

Ravel's "Mother Goose was very good. The conductor and orchestra seemed to be in the spirit of the music where evaded them in the symphony. Especially well done was "Beauty and the Beast" movement which Prof. Arnold Small played with a delightful solo. All the playing of the Ravel showed that when the orchestra is in the mood, it could give a performance.

Reds Trap 96,000 Nazis Most Victorious Day in Weeks Experienced by Allies' Forces

German 2nd Army Relentlessly Pounded by Russian Artillery

Nazi Forces Declared To Be Disintegrating Under the Onslaught

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet forces in the strategic Staraya Russa area 150 miles south of Leningrad have closed a giant trap on 96,000 men of the second German army corps under General Brockdorf, triumphantly worded dispatches from the bitter cold front said yesterday.

The trapped forces were being pounded relentlessly in a furious battle, now two weeks old, for control of a vital area at the heart of a triangle formed by Moscow, Leningrad and the Latvian border. Red artillerymen pounded the encircled nazis with a brutally heavy fire, sometimes at ranges as close as a quarter of a mile.

The German forces were declared to be disintegrating under the onslaught. Their position was described as hopeless.

Gen. Brockdorf himself was said to have admitted in an order of the day that the 96,000 men were surrounded, and also that their position was "hopeless."

In the final hours before closing the trap, the Russians inflicted a resounding defeat on reserves thrown into the German lines, dispatches said, and elsewhere in this region further tore apart other surviving units of the smashed 16th German army.

The Staraya Russa battle was a final disaster to befall this 16th army since it drove into Russia last year, the Soviet dispatches recounted. They said these German forces suffered heavily throughout the Nazi summer and fall offensive and had to be reinforced repeatedly, losing "tens of thousands" along the way.

Now the trapped Germans were pictured as trying desperately to break out, but meeting disaster. Attempts of German transport planes to get supplies into the trap to sustain the invaders were said to have failed as Russian fighters and anti-aircraft units combined to shoot them down.

On the southwestern front the Russians reported smashing the first Rumanian division, killing more than 2,250 and taking 200 prisoners. The Russian accounts said the Rumanians were placed at the head of a counterattack, with German troops on the flanks and at the rear.

Japanese Will Put Prisoners to Work

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts) (AP)—Hundreds of United States prisoners of war taken in the Japanese capture of Guam and Wake islands will be put to work today reclaiming wastelands, it was announced yesterday.

In the groups of 80 men will work seven hours daily with commissioned and non-commissioned officers exempted.

Canadians Will Aid United States Troops In Both U.S., Alaska in Case of Invasion

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister MacKenzie King told the house of commons last night that Canadians trained under a compulsory service could be sent to Alaska or the United States to help repel any invasion attempt.

The prime minister pointed out that the government's pledges not to conscript Canadians for overseas service would not be a technical barrier to sending troops to the continental United States or the Alaska territory adjoining Canada itself.

King said he could have parliament amend the national resources mobilization act and would do so in the event of invasion of North America and the consequent necessity of using Canadians on the continent outside of Canadian territory.

The act now provides only for compulsory services within Canada or on its territorial waters.

King made his statement after interrupting a speech by conservative leader R. B. Hanson, who was criticizing the government's handling of the plebiscite by which it will seek release from pledges not to conscript Canadians for overseas service.

The prime minister had described the old pledges as a moral obligation not to be ignored even in wartime.

Hanson asked if that moral obligation would be a deterrent to sending men to Seattle or Alaska to fight beside Americans in case of invasion.

Russian Ambassador Says Hitler Could Be Defeated by Summer

Believes Offensives On Several Fronts May Bring Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Russian ambassador to the United States, declared last night that he believed Hitler could "be destroyed by this summer."

In his first public address since taking over his post in Washington, prepared for delivery before the Overseas Press club, the Soviet ambassador warned that the opportunity for a summer victory over Hitler might be missed and said:

"Only by simultaneous offensive operations on two or more fronts separated by long distances could Hitler's armed forces be disposed of and that is why Hitler would dislike such operations."

Litvinoff declared the coming spring offensive of the German army in Russia would be a make or break effort for the axis and added that "we should like our allies and friends to see this as clearly as Hitler does, and act accordingly."

The ambassador asserted he did not mean the united nations should concentrate all their efforts on the Russian front to the detriment of all other fronts.

"But identical quantities of armed forces and identical sorts of arms are not required on all fronts," he said. "It is quite legitimate to desire that the forces which cannot be used on one front should not be kept in idleness and inaction, but should be sent where they could be used."

"Next spring, on the eastern theater of military activities, which must certainly be considered the most important, the struggle with Hitler will reach its peak, and we should like to have the utmost possible aid by then."

"We should like all the forces of the allies to be put into action by then, and that, by then, there should be no idle armies, immobile navies, immobile air fleets."

"It would be deplorable if we were to lose the initiative for lack of adequate and timely support. We are proud that it has fallen to our lot to smash Hitler's war machine but we by no means insist on exclusive rights. We are quite prepared to let others have a share in our pride."

4 Boys Drowned

HALETHORPE, Md. (AP)—Four young boys 4 to 10 years old drowned near here late yesterday when thin ice gave way on a pond.

The black sky over metropolitan Los Angeles is pierced by searchlights (top photo) as anti-aircraft gunners send up a shower of shell seeking the range of an unidentified craft which was reported flying over the city. At right, a soldier holds a sign that was placed in areas where unexploded shells were reported to have fallen.

Los Angeles Air Raid of Wednesday Prompted By Presence of About 15 Unidentified Planes

Army Report Declares Craft May Have Been Operated by 'Enemies'

WASHINGTON (AP)—An army report that as many as 15 planes may have been operated by "enemy agents" over the Los Angeles area, where an air raid alarm early Wednesday sent anti-aircraft guns into action, was made public yesterday by Secretary of War Stimson.

Coming a day after Secretary Knox had told reporters that navy department information indicated the episode was "a false alarm," the army report said the unidentified craft might have been commercial planes flown over the area by enemy agents to spread alarm, disclose anti-aircraft gun positions and test the effectiveness of blackouts.

No bombs were dropped, there were no casualties among American forces, no planes were shot down, and no American army or navy planes were in action, Stimson said.

The secretary announced that the report came to him from General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and apparently was based on information relayed by west coast army officials.

The conclusion that the planes might have been obtained from commercial sources, he said, was based on the varying speeds of the planes and the fact that no bombs were dropped.

Fugitive Prinz Eugen Believed to Be Hit By British Submarine

LONDON (AP)—The British submarine Trident, nosing deep into enemy waters, has hunted down and crippled a Nazi cruiser believed to be the fugitive Prinz Eugen while that warship's larger comrades in a February channel escape lie in German docks, knocked out of the war for some time to come, the British government announced yesterday.

These official reports were made to the house of commons and the nation by first lord of the admiralty, A. V. Alexander, and by the admiralty itself.

Federal Agents Make Spot Check on Aliens, Arrest Axis Subjects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal agents, making a spot check of enemy alien dwellings and businesses placed in nine widely scattered cities, have arrested 44 axis subjects, principally Germans and Italians, officials said yesterday.

Seven were seized at Sioux Falls, S. D.

In addition they seized hundreds of guns, dozens of cameras and short-wave radio receiving sets, thousands of rounds of ammunition and varying quantities of such items as binoculars, daggers, swords, flares and explosives.

Predicts Great Fall In 'Level of Living'

NEW YORK (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson predicted last night that the "level of living" in the United States would quickly fall below the lowest point of the great depression because so much of the nation's productive capacity would be devoted to war.

In a speech prepared for the overseas press club, and for broadcast over MBS, he said war production would cost the country more than $50,000,000,000 this year and at least $75,000,000,000 in 1943.

"In other words, in 1942 as our contribution in the way of the merchandise of death, we are prepared to deliver a greater quantity of goods than this entire nation had to keep it alive in 1932," Henderson declared.

"It means that we stand today staring at the grim prospect of inflation. It means that the level of living within a few short months will be not much above 1932 and that in 1943 we shall surely fall below 1932."

Says Gas Rationing Possible

DES MOINES (AP)—Gasoline rationing in the midwest is a possibility, Dr. John W. Frey, Washington, D.C., director of marketing in the office of the petroleum coordinator, said yesterday.

Nippon Forces Mass For Enveloping Move On Battered Rangoon

Allies Bag 21 Planes As Japs Try in Vain To Gain Air Control

LONDON (AP)—The Japanese troops massed along the Sittang river spread upstream yesterday for the final stages of an enveloping smash at Rangoon while Japanese aircraft fighting in vain for control of the sky over the heart of Burma lost 21 planes to the American and British defenders.

The new disposition of enemy troops along the last natural barrier to Rangoon, 60 to 70 miles above the city, was considered most threatening. Military experts here said it would compel the British and Indian defenders to disperse their already out-numbered and battle-cut battalions now defending the west bank of the Sittang near the river's mouth.

