Japanese Invade Sumatra

Singapore Caught in Jap Pincer, Still Stands; U.S. Bombers Lash at Japs' Pacific Shipping

Japanese Lines Under Violent British Shelling

British Imperials Still Maintain Hold on Two Vital Water Supplies

LONDON (AP)—Singapore's defenders fought back in a blazing battle yesterday, using tanks for the first time and subjecting the constricting Japanese lines to violent shelling from big shore guns, field batteries and warships.

After six days of terrific battle, with the advantages of overwhelming numbers and of continuous high, low and dive bombing to shatter a gallant foe, the Japanese still were finding Singapore an exceedingly tough nut to crack. In fact, the defenders even regained some ground in counter-attacks.

Hold 2 Water Reservoirs

The British imperials still held at least two of the water reservoirs from which to quench the thirst of thousands of civilians at their back, the Singapore radio was heard to say in Batavia last night.

"Our troops counter-attacked at one point at least and established a new line," the broadcast announced.

Japanese broadcasts heard here admitted they had encountered terrific barrages laid down from big coastal guns on Changi point at the northwestern tip of the island and from other forts in that area, from Blakang Mati island south of Singapore City, from warships around the city and from mass artillery in the reservoir section northwest of the city.

The Changi and Blakang Mati islands were erected to repel seaborne invasion, but the Japanese broadcast did not make clear whether it was the biggest 14 and 18-inch artillery which were hammering their lines or lesser batteries.

British Tanks in Action

The Singapore broadcast heard in Batavia said British tanks went into action for the first time during the battle, and also mentioned 400 shells an hour fired by some heavy British field artillery supported by the shore defenses.

A number of wounded from Singapore, who arrived at Batavia, declared the defenders were fighting in a "blazing hell" with flames tearing around them, smoke billowing over them and Japanese relays of bombers dropping a hail of explosives in their midst.

But there was no thought of a military evacuation, these wounded declared.

British Thin Ranks Of Jap Fighting Men; Ease Burma Situation

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Japanese troops have forced a second crossing of the Salween river near Paan but the fragmentation bombs of a squadron of British Blenheims have thinned their ranks so frightfully that enemy pressure eased last night along the entire east Burma front.

Flying at treetop level over the pagoda-studded jungle hills, a heavy force of Blenheim bombers dropped thousands of pounds of delayed action fragmentation bombs on the main Japanese forces two miles from Paan on the road to Thabon, important railroad town on the line that skirts the Gulf of Martaban from Rangoon.

A communique from battle headquarters of the Burma command said some of the most bitter fighting of the war in Burma had taken place in the last few days.

Germans Deny Damage

LONDON (AP)—The German radio said last night no damage was suffered by any German warships in the channel battle with the British Thursday except for the loss of a patrol boat and damage to a torpedo boat.

THREE AT A TIME, UNITED STATES WARSHIPS GO INTO WATER

Within a few minutes of each other, the three warships pictured above were launched at the Philadelphia navy yard and the nearby New York Shipbuilding yards in Camden, N. J. The U. S. S. Montpelier, 10,000-ton cruiser of the Cleveland class, was launched six months

Top-Rank U.S., British Strategists Confer With Roosevelt on the Nazi Ships Delusion

WASHINGTON (AP)—High strategists of the United States and Britain conferred with President Roosevelt yesterday—a meeting given vital significance by the fact that three powerful Nazi fighting ships, once thought imprisoned in a French port, now are free to challenge the allies in the Atlantic.

The White House was silent about details of the conference of the 11 consultants with the president, a continuation of previous joint staff meetings. It was, however, the first of such sessions since the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the cruiser Prinz Eugen dashed from their oft-bombed refuge in Brest, brushed aside British surface and air interception and sped for the Nazi's Helgoland Bight.

There could be no doubt that the immediate concern of the experts here and in London was that the sea lanes to England and Russia now are menaced by heavily armed and armored surface units to augment the U-boat blows at the supply lines.

Aside from the grave problem of keeping up supply lines so that the European battle against the Nazis can be maintained, some quarters saw a new and direct hazard for American cities.

L. Arts, Commerce, Grad Students Get Grades Tomorrow

First semester grades for students in the colleges of liberal arts and commerce, and the graduate college, will be distributed at the registrar's office beginning at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow, Registrar Harry G. Barnes announced last night.

Juniors and seniors in liberal arts and commerce will receive, with their grades, questionnaires concerning their plans for enrolling for work in the university this summer.

Freshmen and sophomores will receive such questionnaires in their English classes this week, the registrar said.

Grades for students in the colleges of dentistry, engineering and pharmacy will be distributed at the offices of the deans of those colleges at times to be announced by the deans, he said.

Dr. Dafoe Leaves Quits
TORONTO (AP)—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the little country doctor who attended the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, has offered his resignation as their physician, Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario announced yesterday.

Navy Reports Three Planes Missing From San Diego Air Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The navy reported yesterday that three of its planes were missing in the rugged, mountainous San Diego back country.

The 11th district said the planes had been missing since Friday afternoon in the Laguna mountain area. Aerial and ground searches are under way for the craft.

Spain May Fight Russia

SEVILLE, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco told army leaders of the Seville region yesterday that if there were any danger of Russia defeating Germany "there would be not only a division of volunteers in Russia but a million Spaniards would offer themselves."

Freeze Refrigerator Stocks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war production board yesterday froze manufacturers' stocks of mechanical refrigerators as a preliminary to some form of rationing and announced all refrigerator production would be halted after April 30.

Reinforcements From Australia Reach Indies

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Strong Australian reinforcements poured into the Netherlands East Indies yesterday and the government weighed the question of calling home Aussie airmen from England to join in the United Nations defense of the southwest Pacific.

The Commonwealth forces, accompanied by the other empire and Allied troops, were moving into defense positions on Java, site of the United Nations general staff headquarters and vital island base expected to be the target soon of a Japanese invasion thrust.

Importance of Java to the whole Allied cause was stressed by some commentators who said its retention would shorten the Pacific conflict by two years.

To strengthen the Allied position, Air Minister A. S. Drakeford said the government was considering bringing back Australians now serving in the United Kingdom but that transport difficulties first must be ironed out.

Communique Says Results Indeterminate

Presence of 12 Big Planes May Indicate Indies Reinforcement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest concentration of huge, four-engined United States army bombers yet reported in the Pacific campaign attacked Japanese shipping yesterday in the Macassar area, a theater in which the United Nations have struck some of their hardest blows at the enemy.

A war department communique said 12 bombers of the flying fortress type attacked enemy shipping and that "While results were not completely ascertained" it was believed that at least one ship was hit. Subsequently a large fire was observed in the area of attack, the department said.

The presence of 12 of the big planes in one group led to belief in some quarters here that this indicated reinforcements of heavy aircraft were reaching the Indies area. The biggest previously reported flight was on January 29, when eight four-engined army planes engaged in one operation.

