U.S. Armed Forces Rushing Toward Offensive; General Wavell Relieved of Far East Command

Work With All Possible Speed To Carry War to Axis Enemies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy's top admiral and the army's ranking general disclosed yesterday that the American armed forces are working with all possible speed to carry the war to the axis enemies in a grand offensive in Asia, Africa and Europe. Preliminary to the start of this offensive, it was said, the navy is engaged in keeping open supply lines to the major theaters of operation and at the same time harassing and weakening the enemy wherever he may be found.

The army, in cooperation with the navy, has been transporting thousands of troops and vast quantities of weapons and supplies to war zones for the battles of tomorrow. Even while its initial troops in combat fight in the Netherlands Indies and the Philippines.

The overall picture of U. S. grand strategy came from Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet, and General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

To some extent, at least, their separate statements seemed designed to answer demands in congress and elsewhere that American forces be concentrated in defense of home shores and waters, where numerous submarine attacks have occurred and air attacks are deemed likely.

General Marshall, in fact, warned against thus immobilizing striking power. "The time has now come," he declared in a letter to Senator Austin (R-Vt.), "when we must proceed with the business of carrying the war to the enemy and not permit the greater portion of our armed forces and our valuable material to be immobilized within the continental United States."

A short time later Admiral King's view of the situation was given out in a navy communique in which he stressed that "while no miracles are to be expected, an all-out effort is being made in the unexpectant but vitally essential task of establishing our sea and air communications."

"Appropriate measures are being taken," he continued, "to strengthen the key points of these communications, with a view to developing an offensive, which slowly but surely, will gain scope and power as we gain strength, through the production of aircraft, ships and guns."

"Currently, therefore, the United States fleets are carrying on with the basic idea to 'do more than your best with what you've got.' This means to take and make every member of an infantry division damage the enemy, while building soundly for his ultimate defeat."

The immensity of this job of preparation before starting the great offensive—which some strategists say may be six to twelve months in the future—was seen in unofficial but authoritative estimates of the amount of material which must be carried abroad for each man transported.

The rule of thumb is that for every member of an infantry division ten tons of equipment and supplies must be transported; for every member of an armored division, 100 tons. Moreover, additional hundreds of thousands of tons are going to Russia, China, Australia - New Zealand, Africa and England.

Russia Massing 'Almost Unheard of Forces' Along Entire Front for Large Scale Offensive

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The Russians are massing "almost unheard of forces" all along the front for what is believed to be a large-scale attack, reports originating in official Berlin quarters said last night.

German planes were said to have observed great columns of fresh Soviet troops and enormous supply trains moving up behind the red army's advance lines.

At some points, Russian attacks already were under way and these

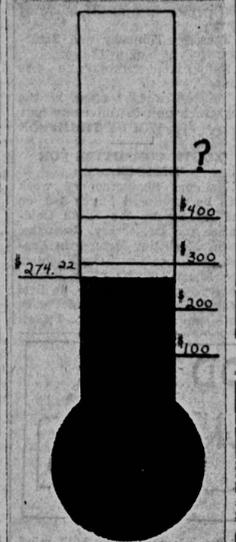

U.S. Tanker, Enemy Sub Exchange Shots Off California Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The navy announced yesterday an American tanker and an enemy submarine exchanged shots off the Golden Gate Saturday night.

The tanker, William H. Berg, was attacked by gunfire without warning but was not hit. Crews manning the tanker's deck guns returned fire immediately but the submarine was virtually invisible in the darkness.

The engagement took place last Saturday night, 33 miles southeast of the Farallone islands.

Donald Nelson Asks American Industry For Production Boost

War Production Czar Calls on All Workers For 'All-Out' Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—War Production Director Donald M. Nelson last night issued a call to American industry and workmen to boost production 25 per cent on existing machines in 1942 in an all-out drive to win "the greatest competition of all time."

The production czar appealed to every worker to put into the production job "that extra bit of drive; that extra measure of determination; that extra measure of determination" to meet and exceed the president's enormously expanded goals of planes, guns, tanks and ships.

The speech was prepared for delivery over the blue network, and is to be followed by three more at weekly intervals, assigning to every citizen his role in the war effort.

"No Sly Scheme" The production drive is "no sly scheme to speed up men and machinery for profits' sake," Nelson asserted, but an earnest effort of free men and women on the production lines to best "the slaves of Germany and the slaves of Japan."

He announced a system of competitions between plants and workers, with recognition going to the contractors and workers who exceed prescribed production goals or contribute ideas for production short cuts.

New Japanese Attack Toward India Expected

LONDON (AP)—Battered in the air and held to the east bank of the blood-tinged Sittang river on the ground, the Japanese invaders of Burma nevertheless are expected to renew their westward attack toward Rangoon and India at any moment, military observers declared last night.

