Will Decide Gas Question Soon

1,036 British Bombers Loose Tons of Explosives on Essen

Nelson Asserts Announcement May Come by Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board said yesterday that a decision on nationwide gasoline rationing possibly would be announced before next Tuesday.

Nelson said WPB took no definite action at a meeting yesterday afternoon, but had "gone over the whole question" of the nation's rubber shortage and had discussed the proposed rationing with all interested government officials.

Asked whether the final decision would be left up to President Roosevelt, Nelson said that it might be but added: "Or he may ask us to make it—we're ready either way."

In addition to petroleum coordinator Ickes, other government officials attending yesterday's WPB session included Archibald MacLachlan, director of the office of facts and figures.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, midwestern senators cut across party lines to express opposition to possible extension of rationing to the mid-continent.

Soviets Open Attack in North

Taking notice of reports that midwestern motorists might be limited to an average of 5 gallons of gasoline a week by mid-July or August 1, Senator Capper (R-Kas) declared that such an order would "break a great hardship on the people and be disastrous to that part of the country."

"I'm very much opposed to any rationing program, and I don't think five gallons would take care of the people in that area," Capper said.

Senator Brooks (R-Ill) saw a possible way out in the nation's surplus grain stocks.

"Before they ration gasoline in the midwest," Brooks declared, "the government should make every effort to utilize the grain of the mid-west to produce the rubber which would make gasoline rationing unnecessary."

On what is known here as the "northwestern front," extending from the Valdai hills north around Lake Ilmen to the Leningrad front, the Russians were said to have maintained pressure which forestalled any "adventurous plans" of the Germans.

With the Russians thus improving their positions and drawing the enemy into costly counter-action in these regions, the southern sectors of Kerch, Kharkov and Izum - Barvenkova were comparatively quiet. The Germans there were pictured as spent by heavy losses, and the Russians as holding firmly to fortified lines.

100 German Aircraft Batter Allied Convoy For 5 Days, Nights

LONDON (AP)—Battered for five days and nights in the strange, unending light of the arctic's midnight sun by U-boats and at least 100 German planes, a big U.S.-British supply convoy was disclosed yesterday to have reached a Russian port with an indicated loss of but half a dozen ships.

Arctic Convoy Route

The result was announced in a communique which gave a graphic picture of the perils of the arctic convoy route to Murmansk and Archangel, where there never, at this time of year, is any protecting darkness and where the breaking of the arctic ice restricts maneuverability of ships to a minimum.

German claims to the sinking of 17 or 18 ships were termed "an exaggeration of over 175 per cent."

Attack Without Pause

German dive bombers, torpedoed planes and level-flying bombers assaulted the convoy almost without pause from the evening of May 25 until May 30. Three of the attacking planes were reported shot down for sure, two others probably were bagged and two others damaged.

Stockholders Back Up Standard Oil Chiefs After Farish Swears 'No Money From Nazis'

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (AP)—Stockholders of the two billion dollar Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) gave their management an overwhelming vote of confidence at the company's annual meeting yesterday after a small but vociferous group of share owners sharply questioned the company's relations with I. G. Farbenindustrie, the German chemical combine.

Contracts with the German cartel and Standard's alleged failure to supply adequate information to the government regarding synthetic rubber have been the subject of charges made by Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general.

The resolution of confidence in the management came from stooped, gray-haired James W. Gerard, who was U. S. ambassador

Limited But Vigorous Operations Designed To Forestall Nazis

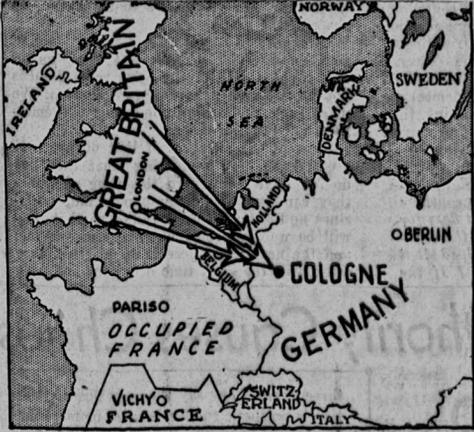

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian armies, applying "Kharkov tactics" to the deep northwestern areas, attacked sharply yesterday in several sectors with the object of upsetting German offensive plans from this direction.

Vigorous although localized actions in two sectors of the Kalinin front, which runs west from Kalinin to the Valdai hills in the direction of the German garrisons of Rzhev and Veliki Luki, were reported to have resulted in at least 1,850 German dead and 1,500 wounded.

On what is known here as the "northwestern front," extending from the Valdai hills north around Lake Ilmen to the Leningrad front, the Russians were said to have maintained pressure which forestalled any "adventurous plans" of the Germans.

With the Russians thus improving their positions and drawing the enemy into costly counter-action in these regions, the southern sectors of Kerch, Kharkov and Izum - Barvenkova were comparatively quiet. The Germans there were pictured as spent by heavy losses, and the Russians as holding firmly to fortified lines.

1,250 PLANES GIVE COLOGNE PREVIEW OF FUTURE

A preview of what the future probably holds for German cities was given the Rhineland industrial center of Cologne when an estimated 1,250 R. A. F. planes showered the city with 6,000,000 pounds of bombs and left it in flaming ruins. A view of the city from the famous Cologne Cathedral is shown above. In reply to a congratulatory message from Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Air Forces, Air Marshal A. T. Harris, who planned the great attack, declared, "We too look forward to the time, now so near, when the United States Army Air Forces... commence operations on our side in this theater of war."

9 More Ships Blasted To Bottom of Atlantic By Enemy Torpedoes

Loss of Life Small,
Navy Says in 3-Day
Resume of Sinkings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deadly torpedoes have blasted nine more ships to the bottom of the Atlantic in intensified U-boat warfare but the loss of life was small, the navy reported last night in a three-day resume of announced sinkings.

Only 41 seamen were listed as dead or missing from the nine vessels and incomplete survivor totals showed at least 286 sailors landed safely.

Three announced sinkings yesterday boosted the toll in Atlantic and adjacent waters since the start of the war to 236. Six had been reported the previous two days.

Fifty-nine seamen from a 67-man crew survived the torpedoing of a large American motorship in the Caribbean sea northwest of Trinidad. The men were picked up by a United States ship one day after the sinking, which occurred May 17. They said that enemy projectiles exploded ammunition in the ship with a terrific blast.

Only one man was killed when a Panamanian merchant ship plunged to the bottom after a torpedo hit in the Atlantic. The attack took place May 20 and 44 survivors were rescued by an American naval vessel.

Led by plucky Capt. Angus Shaw, the full crew of 61 from a British merchant ship landed at an Atlantic port after sailing for eight days in open lifeboats. During a storm the three boats became separated but the men were so sure of their course that they declined to be rescued by an outboard ship and continued on to land.

Another body of the Nazi mechanized forces, which for the last 72 hours has moved westward—and rearward—through the two gaps, was reported to have pushed to a position 20 miles west of the line, where it was regrouping with the axis forces previously there.

The eighth army of General Sir Claude Auchinleck, composed of Britons, South Africans, Indians and Free French, had suffered severe losses, too. But it had given more than it had taken in punishment from the three armored and two motorized divisions which German Marshal Erwin Rommel used in his vain attempt to seize Tobruk.

(The Germans claimed annihilation of a British unit and the capture of 3,000 prisoners including a brigadier. The Italian spoke vaguely of a "pinchers movement" near El Ualeh, in the vicinity of the German gaps, where, they said, British resistance was broken and 2,000 prisoners taken.)