Japanese artillery on the Cavite shores has again bombarded American harbor defenses in Manila bay, but ineffectually, the war department reported in telling also of "Aggressive infantry skirmishes" and heavy artillery exchanges on Bataan peninsula.

Enemy aircraft were active on all parts of the Philippine front defended by General Douglas MacArthur and his men, a communique said.

The shelling of Corrigidor fortress in Manila bay followed a two-day lull in such activity and again the army reported that no material damage was done.

Word from MacArthur that "In some sections of the front enemy troops are entrenching their positions" was without amplification.

Freeze Refrigerator Stocks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war production board yesterday froze manufacturers' stocks of mechanical refrigerators as a preliminary to some form of rationing and announced all refrigerator production would be halted after April 30.

Draft Boards to Call Men Now Registered Ahead of New Ones

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selective service headquarters said last night that men already registered would be subject to call to military duty before the 9,000,000 registering tomorrow.

Reversing a previous announcement, officials said it had been decided that the new names should be listed on draft rolls behind those of men previously enrolled.

The anticipated effect is to defer the prospect of an early summons for currently unregistered men aged 20 to 44, inclusive, who are required to register by Monday night.

Earlier, it was said officially that names of the newly enrolled men would be "integrated" with those of the more than 17,600,000 previously listed.

Congress May Repeal Newest Pension Plan

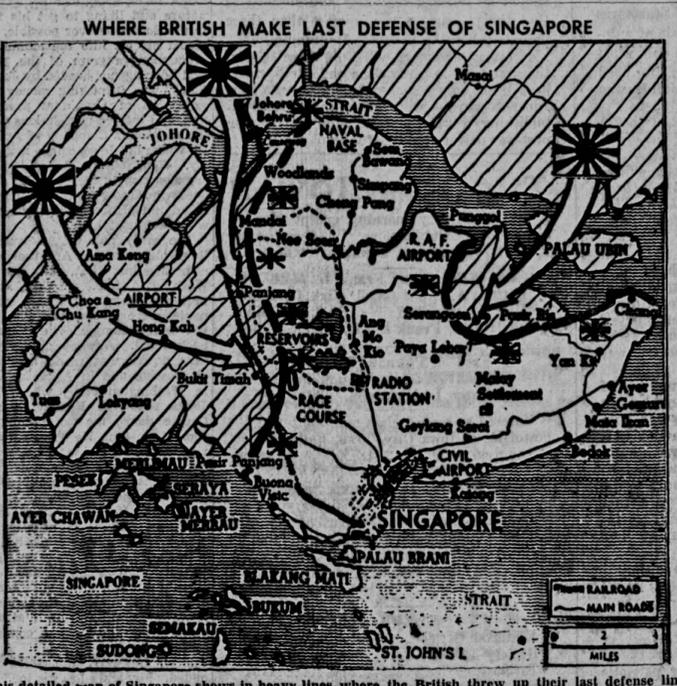

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislative machinery was started yesterday which may bring swift repeal of the recently-adopted pension plan for members of congress.

Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga.), chairman of the house civil service commission, who has supported the pension plan continuously with the contention that the opposition stemmed from misunderstanding and misrepresentation, announced the committee would meet next week to consider a dozen bills for its repeal.

Nazis Decree Death Penalty for Anyone Aiding Allied Citizens

VICHY (AP)—Nazi authorities decreed the death penalty last night for anyone aiding Americans or citizens of other countries at war with Germany to hide from occupation authorities.

The death penalty also was extended to anyone aiding in any way members of an enemy army or French prisoners who either escaped or did not have proper release papers.

This detailed map of Singapore shows in heavy lines where the British threw up their last defense lines as the Japanese advanced upon the city in three directions, indicated by arrows.

Invasion Starts Hottest Combat Yet in Indies

Islands' Reports Say Landing Parachutists Wiped Out by 'Dozens'

BATAVIA, N.E.I. (AP)—The battle for the Netherlands East Indies began in earnest yesterday even before the battle of Singapore was finished when picked Japanese assault troops in 100 fighter-protected planes attacked the oil-refining area of Palembang in Sumatra. They were met by defenders who wiped out parachutists by the "dozens."

(That a stubborn fight for the Indies is impending was indicated too by Australian broadcasts which declared that Australian troops and other British imperials—presumably Indians—were arriving in Batavia and "are taking up positions for the defense" of the key island of Java.)

The invasion of the 1,000-mile long island of Sumatra had touched off one of the hottest fights yet in the Indies. The communique, saying that the parachutists were being killed by the dozens, added that "our troops have done excellent work and it may be assumed that the situation is not unfavorable."

Palembang itself, center of what probably is the richest single oil field between the Persian Gulf and the United States, was not entered by the Japanese and was not immediately threatened, the communique said, but three places in the area were attacked by the Japanese who drifted from the dawn sky and received reinforcement from succeeding waves of air-borne fighters.

It was believed that one of the prime objectives of the attack was Pladju, about three miles west of Palembang along the Musi river, an important refining center for the south Sumatra oil fields.

Observers said the Japanese apparently had resorted to air invasion because Palembang is difficult to attack from the sea. More than 300 miles south of Singapore and about 250 miles northwest of Batavia, the city lies 56 miles inland. It is connected with the Strait of Bangka, which lies between Sumatra and the tin smelting island of Bangka, by the Musi river which threads a most impenetrable marsh and jungle. Palembang is a city of about 110,000.

The parachute attack was the first the Japanese have made in the Indies since they sent parachutists to help seize the Minahassa region in the northern Celebes.

Nazi Counter-Attacks Hold in Many Areas Of Russian Battlefront

MOSCOW (AP)—An advance on the north central front measured in "tens of kilometers" was reported yesterday in red army dispatches, but German counter-attacks persisted in many sectors and at one point west of Moscow both German and Finnish ski troops were thrown into action.

Troops of Lieut. Col Gorbunov made the westward advance at an unspecified point on what is called the "Kalinin front," although it now stretches to within about 100 miles of the Latvian and Estonian borders.

"During the march the soldiers' felt boots were worn out," the front-line dispatch said in illustrating the rate of the advance. Many villages were reported recaptured and freshly-built German fortifications overrun.

Local Red Cross Nurses' Aides Are Needed—

A Chance to Serve at Home—

America entered the war more than two months ago, amid pent-up expressions of undeniable unity in the face of a deliberate and costly attack upon us.

Since that December 7, 1941, Americans have begun to feel the war in a variety of ways. Their tires are being rationed. They face shortages in sugar. The essential materials which go into the production of vital war implements—many of which came from the Far East—no longer are available for civilian products.

But America has not felt the war, really, except insofar as government action has made us feel it.

The lines of battle have been too far removed from our shores. We feel the pride we feel in Douglas MacArthur and the Americans on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines only in a casual way. The heroism of their deeds exist in our minds only through the second hand reports, however heart-felt they may be, of individual thousands of miles away who watch for us, and report for us here, the nerve shattering deeds which one day will write the last battle of the Philippines in history as an epic of American bravery.

