Willkie Flays F.D.R. for Failure To Specify Clear Labor Policy

Suggests 2 Immediate Steps for Promotion of Peace in Ranks

'Lack of Consistent Policy' Has Caused Capital-Labor Friction

NEW YORK (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie charged the Roosevelt administration last night with failure to announce a clear and open policy for labor, and suggested that labor be given a share in the responsibility and policy-making of the government.

Advocates 2 Steps
Two immediate steps were advocated by the 1940 republican presidential nominee in a speech prepared for a dinner at which he was presented The Churchman award for 1941 "for the promotion of goodwill and better understanding among all peoples." They were:

(1) The organization of a labor board "truly representative of those they are supposed to represent." Public representatives would be appointed by the president; industry's representatives by organizations representing the industry, and labor's representatives by elements of both the AFL and CIO.

(2) Transformation of the department of labor "from a mere adjunct of government into a participant in government."

The nation's strength, productivity and ability to help in the fight against totalitarianism, Willkie asserted, were more seriously threatened today "than at any time since Adolf Hitler first menaced our freedom."

At the very moment when it is vitally important that our unity of purpose be made clear in order to deal most effectively with the foreign threat," he added, "we are weakened in the eyes of the totalitarian world by strife at home."

Envoy Evasive After Talk With Hull as Japan Hints

Kurusu Mission to Decide Future

TOKYO (AP)—Japan intimated yesterday that her decision as to how to define her obligations under the third clause of the axis pact—that clause which under some circumstances could be interpreted to mean a shooting alliance with Germany and Italy—might depend upon the result of Saburo Kurusu's mission to Washington.

This was the inference thrown out by Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo before a parliament that by its vast military appropriations and in its other actions had given elaborate manifestations of unity behind the government. It was at once accepted in some foreign quarters as a bargaining effort in which the empire was using her strongest diplomatic weapon: a threat to draw much closer to the

Nazi Air Hero Killed Testing Secret Weapon

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BERLIN (AP)—Col. Gen. Ernest Udet, German air hero of the first great war and charged in this conflict with the task of keeping Adolf Hitler's air force supreme, has been killed while testing a secret weapon, it was announced officially yesterday.

Udet, 45, and a quartermaster general of the air force, died Monday of injuries before he could be taken to a hospital. Adolf Hitler ordered a state funeral in his honor and the German press spoke proudly of his bravery.

New York Minister Held by Italian Police

ROME (AP)—Italian police yesterday arrested the Rev. Hiram Gruber Woolf of Elmira, N.Y., rector of the famous St. Paul's American Episcopal church in Rome, and held him incommunicado after informing U. S. embassy officials that his case was being investigated "on suspicion of intelligence activity."

The minister, who formerly held pulpits in Dresden and Munich, Germany, was arrested in his rectory at 9:30 a.m. Two days before he planned to conduct a Thanksgiving Day service at which he would have read President Roosevelt's annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation.

The official Italian news agency Stefani has circulated a version of this proclamation quoting Mr. Roosevelt as thanking "the God of the United States."

Nationwide Farmers Organization to Help Prevent Post-War Depression Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard announced yesterday a nationwide organization of farmers and department workers to help prevent a depression in the "post-war period."

Bluntly disputing usually accepted forecasts of a severe economic slump when present hostilities end, Wickard said that the department of agriculture "does not share this pessimism."

"We believe the country need never go through a major depression again," the secretary said in a memorandum. "We believe it is possible to maintain a national income greater than ever before in the history of the nation."

The cabinet member said a national committee had been set up within the department to draft a broad agricultural plan for a "post-war world in which we make full use of our man power and our

Say Nazis Striving 'With All Strength' To Reach Caucasus

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Red army of Soviet Russia reported today they were pressing the German invaders steadily back west and northwest of Moscow, but acknowledged a withdrawal in the Crimea and inter-ferentially confirmed other dispatches describing a new Nazi offensive about 200 miles south of Moscow.

The scenes of Russian successes as broadcast by the Moscow radio, were around Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of the capital, and Mozhaisk, 57 miles west.

