9 Billion Dollar Tax Plan Urged

Report Enemy Forces Driven Back Seven Miles in One Area

Treasury Advocates Program In Effort to Meet Cost of War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treasury asked yesterday that the income tax payments of most citizens be doubled next year as part of a steep general tax increase designed to raise $9,610,000,000.

The new taxes, he said, would be "severe" and their impact "felt in every home." They contemplated extensive increases not only in individual income tax payments, but in corporation income levies, together with new or higher excise taxes on a list of 15 such items as soda pop, candy and cigarettes; and increased levies on estates and gifts.

The new rates on individual incomes, as proposed by the treasury chief, would be so severe that a single man earning $2,500 a year would turn more than seven weeks pay over to the government. His payment would be $345, as compared with $165, or about three and one half weeks' pay, under the present rates.

Double Tax Bills The tax bill of a married man without children would be raised from $90 to $175 if his salary is $2,500; from $138 to $285 if he earns $3,000; from $249 to $535 on $4,000 and from $375 to $805 on $5,000.

A married man with two dependents would pay $32 (instead of $12) on a $2,500 income; $118 (instead of $58) on a $3,000 income; $333 (instead of $154) on $4,000 and $587 (instead of $271) on $5,000.

The average increase was reckoned at 60 per cent by the treasury. However, it starts at more than 100 per cent in the lower brackets. The rate of increase grows less on the higher incomes, of which the government is already taking a larger percentage than is paid by the "little fellow".

Thus while the married individual with two dependents would pay $32 instead of $12 on a $2,500 income, the tax to be collected on an income of $5,000,000 would rise from $3,921,884 to $4,478,215, or an increase of about 14 per cent. The man who makes a round million a year's time would be permitted to keep about $120,000 of it for his own use.

Under the treasury program, these increases are to be brought about by simply upping the rates.

United States, Brazil Sign Series of Pacts To Pool Resources

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, the manufacturing arsenal of democracy, and Brazil, the world's largest storehouse of strategic materials, signed yesterday a multi-million dollar series of agreements designed to develop the tremendous resources of the South American country for use of the united nations.

Simultaneously, and as a new enemy submarine attack was reported in the Caribbean, the United States expanded its lend-lease aid to Brazil so it can strengthen its defenses.

The agreements were the first outgrowth of pledges by the American republics that they would mobilize their economic resources for the fight against the axis.

Prof. J. A. McGeoch Dies

University Psychology Department Head Ill Since Last Thursday

Widely Known Author And Educator Suffers Cerebral Hemorrhage

Professor John A. McGeoch, 44, head of the university psychology department since 1939, widely known author-editor and authority on the psychology of learning died at University hospital at 9:05 last night of complications resulting from a cerebral hemorrhage. He had been ill since last Thursday.

Author of a new book, "Psychology of Human Learning: An Introduction" to be published next month, Professor McGeoch was born Oct. 9, 1897 at Argyle, N. Y., to Alexander and Agnes Foster McGeoch.

At the time of his death, Professor McGeoch was editor of the Psychological Bulletin, since 1935 editor of Longmans, Green Psychology series, since 1937; co-operating editor of the American Journal of Psychology, since 1939, and cooperating editor of the Journal of Psychology, since 1935.

Aside from his new book, Professor McGeoch has written chapters in "Readings in General Psychology" (published in 1929) by Robinson and Robinson; chapters in "Psychology: A Factual Textbook" (1935) and "Introduction to Psychology" (1939) by Boring, Langfeldt and Weid.

He has also written numerous psychological papers on learning and retention and has completed a series on retroactive inhibition from material compiled from research.

Professor McGeoch was graduated from Argyle high school and received his B. A. degree from Westminster college, New Wilmington, Pa., in 1918.

He received his M. A. degree from Colorado college, Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1919 and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1926. He attended Columbia university in the summer of 1921 and the University of California, Berkeley, Cal., in 1919 and 1920.

Professor McGeoch began his teaching career as an instructor at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., in 1920. In 1922 he became an assistant professor which position he held until 1926. He then became an associate professor and held that position until 1928.

In 1928 he became professor of psychology at the University of Arkansas and remained there until 1930 when he became professor and chairman of the psychology department at the University of Missouri. He remained at Missouri until 1935.

PROFESSOR MCGEOCH

western Psychological association and was secretary of the same organization from 1932 to 1941.

In 1939 he was president of the Connecticut Valley Association of Psychologists, was secretary of the psychology section of the American Association for Advancement of Science from 1934 to 1936 and on the council from 1939 to 1941.

He was a council member of the American Psychological association from 1936 to 1939 and of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology from 1931 to 1934. He was a former member of the Eastern Psychological association and a member of the American Association of University Professors.

At the university here he was a member of the research club, the university Triangle club and the Know-Nothing club. He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, scientific fraternities; Phi Delta Kappa, educational fraternity and Phi Sigma.

Professor McGeoch is survived by his mother Mrs. Alexander McGeoch of Goshen, N.Y., his wife whom he married in 1939 and two step-children, Joan Hady, senior in the university and John Hady, a student in University Elementary school.

The body was taken to the Hohenheim mortuary. Funeral service has been tentatively set for Thursday morning at the Trinity Episcopal church.

British Defense of Burma Holds Firmly Against Consistent Attacks of Japanese

Navy Reveals 16 Nipponese Planes Shot Down During Raid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A thrilling account of an attack by 18 Japanese heavy bombers on a United States aircraft carrier and other warships in which 16 of the enemy planes were shot down—six by a single, doughty fighting plane pilot from the carrier—was told by the navy last night.

A lieutenant junior grade, 28-year-old Edward H. O'Hare of St. Louis, was the hero who took the heavy toll. The other 10 bombers were accounted for by other fighting planes from the carrier, two of which were lost, and by anti-aircraft fire from the warships. The carrier and the other ships—cruisers and destroyers—suffered not a scratch.

The brilliant action occurred "in the course of recent naval operations west of the Gilbert islands," a navy communiqué related. The carrier and the undisclosed number of cruisers and destroyers of the Pacific fleet were operating as a task force at the time.

The location lies along the main supply route from the United States to New Zealand and Australia. Whether the task force was conveying transports to the western Pacific fighting theater or whether it was a force which participated in the foray on the Gilbert and Marshall islands Jan. 31, when Japanese land bases and 16 enemy ships were destroyed, was not disclosed.

Adroit dodging by the aircraft carrier helped to baffle the attacking Japanese bombers, which operated in two waves of nine each. "Only three enemy planes of the first formation reached their bomb release point over the aircraft carrier which avoided all bomb hits by split-second maneuvering," the navy related.

The leading bomber of this group attempted a crash landing on the carrier and was shot down by heavy close-range anti-aircraft fire when barely 100 yards from its objective."

In the second attack, the navy continued, only five enemy bombers reached the bomb release point. In the two attacks two American fighter planes were lost. The pilot of one was recovered.

The communiqué said that despite the severity of the Japanese attack there was no damage to the American surface forces.

English Motor Patrol Crushes Nippon Units Advancing by River

Civilians of Rangoon Return to Businesses As Allies Hit Japs

LONDON (AP)—The British defense of Burma still held firmly along the Sittang river line yesterday, with motor patrols briskly cleaning up small Japanese infiltration units which managed to reach the river's west bank.

In reporting this situation, a communiqué from the menaced metropolis of Rangoon told of successful RAF attacks on Japanese troop and transport concentrations and said increasing numbers of Indians were returning to Rangoon and reopening their shops. The city had been virtually deserted except for the military.

General Sir Archibald P. Wavell, newly relieved of the united nations command in Java to return to his old post as commander in chief for India, with Burma as an added responsibility, visited the forces in Burma and then went on to India.

Wavell has not yet taken over formal command, it was announced from New Delhi, but is expected to do so quickly.

Dispatches from the front north of Pegu, Burma, predicted he would have at least a week's time before the Japanese could reorganize in strength for a renewed attack westward.

A likely zone of this drive was believed to be between Pegu and Pymanna, a 200-mile stretch in which several coordinated and successive thrusts might be made.

The Japanese were described as wary of operating too far north, however, for fear they would lay themselves open to a flank attack by Chinese troops in the Shan states.

Ability of Japanese to Land Additional Troops On Island Will Decide the Outcome Of Major Battle

The Japanese invader of Java, still held to his initial beachheads after three full days of fighting, had been driven back seven miles in one sector early today under the shock of an allied counter-offensive afloat, aloft and on the seas, and it began to appear that upon his ability to land large additional forces depended his hope of taking that island.

There was much to suggest that the American-Dutch British ground forces held the more effective club and were laying it upon the enemy's back with a vigor that was threatening to destroy the first phase of his plan unless he succeeded soon in running the corridor of allied sea fire with another major invasion train.