The British commander wired a lengthy review of the battle—the wildest and fiercest ever fought in Africa—to Prime Minister Churchill, who read it to the house of commons.

Great Profile's Final Curtain Call Viewed By Curious Women

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Several hundred women saw John Barrymore carried to his final earthly resting place yesterday.

The actor said he found women delightful through his 60 years of life. He would have been amazed against a restraining rope outside the mausoleum of Calvary cemetery. Many were shabby; sloppily dressed. They ranged in age from cronies to teen-age girls; to small, noisy, dirty children.

Wilson, Hickenlooper Will Lead Republicans In Attempt to Sweep State 3rd Time in a Row

Herring, Kraschel Opponents Again In Fall Election

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa Republicans will try to make it three in a row over the democrats in next fall's general election behind the candidacies of George A. Wilson for United States senator and Bourke B. Hickenlooper for governor.

Both won GOP nominations handily Monday in an Iowa biennial primary in which less than 20 per cent of the state's adult population voted.

Wilson Gets 121,039
With 23 of the state's 2,463 precincts still out, the unofficial returns gave Wilson 121,039 in the senatorial race, against 75,529 for State Secretary of Agriculture Mark G. Thornburg, in second place.

Distanced in the same race were James I. Dolliver, Fort Dodge attorney, whose incomplete vote was 29,840, and G. Scott Davies, Des Moines lawyer, who polled 7,351.

Senator Clyde L. Herring (D-Ia) made an easy winner in the democratic primary and Nelson G. Kraschel returned along the comeback trail to land the party's gubernatorial nomination. Kraschel was lieutenant governor from 1922 to 1937 and governor from 1937 to 1939.

The Herring-Kraschel combination trimmed the Iowa Republicans in three consecutive elections in the new deal's halcyon days of the '30s. In fact, the only victories the democrats have won over the GOP in Iowa state politics since 1892 were achieved when both were on the ticket in 1932, 1934 and 1936. Herring was elected governor and Kraschel lieutenant governor in 1932 and 1934. Herring went to the senate and Kraschel succeeded him as governor in the 1936 election.

In 1938 and 1940, however, the republicans turned the tables on (See PRIMARIES, page 5)

UMW Detours Open Separation With CIO

Lays Down 3 Terms
Affiliation With Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Mine Workers avoided an open break with the CIO yesterday, but laid down three conditions as the price of continued affiliation.

The miners' policy committee, in effect, placed the separation question on the CIO table by declaring it would make no more per capita tax payments in cash until, first, the CIO acknowledged a debt of $1,665,000 to the miners; second, entered unity conferences with the AFL and gave the miners representation, and, third, ceased attacks upon the UMW, its leaders and its organization efforts.

The miners' decision will be considered by the CIO executive board at sessions starting today and by the UMW's biennial convention in Atlantic City next October.

London Has Air Raid Alarm
LONDON, Wednesday (AP)—An air raid alarm sounded in London early today but the all-clear followed shortly.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE University Registrar Harry G. Barnes announced last night that registration for the university's second summer session will begin Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Entering freshmen will register in room 221A Shaeffer hall and upperclass- men will be registered in the conference rooms of Iowa Union. All fees must be paid by 5 o'clock Saturday, and classes will begin Monday, June 8.

While outbreaks against Nazi rule in occupied countries increases daily, German rulers have attempted to quell sabotage and violence by executing more and more citizens of the conquered nations. Photos above show execution by a firing squad of a loyal Frenchman. The victim's hands are bound and his eyes blindfolded, top; after the rifles crack, he slumps to the ground, below.

25 Per Cent of Reich's War Industry Now Believed Out of Commission After Giant Raids; Daylight Raids Begin

LONDON (AP)—A mighty aerial corps of British bombers and fighter planes, 1,036 of them, cast down fire and explosive with terrible effect upon the German Krupp munitions center of Essen and its war plant environs Monday night in a second great raid on Germany in 48 hours—an assault that was proclaimed as only a token of what is yet to come from the combined air forces of Britain and the United States.

Thousands of tons of bombs were dropped upon the Krupp and Rhein-Metal Borsig plants, and if, as would seem obvious from the weight of the attack, the damage caused at Essen were as great as in Saturday night's 1,000-plane raid on Cologne, persons familiar with German production believed that 25 per cent of the Reich's war industry could now be marked down as crippled.

Again yesterday the RAF sprang back to the assault, going over the channel in great force in one of the biggest daylight aerial offensives of the war.

Rommel Forces In Desperate Escape Effort

Blast Northern France
During the morning there were large-scale sweeps over the Gravelines and Harcelote areas of northern France. One German plane was shot down and several damaged.

It was the raid on Essen, however, that overshadowed all else and brought cheer to all England. Giving the house of commons a preliminary report yesterday on this tremendous attack, Prime Minister Churchill declared that many fires were left, at a total cost of only 35 British bombers, and went on to predict what lies ahead for the Germans.

"The methods of attack will be continually varied, according to circumstances. "On the other hand, these two great night bombing raids (the first was during Saturday night and early Sunday morning over Cologne) mark the introduction of a new phase in the British air offensive against Germany, and they will increase markedly in scale when we are joined, as we soon shall be, by the air force of the United States."

While the main force of the British attack was being centered in the Essen area, other squadrons smashed at the enemy's airdromes over great areas of Germany, France and the low countries to pin down his fighter plane defense.

Nazi Tank Remnants Reorganize for Drive Through British Trap

Another body of the Nazi mechanized forces, which for the last 72 hours has moved westward—and rearward—through the two gaps, was reported to have pushed to a position 20 miles west of the line, where it was regrouping with the axis forces previously there.

The eighth army of General Sir Claude Auchinleck, composed of Britons, South Africans, Indians and Free French, had suffered severe losses, too. But it had given more than it had taken in punishment from the three armored and two motorized divisions which German Marshal Erwin Rommel used in his vain attempt to seize Tobruk.

(The Germans claimed annihilation of a British unit and the capture of 3,000 prisoners including a brigadier. The Italian spoke vaguely of a "pinchers movement" near El Ualeh, in the vicinity of the German gaps, where, they said, British resistance was broken and 2,000 prisoners taken.)

The British commander wired a lengthy review of the battle—the wildest and fiercest ever fought in Africa—to Prime Minister Churchill, who read it to the house of commons.

Reveal Huge Swath Cut by RAF Bombs

BERN, Switzerland, (AP)—An area of about a mile by a mile and half was virtually wiped out by British airmen in their Saturday night raid on Cologne, reliable reports from Germany said yesterday.

This meant a heavy toll in the closely packed Rhineland metropolis but anything like a reliable figure casualties was lacking.

F.D.R. Asks War Against Axis Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress to make the list of America's enemies officially complete yesterday by declaring war on the axis satellites, Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

As "instruments of Hitler," he said in a special message to congress, these countries had declared war on the United States. Further, he said, they were engaged in military activities against the united nations, activities which were about to be broadened.

Acquiescence of congress in the president's request was regarded as a mere formality. Arrangements were made to bring up a war resolution in the house today, and in the senate later.

Several senators said the war declaration might be of aid to Russia, and would tend to encourage Turkey to resist any axis incursion. Senator Austin (R-Vt) said: "Of itself it is an act of political warfare, and will be of benefit to the united nations."

The declarations will add approximately 150,000 persons to the "enemy alien" group in this country.

Observe United Nations Day LONDON (AP)—Britain will join the United States in observing United Nations day on June 14 which President Roosevelt designated to coincide with U.S. Flag day.

San Francisco (AP)—Harry Bridges surrendered to immigration authorities yesterday on a deportation warrant and was promptly released under $3,000 bond on application for a writ of habeas corpus, first step in a legal battle that may go to the supreme court.