Japanese Strategy
When their reinforcements arrive from Singapore, the Japanese are expected to launch simultaneous attacks upstream and at the river's mouth in an attempt to encircle and smother the smoldering capital and its defenders.

The present lull in ground fighting is regarded as evidence that the Japanese suffered heavy losses in throwing the British across the Sittang and that they now are awaiting fresh troops.

Most Action in Air
Most of today's action was in the air. The 21 Japanese planes knocked out of the sky over the Rangoon delta brought the defenders' two-day total to at least 51 and this was increased by a daring raid by American volunteer group pilots on a Thailand airbase.

The A.V.G. reported two Japanese bombers destroyed in the air and two fighters on the field.

(Chunking reports said the A.V.G. destroyed 34 planes over Thailand Wednesday and yesterday and lost none of their own).

Of Britain's chances of holding Rangoon, London took a gloomy view. They said "a lot depends on the Chinese" but there was no official evidence that Chiang Kai-Shek's troops were yet in position or strength to divert the Japanese drive on the seaport, now evacuated by virtually all civilians, aglow with the fire of British "scorched earth" demolitions and its sea approaches mined.

Postpone Show-Down On Proposal to Drop 40-Hour Week Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—After a bitter debate, the house yesterday postponed until tomorrow a show-down vote on a proposal to suspend for the duration of the war federal laws calling for a 40-hour week and extra pay for overtime.

The author of the plan, Rep. Smith (D-Va.), raked "arbitrary labor leaders" who, he said, were calling strikes "for silly reasons."

In turn, Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the democratic leader, accused Smith of fostering "anti-labor" legislation which would undo the gains of many years.

Aluminum, Magnesium Production Expansion Necessary for Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war production board disclosed yesterday that President Roosevelt's "blueprint for victory" calling for production of 125,000 fighting planes in 1943 would necessitate a $350,000,000 expansion of aluminum capacity and a vast increase in magnesium production.

The government, officials said, is taking steps to provide for an annual aluminum supply approximating more than 2,500,000,000 pounds—compared with former production goals approximating 1,700,000,000 pounds annually.

Bataan Army Takes Initiative, Attacks Japs on Entire Front

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
Associated Press War Editor

Japan's losses in the south Pacific were being extended yesterday by the growing might of the allied counter-offensive before the sea gates of Java, and far to the north General Douglas MacArthur's army of Luzon lunged out in sharp, general attacks to seize the initiative all up and down the Bataan line.

It was in general the most satisfactory day in some weeks for the united nations, save only an expected worsening of the British position in southern Rangoon; for in the Soviet theater the Russians were said to have trapped 96,000 troops of the German second army corps and it began to appear that no check for that great red offensive was anywhere in sight.

In the waters of the Indies two more enemy troopships and a naval auxiliary and a freighter had been torpedoed by American submarines. They also had engaged with apparent effectiveness a Japanese squadron of cruisers and destroyers, probably hitting one.

San Diego Japs To Be Moved

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Norman Neukom, assistant U.S. attorney, said last night orders to move all San Diego county Japanese, including those of second generation, "somewhere east of the Sierras" would be issued, possibly within the next 48 hours.

Neukom also reported that the entire San Diego waterfront area probably soon would be prohibited to enemy aliens. A major portion of the waterfront now is barred to them. The attorney said his advice came from an authoritative source.

Such wholesale transfers would be made under President Roosevelt's authorization to the army to move any or all persons out of areas deemed important to national defense.

Confirming reports that some persons were trying to force aliens to dispose of their property at ridiculous prices, Neukom said the government would safeguard the holdings of any persons moved out of the coastal area. He said his advice to aliens was to "sit tight and await the government's action."

Rangoon Described As 'City of Ghosts' By Latest to Leave

MANDALAY, Burma (AP)—Rangoon was described as a "city of ghosts" yesterday by a middle-aged Canadian couple who reached here as virtually the last white civilians to leave the Burmese capital Sunday night.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Jury, of Hamilton, Ont., volunteer technicians in blood transfusion service.

"A big fire burned for two days in a Rangoon suburb," they said. "We heard that it was burning rice stores. Nobody except a few policemen and soldiers could be seen in the wide, silent downtown streets. There was a dull echo of distant explosions after dark."

Moreover, there was information in the war department's morning communique that the far southern Philippine island of Mindanao still was not subdued; desultory patrol action was reported from there, and prospects of widespread native guerrilla warfare.

In Burma, only the allied air arm appeared to be holding its own—was in fact more than holding its own.

Interpreting the War News

London Setting Stage to Revamp Policy Toward India as Jap Threat Grows

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

London is setting the stage for revamping its policy toward India under duress of the gravest threat to British rule there since the first imperial standard was raised on Indian soil more than three centuries ago.

Japanese invaders swarming in Burma are knocking at the gates of British India, already ablaze as the British apply the scorched earth policy.

The smoke of that new retreat of the allies further clouds the war scene in the far Pacific-Indian ocean theater as an ominously rising toll of shipping losses in the Atlantic also is admitted by London. Yet there are elements in both theaters of action to relieve allied gloom.

Whatever the duration of the debate on Indian policy in London, it seems certain the grim advance of Japanese forces in Burma must lead to more effective mustering of India's manpower against the (See INTERPRETING, page 5)

India---

Her Leaders, and Britain's, Are Missing the Same Boat—

Obscure India is a vast land whose population numbers more than twice that of mighty Russia and whose potential strength and resources are imponderable. In India's nearly 400,000,000 people and countless riches might be the secret to Allied victory or defeat in the Orient, perhaps in World War II.

Yet these vast resources of manpower and materials have not yet been thrown into the Allied cause. India wants home rule. The British philosophy has opposed it. And India has not yet weighed—as one day she must weigh—the hope for herself in a democratic world as opposed to the lack of hope in a fascist world.

Age-old India has been exploited by Britain. Britain herself defends that action on the principle of western justification alone, without making any attempt to visualize the potentialities of home-rule in India. Now, as the groundwork is laid for the emergence of a new world era, both Britain and India are yet asleep to the great needs of the moment. They seem to be two: active Indian participation with the Allies AND the definite promise of Indian home-rule to come as surely as peace will come.

If our war aims and peace plans have point at all, Indian home-rule is among them. In our vision of the post-war world, India, regardless of whether or not we have said so in so many words, will play a dramatic and potent role. Why cannot Britain, and the United States, recognize that fact at once, while time still is a vital element?

The Indian national party, which is backed by some 90 per cent of the population, has extended the hand of cooperation to Britain in return for eventual freedom. That is not enough. India should be overwhelming "in the war" with Britain.

Britain has not expressed an attitude—but will soon—on that Indian hope of freedom. That, too is bad. Britain should accept that hope, and promise Indian freedom, at once.

No other choices exist for either party.

In the changing scene of civilization, it is only a question of time until India will be free. Even Britain knows that. If we pause to bicker about scores of years, at a time when moments may spell the shape of the scores of years to come, all may well be lost before we know it. As Winston Churchill himself has said, "If we open a quarrel between the past and the present we shall find that we have lost the future."

Behind her India has thousands of years of development. She has many leaders who have been well educated in Europe and in the United States. She has potential wealth and strength. Yet today she has the lowest standard of living of any country in the world because of foreign exploitation. India is prepared and needs independence.

There is little wonder that vast and overwhelming majority of Indians resent the rule of the British.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China realized the potential military manpower and strength of neighboring India. Why else did he go to India recently? He reasoned with the Indian leader, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru. Shrewd Chiang hoped to receive the word that the ultra-shrewd Pandit Nehru answered: "India will never grovel before the Japanese, but will utilize passive resistance, which, unlike western pacifism, is a powerful weapon . . . The moral factor is the dominating influence in this war, and it would make an immense difference if India and like countries were free. . . We prefer death to slavery. . . I hope we can cooperate against aggression. The Japs also gave us sweet words, but brought hell, rape, looting, death—chill death, barbaric death."

Former chairman of the Indian national congress, Mahatma Gandhi undoubtedly is still the most powerful man in India. Gandhi, who has been treated all but kindly by the British, could cause, if he cared to, a great deal of trouble today.

If he chose to stab Great Britain in the back, Gandhi could order mass boycott, mass strikes and mass refusal to pay taxes. He could do this; but Gandhi is more of a great and upward man. He will always be remembered as one of the greatest fighters for freedom the world has ever known.

So much time is being wasted in India and in London—over a question which has been settled by the very actualities of the dynamic world we live in.

In the scheme of things to come, there is great hope for a free India. In the same scheme, there is a great niche in the plan of the United Nations which must be filled, and soon, by India.

And moments count, unfortunately.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Mr. Roosevelt's Quiet Chat Foreshadows Some Great Things

WASHINGTON — Follow action by Mr. Roosevelt will hit harder than his carefully balanced chat.

His promise that interference with production by small outlying labor groups will no longer be tolerated may shortly be implemented by an executive order or by instructions to the groping war labor board.

