After Announcing Plans to Remain Completely Neutral—

Argentina Joins With U.S.

TANKER MALAY REACHES PORT AFTER SURVIVING SUB ATTACK

The shelled and torpedoed tanker Malay is pictured arriving at an eastern port with 29 of its crew members waving a defiant V for Victory greeting to onlookers. It was the first of four ships to be attacked by subs in the Atlantic coastal waters to remain afloat and make port. The shell hole in the deck indicates the severity of the attack which killed one crew member and left four missing.

Agrees to Sever Ties With Axis U.S. Proposes Plan to Weld American Republics Together

WASHINGTON (Wide World)—The United States yesterday played its ace card against Adolf Hitler in Latin America. That card was the plan which government sources disclosed had been proposed to the conference of American foreign ministers at Rio de Janeiro—to weld the whole new world into a single economic unit. One effect of playing this card now was to prove to the other American republics, once and for all, that the "good neighbor" policy is sincere and not merely the disguise for Yankee imperialism, which axis agents in the Latin lands have alleged it to be. The criticism Latins have made of the "good neighbor" policy up to now has been that it was "too much talk and not enough brass tacks."

After Days of Indecision Chile, Argentina Declare Intentions to Join Other Republics

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Argentina and Chile swung into line with the 19 other American republics last night in a declaration of intention to sever diplomatic relations with the axis. Argentina, considered from the very start of the current conference of foreign ministers as the most likely obstacle to unanimity behind such a declaration, accepted the compromise plan without reservation. Chile's foreign minister Juan Bautista Rossetti, however, made the reservation that he would have to consult his government. From the start he had insisted that Chile's special geographical situation affected her position. A four-point statement was thrashed out in a series of talks among the conference leaders, the climax being a session in the office of foreign minister Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, at which adherence of the two reluctant powers finally was won. Besides Aranha and Rossetti, those attending were U.S. under-secretary of state Sumner Welles, Argentine foreign minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu and Peruvian foreign minister Alfredo Solís Muro.

Chief Nelson Streamlines War Industry

Gives Subordinates Complete Authority 'To Get Job Done'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asserting that "debating societies" were out, Donald M. Nelson, generalissimo of American war production, announced a revised war-industry set up yesterday with key men given authority to "get the job done." He called it, at a press conference, a general "streamlining" of the old production organization, but still an "interim organization," subject to change as experience may demonstrate that change is necessary. Essentially, it consisted of passing on to his subordinates the powers which the president gave him as chairman of the war production board, relieving himself of administrative detail so he may function as general director of the program. For instance, Nelson stressed it as typical, he announced that Ernest Kanzler, an old associate of Henry Ford, had been made head of a committee for the automobile industry, charged essentially with converting that industry to war production. Kanzler will move to Detroit, make decisions on the spot, and hold all the authority to get the job done that was vested in Nelson himself. But first of all, Nelson said, it was necessary that the men in charge know what was needed. So he is establishing a committee on requirements, under William L. Batt. The committee will be composed of representatives of the army, the navy, the lease-lend administration, and the maritime commission. In addition to providing an overall estimate of needs, he said, Batt will allocate the percentages of available materials which will go into production for each.

45 Seamen Die as Enemy Subs Sink Two Ships off East Coast

U.S., Latvian Vessels Torpedoed in Attack Near North Carolina

Axis Score Brought To Five Ships Sunk, One Badly Damaged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two more ships in American coastal waters—the 5,209-ton City of Atlanta and the 3,779-ton Latvian steamer Ciltvaira—and 45 more seamen were added yesterday to the known toll of enemy submarines prowling off the Atlantic shore. The vessels were beset early Monday morning off the Carolina coast and the navy made public the details today when the 33 survivors reached port. The City of Atlanta was sunk; the Ciltvaira, torpedoed amidships, was abandoned by her crew in a flooded and sinking condition.

After reporting attacks on four tankers off the Atlantic coast, three of which were sunk, the navy department announced in a communique yesterday that these sinkings "have been accompanied by attacks on other vessels within the territorial limits of the United States," referring to the "Atlantic area."

Whether the City of Atlanta and the Ciltvaira completed the roster of these "other vessels" subjected to attack was not stated. The two developments brought the enemy score to at least four, and probably five, ships destroyed in its recent campaign in American waters, with one other damaged.

Twenty-one members of the Ciltvaira's crew were set ashore at Charleston, S.C., by an American tanker. Nine officers and crewmen aboard a second rescue vessel, the S.S. Bury of Brazil, were en route to port. Two men of the Ciltvaira's crew were reported dead.

Only 2 Escape
Of the roster of 46 officers and men on the City of Atlanta, only two were known to have survived the sinking. They were in a New York hospital. One was known to be dead and the 43 others were classified as missing.

The navy described the City of Atlanta as a steamer 377.5 feet long and 49 feet in the beam. She was built at Chester, Pa., in 1904 and was operated by the ocean steamship corporation with Savannah, Ga., as home port.

Exultant Red Army Troops Continue Rolling Westward

MOSCOW (AP)—The exultant Russian soldiers, yesterday's communique said. "The Germans are suffering heavy losses, particularly in the south," the bulletin added. In recapturing Moshaisk, held out bastion of the German advance on Moscow from the west and a point at which the Germans had erected their strongest type of fortification, the Russians captured at least 20 guns, 76 motor vehicles, three warehouses with munitions and other equipment, according to "incomplete preliminary data" given in the communique.

On the southwestern front a series of violent German counterattacks were repulsed with the aid of cavalry and artillery, other dispatches stated.

England's Canterbury Archbishop Resigns

Dr. Lang Quits Post As Head of Church of England; Aged 77

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON—The most reverend Cosmo Gordon Lang, stern primarist who was perhaps the most powerful single factor in the abdication of King Edward VIII, resigned yesterday as Archbishop of Canterbury, calling for a younger man to take his place and prepare the Church of England for its tasks in post-war reconstruction.

In crimson robe, the 77-year-old archbishop, highest peer in the realm save for the royal family, made the announcement from the dais of the medieval college hall of Westminster Abbey to the convocation of Canterbury.

He set the date for his resignation as March 31. It was considered likely in some quarters that the king would designate 60-year-old Dr. William Temple, present Archbishop of York, to succeed him.

Dr. Lang reached the highest office of the church in 1928.

Rangoon Casualties Heavy
LONDON (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from New Delhi, India, yesterday said 1,102 persons were killed and 1,650 injured in Japanese air attacks on Rangoon, capital of Burma, Dec. 23 and Dec. 25.

5 Senators Walk Out Of Price Conference

Try to Speed Action Of House Conferees On Price Control Act

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an unusual move to speed action on the price control measure, five senators walked out of a joint congressional conference yesterday to let the house conferees try to reach an agreement among themselves as to their position on senate proposals.

Chairman Brown (D-Mich) of the senate conferees told reporters that "we had hoped to complete an agreement today and we will do it tomorrow noon if the house members can agree among themselves."

Brown and other senators said they expected a compromise along these lines:

Farm prices—Prohibition of any ceilings below the highest of these four levels: actual farm prices on Oct. 1, on Dec. 15, average farm prices of 1919-20, or 110 per cent of parity. This would eliminate the attempt of Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) to tie farm parity prices to industrial wage levels. Single administrator—This would eliminate a special review board approved by the house.

Allies Halt Japs Above Singapore as Enemy Begins Offensive Against Australian Islands

R.R. Passenger Fares Increase 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 10 per cent increase in railroad passenger fares, estimated to yield $45,000,000 annually on the basis of 1941 business, was granted the railroads yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The increase will apply to all fares except the 1 1/2 cent a mile rate allowed members of the military or naval forces traveling on furlough and extra fares charged on certain trains.

The new rates will become effective ten days after the railroads have filed tariffs with the I.C.C.

Detroit City Council Defies Union to Strike

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit city council yesterday defied the city employees union (AFL) to fulfill a promise to strike at 4 a.m. Friday and thereby disrupt vital services and paralyze facilities of thousands of defense workers.

By a vote of 8 to 1, the council rejected demands of the union for a 15 per cent blanket wage increase for municipal workers. The union, meantime, remained firm, but said a mass meeting of its members would be held tonight.

Nippon War Planes In Large Scale Raids On Archipelago Group

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Japanese invader apparently had been shelled to a halt last night in the most critical Malayan sector before Singapore and had suffered a first-rank defeat by the American Filipino army on Luzon, but he was developing a dangerous offensive upon the island approaches to anxious Australia.

Here, along the eastern end of a 4,000-mile ocean battle-line, Japanese warplanes struck with such tremendous power as to suggest they were attempting to clear the way for invasion attempts. Prime Minister Curtin told the Australians that the menace to that far southern allied position was now "nearer, clearer and deadlier than ever."