But we have not felt the war. It has not burned itself deeply into our souls, as one day it will, through closer and closer attacks upon us, nearer and nearer our own homes and firesides.

Hence we do not see the threat to us, here at home, of battles far-removed at this moment.

And we do not see how our single services, in unobtrusive and quiet ways, can be of service now, with the battles still far removed.

That is because the great growing needs of this moment are not easily seen. They are building gradually, on a nationwide scale, and unless we open our eyes to them, and seek them out, when the crisis strikes we shall again respond with too little effort, too late.

A call has been issued in Iowa City for volunteers in the Volunteer Nurses' Aides Corps of the American Red Cross.

Within the next two weeks, the first group of 40 local women will begin training for their vital individual roles as nurses' aides.

There are still openings in that first group of volunteers—openings which must be filled.

Later on, a second group will go into training, and others will follow as the wartime emergency grows more acute.

The American Red Cross faces the job of training 100,000 aides for nurses.

Their training is not to meet a vague future emergency. It is to meet an emergency that is with us now, and which will grow greater as more and more trained women are called from civilian life into the services of the nation's armed forces.

That emergency exists in Iowa City, quite as much as anywhere else in the nation. And it will grow more acute here. This city's University and Mercy hospitals will not be unaffected by the call upon their trained personnel, as the need grows greater for members of that personnel in other areas.

And those same two hospitals will face the same—perhaps even greater—civilian responsibilities, as time goes on.

To the women of Iowa City, interested in a way in which you can fit yourselves into the wartime program of civilian service at once, here is your opportunity.

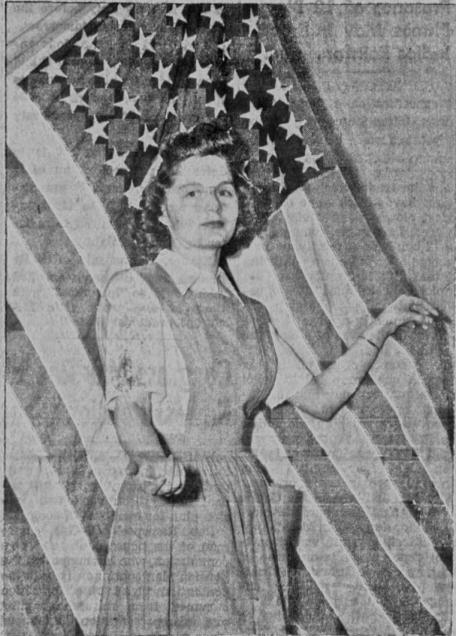

No greater need is evident. Those who train here to become nurses' aides will serve locally, in University or Mercy hospital and their various areas, after they have completed their supervised course of instruction.

You may apply at the local Red Cross office, or to Mrs. George D. Stoddard, or to Lois Corder, director of the school of nursing.

You will be given an application blank. If you meet the qualifications, you can take your place in one of the nation's most vital emergency civilian services.

What is a nurse's aide? Just what the name implies. A helper for the skilled nurses whose job is the expert care of the sick and wounded.

We hear a lot these days about aiding the war effort. Sometimes, when we look too hard for ways to help, we miss the biggest needs, the greatest emergencies, under our very noses.

Mrs. Owen Blexrud poses in the blue and white, plainly tailored uniform worn by Red Cross nurses' aides.

In the tremendous physical fight which lies dead ahead, with its jobs so great as to stagger the imagination of easy-going Americans, the Red Cross nurse is a key figure. And with her, throughout the fight, must be her Red Cross nurse's aide.

They have their job, and it's getting bigger. It stretches from the farthest flung battle line directly to our very doors—here at home. And it's all one job.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS By PAUL MALLON

Look What a Few Jap Fighters Did—

WASHINGTON—The Japs have been doing all this oceanic conquering with less than 500,000 men. A late check suggests no more than 100,000 to 120,000 rolled over Malaya and Singapore. About 200,000 went into the Philippines. Around 40,000 have shown in Burma and an equal number is spread around elsewhere upon other newly conquered islands. This adds up to only about 400,000 men—a mere corporal's guard in comparison with our rising army and those of Europe.

In all, the total Jap field army counts no more than 2,000,000 fighting men, and only 600,000 efficiently equipped. Of these, 1,000,000 are holding China and possibly 500,000 on the Russian front in Manchukuo. The most conservative estimate of British forces in Malaya was 60,000 to 80,000 so they certainly were not outnumbered there to the extent publicized. The British plainly just did not have the jungle-fighting training and equipment and particularly the planes. They were wide open to air attack throughout.

OFFENSE AS BEST DEFENSE—

This new Dutch commander of our and other naval forces in the far east has his own ideas. Those who have recently returned from Batavia say the Vice Admiral C. E. L. Helfrich has been telling his associates the U.S. and Britain were using too many ships for convoying, too few for fighting. The old submarine commander is a stern advocate of attack as the best defense.

The spreading Jap plan of naval attack against him is evident in developments so far. The main drive is headed at Java, housing the capital (Batavia) and the last United Nations naval base in the far east (Soerabaya).

The Japs have established land airbases in Borneo and the Celebes just to the north of Java and have started a bombing campaign. They are moving to pick up a few more air bases in adjoining Sumatra and then will throw their full air strength at Java from three sides. This is going to make the waters rough for Admiral Helfrich's ships.

LITTLE THREAT TO AUSTRALIA—

Once in control of Java, the Japs are likely to spread east. Seizure of Timor and New Guinea (not very strongly defended) could give them air bases hanging over the head of the northern coast of Australia. They could close the Torres strait, sever up the port of Darwin (an unimportant village of no more than 4,000, with a good harbor and no shipping facilities).

If the Japs go beyond that into Australia in the present push, they will greatly surprise everyone here. There is nothing in the northern half of Australia. The population is largely centered in the southeastern corner beyond Sydney which is 3,000 miles as bombers fly from New Guinea. New Guinea therefore seems to be the end of the line.

ICKES LOSES TOE IN POWER FUED—

Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones and Interior Secretary Ickes have been through a bloodless but bitter inside encounter.

Mr. Ickes, being of a belligerent nature and liking to get his foot in the door wherever possible, inserted his toe into the aluminum production program of the Federal Loan agency headed by Jones. F.L.A. was furnishing money for expansion of aluminum production, and entered negotiations with the Aluminum Company of America which Mr. Ickes calls a monopoly. Well, said Mr. Jones, if they are a monopoly they are the only ones who know how to build an aluminum plant and aluminum is what we must have.