His proposal to seize the offensive "soon" may bring visible developments "sooner" than you think. Churchill has been talking about next year (a line which could have been designed to deceive the enemy even if earlier action were planned). But the old theory that we could not move until we had overall superiority over the enemy in total numbers of planes and tanks has rapidly shriveled in the face of later war developments.

All the superiority you seem to need is at the point of contact. General mass superiority of air or land forces is no guarantee of anything, especially if spread all the way around the world. The problem is to pick out the weakest spot of the enemy and hit it with more planes and tanks than he can get to that spot.

The new Roosevelt pronouncement on its face espoused this basic offensive principle. The hint gains further weight when you consider that the president's character is anything but defensive in nature.

War Department Shakedown Coming—

The fireside message will be further implemented by an earthquake shake-down in the war department, and a slighter tremor in the navy. Coming also is a congressional movement to eliminate waste in expenditures, supplemented by White House aid at least to the announced extent of consolidating the many housing units, transfer of unneeded federal agencies to defense efforts, and such.

The war department reorganization is being conducted as quietly as if this heartening news was a military secret. Expense is that details were not completed. You may be sure, however, that it is not a minor matter or a fake-shift for publicity purposes. It is real and deep.

The waste-elimination drive is being organized by a southern senator. So far tongue-wagging has been the only action noticeable on the subject. True, Senator Tydings has received senate authority to investigate transfer of non-defense workers to defense and has sent out a questionnaire to all government units.

But the chance for real action will come when the billion dollar independent offices appropriation bill comes before the senate. It carries funds for a swarm of miscellaneous non-defense agencies next year.

U. S. Not Yet "Offense" Minded—

Public officials here are strangely timid in talking about offensive military action, probably because some people of this country are, to some extent, still defense minded. That is natural. Our whole diplomatic and political policy, built up since the last war, has been solely defensive in character.

The average American wants only to defend his own home and shore. We covet nothing beyond. Even now our diplomatic policy is top-heavily weighted with the notion of hemisphere defense—the idea of drawing a line in the ocean and saying: "So far will we defend."

We called our re-armament program a "defense" program and even today the war bonds with which the treasury is financing the war effort are called "defense bonds."

Britain's defense complex, which has been much stronger than ours, has practically immobilized her large army at home for the 20 months since Dunkirk.

Evidence is accumulating that this is Hitler's chief reliance. From his initial venture into the Rhineland, he has depended upon the instinct of each democratic nation for defense only. His shrewdest propaganda has been directed toward fostering this inherent weakness among his enemies. With this implement, more than armed might, he has made them wait until he was ready to bowl them over, one by one.

But the lessons of the Russian, Malayan and Libyan campaigns are now piling up on the experience of France to suggest the only way to beat the blitz locally or internationally is to counter-attack.

The best way Russia could be helped and Britain saved from invasion, for example, might well be for Britain to invade the continent with our assistance. The best way to relieve MacArthur might be to slap Tokyo, or the Mikado's weakest spot.

If you allow the axis the advantage of initiative, recent history certainly suggest you will find yourself eventually facing superior forces at your own weakest point, not theirs.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

The Fine Wizardry Of Alec Templeton

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK — "Mimicry—the act or art of imitation."
Punk & Wagnalls.
Keep this definition in mind when you think of Alec Templeton. He is blind. Most impersonators give exaggerated caricatures of the people they wish to imitate, and often they are successful. But if you take the exaggerated mannerisms away, it isn't often that you have anything recognizable.
How often have you seen mimics dance across a stage clapping their hands and singing "If You Knew Susie Like I Know Susie" in imitation of Eddie Cantor? Eddie is a character they all go after. But those imitations wouldn't mean very much without the hand clapping and dancing—unless the tones were true.
That's what I'm getting at, Alec Templeton can't dance across a stage and indulge in simulacrum. If he did, he'd stumble into the orchestra pit and break his neck. All that is left for him to do is rely altogether on accuracy of tone. That is why his impersonations are so true, and so unqualifiedly successful. They lead him out and he sits at a piano and plays while he sings—as Eddie Cantor sings, as Donald Duck sings, as anybody sings.

I saw him sing "Mary had a Little Lamb"—first, as a hillbilly quartet would sing it, then as a Cuban rumba band would present it. Nearly three thousand people broke into involuntary cheers. The Mountaineer pitch and tone were absolutely authentic. They had to be. The loss of his sight was a catastrophe for which nothing can compensate him, but it must be true that the acuteness of his hearing took on a new cunning.
Alec Andrew Templeton is from the British Isles. Like Tommy

Farr, the pugilist, who was known as the "Cardiff Giant," he is a native of Cardiff, Wales. He studied music at the Royal College in London and later became solo pianist with the Bournemouth Municipal orchestra and Cardiff Symphony. He likes jazz and composes in that vein. He gives concerts at the piano, and indulges in satirical interpretations of music masterpieces.
Though blind, he is no chair-sitter. Swimming, riding and walking are pastimes at which he is surprisingly proficient. Also he is a hearty eater—with roast beef and Yorkshire pudding being first on his list of enthusiastically admitted dishes.
Alec Templeton isn't tall. He is blond and sort of plump. But when he apes a Swiss yodeler, mimics Toscanini or gives a satirical rendition of a Wagnerian opera as the diva-wife of an Ozark horseshoe pitcher would give it, that is unimportant. Everything else is forgotten.

HOLLYWOOD FIGHTS SOUNDS

A Genius After Just Half an Hour

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—If it happens that Mr. Harry Seymour has written the "Over There" of this 1942 war, let it be recorded now that Mr. Seymour—whose ordinary business is dialogue directing—achieved his musical immortality in exactly one half-hour one Sunday evening.
"I was listening to a round-the-world broadcast from the war capitals, and out of the air came a report of the joy in England that the Yanks were coming again. I heard it. The Yanks are coming again! Wow, I said. What am I waiting for? I rushed to the piano, he said, "and here"—he played it for Ann Sheridan and Jack Carson who had come over from another set—"it is, I can't write music, so I wrote in the notes with letters. Anybody can sing it, it's got a marching rhythm, it's simple—what do you think?"
I think it is all of that, for which reasons "The Yanks Are Coming Again" will do all right. It's the best-so-far of the war song crop. . . .
What's this beautiful breath of frankness and honesty I'm a-feeling? That's Estelle Taylor back in town after too long on the road. That's Estelle, the one-time movie siren, back to sell that mansion she's been renting to Basil and Ouida Bathbone. She's been doing vaudeville and night club turns, singing, "When I was in pictures," she's saying, "the stage managers used to tell me to take a bow—that was enough. Now I get a kick (it's the ham in me) out of being able to carry a turn on my own." She's doing a screenplay while here, but has to beat it New Yorkward for a March date on Broadway. "I hate to leave," she's saying. "What if the Japs do fly over Hollywood—and I'm not here for the excitement? . . . Big-selling doll with American kiddies is the curvaceous Betty Grable image—but to protect the morals of the young, presumably, the Hays office wouldn't let Rita Hayworth wear garters in "My Gal Sal." . . . What'll they say when they see the leopard-skin adagio costume designed for Dolores del Rio in "Journey Into Fear?" It's "garters" are the leopard's claws, clutching at sheer hose! . . .
Laird Cregar, now contributing his booming voice to "Ten Gentlemen from West Point," explains how he got it. When he first tried out for the Pasadena Community Playhouse his voice wouldn't carry past the front rows. Coach Belle Kennedy had him declaim How Now Brown Cow? and The Rain in Spain Still Stains—over and over, two hours a day, for three months! . . . Incidental information: Cregar, who started being colossal early in life, used to make pin-money playing a freak strong man in his own neighborhood circus. . . .

'42-'43 Editors of Daily Iowan, Frivol Will Be Elected April 22

Publications Board To Select Hawkeye Editor on March 25

Date for election of editor and business manager of the 1944 Hawkeye has been set for March 25 and for the editor of The Daily Iowan and editor and business manager of Frivol for April 22, it was announced yesterday by the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc.

Applications for the positions of editor and business manager of the Hawkeye should be filed by March 18 with Lois Randall, secretary of the board, in room N-1, East hall. Applications for the editorship of The Daily Iowan and editor and business manager of Frivol should be filed with Miss Randall by April 15.

Personal interviews with the board of publications will follow the applications which should be in writing and should present proof of good scholastic standing.

Requirements for the Hawkeye positions are junior classification during the next year, and for Frivol, experience on Frivol and a good scholastic standing. Applicant for editor of The Daily Iowan should have experience on the paper and possession of executive ability.

Editor of Hawkeye appoints committees, supervises the contents of the year book and in general assumes complete charge of the editorial work. Advertising, circulation and general business policies are determined by the business manager.

The Daily Iowan editor is responsible for each daily issue of the paper, appointing his staff and determining the paper's editorial policy for the year he serves.

Persons to fill the positions are elected by the board of publications, including five students and four faculty members, to hold office from June 1, 1942 and June 1, 1943. Student members of the board are elected in the campus-wide election each spring.

