U.S., Soviet Sign Aid Pact

Britain, Russia Pledge to Keep Armed Peace

Eden States Nations Renounce Territorial Greed in New Treaty

LONDON (AP)—Britain and Soviet Russia have made an historic pledge to keep an armed peace against Germany after the nazis are beaten in this war, and have renounced territorial greed or meddling in the internal affairs of other nations, the government announced yesterday.

Disclosing the terms of a solemn treaty designed to last for at least 20 years, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons the story of last month's trip to London and Washington by Vyacheslav Molotov, and of the conversations which—in both capitals—resulted in a "full understanding" on "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

The treaty itself was signed May 26, five days after the Soviet vice premier had reached London, and just before he left for the United States.

It consummated negotiations of alliance which took place in Moscow in December of 1941, but went much further. Not only did it take cognizance of Russia's urgent needs in her fight for life against Germany; it also laid down an unprecedented basis for European security after the war is over.

Russia, it was understood, agreed not to press her earlier demand for a guarantee of her pre-war Baltic frontiers.

They promised: 1. "To afford one another military and other assistance and support of all kinds in the war against Germany and all those states which are associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe."

2. "To enter no negotiations with a "Hitlerite government or any other government in Germany that does not clearly renounce all aggressive intentions, and to make no separate peace whatsoever with Germany or her allies."

3. After the war, to "take all measures in their power to render impossible the repetition of aggression and violation of peace by Germany or any of the states associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe;" to give each other full military support in the event Germany resumes the fight after the war.

4. "To work together in close and friendly collaboration after the re-establishment of peace for the organization of security and economic prosperity in Europe. They will take into account the interests of the united nations in these objects and they will act in accordance with two principles: of not seeking territorial aggrandizement for themselves, and of non-interference in the internal affairs of other states." Midway Battle 'Better Than World Series'

American Army Flyers Relate Heroic Defense Of Pacific Stronghold

GENERAL EMMONS HEADQUARTERS, Hawaii (AP)—American army fliers who grinned and showed their planes through some very hot anti-aircraft fire in the battle of Midway island unfolded yesterday the story of their part in the epic scrap, which they termed "better than a world series."

Teamed with navy and marine fliers whose stories remain to be told, the army airmen helped to turn the battle in favor of the United States in the early stages after a powerful Japanese force staged a two-pronged sea attack on the strategic little island outpost.

Unbeatable Combination Theirs was a tale of unbeatable combination of American fighting men and machines, of men who fought until they were dizzy and then fought on, of planes that stood the test though called upon to do things they were never built to do.

How the army bombers got in their first licks at the enemy the afternoon of June 3, when a Japanese fleet was spotted far west of Midway, was told by General Willis H. Hale of Colorado Springs, (See MIDWAY, page 5)

SUI Instructor Joins Nebraska Summer Staff

LINCOLN (AP)—Joe R. Zimmerman, graduate assistant in dramatic art at the University of Iowa, yesterday was named summer instructor in speech and dramatics and director of the University of Nebraska's summer theater.

He received his A.B. degree from the University of South Dakota in 1940 and his M. A. in 1941 from the University of Iowa where he has been working for a doctor's degree.

U.S. to Train 2,500 Navy Pilots a Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the house naval committee reported last night the navy would be training pilots at the rate of 2,500 a month by the end of this year, as compared with 600 a month at the outbreak of hostilities.

In a statement approved by the navy, he said that the figures were based on information obtained in an executive session from Rear Admiral J. H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics.