Communications from the British defenders reported that two Japanese patrols on the east bank of the Sittang above Pegu had been ambushed and killed or captured to the last man and that the remainder of the 100-mile front was quiet. Pegu is a rail junction 30 miles northeast of Rangoon and a link in the now almost useless supply route to China.

The Japanese "probably are pausing to bring up reinforcements for their air force."

Hari Jap Troops Back CHUNGKING, China (AP)—Japanese troops were hurled back after making a landing on the coast of Chekiang province in the vicinity of Siangshan, about 150 miles south of Shanghai, a Chinese communique announced yesterday.

Sweeping Streamlining of War Department Ordered by F.D.R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt ordered a sweeping streamlining of the entire war department yesterday, giving the army air forces full equality with the combined ground arms.

After the German model, military functions were grouped into three basic units, the army ground forces, army air forces and the services of supply, each with its own commander under the chief of staff.

Involving a general revamping of cumbersome peace-time machinery set up two decades ago, the president's executive order was made effective March 9 for the duration of the war and for six months thereafter. It abolished bureaus and commands of a half dozen or more generals.

General George C. Marshall remains as chief of staff and Lieutenant General H. H. Arnold as chief of the air forces. To command the newly-grouped ground

Nazis Plan to Stop U.S. Aid to Britain

LONDON (AP)—The Germans have marked Iceland, Dakar, Casablanca and the Canary islands for spring conquest to choke off American supplies flowing to the embattled British Isles, an authoritative source said yesterday.

The heaviest blow would be aimed at Iceland, largely garrisoned by United States troops.

Question of Dakar Nazi occupation of Dakar would be just "an announcement that we are here and what are you going to do about it," he predicted. Dakar and Casablanca are controlled by Vichy, France, and the Canaries are owned by Spain.

Reports of a German battle squadron and a train of transport's gathering at the cold Norwegian ports of Narvik and Trondheim were called an indication that the Germans were preparing a thrust at Iceland which guards the north Atlantic approaches to Europe.

One-Eyed Strategist Sent Back to Duties As War Chief of India

Dutch Take Over Job Of Protecting Indies From Nippon Invader

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the Japanese and the allies locked in a fierce battle for Java, last stronghold of the Netherlands Indies, the united nations last night relieved the British general, Sir Archibald Wavell, as commander in chief in the Indies, and turned the task over to the Dutch.

Wavell, famous one-eyed strategist who has been praised by the German high command as "Britain's only good general," was sent back to his previous duties as commander-in-chief of India.

Thus he was put on another "hot spot" since the general expectation is that the Japanese may drive toward India if their campaign to get complete control of neighboring Burma is successful.

A joint statement by the United States army and navy, which revealed the shift, pointed out that as commander-in-chief of India, Wavell will have responsibilities for operations in Burma and for cooperation with China.

There was an immediate wave of excited speculation as to the meaning of the shift. Military observers advanced two possible explanations:

1. The bulk of the united nations fighting forces in the Indies now are Dutch and it was logical that a Netherlands man should be given the command. (The name of the new commander was not disclosed here tonight.)
2. In view of the Japanese advance into Burma, the strongest possible defense of India was considered imperative, and hence Wavell was assigned to the job.

The army and navy statement emphasized that the Dutch would continue to receive all possible assistance from the united nations, and that there was no change in plans for "general coordination of strategic policy in the war against Japan."

There have been predictions for some days that the idea of a unified command in the western Pacific-Indian ocean area would have to be revamped in view of the Japanese inroads. Singapore was the connecting link of the Australia-Dutch Indies-China-India front, and when the citadel fell (See WAVELL, page 5)

Relays of U.S. Flying Fortresses, Allied Bombers Blast at Huge 70 to 80 Ship Invasion Fleet

LONDON, Tuesday (AP)—Dispatches from Batavia said today that a huge new Japanese invasion armada was bearing down upon Java and was being met by continuous relays of U.S. flying fortresses and other allied bombers.

The reports said that the original Japanese invasion fleet consisted of 140 ships of which 50 were able to land troops Saturday.

Thus the others which now are returning are believed to consist of from 70 to 80 ships, despite the casualties already inflicted on the enemy vessels.

BANDOENG, Java (AP)—Dutch, American and British troops, in a great comradeship of arms, struck out together against the Japanese invader last night in strong, widespread counterattacks which a guarded official summary declared had "developed satisfactorily," critical though the situation remained.

There was no evidence shortly before midnight of any new Japanese landing, or of the approach of new invasion trains; the enemy, though holding vital areas of this island, had not in 48 hours been able to add another to his three initial beachheads.