Tremendous German pressure in the south and a Russian withdrawal toward the Caucasus on the Kerch peninsula of the Crimea were admitted, dovetailing with British information that the Nazi command was striving with all available strength to strike into the oil-rich Caucasus by both those routes.

Hitler's new field operation, as reported in British dispatches from the alternate Russian capital of Kuibyshev, was beating slowly forward east of Orel in a sector about 200 miles below Moscow and from the vicinity of Kursk, still farther south.

The master scheme, it thus appeared, was to isolate Rostov from central Russia with the hope of preventing reinforcement of the southern Red positions before the German air arm has full opportunity to concentrate the last ounce of its power upon both Rostov itself and over the Kerch strait below.

The Russians acknowledged early today that six German divisions, although "at a cost of colossal losses," had breached the Red defenses west of Kerch itself, capture of which the Nazis claimed on Monday, and the Soviet informant added:

"The enemy continues his offensive, and Soviet units are slowly retreating, offering stubborn resistance. Both sides are suffering heavy losses."

All this apparently referred to action of some time past; the British radio intimated as much in a broadcast saying that Russian troops in the Kerch area had been "safely evacuated to the Caucasus, along with their complete equipment and war materials."

A British authority declared the German air arm was far from what it had been—because of unfavorable weather, the shortage of plane replacements and the unending Russian campaign of attrition against German airfields—and would get at the Kerch strait and Rostov its first opportunity in some time of striking with numerical superiority in the sort of relatively confined areas where it had made its greatest reputation.

He added, in fact, that only in such limited though intense operations was Hitler's air force now capable of operations of high effect.

Wilson, and shots of the half-time maneuvers of the Iowa and Minnesota bands during the game.

Work Stoppage by Thousands of Miners In Sympathy With Captive Pit Unionists Imminent as Roosevelt Rebukes CIO Head

President Challenges Validity of Lewis' Demand For Union Shop; Blast Furnaces to Close Within '48 Hours'

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A work stoppage by thousands of commercial coal miners in sympathy with the strike of their fellow unionists in the captive pits became imminent last night after a day which saw further rebuke by President Roosevelt to John L. Lewis but no specific government action.

William Blizzard, district vice president of the CIO-United Mine Workers union in West Virginia, predicted that all the 550 mines in that state, employing 105,000 men, would be closed within 48 hours. Already 4,000 miners in one county have been out two days on a sympathy strike and tonight three mines in another county, employing 1,500 men, were reported idle.

Full Support of F.R.'s Foreign Policy Voted By CIO Convention

DETROIT, (AP)—Full support of President Roosevelt's foreign policy was voted by the Congress of Industrial Organizations at its annual convention yesterday while a group of followers of John L. Lewis sat in glum silence and refused to give their approval.

Delegates adopted a resolution commending the chief executive's "forthright" stand in the foreign field, attacking Charles A. Lindbergh—whose name provoked a scattering of hisses—and urging extension of all possible aid and co-operation to Great Britain, the Soviet union and China.

After a relay of 15 union leaders, with CIO President Philip Murray serving as oratorical anchor man had, endorsed the pronouncement, the sentiment of the convention was recorded on a standing vote.

A standing vote of those in opposition to the measure then was called for, but Lewis adherents abstained, and the resolution was ruled carried unanimously.

Senator George Asks F.R. to End Strikes Slowing U.S. Defense

VIENNA, Ga. (AP)—Senator Walter F. George yesterday called upon President Roosevelt to put an end to strikes in mines and industrial plants essential to the national defense.

"If the president has power to rid the high seas of German U-boats, he certainly has the power to execute the laws of the country and to give every man who is able and willing to work the opportunity to work in our mines and industrial plants," said the chairman of the senate finance committee who is visiting at his home here.

"The overwhelming majority of the workers do not favor strikes in defense industry; they are brought on by selfish dictators in positions of leadership."

Aerial Cadet Board To Stop in Iowa City Inspectors Will Examine Applicants Here December 13

During the months of November and December the seventh corps area traveling aviation cadet board will make a tour of the southern part of the seventh corps area to examine aviation cadet applicants.