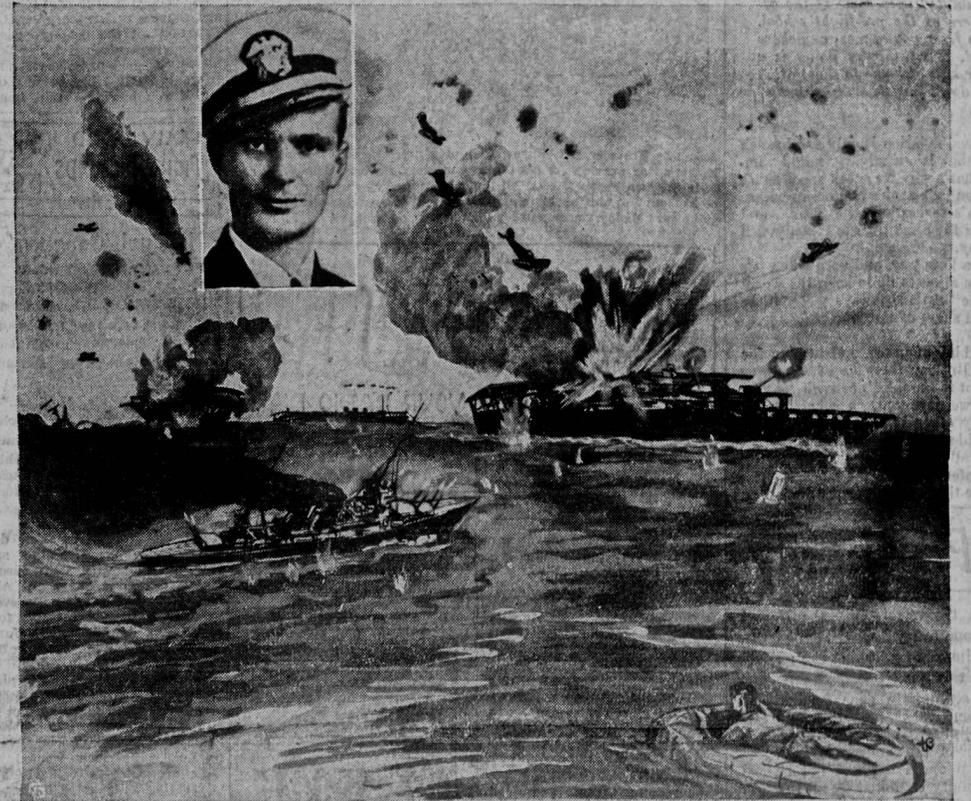

House Refuses to Abolish WPA Program; Passes $336,000,000 Appropriation Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house passed a $336,000,000 supply bill for the WPA after rejecting successive attempts to limit its efforts to war projects, to cut its funds by one third, and to turn relief administration over to the states.

The final action, sending the measure to the senate, came on a rollcall vote of 277 to 83, it carried only one change from the form in which it emerged from the appropriations committee, and amendment earmarking $6,000,000 to maintain WPA nurseries to care for the children of women working in war industries.

On a tellers' count of 123 to 119, the house turned down a motion by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, to slash the allocation to $112,000,000 on the grounds that war stimulus to industry had diminished its need.

ARTIST PORTRAYS DRAMA AS U.S. FLYER IN SEA WATCHED BATTLE RAGE

While Japanese destroyers and cruisers several times came close to running him down without spotting him, Ensign George H. Gay, Jr., clung to a life-raft and a cushion in the choppy Pacific ocean during the great battle between United States planes and ships and Japanese forces that had attempted an attack on Midway island. From his precarious "ringside seat," Gay saw Jap aircraft carriers turned into flaming infernos by American bombs and torpedoes. The terrible drama of the scene that unfolded before the ensign's eyes has been recreated, above, by Central Press Artist Alfred J. Buescher. Ensign Gay is pictured, inset.

Smokers Face Tax Increase

New Half-Cent Boost In Cigarette Prices Gets Committee O.K.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $107,000,000 increase in the tax bill of tobacco smokers, including a half-cent raise in the tax on a pack of cigarettes, was approved tentatively yesterday by the house ways and means committee, along with a doubling of the 5 per cent levy on transportation fares.

Moving swiftly through a series of treasury department recommendations for increased excises, the committee then proceeded to debate a proposal to impose a new tax on soft drinks. A vote is expected today.

Here are the committee's tentative actions yesterday: 1. Cigarettes—Increased the tax from a flat rate of $3.25 a thousand to $3.50; estimated to produce $65,500,000 in additional revenue. Treasury had asked for a $18,600,000 increase.

2. Cigars—Increased the graduated scale of rates to a schedule of $2.50 a thousand on those retailing at not more than 2 1/2 cents to $35 a thousand on those costing 30 cents or more; estimated to yield $15,800,000. The treasury's program called for a $13,100,000 increase.

3. Smoking tobacco—Increased the rate from 18 cents to 24 cents a pound; estimated yield $18,000,000. Treasury had asked a 36-cent rate to produce $26,800,000.

4. Cigarette papers and tubes—Tax of 1/2 cent for each package of 25 papers or tubes, estimated yield $7,800,000. This was in accord with the treasury recommendation.

Germans Strengthen Push Near Kharkov As Sevastopol Holds

MOSCOW, Friday (AP)—The Germans have thrown strong tank and infantry forces against Russian defense positions on the Kharkov front, and fierce battles have developed, the government announced today.

Stubborn fighting continued to rage in the Crimea, where the Germans were smashing against the Soviet naval fortress of Sevastopol. The red army was reported inflicting heavy losses on the nazis in repulsing their attacks.

In three days of fighting there alone, the official midnight Soviet communique stated, nearly 15,000 German officers and men were killed. The nazis lost more than 50 tanks and 60 planes in the same period.

The communique stated there were no significant changes on other sectors, although earlier bulletins had reported action over a wide front which, combined with the great land battles of the Crimea and the Ukraine, brought the war on the Russian front to the highest pitch of the year.