The army and O.P.M. wanted three plants, one in Arkansas, one near Messina, N.Y., and one in Washington state. A.L.C.O.A. was to build them and other companies were to operate them, but the other companies eventually backed out. Anyway, the necessary power was made available at Messina and in Arkansas, but in Washington state, where Mr. Ickes runs the Bonneville and Coulee dams, the power had to come from him. He objected, and when Mr. Ickes objects he writes hot letters and memoranda to people instead of coming to see them or talking to them on the telephone. He wrote several such to Jones, and as is usually the case, the effect was explosive.

In the ensuing literary scuffling between the two cabinet members, Ickes wrote a hot memo to someone criticizing the contract Jones made with A.L.C.O.A., and this came out in the Truman committee.

Now, however, the fight has ended. Mr. Ickes lost his toe. He finally agreed to sell power to the A.L.C.O.A. plant in Washington.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

Reid Only Acts Those Infirm Roles By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If it were true that actors could not escape the psychological effect of roles involving infirmities of the body and mind, Carl Benton Reid would be a prime candidate for Bellevue's famed psychopathic ward. But two seasons as Tallulah Bankhead's weak and mentally warped brother in "The Little Foxes," and his current assignment as a club-footed tyrant in the Theater Guild's "Papa Is All," have failed dismally to alter a disposition inclined naturally to stumbliness and a fixed belief in the goodness of human nature.

At Gallaghers, where we had ham and eggs, he looked no part of the domineering parent with the maimed foot who justifies the title, "Papa Is All." "A friend of mine who's an orthopedic surgeon saw the show and came running back to tell me I was certainly doing something harmful to myself if I didn't quit wearing that clubbed foot. I haven't noticed anything. Walter Huston wore a wooden leg in "Knickerbocker Holiday" for months, and it didn't hurt him. Lon Chaney spent half his time trussed up as hunchbacks and freaks, and that didn't bother him. I can wear the club shoe all day, and never notice it."

Perhaps, Mr. Reid is double-jointed. This shoe was built up four inches especially for the role.

I watched him when he entered the restaurant, and he entered with the gait of a man used to swinging along dirt roads. Indeed rural tramps are nothing out of the ordinary for Actor Reid. He has a farm in Maine and on it is an old house with six fireplaces but no plumbing. That's being attended to now. The house was built in 1795, is on the outskirts of Ogonogut, some 10 or 12 miles from Kennebunkport, where Booth Tarkington, Kenneth Roberts, and others hold forth. There his summers are spent and there he will one day settle down to the comfortable chores of a gentleman farmer.

This newest play of Reid's depicts a pocket of American life little known to those outside of Pennsylvania. Its people are Mennonites. The men grow long beards and wear fork-pie hats. The women and even the little girls wear long, Puritan-like dresses, and they rigidly eschew the society of outsiders. As the head of the family, Reid (Papa) is a landhogging despot whose wife and children live in mortal fear. He keeps his son and daughter literally chained to the land to insure their free labor. His warped intolerance and innate cruelty stems indisputably from the cripple's complex that has dogged him throughout his life.

Yet, despite going through this experience every night in the week and sometimes in the afternoon, Carl Benton Reid hasn't yet turned into a wife-beater.

Such Pretty People Live in Hollywood— By ROBBIN COONS

"Um-m-m!" says Diana, taking quick survey. "Who is that? The one in the grey suit?" That is John Loder. "U-m-m," says Diana. "My!" We're inside now, at a table. She's talking about her apartment—she's paying $250 a month for it, which her friends say is too much so she's going to move, she thinks. She's discussing it with her publicity man, Billy Edwards, who has taken her in tow for the duration of "Eagle Squadron," her first picture.

"I'm starving... I've got a rumble... Let's go!" We go. There's a group of men standing near the restaurant door.

"Um-m-m!" says Diana, taking quick survey. "Who is that? The one in the grey suit?" That is John Loder. "U-m-m," says Diana. "My!" We're inside now, at a table. She's talking about her apartment—she's paying $250 a month for it, which her friends say is too much so she's going to move, she thinks. She's discussing it with her publicity man, Billy Edwards, who has taken her in tow for the duration of "Eagle Squadron," her first picture.

They are John Wayne's, and four children. "Um-m-m," says Diana. "I came out 10 years too late; you've got such pretty people out here!"

Gabin: Um-m-m! I saw him last night, sitting right next to me in a restaurant—with Ginger Rogers, though I thought I might talk French with him. Something DEFINITELY has got to be done about Gabin!" But he's ancient, we demur. All of 37. "But I love older men! That's when they get attractive, and interesting."

We talk about the early life of this newest-to-pictures of the Barmore clan, and Diana roughs it out quickly in terms of various schools, in Europe and America, which she left by request. Her voice is good Barmore, nicely throaty, with exclamation points in profusion. And gestures. And "wow-raising," startlingly John-casque. She couldn't stand schools, until she wound up happily at the American Academy of Dramatic Art.

Suddenly, looking over to another table where a tall, broad-shouldered man stands, his back to us, Diana asks: "WHOSE shoulders are those?" They are John Wayne's, and four children. "Um-m-m," says Diana. "I came out 10 years too late; you've got such pretty people out here!"

The Patriotic U.S. Motorist Must Do Right With His Tires

One of the first effects of the war in the Orient on the people of the United States was the immediate action to stop the sale of automobile tires. Tires will be available only when the person requesting tires has definite need of them. The government shall decide who shall get these tires.

Even though these tires will be distributed on the basis of necessity, there is every reason to believe that even with stringent regulation, there will not be enough tires to meet demands. There will definitely be no new tires available for ordinary civilian use.

Therefore, any motorist who wishes to continue to drive his car in the future should take the best possible care of his present tires. In doing this he is not only helping himself but also aiding the great American cause by helping divert more rubber to essential war purposes.

Newspapers should carry the torchlight of education in this matter. They should point out to the motorist that high speeds ruin tires, which America needs to win this war. Tires will last twice as long at forty miles per hour as they will at sixty. It should not be necessary for our government to have to enact a law limiting speed, but people should realize that in driving slowly, they are indirectly aiding the boys at the front.

Motorists, when you come to a stop sign, don't stop short. This burns the tread. Do not speed around corners or curves at breakneck speed. This practice tears the rubber off tires.

You should feel that it is your patriotic duty to take especially good care of your car now. Check the alignment of the wheels and make sure that the tires are not out of line. Change the wheel positions every five thousand miles to distribute the wear evenly. Tires should be inflated regularly and checked so that the pressure never is more than three pounds below the prescribed minimum.

If every car owner will heed these suggestions, and try to carry them out intelligently, he will not only be conserving rubber to help America win the war, but he will also be establishing a precedent of safe driving for post-war drivers to emulate.

Second Concert By—St. Louis Symphony

—To Feature Brahms' Music

Ed. Note: This is the second in a series of program notes for the concerts of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra to be given here, Sunday and Monday, Feb. 22 and 23. The third set will appear Tuesday.