The board, headed by Lt. Colonel Harry Kendall, will be in Fort Des Moines on Nov. 20 and 21; Sioux City, Dec. 10; Ames, Dec. 11; Dubuque, Dec. 12; Iowa City, Dec. 13, and Ottumwa, Dec. 15.

Applicants for the examinations must be unmarried American citizens between the ages of 20 and 26 inclusive. An excellent physical and moral condition is also required.

In lieu of two years of satisfactory college credits, a written examination is given covering English grammar and composition, arithmetic, algebra, plane geometry, plane trigonometry and two of the following subjects: United States history, general history, elementary physics, inorganic chemistry and a modern foreign language.

The aviation cadet course runs for approximately nine months, during which time the cadet is paid $75 per month and is given clothing, food and lodging. Upon successful completion of the training period the cadet is given his wings and commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve.

While in the Reserve he must agree to serve on active duty in an air corps unit where he is given pay and allowances amounting to $245 per month.

According to a recent announcement from the war department, a change in the method of appointments of aviation cadets is now in effect. Under the new system applicants will go to an air corps reception center such as Kelly field, Texas, almost immediately after their application has been reviewed in Washington. Formerly, approximately 30 to 90 days would elapse before actual appointment as an aviation cadet could be accomplished.

The seventh corps area is composed of nine of the middle western states and has a quota of 300 aviation cadets.

In addition to the pilot applicants, the war department has requested 110 navigation candidates for each of the October, November and December classes.

Two years of college credits, including courses in college algebra and trigonometry, are the minimum educational requirements. While pay and allowances are the same as for pilot training, the physical requirements are slightly less rigid.

10,000 U.S. Citizens In Canadian Armies, Toronto Debaters Say

Two visiting University of Toronto debaters, David M. Hayne and E. S. Kirkland, spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon yesterday on "Canada and the War."

According to Hayne, the difference between our conscription and Canada's is that ours is selective while theirs is universal. Every man between the ages of 21 and 24 is automatically conscripted there, he added.

America has 10,000 volunteers in the Canadian army and eight per cent of the Royal Canadian Air Force is composed of men from the United States.

The war has made visible change in Canada, Hayne said, and the sight of barbed-wire fences and men in uniform is a very common one.

"Business activity is much more intense," Kirkland said, and explained that Canada's problem is to keep civilian expenditures down to prevent inflation.

The extent of the Canadian loss of democratic liberties is very little, the speakers pointed out. Although the Canadian civilian is now living under handicaps, he still has his civil liberties and is able to criticize the government's war activities.

Hayne and Kirkland in Iowa City for the 18th annual international debate with the university, have visited seven midwestern universities on their American tour.

Toronto Debaters Advocate a Post War Program Similar to League of Nations

Canadian and Iowa debaters met last night to discuss a question of vital importance to all nations, "Resolved, That the United States Should Initiate a Reconstruction of the League of Nations."

E. S. Kirkland and David M. Hayne, representing Toronto, defended the affirmative issues. Howard Hines, A3 of Iowa City, and Gordon Hostettler, G of Kent, Ohio, upheld the negative for Iowa. Dean Emeritus George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts introduced the speakers.

Kirkland advocated the establishment of a league similar to the former League of Nations, pointing out that it was successful except in settling certain international disputes. The International Labor organization, and the Permanent Court of Justice, both established by the League, have made advances in economic, humanitarian and administrative reforms.

United States selfishness and lack of cooperation.

Hayne said, "The United States is the ideal founder of a League of Nations." He supported this view with contentions of power, geographical position, and foreign policy.

Gordon Hostettler, speaking for the negative Iowa team, stated, "The fundamental purpose of the League is to prevent war, and there it has failed." He cited Japan, Ethiopia, Munich and Austria as examples of that failure.

As a counter plan, Hostettler suggested continuation of United States cooperation with Great Britain to bring about economic adjustment and maintain peace without incurring the disadvantages of a League of Nations.

In his second appearance, Hines supported his colleague's plan by saying, "The United States should harness Anglo-American policies to work for mutual objectives."