Thus, in the strictly immediate sense the allied outlook was not too gloomy but in the longer view it remained dark indeed, for Dutch informants in the exile government in London exhibited a profound pessimism.

They appeared to think that barring heavy and immediate allied reinforcements the enemy would almost certainly be able to make that second requisite landing. They announced also the removal of the Indies capital from Batavia inland to Bandung, the seat of the Dutch command.

Despite earlier reports to the contrary, no second invasion fleet had arrived up to late last night.

As the second climactic hour approached on Java, the enemy's stirrings far to the north in the Philippines suggested that there, too, some great turn was approaching.

In the Australian theater the coming storm was again signalled—this time by Japanese bombing attacks on the towns of Wyndham and Broome in the western Australian mainland and upon Fort Moresby on the outer island of New Guinea.

Of the Philippine theater, the war department in its morning communiqué reported the most widespread enemy action in some time, although the situation was quiet along General MacArthur's Bataan peninsula line on Luzon.

Enemy troops were landed from four transports, protected by a cruiser, at Zamboanga on the southernmost Philippine island of Mindanao and Japanese warships opened bombardments of port cities on the islands of Cebu, Negros and Mindanao itself.

On Java incomplete accounts indicated that aside from the heavy blows he was suffering afloat the surviving ships of the Japanese enemy's initial invasion force were under effective attack by allied bombers and warships.

Specifically reported heavily hit were two enemy transports, of 10,000 and 8,000 tons. To illustrate the cumulative effects of the allied campaign it was said that of the 12 enemy ships originally lying off Rembang in northeastern Java only five now remained afloat.

Bandoeng during the day was assaulted by a great swarm of Japanese war planes—60 were counted at one time—and although the raid lasted for about an hour and a half it appeared that only one enemy craft had been shot down.

Submarine Sinks U.S. Destroyer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first United States warship ever torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in home waters went down off Cape May, N.J., in the pre-dawn darkness last Saturday after two hull shattering explosions.

The vessel was the old World war destroyer Jacob Jones, and of her crew, which may have totaled as many as 145 officers and men, all were killed except nine workers in the engine rooms and two apprentice seamen.

Believe Over 100 Seamen Lost As—

Loss of the 1,200-ton ship, ninth naval craft of the war officially announced as destroyed by enemy action, was revealed by the navy department yesterday in a communiqué which tersely explained the main points of what was known of the attack:

"Prior to receiving the first torpedo hit, the enemy sub was not sighted nor was the torpedo. "The first torpedo blew up the bow and apparently killed all the personnel on the bridge as well as the men sleeping in the forward compartments.

Farm Bloc Offers to Allow Sales of Wheat, Corn Below-Parity for Feed Purposes Only

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house farm bloc, in a move to avert an all-out fight over the pending agriculture appropriation bill, offered as a compromise yesterday to allow sales of government-held surplus wheat and corn at below-parity prices for feed purposes only.

The bill, debate on which started following the appearance of Secretary of Agriculture Wickard before the house agricultural committee, now has a provision forbidding the sales of government-held surpluses of wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton and rice at below parity prices.

Administration Leaders Indicated They Would Make a Stiff Fight to Remove the Parity Clause from the Bill, but were Disposed to Consider the Compromise Proposal as a Possible Means of Averting a Bitter Fight Against the Strong Farm Membership in the House.

Wickard's testimony, at which he defended the Commodity Credit Corporation's program of disposing of certain surpluses held by the government as security for loans to growers, was to be resumed tomorrow.

Members said the secretary emphasized at today's closed session the necessity of making feed available to farmers at low cost to widen the spread between the prices received for stock and the cost of raising stock for the market.

Iowa Takes Off Her Hat To a Great Basketball Team

What a never-say-die gang of boys we like can do, and what 14,000 hysterical supporters can do to help them, were clearly demonstrated in Iowa field house Monday night. To defeat Illinois was a good victory; to defeat the conference champions was a double one.

As our sports editor has pointed out, Monday night's game might very well have been for the Western conference championship had not Iowa had some unfortunate experiences with one-point and two-point defeats earlier in the season. Iowa certainly isn't crying about that.

Saturday night, we conclude the 1941-42 season at Madison, Wis., helping the Badgers observe a university anniversary. Win or lose, Iowa's supporters will be squarely behind Coach Rollie and his team.

We've seen too many soul-chilling thrillers, too much great heart and high courage, too many clean, fast games on Iowa's hardwood court this year to be upset by defeats, even late in the season when the effects may hurt.

Never has Iowa been prouder of a losing team—when they lost—than this season, when Iowa pride in the boys of the hardwood court transcended any pride we've seen before in basketball here. Iowa's cagemen have been winners of the things that count, even in defeat. And always they've won doubly in victory.

Don't overlook next Tuesday night's game here with Camp Grant of Rockford, Ill., a team which came very close to whipping the Illini earlier in the season. The game will be the second of a double-header presenting Cornell and Coe colleges in the opener. To benefit from the gate receipts is the Iowa Ambulance fund, and the contests are sponsored by the American Legion.

Iowa has had its misfortunes in non-conference games this season. Here is an opportunity to improve that record, to defeat a top-notch team and to help a worthy cause. What's more, it's an opportunity for us, the team's rooters, to get out and show appreciation for a season of the swellest kind of basketball this crop at Iowa has ever seen.

To Iowa's Fraternities—About Promoting the National Good

(We turn the editorial spotlight this morning to a local campus situation, and talk to the undergraduate Greeks.—The Editor)

Dear Fraternity Members: In times of peace (or comparative calm) you have served your alma mater as living quarters and boarding house solutions, as social functionaries and for the various other uses that keep fraternities alive as vital institutions. You have been criticized on many scores, some with good ground for criticism, others with little or no ground. But you have seldom been seriously challenged as social institutions.

These are times, however, of critical social analysis—when men look at themselves and take stock of what is of value to their national life and to the society within—to that which they are defending.

Fraternities, whether you have faced it or not, are divisive forces within society. In ideal they are not so—many are pledged to social betterment, even have alumni organizations for social work. But on the whole and in practical results where the Greeks are most active, i. e., the campus, the results are divisive.

In view of this, it would seem the Greeks are in a position to be challenged now. This is a time when men look to social unity in every community, when they ask for the efforts of each social group to promote national welfare and progress.

What are the Greeks doing to justify themselves as a social group in 1942?

The campus hasn't heard much of the Greeks as a social force since the crisis dropped in for tea (much like the Man Who Came to Dinner). Are you doing anything as groups to promote national defense or democracy at home—via Red Cross, volunteer work, or support of such organizations as the Youth Committee for Democracy, the Phoenix Fund, and so on?

There is a challenge to you implicit in the national crisis and the way it is sweeping every phase of life. In that serious aspect you have been pretty much in the shadow of obscurity in these last few months. Are you going to justify your existence by a positive attack on the situation, or are you content to drift?

Memories of afternoon bridge and bull sessions over last night's dates may be pleasant arguments to you for the existence of fraternal groups, but they aren't proving anything about what sort of backbone the Greeks are made of.

And if you do take action, what will be its nature? You can make a competitive race of it if you like, in the good old Greek spirit—squabbling among yourselves for priority, prestige, publicity for your individual houses—having a lot of vicious fun in cutting throats (figuratively, of course) for your own benefit, and so losing sight of any common, united, community goal. Or you can integrate yourselves into a serious, big-minded, broad-shouldered movement.

That would take time, energy, concentration; maybe it's worth it. The choice is yours, depending on what significance you wish to have in this big thing, democracy. But what you do will determine your answer to that implicit challenge of "divisive forces."

We who have seen Greek life are aware that fraternity has a potential something to contribute. Maybe you have realized that potential and are already seeking to make that contribution.

How do you stand, Greeks? Is there vitality, strength, meaning behind those coats-of-arms today? What are you going to give society?

Are you an empty gesture of scatter-brained youth, an outworn form, a social lag? Or a vigorous strength, a wide, constructive force?

If the campus is to hear from you in answer to such a challenge (if you feel it), be reminded that this is a day when it will be a great respecter of nothing less than deeds.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

A Dual Spring Blitz at Egypt And Suez May Be in the Offing

WASHINGTON — Heavy movements of troops and material have been observed going from Germany through Rumania into the Ukraine.

Despite the Nazi gossip about General Rommel being removed from Libya to the Russia front, stronger Nazi firepower is also being built up on the south shores of the Mediterranean. Nazi transports are stealing frequently out of Greek ports and down into Bengazi.

These two noticeable ventures are linked together in the minds of authorities here who have thus been led to expect a dual spring blitz on the near east — a straight blow at Egypt and the Suez, coupled with a swinging arc down through the Caucasus.

Tough Sledding for Rommel

Rommel will have to move fast if he is going to fulfill the implications of his substantial reinforcements.