By BILL HILL
"Symphony No. 2 in D major, op. 73" by Johannes Brahms will be the featured work on the second concert of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, Sunday evening, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m., in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

The second symphony is perhaps the best introduction to the Brahms' symphonies. Its structure is very clear, its moods are not too subtle or exacting and while it has moments of somberness, it is generally lyric and sunny. It is in the usual four movements, allegro non troppo, adagio non troppo, allegretto grazioso-quasi andantino and allegro con spirito.

First performance of the work took place in Vienna on Dec. 30, 1877, with Hans Richter conducting the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra. Brahms tested his musical friends with misinformation about the character of the music. The day before the performance he wrote that "the orchestra . . . play my new symphony with crepe on their sleeves" and added "it is to be printed with a black border, too." Doubtless his admirers were much relieved to hear the happy music of the second symphony.

Opening the concert will be the overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart. "Figaro" is based on a comedy by Beaumarchais and was first produced in Vienna in 1786. The overture is brief but exciting and contains some of the most brilliant writing for strings in the entire orchestral repertoire.

Frederick Delius (1863-1934) is regarded as one of the outstanding composers produced by England. For a time during his youth, he was in charge of large orange groves in Florida, but deciding he needed further instruction in music, he went to Germany where he studied under Reinecke, Jadassohn and Edvard Grieg. Today, his music is finding more and more of a place in the symphonic repertoire. Iowa City audiences will have an opportunity to hear one of his best compositions, "The Walk to the Paradise Garden."

The Fantasia "Francesca da Rimini", one of the lesser known compositions of Peter Tchaikovsky, will also be included on the Sunday evening concert. It was inspired by the composer's reading of Dante's "Inferno." The music is broadly divided into three sections, the first depicting the terror of the Second Circle, the middle sections suggests Francesca's pathetic story, and the final section again pictures the horrors of Inferno.

Also to be played will be the "Scherzo from the Octet for Strings, in E flat major, op. 20" by Mendelssohn. This gay and sprightly work is often played as an encore.

Good Neighbors Pan-Americanism Is Display Subject

Pan-America, based on peace, friendship and solidarity, is the subject of a colorful display in the general reading room of the university library.

The United States flag and small silk flags of South American countries are featured in the exhibit, representing the various nations in the Pan-American Union.

April 14 has been designated as Pan-American Day in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Union.

Industries of South American countries, which are of vital importance to the United States today, are portrayed in descriptive booklets and pictures procured from these countries.

Distribution of coffee, cattle, minerals, nitrate, sugar, petroleum and other important products imported by the United States, is shown on a map of South America included in the display.

The colorful background of the tropics and picturesque street scenes and buildings are also included in pamphlets and picture post cards. Sports grounds in the Latin countries, now popular resorts, are shown.

Another item of the exhibit is a large document of the history and development of our relations with these countries, dating back to the Monroe Doctrine. The policies of the United States have changed drastically since that time and the relations of the Pan-American countries are now an important factor in the present world situation.

Lois Corder Named To Nursing Group Of U.S. Red Cross

Lois B. Corder, director of the university's school of nursing, has been appointed a member of the National Committee on Nursing of the American Red Cross.

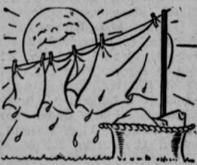

"Skimp to Beat a Skunk!"

Did you ever sit on a wad of gum? It smears and streaks all over your clothes and each remedy you try makes it worse. A dry cloth, a dribble of Eucalypti, an extra bit of patience and the gum is gone forever.

With filmy lingerie rapidly becoming a thing of the past, women are wondering how best to care for their present supply. In addition to the careful laundering you hear so much about, try lining your dresser drawers. Quilted material, thumb-tacked in place for convenience in laundering, will prevent snags from scratchy drawers and give your dresser a dainty, feminine look. A bit of sachet or cologne sprinkled on the lining will really dress it up and keep your clothes sweet-smelling.

To bleach yellowed linens, you may need nothing more than sunshine—if you leave extra moisture in the material after the final rinsing. The damper the fabric—the better the job Old Sol will do in bleaching!

While winter is still around hang them out to freeze. When you bring them back to the house they will be stiff as boards, but when thawed, they will beat the snow for whiteness.

Instead of new linens and lingerie buy defense saving stamps to insure a future of plenty.

If winter use of the fireplace has blackened the hearth, try kitchen vinegar to remove the stains.

Next time you make kitchen or bathroom curtains, pin the box pleats in place. When they are ready to be tubbed, the pins can be removed for flat washing and ironing.

Woman's Club Plans To Meet This Week

Members of the Iowa City Woman's club and the home department of the club will meet in the club rooms this week.

A shower of buttons for the Red Cross will also be sponsored by the literature department, in charge of the meeting.

On the tea committee for the affair are Mrs. Iver A. Opstad, Mrs. H. A. White, Mrs. C. W. Wassam and Mrs. E. J. Anthony.

"I Am an American" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. L. V. Dierdorff at the Tuesday meeting of the home department of the Iowa City Woman's club. The group will meet at 2 p.m. in the club rooms.

Suggestions for colors and types of clothing based on the individual complexion, weight and figure of the members will be offered at the clothes clinic. This is the second in a series of clinics under the direction of Mrs. John Uthoff.

4,000 Johnson County Men to Register for Draft

Iowa City Registration Will Be Held Monday At County Court House

Each Room to Serve As Registration Booth To Relieve Congestion

Approximately 4,000 men in Johnson county, including nearly 1,000 students and faculty members of the University of Iowa, will register tomorrow under the selective service act at the court house in Iowa City and four other Johnson county towns.

George H. Frohwein, director, stated yesterday that although the court house will serve as the central registration station in the county, registrants who cannot conveniently come to Iowa City may register at Oxford, Solon, Lone Tree and Swisher.

To facilitate registration, each room of the court house will serve as a registration booth. This plan was adopted to eliminate confusion of long lines of waiting men and thus speed registration.

Business at the court house will be conducted as usual tomorrow though wherever possible persons are urged to postpone their business transactions until Tuesday.

Registration booths at the court house and outlying towns will open at 7 a. m. and close at 5 p. m. Persons in the county hospitals eligible for the draft will be registered by appointed registrars at the various hospitals.

Requirements for registration as outlined by State Selective Service Director Charles Grahl are as follows:

(1) Every male citizen and every alien residing in Iowa, other than persons exempted by the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 as amended, is required to present for and submit to registration on Feb. 16, 1942, if he has not registered previously, and if

(a) such person has attained the 20th anniversary of the day of his birth on or before Dec. 31, 1941, and has not attained the 45th anniversary of the day of his birth on or before Feb. 16, 1942.

(2) If any person is in doubt as to whether or not he should register, he should consult the proper registration officials and register if they deem it advisable.

(3) Registration should be made at a designated registration place of the local board area in which the registrant has his permanent home, or in which he may happen to be between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. This registration place may be the office of the local board having jurisdiction in the area, or other public place properly designated by that local board.