Present members are Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism; Prof. Odie K. Patton of the college of law; Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department and Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the political science department. Student members are Deming Smith, L2 of Toledo; Frank Burge, C3 of Iowa City; Glenn Horton, C3 of Waterloo; James Kent, A4 of Iowa City, and Ted Welch, C4 of Cedar Rapids.

Prof. Fred M. Pownall of the school of journalism is director of the three publications.

Union Music Program Features Noted Works

Compositions by seven well-known composers will be heard on today's music room program from 12 to 1 o'clock.

"Hungarian March" by Schubert and Liszt will be heard first with Leo Blech conducting the Berlin State Opera orchestra.

Johann Strauss' "Wiener Blut-Waltz" will be next with the Boston "Pops" orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler.

The two movements, "grave-molto allegro" of his by no and adagio cantabile of Beethoven's "Sonata in C Minor (Patheique) opus 13" will feature Wilhelm Bachaus at the piano.

"Carnival Overture" by Dvorak will have Vaclav Talich conducting the Czech Philharmonic orchestra.

Marian Anderson, contralto, will be featured in "Alto Rhapsody" after Goethe's "Harzreise in Winter" with Eugene Ormandy conducting the Philadelphia orchestra.

Concluding the program will be "The Love for Three Oranges—Scherzo and March" by Prokofiev. Serge Koussevitzky will conduct the Boston Symphony orchestra.

Henderlider to Direct Student Discussion Over WSUI Today

Clair Henderlider, G of Onawa, will direct seven speech students in discussion of inter-American economics on the university forum over station WSUI at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Members of the forum will give short speeches on the question, "What Economic Program Shall the United States and Latin America Follow in Order to Promote the Good Neighbor Policy?"

Speakers and their topics are Ben Birdsall, A2 of Clarion, "Shall We Encourage Latin American Industrialization?"; Betty Peterson, A2 of Madison, S. D., "Diversification of Products in Inter-American Economy"; Maxine Dierking, A3 of Sioux City, "Shall We Have a Policy of Free Trade with Latin America?"; Robert Borchardt, C3 of Davenport, "Reciprocal Trade with Latin America"; Robert Hoyt, A3 of Creston, "The Future Development of Airlines, Waterways and Highways"; Arlene DeMott, A4 of Sioux City, "Dislocations in Latin American Commerce Caused by the War"; Mildred Bradshaw, A4 of Chicago, "Relationship of Economic Prosperity of South America to Political Attitude."

The radio forum on South America is a part of the campaign to arouse greater interest in inter-American affairs, and is being sponsored in conjunction with the national extension - discussion contest on Latin American affairs. The national program is directed by Dr. Alan Nichols in the office of the coordinator of inter-American affairs in the department of state.

Count 11 Band to Play For Hillel Club Dance

Hillel club members will dance to music of Paul Arthur and the count 11 band tomorrow night at the stamp ball in the river room of Iowa Union.

A 25 cent defense stamp will be sold to each person entering the dance. Programs and decorations will feature the same theme.

Committee members are Naomi Braverman, A3 of Iowa City; Ruth Neuman, A1 of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Corrine Gould, A1 of Oskaloosa; Fay Rovner, A2 of Marshalltown; Marcia Izove, A2 of Davenport; Paul Cohen, A2 of New York City; Harold Grueskin, A2 of Sioux City, and Phillip Peshkin, C4 of Des Moines.

Roger Williams Group Will Hold Hobo Hike, Pioneer Party Tonight

A pioneer party will be held tonight at 8:30 in the Baptist student center by members of the Roger Williams foundation.

Entertainment at the center will consist of folk dancing, singing and a question box quiz program. A hobo hike will follow.

Refreshments will be served when the hikers return to the Roger Williams house. There is no charge for the party and all young people of senior age are invited to attend.

Committee members are Maxine Dunfee, G of Red Oak, chairman; Marie Booth, A1 of Washington; Mary Lou Borg, A3 of Des Moines; James Penn, G of Salem, N. C., and Ruth Healy, A2 of Muscatine.

Members of Nazarene Class to Meet Tonight

The Nazarene class will meet at the home of Orville Crow, 1306 Keokuk, at 7:30 tonight for a prayer meeting.

Lester Bremman, E2 of Iowa City, will lead the meeting.

Art Circle Will Meet

Members of the Art circle will meet for their annual business meeting and election of officers Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the board room of the public library.

A non-resident who goes in for big game hunting in Alaska must pay a $50 license fee.

1942 CREATIONS FOR THE EASTER PARADE

Any one of these clever and original hats, creations of our own American designers, will fit gracefully into the Easter parade, April 5, and do mildly proud for the all-important stroll down the avenue.

Up in the left hand corner is shown a peaked black velvet scull cap, cut in a new and radical way fitting smooth on the head. From the sides are draped bunches of black cherries. An aura of green veiling covers it all.

More conservative but none the less fetching is the pink bonnet in the lower left hand corner. Fuschia velvet streamers and coy little forget-me-nots peeking out from under the brim complete the picture. The turban at the right is of purple jersey, topped with a huge fan of daisies.

Teen-Aged Brunette Betty Bonney—Vocalists With Les Brown

The expectation of Les Brown and his band has set students in a really paralyzing mood for the Senior Hop, March 6, in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Betty Bonney and Ralph Young are the featured vocalists with this "popular young man of music."

The flash of gold buttons and military manners will be much in evidence at this year's Hop since uniforms have been approved by the committee in charge.

Although the pert brunette singer may look completely feminine and delicate, don't let that fool you! She's a sportswoman, too. Her favorite in this field is swimming, and she's just as capable in the water as she is before the mike, for she can out-crawl most of Les' boys.

Much of her training and early experience Betty obtained with Colonel Manny Prager's band and a Cincinnati outfit led by Jimmy Jones.

Ralph Young, the other vocalist featured with this popular young band, packs 185 pounds of solid rhythm. With a voice that is reminiscent of Russ Columbo, he's been thrilling audiences ever since he was spotted sporting letters and packages as a mail clerk a few years ago.

He might still be at it, in fact, if some songpluggers had not overheard him crooning over the mail bags and recommended him to Teddy Powell. It was through Powell that he was introduced to big time circles soon after.

From Powell's band he went to Tommy Reynolds. His rise to a top-notch position in the singing world has been quick and easy since.

Unmarried, Ralph was born July 1, 1918, in New York's Bronx. He went to Jamaica high school in Long Island. It was after this that he became a mail clerk. In reference to that period of his life, Ralph recalls that many a time he has been tempted to go back, but "...now that I'm with Les, I'm darn glad I didn't."

He likes to be told that he sounds like Russ Columbo. When Variety's reviewer said so in a notice, he remarked, "I don't think they could have paid me a nicer compliment."

Much of the success of the Brown band is due to its showmanship. Its appeal to the crowd in this respect can be attributed almost wholly to Betty and Ralph who clown in front of the mike with some help, oftentimes, from Abe Most, young clarinetist with the band.

Learn to Shape and Mold Your Lips

You don't like the shape of your lips? There is really no reason why you shouldn't have the lips you've always wanted. Because, your lips, more easily than any other feature, lend themselves to shaping, molding and general improvement.

You can make your lips perfect. Lipstick, that three-way weapon, can shape the natural contour of the lips, change faulty shapes for better and add gaiety to your face.

Why not try the new flat-edged lip-brush for a clean, smooth application of lipstick? It's goodbye to smudgy, uneven lines around your mouth. Be sure to start with your lips minus all trace of previous make-up.

Practice outlining. Practice outlining a wider outer edge at the corners of your lips with your brush if your mouth is too "rosebuddish." A few attempts and you'll find the shape that is most flattering to you.

A too-wide mouth shouldn't carry the full color strength of the lipstick to the corners. Let it "fade out" to make it look smaller.

Lip pomade should be used for lips that the easily chapped or too dry. And always apply a cream after soap and water washing.

To avoid getting lipstick on the teeth, press a piece of cleansing tissue firmly between your lips in order to remove excess lipstick.

Remove smudges. A smudge—a "slip of the brush"—if not too heavy, can be removed entirely by a quick wipe into the lip.

Remember that dark shades of lipstick emphasize the contours of

Conference to Begin Monday With Coffee Hour in Iowa Union

Members of the Iowa State League of Nursing Education will hold an institute on the university campus next Monday and Tuesday. Lois B. Corder, superintendent of nursing at University hospital, is chairman of the committee in charge of the institute. She will be assisted by Lola Lindsey, educational director of the university school of nursing, and Sister M. Philomena, head of the Mercy Hospital Nursing school.

The institute will open at 9 a. m. Monday with registration and a coffee hour in the river room of Iowa Union. At 10 a. m. Prof. Ernest Horn of the college of education will speak on "Effective Methods of Teaching" in the north conference room of the Union. Prof. E. F. Lindquist, also of the college of education, will speak at 11 a. m. on "Objective Examinations" in the north conference room.