Attacked were Kavieng in the northern Bismarck archipelago; Madang, Salamula, Bulolo and Lae in British New Guinea.

And, further to the west but still in the Australian zone, the Dutch acknowledged that the enemy had wholly occupied Minahassa peninsula in northern Celebes island. (See FAR EAST, page 8)

Auto Dealers Ask Legislative Help

CHICAGO (AP)—The men who sell the nation's automobiles called upon congress for legislative help yesterday as they looked ahead to business restricted by rationing and the prohibition of car production.

Members of the National Automobile Dealers Association, representing 42,000 retail sales firms in all parts of the United States, adopted a resolution urging the law makers to authorize President Roosevelt to fix a fair price for autos.

U.S. Will Take Over Sixty-Nine More Ships

NEW YORK (AP)—The Maritime commission has directed 10 steamship companies to make available for government use 39 remaining ships in the intercoastal trade.

Shipping men recalled the intercoastal ships were diverted to other trades during the last war when American flag ships were scarce.

Marine circles said withdrawal of the intercoastal fleet would force the railroads to absorb approximately 6,000,000 long tons annually.

Burma Defense Holds Nippon, Thai Invader

Intense Battle Rages On Mountain Slope In Kawkaek Area

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's air and ground defenders effected a strong coordinated defense last night in heavy fighting against mixed Japanese and Thai invaders who had struck almost a third of the way across lower Burma toward the Gulf of Martaban.

An intense struggle raged on the mountain slope near Kawkaek, 20 miles inside the Burma-Thailand border and about 45 miles east of the city of Moulmein, on the tidewater gulf almost directly opposite Rangoon.

British aircraft were in the battle itself and British bombers with fighter escorts struck hard at Thailand's Rohaing (Raheng) air-drome east of the battlefield.

This second major enemy incursion into southern Burma was first reported Tuesday, and for a time the British held the invaders in check near Myawaddi, border town in the Dawna mountain range. But the enemy finally swarmed through the mountain passes, striking down the road to Kawkaek.

What official attitude the British will take toward Thailand was not known. It was pointed out that the Thai soldiers may be "volun-

Obstacle for Women Doctors: Where to Find Interne Positions?

After four years of rigorous medical training, women medical students find themselves up against one of the greatest problems in pursuing a career, which up until a century ago was limited to men only. The problem is, "Where can I secure my internship?"

If the hospitals are not listed as accepting women internes, naturally students do not apply there. However, many hospitals which are listed in the Medical Journal as accepting women internes do not live up to their promises.

There is another case where a teaching hospital had been taking a few women as internes for quite a number of years, then suddenly in 1936 it refused admittance to women and has refused since that time.

Women doctors feel that the best method of opening the doors closed to them in various hospitals is for the individual woman to work unceasingly toward this end.

Prospective women internes will work hard to incur the favor of the hospitals of their choice, so that they may interne there, but they also need the support and cooperation of the hospitals and their staffs.

Time Out for a Look At the Men and Their Hats—

The witchery of transportation has enlarged man's hat. It is now one-eighth size larger and pulls down closer to his ears to anchor itself against the wind.

Chicago's men are the barometers of fashion which varies by cycles rather than by season. Two-thirds of the hats are sold in the spring because May 15 is the official debut of the Panama hat.

A man buys his hat the way he buys his hamburgers—on the run. He doesn't take his wife along. His hat is apt to be a replica of last year's hat which is a replica of last year's hat and so on down the perspective.

His head is much longer than he thinks. It may bulge irregularly and be bigger in the front or back. A round head like that of the Japanese and Chinese is hard to fit because it is difficult to shape a hat to fit it.

Some folks think that you can tell about a man's nature by the wiggle he puts in his hat or the way he hangs it on his head. That may be true, because variations result from man's fancy rather than from fashion.

In these days of revolution one wonders if there is cause for further change in another blue moon. It is strange that these low-built autos have not called for collapsible hats operating like the opera goers'.

And convertible coupes, it would seem, should have ordered lassos attached to the hat to be worn around the neck similar to the string attached to the rider's hat.

Vagaries and pathos have shaped men's hats. No laws have trimmed them. Rather the Shea bill curbed the extravaganzas of women's fads when it prohibited the possession and sale of wild bird plumage.

Have you ever known of a bandbox that was in the possession of any man?

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

The Wily Jap Just Outsmarted British in Malayan Advance—

WASHINGTON—Jap success in the "impenetrable" jungle of Malaya is not hard to understand. Their tactics have contributed nothing new to warfare. No new weapons have been unveiled.

To get a notion of what happened there—to disturb again world notions of defensive security—it is necessary first to appreciate that the peninsula is not all jungle. Tin and rubber industries have built fairly good roads through much of the territory along the coast.

The British defense relied on the sea on one side, the jungle on the other and over-estimated the defensive nature of rice fields (through which Jap tanks rolled without much effort).

The flank protection of the sea and jungle was broken down by the elementary Jap device of circumvention. When the British formed a strong line, the Japs merely moved around it on both sides with small bodies of troops.

The jungle side was penetrated by especially-trained Jap troops, armed with machetes to cut a path to the British rear. The troops were trained with simulated jungle conditions in China and Indo China for this purpose.

The sea flank proved even easier for them. Seizing numerous small fishing boats as they progressed, they loaded, say 50 to 100 men in each of the 20 boats and dropped perhaps 2,000 soldiers down the peninsula at night into some bay behind the British fortified line, to cut wires, threaten supplies and create havoc.

As a result the Jap jungle blitz has apparently broken some German records for speed. They supplied themselves by sea on the east coast, unmolested except by submarines after the disastrous sinking of the British battleships Prince of Wales and Repulse. Their supplies on the west coast went down by rail from Bangkok and Indo China where they had amassed an abundance before starting the invasion.

Japs Could Hardly Lose—

The British were outnumbered 4 to 1, and soon saw that valor could not overcome their deficiency in numbers, planes and anti-tank material (including tanks). The Jap medium and light tanks found the bamboo paries of the jungle easy going, and small rubber tree plantations no barrier. Seizing the local commercial air fields as they advanced, they were always able to provide dive bombers for use (like the nazis) against particularly well defended machine gun or artillery posts at the front.

Thus with supremacy of numbers and equipment on land, sea (east coast) and in the air, they could hardly lose.

A fatal British error was their confidence that Thailand would fight and delay the advance until they could bring up sufficient planes, tanks and troops. As the Australian officials now are shouting, someone in London erred. By the time the error was discovered it was too late to get an appreciable number of bombers to that faraway field (apparently they had a fair number of pursuits and even used them as bombers, dumping small bombs over the side by hand in some instances).

It was just another case of "too little and too late."

Needed: Standard Plane Eyes—

The bad news of the Truman committee on aircraft production ("too few planes to allow adequate flying time to our own pilots") came from aircraft manufacturers themselves. Chairman Truman blames the variety of designs accepted by the war department, is trying to get the department to adopt a standard pursuit ship, a standard two-engine bomber and standard four-engine bomber.

Red Victory Looms in Black Sea Area—

The official pipeline from Moscow to officials here makes no particular boasts but is very hopeful. One of the outstanding achievements of the campaign has been unrecorded. Italy was to have put forces into Bulgaria and joined forces with the Bulgarians for a drive at the oil fields, but has backed down since the nazi reverses. If the reds can crack the southernmost tip of the nazi line at Taganrog, they expect a nazi withdrawal from the Black Sea area of far-reaching nature.

LAND AT LAST?

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

New York's Still A Safe Place to Be—

NEW YORK—Without any wish to pose as a tub-thumper for the Business Men's League or the Chamber of Commerce, I must express the opinion that in an air raid New York would be every bit as safe as an Ozark cave, war and the long range bomber notwithstanding.

I say this because this ex-Dutch village by the sea is one of the traditional vacation spots of the nation, and many out-of-towners are wondering what effect the war should play on their vacation plans.

Defense plants are the natural targets of bombers, but we haven't a single defense plant in the city. We're protected by five major U. S. Army forts and a great interceptor Command that offers vigilance 24 hours a day.

Most of the buildings, hotels and theaters in New York are well built and have been declared "safe." The personnel of these amusement centers, especially the hotels and theaters, has been rigidly trained for such emergencies. I mention places of amusement because that is where visitors naturally congregate, and that is one reason why so many Americans are flying in the Canadian forces abroad.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Names of Stars Still Spell Success—

HOLLYWOOD—Any would-be movie uplifter with lingering doubts as to the most potent single element in audience appeal need only to attend a sneak preview. It is names. Star names. And every preview trenches the star system more firmly, makes producers willing and eager to court the reigning favorites, and meet—if possible—their financial demands.

It works very simply. An audience, surprised by an unheard-of extra movie, awaits with skepticism the first credit flashes. If those credits are topped by "hot" names, the picture is off to a good start before its first sequence is unveiled.