Kirkland said, "The League was not made up to prevent war, but to erect safeguards against it." He and Hayne maintained that the failure of the League to prevent war has been partially due to the inability of the United States to recognize its moral obligation in world planning.

Both teams admitted the necessity for a post war program, the affirmative upholding the League of Nations, and the Negative denying that a League was required to establish peace.

Wellek to Lecture On Baconian Program

English Instructor Will Speak Tomorrow In Senate Chamber

Prof. Rene Wellek of the English department will speak on "The Parallelism Between Literature and the Other Arts" at the fourth Baconian lecture tomorrow night at 7:30 in Senate Chamber, Old Capitol.

He will discuss the questions, "Of what use are the comparisons and parallels drawn between literature and the other arts?" and "Which of these methods are legitimate and have led to illuminating results?"

According to Professor Wellek, a number of English and German authors use parallels in literature which are little more than extended metaphors or strained similes. He will reopen the question of the value of comparisons with specific instances taken from literature and fine arts as the basis for his answer to the question.

More research in literary history is not sufficient, Professor Wellek said. He believes that the highest aim of the literary historian is the writing of literary history.

Professor Wellek's latest book was written for the most part during his four-year stay in London when he was lecturing on Czechoslovakian language and literature at the school of Slavonic studies of the University of London. He has also taught at the University of Prague, and for two years was an instructor at Princeton university, Princeton, N. J.

The lecture he is to give tomorrow night will be printed later this year by the Columbia university press in the "English Institute Annual."

Speaks in Des Moines

Prof. Thomas Hewitson Roberts of the college of education will speak on "The Australian Farmer in Peace and War" tomorrow at the annual convention of the Iowa farm bureau federation in Des Moines.

BALLOON HOUSE MAY FILL NEED

Round-shaped houses like the above may soon dot the suburbs of Washington, D. C., as the building industry strives heroically to keep pace with the national capital's housing needs. Under this method of construction, giant balloons are inflated, covered with wire and then sprayed with concrete. After the concrete hardens, the balloon is deflated and— presto—you have the sturdy shell of a house large enough to contain two bedrooms, living room with fireplace, kitchen and bath.

Youths' Problems

—To Find Effect on Personality

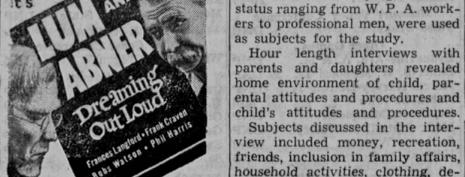

Two o'clock in the morning—cautious footsteps on the stairs—the harsh voice of a worried parent—"Sally, you know we never let you stay out later than 12 o'clock after school parties"—a young girl's tears—and another difficulty has been added to the problem of parent-child relationships. This is one of the typical problems studied in a recent research carried out by Helen Martin Brown, G of Ottumwa, under the direction of Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann of the child welfare department. The research sought to discover how such traditional attitudes as the one exhibited by Sally's parents would affect her personality, and also to determine how a more scientific adaptive attitude used in the same case would affect the development of the adolescent.

Trend Existed Towards Higher Personality Scores

Results of this research have implications for parent education and for all who deal with children or young people. Hannibal Gobblers' Photocrime . . .

1. Last seen parading down East Washington courtyard, His Royal Highness, Thomas the Turkey, was taking a strut before council meeting, wearing his striped morning coat and low crown.

2. It was reported from closest companions that His Majesty paled before the calendar on the date noted as November 27. His consternation was marked by intimate friends, who supposed he was worrying about his income tax.

3. Suspect No. 467, who was found approaching the victim with suspicious gestures, drooping jowls and a wicked gleam in his right eye, is being held for questioning by the local royal police force in regard to the assassination of His Majesty.

Now YOU Decide

"Who Done It"

The answer to this week's Photocrime is not suspect No. 467, as you might have guessed. The real clue to the solution of the Thanksgiving problem lies with your local grocer. It is he who will kill and dress the victim of your Thanksgiving dinner—the choicest turkey of the size you want. Save yourself the worry of Thanksgiving dinner problems by consulting him soon, and watch for his Specials this week in the Daily Iowan Classified Department.