In Batavia, the island capital, vital installations were destroyed—but only against distant possibilities. An official bulletin at 10:30 P.M. (11 A.M. CWT) thus summed up the situation at the hour of supreme crisis:

"From well-informed circles it is heard that action against the Japanese invasion troops has developed satisfactorily. Although in connection with the character of the operations no details can be published it can be said that the enemy received fair hits."

Enthusiastic Welcome "Up to now, there is no information received about fifth column activities, while everywhere our troops are going to meet the Japanese and are enthusiastically welcomed."

"Although there is no question of a direct threat to Batavia, vital objects are being made useless to exclude all risks. The situation in some parts of Java is obviously critical, but the invaders are receiving blows hammer and tongs."

In the wild sweep of the fighting, much was obscured, but among the visible features was the use of taxicab transport—like that which carried the shouting poilus forward a generation ago to save Paris—to rush fighting men to the front. (See JAVA, page 5)

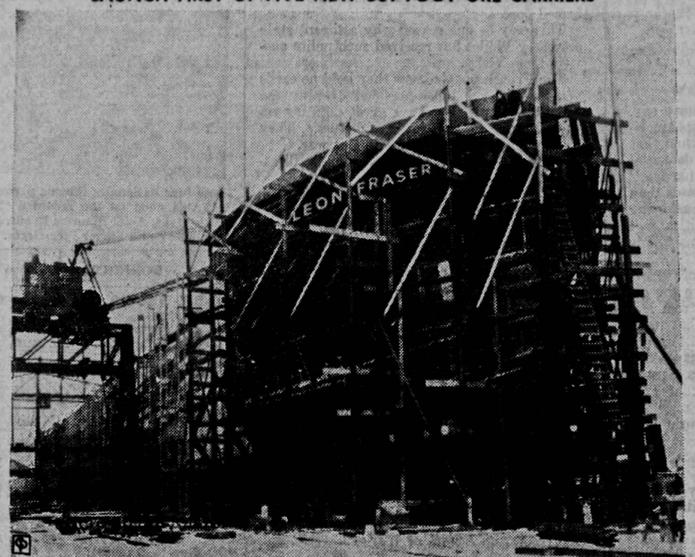

Australia Calls All in Service

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—In anticipation of the war's spread to Australia, the government yesterday ordered compulsory service for all civilians, tightened control over the three branches of the armed services and abolished for the first time in history five major holidays.

The war cabinet decided to extend the labor corps system to provide compulsory service for civilians at army pay—considerably below trade union wages—with army conditions and army-like discipline, mostly for construction and maintenance.

The new ruling also combines the Australian imperial force and the famed volunteer force with the militia and permanent garrison. The militia itself is a draftlike compulsory service.

LAUNCH FIRST OF FIVE NEW 639-FOOT ORE CARRIERS

Ore-carrying capacity of the Great Lakes fleet will be considerably increased this year with the addition of five giant new carriers. First to be launched is the Leon Fraser, pictured above on the ways at the Ecorse, Mich., yards of the Great Lakes Engineering Works just before launching. The five vessels are being built at Ecorse and at Lorain, O. Largest on the Great Lakes, each is 639 feet in length and has a capacity of 18,600 long tons of iron ore.

10,000 Moros Swear To Fight to Last Jap

MacArthur Reports Native Loyalty Oath Sworn Upon Koran

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten thousand embattled Moros in the Philippines have sworn a solemn oath upon the Koran never to lay down their serpentine daggers and keen-edged swords until the invading Japanese are ejected, General Douglas MacArthur reported yesterday.

MacArthur transmitted to the president a message signed by Alonto, sultan of Ramin and a member of the Philippine senate, that 10,000 Moros of Lanao province on the island of Mindanao already had sworn the oath and that more fighting men were being sworn every day.

The message said that they had pledged themselves to disregard all differences in religion between Christians, Mohammedans and pagans to "fight together as one people for a greater purpose, to destroy the enemy of good government."

Alonto, signing the message in behalf of all Moro sultans of Lanao, deputy governors, municipal mayors and other district officials told MacArthur that "all fighting men of Lanao would like to sign their names, but they are too many."

Is Congress Missing the Boat Again in Current Labor Move?

There is an old story told first by the ancient Persians, about a young man who wanted a beautiful princess for his wife. Only the young man stuttered, terribly, and to win his woman he cured himself of the difficulty. During the long courtship he paid such attention to the girl, was so intent upon winning her, that he forgot he was cured and went back to stuttering again. He won the princess eventually, but it took him many years to cure himself of stuttering again.