A good movie minus star names can make the grade on its own, but still doesn't do as well as a mediocre movie bolstered by favorites. Producers are in the audience, each reaction intensified and magnified by their own personal agencies over the first try-out of their celluloid babies. To them a cheer for a name means that its owner, next time, probably will be harder to get; that collective sigh of resignation over another name means that next time, the producer will ponder whether that name is worth getting at all.

Later, on reflection, he may decide that performance matters too. In the pangs of previewing (where many a producer first nurtures the stomach ulcers which are the legendary symbol of his profession) that first sign of audience indifference is enough to send the unhappy fellow off into frenzied determination to bag Mickey Rooney, Clark Gable, Abbott and Costello and Bob Hope all together for his next picture—and let the cost and other details take care of themselves.

Patriotic note: June Hovoc's new bugle bird has been dubbed "Yankee Doodle."

Hope springs eternal: From Jerry Sackheim's script of "The Night Before the Divorce" is this wistful note concerning a sequence featuring a small ballalaika orchestra: "The men play a haunting Russian peasant song—NOT 'Dark Eyes,' I hope'."

One of the records Jane Withers hung up at the 20th before they parted company was that of being the studio's most photographed pilot. Even Shirley Temple was not snapped as often.

What price health and physique? John Payne says it's $3,000 a year for him—cost including steam baths, sparring partners, athletic club memberships, a trainer, rub-downs and so on.

Patricia Morrison is listed in New York City birth records as Ursula, but she was christened in London as Eileen Patricia Augusta (correct) Fraser Morrison.

Helene Fortescue Reynolds studied violin three years and piano five. She can play "America" on the fiddle and "Chopsticks" on the piano.

War Campaign Hits $9,800

County Contributions Raise Drive's Total $1,900 Above Quota

Proceeds from the county Red Cross war fund drive for $7,900, continued a sharp rise yesterday and jumped from Tuesday's $8,900 total to a high mark of $9,800 late in the afternoon.

Contributions from outlying towns and county townships greatly swelled the total, Red Cross officials stated. Approximately $1,441 was received from the townships alone.

Outlying towns making reports were Solon, $292.25; Tiffin, $73.10; Oxford, $118.75; Swisher, $134.25; Hills, $163.10; Coralville, $140.30; and Oakdale, $88.

Townships reporting were Monroe, $149.05; Oxford, $201.75; Madison, $123.20; Penn, $121.75; Newport, $109.75; Scott, $229; Union, $215.80; West Lucas $56; Washington, $5; Big Grove, $180.35; Liberty, $92.15; Clear Creek, $3. Cedar, $379.50; East Lucas, $89.50; Graham, $137.95; Hardin, $124.85; and Jefferson, $68.91.

J. J. Swanner, general drive chairman, urged that all solicitors working in and near Iowa City make complete reports as quickly as possible so that the drive may be concluded soon.

Dr. J. Allen Gives Demonstration Tests For Ophthalmologists

Tests for entrance in the army and navy air corps were demonstrated by Dr. J. H. Allen of the university ophthalmology department when he spoke on phases of aviation medicine at the Lions club luncheon yesterday noon.

The hardest and most important test is the eye examination, according to Dr. Allen. Approximately 50 per cent of the applicants for the air corps are eliminated because of failure to pass it.

Other tests named by Dr. Allen were those testing ability to judge distances or depth perception, recognition of colors, hearing, sense of equilibrium and condition of teeth.

"Our most difficult question is to determine the mental equipment of prospective pilots," the speaker said. "Men who make high scores on these reaction tests are usually good pilots, but sometimes those who fail the tests are

Informations Filed Against Tavern Owners

County Atty. Edward F. Rate yesterday filed informations in district court against four Johnson county tavern operators, all charged with illegal possession of gambling devices.

According to the informations, State Agent Forrest E. Dougan confiscated six slot machines at three taverns in Hills Jan. 14.

In the other instance Sheriff Preston Koser and Deputy Albert J. Murphy confiscated one 5-cent machine in the Leo J. Graetz beer tavern at Morse Jan. 8.

Dougan confiscated one 10-cent and one 5-cent machine at the Red Rose tavern operated by Charles Skriver, the information states, while at Babe's Stop Inn tavern, operated by George Cooney, one 5-cent machine was taken.

In the other information, filed against Robert Droll, three 5-cent slot machines were reported confiscated by the state agent from Droll's tavern.

In each case, bond was fixed at $500.

Patrolman I. W. Warner Grants Drivers Licenses To 18 and Refuses 6

Eighteen driving licenses were granted and six refused yesterday by Highway Patrolman I. W. Warner, in charge of examinations for driving licenses.

In addition to the operating permits, 13 persons appeared at the courthouse to take chauffeur permit examinations but only six passed.

Six duplicate licenses were authorized by Warner and 11 chauffeur renewals were granted.

Schroedermier—Quaas

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Schroedermier of Cedar Rapids have announced the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Ellen, to Kenneth Marvin Quaas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Quaas of Robbins. They were married Dec. 25 in Cedar Rapids.

The bride attended Coe college in Cedar Rapids and was graduated from the University of Iowa. She was a member of Delta Zeta

AUXILIARY POLICE

Auxiliary Police will be identified by a red shield within white triangle set in blue circle.

During emergencies, such as air raids, fires, floods, etc., men and women volunteers will be needed to aid local police.

Auxiliary Police officers may be called upon to aid in enforcement of emergency restrictions on lighting and trespassing; guarding docks, bridges and factories against sabotage; guarding against the looting of partially demolished shops and homes.

The wearing of this insignia is limited to workers enrolled as Auxiliary Police in the Civilian Defense Organization.

Three Petitions Filed Yesterday in Johnson County Clerk's Office

Three Plaintiffs Ask Judgments Totalling $5,859 of Defendants

James Lons yesterday filed a petition in Clerk of Court R. Neilson Miller's office asking $5,150 judgment from C. Ernal Loghry on a business transaction.

The petition states that on July 1, 1940, the plaintiff sold a restaurant to Loghry for $8,000, of which a payment of only $300 has been made on a promissory note.

Lons' petition says that fire damaged the property on which he collected $2,700 insurance, but that the total indebtedness now due and owing from the defendant is $5,150 with interest.

Lons asks that the defendant's personal property be sold to satisfy his lien and indebtedness on the property. He further seeks attorney's fees and costs of the action.

Atty. William F. Morrison represents the plaintiff.

Asks $482.75 Judgment

In another action filed yesterday, Grace P. Smith asks $482.75 judgment against the Great American Indemnity company of New York on an insurance contract.

The petitioner seeks to collect insurance for $482.75 worth of property stolen from 69 River-view.

Attorney Morrison also represents the plaintiff in this action.

H. J. Dane Files Petition

H. J. Dane is plaintiff in another petition filed Tuesday, seeking $126.97 damages from Clarence A. and Margaret Conklin as the result of automobile collision.

Dane's petition alleges that a car driven by Margaret Conklin crashed into the plaintiff's car driven by his wife, Ethel R. Dane, at the intersection of Madison and Burlington streets.

He seeks $98.97 for repairs on the car and $28 for loss of the vehicle while it was being repaired.

Atty. Emil G. Trott represents Dane.

Grand Larceny Charge Faces Merrell Morford

An information charging Merrell Morford with grand larceny was filed late Tuesday in T. M. Fairchild's justice of the peace court by John W. Sullivan.

The defendant was accused of stealing five silver dollars, six two-dollar bills, a man's signet ring, a lady's ring with ruby set and a lady's three-spring brace let.

Competitive Exams For Civil Service

The United States civil service commission has announced examinations this week for the positions listed below. The subaltern is the only one requiring a written test. For the others, applicants will be rated on qualifications shown in their applications.

Training specialist, $2,600 to $5,600 a year, three optional fields: diversified techniques, motion-picture technique and trade and industrial. Applications may be submitted until further notice.

Subaltern, $1,800 a year, for employment in CCC. Closing date for application is March 3, 1942.

Radio operator, $1,800 and $1,620 a year. Applications may be submitted until further notice.

The following examinations have been announced for duty in Washington, D. C. and vicinity only:

Telegraph operator, $1,800 a year; closing date, March 3, 1942. Communications machine operator, $1,620 a year; closing date, March 3, 1942. Under graphotype operator, $1,260 a year; applications may be submitted until further notice.

Former SUI Student Called to Active Duty

Lieut. Commander Chester D. Awe of El Paso, Tex., graduate of the University of Iowa, has been called to active duty with the navy, according to an announcement yesterday by the eighth naval district headquarters.