There was mass aerial combat at the Black Sea and again far to the north in the Arctic.

Nowhere did the Germans appear to be making any important progress.

2nd Kharkov Battle There were no details on the second battle of Kharkov, matching two old adversaries, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko and Field Marshal General Fedor Von Bock, who already had faced each other in the battle for Moscow last year and in the first battle for Kharkov this spring.

The latest reports said Bock this time was taking the offensive, apparently seeking to regain ground lost to Timoshenko last month or to test out and wear down Timoshenko's remaining manpower and war material.

U.S. Merchant Vessel Rams, Sinks Axis Sub

HAVANA (AP)—A United States merchant ship rammied, shelled and apparently sank a submarine which had machine-gunned her as she was nearing a Cuban port about ten days ago, press dispatches from a Cuban coastal city said yesterday.

The submarine surfaced a few miles offshore. Two men came up on deck and immediately began machine-gunning the U.S. ship. Artillerymen aboard the American ship replied, with two of their shots striking the conning tower.

The captain then put his ship across the submarine and the success of his maneuver was apparent when a great oil slick welled up to the surface.

Japs Impeded At Chuhsien

CHUNGKING (AP)—Menacing the Japanese advanced position in western Chekiang province, strong Chinese regular and guerrilla forces have sprung attacks behind the lines which the Japanese pushed past them in the encirclement of Chuhsien, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's high command announced last night.

A communique declared that it walled Chuhsien still held out astride the vital Chekiang-Kiangsi railway into the interior of China, and said the Chinese forces behind the Japanese lines were destroying bridges and even recapturing some small villages.

Two fierce fights were reported raging for control of the last 170 miles of the railway still denied to the Japanese.

Czecho-Slovaks Vow Revenge for Killings Since Heydrich Death

Official Spokesman Of Exiled Government Lists 690 Executions

LONDON (AP)—The Czecho-Slovak government in exile vowed revenge yesterday for the mounting wave of executions which have reached perhaps 690 since the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, "protector" of the Czech homeland.

An official Czech spokesman said that in addition to the 340 executions officially announced, at least 350 persons were shot when the nazis wiped out the little village of Lidice.

These "barbarous acts" were protested in a formal note to the allied governments which said: "The Czecho-Slovak government will take the necessary steps which it may regard as desirable to secure retribution for these atrocities and will relax no efforts to bring to account all those who committed these crimes or who were in any way responsible for them."

(Fears of just such reprisals were expressed, meanwhile, by the secret German radio station, known as the "station of the European revolution," in a broadcast recorded in New York by the CBS listening station.

"Comrades," the announcer said, "if we don't do away with the gangster band of nazis very soon, if we wait until Hitler is defeated on the field of battle, then the flood of revenge will break down on us. No affirmation that we had nothing to do with the nazis will help us then.")

General Wladyslaw Sikorski, president of Poland, broadcast against "mass shootings" of Poles, "torture of tens of thousands" in concentration camps and "deportation of more than 1,500,000 people."

Agreement Allows Mutual Aid In Winning Both War, Peace

Aligns Russia With Great Britain, U.S. and China In Bloc to Establish Sound World Economy After War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia last night signed an agreement providing reciprocal assistance in winning the war and for cooperation in practical measures to "create a better world hereafter."

Similar in all essential respects to the lend-lease agreements signed February 23 with Great Britain and on June 2 with China, the new Soviet agreement replaced previous arrangements under which Russia last November was granted a non-interest bearing loan of $1,000,000,000, followed early this year by supplemental credits of unrevealed magnitude.

Under the original offer made by President Roosevelt and accepted by Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin, repayment of the non-interest bearing loan was not to begin until 5 years after the war. Under the new agreement, signed by the Ambassador Maxim Litvinoff and Secretary of State

Hull last night, the final determination of terms and conditions of settlement was deferred "until the extent of the defense aid is known."

Allies Agree 2nd War Front To Be Created

Molotov's Washington, London Visits Climax In Mutual Aid Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Great Britain and Russia gave Adolf Hitler new cause for jitters yesterday by disclosing they had reached complete understanding in momentous conversation on many war problems including "the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

The understanding was arrived at during secret visits by Vyacheslav Molotov, the Soviet foreign commissar, to London and Washington. Russia and Great Britain entered into a 20-year mutual assistance treaty which among other things pledged them to "common action to preserve peace and resist aggression in the post-war period."

As a result of Molotov's stay in Washington from May 29 to June 4, the White House yesterday issued a statement which declared: "In the course of the conversations, full understanding was reached with regard to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942. In addition, the measures for increasing and speeding up the supplies of planes, tanks and other kinds of war materials from the United States to the Soviet union were discussed. Further were discussed the fundamental problems on cooperation of the Soviet union and the United States in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom-loving peoples after the war. Both sides state with satisfaction the unity of their views on all these questions."