The west coast CIO leader also was granted court permission to leave California, thus enabling him to go to Washington to attend a conference of CIO chieftains opening today.

Attorneys will argue Monday before Federal Judge Martin I. Welsh over granting the habeas corpus petition.

The action challenged the legality of the 1940 amendment to the immigration law, the method of gathering evidence, the evidence itself and Attorney General Francis Biddle's order of last week ordering Bridges deported to his native Australia on grounds he was a communist.

The Voters of Johnson County Are Neglecting Their Jobs

We Must Understand the Ideals of a Democratic Government and Devote Our Time to Practicing Them—

Less than 40 per cent of the eligible voters of Johnson county went to the polls to vote Monday.

For the past six months we of the middle west have been emphatically denying the assertion: "They are unaware of the presence of a war." Apparently, then, we have been under a false impression for a full six months.

If we are aware of the presence of the war, what happened to the 60 per cent of our voters who didn't go to the polls?

From the very beginnings of the present world war, from the days when the Japanese (1931) and Germans (1933) first began to arm, we have been tragically aware of the conditions under which citizens of dictatorial countries are living. We have pitied the peoples of Nazi-Germany, Fascist-Italy, Spain, Japan and even Soviet-Russia; we have damned the dictators for the powers they wield over their 'subjects'; we have watched the conscription of their property and crops, and felt the security of our own. Through it all we have upheld our democracy as the form of government best suited to govern states of the world. Yet on the day when we are privileged to contribute our share to the working of our democratic government, we failed to appreciate our rights and were indifferent to the part we should have been playing in the working of our government.

When we entered this second world war last December, we pledged ourselves, as we had often done before, to uphold the ideals of democracy and to give our lives, if need be, so that we might never be subjected to the rule of a dictatorship.

Across the nation, in every state, every city, every town and village, the citizens of the United States stood together and solemnly repeated:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Were we just repeating words, or were we thinking of the deep meaning behind our pledge? Is it possible that even in these times of all-out war we could be so short-sighted as to take our freedoms, our rights and privileges for granted; could we have remained so unaffected by all of the things that were happening around us; were we entering a war without a full understanding of the ideals for which we intended to fight?

What has all of the shouting been about? Has not the vital importance of this moment in history penetrated to the heart and mind of the average individual?

Democracy, our democracy, is at stake! It is far beyond the time when we should have awakened to the realization that this 'government for the people and by the people' to which we are accustomed is on the block! We have already begun the struggle which will determine whether it will stand or fall. We can shout the praises of democracy into the four winds, but unless we can fully understand what we are shouting about, we can not hope to win the victory and the peace we want.

Freedom is our battle cry, the call that has taken the young men of our country into war, the call for which thousands have already given their lives and for which many more will die.

Those young men who have gone into battle know what we are fighting for. They know and believe in the fight that they are carrying to our enemies. They are giving their lives so that we of the United States can continue to live our lives in a democratic state. They have the right to expect those of us who are not on the actual fighting fronts of the world to carry on at home, and we should feel it our duty, not our right, to contribute our share in the struggle for the preservation of the rights for which they are fighting.

If the majority of our voters cannot shoulder this trust and responsibility and do not have enough interest in our democratic government to contribute to its working, then the "Preservation of Democracy" phrase of our war aims is hollow and meaningless.

Preserve it for what? Should democracy be preserved so that we can continue to be indifferent toward what it does for us; so that a small minority of the country's citizens can carry the load that rightfully belongs to all of us? If the majority of the citizens of this country can not garner enough feeling to participate in our government, might they not as well be living under a dictatorial rule?

Obviously none of these non-voters would wish to succumb to such a fate, but can they honestly say that they are deserving of anything better. Voting has become a lax exercise indulged in occasionally by persons living close to the precinct polls. The reams of material devoted to informing the public of their rights and of their duties have been wasted. Something more than mere talking and writing will have to be done to awaken the public to a realization of the actualities that exist. What that something will be can not be pre-determined by any one person, for it is necessary that each individual make the effort for himself and actually carry his share of the load.

Belonging to Bundles for Britain, Bundles for Blue-Jackets, Red Cross sewers, nurses aide corps, U.S.O. or the Navy relief fund is not in itself enough of a contribution. We must fully understand the ideals of democracy and practice them.

Some of the members of that 60 per cent group have been wondering what they can do for their country in this time of war—they can read their newspapers and magazines and listen to their radios so that they will be well informed on their government; and the next time there is an election, they can devote the short time necessary and vote.

HOLLYWOOD SOUNDS

Jimmie Davis Came To Record; Stayed By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Jimmie Davis, the commissioner of public safety of the city of Shreveport, La., came to Hollywood to record a couple of his tunes and stayed to make a couple of movies. Just like that, all sort of casual and drawly and think-no-more-about-it.

I caught him on the set of "Shotgun Guard," one of Charlie Starrett's westerns, where Jimmie—a lean, big lad in cowboy duds and boots—was taking movie acting in stride, like a veteran. Here he was, playing Starrett's pal, the stagecoach driver, and singing one of his own numbers, a cheerful thing entitled "When It's Round-Up Time in Heaven."

Jimmie walked me down the western street, with its wooden sidewalks and general store, and allowed as to how it was mighty like his own home town of Quitman, La., where he grew up before he went down to school at Louisiana College and L.S.U.

"If there's anybody here oughta feel at home on this set, it's me," said Jimmie Davis. "I'm strictly a backwoods boy."

Jimmie, whose "You Are My Sunshine" is a hit parader, who wrote "Sweethearts or Strangers" and "Worried Mind" and "Nobody's Darling" and a string of other popular tunes, is a many-faceted character. He started this music business down at L. S. U., while taking his M.A. in education and psychology, by singing in the glee club. He had a hunch even then that plain folks didn't go for the high class stuff Prof. H. W. Stopher, the glee club director, wanted sung, and once—when "Prof." was ill—he turned a club concert into a 1927 version of a live session.

To hear him tell it, music and education and politics are easily compatible. He was a professor of history and social science at Shreveport's Dodd college for a while before being appointed clerk of the criminal court, in which he learned the ropes and decided to run for office. His campaign was sure-fire. He had a band.

"Folks want to be entertained," said Jimmie Davis.

He never talked more than six to 10 minutes and he never made campaign promises. He won, and the band boys are on the police force now. "I always picked good men for the band, and they make good policemen," he says. When Jimmie feels a new tune coming on, he writes the words and hums the notes, and has one of the boys take it down, not knowing music himself.

His first picture, "Strictly in the Groove," he took in stride also. "They didn't give me a script. They just said, 'Davis it's your turn—and I'd hit the floor and start singin'." For this one I write out my lines from the script—to separate 'em from all these stage directions—and just say 'em. But I've got to be headin' for the barn. I'm goin' to run for another office—public service commissioner—this fall, and the fat's already in the fire. I've got to get back there and do some campaignin'."

Divided Authority Causes Chaos

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Singleheading of Gas, Rubber Rationing Sought in Congress

WASHINGTON—Inside congress a demand is arising for a singleheaded handling of gas rationing and rubber, just as strong as the movement which forced consolidation of war production under Donald Nelson with such excellent results.

Threaded all through the Truman committee report are statements attributing our tire, and hence our gas, rationing confusion to the division of authority among many government bureaus. Other mistakes are mentioned in connection with failures in every phase of the problem (stock pile, synthetic rubber, etc.)

Bickering has resulted between Jesse Jones, the War Production Board, Henderson, war department, Ickes and everyone else who has had anything to do with our prime civilian problem. But in every case, the committee goes back to division of authority as the root cause.