Lieut. Commander Awe received his M.D. degree from the university in 1923 and took five years of post-graduate work in diagnosis and internal medicine here. He was an instructor in internal medicine and physical diagnosis at the university from 1925 to 1928 when he entered private practice.

170,000 Iowa Men To Register Feb. 16

Approximately 170,000 male residents of Iowa between the ages of 20 and 45 will be registered by the 120 local boards on Feb. 16.

CAP Wants 120 Men For Ground Crew, Mechanics, Observers

A need for 120 applicants for positions in the Iowa City branch of the CAP was disclosed yesterday by local civil air patrol officials.

Anyone interested in applying for service in the patrol need not be a licensed pilot. Positions open are those of observers, mechanics and ground crew personnel.

Any person who applies must be approved by the federal bureau of investigation and must furnish three photos of himself and have his fingerprints recorded at the local police station.

Application blanks may be obtained from Paul Shaw, John Piper or Jack Beigle at their offices.

City Residents Urged To Return Xmas Seals

Atty. Emil G. Trott, chairman of the 1941 Johnson county tuberculosis Christmas seal sale, yesterday said that business college students are addressing reminder cards to Iowa City residents who have not replied to letters sent before Christmas.

Contributions for the city this year have reached $2,650 exceeding the $2,000 total last year. Attorney Trott said that the increase was due largely to the increased student response.

Persons who have not yet returned either the seals or the money for them are urged to do so at once, the chairman said.

V. Clear Files Suit For $20,885 Damages

Dr. M. L. Mosher Charged With Failure To Drive Carefully

Vince Clear filed a petition in district court yesterday against Dr. M. L. Mosher, asking $20,885 for injuries and damages resulting from an automobile collision.

Clear's petition states that on Nov. 5, 1941, while driving east on highway No. 6 four miles west of Iowa City, the defendant's car crashed into the plaintiff's car.

Clear charges Mosher with carelessness and negligence and failure to yield one-half of the highway.

The plaintiff states that he received a compound basal skull fracture, lacerations of the face, wrenched back, one ear drum pierced and smashed, shock and severe physical and mental pain.

It was stated in the petition that he was confined to a hospital 17 days, a month at home and was unable to operate his business for a period of two months.

Clear seeks $70 for medical attention, $300 for hospital expenses, $195 for loss of time, $320 damages to his car and $20,000 for permanent injuries and pain and suffering.

Atty. Edward L. O'Connor represents Clear.

New Technical Units Start Next Semester

Engineering Students Eligible for Studies Created for Wartime

New technical courses in the field of electrical communication designed to develop men for service in the war emergency will be offered during the second semester beginning February 2.

A course in ultra high frequency techniques will be offered by the electrical engineering department under the instruction of Prof. Edward Kurtz. Only senior electrical engineers, major and graduate students in physics are eligible.

Graduates of the course will be equipped to work in various sections of the armed forces, government research and development, industry, teaching and the group replacement program for service in England, Professor Kurtz announced.

To help meet the need for 100,000 men in this field, courses in electronics, will also be added to the second semester curriculum. Men trained for this type of work are needed especially in the aircraft warning service of the United States signal corps.

The electronics courses offered in the physics department include one for those who wish assignment in the field of electronics upon joining the armed forces. It is open to junior and senior men. Prof. C. J. Lapp will be in charge.

An advanced course under Prof. E. P. Tyndall will be open to junior and senior men having a college course in electricity or its equivalent.

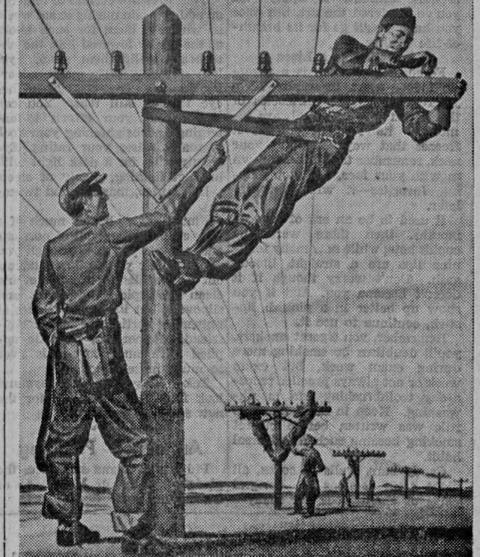

The university is one of 40 institutions co-operating in a large scale training plan in the field of advanced electrical communication.

Esther Bunn, Capt. Leroy Funk Exchange Vows in Single Ring Ceremony Saturday

Esther Bunn and Capt. Leroy Funk of Muscatine exchanged marriage vows in the chapel of St. Francis E. Warren in Cheyenne, Wyo., Saturday at 4 p.m. in a single ring ceremony. White candles and bouquets of snapdragons were the setting in the chapel.

Mrs. Funk is the sister of William Bunn of Muscatine and was given in marriage by Major Howard W. Dix of Ft. Warren. Captain Funk is a 1941 graduate of the University.

The wedding marches of Lohengrin and Mendelssohn were the processional and recessional music. The organ selections before the service included Schubert's "Ave Maria," "Romance" by Rubenstein and "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn.

The bride was dressed in a blue crepe gown with a long torso, shirred skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore an heirloom brooch at the round neckline of her dress and a platinum bracelet with diamond and sapphire stones. Her Juliet cap of dubonnet had a matching feather and she carried a bouquet of carnations.

Mrs. Robert Gibson of Iowa City was matron of honor in a black crepe dress and black accessories. Her bouquet was of gardenias.

Col. James B. Clearwater of Ft. Warren was the best man and six captains in Captain Funk's regiment were ushers.

Following the reception a dinner and dance were held at the post. After returning from a motor trip to Mexico, Captain and Mrs. Funk will be at home Monday at Ft. Warren. An Alice Blue suit of wool was the bride's traveling costume.

Lieut. and Mrs. Sherman Maxon of Fitzsimmons hospital in Denver, Col., and Mrs. Gibson were out of town guests.

Cardigans for Spring

A new version of the old cardigan is this two-toned wool suit. The 26-inch length jacket is tan, with brown piping matching the brown of the slightly gored skirt. Convertible neck blouses look smart with these cardigans which will be so popular this spring.

Be Well Groomed Even During Exam Week

Take A Tip, Girls, and Don't Let Studying Cause Unwelcomed Wrinkles, Frowns

By EVELYN WAGNER

A "Survey Course" in how to look well groomed and at the same time really hit the books now that exams are drawing near should be welcomed by every coed on the Iowa campus.

First, chins have a way of doubling up on you, poundage or no. It's the desk slump that does it, so keep your chin right-angled. Cheeks have blanched of late, and rouge is now sitting on a top shelf—reserved mostly for gals, like the Military Ball or the house parlor. However, if your face is lily-white, don't hesitate to bring your color up. Paste rouge is quite difficult to apply 'till you've mastered the art, but once you have, you'll go for its breath-of-life quality.

Smooth Those Lines Forehead-puckering is a favorite indoor sport, especially when you're deep in the intricacies of that tough course, but always remember its cute only until it freezes that way. As for your neck, remember that it was thrown in with your face, and stop playing favorites—it will show up later.

It used to be an era of pursed mouths, then there were the cupid bows; while now many feminine lips are a straight, bloody gash. Don't worry though if it doesn't become you. And if you show up better in a pinkish lipstick, continue to use it.

Remember, you cigaret smokers, you'll doubtless be smoking more during exam week, but exam week or not always practice twice-a-day toothbrushing and mouth-washing. Keep in mind that this rule was written before cigaret smoking became such a universal habit.

Candy bars, wells of cokes, all night cram sessions are integral parts of exam week for many—granted—but try to join the throngs who use restraint and stand-ins such as milk, fruitades and timely goodnights. It's strange, but skins have a nasty way of letting you down just when you can least afford it.

Hands Can Be Neat What to do with hands when they're not knitting at the U.W.A. meetings or smoking is really a common problem. Either hold your hands still or use them meaningfully. Have a complete manicuring set, hand lotion, a stiff little scrubbing brush and a soothing lotion.

Your eyes are certain to undergo an added strain during exam week, so why use them for such tricks as the gently lowered lids, the oh-so-heavy-to-lift-them pose, eyes lose sincerity, their most endearing quality. That straight-in-the-eye look is still tops. You can now extend your efforts to enlarging and brightening your face. It really raises your rating. Eye beauty calls for a desk light with indirect lighting, plenty of sleep, a lash curler, mascara and tweezers.

Finally, don't be too much of a lady about the amount of perfume and cologne you use (though you needn't blast your fellow students out of the classroom). Something clean and spicy for skirts and slipovers, but unalloyed ounces at university parties and for the boyfriend. Remember, perfume applied with an atomizer is ever so much more effective.

Take it easy these last days and look fresh and attractive for the new semester coming up.