OPA Extends Time Of Emergency Gas Rationing to July 15

WASHINGTON (AP)—The office of price administration last night extended the emergency gasoline rationing program in the east coast to July 15, on which date the permanent, coupon rationing system will go into effect.

Effective at 12:01 a.m. July 15, the basic unit value of "A" and "B" cards now in use will be increased from 3 to 6 gallons, to provide sufficient motor fuel to tide card holders over the two week extension period.

The temporary plan originally was to expire June 30. Card holders who have exhausted all the units on their ration cards by June 15 must apply to their local ration board for an extra allotment.

OPA said, however, that such an extra ration should be for gasoline needed between July 1 and July 15.

The new men will spend the day getting equipment, including clothing, books, and athletic gear and in straightening their newly assigned quarters in the Quadrangle dormitory. The next group arriving June 25 will begin to occupy Hillcrest dormitory.

Physical efficiency tests of jumps, push ups and chinning will be given to each of the cadets on their arrival at the base. The results of these tests will be recorded and will be checked with results of similar tests to be taken by the men just preceding the completion of their three-month training period. The purpose of the procedure is to enable the navy to determine the effect of the physical training course on them.

Eighty of the 242 men arriving will be from the University of Wisconsin.

Second Naval Cadet Group Arrives Here

The second contingent of 242 cadets arrived at the "midwest's Annapolis of the air" yesterday to begin their career as naval flyers. This is the second group of men to take part in the extensive program; the first group starting May 28.

The men, coming from all parts of the United States, streamed in by all means of transportation, and were very enthusiastic, and more than a bit excited about the prospects of beginning their new careers as flyers.

One hundred ninety-one of the 242 cadets arrived yesterday afternoon and the remaining part reported to the officer of the day by midnight.

The new men will spend the day getting equipment, including clothing, books, and athletic gear and in straightening their newly assigned quarters in the Quadrangle dormitory. The next group arriving June 25 will begin to occupy Hillcrest dormitory.

Physical efficiency tests of jumps, push ups and chinning will be given to each of the cadets on their arrival at the base. WHAT IOWA'S HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATORS CAN REALLY DO TO HELP WIN THE WAR

This is a note to the high school superintendents, principals and teachers of Iowa and nearby states, on the campus now for the regular summer session.

You have asked yourselves as high school educators, "What can I, personally, do to win the war?"
You are well aware that the future of your students now in your home communities literally is the future of America itself. There no longer is any doubt that unless America is invincible, the future actually doesn't hold all the opportunities for personal leadership and personal growth it has held in all our past history.

Unless America has the power to sweep the axis ideology away and keep it away, there is little point in planning for the future. There is no future without freedom, and unless we win our victory decisively, there will be no peace.

The war isn't over yet. Whenever you get that hopeful feeling, take a look at a new map. We're a long, long way from victory. Don't forget that.

What can you do to win the war? Why actually you're in key positions to do a tremendous job, and it's right down your educational alley.

High school graduates now are eligible for the Navy's V-5 program—naval aviation—if they are physically and educationally qualified. Your great opportunity is to see that they're qualified.

Keep them in school, by all means. The navy will be the first to tell you that in this man's war, educational training is as important as burning patriotism. You can't fly a pursuit plane with patriotism alone. But ask Mrs. Colin P. Kelly what can be done with patriotism plus a fundamental knowledge of what makes a pursuit plane tick the way it did for Kelly.

You'll have students (you've had them already) who think their conscience tells them the only thing to do is to leave home, town and school and get into the thick of things.

But very few "Butch" O'Hares and Colin Kellys did the job that way. They had the kind of background you're giving your students these days.

Give the kids mathematics, and make them understand why. Translate their patriotism into a lust for learning immediately what they'll need to know later. And give them all the mathematics your curriculum can stand—algebra, plane geometry, physics, chemistry, yes, and trigonometry and the other big ones if you have them.

Then they'll have the mental background.

And teachers, keep them fit and healthy. Translate their patriotism into a burning desire to build strong bodies to go with their minds. You might even drop across Iowa river one of these days, and get acquainted with some of the cadets over there at the pre-flight school. There are no finer young men, anywhere in the world. What they're doing is a goal for your kids at home to shoot at. A lot of them, don't forget, are just out of high schools.

Of course naval aviation is only one branch of the service, but it's a mighty, mighty important one. That's why we speak specifically of it here. If you look at the vast ocean wastes where America's seahawks are fighting, and will be fighting for some time to come, you'll understand why.

This will be a long war, and even when it's over, we'll have a job to do to keep the world free, and Uncle Sam's seahawks will still be doing their full share of the job.

It's nice to think of peace, and to plan for it these days. But for the sake of all we've known and want to keep, let's be realistic, too.