Of our failure to accumulate a rubber stock pile, the committee says there was division of authority between OPM, Rubber Reserve Corp., the REC subsidiary, and others, adding:

"It is possible that had complete authority and responsibility been centered in the hands of a single agency, the failure might have been avoided."

Concerning the inadequacy of our synthetic rubber planning, it mentions the conflict between the old Stettinius advisory committee and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as causing "great difficulty in obtaining a decision."

Of the whole mess today, it concludes: "At the present time it appears the principal difficulties probably result from a lack of centralized and sole responsibility."

While the more spectacular clash of personalities involved in the committee's generous distribution of blame has been drawing most of the popular attention, this correctable cause of the whole existing muddled situation has been overlooked.

Disheartening aspect to the congressmen, however, is that a year and a half of agitation was necessary to cause centralized control of war production in Nelson, so ardently do the various officials fight to retain their authority. If it takes another year and a half before rubber and gas are put under single control, the war could be over.

The unsatisfactory state of rubber affairs in the government was illustrated again when President Roosevelt promised early solution by manufacturing tires other than rubber.

Around the War Production Board and the other government bureaus dealing with rubber, no explanation of what FDR had in mind was available. It was said politely that the president was probably just talking off hand (meaning he did not know what he was talking about.)

About 25 or 30 ideas for making wood, tarred rope or steel spring tires without rubber have been submitted to the National Inventors Council, but no government rubber authority believes these will solve the situation.

The other officials swear the public cannot expect tires of any kind for at least two or three years. They say the only possible solution is synthetic rubber, because no more than 40,000 to 50,000 tons a year is possible from Brazil.

They are pushing the butadiene process as fast as they can, but if they succeed in all their plants, they say they can furnish only enough tires for military and essential civilian (police, ambulance, etc.) use.

Even Donald Nelson was caught short by the president's optimism. His pessimistic statement (founded on above mentioned facts) reached the public just before Mr. Roosevelt spoke, and Mr. Nelson thereupon emerged from his political, but not his rubber, difficulties by adding that he also hoped American ingenuity would save the situation.

Here again was a perfect example of division of authority resulting in chaos.

So also with the administration of gas rationing, practically everybody has been speaking his official piece to the public. Even assistant war secretary Patterson issued a public warning a couple of weeks back, although no one seems to know exactly how he got in on that particular subject.

As matters stand now petroleum coordinator Ickes keeps track of oil and gas (consolidating the figures also) and then tells Donald Nelson or Nelson's transportation coordinator Eastman about it, and this party or these parties of the second part pass the word on to Leon Henderson, the party of the third part, who does the rationing through his organization.

Certainly gas rationing lacks singleheaded authority, just as rubber.

If one man could be appointed to run either or both, and all the rest told to shut up, existing confusion would at least be ended and a straight-line policy would be possible.

Lumber Kings Have Labor Troubles . . .
The lumber kings of the great Northwest are having serious labor troubles for the first time in history and as a result their production figures are approximately 50 per cent below average.

The romance and danger of the logging trade which once drew many of the nation's young huskies into lumber camps is no longer in existence. With the coming of the war these young men have turned to the adventures and dangers of shipping, flying and fighting for Uncle Sam.

21-Gun Salute For Peruvian President

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Nice little party for President Prado of Peru at the 17th Armory the other night . . . But it scared the daylight out of a lot of midtown housewives . . . They hadn't been warned to expect that 21-gun salute, which all presidents rate . . . They thought it was an air raid . . . Shortly after nine p.m. the boom of guns began to roll across the half dimmed-out city . . . It sounded pretty authentic . . . Couple nights earlier preparations for this salute were made . . . One of the things tried was the firing of a 45 calibre pistol into a huge ash can. The effect was a dull rolling boom across the building tops . . .

The Red Cross called this morning . . . An emergency blood transfusion was in order, and this department's name came up . . . I felt pretty good about it . . . "The record shows you're type 4, or 0," they said, "but we'll have to type you again, just to be sure your comparable." . . . So they re-typed me, and I was, and I wrote this into the record so that I won't ever forget that my type is 4, which is the same as 0, and so that if you too are type 4, and ever need a fast pint, you'll know where to come . . .

Here's one for Information Please: What great battle which had a direct bearing on the destiny of the Western Hemisphere was fought in which not a single shot was fired? This battle involved thousands of troops and it is one of the bloodiest encounters on record.

If it was the battle of Junin, which wrested control of Peru from the Spaniards. This battle was fought entirely by cavalry with sabres, some 18,000 troops being involved. Not a single shot was fired.

Joe E. Lewis, the comedian, thinks the war will be over in two months.

His two nephews have been drafted, and neither, he says, ever in their lives held a job longer than two months.

I guess Chaplin fans never forget, or grow cold . . . Years ago, when the little tramp with the baggy trousers made "The Gold Rush," he probably never dreamed it would come back to Broadway, after a generation, and play for week after long week to capacity audiences . . . But it has, and the filmings do not end at midnight . . . They last all night . . . It seems strange to think that you can go into a movie at 4 o'clock in the morning, or at two or at six . . . But, you can.

Third Day of Engineering Conference Opens; Problems of Wave Motion Will Be Discussed

With Prof. H. O. Croft of the University of Iowa presiding, the second session of the Iowa Hydraulics conference opened yesterday morning in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Delegates from all over the United States will attend the third day of conference events today, beginning with a breakfast at Iowa Union, and including a full day of speeches on hydraulic engineering. Tomorrow's program will close the four-day convocation.

Yesterday's session began with "The Study of Hydraulic Form Resistance," a speech by Prof. Max M. Munk of Catholic university. Professor Munk discussed frictional effects on fluid and shape resistance and explained the importance of basic experimental science in the laboratory.

The outcome of the present war may be decided by the work of a laboratory scientist experimenting in this field," Professor Munk said. Boundary Roughness Evaluation. Prof. Hunter Rouse of the University of Iowa considered the evaluation of boundary roughness in the next talk. The Iowa professor traced the scientific history of the field and stated that the purpose of his paper was to consolidate previous experiments and create a handy tool for the hydraulic engineer.

Research for Morgan's paper was done by Prof. H. E. Babbitt and Prof. David H. Caldwell, both of the University of Illinois. "Fluid Flow Through Porous Media" was the subject of a speech by Morris Muskat of the Gulf Research and Development company. Muskat emphasized the value of his findings to the oil industry, chemical companies, textile manufacturers and civil engineers.

Through illustration the speaker showed the flow resistance of sand when drilling for oil. An inspection of the University Hydraulic laboratory, conducted by Prof. E. W. Lane of the college of engineering, took the place of a formal afternoon session.

Today's program will be devoted to cavitation phenomena and problems of wave motion. Speakers will be J. M. Mousson of the Rustless Iron and Steel corporation, G. F. Wislicenus of the Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation, Prof. Harold A. Thomas of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, William J. Hopkins of the United States Engineer corps, Mar-

Craft Guild Works at— Candle-Making Project

—To Aid Phoenix Fund

As Mrs. F. B. Moreland pours another layer on her blackout candle, Esther Taylor dips her half-finished tapers in melted wax for another coat. Mrs. W. G. Eversole, right, it watching over the candle wax as it melts over a water bath. These women are working on the candle-making project of the Iowa City Craft guild, which yesterday turned over $130 to the university secretary for the Phoenix fund. This sum represented the profits from the Mothers day candle sale sponsored by the guild last month at which all candles sold were made by members of the group.