One of Oldest Dances, The Waltz, Gains Popularity

Explanation Given Here Shows Proper Execution of Intricate Steps

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on dancing presented by The Daily Iowan.)

By PAT FLYNN

Today one of the oldest of modern dance steps, the waltz, is enjoying revived popularity. Many are the dancers who attempt this step and few are they who execute it well with the essential grace. So you who waltz may profit from studying the correct steps.

(The explanation given here is of the man's part. After learning it a woman may try her own part which is the exact reverse.)

There are two basic steps in the waltz as it is danced today—the forward and backward movement and the turn.

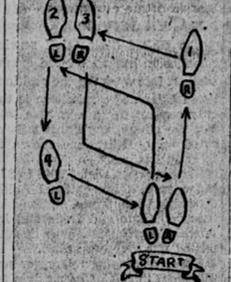

Waltzing Forward

First, let's consider waltzing forward. Step on the left foot, then turn diagonally forward on the right foot. Draw the left foot up to the right, shifting the weight to the right. Repeat, beginning on the right foot. The step is completed in six beats of the music.

Waltzing backward is similar. Step directly back with the left foot, then diagonally back with the right. Draw the left foot up to the right and repeat starting with the right foot.

To Execute The Turn There are two steps for the waltz turn. To execute the box step, step forward on the right foot, then diagonally sideways with the left. Draw the right foot up to the left, shifting the weight to the left. Step directly back with the left foot, diagonally with the right and draw the left up to it. This should bring you back to your starting position.

The other step is more truly a "turn." Step forward with the right foot, turning both the body and the foot one quarter of a turn to the right. Step to the side with the left foot, draw the right foot up to its side. Step backward with the left foot, again making a quarter turn. With the right foot step to the side and draw the left foot up to meet it. You should be facing the opposite direction to your starting position. This, too, requires six counts.

To make a left turn, follow the same steps by beginning with the left foot instead of the right.

Try the "Billmore" A favorite among the more advanced waltzers is the "Billmore." It may be used to vary the regular waltz step.

Take a slow step forward with the left foot and balance the weight on that foot for two or three beats of the music. Complete with a forward waltz movement by stepping on the right foot, diagonally with the left and drawing the right to its side. The woman will begin by stepping backward on the right foot for three counts.

A familiarity with the waltz steps will be more than worth the time it will take you to acquire it. Although old, the waltz is far from out-dated.

Marjorie Gray Wed To Robert Holbrook Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Gray of Cedar Rapids announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to Robert Holbrook of Cedar Rapids, son of Mrs. Paul J. Holbrook of Omaha, Neb. The wedding took place Aug. 14 in Omaha.

The bride attended Franklin high school in Cedar Rapids and was graduated from Bromwell Hall in Omaha. She has been attending the university where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Holbrook is a graduate of Central high school in Omaha. The couple will make their home in Chicago where Mr. Holbrook will be employed by the Wilson Packing company.

Defense Stamp Shower in Vogue as Priorities Take Aluminum, Rubber It's showertime, and the would-be hostesses are puzzled. Entertaining brides in wartime is a problem.

Aluminum is on priorities—so out goes the kitchen shower. Rubber is on priorities—so out goes the bathroom shower. Wool is on priorities—so out goes the blanket shower. What's left?

The newest fad is a defense stamp shower—money for the bride and groom to put into defense bonds, insurance for the future. On their tenth anniversary, they can cash the bonds, collect the interest, and buy a whole set of wedding presents. The bonds will assure them of getting all the aluminum, rubber and wool they want.

Woman's Welfare Group Plans Potluck Supper The public welfare department of Iowa City Woman's club will have a potluck lunch at 12:30 tomorrow in the club rooms. The day will be spent in sewing for Red Cross.

Helen Hein Marries Emery Kleinsmith Yesterday Afternoon

Helen Hein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hein, 907 E. Davenport, was married at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Emery Kleinsmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kleinsmith of Sharon. The ceremony was performed in the St. Wenceslaus rectory by Father Edward Neuzil.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of soldier blue crepe. It was fashioned with three-quarter sleeves, accordion-pleated skirt and a square neck trimmed with bows. With it she wore dark red accessories and a shoulder corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Cecilia Lynch of Riverside was her cousin's attendant. Her dress was of rose crepe with an embroidered waist. A teal, pancake-style hat and corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley completed her ensemble.

Attending Mr. Kleinsmith was his brother, John Kleinsmith, also of Sharon.

A wedding dinner was served at the Hein home for the immediate family.

After a trip to Des Moines, the couple will be at home near Sharon.

Mrs. Kleinsmith was graduated in 1941 from Iowa City high school and attended the Iowa City Commercial college.

Rags, Patches in Order At Phi Chi 'Hard Times' Party Saturday Night

Rags and patches will be proper at the Phi Chi medical fraternity "Hard Times" party Saturday night from 9 until 12 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Arrangements for the affair have been under the direction of James Lawson, M4 of Des Moines; Land Stauffer, M2 of Odebolt; and Lyle Frink, M3 of Emmetsburg.

Dr. and Mrs. Homer S. Elmquist and Dr. and Mrs. A. L. McQuown will chaperon.

Go Pretty and Patriotic—Streamlined Cotton Hose

—No. 1 Wartime Fashion

College girls, debutantes and Hollywood glamour girls—the most widely acknowledged style-setters have accepted the defense stockings of cotton. In this wartime crisis they have abandoned silks and nylon, but it is almost without regrets that they have discovered that the modern streamlined version of cotton hose has been completely glamorized.

The cotton stockings won't make your legs unshapely for they are sheer and lovely—a far cry from the baggy, crinkly looking cotton hose of a few years ago.

Don't Be Afraid Don't be fearful of buying cotton hose because you think they will not wash. Even after repeated washing, the new-type cotton hose will hold their shape and will leave no ugly fuzziness. You'll find them extremely economical because they wear like iron. Your cotton stockings needn't be dull or uninteresting; they are made in more than 150 designs and in various colors. Web-like mesh for formal wear, sheers for daytime or sturdy hose for sports wear lend more variety than silk or nylon. Your hose can now match your ensemble and brighten your whole costume. They appear in bright reds, blues and greens.

Wash Them Carefully Take pains in laundering your cotton hose and keep them from getting fuzzy, faded or wrinkled. Light colors should be put in one group and darker shades in another. Lukewarm soft water should be used, rich suds whipped up, and

AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT TO ALL DRYCLEANING AND LAUNDRY CUSTOMERS

The Undersigned Thank You—And Ask Your Cooperation During The War Emergency

In order to perform their patriotic duty to the nation and its government, by conserving tires, trucks and fuel, and to provide the best possible "pick-up and delivery" service to their customers, the dry-cleaners and laundries of Iowa City are instituting the following regulations effective Monday, January 26, 1942:

1. There will be no special pick-up and delivery the same day. NO ONE DAY SERVICE. Minimum individual pick-up or delivery of dry cleaning 40c; laundry, 25c.

2. Services formerly requiring one business day for pick-up, processing and delivery will, under new regulations, require two business days; services formerly requiring two business days will, under new regulations, require three business days.

3. All telephone calls for "pick-up" must be in before 9:00 A.M. or bundles in our possession by 10 A.M. in order to be delivered according to the following schedule:

Dry cleaning	2 business days	Bundle work	3 business days
Damp wash	2 business days	Finish family	3 business days
Thrifty	2 business days	Soft dry	3 business days
Fluff dry	2 business days	Rough dry	3 business days
Household flat	2 business days

We earnestly believe you will want to cooperate with us and you can greatly help us further, by paying for services when delivery is made thus eliminating extra trip for collection.

Member of 'Democratic Youth' to Speak

T. Rusch, Milwaukee, Will Address Meeting of Students in Union

To Report on Recent 'Youth for Democracy' National Convention

Tom Rusch of Milwaukee, Wis., representative of "Youth for Democracy," will speak at a general meeting of students organizations tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. conference room in Iowa Union.

Rusch will report on the national congress of "Youth for Democracy" held at the University of Chicago Dec. 27 to 30. George Willoughby, G of West Branch, will preside at the meeting.

The meeting is sponsored by campus organizations, including Wesley foundation, Negro forum, Westminster foundation, Hillel club, Fellowship of Reconciliation, Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. Formation of a chapter of the national youth organization on this campus will be discussed.

Members of "Youth for Democracy" come from religious, cooperative, fraternal, union and farmers' groups, for the purpose of emphasizing at home the ideals America is fighting for abroad.

The goal of the organization is set forth as follows: 1. The preservation and extension of democracy in America—the protection of the Bill of Rights, the protection of civil liberties and workers' rights, the protection of racial and religious minorities. 2. Equal distribution of the economic burden of the war—opposition to war profiteering, protection of the consumer, the building of cooperatives. 3. Study and planning for the basis of a durable peace which must not contain in it the seeds of a third world war.