This is a case in fact. The congress is attempting to suspend the 40-hour week and time-and-a-half overtime pay for American labor, and while there is determined resistance from a strong bloc in the house, proponents of the measure hope to slide it through.

We are the first to admit that labor needs to be taught a kind of lesson. But we would also add that now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party—to unite for the purpose of winning the war. There isn't much point in alienating labor. Lord knows, we've had trouble enough placating them to get behind the all-out war drive.

Labor has fought hard and long, and with tactics that the Marquis of Queensberry would frown upon, for what gains it has made. The 40-hour week, extra money for overtime and similar advantages came about only as a result of long struggle and determined resistance. And there are few of us who will deny that labor is entitled to them.

The point is this: there is no particular advantage to reverting to stuttering now that we have cured it, almost, and are on what would seem the right road to winning the hand of that woman we so strongly desire—if a feminine noun can be applied to war.

The congress should dismiss all legislation pertaining to the abrogation of the 40-hour week. What should be done first, probably, is to hire more men—men who are idle now and cannot carry guns, for the final surge to victory.

Axis Soldiers' Minds Change About Softness of Americans

After reading of the supreme heroism of the Jap, German and Russian "suicide squads," the question arises: "Do young Americans, who have been living a 'play-boy' existence in comparison with the fighting men of the enemy forces, have the capacity to stand up under fire and fight admirably for their country in the present conflict?"

Some people don't think so. However, it seems more likely that they do have what it takes to make a courageous, efficient fighting force.

During the last world war the same thing was said of the American soldiers—that they were "soft," didn't have the "guts" to cope with the fanatic heroism of the enemy. Nevertheless, once in action the American doughboy proved to the Germans that he was no sissy.

Perhaps this generation has, as some say, "softened up." Even so, the young Americans have a greater deciding factor than that to their favor. They have the fundamental stamina that doesn't take long to "harden." They are fighting for something greater than just loyalty to dictators—and as far as being soft is concerned, military authorities will tell you that after three months, a recruit is physically a new man for warfare.

American soldiers now in action are proving that they are more than equal to the occasion. Many stories coming forth from Bataan glow with the heroic deeds of that small band of American defenders.

One American, who was probably as "soft" as any of his fellow soldiers, was a Second Lieutenant Alexander Nininger Jr. of the Philippine scouts. Not one with an urge for heroics, young Nininger was a gentle boy, appreciated beauty, adored poetry, loved music. But when the final showdown came, he proved that he had an even greater love for his country and that he was willing to fight and even die if necessary for it.

Nininger, while participating in a counter-attack against the Japs, repeatedly forced his way into the enemy position; and, although exposed to heavy enemy fire, attacked again and again with rifle and hand grenades. He continued his attacks for into hostile territory even after being wounded three times. When his body was found, one

Jap officer and two soldiers lay dead around him.

And then there's Colin P. Kelly, and many other American soldiers who have distinguished themselves with bravery in the battle of the Pacific.

Maybe the American fighting man is "soft." It's a sure bet, though, that many a Jap doesn't think so, and that many another dictators pawn will have ample opportunity to change his mind about it.

Last Word for a First Lady

Perhaps enough has been said—but we think Mrs. Roosevelt rates another word. Or perhaps the women rate another word, even at a time like this, when women aren't much concerned about their rights.

The newspapers haven't treated the First Lady too kindly in regard to her civilian defense post. That's their privilege. At least it's their privilege to say that in light of her position as wife of the president, she has no business acting as head of an important civilian organization; and it's their privilege to say that, anyway, Mrs. Roosevelt wasn't the woman for the job. They can even declare that she isn't capable. But when they hint that being a woman was her biggest handicap—well, there's a war on now; but when it's over, the women may pick a little fight of their own.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLOTT

Modern Events Spell the End Of British Empire Theory

WASHINGTON—End of the British empire theory of government is being seen by some political X-rayists in Churchill cabinet replacements.

It is not only that Cripps was too socialist even for the labor party a few years back (and expelled therefrom) but the whole incoming group, including the new archbishop of Canterbury, have varying tinges of liberalism and democratic careerism as opposed to the old school-tie caste system.

It may be true the old Victorian theory of empire is now practically out. That process had started before the war. Churchill rightly calls it now "the British commonwealth of nations."

India is likely to get a real measure of freedom. Australia is looking to us for defense. Canada is running her end of the war with complete independence.

The story is going around that Churchill got the idea for his revision in Washington, but this is strongly doubted by local students of British politics. It seemed to be rather a reformation based solely on British political necessity.

Choice of the new archbishop of Canterbury had nothing to do with it. The bishop of York is usually chosen for this religious post, and it just happened that this time the bishop of York was more liberal than the retired archbishop.