All wax and wicks used in making the candles are salvaged from old tapers turned in to the guild. These old candles are sorted according to color and cleaned with cleaning fluid to remove dirt. The wax is then melted over a water bath and soluble dyes are added. In making tapers, the old wicks which have been trimmed to the proper length are fastened to a wooden rod and each wick is dipped separately into melted wax, after which the coated wicks are allowed to cool and harden before another dipping. For an average candle, each wick is dipped 28 times. About the 25th dipping, stearic acid is added to the wax. This makes the outer coat harder and improves burning quality, making the candle slower-burning and dripless. If the candles are to be scented, the scent is added at the same time as the stearic acid. This must be in the form of pure oils. Some of those used by the Iowa City Craft guild are Siberian pine, lilac, rose, geranium and sweet orange.

After the final dipping, the tapers are trimmed across the bottom. Different types of candles made by the guild include 13-inch tapers, "floaters," mantel candles and "blackout" or emergency candles. The "floaters" are small, flat, flower-shaped candles made to float with flowers in shallow bowls. "Blackout" candles, made either in stripes or solid colors, are made in small glasses and are slow-burning candles which will last for 30 hours. Mantel candles are heavy candles which stand alone and will last for several days.

Anyone with old candles who is willing to donate them to be used as material by the guild, is asked to notify Mrs. Kirk Porter or Mrs. George Glockler, who will see that they are collected.

American Production Up to Allied Needs

War Undersecretary Declares Big Problem Is Shipping Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weapons are coming from American factories in quantities sufficient to supply our own army and meet the requirements of our allies, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said yesterday.

Despite huge expansion of the United States armed forces, Patterson said in an interview, and despite the fact that the per capita issue of weapons has been increased in the army, the major problem now was shipping, not production.

"I am sure," said the undersecretary, "that the production of armaments will keep pace with need, and ahead of shipping. We will be able to equip all the troops we can raise."

The increased issue of small arms resulted chiefly from the new danger of attack by parachute troops, Patterson said. Such units as air corps ground troops, supply personnel and anti-aircraft gun crews, not previously equipped with small arms, now are receiving them as protection against parachute troops, and the undersecretary estimated that these and other new requirements had doubled the army's demands for light weapons.

A serious shortage of certain raw materials still exists, he said, including rubber, nickel and copper, and there were still "tight situations" in the supply of such materials as aluminum forgings and parts.

The Japanese now control the source of about 95 per cent of the world's natural rubber, Patterson said, and production of synthetics in quantities sufficient to meet the country's requirements has not yet been realized.

Eugene A. Gilmore Presented Honorary Degree in Civil Law

President Emeritus Eugene A. Gilmore has been awarded the honorary degree of civil laws by the University of Pittsburgh.

Professor Gilmore, who was president of the University of Iowa from 1934 to 1940, is now dean of the law school at the University of Pittsburgh.

The Pittsburgh degree is the third honorary award conferred upon Professor Gilmore in the past 20 years. In 1922, DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind., awarded him the LL.D. degree and in May, 1941, he was made doctor of laws by the University of Iowa during the inauguration ceremonies for President Virgil M. Hancher.

Nine men could legally sign themselves as President of the United States before Washington. They were presidents of the Continental Congress.

Lobermen Capitalize On Cincinnati Misplay To Gain 1-0 Triumph

Riddle, Johnson Pitch Scoreless Ball Until Rookie's Error in 10th

CINCINNATI (AP)—Young Elmer Riddle and Veteran Si Johnson hurled shutout ball at each other for nine innings yesterday, but cellar-dwelling Philadelphia took advantage of a Cincinnati error in the tenth to win, 1 to 0.

Two singles, Substitute Third Baseman Joe Abreu's miff of Alban Glossop's bunt and Tommy Livingston's outfield fly produced the winning tally—a victory that as easily might have been the Reds in the ninth, had Abreu done better than hit into a double killing.

This was the picture at that time:

Max Marshall, former Columbus American association star, opened with a single and was sacrificed to second. Gee Walker drew the second of Johnson's two passes—intentional—but Abreu grounded to third, nipping Marshall and himself.

Johnson matched Riddle's pace, allowing five hits.

Jim Turnesa In Hale America Golf Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Corp. Jim Turnesa, soldier-golfer who was the sensation of last week's P.G.A. championship before he finally succumbed to Sailor-To-Be Sam Snead in the final, was added yesterday to the list of entries for the Hale America open golf tournament.

Invited to compete in the Chicago tournament June 18-21 on the basis of his triumphs over top-flight pros at Atlantic City, Turnesa yesterday telegraphed acceptance and his commanding officer at Ft. Dix, N. J., also had authorized his appearance in an exhibition in connection with the sectional qualifying rounds at Bloomfield, N. J., this weekend.

Turnesa is the 23rd player to be given a free trip to the main tournament at Chicago. Eighty other places will be decided this weekend when 584 survivors of last week's local tests will play their sectional qualifying rounds at 13 locations. Two Canadians, Gordon Brydson and R. T. Gray Jr., qualified at Toronto last week. The original entry list of 1,540 thus will be reduced to 105 starters in the final at Chicago's Ridgemoor club.

Carded as a wartime substitute for the abandoned national open championship and played for the benefit of the navy relief society, the Hale America open has been marked by special efforts to attract spectators. Besides Turnesa, Corp. Vic Ghezzi, last year's P.G.A. champion; Paul Runyan, Jug McSpaden and Herman Barron are listed for exhibitions at Bloomfield. Open Champion Craig Wood, Ben Hogan and Horton Smith will play at Buffalo, Bobby Jones at Atlanta, Walter Hager, Jimmy Demaret and Denny Shute at Detroit.

Schumacher Pitches Giants to 5-1 Victory Over Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Unlucky Hal Schumacher found the percentages in his favor yesterday and pitched the New York Giants to a 5 to 1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Giants made 13 hits, 12 of them off big Bill Lee before he was replaced by Vern Olsen in the seventh when New York sewed up the decision with a three-run spurge.

John Mize, Mel Ott and Willard Marshall each made three hits and Schumacher himself made two and it was the pitcher's single which opened the big seventh. Afterward Bill Werber walked, Marshall singled to score Schumacher and with one out, Mize doubled for another run. Olsen came to the mound and walked pinchhitter Hank Leiber to load the bases and the final run trickled across on an infield out.

Schumacher scattered nine hits and the only run against him was a homer by Glen Russell in the sixth. It was Schumacher's second victory after four losses and Lee's third defeat as opposed to seven successes.

Muscles Medwick Back in Good Graces Of Dodgers

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Joe (Muscles) Medwick has won his way back into the good graces of the Brooklyn Dodgers by that .322 batting average he was sporting up till yesterday.

The official family of the National league champions was decidedly cool toward the veteran slugger in the spring and it was freely forecast that Medwick wouldn't be a regular for Brooklyn this season, he probably would not even be with the ball club.

The fellow who was a star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals for eight years before being traded to the Dodgers in 1940 apparently had not recovered from his beating by Bob Bowman soon after coming to Brooklyn.

Even Manager Leo Durocher, who for many years had been his most intimate friend, said Medwick should look better. Once Durocher made a not-too-vague declaration that "I have a good friend on this ball club who is not going to be in the lineup unless he starts showing something."

Medwick refused to be ruffled. "Leo is just doing his duty and acting for what he considers the best interests of the team," he said. "By force of circumstances Medwick remained a regular leftfielder and circumstances have helped swell his batting average, too."

Because most of the Dodgers' leading hitters are left-handed batters—Dolph Camilli, Pete Reiser, Arky Vaughan and Dixie Walker—opponents have been using southpaws against them at every opportunity. This persistent policy has made the batting average of Camilli, last year's league leader in home runs and runs batted in, fade to almost .200.