That's why we urge you, on behalf of the navy and every other branch of the service, to keep your kids in school, train them physically and mentally and spiritually, for flying—with the greatest pilots in the world.

Make 'em see that's the highroad to victory.

Toward a Post-War Prosperity

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Economists Disagree on Method For Avoiding Another Depression

WASHINGTON—I have a letter from a Harvard economist who holds that maladjusted production was the cause of the ten years of pre-war depression, and he wants production adjusted for post-war prosperity.

A letter from an economic analyst on an important committee in Sioux City simultaneously tells me that prices caused our trouble and he wants prices fixed at a high figure.

A business man in the east made a speech in which he held that sales and marketing was the cause and should be the remedy.

I have come to distrust all mechanical economic formulas. The new deal tried them all and they did not work to remedy the condition with which we were faced.

The price theory of the Sioux City economist was tried first in the gold devaluation and other ways. The value of gold was changed to stimulate prices but prices did not move.

The theory of the Harvard economist was tried in the farm program, with arbitrary corrections of maladjusted production. A business counter-part of that was tried in the spending policy to create artificial production.

These two steps failed to do the job, until the war came along and the necessity for unprecedented war production required the expenditure of inconceivable sums, which, of course cannot be maintained permanently.

The sales and marketing theory of the business man has not been tried. It does not involve a mechanical formula. Instead, it assumes only that government will be used for benevolent encouragement of the democratic capitalist system, not for discouragement.

It proposes reform through prosperity, a sharing of the wealth by increasing it for all, not by dividing what is left in depression.

This business man Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing Company, says there were an estimated 6,000,000 homes without bathtubs in this country during our ten depression years, 19,000,000 without telephones, 10,000,000 rural homes without central heat.

"Lack of buying power?" he asks. "Not at all. Lack of ingenuity in exchange of goods and effort. We could have produced and financed these needs and more. We failed to do the selling job."

People will have money after this war he points out. Savings are accumulating.

Our system a failure? Why, says Mr. Fuller, from "a poor nation, 95 per cent of whose people were ill-clothed, ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-educated, we have risen in 150 years to the supremacy of the world, over all other systems."

Was this because nature endowed us lavishly, or because we were larger, older, better than others? Says Mr. Fuller:

"China has an older civilization. India has a larger population. Russia has comparable natural resources. England is a greater empire. France also was a republic. Germany has highly trained and skilled workers. Japan has a longer work day.

"But in all the world, only the United States could hope to produce enough planes, tanks, guns, ships and everything else quickly enough to win this war."

Mr. Fuller could have gone further. He could have pointed out that this unprecedented accomplishment is attributable to the new unification of purpose as between government, capital and labor and the typical American ingenuity exhibited by all three in this war effort.

He could have expanded his cure-theory beyond the sales and marketing phase, which are his special fields, into the whole field of government-citizen relations for the future, in which the government emphasis should strive to help business to develop and expand, encouraging citizens to work, and thus accomplish their own greater security through savings and effort, urging profits for all, for business, for labor, for citizen, punish disunity wherever found in all three groups alike, in a democratic way.

Our trouble the past ten years, as the success of our war effort shows, is that we have had our head down, looking only at unemployment figures, grouping for security at the bottom of the hole instead of at the top, trying to share a depression wealth which did not exist, instead of creating real wealth for all.

The depression stunned us into this despair. Even when we had 9,000,000 unemployed for a time, we had 40,000,000 or more employed whose interests were of at least equal importance, although you never heard of them, only of the unemployed. We looked at the bottom side of everything.

I think a "sales and merchandising" policy under unified cooperation of government, capital and labor is all this country needs.

This does not mean a return to the old system, because that cannot be done. The taxation, regulatory and labor standards have been permanently established in our reform era. We should merely go on now and use them democratically and wisely.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

Amusing Bits About Manhattan

NEW YORK—There's a men's barber shop of 57th street between Eighth and Ninth where you can't get a shave. They only cut hair. They do it scientifically, that is, with respect to the contours of your head. They say no two heads are shaped alike. They say one type of haircut will make a man look like a million, but the same cut will reduce somebody else to absurdity. They take this very seriously. The cost is 50 cents.

"Ain't had a chance to cool in many a bright way with clam-bakes all the way from the Land O' Darkness to the sunny southland. Though a little beat for dross and saucers under the glims, Old Cab and all the cats are ready to send hep-cats and leekies both blowing their tops at the Strand. It would be just like home cooking if you and the Main Queen would lamp us when you get a chance and say hello."

This lucid, matter of fact little note is from Cab Calloway, and it is his way of saying that he and his Cotton Club boys open an engagement at the Strand theater on Broadway soon. Although "beat for dross," which means he's tired and has circles under the eyes because of continuous engagements all over the country, from Harlem ("Land O' Darkness") to the Gulf, he and the hep-cats (boys in the band) are going to really GIVE, and they'd be pleased if you and the Main Queen (your best girl) would drop around to catch the show and say hello.