The groups sponsoring tomorrow night's meeting urge all students interested in the program to attend.

SUI Students, Faculty Urged to Contribute 'Books for the Boys'

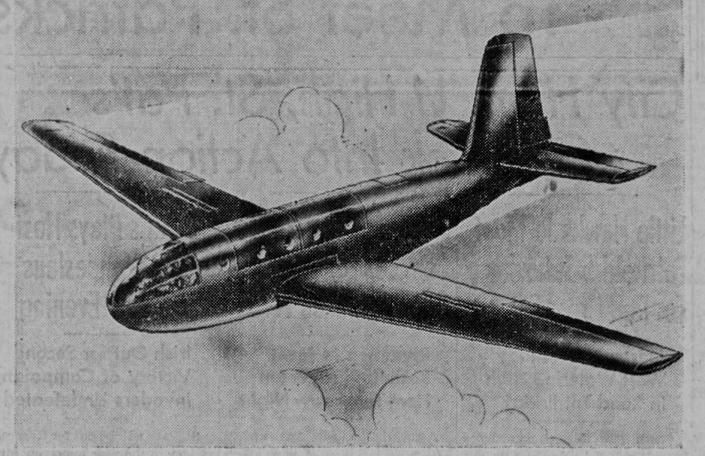

University students, faculty and staff members may now contribute "Books for the Boys" through the university libraries as part of the "Victory Book Campaign" being sponsored by the U.S.O., the Red Cross and the American Library association, Grace Van Warner, head of the university libraries, announced yesterday.

Contributions will be collected in the general reading room of the university library and students may help supply the men in service with reading material by donating textbooks, fiction, science and up-to-date technical books, poetry, plays, history, travel and biographical works.

The local drive, under the direction of Mrs. Jessie G. Gordon, head of the Iowa City public library, is part of a movement being launched throughout the United States to raise 10,000,000 books which will be sent to soldiers, sailors and marines.

Books collected in Iowa City will be sent to the nearest camps.

Wesley Foundation To Honor Dr. Voigt

Members of the Wesley foundation will hold a "Bon Voyage" dinner party honoring Dr. E. E. Voigt in the Fellowship hall of the Methodist church tomorrow evening at 5:30. They will feature a ship board program.

Dr. Voigt, former pastor of the Methodist church, will leave next week for Indianapolis to assume his new position as president of Simpson college.

Dorothy Rhoadeder of Iowa City is chairman of the program and Richard Brink, A2 of Luverne, will be master of ceremonies. Committee members are Robert Shirely, A3 of Minburn; Patricia Holland, A1 of Milton; Marjorie Huber, A1 of Dubuque, and Willis Walbaum, A3 of Rudd.

Iowa Chemist Makes— Glass Blowing a Hobby

—As Well as Profession

By TED HANKINS
Second only to the first glance at the question sheet of a final examination, the most confusing situation to experience is a trek through a chemical research laboratory. The bewildering network of glass apparatus, tubes, spirals, funnels and bottles creates an amazing perplexity.

Smoking and steaming liquids of curious and questionable colors are fascinating, but the maze of the glass tubing itself, twisted and curved into scientifically correct apparatus catches the layman's eye most.

To the average person this glass labyrinth is "perplexity plus," but to Herman Wiegand of the chemistry department such equipment at the University of Iowa is quite understandable — and for a very personal reason too.

Wiegand, a glass blower, makes this special equipment in his own laboratory, room 137 in the chemistry building. The bulk of the glass equipment used in the chemistry classes is standard and secured from wholesale houses, but Wiegand makes the difficult and necessary apparatus

104 ARMY INSIGNIAS IN LOCAL COLLECTION

H.I. Jennings, local insurance agent, has collected a varied assortment of army insignias from World War I which he has sewn on a large felt badge hanging in his office. The insignias were collected from friends and acquaintances of Jennings. Though some of the army's citation badges are changed today, the local collection is comparable to the types of insignias issued now.

Navy Selectors Will Interview Students Today

Ensigns Will Continue Naval Aviation Talks For Those Interested

Ensign James Hadgis and Ensign William Corley of the United States Naval Reserve will continue to talk to students interested in naval aviation in Studio E of station WSUI today — from 9 o'clock this morning until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The two members of the naval aviation cadet selection board talked to some 40 University of Iowa men yesterday, according to Ensign Hadgis.

Complete details on the requirements of naval aviation are in the hands of Prof. C. Woody Thompson, who heads the university's office of military information, in the registrar's office, Ensign Hadgis said.

Details of the program are available to students in law through Prof. O. K. Patton of that college, he said.

Hancher Will Speak Over WSUI Today

President Virgil M. Hancher will discuss the University of Iowa's contributions to the country in war time at 12:45 this noon over radio station WSUI when he is interviewed by Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, station production director. This will be the first of a new series of programs on "The University Plays Its Part."

Pi Epsilon Pi Will Meet To Have Pictures Taken

Members of Pi Epsilon Pi, national pep fraternity, will meet at Kadghin's studio at 7:30 tonight where pictures of the group will be taken. Walter Wright, A4 of Des Moines, president, urges that all members and those qualified for initiation be present.

Von Hentig, Visiting Sociology Instructor, Will Resume Duties at Colorado University

Noted Criminologist Leaves Campus After Eight Month Stay

Prof. Hans von Hentig, visiting professor of sociology, will leave Sunday, Feb. 1, for the University of Colorado, Boulder, where he will resume his duties as professor of criminology and director of the Colorado crime survey.

Since last spring Professor von Hentig has been on a leave of absence from his positions at Boulder and has been acting as a visiting professor in the department of sociology here during the summer and first semester sessions.

Professor von Hentig is recognized as an outstanding authority on criminology and penal treatment in pre-nazi Germany. He came to this country in 1936 after having served on the staffs of several German universities.

He began his teaching career at the University of Giessen, going from there to Kiel, where he was dean of the law school. It was at the University of Bonn, where Professor von Hentig last served, that he was dismissed because of his anti-Nazi views.

The criminologist received his education at the Universities of Paris, Berlin and Munich, earning his Ph.D. degree from Munich. In addition to holding positions in a number of German universities, von Hentig edited the "Monthly for Criminal Psychology" from 1925 to 1935.

Having written some 14 books on criminology, he is now under contract with the McGraw-Hill Book company to have another textbook published on this subject.

Since coming to this country, von Hentig has been a faculty member of Yale law school, Cambridge, Mass., assistant expert to the attorney-general in the department of justice and Hitchcock professor at the University of California, Berkeley.

Professor von Hentig opened the university's Baconian lecture series with a discussion of the "Limits of Penal Treatment" Oct. 16 of last year.

The chorus program follows: "It Winter Comes".....Tennant "Shortini" Bread".....Wolfe "Lift Thine Eyes".....Mendelsohn "Slumber Boat".....Gaynor "Stray Song".....Victor Herbert "Prayer Perfect".....Stenson Mrs. Effie Dustin is directing the group.

University of Chicago Professor to Lecture

"Methods of Surface Chemistry and Their Application to Some of the Problems in Biology" will be discussed by Prof. George Edward Boyd of the University of Chicago at the zoology seminar tomorrow at 4 o'clock in room 201, zoology building.

Professor Boyd has recently gained reputation as a surface chemist. Tomorrow he will give a lecture demonstration of the film method for measuring the size of cholesterol molecules.

CHURCHILL PILOTS PLANE, TOO

Relaxing for a moment for his arduous task of piloting Great Britain's ship of state, Prime Minister Winston Churchill, wearing his now famous "siren suit" and earphones, takes the wheel of the 74-passenger flying boat on which he returned to England from America. While at the controls Churchill twice banked the plane through sweeping turns demonstrating his skill as a flyer.

Passing the Buck by BILL BUCKLEY

No less than ten persons stopped us yesterday to ask, "What's the matter with the basketball team?"

That in our opinion, is the essence of the situation... Iowa has played good ball in every conference game, and not once has made a showing for which the fans could be ashamed.

In two weeks the stretch drive begins, that breakneck race which decides the conference champion and usually the national intercollegiate titlist.

All the teams play good ball in the first semester—it's only natural to put the best foot forward at the start.

They're saying Iowa can't keep up a 40-minute pace, always fades out in the last 10 minutes, will acquire a defeatist complex, and will wind up next to Chicago in the cellar.

The Hawks have been beaten twice by two-point margins—nothing wrong with that, is there? They've also been beaten by Illinois, a sevenpoint defeat at the hands of a rangy enthusiastic bunch of sophomores leading the race—anything wrong with that?

Anyway, Iowa will have two things in its favor during the remainder of the schedule... First, six of the nine conference games will be played in Iowa fieldhouse—all except one return game.