But it has helped the high-handed Medwick attain a ten-game batting streak and given him new confidence at the plate. In addition he has slimmed down to playing weight and made many spectacular fielding plays.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Youthful Early Wynn checked the surging St. Louis Browns last night, limiting them to four hits as Washington pounded Denney Galehouse and Loy Hanning for 11 hits and a 4-1 victory. George McQuinn presented the Browns their only run in the seventh inning when he blasted a home run over the right field fence.

Brooks Break Loose, Trample Pirates, 17-2

Collect 20 Safeties; Reiser Gets 5 for 5, Including Home Run

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers went on a rampage yesterday to scuttle the Pittsburgh Pirates 17 to 2 with a 20-hit barrage while Rookie Les Webber subdued the Buccaneers to five safeties.

It was the tenth straight setback for the Pirates and their 16th in 18 games extending back to May 14 when they cruised into Brooklyn as a challenging second place club and dropped an entire three-game series.

Pete Reiser made five consecutive hits—a home run, three doubles and a single—but suffered a slight injury to his left ankle while sliding into the plate in the seventh inning and retired from the contest without getting a chance at the modern major league record of six hits in succession in one game.

All the other Dodgers except Webber and Shortstop Peeewe Reese also were relieved during the contest as Manager Leo Durocher turned the affair over to substitutes in the late innings. Augie Galan, just recovered from a serious siege of influenza, replaced Reiser in centerfield and made one hit in his only turn at bat.

The Brooklyn assault, good for a total of 32 bases, started with a three-run blast in the first inning against Lefty Aldon Wilkie, who was shelled from the mound in the third when the Dodgers staged one of their two four-run frames.

★ Jimmy Foxx Trade ★ Good Illustration of ★ Bad Waiver Rule

NEW YORK (Wide World)—Caught short:
That was quite a sendoff Jimmy Foxx got from the American league, with seven clubs waiving good-bye. The transaction sending Jimmy to the Chicago Cubs provided another illustration of the porous qualities of the waiver rule.

According to the rule the other American league clubs could claim him for the $7,500 waiver price, and Jimmy Foxx is worth $7,500 to any club just to sit on the bench and look meek.

Tom Yawkey probably told the other club owners he had a chance to get a nice price for Foxx from the Cubs, and if the other clubs would waive on him he'd return the favor some day. If they refused, he'd just withdraw the waiver, so all the other clubs could do without endangering possible future deals of their own waives.

And National league managers who protest ball and MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Heartened by the growing strength of the united nations forces on Australian soil, Prime Minister John Curtin yesterday shed his characteristic caution and dared the Japanese to try an invasion of the commonwealth.

"I defy the enemy to land large forces in Australia," he said in a speech which launched Australia's second liberty loan. The goal is $13,400,000; the first was $157,140,000.

"The enemy is being desperately driven to shortages in essential supplies which show themselves more directly in the forces of the axis powers than is the case with the forces of the united nations."

"And thus time runs against the axis in every theater."

since 1920 when the GOP primary total was 212,331.

Democratic Total Drops

The democratic total also showed a decided drop. With 27 precincts unreported, Herring had a total of 61,770 and Ernest J. Seeman, his isolationist foe, collected 17,798. The 80,000-plus democratic primary was about a third under the 121,000 total of two years ago.

The combined total this time promised to be about 315,000. The 1940 census reported 1,639,000 Iowans 21 years of age and over. Two years ago, President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie, between them, polled 1,211,170 votes in this state.

With fewer than two dozen precincts remaining unreported, Kraschel's total was 50,003, compared with 28,511 for his opponent, State Senator A. E. Augustine.

Regardless of the light vote, it was a day of big margins. Wilson carried 90 counties, Thornburg five and Dolliver four. Herring carried 98 counties and Seeman one, Winnebago.

In the republican gubernatorial race, Hickenlooper carried all 99 counties. In the democratic race for governor, Kraschel carried 97 counties and Augustine two, Mahaska and Sioux.

Whatever happens, the 1942-48 senator from Iowa will be a resident of Des Moines. Both Governor Wilson, who is an attorney, and Herring live here.

Two of the three "name" candidates suffered defeat. Dolliver, a nephew of Jonathan P. Dolliver, Iowa's onetime famed senator, failed to poll an impressive vote.

The name of Miller in recent years has been considered to possess political magic in Iowa. Mrs. Alex Miller, the late secretary of state, led the democratic state ticket by a wide margin in 1936 and Earl had fared well at the polls in his candidacy for secretary of state in 1938 and 1940.

In this primary, however, the political potency of that name evaporated before the overwhelming power of Hickenlooper.

New Mexico appeared on Spanish maps of the New World as early as 1546.

from the German trust, in order that she might make an intelligent vote.

Blumenthal suggested the directors make a statement under oath regarding any monetary returns received from the German trust.

Voluntarily, Farish told the suddenly quiet audience: "I swear under oath that I have never received any compensation or recompense from any other interests whatsoever including the Germans."

W. C. Teagle, Standard Oil's chairman, raising his right hand arose and declared: "I have never received any sum from the I. G. Farbenindustrie except directors fees of $75 for attending three meetings," and other executives present, Orville Harden, F. A. Howard, and F. W. Abrams, made similar statements.

Willenbrock, Nall Fail to Get Necessary Vote; 1st District Convention Will Choose Candidate

Winner Will Oppose Present Congressman Thomas E. Martin

Democratic candidate for congressman from the first congressional district will be chosen from Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock of Iowa City and Vern W. Nall, also of this city, at the district democratic convention.

By unofficial count, Willenbrock defeated Nall by 52 votes, 2,681 to 2,629. However, both candidates fell far short of the 35 per cent of the total vote necessary for nomination.

LaMar Foster, West Branch, and James M. Bell of Burlington, each received over 2,100 votes. Thus, no candidate in the democratic race received the percentage necessary.

Winner at the district democratic convention will oppose Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City, present representative.

Unofficial vote by counties in the first district was:

Prof. A. Tester Tells Kiwanians of Petrol Transport Problems

"It is not the shortage of petroleum that has necessitated gasoline rationing, but the lack of adequate transportation," Prof. Allen C. Tester of the university geology department asserted at the Kiwanis club luncheon in Hotel Jefferson yesterday.

One of the outstanding petroleum geologists in the nation, Professor Tester claims that the only petroleum problems that the United States has to contend with during the emergency are those of transportation and conservation.

"The western hemisphere produces 78 per cent of the world's oil supply," the speaker declared. He blamed the shortage of oil tankers, the principal conveyance of petroleum in the country, on three things: the increased demand for oil tankers by our army and navy; the steadily increasing number of sinkings by axis submarines; and the increased mileage the remaining tankers are being forced to convey the oil.

"The rationing of gasoline which is now being done on the east coast and in the northwest and is being suggested for enforcement in the middle west is a good means of conserving our oil supplies," Professor Tester said. "The war is preventing the discovery and development of new oil wells and rationing is a way to insure oil reserves for the future."

U.S. Takes Over 2 Western Bus Lines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government yesterday took control over operation of two long distance bus lines in western states, the Burlington transportation company and the Interstate transit lines.

An order of the Office of Defense Transportation order, effective June 10, affects service between Omaha and Los Angeles and between Omaha and Sioux City, Iowa.

The lines were directed to cut schedules, permit limited interchange of tickets, share certain terminal facilities, and alter their operations in other ways to conserve tires and equipment.

Each company was required to eliminate one daily round trip schedule over the routes. In addition the companies were instructed to revise their schedules to avoid duplicating departure times and to prove "reasonable frequency to service."