All this is Harlemese, or jive right out of the revised edition of Cab's Cat-O-Logue, an up to date dictionary of Harlem slang. Some of the terms and definitions in this dictionary are singular, to say the least. For instance, "beat" means tired, exhausted. If a cat says "I'm beat to my socks," he means "I'm lacking everything." A "battle" is a very homey girl, a crone. "Beat up the chops" means "come on, say something. Be loquacious." "Dry long so" means "fate, or 'that's life for you'." A "nickel note" is a $5 bill. "Trilly" means somebody is going to leave, depart, take off. "I'll dig you in a few ticks" means "I'll meet you in a few minutes."

Here's something to remember about Frank Sinatra. He's Tommy Dorsey's star male vocalist. He's from Hoboken, N. J. Frank wanted to become an engineer, and he went to Stevens Tech, but instead he became the singing sensation of the 1940 season. Frank speaks Italian, loves spaghetti, once held a job ("for a few paragraphs") as a cub reporter, likes to swim and play ping pong. He dresses casually, mostly in sports clothes that run to blues and browns. He's reasonably tall with blue eyes and lots of brown hair. Married and has a little daughter.

Habitual 'Gangsters' For Jap Screen Roles

HOLLYWOOD—The movies are turning out some odd-looking "Japanese faces" to meet the war-imposed shortage of authentic Nipponese actors.

In "Little Tokio, U. S. A."—story of espionage in Los Angeles—once thriving center of Japanese life and commerce—the chief Nips are portrayed by actors usually associated with another form of gangsterism.

Preston Foster, as the detective who uncovers the spy ring, matches wits with Harold Huber, George E. Stone, and Abner Biberman, a trio who even in make-up would scarcely fool your Aunt Minnie unless Aunt Minnie is willing to give them the benefit of her imagination.

Huber, for instance, has to play all his scenes full-face. He looks passably oriental that way, but in profile he slips out of resemblance to any Japanese character living or dead. Biberman wanted to wear spectacles—a valuable aid to creating a Japanese illusion—but Stone got in his bid first. Stone, who played Hirohito in a comedy, looks fairly convincing. Biberman, with liquid adhesive slanting his eyes, looks the part better than any of them. Of Russian-German descent, born in Milwaukee, Biberman has played characters of so many varied nationalities that one more—even though Japanese—could be taken in stride.

There's a funny story about this actor, who came from the stage four years ago to play in "Gunga Din." Once Metro spent $50,000 revising schedules so that Biberman could play in two of its pictures at once, and about the same time 20th Century-Fox grew enthusiastic over his work in "The Rains Came." Feeling pretty good about it, Biberman decided he would be safe in buying a home in the vicinity of both studios. He settled in Brentwood—and for two and a half years all his work was done at valley studios, the other side of the movie colony. When he finally got a call from 20th, the Brentwood location was fine—but then he learned that most of his scenes would be shot at the studio's Hollywood lot, almost as far as the valley. . . .

The Black Swan, a beautiful old sailing vessel, rolled and pitched on a threatening sea under the grey skies of a sound stage—but only visually. Maureen O'Hara, coming up on deck just in time to see the Jolly Roger raised and thus discover she was in the midst of pirates, couldn't get sea-sick no matter what "storms" came. All the boat's motion was provided by huge arc-lights, high above the vessel, seeing-sawing on platforms to throw rising and falling shadows about the star. . . . Incidental information: Miss O'Hara is ambidextrous, can write as well with her left as with her right hand, and can write backwards with ease. All this and beauty too. . . .

Where do these dancing skaters come from? Not from professional ice-skating ranks nor from hockey. The boys and girls in Sonja Henie's "Iceland" are movie dancers who learned to skate when the ice pictures came into vogue—because rhythm and grace were deemed first in importance, ease on the ice something to be acquired. . . .

Former President of Danzig Senate Will Lecture Tonight

Rauschnig to Talk On Secret Nazi Aims Of National Socialism

Dr. Hermann Rauschnig, former president of the Danzig senate and author of four expository books on Hitler and his national socialism, will present the first lecture of the university summer series tonight at 8 o'clock on "The Secret Aims of National Socialism."

Weather permitting, the lecture will be conducted on the south union campus; if not, it will be moved to Macbride auditorium. Admission charges will not be required.

Known as the "anti-Nazi Nazi," Dr. Rauschnig was at one time one of Hitler's closest associates. He allied himself with the party in 1931 and was soon elected to the presidency of the Danzig senate.

His intimacy with the Fuehrer was short lived, however, for when he refused to persecute Jews, priests and members of rival parties in Danzig, he was forced to resign his presidency and later to flee from Nazi influence entirely.