Sandstorms have held him up recently. Temporarily bad weather has kept his planes on the ground and practically blinded him. He has been unable to observe disposition of the British forces. As no fifth columnists are available in the desert battleground, he must depend for observation entirely upon his air force.

But the storms should soon clear. The season for them does not usually begin until the devastating heat starts the latter part of April or May. After that operations must be restricted, but Rommel still has about six weeks in which to use the strength being piled up on his front.

Tough Sledding in Russia

Good spring fighting weather will not come to the Ukraine until after this six weeks period is over, so the northern drive is not expected to operate simultaneously.

Indeed, some things have been happening on the northern Russian front to cause doubt as to whether Hitler's fanatical energies can be spared for this move to encircle the Black Sea by moving around Turkey.

All is not well with the German plan of defense in the north. Hitler wanted to hold certain positions at all costs. He wanted to obtain certain objectives with counterattacks. In both efforts he has been unsuccessful.

The reds are driving in now upon his so-called line of defense-in-depth. They are pushing down from Staraya, Russia, toward the Latvian border to such an extent that it is now apparent to all, Hitler's calculations have been seriously upset.

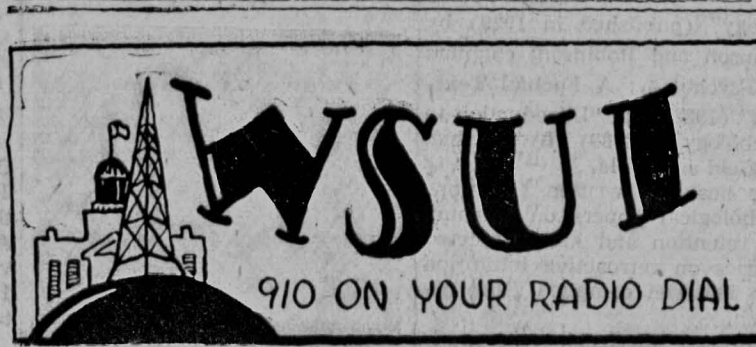

Russian Drive Into Germany?

A devastating red campaign into the heart of Germany itself has for the first time become conceivable as a result of the Nazi defense line being edged out of desired positions. No one is claiming such vague possibility as a prospect yet. Even Stalin has never hoped for as much as this in his public utterances.

It all depends on how much of a force Hitler has maintained in reserve in the north, to what extent he has gambled by depleting his home armies in preparation for his threat to the near east oil fields, how much he is leaving in France and Norway to meet invasions by the British, which Berlin newspapers are saying they expect.

Certainly he will have to draw some troops from the southern front, if the northern Russian winter falls him as an ally.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

A Story About Birdie and Joe

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—As the door of the jug clanged behind Birdie a matron placed her hand upon her shoulder and said, "Don't worry, dearie. You're young. What do you know about life anyway?"

"Yes'm," said Birdie, but inwardly she must have laughed. What did she know about life?

Just this: At eighteen Birdie was the mother of a two-year-old son, separated from her husband, slinging hash in a dockside restaurant. She earned $5 a week and tips.

One day a truck driver came in for some pie. They became confidential. "My name's Birdie," she told him. "What's yours."

"I used to know a man named Joe. He's a rat. I married him." Joe looked at her closely and liked what he saw. "I'll be waiting for you when you get off tonight," he said.

Later, as Birdie explained it to the judge, she and Joe saw a lot of each other. They went everywhere together and she was crazy about him. One day he piled her into his car and started for Philly, just to have a little fun, but on the way there a truck ran out of a side street and when they cleared all the wreckage away Joe was very dead.

Birdie got her old job back at the restaurant and was there just six weeks when another truck driver, named Larry, dropped in for some coffee. They chatted informally. Later, when it was time for her to go home he was waiting for her in his car. They took a long ride in the country. The next night they went to a movie. After that they went "steady."

One day he said, "Kid, we could lose ourselves in this town. Lemme take you outa that greasy joint you're in. Okay?"

So Birdie left the baby with her mother; she and Larry changed their names and went to live in a room not far from Lincoln Tunnel.

It was a lot of fun for the first ten days. Larry didn't work much at his truck driving job but then he seemed to have plenty of money.

Birdie asked him about it one day. "You make more dough than any driver I ever saw. How do you do it?"

"That's for me to worry about, Baby. Be ready when I come home tonight. I'll have a new car, and we'll have some fun."

But Larry never came back. He turned into a one-way street against traffic, and at the police station, where the cop took him, they doubted that his name was really Larry. "You look like a guy named Blackie who's wanted for a series of drugstore holdups."

Later, when Larry didn't come back, Birdie went to a neighborhood bar and got higher than a monkey. She picked up a couple of new acquaintances and took them back home with her. They were still there, drowning their sorrow, when the cops arrived to go through Larry's things. Among them they found two guns and a stack of $5 and $10 bills that would choke a calf.

That's why Larry is being held without bail. That's why Birdie was sent to the jug, where a motherly matron placed her hand upon her shoulder and said, "Don't worry, dearie. You're young. What do you know about life, anyway?"

'Barbara Frietchie' to Be Presented by SUI Theater Players

Romantic Civil War Story Will Be Given 6 Consecutive Times

"Barbara Frietchie," the Frederick girl, a romantic story of Civil war days, will be presented on the University theater stage for six consecutive performances beginning Monday night.

A story of romance and heroism during the war between the states, "Barbara Frietchie" is based on authentic history.

When the Confederate forces advanced into Maryland in 1862 and passed through Frederick on their way to the famous battle of Antietam, a 90-year-old woman, Barbara Frietchie, vigorously denounced the Confederate soldiers who entered her courtyard. She shook her cane at them and drove them away from her home. It is said that she kept a Union flag with her Bible and waved it at General Burnside's troops when they passed through Frederick after Stonewall Jackson.

John Greenleaf Whittier used this incident as the basis for his poem, "Barbara Frietchie." But it took the idealistic Clyde Fitch to turn history inside out.

A New Barbara

Fitch has created her as a young woman, contrary to the historical concept of an old gray-haired lady. His purpose in writing the play, Fitch said, was merely to picture in an imaginary story the spirit and atmosphere of Civil war days and not to write an historical play.

"The personality of Barbara Frietchie lends itself best for my purpose," he said.

In keeping with the idealization of the story of Barbara Frietchie and the war in general, Fitch took the usual conceptions of war and love and developed a romantic theme in an historical atmosphere.

Theater Production

In the play, Barbara's heart is torn between her duty to the south and her love for a young Union captain shot by her brother in a battle. Later, she herself is shot by a rejected suitor as she stands on the balcony of her home waving the Union flag in defiance at the Confederate soldiers as they march past.

Prof. William Coder is directing the production.

Chief speaker will be Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns Manville company and an Iowa graduate of 1915. Films of campus activities and an Iowa-Notre Dame football game also will be shown.

Prof. E. E. Harper Speaks at Knit, Chat

Says Women's Place Is at Home Despite Present War Crisis

"Probably the greatest responsibility and privilege in a woman's life is just to be a woman," declared Prof. Earl Harper, director of the school of fine arts, at yesterday's knit and chat meeting in the river room of Iowa Union.

Professor Harper further admonished university women to remember that, although in the emergency they may take over many tasks usually performed by men, their great power and influence lies in retaining their beauty and charm and in performing the duties of womanhood.

"Women are responsible for the unity of the home, which is underlying the unity of our national structure," stated Professor Harper.

Pointing out that America's influence in the development of post-war civilization depends on the kind of philosophy which we preserve, Professor Harper discussed the importance of keeping the home fires of justice freedom of speech and freedom of conscience, burning throughout the crisis.

Speaking of justice, he said that although certain arbitrary measures of control are necessary in government during emergencies, we must be careful to see that our concept of justice does not drop out of sight. "There is no justice anywhere involved in tyranny such as exists in Hitler's methods," he added.

Referring to the fact that freedom of speech is not really a true conviction of every American, he pointed out that men who profess belief in the doctrines of freedom of speech, often use their wealth and power to deny it in practice.

"Do we expect and demand honesty in government?" he challenged in regard to our freedom of conscience, and emphasized the importance of honesty on the home front.

Men and women laboring and fighting together can influence future civilization by guarding the home fires, Professor Harper concluded.

Father Donald Hayne To Speak at 'Chat'

The Rev. Father Donald Hayne of the school of religion will speak on "War Marriages" at the fireside chat tonight in the south parlor of Currier hall.

All Currier residents and guests are invited to attend. The discussion will be held immediately after dinner.

Third Annual Co-Op Dinner Dance to Be March 28 in Union

The C. D. A. Maneuvers, cooperative dormitory dinner dance, will be given March 28 in the main lounge and river room of Iowa Union.