British War Production Head Arrives in U.S. To Confer With Nelson

WASHINGTON (AP)—The arrival of Oliver Lyttelton, British minister of production, for conversations with Donald Nelson, War Production Board chairman, and Harry Hopkins on "Anglo-American Combined Production Problems" was announced last night by the British supply council.

With Lyttelton was Sir Walter Layton, chief advisor on programs and planning, other members of his staff and representatives of the office of minister of defense and of the supply department.

Informed officials here viewed Lyttelton's visit as having a significant bearing on the question of opening a second European war front.

Man of the Airlines—Bob Pfeiffer of WSUI

—Heads Rhythm Rambles

"Stardust Means Rhythm Rambles," but it also means that Bob Pfeiffer is standing before the WSUI microphone ready to send his cheerful voice over the mid-west with the latest in dance tunes.

The good-looking lad from Detroit is WSUI's top announcer and a favorite with listeners from the Iowa campus to Ireland.

Ireland sounds far away—but Bob actually has some followers "over there." Recently he was notified by broadcasting officials that some of our soldiers in the Emerald Isle have requested that his noon-time show be rebroadcast to them by short-wave.

Bob began his radio career as a freshman here, and he still remembers the days when he used to walk the seven blocks from campus to the Phi Delta house repeating the WSUI station identification out loud—to himself. He had fallen head-over-heels for this radio announcing which he had undertaken as a hobby, and soon decided to change his pre-med major to radio.

The tall, neat senior has come a long way in radio since those freshman days, and is now chief announcer at the university's own station. Bob took over the job when his fraternity brother, Bill Sener, left to become a radio executive in Chicago—and with the job came the "Rhythm Rambles" show which is now his mark of identification on the air.

But "Rambles" isn't Bob's only show, for he is emcee of the big Thursday night program "The University Plays Its Part," as well as doing a regular crop of spot announcements every day. You can hear the "serious" Bob Pfeiffer at dinner time, when he brings a classical group of "Dinner Hour" recordings to WSUI listeners.

Bob is the regular baseball announcer and has broadcast all the Hawkeye games this past spring. From his observation booth above the field house he brings high lights and sidelights of Iowa's baseball games into the homes of those who cannot attend the games in person. He has also done basketball broadcasts, and is the featured announcer on the Iowa Highway Patrol's "You Never Know" show, as well as "Navy Time."

WSUI is not the only station to carry the rich Pfeiffer voice over the ether, for he has spent two summers working at WJBK, Detroit, where he announced, ran the control board and hunted up his own records.

Bob's draft number will be coming up pretty soon and so he will be off the air for a while. But he hopes that he can go back into the radio profession when victory comes and perhaps make a name for himself from coast to coast from behind a "micro."

Paris Pro-Nazi Shot By French Assault

PARIS (From German Broadcasts) (AP)—Albert Clement, editor-in-chief of the collaborationist newspaper Le Cri Du Peuple, was killed here last night and his wife was injured by an assailant who escaped on a bicycle.

The paper Clement managed is the organ of the collaborationist French peoples party, headed by Jacques Doriot.

Report Timoshenko Wounded LONDON (AP)—Reuters in a Stockholm dispatch yesterday quoted Swedish press reports as saying Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, Russian commander in the Ukraine, suffered minor wounds when a German dive bomber attacked the automobile in which he was inspecting the lines south of Kharkov.

600 German Patents Taken by Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—Valuable patents covering cargo-hauling airplanes, held by the Junkers company of Germany, were seized yesterday in a group of 600 German and Italian-owned patents, many of which were said to be of "immediate importance to the war effort."

The seizures were announced by Leo T. Crowley, alien property custodian, who said the processes and equipment covered by the patents would be made available to American industry.

Early attention was paid to the cargo plane patents at the instigation of the army. The government now is investigating the feasibility of large, long-range freight hauling planes to transport weapons and materials to war zones.

Besides more than 100 Junkers patents covering aircraft designs and instruments, the seizures included patents held by Arado, another German producer of military craft; patents owned by Robert Bosch of Germany covering electrical equipment in the ignition field, and German-held patents relating to the electron microscope, of high scientific importance.

About 3,000 patents already have been taken over by Crowley.

The fact that the president's request for war declarations was made just after the British aerial attack on Essen is also probably significant. Both Bulgaria and Rumania are within long range allied bombing attack from across the Mediterranean.

It is no more than 700 miles air-line from Egypt to Rumanian oil fields from which comes the bulk of German war fuel. The Washington war declarations will make those oil fields a potential target for American bombers as well as British.

Judge Wrede Hearing To Be Held Tomorrow

The hearing of Judge Wrede scheduled for yesterday morning will be held tomorrow before Justice of the Peace J. M. Kadlec.

The information states Wrede is charged with larceny for theft of a tractor cultivator from the farm of Fay Watkinson.

WPB to Take Control Of All U.S. Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war production board last night announced it would take control on July 2 over all imports into the United States, compelling foreign vessels to give preference to war-essential cargoes rather than shipments transported primarily for profit.

Among civilian commodities classed as least essential imports, which would be affected by the action, were coffee, cocoa, bananas and beef.

Seven Killed As Navy Bomber Smacks Hill Near San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Winging its way home from a night patrol, a navy bomber of the Catalina type crashed near Half Moon bay, killing seven of its crew of eight.

The only survivor was Ensign G. H. Apitz, 22, of Henderson, Minn. The plane hit a tree on a hilltop, sheared a wing, and was destroyed by fire. How Apitz escaped death he could not tell. Badly burned, cut, bruised and suffering shock, he managed to walk eight or ten miles in the darkness until he reached Half Moon bay, 20 miles south of San Francisco.

Interpreting The War News

War Against Balkan Puppet States May Decide Turkey's Plans

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON, Wide World War Analyst

Forthcoming American war declarations against a trio of axis puppets, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary, take on more than legalistic significance in the light of the president's request for congressional action.

Those three states, dragged into action by Hitler to aid his war plans, have been ignored in Washington for months. But now the White House deems it expedient to put them in the same basket with the axis proper as declared enemies of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt explained that they were preparing to expand their activities against the united nations.

Two of the three states, Rumania and Hungary, have sent token forces against Russia. However, if Hitler's summer campaign plan includes Turkey in its orbit, Bulgaria must be vitally involved. A Nazi march eastward against the Suez pivot of the united nation battle line must go through or around Turkey from Bulgarian jump-off. Germany would need urgently the all-out help of the vassal states either to awe Turkey into submission or to beat down her resistance if she chose to fight.

And with the United States at war with those states, Turkey obviously would be eligible for American lend-lease aid as Russia, Britain or China, provided she resisted. The Washington war declarations would clear the way in a legal sense for that and might go so far to determine Turkey's course if Hitler turned in that direction.

There are many other possibilities latent in the timing of the president's move. Not least among them is its further American war support for Russia. Rumor has credited Hitler with strenuous winter efforts to obtain additional manpower from Rumania and Hungary for his Russian campaign; and to draw Bulgaria also into that campaign. The American declarations would place this country at war with all Russia's actual or potential foes while Russia is not at war with Japan.

The reasonable deduction from that curious situation is that an ultimate and perhaps not remote Russian war declaration against Japan could result, its timing dependent upon what happens within the next two or three months on the Russian west front.

The pact with China provides that the United States will continue to supply aid to that country and to receive such reciprocal assistance as China may be in a position to supply.