"Fundamentals of a Ward Teaching Program" will be the subject of a talk by Anna Taylor, assistant editor of the American Journal of Nursing, at 2 p. m. in the recreation room at Westlawn.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the SUI school of fine arts, will be the speaker at an informal dinner at Iowa Union at 6:30 p. m. His topic will be "The New Russia."

Miss Taylor will discuss "Methods and Practices of Ward Teaching" at 9 a. m. Tuesday in the north conference room. Verna Free, acting chief nurse at the psychopathic hospital, is scheduled to speak on "A Teaching Program for Psychiatric Nursing" at 11 a. m. in the north conference room.

At 1:30 p. m. Rosella Schlotfeldt, supervisor of University hospital's obstetrical service, will speak on "A Teaching Program for Obstetrical Nursing" in the medical amphitheater of the hospital.

Concluding the institute, a general conference on ward teaching problems will be led by Miss Taylor and Miss Lindsey from 2:15 to 4 p. m. in the amphitheater.

Screen Stars May Create— A Second Hollywood

—In Ohio's Rolling Hills

By ALVIN L. KRIEG
Central Press Correspondent
MANSFIELD, O.—This rolling Ohio country may become a Hollywood annex, it appears after a visit here by Humphrey Bogart, well-known screen heavy.

Mansfield, city of 37,000 in north central Ohio, has gradually become accustomed to film and literary celebrities since Native Son Louis Bromfield, the author, came home a couple of years ago and established a farm estate known as Malabar about 12 miles from town.

Many film folks have visited there, but it wasn't until a recent visit by Humphrey Bogart and his wife, former Actress Mayo Methow, that the possibility of establishment of a second Hollywood was disclosed.

Bogart revealed that Bromfield, his friend of some 15 years' standing, had presented him one entire acre of Malabar. And since he can't take it with him, Bogart is planning to build a bungalow on his Ohio property and spend a month or two between pictures vacationing there.

Three Others, Too
And Bogart's not the only one. A check with jovial, plumpish George Hawkins, Bromfield's secretary, discloses that the author has made similar gifts of his estate to Mary Astor, Kay Francis and William Gargan.

Bromfield has a long way to go before he runs out of space, for he has more than 700 acres in his estate. The Misses Astor and Francis, and now Bogart, have visited Malabar and personally inspected their acres in Ohio. But not Gargan—he apparently took his homestead sight unseen.

Bogart was a bit hazy about locating his property, but he knows that the acre is "just up the creek from the house." Since the other acres are in the same general location, the possibility arises that the section may come to be known as "Up the Creek Ranch," or something of the sort.

While Bromfield is a first-class farmer, in addition to being a writer of consequence, Bogart makes no pretense of being a farmer or a woodsman. As a matter of fact, Bromfield talked the party into making a long hike through the property on a chilly day in the course of a visit here. Hawkins gave up after a quarter of mile, but Bogart stuck with it for two hours, and he promptly went to bed for the better part of a day when he returned to the house.

He's No Farmer
The film villain listened and gazed with an attempt at serious interest as Bromfield pointed out his crops and his cattle, but Bogart is a city man through and through. He was born in New York City, the son of a doctor.

Screen Star Humphrey Bogart warily offers feed to several of Louis Bromfield's cattle at the writer's Mansfield, Ohio, estate.

He attended Trinity school and Andover, and from there, without completing his studies, entered the navy in the last war. He served for two years as a first-class seaman in the transport service.

On his return after the war, he spent a year in a bank, as an assistant purchasing agent, and six months as a tug inspector for the Pennsylvania railroad. Then, with some encouragement from a family friend, Producer William A. Brady, he embarked with complete absence of fanfare on a stage career.

For 10 years he played what are known as college boy roles, and his big chance came along, and he was stamped as a villain from there on out.

He tried out for the role of the gangster, Duke Mantee, when producers of "Petrified Forest" began casting. He fitted the part well, and drew considerable attention on Broadway for a year and a half

Dr. C. H. McCloy Emphasizes Importance Of Physical Fitness, Outlines Three-Fold Plan

"The length of our lives is determined primarily by our asperity, but whatever our life span may be, we can make it more efficient and more profitable by keeping physically fit," said Dr. C. H. McCloy, professor of anthropology and physical education, as he addressed members of Rotary club at their luncheon meeting yesterday.

"Physical fitness enables us to live more fully to a respectable and cheerful old age," Professor McCloy said. He explained that most men retire physically at the age of 22 and by the time they are 38, have only 85 per cent of the strength which they had when they left high school and college.

"Middle-aged men become complacent and neglect to build up enough endurance for the day's work," stated Professor McCloy. "Moreover, they have had twice as many years as college men in which to contact infections and diseases."

Professor McCloy outlined a three-fold plan to achieve physical fitness. First, have a good medical examination from a physician who is young in spirit and who does not think either himself or you hopelessly old. Second, revise your health habits—don't eat, drink or smoke to excess and get more sleep. Third, undertake a program of calisthenics, but accommodate your activities to your capacities. Expand your program gradually as you feel fit to handle it.

"Iowa City does not have adequate facilities for adults wishing to improve their physical condition," Professor McCloy stated. "However, the physical education department of the university is soon going to release from publication printed cards outlining a program of exercises. Anyone sincerely interested in a physical fitness program may obtain cards from the department," Professor McCloy said.

Prof. W. Smith Says Iowa Doing Its Share

States Our Activities Geared to War Effort At Knit, Chat Meeting

Iowa is doing its share in war economy by doing "business as usual," asserted Prof. Wendell Smith of the college of commerce at yesterday's knit and chat meeting in the river room of Iowa Union.

Even though Iowa is not engaged in defense industry to a large extent, our activities are geared to the war effort since 90 per cent of our agricultural products are sold for national consumption, according to Professor Smith.

"The prosperity of Iowa depends on the prosperity of the nation," he said, pointing out that the problem of Iowa economics is one of that of a national market for agricultural products.

Therefore, Iowans are primarily concerned with national problems of which the two most important at the present time are production and pricing.

Since America has half the world's productive capacity, the problem is one of an immediate transition from peacetime to wartime production rather than one of long time endurance, according to Professor Smith.

"We are going to produce only half as much peacetime commodities as previously," he stated, explaining that large amounts of raw materials are being directed into war industry.

The second major economic problem of the war, pricing, has been brought about by a drop of half the nation's usual peacetime commodities, while the amount of money in the country has remained essentially the same.

This situation will ordinarily result in inflation unless steps are taken to prevent it. In order to prohibit sky-high prices, the government has taken steps to fix prices as the necessity becomes apparent in certain products and to ration products to those who need them most, explained Professor Smith.

"Inflation can very definitely be avoided if we want to avoid it," declared the speaker, who explained that enforced saving through defense bonds, taxes, price controls and priorities are important means of checking inflation by equalizing supply and demand.

Professor Smith pointed out that much resentment of price control is due to a lack of understanding of the system.

"We have had 10 to 25 per cent increase in prices up to the present time," he said pointing out that this was more apparent in some commodities than others.

Professor Smith also explained that scarcities, a vital factor in inflation, are created in some cases by hoarding and needless buying of products in which no scarcity exists and that consumers should buy only as they need the goods.

Prof. Paul Engle of the English department is shown conducting an informal fireside chat with members of Chi Omega sorority. A four week program under the direction of a joint Y.W.C.A.—Y.M.C.A. committee works out the schedule whereby sororities and fraternities may have faculty members as guests for dinner which will be followed by a discussion on a subject of pertinent interest to the speaker and the group. Khairum Rummels, A3 of Iowa City, and Jane Byers, A3 of Fondra, are co-chairmen of the fireside chat committee. Seated by Professor Engle from left to right are Ann Johnson, A1 of Davenport; Bea Parker, A1 of Webster City; Esther Simpson, A3 of Aurora, Ill., and Connie Bultke, A4 of Webster Springs, Ill.

Student Forgets Draft Sign-Up

D. E. Lalli Neglects To Register Because Of Personal Reasons

Dan Edward Lalli, 21, an Italian-born University of Iowa student from Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday registered for selective service after stating to the local draft board he "forgot" about the Feb. 16 registration because of heavy school work schedule.

After Officer G. J. "Dan" Mulherin picked him up at Shaeffer hall at 10 a. m., Lalli told board members he had been working three days and nights and then simply forgot about registration.

He was to meet with the draft board Wednesday but when he did not appear the officer was notified to apprehend him.

Lalli, who is residing at 619 E. Burlington, stated yesterday he saw several officials about a late registration and had decided to do so at 11 o'clock.

He said he failed to register when he should have, due to "personal reasons" which he didn't care to divulge but that he had already made up his mind to register before the officer took him to draft board office.

A senior in the university, Lalli was born in Italy Aug. 11, 1920, and came to the United States when he was eight years of age.

Although the exact status of Lalli is not known, Maj. Oliver P. Bennett, legal advisor of the state selective service system in a telephone conversation with Clerk Walter E. Shquist yesterday stated that the registrant will be put in class 4-C, non-declarant alien.