The choices of lesser new government officials also seems to have been dictated by a desire to get the work done and pacify political opposition, rather than by an overall alternation of empire direction.

The British government is constituted in a mercurial manner. Unlike ours, it can shift leaders and direction rapidly. So while events are marching inevitably toward some new order, the cabinet change is not necessarily the greatest of these events.

Hitler Fears French Revolt

Darlan's hand is definitely being restrained by fear of a French popular revolt if he delivers too much to the nazis. Some grapevine suggestions from Vichy indicate the question of whether he will live very long depends on the strength of his bodyguard and his ability to restrain himself from handing everything over to the nazis.

Hitler is presumed to know this and consequently does not wish to press too hard. Revolution in France on the eve of his spring campaign in Russia would divert some of his armed forces.

This may be one reason why assistant state secretary Welles has received such polite answers from Vichy.

The French people know they hold no cards yet for a peace table presided over by the united nations. They have great military respect for the United States and Russia. They are not sure Germany will win the war.

These thoughts may save us from the disaster of nazi conquest of the French fleet.

Hitler Isn't Schickelgruber—

A great many Americans want to persuade communists to call Hitler "Schickelgruber" under the impression that it is his correct name. Anything that anyone wants to call Hitler is satisfactory to me, but the "Schickelgruber" aspects of the matter were set forth some years ago in John Gunther's "Inside Europe" as follows:

Hitler's father was the illegitimate child of a man named Heidler (Hitler) and a woman named Schickelgruber, who were married five years later. The son kept the mother's name until he was 40 years old in 1877 then changed it to Heidler (Hitler) and Adolf was born under that name nine years later.

Schickelgruber, therefore, is the name of Hitler's grandmother.

Russia Key to Length of War—

Whether this war lasts one year or five may be determined on the Russian front by June 1. If the reds break Hitler's military might this spring, or even hold it, an end of the European phase of the war would surely be brought near. It all depends on how much material Stalin has and no one here knows.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

A U.S. Princess Escapes Poland

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Virgilia Peterson is an American girl who married Prince Paul Sapieha of Poland and became a princess.

"Beyond This Shore" is a new novel about an American girl who marries a Polish diplomat, witnesses the destruction of Europe, and gets out with her children just in time.

Therefore, it was natural for me to inquire, "Princess how much of this book is autobiographical?" She seemed surprised. "Why none of it, and yet on the other hand all of it. I can write only about the things I know and have seen. It would have been stupid to write about a Rumanian or a Hungarian when I am married to a Pole, when I lived in Warsaw, and when I know the Polish people and conditions there."

I knew that she had recently lectured in a hundred cities that she had written a best seller titled "Polish Profile" which was altogether autobiographical, that her husband and her children were in this country, that "Beyond This Shore" (Lippincott) was her first novel, that she was understandably on tender hooks until the reviews came out and the public's acceptance or rejection of her novel became plain, that she loathed appeasers and that she believes nothing less than an all-out effort... even by the women and the children, the halt and the lame... can win this war.

"That's what the girl in the novel thought, too, but I'm not that girl. I didn't fall in love with a newspaper man. That incident at the German embassy in Warsaw never really happened, I made it up. It isn't my story. It is just a story against a background of people and events that I know."

I said, "Princess, do you feel that people are complacent still about the war, I mean?" "In a way," she replied, "there is danger in slogans. The one about time being on our side, especially. It isn't. Time runs against us. Why? Conquered people can't go on being shot and seeing their children starved forever. If help doesn't come, and hope, and encouragement, they'll have to give in. A man can't endure ten years or five years of horror unless he knows that salvation is coming. The Dutch, the Belgians, the Czechs, they can't endure torture forever. We've got to hurry!"

It seemed strange to look at this young woman whose friends call her Jill, who went to Vassar and dreamed of becoming a writer—it seemed strange to think that as the wife of a prince she saw Austria crumble, and Czechoslovakia, then Poland, Holland, France...

To see her, you might think she had never been out of New York. She is tall and quick, both in speech and movement, and essentially American. You'd never know that at 20 she went down with infantile paralysis.

"It still bothers me a little," she said. "In Poland, where people place such emphasis on sports, I couldn't ride. My husband had such fine horses."

It may be, as she says, that it still bothers her. But as she moved about the room, answering a telephone here, a doorbell there, I thought she resembled nothing so much as a lithe tennis player. And a good one at that.