This will be the third annual dinner dance of the co-op dormitory association. During the evening, service keys and scholarship cups will be given to students outstanding in dormitory and scholastic work. A queen will be presented at the dance.

Committee members for the dinner dance are Phyllis Bissett, A4 of Deep River; Louis Schwartz, C3 of Des Moines; James Parker, A2 of Paola, Kan.; Edith Becker, A4 of Melbourne; Loren Parker, A3 Perry; Lorene Harrington, A3 of Williamsburg; Bill McClure, A4 of Greenfield; George Gaddis, A4 of Ft. Madison; Delmar Cram, A3 of Brooklyn; Leo Sweeney, A4 of Cedar Rapids; Margery Woodhouse, A3 of Plymouth; William Fife, A3 of Corning.

Journalism Fraternity Will Sponsor Contest For Writing Features

Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism, will sponsor a feature-writing contest, open to all students in any department of the university.

A $10 cash prize is being offered to the author of the most outstanding feature, based on originality, choice of subject and style of writing.

Although the committee has stated that the subject of the feature must include material with a local bearing, either of city or campus interest, the field of choice is not specifically limited.

All entries must be submitted to the journalism office, room N-1, by March 21 at 5 p.m.

Prof. Frank L. Mott, head of the school of journalism; Prof. F. M. Pownall, head of university publications; Prof. Rufus Putney of the English department, and Josephine Johnson, novelist, and visiting lecturer in the English department, will form the committee of judges to pick the prize-winning story.

The following regulations have been made by Theta Sigma Phi concerning the contest.

1. All entries must be typed, double-spaced, on one side of regular sized typing paper.

2. The contest is open to all students in any department of the university except Theta Sigma Phi members.

3. No entry may exceed 500 words in length.

4. Subject matter is limited to material of local or campus interest.

5. The judges will base their decision upon choice of subject, originality and style of writing.

6. All stories submitted will become the property of Theta Sigma Phi.

Woodruff to Speak

Prof. Sybil Woodruff of the home economics department will speak on her work in the university at today's meeting of Altrusa club in Mrs. Munn's, 430 N. Dubuque, at 12 o'clock.

Will Meet Friday

Routine business will be discussed at the meeting of the Good Samaritan Encampment No. 5 Friday at 7:30 p.m. The group will meet in Odd Fellows hall.

University Symphony Orchestra Will Present Season's 4th Concert in Iowa Union Tonight

Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp will lead the University Symphony orchestra in the fourth concert of the season, tonight at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Soloist for the concert will be Otto Jelinek, member of the music department, and first viola of the orchestra. He will be heard in a performance of the symphony, "Harold in Italy," for orchestra with solo viola by Hector Berlioz.

Berlioz was commissioned to write the symphony in 1834 by the famed violin virtuoso, Paganini. A work by one of the greatest of Bohemian composers, Bedrich Smetana, will be played by the orchestra, the symphonic poem, "Vysehrad," from the symphonic cycle, "My Country." The first performance of the cycle was given in Prague in 1882 before an enthusiastic audience, the composer in attendance. However, he was almost totally deaf at this time and had to be prompted in order to acknowledge the applause.

The story of "Vysehrad" is brief and simple: "A bard, Lumir, evokes memories of the fortress, Vysehrad, seat of the first legendary kings of Bohemia. After generations of power and pride, war reduce the fortress itself to ruins, but its glory lives on in the memory of the Bohemian folk."

Cesar Franck, the French composer, will be represented on tonight's program by four orchestral excerpts from "Psyche." In 1887-88, the composer wrote an elaborate symphonic work for chorus and orchestra based upon the Greek legend of Psyche but due to his death a short time later and the bankruptcy of his publisher, parts of the manuscript have been lost. In 1900, the four excerpts to be played were found and published.

The complete program is as follows:

- Symphonic Poem, "Vysehrad"
- Smetana
- Orchestral excerpts from "Psyche"
- Frank
- "The Slumbers of Psyche"
- "Psyche Borne away by the Zephyrs"
- "The Gardens of Eros"
- "Psyche and Eros"
- Intermission
- Symphony, "Harold in Italy, for orchestra with solo viola. Berlioz

Gaffney Issues Warning to Tavern Owners

Imposes Fines Of $900 On 3 Hills Owners

Sale of Intoxicants To County Juveniles Not to Be Tolerated

After imposing fines totaling $900 on three Hills tavern operators for the sale of beer and liquor to minors, Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday issued a stern warning to all other Johnson county operators involved in the same illegal business.

"Looseness on the part of tavern operators in permitting juveniles to purchase beer and liquor in Johnson county will not be tolerated," Judge Gaffney declared.

"In the future tavern operators found guilty of maintaining a liquor nuisance or permitting minors to purchase intoxicating liquor on the premises of their places of business, will receive a light fine and a heavy jail sentence," he emphasized.

The three defendants who pleaded guilty and were fined in district court yesterday were Robert A. Droll, operator of Droll's tavern; Charles Skriver, operator of the Red Rose tavern, and Clifford Hirt, operator of the H & D tavern, all of Hills.

The tavern operators were indicted by a Johnson county grand jury Feb. 5, at the opening of the February term of district court.

Droll was charged in an indictment with maintaining a liquor nuisance while Skriver and Hirt were indicted for allegedly permitting a minor to purchase beer on the premises of a class B beer permit holder.

Each of the defendants was fined $300 and costs with the stipulation that if the fines were not paid the sentence was to be 90 days in the county jail. In each case, appeal bonds were set at $1,000.

The indictments were previously returned on complaints and information filed with county officials by parents of minors. The parents stated that it was possible for young people to purchase beer and intoxicating liquor, and they sought the assistance of the law enforcement agencies to prevent this situation.

It was the expressed opinion of the court that this illegal practice could lead to serious problems including juvenile delinquency.

Judge Gaffney closed the hearing yesterday by stating that he would direct his efforts toward the prevention of a situation which could be even worse than bootlegging during the prohibition era.

Prof. F. H. Knight Says Enemy Shelters Totalitarianism Ideals

"This is a war for individualism against an enemy who shelters entirely totalitarian ideals," Prof. Frank H. Knight of the University of Chicago declared here last night while delivering a graduate college lecture at the third faculty round-table forum in senate chamber, Old Capitol.

Professor Knight spoke on "The War and the Crisis of Individualism."

A panel consisting of four members of the university faculty questioned the speaker at the termination of his address and discussed the ideas expressed. The audience was also allowed to participate in the discussion.

Prof. Everett Hall, head of the philosophy department, chairman; Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the romance languages department; Prof. Frank L. Mott, director of the school of journalism, and Prof. Clyde W. Hart of the department of sociology comprised the panel.

Professor Knight presented the conviction that if social action is to avoid disastrous consequences, we must realize that the amount of literal freedom of choice is limited in a democratic organization such as ours. "Cooperation will have to replace most of our individualism to a great degree during wartime," he said.

"Looking Ahead: Central Europe" has been chosen as the subject for the fourth faculty round-table discussion scheduled for Tuesday, March 17. Professor Bush is in charge of organizing the panel for this forum.

City Paper Campaign Nets 41,000 Pounds Chairman Announces

High School Students Collect $55.40 More For War Relief Fund

The city-wide salvage paper collection held last Saturday netted 41,000 pounds of paper for the Red Cross, not including an estimated several thousand pounds not yet weighed, L. D. Greenwald, chairman of the collection, said yesterday.

Greenwald also announced that the Iowa City high school yesterday turned over to the war fund office $55.40 collected in that school. This amount brings to $155.03 the total contributed to the Red Cross by City high students.

Paper collections were still being made by volunteer truck drivers yesterday and complete official totals will not be available until tomorrow.

In commenting on the success of the drive, Greenwald stated that he especially wished to thank the Iowa City business organizations which donated trucks and the drivers who also volunteered for the job.

"The local Junior Red Cross organization, members of the city high freshman class and the Boy Scouts again did a splendid job and their willingness and industry in the collection makes their next month's drive deserve our sincere thanks. The members of my committee also excellently planned and arranged for the necessary equipment for the drive," he said.

Jaycees to Entertain Iowa's '42 Basketball Team, Coach Williams

Members of the University of Iowa's 1942 basketball team and Coach Rollie Williams will be guests of the Iowa City junior chamber of commerce at their next meeting, it was decided at the regular business meeting last night in the club room above Smith's cafe.

A round-table discussion on the desirability of remaining an affiliate of the national junior chamber was punctuated with the affirmative vote for continued membership in that organization.

President Olin Hauth announced that the state convention at Davenport will be held April 24 and 25, and that the southeast Iowa conference, which had been scheduled for this month at Ottumwa, has been cancelled.

Don Brown and Henry Herring have been appointed chamber ticket salesmen for the Red Cross charity basketball game to be played at the field house on the evening of March 10.