'Life' Photographers Record West Liberty Rotary Club Activities

Following a request from "Life" magazine to name a small-town Rotary club whose contributions to the war effort were outstanding, Rotary international picked the West Liberty organization as first choice for that honor.

"Life" photographers this week took a series of pictures of the "outstanding small-town club" whose contributions to war work have been exceptional.

Among the club's projects have been combination movie and auction programs, the proceeds of which have been sent to the men from West Liberty and vicinity who are in some branch of the armed forces.

L. E. Papenthien is president and Dr. L. A. Royal is secretary of West Liberty Rotary club.

Bi-Partisans Name Six School Board Candidates

2 Candidates File on Ticket Independently

Bi-Partisan Sponsored Men Expected to File Papers This Morning

Along with the selection last night, by the bi-partisan committee, of six candidates to run in the March 9 school board election came the announcement that two other bi-partisan men, not sponsored by the committee, had already filed nomination papers.

Nominated by the committee at their meeting in the Jefferson son hotel last night were H. H. Gibbs; Dan Dutcher; Dean Jones; C. S. Wieneke; Albert Sidwell, and Prof. George Haskell.

Late yesterday afternoon nomination papers were filed for C. G. Sample in the office of Charles S. Galther, secretary of the school board. Galther announced that papers had been filed Feb. 16 nominating J. P. Bleeker as a candidate.

Nomination papers for the candidates chosen last night will be filed with the secretary of the school board before 12 noon tomorrow, the committee decided.

Dr. D. F. Fitzpatrick, newly elected chairman of the bi-partisan group, said late last night that the two men whose papers were filed previously to the meeting were not being sponsored by his committee.

The bi-partisan committee, a combination of the two major political parties designed to keep politics out of the school board elections, as a policy nominates two men to fill each vacant post in order to give the voters a wider selection.

Last year there were no candidates other than those chosen by the committee for the vacant offices.

All candidates are in the race to fill three posts on the board left vacant by the expiration of the terms of Atty. Arthur O. Leff, J. M. Kadlec and Albert

Today is the last day for registration of voters for the election. Persons who have moved from one precinct to another since the last election, persons who have not registered before, and women who have changed name either by divorce or marriage are required to register at the city hall.

B. Sidwell, Leff and Kadlec both declined to run for re-election to the three year term.

Of the 10 men named as candidates for the nominations of the bi-partisan committee, only one, Leslie A. Moore, requested that his name be removed from the list. Moore thanked the committee but said that other duties prevented him from accepting. Moore was then re-named secretary of the association.

In addition to Dr. Fitzpatrick and Moore, the committee includes Mrs. Sarah P. Hoffman; Dr. W. L. Bywater, retiring chairman; Atty. Will J. Jackson; Frank Nesvacil; Carl Cone; Atty. Edward F. Rate; Don McComas; Roscoe B. Ayers; Dr. P. W. Richardson; and Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger.

The school board terms of Mrs. Howard L. Beye and John P. Kelley do not expire until 1943. The terms of Earl Y. Sangster and B. M. Ricketts expire in 1944.

Iowa Communities Join 'Food-for-Victory' Campaign

Hundreds of Iowa communities are joining the "Food-for-Victory" campaign, the object of which is to determine the amount of reserve farm help available in each community during planting or harvest periods when farmers may be sorely in need of additional workers, according to Harold N. Hoyt, farm placement supervisor for the United States employment service, at Des Moines.

"Many farmers have hesitated to undertake greatly increased food production in the face of threatened farm labor shortage," Hoyt said. "We believe that in nearly every farm community there is enough reserve man power to take care of additional work necessary for increased production and the object of this campaign is to find that reserve man power and to register all available help so that the farmer may be assured of sufficient help in case he needs to call on it."

Back of this plan is the fact that in 1917 and 1918 many communities joined hands, town and country, and shocked the grain and harvested crops. The "Food-for-Victory" plan undertakes to ascertain farm needs and available farm help in advance of the planting and harvesting. In this way it is believed that farmers, gardeners, canning plants and processing plants may be able to get a fairly accurate picture of the supply of available workers and to make their plans for increasing production with confidence.

Every Iowa town or village is made up largely of people who are close to the farm, most of them have lived on the farm and know and understand farm work. There are many retired farmers, or those who are not fully employed. There are youngsters just out of school who are not employed. It is believed that most of these people would gladly assist in any emergency farm work necessary to insure increased crops or to harvest grain.

From reports received up to

Tuesday of this week at the U. S. employment office it is believed that practically every Iowa community will adopt this plan. Leaders, through cooperation with county farm agents, farm bureaus and county war boards have been secured to sponsor the work in more than 250 towns and villages already reported.

"Under this plan," Hoyt declared, "there is no disposition to dump the problem of increased production on the farmer's doorstep." The United States department of agriculture war board has asked for greatly increased food production. The board view is to mobilize the entire citizenship of the state, the people in every community, to back the farmers and the producer and assume a portion of the responsibility for increased production.

From all over the state the United States employment office reports indicate enthusiastic acceptance of the plan. Thirty communities in the vicinity of Council Bluffs are reported organizing while Decatur, Ft. Dodge, Cedar Rapids, Mason City, and many others report practically 100 per cent cooperation in the smaller communities. The Boone office as well as Newton report much enthusiasm among farm communities while in the vicinity of Des Moines more than 25 towns have indicated their desire to adopt the plan.

SUI to Be Represented At National Conference In New York March 6, 7

Because of outstanding work done in hydraulic engineering, Iowa university will be one of eight institutions represented at the national conference on oceanography and meteorology to be held in New York City March 6 and 7, Dean F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering said yesterday.

Prof. A. A. Kainske of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research will speak on "Turbulence and the Transport of Sand and Silt by Wind."

axis. Nor can it be overlooked that Japan is being increasingly committed to major operations on two far-separated fronts simultaneously.

Distance and time required for ships to reach danger points still is the greatest factor forcing the allies to a continuing retreat strategy.

Distance is also enormously increasing Japan's difficulties, however. She is a minimum of 3,000 miles by sea from her chosen zones of action.

The base of her transportation triangle stretches from Rangoon on the Indian ocean to the islands east of New Guinea in the Pacific, another good 3,000 sea miles. The task of supplying that vast front is an ever increasing strain upon Japanese sea power.

Prime Minister Churchill may have had that in mind, as well as increasing American, Dutch and British inroads on Japanese shipping, when he spoke to parliament of "waning" Japanese sea power. In that prime factor of the war lies the ultimate answer of victory or defeat. It is the explanation of united nation retreat strategy in the Pacific and in North Africa to await the hour when ship production from American ways permits offensive measures simultaneously on many fronts.

To what extent Japan's ship losses are tending to slow down her advance is yet to be revealed. However, there is increasing evidence that such losses, plus mounting American air participation in the battle for the Dutch Indies, have already forced a hull in the attack on MacArthur's lines in Luzon. The shipping to serve a mass attack there probably was more vitally needed elsewhere to replace losses.

Alaska maintains a home for its pioneers at Sitka.

Robert G. Bowman Wins Damage Case From Fred Bleifuss

Hearing of Mathews Versus Sladek Slated To Be Held March 2

After three hours deliberation, a district court petit jury hearing the $2,093.50 damage action of Fred Bleifuss vs. Robert G. Bowman, returned a verdict in favor of Defendant Bowman at 3:30 p.m. yesterday.

The case went to the jury at 12:30 after final evidence was presented and closing arguments made by attorneys. The verdict, finding for the defendant, was returned to open court by Richard Cole, foreman of the jury.

During the two and one-half days of trial, heard by Judge James P. Gaffney, only two witnesses appeared for Bleifuss, while for the defense numerous witnesses testified. Judge Gaffney instructed the jury that the aggregate damages, if any, should not exceed $539.50.

Bleifuss sought $2,093.50 judgment for damages resulting from an automobile collision with a car driven by Bowman. The accident occurred last August one mile west of North Liberty.

At the time of the collision, Bleifuss was a passenger in a car owned by Gladys Johnson. R. F. Ozenbaugh was driver of the car at the time. The plaintiff charged

Motor Transport Positions Open

Because motor transport has assumed such a vital role in defense activity, the civil service commission has announced an examination for instructors in over 10 branches of the automotive industry.

The instructors are needed by the quartermaster corps of the war department. Salaries range from $2,600 to $4,600 a year with an excellent opportunity for advancement.

They will conduct classes in the following branches: automotive parts, automotive electrical and carburetion; body finishing and upholstery; automotive machinist; repair, body and radiator; Diesel engines; internal-combustion engines; motorcycles; blacksmith and welding, and general. They will plan the courses in these subjects, and prepare and revise text and related instructional material.

Full information as to requirements for these examinations and application forms may be obtained from the Iowa City post office.

U.S. Marine Corps Opens New Class

The U. S. marine corps has opened a new class called the marine corps reserve, class IV, for men between the ages of 30 and 50. Their primary duties are for guard and the preservation of government property in navy yards and other naval shore establishments.