Hawks Win, Indiana Loses

Gain Undisputed Second Place With 46-32 Conquest of Illinois

Led by Kuhl, Trickey, Iowa Deals Loop Champs Second Defeat With Comeback From 23-16 Halftime Deficit

By BILL BUCKLEY
The Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa couldn't stop the inspired first-half splurge of Illinois' second team here last night, but literally took its famous sophomore studded varsity apart, holding the newly-crowned Big Ten champions to three points in the 16½ minutes they played, and winning an easy 46-32 decision which netted the Hawks undisputed second place in the conference standings.

Coach Doug Mills' strategy of starting his reserves to build up a 23-16 halftime lead, and then sending in his touted regulars to polish off the seemingly impotent Hawks, exploded in his face, as Iowa battered the bewildered "wonder boys" into submission with an amazing display of turn-about basketball.

It looked like it just wasn't Iowa's night when those replacements, three of whom were regulars last year, out-shot, out-rebounded and out-speeded the locals for a full 20 minutes. But all around jump shot to keep the Hawks ahead, 34-26. Chapman got a free throw, and with only 3½ minutes left to play, the Illini second string came in.

Chapman and Trickey each counted from the field twice, and Rudy Soderquist took a pass from Trickey to score on a fast break, later sinking a charity toss. During this time Henry Sachs hit on a long one, Fowler swished another of his one-handers, and Capt. Bill Hocking made two free throws, but this set of Illini was no more in the game than their predecessors.

Score at half: Illinois 23, Iowa 16.
Free throws missed: Chapman 5, Trickey 2, Siegel 2, Fowler, Mathisen, Phillip.
The victory assured Iowa of at least a tie for second place in the final standings, for Indiana, its nearest competitor, took a 49-45 shellacking at the hands of Northwestern last night. It will be the best Iowa record since 1923, when the Hawks tied for first.

Another Iowa record fell by the wayside, also, for the Hawks in 19 games have now surpassed the 1940-41 20-game total of 886 points with a 897. Tommy Chapman stayed in third place in the loop individual race with 177 points, three behind Northwestern's Otto Graham, and five ahead of Purdue's Forrest Sprowl. Wisconsin's Johnny Kotz leads with 211.

Iowa started last night's battle with two regulars just up from hospital beds. Chapman had been confined for the week end with a touch of strep throat, and Wendell Hill was admitted yesterday morning with an attack of boils.

Illinois started fast, taking a 4-0 lead which the Hawks tied and Hill's long one from the side, and gradually building up a substantial overhead. Led by Chuck Fowler, who got 14 points to lead the field, the Illini held a 21-11 lead with three minutes left in the period, but Ben Trickey came in for two field goals to lessen the gap at halftime.

Hawks Come Back
Iowa fans didn't have long to wonder how the Hawks would react to the greatest of Illinois teams, for in six minutes Chapman had netted two buckets, Kuhl two free throws and Rudy Soderquist a one-hand effort for a 24-23 lead. Guard Gene Vance of the Illini tied it up on a free throw, but it was only a prelude to the real work of the evening.

Led by Kuhl, who turned in one of his greatest performances in that last half, and Ben Trickey, playing a brilliant floor game as well as contributing 12 points to the scoring, the Hawks worked confidently, surely and unceasingly for the win.

Kuhl tipped a rebound three times before finally making it stick to give his team back the lead, and Chapman counted on a brilliant fast break before Kuhl followed up another for a 30-24 lead with nine minutes gone.

A minute later the Illinois varsity got its only basket, a one-hand push shot by Jack Smiley, but Trickey countered with a similar throw from the side and Kuhl scored with a two-hand, turn-

AS HAWKS WON SIXTH STRAIGHT—Ben Trickey (27), one of the sparkplugs of Iowa's 46-32 win over Illinois' Big Ten champions last night, was unsuccessful in this attempt to capture a rebound, but got more than his share later in the evening and scored 12 points. Henry Sachs, Illinois' guard, has the ball, and the two opposing centers, Art Mathisen of Illinois and Milt Kuhl of Iowa, are in the background. Chuck Fowler, high scorer for the evening, is at the left.

Badgers Win Over Gopher Quintet, 49-47

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's second half rally fell short last night and Wisconsin took a Big Ten basketball game from the Gophers, 49-47, after leading at halftime, 27-15.

The victory was Wisconsin's ninth in 14 conference starts and edged the Badgers into a three-way third place tie with Indiana and Purdue.

Rallying in the second half, Minnesota came back strongly to lead near the game end, 43-42. The Badgers tied it up, then forged ahead, only to have Minnesota pull back strongly to lead near the game end, 43-42. The Badgers tied it up, then forged ahead, only to have Minnesota pull back even but that was the last winning chance the Gophers had and Wisconsin controlled the ball to protect its game-winning two points.

Kotz, the Badger star, was the outstanding man on the floor, netting 18 points.