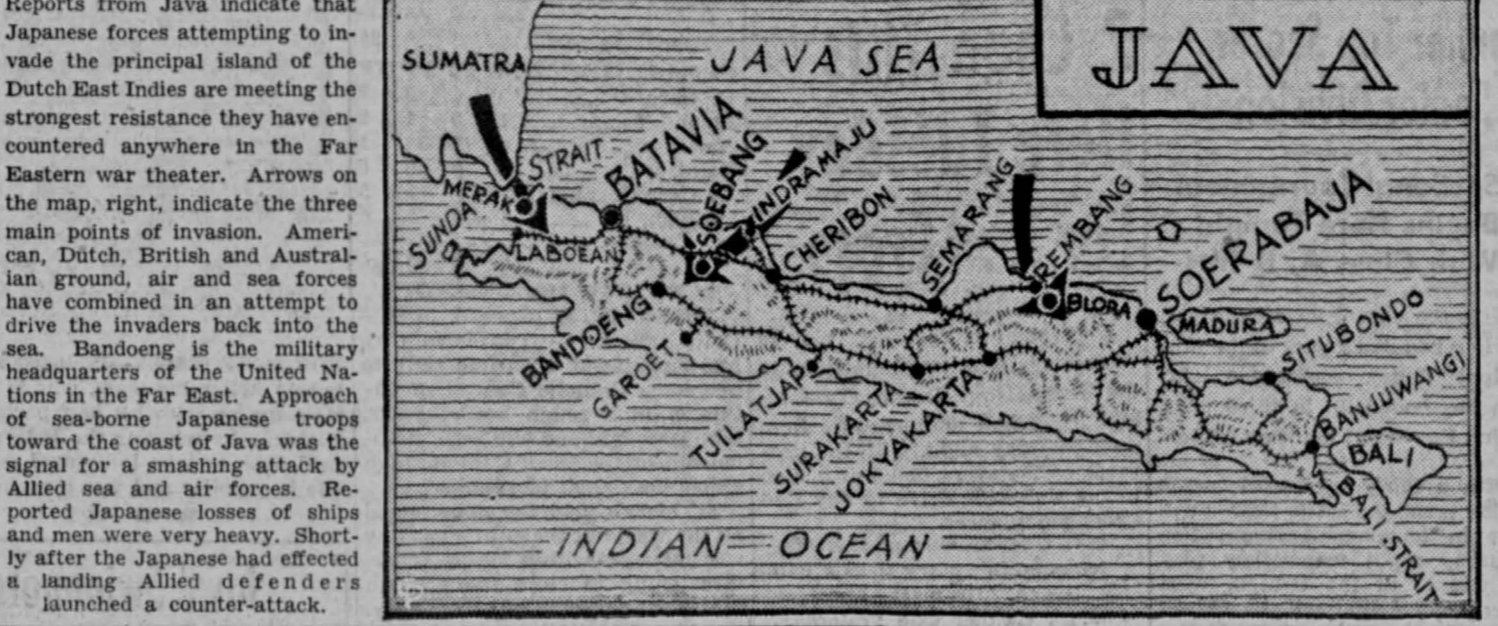

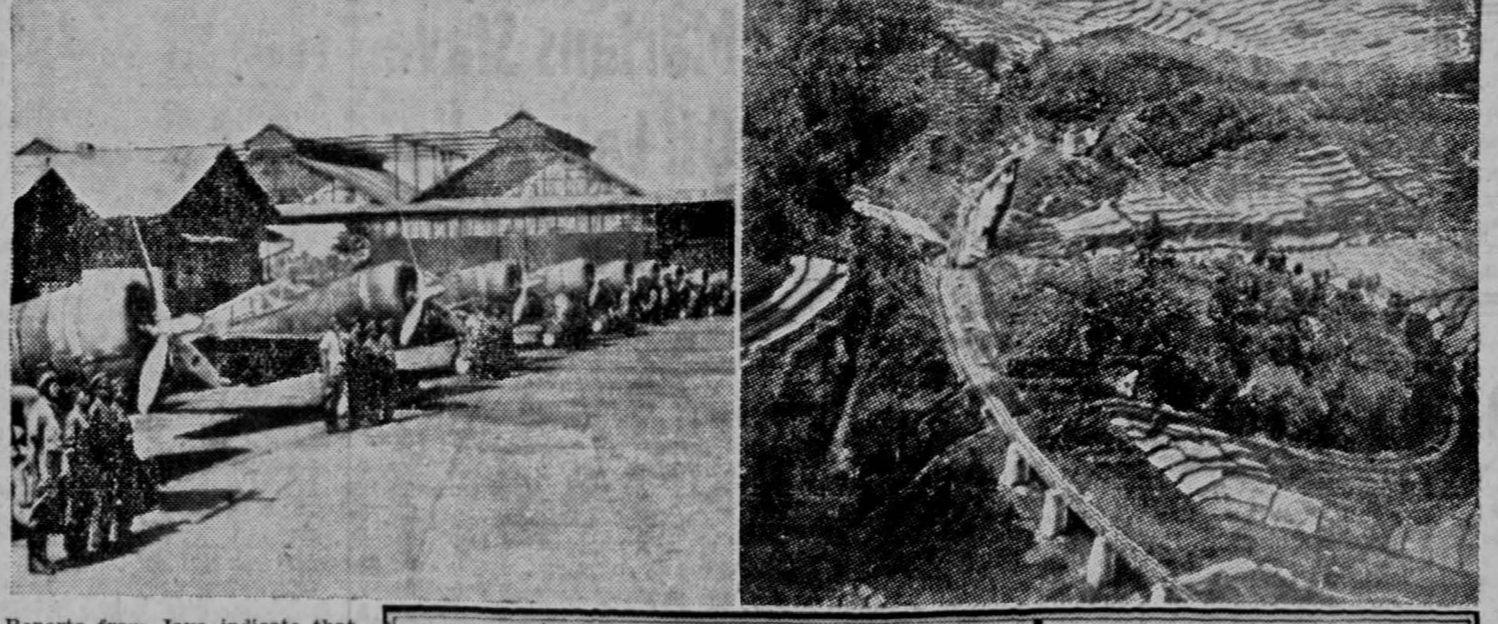

Malcolm Ean Rites Will Be Held Today

Funeral services for Malcolm Ean, 52, 602 Rundell street, who died Monday afternoon at a local hospital after a brief illness, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in the McGovern funeral home. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

The son of Lewis and Anna Ean, he was born at Ossian, Sept. 4, 1889. He graduated from Ossian high school and attended Upper Iowa university at Fayette for two years. He married Ella Mae Welsh at Postville, Nov. 8, 1915.

Surviving are his wife; his mother, Mrs. Lewis Ossian, Oxford; six brothers, George, Lloyd, Earnest, Asa and Lester, all of Ossian, and Lee, Portland, Ore.; and two sisters, Mrs. Anthony Bohr, Chicago, and Mrs. Nora Ean Nehls, Ossian.

UNITED NATIONS TROOPS, INCLUDING YANKS, FIGHT JAP INVADERS HERE

Reports from Java indicate that Japanese forces attempting to invade the principal island of the Dutch East Indies are meeting the strongest resistance they have encountered anywhere in the Far Eastern theater. Arrows on the map, right, indicate the three main points of invasion. American, Dutch, British and Australian ground, air and sea forces have combined in an attempt to drive the invaders back into the sea. Bandoeng is the military headquarters of the United Nations in the Far East. Approach of sea-borne Japanese troops toward the coast of Java was the signal for a smashing attack by Allied sea and air forces. Reported Japanese losses of ships and men were very heavy. Shortly after the Japanese had effected a landing Allied defenders launched a counter-attack.

Red Cross Will Sew Wednesday, Thursday

The Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross will meet for sewing on Wednesday and Thursday of each week, it was decided yesterday. The sewing sessions will be held at the Community building from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

This week, cutting and sewing will be emphasized by the committee. Group sewing will also be done.

The committee urged that all finished garments be brought in since another shipment is due this week. Yarn for sleeveless sweaters for the army will be given to experienced knitters this week.

Knitting instructors will be present each day and the usual co-operative luncheon will be served at noon.

1st Training Course Of City Den Mothers To Commence Tonight

The first training course of the Iowa City Den mothers will start this evening at 7:30 in the Henry Sabin school, it was announced yesterday by Winston C. Miller, chairman of the Cub leadership training committee.

Included in the program this evening will be a talk by Prof. Ralph H. Ojeman of the child welfare station, on Den mother's certificate requirements, a discussion of the outline of an ideal den meeting and selection of pack meeting themes.

The course is sponsored by the Iowa river valley boy scout council to train Den mothers in an understanding of their responsibilities and relationships with cubs.

The six-session training program will feature demonstrations in recreational activities, discussion and reading of the Den mother's book, and cub handicrafts.