Dr. Rauschnig fled to Poland, then to London and in October, 1941, to the United States to take out American citizenship papers.

He has written four well-known works—"Revolution of Nihilism," "The Voice of Destruction," "Redemption of Democracy" and "The Conservation Revolution"—and is working on another at the present time.

Until the publication of "The Conservation Revolution" a few months ago, Dr. Rauschnig had never told the complete story of his part in the Nazi domination of Danzig during 1933 and 1934. In this work he explains how he accepted the reassuring promises of Nazism at their face value and learned the truth too late to do much more than escape with his own life.

Power and Plunder
"The Nazi theories are merely window dressing for befuddling the masses," Dr. Rauschnig has disclosed. "Germany's real rulers, a small Nazi inner circle, have but one program—power, one plan—plunder, and one tactic—terror."

Having owned a large farm at Warnau, near Danzig, at one time where he specialized in animal breeding, Dr. Rauschnig intends to resume his farming in this country, and declares that he will never return to Germany.

Physical Education Conference Enters Second Day's Program

National leaders, the armed forces and the civilian population are asking that the nation be made physically fit as quickly as possible, Prof. Mabel Lee, director of physical education for women at the University of Nebraska, asserted yesterday.

Professor Lee spoke at the opening session of the 13th annual physical education conference in Old Capitol, where about 250 college and university physical training directors assembled yesterday morning.

President Virgil M. Hancher welcomed conference delegates and Prof. Loraine Frost of the physical education department for women of the University of Iowa described a leadership project here. Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman, director of athletics and physical training at the naval pre-flight school, spoke on the physical education program of the school. The conference enters its second day today, and will close tomorrow noon.

Yesterday, conference delegates heard Professor Lee define physical fitness as body, mind and spirit all working together. The speaker pointed out that the physical educators' two-fold job includes body conditioning and recreation for morale.

Two-Fold Program
Professor Lee said the most difficult two-dimensional. In the present, she said, there must be intensive work with all ages; future long term planning must fall back on the school program.

BOSOX CAPTURE THIRD CONSECUTIVE GAME

Down Browns In 8-7 Game

St. Louis Builds Up Early Five Run Lead On Three Home Runs

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox pushed across a run in their half of the ninth inning yesterday to win 8-7 for three straight victories over the faltering St. Louis Browns.

The Sox were forced to overcome a five-run lead, which the Browns collected off starting hurler Yank Terry in the first two innings. They accomplished that feat in the fifth inning only to have the Browns tie it up again.

Home runs accounted for six of the seven St. Louis tallies. George McQuinn blasted the first one off Terry in the opening inning with Harold Clift Board. Frank Hayes drove another into the left field screen with two mates on base to send Terry to the showers. Tony Criscola hit the third circuit wallop in the sixth to tie the score.

With St. Louis trailing 6-7 going into the ninth, pinch hitter Chet Laabs opened with a single, moved to second on a bunt and scored on McQuinn's single.

Stan Ferens took over the Browns' relief burden for the second successive day. Finney, the first man up, doubled. Williams was given an intentional pass. Doerr and Tony Lupien went out easily, but Jim Tabor settled things by slugging a single which scored Finney.

Tennis Heads Expect Big Tournament Play During 1942 Season

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—In spite of shortages of everything from gasoline to gate attractions, tennis officials are looking ahead to a 1942 tournament season almost as big as usual and a lot more interesting. They also point with some pride to the fact that the kids, recent graduates of the junior development program carried on for several years by the United States Lawn Tennis association, are the ones who will make it that way.

Since Dec. 7 tennis has lost practically a whole generation of established players as the war took most of the group between 20 and 30 years old off the courts. Of last year's first ten men, only three still are available and two of them won't be playing often. Even such older players as Wilmer Allison and J. Gilbert Hall are in the army.

REVIOLA REX Shows Perseverance In Auto Racing

DES MOINES (Special)—Revivola Rex of Ontario, Ia., is one of the best examples of perseverance in the automobile racing industry.

Operating a small garage in a small town, Rex became interested in the high speed business by following the career of the late Gus Schrader. Rex studied Schrader's career and he arrived at the right conclusion that Schrader was the motor monarch because he knew more about the mechanics of a racing machine than the other top flight drivers.

This conclusion prompted Rex to start building his first machine, an outfit which should have been known as the "Junk-yard Special," as he stuck second-hand parts together, tuned them up and went racing. Naturally he couldn't compete successfully with the top flight stars, but his outfit was better than the average, and he was soon on the winning side of the financial ledger.

With the money he earned racing, Rex purchased the motor that Emil Andres drove with considerable success at Indianapolis and on Chicago-area tracks. He constructed his own chassis, made some motor improvements, and is now set for a bid with the "name" performers, the drivers who have been hogging the spotlight in recent years.