HAWKEYE HIGHLIGHTS

In half of the University of Iowa's conference games, Hawkeyes and opponents have scored the same number of field goals...

Tom Chapman and Vic Siegel continue to set the pace in free throws... Tom has hit 26 of 34 in all games, Siegel 26 of 37.

Iowa's wrestling team, even with sophomores in most of the spots, looks like a powerful one...

THE DAILY IOWAN SPORTS

Track Quality Still Unknown

Team Is Question Mark After Long Fall Track Card

After a long schedule of fall track events, the quality of Iowa's 1942 track team still remains a question mark.

Three Tanksters Three men—Ed Mahoney of Kansas City, Kan., Vito Lopin of Rockford, Ill., and Douglas La Nore of Grand Forks, N. D.—are at the present on the swimming team and may not be able to compete in the indoor meets.

On paper the sprint department looks the strongest, headed by Co-capt. Irv Wolf of Sterling, Ill. During the fall inter-squad meets, Sophomore Lee Farmer of Maywood, Ill., turned in the lowest time in nearly all sprint events he entered.

Other sprint candidates are Bill Green of Newton, Dick McCarthy of Webster City, Bernard Mertes of Chicago, Art Schlauder of Downers Grove, Ill., William Smith of Joliet, Ill., Don Slye of Des Moines, Kenneth Snyder of Corydon, Melvin Stone of Cedar Rapids and Wilbur Wortman of Grinnell.

Workman Develops Fast Robert Workman, a sophomore from Perry, has been developing fast as a distance runner. He has proven his ability to keep pace with Big Ten competition, having won the mile race when the Hawks met Minnesota last fall.

Another distance hopeful, Carl Schnoor of Perry, has not as yet seen any action because of an operation on his knee to remove a torn cartilage.

The remainder of the distance men include Robert Albright of Cedar Rapids, Don Arganbright of Guthrie Center, Robert Jaggard of St. Louis, Mo., Dick Keil of Iowa City, Dick Lord of Evanston, Ill., Robert Orth of Sioux City, Gerold Stevenson of Holstien, George Vaick of West Branch, Donald Welt of Iowa City and David Meyer of Decorah.

The middle distance candidates include Arnold Carlson, Harrison Cass and Bernard Franquemont, all of Des Moines; Don Hessel-schwerdt of Kalona, and John McColliger of Iowa City.

Volleweider to Lead Hurdlers Co-capt. Hank Volleweider of Dubuque will undoubtedly lead the hurdlers for the coming season. Although Volleweider has not as yet returned to his old form, he is expected to round into shape before the season opens.

Other hurdlers are Bob Eiel of Osage, who expects to return to school the second semester, William Hampton of Ft. Madison, Meyer Markovitz of Iowa City, William Spencer of Belleville, N. J., and Ed Wilkerson of Terre Haute, Ind.

St. Pat's will be out for its second victory of the year tomorrow night when it tangles with an undefeated St. Wenceslaus of Cedar Rapids outfit at the south side's gym.

Among the teams that have fallen under the Parlor City quintet's power is the local St. Mary's aggregation, which was downed twice, both times by 26-24 scores.

Tuesday night the Green and White lost a thriller to thrice-beaten St. Mary's of Muscatine, 32-28. One of the main reasons for the Irish loss was the floor on which the game was played.

Capt. Bob Quinlan came into his own in the St. Mary's encounter when he poured in 10 points, and received two more when one of the Marian players made a field goal in the wrong basket.

The Shamrock's passing attack is still not what it should be at this stage of the season. In Tuesday's game many passes aimed for teammates went into enemy hands with the resultant loss of potential points that might have won the game for the Krittamen.

Two reserves saw some action in the game. Bob Connell and Jim Montgomery looked good in the time they played, and will undoubtedly add some punch in the latter part of the season.

Iowa's football team will have no permanent captain next fall due to the uncertain draft situation for most of the players.

The 1941 squad was a guest of Pres. and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher at a dinner in Iowa Union last night, with sweaters and jackets being awarded. Athletic department officials were also guests at the annual function.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—After dropping Robert (Butch) Loeb as football coach, Washington university of the Missouri Valley conference announced a 3-man committee yesterday to supervise intercollegiate sports, physical education and student health.

Dr. Frank H. Ewerhardt, chairman of the faculty athletic board, was named head of the health service and coordinator of the work of the committee.

Robert Kinnan, basketball coach, was given supervision of intercollegiate athletics and Willis H. Paulsen, Dav., 12 3 1 27. Kadesky, Dub., 10 5 8 25. Pickford, Fr., 4 11 3 8 25.

Two former Iowa gridders are already in the naval air corps. Jens Norgaard, letter-winning end two years ago, has almost completed his training course in California, and Jerry Niles, a letter winner at fullback and center in 1938, is at present in training.

Russ Martin, boxing instructor at the University of Iowa for the last two years, has resigned from the post, effective Feb. 1, it has been announced.

Marlin, from Sioux City, has accepted a position as a pilot with a west coast airlines company. He will receive an M.A. in commerce at the mid-year convocation.

The Listening Post--

By LOREN HICKERSON

Woody Thompson's had from 10 to 15 students a day in to see him with questions on the armed forces in the brief time his office has been functioning. . . He's gradually accumulating more and more facts . . .

One thing he's interested in now, and will be as time goes on, is in talking to students who're wondering just what areas of activity in the service are open to them, although they haven't anything particular in mind. . . He's found more than one thing that hit the spot for a particular student, and he'll be better equipped to help out as time goes on. . .

Iowa motorists are mildly cursing the new automobile stamp, which will cost them $2.09 before Feb. 1, and will be renewed July 1 for the following year at $5. . . The stamp itself is proof of payment of the tax, so if it gets lost or is washed off the car, the driver's stuck again. . .

And if you sell your car, the stamp goes with it. . .

Clearer outline of what the war's about I've seen to date in the paragraph in the current Bulletin of Federal Union. . . "It is essential from this time forward that every citizen in the United States be encouraged to forget that he is an American and to remember that he is a free man. For it is not the future of American that is at stake. It is the future of the freedom of mankind. The Axis powers have IN FORM declared war upon the United States. This is merely incidental. What is fundamental is to understand that they have IN FACT declared war upon liberty and humanity. . ."

BLAME-IT-ON-THE-WAR-DEPT
Twenty-eight per cent of Iowa's revenue comes from the users of the state's highways, says the department of commerce. . . "Since highway-user revenues are almost exclusively earmarked for expenditures for highways, it will be this function which will suffer most. . . Do you know of any Iowa highways that won't stand much more going-to-pot?"

The state health department is getting 1,400 requests a day for birth certificates. . . three times as many as back in 1940. . . The department's asked everybody to refrain from writing for them unless the need is urgent. . .

Last spring, months before Pearl Harbor, Pierre van Paassen published his little book, "The Time Is Now. . . In it he called for the occupation of Dakar and the Azores, the staging of a naval demonstration at Singapore, and the landing of American troops in India. . .

"Even if that means supplementing our industrial war against Hitler with military action," he wrote, "we can no longer afford to wait. . . It may mean a long war. But time will count against Hitler only if we are determined to fight him for years, if we wear him out and engage his armies at a point chosen by ourselves. . ."

That last phrase has an ominous connotation now, since nobody wanted to listen to Van Paassen, nor to Secretary Hull, nor to Mr. Roosevelt. . .

We didn't see the wisdom of launching war at points of our own choosing. . . Let's keep that in mind as we strive to throw off the weight of Pearl Harbor and Manila, and to catch up from those initial defeats. . .

And I think we'll be missing a fine bet if, when the Philippines and Malaya have been rewon, whenever that is, we don't send a joint British and American note to Berlin, notifying A. Hitler that this positively is the last territorial demand we have to make in the Far East. . .

There came today in the mail a "Class poem" by that well-known writer-to-editors, Anononous. "We are the most disillusioned of all," he writes, "to have learned of culture while our life rotted at its roots, to have loved freedom while we became slaves through others' fault, to have prepared for life while hidden from us was our sudden, unwanted, hated death—which we accept."

SUI Symphony Orchestra, Chorus, Soloists Present Most Varied and Unusual Program

By BILL HILL

A most varied and unusual program was presented last night in Iowa Union when Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp led the University Symphony orchestra plus a women's chorus and soloists in the orchestra's third concert of the season.

Occupying the first half of the concert was the Symphony to Dante's "Divine Comedy" by the great Hungarian master, Franz Liszt. The symphony was in two sections, the opening number entitled "Inferno." It was scored for orchestra alone and depicted in tone the terror that an inferno suggests. Certainly the finest orchestra playing of the evening was heard in the "Inferno." Never has the brass sounded more brilliant and the percussion section, especially Dorothy O'Hearn on the timpany, did outstanding work.