Cornith Lodge to Hold Father, Son Banquet

Cornith Lodge No. 24 Knights of Pythias will hold its annual Father and Son banquet at 6:15 tonight in the D & L Spanish room.

Harry Goodrich, Iowa City, and Bob Hibbs, Marengo, will be featured speakers on the dinner program.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Phi Gams Place First In Scholarship Rating

Phi Gamma Delta fraternity placed first in university fraternity scholarship ranking for last semester, it was announced yesterday by the office of the dean of men.

The Phi Gams, who won with a grade-point average of 2.247, were followed in second place by Phi Kappa Psi fraternity with a 2.232 grade-point average, and Beta Theta Pi ranked third with 2.161.

Other fraternities ranking high were Pi Kappa Alpha, 2.150; Phi Epsilon Pi, 2.149; Sigma Chi, 2.1098; and Phi Delta Theta, 2.083.

Victory Book Drive To Close March 15

Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, public librarian, announced last night that the local library would close its Victory Book campaign March 15.

Over 3,000 books have been collected since the beginning of the drive in January. Mrs. Gordon hopes for at least a total of 4,000 books to be gathered by the closing date.

Although the books will be sent to camps for use by men in the service, a definite shipping place for the local library's books has not been received.

2 City Dairies To Stop Daily Milk Deliveries

Tire Priorities Force Sidwell's, Swaner's To Change Schedule

Two local dairies, the Sidwell Dairy Co. and the Swaner Farms dairy, announced yesterday that beginning Friday, retail milk deliveries will be made every other day rather than daily, since tire priorities make it impossible to obtain new tires for retail deliveries.

Acting jointly, the two companies adopted the new system after querying consumers to whom regular morning deliveries have been made in the past. Although replies were not received from all customers, nearly 100 per cent of those answering were willing to accept the change.

Customers were assured that no one will receive day-old milk and the entire plant output will be delivered every day.

The new system will be begun Friday in only one district in Iowa City. Gradually the entire city will come under the plan. All customers will be notified prior to the institution of the new system in their area.

Saving of tires will come, officials said, not through reduced mileage, but in the greatly reduced number of starts and stops necessary in daily delivery. Under the new plan consumers will receive delivery service for a longer period.

The new system is operating successfully in Davenport, Waterloo and Moline.

★ Just Try to Argue
★ With an Old-Timer
★ About Our Athletes!

NEW YORK—Our younger generation certainly has gone to pot, hasn't it? All the lads and lassies could do last week in an athletic way was:

- (1) Break four records in the national A. A. U. indoor track and field meet.
- (2) Set an American ski jumping record.
- (3) Better the American mark for the women's 220-yard backstroke swim.

Naturally the old timers will greet these evidences of agility with the calm disbelief of the guy who looked at a giraffe the first time and declared emphatically: "There ain't no such animal." No amount of proof as provided by the yardsticks and watches will convince the die-hards that the athletes of earlier generations weren't superior in every way to our modern crop.

They might have arguments in some instances, particularly in track and field in which improved track conditions and equipment must be taken into consideration, but there are other events in which the athletes on another year had the same advantages as those of today.

Take Gloria Callen's new record of 2:37 for the 200-yard backstroke, for instance. As far as is known water always has been just as wet and no wetter than it is now. And as for Tolger Tokle's ski leap of 289 feet, he was riding a pair of glorified bed slats the same as ski jumpers have been riding for generations.

A couple of weeks ago Cornelius Warmerdam pole vaulted higher than any man ever had vaulted before. The only advantage Warmerdam might have had over the vaulters of years ago would be in the pole, and they have had good, stout, light vaulting poles for years and years.

In almost every athletic event where comparison of performance from year to year is possible by timing or measuring, the athletes of today do a little better than hold their own. It's only in the sports where no yardstick is available that the performances of the old-timers balloon until they are of Paul Bunyan proportions.

Sports such as football, and basketball, and prizefighting. That's why you can't argue with a gent who is walking around in the present and living 40 years in the past when he maintains that John L. Sullivan could have knocked out Joe Louis in one round or that Fielding Yost's point-a-minute Michigan football team could have spotted any present-day eleven six touchdowns and beaten it 50 points.

It's just like arguing how high is up. There just isn't any answer. Even in baseball, which encourages more bookkeeping from year to year than perhaps any other sport, comparison of today's game with that of 30 or more years ago is misleading, largely because of the change in the ball.

And you can't fairly compare golfers of today with those of years ago. Equipment again enters into the debate, and in this case Joe Kirkwood says it is the development of the sand wedge. Kirkwood's team averaged 7 1/2 strokes a round in three recent tournaments, yet barely finished in the money. A score like that would have won 20 years ago, but he doesn't insist the golfers of today are any better, although there are more good golfers now.

Getting back to the performances during the week-end, when the athletes can break six records in three different sports it does seem that maybe there is a little undue worry over the physical deterioration of our young men and women.

Maybe the real worry should be over our old ducks with the back-tracking minds.

City High Completes Loop Race in Third

West Liberty Meets U-High Here Tonight

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUPS

U-high	Pos.	West. Liberty
Alderman	f	Flater
Schneberger	f	Ruess
Lehman (c)	c	(c) Vitosh
Stagg	g	Walker
Shay	g	Spohr

The Eastern Iowa conference basketball champions, the U-high Bluehaws, play West Liberty in the City high gym here tonight at 8:40 as they begin their drive for state honors. The Blues have beaten West Liberty twice in conference play, and if they beat them again in their first round section play, U-high will go up against City high Saturday night.

The Bluehaws are expected to win this game if they hold Bob Vitosh, high scoring West Liberty center, in check. There is a possibility that the Comet's other star player, Wiencke, will be eligible for this game. Wiencke has had scholastic difficulties all season, and has never been eligible when U-high met West Liberty before.

If he should return to action tonight, the Blues will have to hustle if they are to advance into the second round of section play.

Coach Paul Brechler announced that he would start his regular lineup which did so well against West Branch last week. The Bluehaws' last game saw Emory Stagg return to the form that made him a threat earlier in the season, and also saw Jim Schneberger and Jack Shay continue their improved play.

Short Sidelights On Bluehawk Quint
The following character sketches concern the six players who figured most prominently in U-high's drive for the championship—the same six players who will carry the load for University high in its search for state honors.

George Lehman, captain and spark plug of the 1941-42 Bluehaws... Lehman, 17, scored a total of 178 points from his center position in 11 games... expects to graduate this June and has hopes of attending Iowa State college in September... George lives on a farm, five miles outside of Iowa City, and during the summer months works for his father; this may account for his favorite food being milk... "Shorty" has blue eyes and blond hair... stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 195 pounds... lettered as a sophomore in basketball, has two letters as an end in football... has earned one letter as a high jumper in track. Good-natured, Lehman has only one peeve—being called "Lemons" instead of his real name.

Jim Schneberger is a forward and the second highest scorer on the team... stands 6 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet and hits the scales at 165 pounds... has dark hair and blue eyes and his teammates nicknamed him "Swish"... Jim lives just outside of town on a farm and works there during the summer months... lettered as a junior... has lettered for two seasons as an end on the football team... The likeable Schneberger nominates bookkeeping as his favorite subject in school.

Danner Top Scorer In Senior Division

Sectional Tournament Begins Here Tonight With Class A, B Tiffs

With the closing of all the regularly scheduled games in the Mississippi Valley conference, City high has ended up in third place behind Davenport and East Waterloo.

With a fairly successful season behind them, the Little Hawks will start in tournament competition Saturday night when they play the winner of the U-high, West Liberty game that will be played tonight in the tournament opener.

Coach Herb Cormack's freshman-sophomore outfit finished in second place with eight wins and two losses.

City high took individual honors in the scoring race in both the varsity and sophomore leagues. Dave Danner set the pace for the senior circuit and scored 130 points in 10 games. Danner won the same honor in the junior league last year.

Curly Brack and Don Farnsworth took the number one and two positions in the individual scoring for the sophomores. Brack

THURSDAY
8:40 Solon vs. Oxford
8:40 Shueville vs. Sharon

TOURNAMENT DOPE
With firing beginning on 92 sectional fronts in the start of the boys' state high school championship tonight, City high will play host to the tournament in this section of the state.

Iowa City, University high and West Liberty are the only class A teams in the tournament and the first-class A game will get underway tonight at 8:40 between U-high and West Liberty. The winner of this battle will tangle with City high in the finals Saturday night. The Little Hawks having drawn a bye in the first round.

Seven class B teams will vie here for the title in that section of the tournament. Solon seems to be favored in this class, but Sharon and Tiffin can't be counted out.

2 Cage Tiffs Here Tuesday For Red Cross

Everyone except the players themselves will pay admission to the Iowa-Camp Grant, Coe-Cornell basketball doubleheader here next Tuesday night, with the proceeds of the event being dedicated to the statewide drive to buy Red Cross ambulances.

