeton.

Missouri-Oklahoma—Each beaten only once, these clubs should furnish one of the day's top battles, and the winner quite probably will be bowl bound. A flyer on Oklahoma.

Columbia-Michigan—Michigan, perhaps with ease.

Alabama-Georgia Tech—Alabama, looking better all the time.

Boston College-Tennessee—This replay of the last Sugar bowl game should produce the same winner—B.C.

Penn-Army—Penn.

Ohio State-Illinois—Ohio State.

Cornell-Dartmouth—Cornell.

Wisconsin-Purdue—Offense vs. defense. Taking offense, or Wisconsin.

New York U.-Tulane—Tulane.

Arkansas-Southern Methodist—S.M.U.

St. Mary's Cagers Scrimmage Alumni; Meet Oxford Monday

Coach Francis Sueppel put the St. Mary's squad through a stiff workout with a team of Rambler alumni last night in the final practice before the game with Superintendent Harsha's Oxford quintet Monday night.

The probable St. Mary's lineup will include Tony Brack and George Seemuth or Bill Sweeney in the front court, Joe Halseh at the center position and Eddie Chadek at one guard. The other back court post will be filled by Bill Villhauer, Melvin Smith or Don Brogla.

The Ramblers will probably have a rougher time of it with Oxford, cage champ of Johnson county last year, than they did in their opener with Farnell last Wednesday night. Coach Sueppel gives Oxford credit for always having a good team, but expressed the belief yesterday that if the St. Mary's boys perform up to standard Monday night they should take the game in their stride.

The game will start at 7:35 in the old City high gym.

Minor Colleges Claim Own Records For Gridiron

SEATTLE, (AP)—Willamette, Indiana State, Pacific Lutheran, West Texas State and Slippery Rock take care of the top places in this week's American football statistical bureau compilations for minor colleges.

Willamette, of Salem, Ore., which has rolled up 274 points to 47 in winning seven out of its first eight games, is the most impressive total offensive unit with a 430.5 yard average per game from rushes and passes.

Indiana State, of Terra Haute, Ind., leads in defense, holding the foe to 87 yards per game while winning five, losing one and tying one. The Staters also lead in rushing defense, allowing enemy ground thrusts only 16 yards average per game.

Pacific Lutheran, the 1940 minor forward passing champion, still leads with a 179.5 yard average per game via the air.

West Texas State is the rushing leader among the minors with a 328.5 yard average per game. The West Texans have won seven out of eight.

Slippery Rock has slipped through two wins, three losses and a tie, but heads the minors in pass defense with a 26.8 yard average yield per game.

Smith Takes Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Lanky Horton Smith, Pinehurst's new club professional, fired another two-under par 70 yesterday for a 36-hole 140 to win the $500 first prize of the mid-south open golf tournament.

Second honors in the first of the winter circuit tournament went to Harry Cooper of Minneapolis, who trailed Smith by four strokes. Big

Johnny Bulla of Greensboro, N. C., was third with a two-over-par 146.

Pass Magic Of Angelo Bertelli Bolsters Irish

Dry Field Forecast Should Aid Speedy Irish Forward Wall

By EARL HILLIGAN
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Two of the high ranking teams in the nation—Notre Dame and Northwestern—come together before 48,000 fans today with Notre Dame's chances for its first undefeated season in 11 years riding on the outcome.

The Irish, who'll wind up their schedule a week hence against a mediocre Southern California eleven, will enter the tilt a slight favorite. One reason is sentimental, for thousands of fans are pulling for the Irish to roll on to their first unbeaten record since Knute Rockne's last team did it in 1950.

Irish Pitching Magic
The other reason, a more solid one, is the pitching magic in the arm of Sophomore Angelo Bertelli, who has completed 52 out of 89 passes for 813 yards.

The only game in which Bertelli's aerial attack grounded this fall was that scoreless tie in the mud with Army. The forecast for today indicates a dry field which should aid not only Bertelli but also a Notre Dame line which has an edge in speed.

Northwestern, however, has a passer of note in Sophomore Otto Graham. The Wildcats, loser of close ones to Michigan and Minnesota, also have a dangerous breakaway runner in Bill De Corvo and a power driver in Don Clawson, who almost single-handedly whipped the Irish 30-0 last year.

Both in Shape
Except for Northwestern's right tackle problem, both teams will enter the game in exceptionally good shape. The Wildcats will miss Leon Cook and Tony Samaria, but Sophomore Ray Vincent has been playing well at the right tackle spot.

The ticket hunt or this battle was the most intense of the season, with Loop brokers reported to be getting from $10 to $17 for duets on the 10e-yard line.

Texas Steers Clash With Texas Christian

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The question "Are the University of Texas Longhorns really a great football team?" likely will be answered here today. The Steers, ranked No. 1 in the nation until held to a bitter 7-7 tie by Baylor last week, will clash with potent Texas Christian.