DUBUQUE — (Special to The Daily Iowan)—St. Mary's of Iowa City advanced to the semifinals of the state Catholic high school game tournament here yesterday afternoon, topping St. Joseph's of LeMars, 29-10.

The Iowa City crew will meet St. Mary's of Waterloo this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the semifinal round. Waterloo eliminated Corpus Christie of Ft. Dodge yesterday afternoon, 31-25.

Coach Stueppel's Marians had too much speed for the St. Joseph's quintet yesterday, and pushed into the lead at the start of the game. The Ramblers held the losers to a pair of free throws in the first half to lead, 9-2, at the intermission.

Co-capt. Tony Brack tallied eight points for the Marians to take the high-scoring honors, and Joe Halse and George Seemuth followed with seven and six markers, respectively. A. Robinette came through with two goals and a free toss to lead

Boilermakers Stage Second Half Rally; Sprowl Leads Attack

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Purdue's speedy basketball team finished strong last night to hand Michigan's desperate team its tenth Western conference defeat, 52 to 41.

The seventh-place Wolverines shoved the Boilermakers all over the floor in the first half and, with 13 minutes remaining, had a 40-29 lead.

Then Purdue, led by Forrest Sprowl, who bagged 10 of his 14 points in the final period, came on with a rush and Michigan was able to make only a single point as the Boilermakers raked up 23.

Purdue finally caught up with four minutes to go when John Tierney dropped in a field goal to tie the score at 41-41. Fouled on the shot, he made good on the charity toss to send his team ahead to stay.

The victory was Purdue's ninth in 14 league games.

Wildcats Drop Indiana Cagers By 49-45 Tally

Hoosiers Dropped From 2nd Place Deadlock to Third

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Northwestern university's Wildcats upset Indiana's Hoosiers, 49 to 45, in a Big Ten basketball game last night.

Indiana led until midway of the first half when forward Bobby Jake of Northwestern tied the score at 8-all. Two free throws by forward Otto Graham gave the Wildcats a 10 to 8 advantage and by halftime, they had stretched their lead to 25 to 13. Subsequently Indiana narrowed the margin to seven points, but Northwestern's sharpshooters extended it again.

The outcome, which was Northwestern's second victory of the season over Indiana, coupled with wins by Iowa over Illinois and Purdue over Michigan knocked the Hoosiers from a second-place tie to a third place deadlock with Purdue in the conference standings.

Graham got 14 points, forward Irvin Swanson of Indiana 13.

broad beach fronts along the northern Java shore.

The second phase of the battle for Java, the keystone in the East Indies arch and the last barricade to the Indian Ocean, thus opened with the allies taking the initiative, as illustrated by this order of the day to the British section of the allied line:

"British troops in Java: We have the honor to be about to fight with our Dutch and American allies in the defense of the last stronghold of democracy in the southwest Pacific.

"The Japanese are skillful and well-armed opponents and are likely to be in superior numbers. They fight better on attack than on defense, and therefore our best chance is to attack wherever we can.

"Attack and not defense must be our watchword."

The allied air arm remained in powerful action—so powerful that there were some indications that this time, and for the first time, the Japanese enemy apparently lacked superiority afloat.

Recapitulating action of Sunday, the Dutch command announced that allied fighter planes falling upon an enemy invasion train of 20 enemy transports between Toeban and Rembang in the coastal waters west of the Soerabaya naval base had smashed the enemy landing sloop "with few exceptions," hurling tanks and troops into the sea.

Japanese bombers twice were driven off in air raids upon the city, the seat of the supreme allied command.

A Dutch torpedo boat in an overnight Sunday-Monday foray sank a Japanese flotilla leader (a cruiser or big destroyer) in the eastern waters of the Java sea to bring Japanese ship casualties to at least 27 sunk or damaged.

Acknowledged Dutch naval losses stood at two cruisers and two destroyers.

(The Japanese claimed, without confirmation from any quarter, that five allied cruisers had been sunk—one of them a U.S. ship—along with six destroyers.)

The enemy's deepest known penetration of Java up to last night was in the western island, where he had reached Soebang within 30 miles of Bandoeng itself. (British dispatches stated there was good reason to believe that this Japanese column had been cut off by allied counter-attacks.)

that front was gravely breached. Moreover, that world-shaking event threw upon the Dutch the major share of holding the front until American power is mustered. It had been expected by qualified observers that the march of events would lead to demands for a division of the command, with Wavell leaving Java to centralize British-Chinese efforts in the west, and the united nations setting up a separate Dutch-American-Australian command on the eastern flank of the line.

In Australia yesterday, the newspaper Sydney Telegraph pro-

General Douglas MacArthur, the hero of the Bataan peninsula in the Philippines, named commander of the southwest Pacific forces.