No complimentary tickets will be issued, Business Manager Charles Gallier said yesterday, and coaches, officials, ushers and sports writers alike will pay regular admission prices.

Ticket sellers, ticket takers and police are all donating their services at the game, and only traveling expenses for the visiting teams will be taken from the gate proceeds.

A special admission price of $5.00 has been set for university students, with general admission $1.00 and children's tickets $2.25. Activity tickets must be presented at the gate with the student ticket, which may be purchased in advance. Children's tickets will only be on sale at the fieldhouse the night of the game.

Tickets are on sale at Memorial Union desk, the university treasurer's office, Whetstone's and the fieldhouse.

Coe and Cornell play the opening game and the Hawks will meet Camp Grant in the wrapup.

Iowa Grapplers Meet Illini There Saturday

Iowa's wrestling team will journey to Champaign, Ill., to tangle with the University of Illinois grapplers Saturday. The Hawk squad, undefeated in six dual meets, will close its regular schedule Saturday and prepare for the Big Ten and National Collegiate meets to be held later in March.

Coach Howard's matmen have come through the season thus far with a whirlwind of upsets. Their record includes a shutout over Bradley Tech in the opener and a victory over Nebraska in the Cornhuskers' opener. In conference meets, each time the Hawkeyes faced undefeated teams they broke the winning streaks of their opponents, bringing home victories over Wisconsin, Chicago and Minnesota, 1941 conference champ.

Again this Saturday Iowa will go to the mat against an undefeated team, the only obstacle left to mar its clean slate for the dual meet season.

DUBUQUE (Special to The Daily Iowan) — The Iowa City Marians staved off a late rally to overcome Catholic Central of Ottumwa in a tough battle, 26-22, here last night and win the championship of the Iowa Catholic high school basketball tournament.

St. Mary's held the upper hand all the way, but the Ottumwa crew was always within close range, threatening to close the gap. In the last period, Bill Sweeney, Rambler substitute center, laid in three goals to clinch the victory and state title.

Bill Carr and Doug Sullivan counted two buckets apiece to start a Catholic Central rally, but the Marians buckled down and held their lead.

Brack Leads Marians
Co-capt. Tony Brack, star St. Mary's forward, led his team with 12 points to emerge as high scorer. Bill Sweeney tallied eight markers. Central was paced by Bobby Carr, who bagged eight points from his forward position.

Iowa City stepped into an early lead, and led by a narrow margin, 11-8, at the halftime. The last half was nip and tuck. In the late stages Central came near breaking loose, but the Rambler defense held, and Sweeney's three buckets told the tale.

In the semifinal round yesterday afternoon, the Ramblers ripped through St. Mary's of Waterloo, 32-21, with Brack and Seemuth leading an attack in the third quarter which put Iowa City safely out in front.

Coach Suplepp's cagers led only 15-14 at the end of the first half, but set a pace after the intermission with which Waterloo was unable to cope.

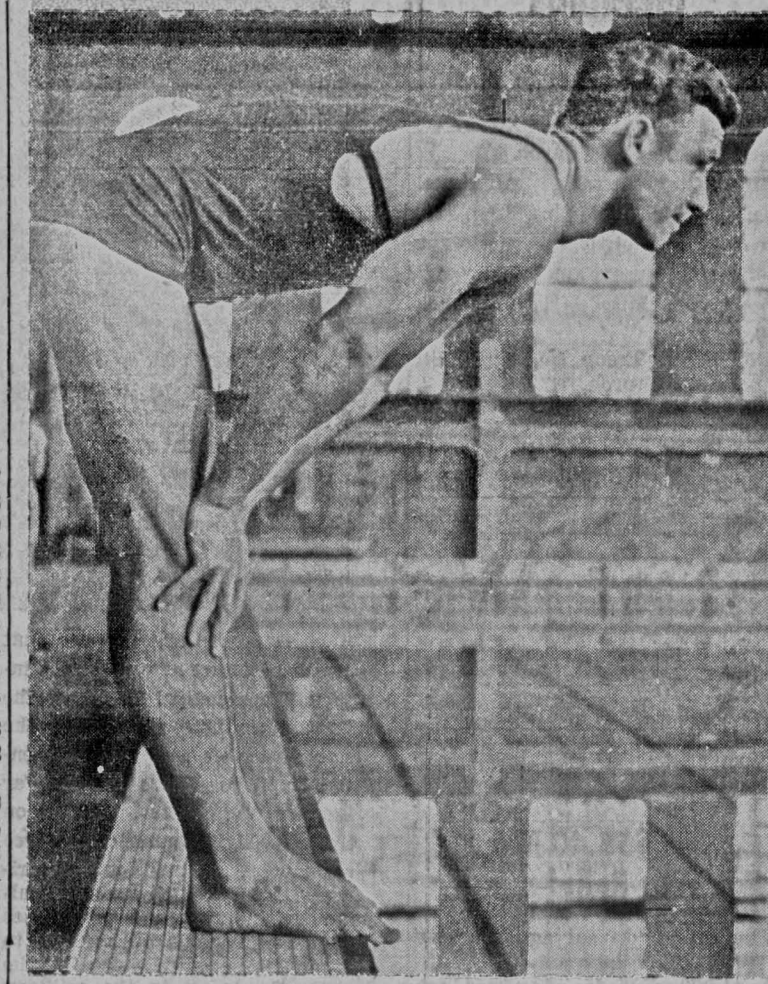

High scorer was Brack, who came through as usual for the Ramblers to run up 12 points. Seemuth bucketed eight points for the winners. Sissel scored eight points for the Waterloo quintet.

TOP PERFORMER—Pictured above is Clyde Kennitz, a sprinter on Iowa's swimming team, who is developing into a top-notch performer. He came up with his best performance in last week's dual meet with Michigan by winning the 100-yard dash and placing second in the 50-yard dash to take individual scoring honors for the Hawkeyes. Kennitz is a junior and was a major letter winner last year.

Iowa Swimmers in Two Dual Meets

Hawk Mermen Meet Milwaukee Athletic Club Friday, Wisconsin Tankmen Saturday

Iowa's swimming team will begin its season with a dual meet with the Milwaukee Athletic club Friday night at Milwaukee and Wisconsin Saturday at Madison.

In their first non-conference meet of the season the Hawkeyes will face the comparatively unknown Milwaukee mermen, who have lost two dual meets so far this season.

Wisconsin's tankmen have a record of four wins and six losses. They have defeated Lawrence twice and Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., once. Last Saturday the Badgers were second in a triangular meet with Minnesota and Nebraska. Minnesota won the meet by scoring 77 points, Wisconsin was second with 49 and Nebraska third with 33 points.

In the Michigan meet, which lacked the color of former Iowa-Michigan swimming feuds, the Hawkeyes kept pace with the Wolverines during the opening stages of the meet and took over the lead at the halfway point. However, he superiority of Michigan's manpower began to wear down the Hawks and the victors were able to walk off with the final four distance events.

Clyde Kennitz turned in his best performance of the year against the Michigan tanksters by winning the 100-yard dash and coming in second in the 50-yard event for individual scoring honors. Other winners for Iowa included Don Westminster in the 50-yard dash and Leo Biedrzycki in the fancy diving.

Iowa's sprint relay team turned in its best performance of the current season by swimming the 400 yards in 3:39.3. This mark betters last year's time for the Hawks in the same event. This is encouraging in it shows that the whole squad is rounding into condition and should be ready for some sweet revenge in the Big Ten conference meet at Ann Arbor two weeks hence.

The score of the meet was first reported to be 50 to 36 in favor of Michigan, but a recheck showed the actual score was 48 to 36, Michigan.

10 Wrestlers Advance In Frat Tournament Of Intramural League

Kane, Mannino Win Falls in Heavyweight Division of Tourney

Ten more advancements were made yesterday in the Fraternity league of the all-university intramural wrestling tournament in the fieldhouse. Seven of the afternoon's bouts ended in falls.

Honors for the quick-time fall of yesterday's bouts go to Roger Kane of Delta Tau Delta. Kane pinned Ed Hicklin of Sigma Nu in 1:15 to advance in the heavyweight division.

Another quick-time fall was scored in the heavyweight slot when Tom Mannino put the clamps on Walter Sanford of DU in 1:20. Sanford's 165 pounds were insufficient to cope with heavyweight Mannino.

Jack Marvel of DU gained a decision over Keith Richardson of Sigma Nu to advance in the heavyweight division.

Two falls were rung up in the 165-pound class. Ben Birdsall of Sigma Chi brought Dick Remer of Sigma Nu to the mat in 2:19, and Morris Mahoney of DU threw Huff of SAE in 5:47.