Clear, cool weather was in prospect for more than 21,000 fans who will watch Texas, with its feared starting line-up once more intact hurt its scoring power at the Horned Frogs in an attempt to regain lost glory and stay in the running for the Southwest conference championship.

How far the Longhorns will get remains to be seen but one thing is sure: The Christians, an upsurging aggregation which has whipped Baylor 23-12 and has little to lose and all to gain, will throw the works at the Steers who revealed their weaknesses last Saturday.

Johnny Bulla of Greensboro, N. C., was third with a two-over-par 146.

Others were "Trial by Jury," "Mikado" and "Pirates of Penzance."

Station WSUI will feature the music of "H. M. S. Pinafore" for its dinner hour music next week, beginning Monday at 6 p. m. One act of the operetta will be presented over WSUI each night.

The Little Theater orchestra under the direction of William Gower, head of instrumental music at the high school, will accompany the chorus and soloists in the presentation of the operetta. ### Board Refuses Appeals Of Two I.C. Draftees

The appeal of two Iowa City draftees, Ralph Bohlin and Melvin J. Swift, from the classifications as determined by the Johnson county draft board was refused by appeal board No. 4, Burlington, it was revealed yesterday.

In sustaining the local selective service board, the board ruled that the men should be retained in 1-A classification.

Local Police Force To Be Doubled Today

The local police force will be doubled today to handle the huge amount of Dad's Day traffic in and about Iowa City, Police Chief Frank J. Burns said yesterday. Approximately 21 highway patrolmen are expected to aid in directing the vast stream of traffic.

After the game there will be no west bound traffic allowed on Burlington from Dubuque to the stadium and there will be a policeman at all business corners to aid out of city motorists.

There will be no parking on either side of Burlington from Johnson street west to the stadium throughout the whole day, Chief Burns said.

Local merchants and truck drivers are asked to complete their heavy traffic and unloading before 10 o'clock this morning and during game time only.

"Only with the helpful cooperation of local motorists can we hope to maintain good traffic conditions," Chief Burns said.

Richard Diehl Assigned To 2nd Medical Battalion

Pvt. Richard H. Diehl, 532 S. Dubuque, has been assigned to headquarters, second medical training battalion, Camp Barkley, Texas, it was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. John M. Willis, commanding general of Camp Grant, Ill.

GIRL SCOUTS HELP FOLD CHRISTMAS SEALS

Theresa Strabala, Jacqueline McDonald, Rosemary Keil and Katherine Mottet, left to right, are shown folding tuberculosis Christmas seals yesterday in the Girl Scout headquarters. Iowa City Girl Scouts, under the direction of Marian Chassell, have been folding seals the past two weeks in preparation for mailing when the annual tuberculosis seal campaign begins Nov. 24. Volunteer workers have been preparing the mailing list for this year's drive and the next week Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs and other organizations will begin stuffing envelopes. Under the direction of Atty. Emil G. Trott, chairman of the 1941 seal sale for Johnson county, it is expected that this county will show the greatest increase in the state.

Note to Turkeys— Gov. Wilson Sets Date, It's Nov. 27

Gov. George A. Wilson has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 27 as Thanksgiving day in Iowa, as have the governors of 16 other states. The president has set Nov. 20 as Thanksgiving day.

Thus again some public offices will observe the holiday one week and others the following week, while a few will observe both.

After 1941, however, there will be no such confusion and double celebration. Earlier this year President Roosevelt announced that as the commercial benefits expected from moving Thanksgiving a week further ahead of the Christmas holiday had failed to develop, the date next year would be set back to the traditional one, the last Thursday in November.

Iowa City will observe Thanksgiving on Nov. 27, as set by the governor. Most public offices, banks and stores will be closed.

Postmaster Walter J. Barrow announced that the post office will be closed on that day and no city or rural delivery will be made. Collections will be made as usual, however.

The post office will be open all day Thursday, Nov. 20. Federal offices in Iowa City will be closed Nov. 20 but will remain open Nov. 27. All state offices and agencies will follow the governor's proclamation.

In 1942 it is expected that the entire nation will observe Thanksgiving on the same day.

Divorce Granted

A divorce was granted yesterday in Johnson county district court to Norma Swallow from her husband, Robert J. Swallow. According to the decree issued by Judge James P. Gaffney, the plaintiff may resume her maiden name, Norma Temple.

The special swimming pool committee of the city council is going to proceed with the municipal swimming pool program, the group reported yesterday at a special meeting of the city council.

In a detailed report to the council, the committee said it would continue its extensive study of swimming pools until such time as the city would be able to carry out the wishes of the people as expressed in a special Sept. 5.

In the report, the committee summarized previous findings called attention to the city connected with the which provides for the purchase of $22,500.