Japs Start 2 New Thrusts

Chinese Forces Face Double Drive in East Province of Chekiang

CHUNGKING (AP)—Fierce fighting raged on three fronts in China yesterday as Japan started two new offensives and continued to make progress in the third through the coastal province of Chekiang.

Suddenly becoming a real threat, a Japanese thrust from Nanchang in Kiangsi province, which adjoins Chekiang on the west, was aimed south and east along the Kiangsi-Chekiang railway and at a possible junction with eastern columns. With two claws the Japanese thus were attempting to pinch off a large piece of eastern China.

Also menacing was the northward Japanese drive from the Canton area in the south China province of Kwangtung. This was following the Canton-Hankow railway, with another column driving through the mountains country east of the railway. (Domei reported the latter column had captured Tsungfa, 50 miles northeast of Canton, and had continued to advance to the north and north-east.)

Chinese troops resisted stubbornly and inflicted heavy casualties everywhere, but scored their chief successes in the Chekiang theater as they closed in on the elongated flanks of the Japanese and recaptured five towns.

The Chinese communique said these were Showchang, 25 miles northwest of Kinwha, the provincial capital which they have lost, Yungkang, 35 miles southeast of Kinwha, and Paishapu and Kenglouchen, points south of Showchang. A spokesman listed Shakichen, north of Showchang also as having been retaken.

Uncle Sam Signs Bill With China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and China signed a lend-lease agreement yesterday providing for continued reciprocal aid in the war against the axis and laying down the broad principles of a final settlement of lease-lease accounts.

The agreement, which Foreign Minister T. V. Soong signed for China and Secretary of State Hull for the United States, is the same in all substantial respects as the lend-lease agreement concluded with Great Britain last February.

Soviet Russia's approval of the lend-lease proposal handed to Ambassador Maxim Litvinov last week has not yet been received. The proposed Russian agreement also is substantially the same as the agreement concluded with Britain.

The pact with China provides that the United States will continue to supply aid to that country and to receive such reciprocal assistance as China may be in a position to supply.

Describing Biddle's decision as a "serious blow against the national effort for victory," the union in a telegram to the attorney general said Bridges had made a "splendid contribution" in speeding war shipments to the far east and added:

"We believe that all who are intensely devoted to the successful and speedy outcome of the war find it impossible to understand how Bridges, with a record of devoted work in our nation's cause can be denounced by you as subversive and found guilty of advocating the violent overthrow of our government."

Benjamin Franklin made no money from his inventions; he believed that they should be contributed to the public and refused to take out patents.

U.S. to Commission 100 Fighting Vessels This Year to Protect Vital Shipping Lanes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy informed congress yesterday that approximately 100 more fighting ships would be put into commission this year, ready to take battle stations on the far flung seacoasts and to guard the vital shipping lanes between this nation and its troops and allies.

The progress report on construction of naval vessels was furnished, in executive session, by Rear Admiral A. H. Van Keuren, chief of the navy bureau of ships, to the house naval committee, and was made public by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) with the admiral's permission.

Vinson described the committee as "well satisfied" with the report. Simultaneously, he announced committee approval of a $1,100,000,000 measure authorizing additional construction of 500,000 tons of auxiliary vessels, such as tenders and supply ships.

He served notice, too, that he would introduce today another bill measure for a major increase in the number of aircraft carriers, thus carrying out, he said, the navy's plan to "build and build" that type of ship and obtain an "overwhelming" aerial punch.

The Georgian emphasized that the approximately 100 ships to be commissioned during the next seven months did not include those which had been put through their trial runs and accepted by the navy through May 31.

In the last official disclosure of its strength on Oct. 27 of last year, the navy reported 346 fighting ships in service with 347 building. The loss of 38 naval vessels, of which 20 were of the auxiliary type and the other 18 fighting ships, has been reported since then.

Pierre Laval Appeals For Halt in Attacks On Occupation Forces

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—German pressure to stop attacks upon occupation forces in France led Pierre Laval to appeal yesterday to the militant workers syndicalist organizations for cooperation.

The implication was that more hostages than ever would be shot if sniping at German soldiers, train wrecking and bomb-throwings continued.

The recent sharply increased attacks on the nazis shows, said the Swiss newspaper Journal de Geneve, an effort by Frenchmen to create now their own "interior second front" while waiting establishment of a military front by the allies.

In addition to appealing to the worker organization for aid against "communists," Laval took up his troubles with Otto Abetz, Hitler's Paris representative.

The Journal de Geneve said Laval was aware that renewed outbreaks and agitation could have "deplorable results" for his government.

CIO Clothing Union Asks U.S. to Cancel Bridges' Deportation

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO), which lists 300,000 members, called on Attorney General Francis Biddle last night to grant Harry Bridges a rehearing and withdraw his deportation order against the west coast labor leader.

Describing Biddle's decision as a "serious blow against the national effort for victory," the union in a telegram to the attorney general said Bridges had made a "splendid contribution" in speeding war shipments to the far east and added:

"We believe that all who are intensely devoted to the successful and speedy outcome of the war find it impossible to understand how Bridges, with a record of devoted work in our nation's cause can be denounced by you as subversive and found guilty of advocating the violent overthrow of our government."

Report Madagascar Resistance Continuing

VICHY (AP)—Reports reaching Vichy yesterday said active hostilities between the French and British on Madagascar appear to have been resumed, ending the lull which followed the British capture of Diego Suarez.

These accounts said there was increased air activity on both sides. It was said the bulk of the island and most of its ports still are in Vichy French hands and are very difficult to reach because of mountainous terrain.

Laborers Stage Riot in Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) (Delayed by Censor)—Unskilled laborers on a large American project staged a demonstration in Nassau Monday, smashing show windows and looting fashionable stores, and two of the rioters were killed and others wounded before police and troops restored partial order.

While the Duke of Windsor interrupted a business trip in Washington to hasten back, conditions remained unsettled. A curfew from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. was established by the acting governor, Social Secretary W. L. Heape.

The demonstrations were protesting against wages of four shillings (about 80 cents) for unskilled labor on the project.

Laborers began marching into the city Monday morning. Their numbers increased as they approached the shops of fashionable Bay street, which skirts the harbor and contains most of the tourist city's swank stores, but the situation was reported under control.

United Nations Plan Post-War Settlement; No Policy Released

LONDON (AP)—Far-reaching discussions of post-war problems are in progress among Britain, the United States, Russia and the rest of the united nations, but the time is not yet ripe for a declaration of policy, the government announced yesterday.

Lord Cranborne, colonial secretary, told the house of lords that the discussions are at a "confidential stage" and that while the government "sympathized" with the desire for forming a post-war policy, there were "overwhelming reasons" against a unilateral statement at this time.

He singled out the Soviet Union for specific mention with these words: "We are in close touch with Russia, which is playing a big part in the winning of the war and has an equally great part in winning the peace."

The colonial secretary also welcomed China's participation "in the task of a world settlement."

His announcement was preceded by Lord Addison's assertion that German education must be placed under long-term control if there is to be peace in the future. He urged the government advance its proposals ready now for post-war world settlement.

Lord Cranborne said the first step in reconstruction was relief of starving populations and crippled economy. To this end, he added that allied agricultural experts and other representatives in London already were surveying post-war requirements.

Iowa Wesleyan Man Flies Here to Plan Graduation Broadcast

Lewis F. Chapman, publicity director of Iowa Wesleyan college at Mt. Pleasant, flew here yesterday to arrange for a broadcast of the college's 100th anniversary commencement exercises over station WSUI.

Iowa Wesleyan's convocation will be held next Monday with Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air corps, as speaker.

Roy Lanning, flight commander of the Military Aviation school at Lakeland, Fla., piloted Chapman to Iowa City.