In the 136-pound division Gordon Shellard of Sigma Nu decided Bill Mertz of SAE, and Robert Bowles of Sigma Nu decided Paul Connors of Phi Kappa Psi.

128-pound Jack Martin of Sigma Nu scored a fall over Howard McCollister of Phi Kappa Psi in 3:16 to make the only advancement in that weight bracket.

In the 145-pound slot Ned Willis of SAE threw Russell of Phi Kappa Psi in 5:16. Cullen Gould, another DU grappler, pinned John Swanson of Phi Kappa Psi in 5:11.

Farmers Must Save Used Baling Wire

Yearly Loss Enough To Build 3 Mighty Wartime Battleships

Each year farmers of the United States throw away enough used baling wire to build three mighty battleships or 3,000 medium tanks, according to Ray E. Smalley, county USDA war board chairman. In other words, much of the 100,000 tons used each year for baling straw and forage crops is allowed to rust away in a scrap heap after removal from the bales. With a little care, Smalley says, much of this wire could be used a second time, not only for baling economy, but as an important conservation measure and a direct contribution to the national war effort. Farmers may find a situation in which new baling wire cannot be obtained. The chairman suggests that baling wire be removed by untying the knot, or by cutting the wire as close to the knot as possible so that it can be used over again. Short ties may be used again by making shorter, lighter bales, or they may be applied to full length. Baling wire hung over a fence or piled in a heap outside the machine shed, may rust and become unfit for re-use. Rusting can be prevented by wiping each tie with oil and storing in a dry place. Sixty students from Mexico constitute the greatest single group attending the University of Texas from outside the continental United States.

New British Cabinet Issues Stern Warning To Food Racketeers

LONDON (AP) — The British government served a stern last warning yesterday on food racketeers who fatten their purses on the nation's wartime hunger. Announcing the determination of the new cabinet to stamp out profiteering and gluttony alike, Major Gwilym Lloyd George, parliamentary secretary to the food ministry, told the house of commons that stiff new penalties soon would be imposed on black market operators.

Women's Basketball Club Defeats C. R.

The Iowa City Women Basketball club won two out of three games against Cedar Rapids last night in the women's gymnasium. Iowa City III defeated Armstrong Clothing store of Cedar Rapids, 22 to 14. Team IV lost 16 to 27 to the Sanitary Dairy Farm company, and team V beat the Cedar Rapids Y.W.C.A. team, 23 to 16.

INTERPRETING

(Continued from page 1) the Sulu archipelago, is not yet as great. General MacArthur reports fresh Japanese incursions on Mindanao. The Japs already are planted at Davao on the southeastern extremity of that island. Zamboanga, at the southwest tip, has now been seized. At least two other Philippine ports have been bombed from the sea, suggesting further landings; but neither was named. Presumably they are in the southern area and mean establishment of other new enemy bases to guard the southern flank of Japanese China sea-Java sea communication lines.

The Listening Post--

By LOREN HICKERSON

GESTURES . . .
Doc Mighell of the Home Oil company (Doc Mile is the better-known version) walked up to Jim Bromwell on the street yesterday and handed him a dollar bill. "This is for the Phoenix Fund," he said . . .

Doc gave the dollar himself, but he had his mother, Dr. Lola Clark Mighell, in mind when he did it . . . She has been dead for some years, but during her lifetime she did anything and everything she could do for Iowa's student body . . . The Phoenix Fund, Doc thought, was something she'd have liked . . .

Doc expects to follow the first dollar up with more dollars in the weeks to come . . . His gesture struck the Phoenix Fund council right where it means the most and best . . .

The question might well be put to Rollie Williams if he expects to become an exponent of marriage for his basketball players . . . Three of the current court-burners have joined the ranks of the wedded . . .

Whatever Rollie might advocate, his well-wishers are legion these days . . . They're the same people who can't say enough good things for and about the boys, married and unmarried, who have made the old field house ring this year, as it hasn't rung before in the last decade, with their cheers . . .

Monday night's sight will stay bright for a long, long time to come . . . And so will the memories of the thrillers here between the Hawks and Purdue, Indiana, Ohio State . . . even Minnesota . . .

The bright blue sky and smell of spring in the air yesterday made the sap rise . . . in Iowa students as well as the campus maples and elms . . .

Iowa river, known deviously during the winter time for the speed of the winds that blow over it, the snowy distance across it, and the ugliness of the dead leaves and grass along it, showed signs of turning into something presentable again . . .

And Iowa, calm and secure on her hill, looked down under the warming rays of the March 3 sun at a few things that speak of wartime . . . Quad men settling in new rooms, carpenters installing offices for naval personnel in the upper reaches of the field house, deans and directors bending over plans for a long summer term . . .

Something's happening to Iowa these days . . . powerful and far reaching. It's tied up in some way with Doc Mighell's dollar for the Phoenix Fund, Rollie and his slam-bang basketball team, springtime Iowa and the war . . .

I don't know how it fits, but it fits.

Employment Service Announces Jobs Open To Qualified Workers

'The Men's Shop' Will Be Opened Today

By E. Miltner, R. Winders, I.C. Clothiers

Ed C. Miltner and Roy J. Winders, well-known local clothiers, will formally open a new men's clothing store, "The Men's Shop," this morning at 9 o'clock.

Located at 105 E. College, the new men's store will feature a sportswear balcony handling sport coats, jackets, slacks and rainwear in addition to a complete line of men's suits, topcoats, furnishings and formal wear.

Prof. C. B. Righter Discusses SUI Band Before Kiwanis Club

"The most important service of the band in the university is on the avocational side of college life," Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of the university bands, told members of the Iowa City Kiwanis club yesterday noon. "Members of our bands come from all colleges in the university."

Professor Righter spoke to the club on the organization and direction of the university band. He gave members of the club formation charts, similar to those given to members of the band before practicing a new formation. From men, railroad machinists, locomotive pipe fitters, boiler makers, switchboard repairman, structural steel workers, concrete paver operators, form builders, power plant engineers, linemen, crane and shovel operators, dragline operators, construction equipment mechanics, riggers, LeTourneau operators, reinforcing iron workers. Pipe calkers, leadman and loftsman pile drivers, diesel mechanics, combination welders (electric and acetylene), millwrights, saddle maker, crusher operators, plumbing draftsmen, designing engineer (plumbing and/or steam heating), wood tool makers, and structural steel workers.

The interior of "The Men's Shop," decorated by J. Bradley Rust, local architect, is of modernistic design with fluorescent lighting, blonde-colored show cases and a color scheme of pastel blue, buff and burgundy.

The store will be open this evening from 7:30 to 8:30 to accommodate those unable to visit the new store during the day.

Sons of Union Veterans To Entertain at Supper

Sons of Union Veterans will entertain at a potluck supper Friday in the Women's Relief corps room of the Community building. The supper is scheduled for 8 o'clock and the Daughters of Union Veterans will be guests.

A moving picture will be shown during the evening. Mrs. George Trundy is the chairman in charge of the dinner.

These charts, Professor Righter explained the movements and how they are executed by each player. According to the speaker, there are two entirely separate bands in the university organization—the concert band and the varsity band. We have accepted the fact that the football or varsity band routines must have appeal in order to receive cooperation for the concerts, he said.

"A band leader must be something of an inventor," Professor Righter continued. "There are two steps in getting a formation ready for practice—first, we must have an idea. Then we must associate the action with a piece of music."

Following this discussion, Professor Righter showed movies to the club which were taken at the Notre Dame-Iowa and the Minnesota-Iowa games two years ago. William A. Dunlop, a representative from Kiwanis International office, spoke to the club before the program on the part of Kiwanis clubs in the war.

Federal Bureau of Investigation to Conduct Civilian Defense Instructions for Policemen

The federal bureau of investigation will conduct a war traffic school for police in Des Moines beginning March 9, besides sponsoring civilian defense courses for police in Sioux City and Davenport beginning March 16. J. L. Dalton, special agent of the Des Moines office of the FBI, has announced.

The war traffic school for police, which will provide uniform instruction on problems arising out of the war emergency, will be held at the Kirkwood hotel in Des Moines from March 9 to March 14. Beginning March 16 and continuing through March 21, civilian defense courses for police will be held simultaneously at the Warrior hotel in Sioux City and at the Davenport hotel in Davenport.

Problems of law enforcement agencies which have arisen out of the emergency as well as problems to be faced in the future will be given special attention in the six-day civilian defense courses. It is also planned to train a group of officers selected by the heads of departments with respect to emergency law enforcement duties in wartime.

Director John Edgar Hoover sent FBI officials to London more than a year ago to thoroughly prepare for the civilian defense training program, Dalton said.

The war traffic schools for police will be conducted in 120 cities throughout the United States and the civilian defense schools will be conducted even more extensively.

Woman's club will entertain the women of the Mary O. Coldren home at a tea at 2:30 this afternoon.