Qualifications for this class are as follows: (a) men between the ages of 30 and 34 who are physically fit for combat duty may be accepted for enlistment; (b) men between the ages of 35 and 50 who are physically fit for combat duty may be accepted; (c) all men must meet the reduced physical requirements, and men between the ages of 30 and 34 who are not physically qualified for combat duty but meet the reduced physical requirements may be accepted; (d) the fact of being married or having dependents does not bar a man from enlisting.

Former marines or soldiers who are veterans of the first World War will be reappointed to their enlisted rank at the time of discharge from active service not above sergeant, and in no case will veterans be appointed to a rank lower than private first class.

All men enlisted in the marine corps reserve, class IV, will be assigned to various navy yards for the purpose of performing guard duty. No definite promise of choice of station can be guaranteed nor assurance of remain-

Three Cub Packs Plan To Convene Tonight

Cub Packs 2, 6 and 11 will hold their monthly meetings in their sponsoring institutions tonight.

Meeting at 7 o'clock in the University elementary school, Pack 2 will hold a "Pioneer Night." Two new dens will be organized. A pot-luck dinner will begin the meeting of Pack 11 to be held at the Roosevelt school while Pack 6 will feature a track meet at its meeting in the Longfellow school.

Tire Rationing Board Will Allot 31 Tires, 26 Tubes for March

The Johnson county tire rationing board announced yesterday that only 31 tires and 26 tubes will be allotted to light trucks, passenger cars and motorcycles in this country for March.

While retreaded tires are now being rationed, none will be available for this class of automobile anywhere in the nation during March, the board said. Buses, trucks and farm implements will be allowed 77 tires, 33 retreads and 87 tubes.

The March quota for the state totals 2,351 tires and 1,968 tubes for light trucks, passenger cars and motorcycles, and 5,938 tires, 2,532 retreads and 6,668 tubes for heavier vehicles.

National total for the month of March was 471,311 new and retreaded tires as compared with the February quota of 236,813.

Metallurgical Papers Eligible for Prizes

Prizes for the best papers on metallurgical subjects are being offered by the Tri-cities section of the American Society for Metals,

John Fielding of the mechanical engineering department of the college of engineering announced yesterday.

First prize is a metals handbook, $5 in cash and a junior membership in the American Society of Metals. Second prize is a metals handbook and a junior membership, and third prize is a junior membership only.

All men taking manufacturing processes are eligible to compete for these prizes.

The Listening Post--

By LOREN HICKERSON

NO APATHY HERE...

The more you look the scene over, the more it appears that there is room for pride in the attitude of the people as a whole toward the gravity of the war. . . Iowa students are no exceptions. . .

First reactions aren't always fenable. . . More you think about it the more you wonder what could be done to prove we're awake to facts and eager to fit into the picture. . . What more could be done, that is, in the way of general actions. . .

It would be foolish to congregate in the streets and whip up a war psychosis. . . It would be equally foolish to shed tears over Singapore, now that Singapore is lost. . .

But when it comes to being inwardly awake to the times, Iowa students are as "there" as anybody. . . It's only in the realm of external manifestations of that awakens that there's room for improvement. . .

The big job seems to be to single out a few important things that need to be done, and prove to students that they're important. . . Nobody to date has gone at it in that fashion. . . They've made their mistake in assuming that the importance is self-evident. . .

There are a lot of differences in opinion on what is important in the realm of student emergency activity and what isn't. . . Hence there's been a noticeable lack of a willingness to participate in some schemes—and the lack of willingness has been wrongly diagnosed as apathy to the war. . .

QUESTION MARK: Were there or were there not enemy aircraft over San Francisco harbor night before last? Does it make any difference? There will be enemy aircraft over San Francisco harbor soon enough. . .

I've already figured out almost all of the candidates I'm going to vote against in the forthcoming congressional elections. . . Deciding whom to vote against is easy. . . It's trying to decide whom to vote FOR that calls up the problems. . .

Politics is a lot like war. . . You don't get excited about it until the time for the big decisions come, and by that time almost all the choices are likely to be bad. . .

One thing I hope: that the voters will be more exacting in the qualifications they demand from their representatives in the coming elections than they've ever been before. . .

We could do with a few statesmen. . . and fewer politicians of the old variety. . .

Hanson Baldwin of the New York Times asks for a restatement of the Pearl Harbor tragedy, now that two months have elapsed and a good many of the ships damaged then have been repaired and put into service again. . .

"The American people not only can stand truth," he writes, "but no matter how depressing, truth is vital to a successful war effort. The enemy must be defeated on the battlefield, but the home front will condition the battlefield. . .

"The government must explain the stakes in this far-flung battle of democracy, complete confidence in the government must be maintained and each American must feel that personal stake in the war—emotionally and psychologically—that so many now lack. . .

A few rousing victories, even though they be months in coming, will do more for our emotional and psychological attitude than anything I can think of. . . Victories of the valiant MacArthur kind, on a big and far-reaching scale. . . Something to revive our boundless faith in the striking power of American industry. . .

We've forgotten what a terrifically walloping America's factories can pack. . . On top of that, we've been drugged these past two years and more with smashing axis victory after smashing axis victory. . .

A few smashing American victories—just a few—will send the spirit of democracy, wherever it may exist, soaring again in hope and determination. . . In still-free nations and in conquered countries alike, the only need now is for a taste of proof that tyranny is not invincible. . . That proof is coming. . .

Traditional Favorite, Chili, Adds Warmth and Zest to Late Winter Menus

Try Chicken Gumbo, Tasty Creole Chicken For Sunday Dinners

By CORINNE HAYES
Daily Iowan Food Editor

Ranking at the top of winter's tasty, warming and sparkling dishes is the very old, almost traditional bowl of Chili.

Mrs. Allyn Lemme, 15 E. Prentiss, served this tempting hot dish to approximately 35 members of the Negro forum at a recent meeting of the group in her home.

"Chili is a favorite among college students at anytime during cold weather. When this dish was served at the end of a fireside talk about the country of Chile, the finishing touch seemed to be added to a merry evening," Mrs. Lemme said.

Our hostess has her own special way of making Chili. "It is rather hot," she explained, "but most people seem to want it that way."

- Chili
- 3 diced onions
 - 1/2 green pepper (diced)
 - 1 small bunch celery (diced)
 - 6 tablespoons shortening
 - 1 pound hamburger
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 small can tomato soup or tomato puree
 - 1 large can of tomatoes
 - 4 tablespoons chili powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 - 1 pound red kidney beans (cooked)
 - 1/2 teaspoon sage
 - 1 crushed bay leaf
- Brown the diced onions, green pepper, and celery in the shortening. Salt and pepper the hamburger, to which the flour has been added, and add to the browned onions, pepper and celery. Let cook 10 minutes over a low flame.
- Add to the meat mixture the tomato soup and tomatoes. Add the Chili powder, cayenne pepper, sage and bay leaf. Add this complete mixture to the cooked beans (already seasoned with bacon or bacon fat). Stir well and taste for the salt seasoning. Let simmer over a low fire about an hour before serving. Just before serving add about 1/2 cup of grated cheese. This serves eight.

"This Chili with a lettuce salad and baked apples makes a very nourishing lunch," Mrs. Lemme explained.

In serving the student group, Mrs. Lemme garnished her Chili with mixed pickles, radishes and olives. Crackers were also served.

Chicken is very often the center of the Sunday meal. "Nothing suits my family better than to mention Chicken Gumbo," Mrs. Lemme smiled.

- Chicken Gumbo
- Chicken (about 4 pounds)
 - 1/2 cup diced onions
 - 1 green pepper (diced)
 - 1 small bunch celery (diced)
 - 1 small can mushrooms
 - 2 cups okra
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1/2 teaspoon red pepper
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 teaspoon gumbo file
- Boil the chicken until it can easily be picked from the bones. After separating the meat from the bone structure add four cups of the broth.
- Brown the onions, green pepper and celery in four tablespoons of shortening. Add the mushrooms, bay leaf and okra to the browned vegetables. Add these to the chicken mixture.
- To the complete mixture add 3 tablespoons of browned flour to thicken. Just before serving add

"Often when I serve the spinach ring I fill the inside of it with buttered carrots (diced) or Harvard beets for color," Mrs. Lemme explained, "When I use cauliflower buds, I top them with bittry cheese."

- Lemon Pie
- 1 cup water
 - 1 cup sugar
 - juice of 2 lemons
 - 1 lemon rind (grated)
 - 2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
 - 2 egg yolks
 - pinch of salt
 - 2 beaten egg whites
 - 1 teaspoon butter
- Bring the water sugar and lemon rind to a boil, then add to it the cornstarch and lemon juice mixture. Cook until clear.
- Beat egg yolks well and add slowly 2 tablespoons of the hot mixture to the already thickened mixture and turn off the heat. Add butter and cool.
- Four the cold lemon mixture into a cold pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff but dry. Then beat in slowly 3 tablespoons of sugar and the grated lemon rind. Cover the pie with the beaten egg mixture and brown in moderate oven.