The last movement of the "Divine Comedy," entitled "Purgatorio e Magnificat" was of an entirely different character than the "Inferno," the purgatory was long and drawn-out and one felt a distinct relief when the chorus entered. The singing was lovely and Joan Joehnk did the finest singing of the evening in the small solo part she had. On the whole, one felt that Liszt was rather successful in his adaptation of Dante's great work. Perhaps if the choral section did not measure up to the purely orchestral movement, that is not to be blamed on the composer, for such a genius as Beethoven failed to satisfy most listeners when he added a choral finale to his "Ninth Symphony."

Fritz Baker, the sterling first flute in the orchestra, appeared as soloist in Mozart's "Concerto in D major for flute and orchestra," and was a sensation. His velvet tone and amazing technique coupled with impeccable taste combined to move the audience in a manner that has seldom been witnessed here in recent years. The audience recalled him three times and then reluctantly let him go. As for the music, it was the gay Mozart at his best. Of special interest were the cadenzas, which were dashed off with astonishing ease.

For sheer novelty, one would have to go a long way to find anything as unusual as Klengel's "Hymnus" for 12 violoncellos. Perhaps when we know that it was inspired by the composer's first airplane ride it will become a little clearer. No? Oh, well, skip it. Suffice to say it was a lovely piece of music charmingly played by Prof. Hans Koelbel and his cello ensemble.

The final number of the concert, "The Blessed Damozel" by Debussy, was far from satisfying either from the standpoint of the music or of the performance. The transition from the French was not pleasing and parts of it were annoyingly awkward. The soloists did their best considering what they had to sing. Andrea Johansen, who sang the role of the Damozel, has a clear voice with abundant power, but Verna Belle Vennard's contralto though it may have been clear, lacked the necessary power. As for the orchestral playing, there were numerous clinkers that certainly did not enhance the performance.

All in all, it was an interesting evening if not a wholly satisfying one. Professor Clapp is to be commended for his "off the beaten path" program and the stimulating air he has given to good music on the campus.

BURMA—

teered" in the sense of the Spanish blue division troops fighting for the axis in Russia.

But a noon communique quoted a Burmese official as declaring the attack "will give the Burmese just the opportunity they wanted to settle with Thai troops."

The Thai and their Japanese associates struck with no warning; the belief here was that Thailand had been promised territorial booty on the Tenasserim coast, the Burmese panhandle which already has been severed by the Japanese by their capture of the port of Tavoy, 170 miles to the south of the present action.

Tavoy, it appeared, was being developed by the Japanese as the base for a second probable thrust upon Moulmein, to which it is linked by a railway and highway route.

The master Japanese scheme apparently is to undertake piecemeal occupation of exposed southern Burma areas while the British command's main task is that of marshalling an offensive and not a defensive army. (An eventual British thrust from Burma at the Japanese flank in Thailand to relieve Malaya is generally expected.)

GABLE LEAVES AIR CRASH SITE

An alert photographer catches actor Clark Gable as he prepared to leave Las Vegas, Nev., to accompany the body of his actress wife, Carole Lombard, back to Hollywood for burial, after her remains were brought from the scene of the airliner crash which claimed the lives of 22 persons.

DISOBEDIENCE DOWNS JAP BOMBER

Technical Sgt. William Bayham had no more right to operate a machine gun than a tank driver has to pilot a battleship. However, when the Japanese came over Wheeler field, Oahu, Hawaii, Dec. 7, Bayham grabbed a 50-caliber gun like this one and blazed away. His breach of regulations cost the Japanese plenty, because Bayham downed one of their bombers. He is now up for citation.

Commission Resumes Radio-Paper Hearing

Ralph Casey First Witness to Testify in Reopened Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The news-gathering agencies of the United States were described to the Federal Communications Commission yesterday as the "most complete and most honest" in the world.

Ralph D. Casey, director of the University of Minnesota's school of journalism, gave the commission a detailed history of news reporting as it resumed its hearings into newspaper-radio relationships.

Casey testified after the commission had denied a petition by Harold Hough of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, chairman of the newspaper-radio committee, for an indefinite postponement of the investigation.

As first witness for the newspaper-radio committee, Casey pointed out that radio stations have the choice of several news services for their reports, and called the fees "very reasonable."

Previously, Hough had argued that the commission, under existing law, lacked authority "to adopt any policy, rule or regulation pursuant to which the commission may deny a broadcasting license because the applicant owns, is interested in or associated with a newspaper."

Presentation of additional evidence, he contended, "will strengthen the conviction that interference with newspaper-radio operation would not only be unwarranted but would be a definite hindrance to a unified war effort."

An hour after taking the petition under consideration, Paul A. Walker, acting chairman in the absence of James Lawrence Fly, announced its denial.

"A great deal of time and money has already been expended in the preparation of this case," Walker said.

Interpreting War News—

Loss of Mozhaik Offers Grave New Threat to Germans

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Regardless of where and when Generalissimo Hitler now hopes to establish his winter line across Russia, loss of the Mozhaik bulge is a grave strategic setback for the nazis.

Coupled with earlier loss of the Rostov and Kerch peninsula keys to attack on the Caucasus, and mounting Russian threats to the whole German northern flank above Moscow, it means the nazis will lack the best springboards for the new offensive they talk about launching "in the spring." They might have to start again virtually at the Dnieper river line in the center and south, and almost back at the Russian frontier north of the Dnieper.

There is little as yet to warrant the conclusion that Russian recapture of the war-ravaged Mozhaik marks the beginning of a German retreat to the Dnieper. It seems more obvious, however, that a retreat in the center beyond the Vyazma junction is in progress on a front of unindicated width.

The north-south rail and road line from Rjhev, through Vyazma to Bryansk, which supported the Mozhaik bulge, is already cracked by the Russians to the south and rendered useless in the north. Bryansk itself is menaced by the Russian break-through to the north at Lyudinovo. The Rjhev junction pivot on the upper volga also threatened from three sides.

Only the center section of the Rjhev-Bryansk line, between the Vyazma and the vicinity of Lyudinovo, is still in German hands. There appear to be more or less isolated pockets of German resistance north and west of retaken Kaluga; but the southern pincer jaw already west of Lyudinovo and stretching northeastward to Morskals renders their position precarious.

Whether the Germans backtracking from Mozhaik can escape to Vyazma down the main Smolensk-Moscow route appears doubtful. Rearguard action west of Mozhaik, in the vicinity of historic Borodino, is reported. It was there that Napoleon scored the victory that allowed him to reach Moscow, only to meet utter disaster in a winter retreat.

There have been persistent reports of Russian straddling of the Vyazma-Mozhaik route near Gjatisk, midway between Borodino and Vyazma and 35 miles in the rear of retreating Germans. From the Kostino area on the Kaluga-Vyazma railroad, another Russian spearhead is pointed northwestward at Vyazma, 50 miles away.

Some military observers expect a new German stand at Vyazma, integrated with an effort to hold also the Ugra river bulge southeast of that point in lieu of the lost Mozhaik position. The strongest natural defense position on the Napoleonic road is west of Vyazma, however, along the rise of the Dnieper, 60 miles east of Smolensk.

If this is an accurate appraisal, it is doubtful that more than rearguard actions will mark the further retreat of the nazis until the front is west of Vyazma. Yet the loss of the Mozhaik spring-board thrusting within less than 60 miles of Moscow, means the German spring offensive in the center would have to start 100 miles or more west of where the concluding 1941 central attack ended.

13 DIE AS FIRE SWEEPS MASSACHUSETTS APARTMENT

Firemen from five adjoining communities aided Lynn, Mass., firemen in fighting flames that roared through Melvin Hall, above, bringing death to at least 13 persons and injuries to 30 others. Many of the 102 residents leaped from windows while others slid down bed sheets. Origin of the fire was not determined immediately.

In addition, he announced a division of statistics under Stacy May, in charge of the same field under the old system. L. D. Greenawald and F. J. Snider to Head Drive for Collection of Waste Materials

L. D. Greenawald, principal of Longfellow school, and F. J. Snider, county superintendent of schools, have been named as heads of the forthcoming waste materials collection drive in Johnson county, it was announced yesterday.

After collection, the materials will be sold and the proceeds turned over to the local Red Cross war relief fund.

It is expected that the Junior Red Cross, comprising every student in Johnson county public and parochial schools, will be in charge of the actual collection.

The Red Cross has been authorized by the executive committee of civilian defense in Johnson county to collect the waste paper, scrap iron and other waste materials.

Ray Smalley, county AAA agent, has offered the use of steel AAA grain bins for storage of materials collected in the county.

Any youth or civic organization wishing to aid in the drive should contact J. J. Swamer, general war fund chairman, at the Red Cross rooms in the Iowa State Bank building or by dialing 6933.