(4) While anyone who is unavoidably away from his home on Feb. 16 may register at the registration place most convenient on that day all registrants are urged to make every effort to register with their own local boards to avoid possible confusion in the future. Any person who must register away from home also is warned to carefully specify his home address so that his registration card may be forwarded promptly to his own local board and to ensure that he will be included among its registrants and in its quotas if he is found to be qualified for military service.

(5) In certain industrial centers where there are factories and shops employing substantial numbers of workmen, local boards have been authorized to arrange for registering such workers within the establishments.

(6) Special registrars also will be provided to register men who cannot appear at a designated registration place because of illness or other incapacity. It is incumbent upon these men to advise a registrant.

Public Library to Open War Information File Tomorrow, Mrs. Bessie B. Gordon Announces

Beginning tomorrow the local public library will open to the public its war information file, an assemblage of pamphlets, books and newspaper clippings of national as well as local information dealing with late and important facts of the present war situation, Mrs. Bessie B. Gordon, librarian, announced last night.

Begun nearly a month ago, the collection now includes a wealth of information on civilian defense, including local courses offered for it and the names of the Iowa City officials; almost anything relating to the conditions brought about by the present war, such as facts on sugar rationing; and booklets pertaining to the navy, army, marines and air corps, with the requirements of each respective branch.

"The file is far from being complete now, however," Mrs. Gordon said, "but will be added to from time to time as new information is received."

The file meets with the approval of both Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock and Kenneth M. Dunlop, chairman of the civilian defense council of Johnson county, and both men have designated the library as a clearing house for such information, promising to turn over to it all important facts received through their offices, Mrs. Gordon asserted.

Although such a movement as the local library is now undertaking has not been suggested for a nationwide operation, Mrs. Gordon said the war information file had been set up here because she believed "it is one of the best services a library can perform in wartime."

Because President Roosevelt has declared that every single man, woman and child is a partner in this most tremendous undertaking of our American history, it is Mrs. Gordon's conclusion that everyone should avail themselves of all the war information they can.

Information can be obtained by visiting the library in person or by asking for it over the telephone. If by telephone, however, Mrs. Gordon asserted that it will probably be impossible for some questions to be answered immediately, but she added that the library will attempt to answer the inquiries even if in doing so it requires several days.

In addition to the above information, an honor roll of all Iowa City men in service will be kept at the library.

(b) A registrant who lives on an RFD route which goes through two States is required to indicate the location of his residence, rather than his mailing address.

While it is important that registration be conducted as speedily as possible, the director said, every registrant will be given ample time to respond properly to the questions on the registration card.

After the registrant has answered all questions and signed his name to the registration card, he will be given a registration certificate signed by the registrar. This certificate must be in the personal possession of the registrant at all times. Failure to possess this certificate, or to show it to authorized persons constitutes a violation of selective service regulations and is considered prima facie evidence of failure to register.

No questionnaires will be given registrants when they register, the director emphasized, nor will they be required at that time to undergo any physical examination. A questionnaire is sent to each registrant when his order number has been determined by lottery and is reached by his local board. Physical examination is made only after a registrant's local board has passed on his general qualifications and availability and has determined that he should be deferred from military service for any reason other than possible physical disability.

Grant Wood Funeral Held in Cedar Rapids Yesterday Afternoon

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Grant Wood was buried yesterday in the rural surroundings he helped immortalize in his paintings.

Following funeral services in Cedar Rapids, his body was taken to Anamosa, which he left as a boy to achieve fame, and placed beside the grave of his mother on a hillside overlooking the Wapsipicon river.

"He was a great man—greater than any painting he ever put on canvas," Dr. M. Willard Lampe, head of the University of Iowa school of religion, said in his tributory address. "He dreamed greater than he was ever able to portray. He was planning work which he hoped would be better work but which he was never able to finish."

"We are deeply gratified that this soul has lived among us who had the vision to see what is beautiful and to see it in the very surroundings in which he was born and reared, and in which he was content to spend his life—and seeing it—that he possessed the creative art to put it upon canvas for the enrichment of our lives."

President Virgil M. Hancher headed a delegation from the University of Iowa where Wood was an art professor. There were telegrams and floral offerings from figures in the art, educational, dramatic, writing and business worlds. Wood died Thursday at Iowa City following a lingering illness.

Rubber Shortage Brings Return of Bygone Cycling Days—and It May Be for the Best

By GENE CLAUSSEN Associated Press Writer

The greatest changes will be in the fabrics themselves, she explained. Synthetic products will have a boom and because of the shortage of many materials, such as cotton and silk, and styles will be more or less standardized.

Speaking of styles, the bikes themselves have changed in appearance. To reduce rubber and steel consumption, the government has released specifications for a victory bicycle which is cut down to the bare essentials. No more balloon tires are being manufactured. This, according to William L. Novotny, local bicycle dealer and repairman, is a big mistake. Balloon tires will wear three times as long as the smaller tires without tubes, he said.

"He was a great man—greater than any painting he ever put on canvas," Dr. M. Willard Lampe, head of the University of Iowa school of religion, said in his tributory address. Citizens of this town give a good example of what is happening all over the country and have taken to cycling without embarrassment. University students are pedaling to classes, business men take a bike downtown and ladies are even riding the two-wheelers to bridge parties.

Even the police are happy—they'll be fewer autos to tag.

Hawkeyes Claw Northwestern, 46 to 44

Harsha's Basket Wins Battle For Courageous Iowa Quintet

By BILL BUCKLEY
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

EVANSTON, Ill.—Iowa's fighting Hawkeyes, definitely establishing themselves as the outstanding comeback team in the Western conference, struggled against overwhelming odds to edge out Northwestern's Wildcats here last night, as substitute guard Vince Harsha sank a setup with a minute and a half left in the game to break a 44-44 tie, and win 46-44.

Behind by four points midway in the rough-and-tumble battle, the Hawks emerged from a barrage of bad passes to outshoot, out-rebound and out-pass the Wildcats in the final period.

Tommy Chapman, fiery forward who pushed in 21 points in the unusually short game, finally sank two free throws with three minutes to go to tie up the count at 44-44, after a see-saw period which saw the score change hands 10 times and tied five.

Iowa immediately got control of the ball, Co-capt. Vic Siegel going up the floor fast, and passing cross-court to Wendell Hill. Harsha sneaked down to the side of the floor and Hill passed perfectly to him for a setup. That was the ball game, for desperate Wildcat efforts were smothered by the victory-bound Hawks, and the game ended with Milt Kuhl dribbling around in a circle in mid-floor.

Individual stars for the Hawkeyes were brilliant, with Chapman, Hill, Siegel and Harsha providing the punch for the win. Hill, especially shown brightly, continuing his great floor exhibition which started in the Ohio State game last Monday. His passes were sharp and deceptive and his rebounding excellent. Besides, he dropped in six points, markers that were sorely needed at the time.