Another one of Mrs. Lemme's favorite chicken recipes is Creole Chicken.

- Creole Chicken
- Chicken (about 3 pounds)
 - 3 small onions (diced)

IT'S A HIT WITH THE FAMILY

... according to Mrs. Allyn Lemme, 15 E. Prentiss.

It is the Economical Butterless Cake that Mrs. Lemme recommends so highly because it is easy to mix, economical and a beautiful cake to serve. Adding to easiness of making it, the cake may be served without a frosting.

- 1 green pepper (diced)
 - 1 small bunch of celery (diced)
 - 1 small can mushrooms
 - 1 teaspoon chili powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 - 1/2 cup of sliced olives
 - 1 can tomatoes (No. 2)
 - 1 cup of tomato juice
- Cut up chicken for frying, dip in milk, then in flour and brown in deep fat (about 1/4 of an inch in frying pan). Fry fast.
- Lay the chicken in small roasting pan. Put the diced vegetables into the fat and brown; then pour over the chicken. Pour the tomatoes, tomato juice and the seasoned powers over the chicken. Bake in a moderate oven 1 1/2 hours. It makes its own gravy and serves 10 persons.

Mrs. Lemme says that her family prefers cake and cookies to pudding desserts. A popular cake is the Economical Butterless Cake.

- Economical Butterless Cake

Special Fish Dishes May Highlight Meals During Lenten Time

Serve With Vegetables Or Small Left-Overs As Winter Specialty

The Lenten season provides an extra reason for giving fish dishes honor places in late winter meals.

Fish Vegetable Fritters

Mix together 1 cup whole kernel corn and 1 cup fish (canned or cooked leftovers), 1/2 cup diced celery, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 2 eggs yolks, 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and 2/3 cup of milk or vegetable stock. Beat 2 minutes, fold in 2 beaten whites and mix lightly. Drop portions from a spoon into deep hot fat and fry 4 minutes. Drain and serve hot with creamed green beans or tomato or mushroom sauce.

Haddock—Spanish Style

Wash 1 1/2 pounds haddock fillets in cold water and wipe dry, sprinkle with flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Place in shallow, buttered baking dish. For the sauce simmer 3 minutes, 1/2 cup chopped onions, 1/2 cup celery and 1/2 cup green peppers in 5 tablespoons fat, heated in frying pan.

Add clove garlic, 2 cups tomatoes, 1/3 teaspoon salt, 4 whole cloves and 1/4 cup water. Boil 2 minutes and pour through strainer over fish. Cover and bake an hour in moderate oven. Uncover last 10 minutes to brown top. Serve from baking dish. This serves 4 or 5.

Fish Loaf Savoy

Mix together 2 cups cooked or canned fish, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 tablespoon chopped celery, 1 tablespoon parsley and 1 tablespoon pimientos, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs—beaten (or 4 yolks), 1/2 cup milk and 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Pour half into a buttered loaf-pan, add 1/2 inch layer of chili sauce, catsup or pickle relish and cover with rest of fish mixture. Bake an hour in moderate oven. Unmold carefully and surround with a well-seasoned white sauce, creole or savory brown sauce with chopped olives in it.

Apple Sauce Cookies

- 1/2 cup butter or shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup apple sauce
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon soda

Wash and dry raisins. Cream the butter, add sugar and cream together. Add well-beaten egg to butter and sugar mixture and beat well.

Add apple sauce, slightly sweetened, then sifted dry ingredients. Stir in raisins. Test one cookie by baking on small greased pan. If cookie spreads too much add more flour. Drop cookies by teaspoonful on greased baking sheet. Bake about 10 to 12 minutes in a 425 degree F. oven.

Chocolate Frosting

- 3 cups powdered sugar
- 4 tablespoons cocoa

Add enough water to make cocoa paste and then add one tablespoon of melted butter and a pinch of salt. Mix in enough hot milk to make a thick frosting and then add one half of nut meats and a teaspoon of vanilla. Spread on cookies sheet. Cut into bars about 2 by 2 1/2 inches.

Black Nut Bars

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 squares of unsweetened melted chocolate or 1/2 cup of cocoa
- 1/2 cup cake flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup nut meats (black walnuts or pecans)

Beat eggs in bowl large enough for entire ingredients. Add sugar slowly. Melt fat and add the melted chocolate or cocoa (mixed with enough water to make a cocoa paste). Stir well. Add sifted flour, baking powder, nut meats and vanilla. Stir well. Bake in a greased shallow pan.

Spread out thin. Cooking time is about 15 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven. When slightly cool frost.

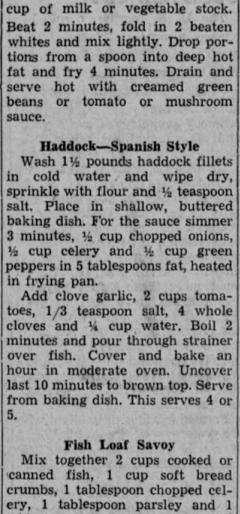

Apple Sauce Cookies

- 1/2 cup butter or shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 1 cup apple sauce
- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 teaspoon soda

Wash and dry raisins. Cream the butter, add sugar and cream together. Add well-beaten egg to butter and sugar mixture and beat well.

Add apple sauce, slightly sweetened, then sifted dry ingredients. Stir in raisins. Test one cookie by baking on small greased pan. If cookie spreads too much add more flour. Drop cookies by teaspoonful on greased baking sheet. Bake about 10 to 12 minutes in a 425 degree F. oven.

WAR RECIPES STRESS ECONOMY

Even with sugar ration house-wives can still have cakes! Here is a really drenched up patriotic cake called Victory Banana Cake. It calls for 1/3 of a cup of sugar. The sweetness is made up from the using of syrup, bananas, semi-sweet chocolate and honey-flavored whipped cream.

Victory Banana Cake

- 2 1/2 cups cake flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/3 cup granulated sugar
- 1/3 cup glassed syrup
- 2 eggs well beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup of mashed bananas
- 1/2 cup sour milk or buttermilk

Sift cake flour, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt and sift together twice. Cream shortening until soft, add granulated sugar and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Stir in syrup slowly. Beat the eggs and add about four portions, beating well after each. Stir in vanilla. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the mashed bananas and buttermilk, beating well after each addition. Line two 9-inch layer cake pans with waxed paper. Grease sides of pans and waxed paper. Pour in batter and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for about 25 minutes or until an inserted toothpick comes out clean. Cool in pans at least 10 minutes before removing to cooling racks.

For Filling and Topping

- 1 seven-ounce bar semi-sweet chocolate
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon honey

Melt semi-sweet chocolate over hot water and use as filling between the layers. Beat whipping cream until stiff, adding the tablespoon of honey gradually. Top with this honey-flavored whipped cream.

Try These Kitchen Quickies to Enliven Your Lenten Menus

Try these kitchen quickies with a can of shrimp to liven lenten menus.

It's smart to save the liquid from your canned shrimp, instead of pouring it down the drain. Make a luncheon gumbo by adding thinly sliced potato and an onion. Cook gently till vegetables are done and serve with crisp crackers and a bit of green salad.

A winter shortcake can be made by creaming a No. 1 can of shrimp with a No. 1 can of peas and serve between the crusty halves of baking powder biscuits.

WHAT! A girl training men to fly for Uncle Sam?

• The name is Lennox—Peggy Lennox. She's blonde. She's pretty. She may not look the part of a trainer of fighting men, but—

She is one of the few women pilots qualified to give instruction in the CAA flight training program. And the records of the men who learned to fly from Peggy show she's doing a man-sized job of it. She's turned out pilots for the Army . . . for the Navy. Peggy is loyal to both arms of the service. Her only favorite is the favorite in every branch of the service—Camel cigarettes. She says: "They're milder in every way."

DON'T LET THOSE EYES and that smile fool you. When this young lady starts talking airplanes, brother, you'd listen, too . . . just like these students above.

AND WHEN she calls you up for that final "check flight," you'd better know your loops inside and out. It's strictly regulation with her.

YES, and with Instructor Peggy Lennox, it's strictly Camels, too—the flier's favorite. "Mildness is a rule with me," she explains. "That means Camels."

Flying Instructor PEGGY LENNOX says:

THIS IS THE CIGARETTE FOR ME. EXTRA MILD—AND THERE'S SOMETHING SO CHEERING ABOUT CAMEL'S GRAND FLAVOR

The smoke of slower-burning Camels contains

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!

"EXTRA MILD," says Instructor Peggy Lennox. "Less nicotine in the smoke," adds the student, as they talk it over—over Camels in the pilot room at the flight.

Yes, there is less nicotine in the smoke...extra mildness... but that alone doesn't tell you why, in the service... in private life... Camels are preferred.

No, there's something more. Call it flavor, call it what you will, you'll find it only in Camels. You'll like it!