"General Wavell's ABDA command has moved westward to Burma and a new Pacific commander is needed," the Telegraph said. "Most of his (the new commander's forces) will be American and he should be an American."

Wavell, now 58 years old, is rated as a brilliant strategist who prefers the unorthodox and daring to traditional tactics. In the fall of 1940, in northern Africa, he struck lightning blows at Italy's army and his men over-ran half Libya.

In the spring Wavell shifted a large number of his men from Libya to meet a German invasion of Greece, only to have the Germans chase the British both from Greece and Libya.

Shifted to India, Wavell directed the British forces which swiftly took control of Iran. On January 3 of this year he was given command of the united nations forces in the southwest Pacific.

The Listening Post--

By LOREN HICKERSON

NEW COURSE FOR SUL . . .
The University of Iowa ought to add a new and highly important course to its curriculum. . . That goes as well for every major university in the nation. . .

We've needed this course since the university came into being back in 1847. . . If we didn't miss it in the first 100 years, we'll miss it a thousand times over in the next 100. . .

It's a 20-hour course in public service. . . It forms the specialized training of a limited class—perhaps 20 students—during their last two years in the university. . . or perhaps during two additional graduate years which lead to a special degree. . .

The course membership is as highly selective as it can be made. . . Anyone is eligible to be examined as an applicant, but only the 20 most apt students will be permitted to enroll. . .

They will spend the majority of their academic time during a two-year period with just one idea in mind: to receive an all-inclusive educational background which will prepare them in some small way for one thing—to serve the United States of America as public officials, U. S. representatives in foreign capitals, experts in government. . . world leaders in progressive human affairs. . .

Their instructors will be the best the university has to offer in every college. . . and the best obtainable from outside. . . They will be trained in the broad trends of human history. . . in science, in economics, in philosophy, in 20th century geography. . .

They'll be trained, too—insofar as they can be trained—in vision, in insight and in high purpose. . . They will be exposed to the kind of training which creates the spark of inspiration in the mental cavities of potential human dynamoes. . .

They will graduate from their course to enter still more specialized areas of activity—training grounds for the particular kind of public service of their bent. . . the economists will study world economics, the embryo statesmen will study world law and the intricacies of statecraft, others will study languages. . .

Gradually they will move into the active service of the nation. . . They will represent America throughout the world, in every area of human achievement. . . They will be the best the country has to offer, and they will devote their lives to the great dream which even now is beginning to make its presence felt beneath the surface of exploding bombs and dying men and women in every corner of the world. . .

This will mark the beginning of training for world leadership. . . It is now as important to us as American leadership has been during the first 150 years of American freedom. . .

I. C. Defense Council Opens 7 Registration Booths for Civilians

Seven booths for the registration of persons willing to serve in an organization for the defense of Iowa City were opened yesterday by the local defense council.

The booths are located at the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company; the post office; Racines No. 1; Iowa State Bank and Trust Company; First Capital National Bank; the Johnson county courthouse and the civic library.

The registration stations will be open through Saturday and the library station will remain open permanently.

Urging everyone in Iowa City to volunteer for some phase of defense work, the defense council stated that none will be asked to serve outside of Iowa City. The unit will plan for the defense of this city only, it was said.

Brief Case Stolen

Harold Strand, 605 S. Riverside drive, reported to police yesterday that his car parked at the rear of the Jefferson hotel was entered and a light brown brief case was taken.

"Me, I'm an Ochlophile"

"Yes, ochlophile...that's a word I picked up in a crossword puzzle. Means somebody who likes to have crowds around. After all, what retailer doesn't like crowds?"

"You'll find a steady stream of customers in this store every day...customers who are watching the family budget more carefully than ever, now that we're at war, and watching newspaper ads more carefully, too, in order to save money and time."

2. "Every chance I get, I tell manufacturers' representatives how I feel about newspaper advertising...how everybody in town reads the daily paper, and the ads in the paper, too, whether other kinds of advertising reach them or not."

3. "I tell them that newspaper ads have always been a swell investment for me...and for all other retailers in town who amount to anything. So why shouldn't manufacturers take full advantage of this medium, too? After all, their business depends on sales through my store and others like it."

4. "Why wouldn't it be smart, I ask them, to move their goods off my shelves with the kind of advertising that brings in crowds of customers? I guess other retailers have been making the same point...that must be one reason why manufacturers are doing so much newspaper advertising these days."

That's what one successful retailer has to say about newspaper advertising and how it works. Are you getting all of this local support you deserve? Take a tip from this happy ochlophile and remind your manufacturers that they can produce more sales for their retailers...and themselves...by advertising in local newspapers.