Iowa as usual, never gave up, and with Chapman hitting the net consistently without the aid of the backboard, and all the Hawks on their toes for the last-half patsch, worked its way surely and devastatingly to the triumph. The first half was a reasonable facsimile of the Ohio State game, with both teams passing wildly, and the scoring going intermittent. Iowa pulled up with five minutes to go in the period at 14-13, but Northwestern pulled away to their 23-19 advantage at the intermission. Otto Graham who counted 12 points to lead the Wildcats, pushed in a long shot to start the second period, but Chapman, Hill, and Hill again, tied up the count at 25-25 with only two minutes gone. Siegel put the Hawks ahead at 28-25 on his charity toss, but two one-handers by another Northwestern sophomore Bob Jake put the home team in front again. That's the way the battle progressed for the remainder, with Iowa tying it again at 29-29, once more at 31-31 and at 33-33. Then the Hawks took a one point lead, lost it at 35-34, regained it at 36-35, and booted it at 39-33.

Chapman bottled a long shot to make it 40-39, but the Wildcats took a two point lead on a setup and free throw. Milt Kuhl followed up one of Chapman's shots to deadlock it once more, but a one hand effort by Northwestern's Bud Hasse garnered the lead once more.

Then Chapman sank his two free throws with three minutes remaining, and Harsha sneaked in his setup for the victory, Iowa's sixth in 10 games. It was Northwestern's sixth straight defeat in nine conference titles.

Iowa's Matmen Subdue Minnesota, 18 to 8; Powerful Hawks Keep Record Unmarred

Iowa's powerhouse wrestling team turned in its fourth straight victory yesterday afternoon by shelling Minnesota's Golden Gophers 18-8. Both teams went to the mat with "undefeated" records, each having won three previous meets. Iowa's whirlwind start in the lower weight brackets carried through the first five matches, leaving Minnesota scoreless with but three matches to go.

The five Iowa grapplers who went into the ring with "undefeated" records emerged with their records still unscathed. Starting things off for the afternoon were Roy Pickett and Bob Barber, a pair of flashy sophomore grapplers with much the same records. Each was backed by a record of three wins in three starts for the season. Iowa's rowdy boy, executing perfect ring generalship, won the bout on points scoring 6-4 over Barber after twice reversing his position with a double wristlock escape.

Grubbing Bout
One of the most grueling bouts of the afternoon came in the 128-pound class when Russ Miller clashed with Cliff Perizzo. These grapplers slam-banged on and off the mats with such an even exchange of points the bout was forced into an overtime. Russ scored a last minute takedown to take the match 8-6 on points.

Capt. Loy Julius took complete charge of George Head in the 136-pound field; riding him all the way and twice giving him a bitter taste of the Julius special... the figure 4 scissors-stretch. Loy piled up a 6-1 lead to take the bout on a decision.

The 145-pound slot started and ended with a near fall, with a lot of fast wrestling in between. Iowa's Ed Kemp staved off a near fall early in the bout to come through with an 8-6 victory over Jack Morten. It was a fast, close bout; with Kemp doing most of the riding, and scoring on a near fall before the final whistle.

Dick Geppert, 155-pound "undefeated," cinched the meet for the Hawks by stacking up a 3-1 decision over Minnesota's Wally Johnson. Minnesota scored the first points of the meet in the 165-pound division when Dean McNelly scored an 8-3 decision over sophomore Lynn Gray.

Ralph Geppert Wins
Ralph Geppert took complete control in the 175-pound booth smothering Minnesota's Russ Newquist under a 9-1 pile-up of points. In addition to holding the position of advantage throughout most of the match, Geppert scored a near fall over Newquist.

Illini Cagers Wallop Michigan, 52 to 29; Retain Loop Lead

Wolverines Suffer 2nd Defeat of Year From Orange, Blue

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois retained its leadership in the Big Ten basketball race last night by walloping Michigan 52 to 29. It was the second time the Illini had whipped the Wolverines. Big Andy Phillip paced the victors' attack with 16 points.

Rolling up their eighth victory in nine conference starts, the Illini had trouble turning on their great offensive power in the first 10 minutes of the game. Then they started to hit, and shortly after the second half started Illinois began to make a rout of it.

The leaders held a 19-10 half-time edge and although the ninth-place Wolverines made one last flurry after the intermission they were soon hopelessly outdistanced. Coach Douglas Mills kept his Illinois regulars in the game, however, until there were only five minutes remaining.

Phillip, sophomore guard, sank four long field goals and connected on four free throws in the second half for 12 of his total points. Don Holman was the only Michigan man to score consistently, making three baskets and six free throws for 12 points.

Ames Paddlers Lose
AMES (AP)—Minnesota's Big Ten swimmers gave Iowa State, the Big Six champion, its first defeat of the season by a 50 to 34 score here last night.

Iowa led briefly midway in the meet, but the Gophers were first in the last four events.

Rafferty of the New York A.C., who finished third, to lead for single turns, and then uncorked his finishing drive.

Ed Culp, of New Orleans' Xavier university, placed fourth in the six-man field, well ahead of Walter Mehl of Madison, Wis.

Chunky Greg Rice, the Notre Dame product now competing for the New York A.C., turned in the fastest two miles in Boston's history, 8:53.4, and ran the legs off his supposedly outstanding rival, Gilbert Dods of the Boston A.A., in the Billings feature.

Alsab Loses
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Showing no trace of the burning stretch speed that won him the 1941 juvenile championship, Mrs. Al Sabath's Alsab finished out of the money in a $1,500 race yesterday—seven lengths behind the winner, Mrs. Ralph McIvain's Bright Willie.

Wisconsin Defeats Ohio State, 49 to 39, On Last Half Rally

Kotz Gets 13 Points As Badgers Extend Winning Streak to 6

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—University of Wisconsin extended its Big Ten basketball winning streak to six in a row by defeating Ohio State 49 to 39 last night.

The Badgers spotted the Buckeyes 17 points before they connected with a free throw, but then the visitors played a better brand of ball, and at the half Ohio trailed 25 to 16.

Paced by Shaw and Geowets, the Buckeyes narrowed the count to 34 to 37 against them, but Wisconsin rallied to put the game on ice.

Wisconsin's stout defense kept Ohio sharpshooters firing at long range most of the game.

Although he performed below usual standard, the Badgers' Johnny Kotz collected 13 points on five baskets and three free throws. Center Ray Patterson helped with 10.

Ohio State's high man was Forward Fred Miller who netted 10 points on four field goals and two free throws.

Minnesota Gets 34 to 27, Win Over Purdue

Gophers Keep Slim Championship Hopes Alive in Big 10 Race

Wisconsin Defeats Ohio State, 49 to 39, On Last Half Rally

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—In a close, hard-fought battle which saw the margin between the two teams hardly more than two or three points most of the way, Minnesota edged out Purdue last night, 34-27, to keep its slim championship hopes alive in the Big Ten basketball race.

The score was kept down by the close-guarding of each team and half-time found Purdue out in front by a point's margin, 17-16. However, Lind shot, two quick baskets through the net at the start of the second half and Minnesota never trailed again.

The start of the game was a free-throw contest with Purdue out in front on two gift shots by Riley. Thune and Smith of Minnesota came along with two free throws to tie it up, then Conrad and Polk of Purdue each added a free throw before Exel of Minnesota dropped the game's first basket through to tie the score.

Polk followed with a long basket to put Purdue in front again.

Purdue's fine shooting from the gift line was illustrated by the fact the Boiler-makers missed but one free throw.

BULLETS FROM HELMETS.
From a friend of mine who saw action in the last World War comes this suggestion for putting some of our old mementos to work for us...

Writes he: "While everyone is saving paper, books, tin and other things to help win this war, why wouldn't it be just about all right to have all the ex-service men of the first World War turn in all the helmets they brought back from overseas..."

"I'm sure there are several thousand German and American steel helmets among us which we would be glad to have some one take back to them in the form of bullets and shells."

I'm inclined to believe that that not only would help win the war, but think of the useable stuff discovered in attics during the searches for old helmets--stuff that was too good for peace time...

From PM's Nathan Robertson on Feb. 8 came this observation on the state of unity between the administration and the congress: "President Roosevelt is fighting the axis with one hand pinned behind him by a non-cooperative congress... When war came, the nation rallied to the president and his critics took cover... Now they have resumed their fight from ambush. They don't dare oppose the president openly. They do it behind committee-room doors and by voting for hobbling amendments..."

A local woman who noted that piece look time to drive home a local point on the matter. "NOW is the time," she writes, "to choose congressmen in this state who will not block all necessary legislation... It isn't necessary to look for a job in this defense program. It lies before us..."

She bears out Mr. Robertson's accusation by noting that the administration's recommendation that a power line be built across New York state was attacked in the senate to the old river and harbors bill... to get rid of it...

There are poles of opinion difference between what is good administration policy and what is bad, but it will help a lot to study the present administration's record, from the time Roosevelt urged repeal of the arms embargo, months before the outbreak of war (and was hopelessly blocked by Borah and company at the time when the repeal would have done some

Barrys Released From Johnson County Jail by T. M. Fairchild

Justice Sets Bond For Oxford Couple After Court Hearing

Following the posting of a $12,500 bail bond each, Joseph and Lauretta Barry, Oxford farm couple charged with the first degree murder Dec. 26 of Eddie B. Schmidt, Oxford farmer, were ordered released from Johnson county jail last night by Justice of the Peace T. M. Fairchild.

Bond was set yesterday morning by Justice Fairchild after the Barrys waived hearing to the Johnson county grand jury. Sheriff Preston Koser said that the Barrys were released about 5 o'clock last night.

After the couple waived hearing to the grand jury, County Atty. Edward F. Rate said he was not certain as to whether he would call a special grand jury session or would wait and have the case brought before the May term panel.

The Oxford farm couple were arrested a week ago last night by Sheriff Koser who filed the original information charging them with the murder. Schmidt's body was found on the Barry farm about three miles southeast of Oxford on New Year's day.

good) right down to the present time...

On the basis of such a study, a lot of Iowa congressmen won't be re-elected.

Good old democratic Governor Talmadge of Georgia, the lover of higher education, has taken another big yank on the rope with which he seems to be gradually hanging himself...

He says the Georgia legislature will pass measures denying recognition to college graduates of states that do not recognize the credits of graduates of Georgia colleges...

If Governor Talmadge remains in office long enough, he undoubtedly will cede Georgia from the Union...

Before the governor engineers any such measures through the Georgia legislature, he will have to get himself re-elected at a regular general election which conveniently comes before the next meeting of the legislature in January, 1943...

Of the people with whom I would not want to be involved in any kind of reciprocal back-scratching, Governor Talmadge is one...

One thing--and only one thus far--can be said of that low, flat-roofed building at the corner of Iowa and Dubuque... It has the prettiest lecler in town... It can well afford to...

Tire Rationing Board Announces Inventory

In the period from Feb. 11 to 19, a report is to be made on 1942 passenger cars and trucks on hand in Johnson county as of Feb. 11, it was announced yesterday by R. J. Phelps of the Johnson county tire rationing board.

The report will include cars and trucks irrespective of the number of miles they have been driven, and all other passenger cars and trucks on hand which have been driven less than 1,000 miles.

It will not include cars shipped from the factory on or after Jan. 16 and trucks shipped on or after Jan. 17 which are identified by a pool sticker affixed at the factory before shipment, or cars or trucks that prior to Jan. 2, were segregated from those held for sale and converted to personal or company use of the dealer or finance company.

These cars must continue to be so used by the company and not be held for resale or transfer. In the period from March 1 to March 8, automobiles and trucks shipped on or after Jan. 16, with the pool sticker affixed, will be inventoried as of the close of business on Feb. 28, Phelps said.

The form for the latter vehicles will be forwarded later with instructions.

Gaffney Grants Divorce Decree

Camilla M. Wieben was granted a divorce yesterday from Edward E. Wieben by Judge James P. Gaffney.

The decree states that the plaintiff shall have custody of two minor sons and that the defendant be ordered to pay $100 a month for support of the children until the youngest becomes 21 years of age.

The plaintiff was also awarded $50 a month alimony until such time when she should re-marry. Neither party may re-marry within one year. Attorney fees of the plaintiff and costs of the action were assessed to the defendant.

The couple was married Dec. 25, 1920, at Reinbeck. The original petition stated the couple separated in 1926 but remarried at Dubuque in 1930.

In a modified divorce decree, Judge Gaffney ordered the temporary custody of a minor son to Bernice Hutzinger as soon as the defendant, Alvon Hutzinger, is inducted into the army.

The modified decree stated the defendant shall pay a designated sum each month for the support of the child. Future custody of the son shall be with one party nine months of the year and with the other party three months. The couple was married in Iowa City March 25, 1940, and separated Dec. 6, 1941. On Friday bail bonds of $1,000 were set for two defendants named in a county attorney's information and an indictment returned by the grand jury. John Ford, named in the information Feb. 10, is charged with illegal possession of gambling devices. According to the information a slot machine was found at Ford's tavern four miles east of Iowa City by a state agent. Charles Skriver was indicted Feb. 5 for allegedly permitting a minor to purchase beer on the premises of a class B beer permit holder.

A new action, Coe College vs. Donald and Lonzo Jones, was filed yesterday in Clerk R. Neilson Miller's office. The college asks $1,550 judgment under terms of a lease on a 270-acre farm near Okdale and for damages on farm fixtures.

AAA Committee Meeting
A meeting of AAA town strip committeemen will be held in the W. R. C. rooms at the Community building Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. It was announced yesterday. Roy Dvay, farmer fieldman, will speak.