Rex will wheel his revamped outfit on the Iowa State Fair Grounds track Sunday afternoon in competition with the finest lot of cars and drivers possible to assemble, according to Promoter John A. Sloan. He is confident that this time he will be among the heavy money winners. He feels that his knowledge of mechanics will enable him to get more speed out of the motor than it was capable of turning up when Andres handled it, and now his major problem will be "keeping it between the fences," as the race drivers say.

Rex's official entry swells the positive starting list to 18 cars, and Sloan is confident at least 20 others will be in the fold before entries close Friday night.

cept the Public Parks tournament, and most of the other important events will be held—perhaps 400 in all against a normal total of 500. Reports from California and the early eastern tourneys indicate that entry lists are bigger than ever and Holcombe Ward, U.S.L.T.A. president, believes there will be so many good young players that there may be trouble holding the national singles field down to the usual 64 men.

Tribe Smacks Nats On 4 Runs in Ninth For Sweep of Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—A four-run uprising in the ninth inning brought the Cleveland Indians an 8-6 victory over Washington yesterday and a sweep of the three-game series.

Trailing by two runs going into the final frame, the Tribesmen produced their four runs on hits by Oris Hockett, Jeff Heath and Les Fleming, two walks, an outfield fly and a passed ball. Cleveland counted three scores in the sixth on doubles by Jim Hegan and Fleming, a walk and a Washington infield error. The Tribe's other run came in the eighth on three hits and a sacrifice.

Washington clubbed Lovell Dean for three runs in the first on a walk and singles by Roy Cullenbine, Bobby Repass and Al Evans' double. The Senators counted three times in the eighth on hits by George Case and Repass, a sacrifice, two walks and two Cleveland errors.

Few Weaknesses In Mickey Cochrane's All-Star Nine

By GAYLE TALBOT
WASHINGTON (AP)—There are few if any obvious weaknesses in the ball club picked by Lieut. Mickey Cochrane to represent the army and navy in the benefit game at Cleveland July 7 against the winner of the National-American league all-star contest on the previous day.

The former great catcher, determined to gather a club that will play the big leaguers to a standstill, has requested aid of practically every diamond star now in service. And he has promised that he will get them, even if it means flying one of his nominees all the way from the Panama Canal zone.

Mickey thus will be able to field a starting line-up that any major league manager—barring possibly Joe McCarthy of the Yankees—would be tickled to see playing for him every day of the week.

With such pitchers as Bobby Feller, Johnny Rigney and Mickey Harris and sluggers like Hank Greenberg, Cecil Travis, Don Padgett and Sam Chapman to slam in the runs, the soldiers and the sailors should give an excellent account of themselves in Municipal stadium.

The one handicap Cochrane's player's might have, that of "rustiness" because of their absence from daily competition, undoubtedly will be reduced by the 10 days of hard practice they will have at Great Lakes naval training station prior to the game. Some of them, too, have been playing ball more or less regularly since they joined the colors.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that Feller will be Cochrane's starting hurler. Frankie Pytlak who used to receive Feller's stunts at Cleveland, probably will do most of the backstopping for the service stars.

Flock May Schedule Night Tilts at Twilight

NEW YORK (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers will play a twilight game with the Chicago Cubs at Ebbets Field Monday, but whether the contest will start at 6:30 or 7 p.m. depends on the army's attitude regarding turning on the lights, if necessary.

Pres. Ford Frick of the National league said the league would relax its rule against turning on of lights for twilight games. Previously, Larry MacPhail, head of the Dodgers, had pointed out that there would not be a glow from the lights until around 9:30 p.m. and that it might not be necessary to light the park, even if the game started at 7 p.m.

It also was understood the Dodgers were considering playing at twilight their other games, originally scheduled for night.

Printers' Tournament Moved From Boston

DETROIT (AP)—The annual union printers baseball league tournament originally scheduled for Boston but canceled because of the war will be supplanted by regional competition July 18 and 19 at Brooklyn and Indianapolis, it was announced yesterday, with the winners invited to play off for the title here Aug. 8 and 9.

NCAA Track Meet Today Features Stars

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—This evening on Nebraska university's red cinder track champions in six of the eight N. C. A. A. running events will get an idea of just how hard it's going to be to retain those honors.

At 6:30 p.m. (CWT) the annual national meet, which has attracted approximately 200 athletes representing the best that 49 universities and colleges could produce, will get under way with the running of the first heat of the 440 yard trials.

To defend the honors they won last year are Barney Ewell of Penn State, in the 100 and 220; Bob Wright of Ohio State, in both hurdles, Campbell Kane of Indiana, in the 880, and Hubert Kerns of Southern California, in the 440.

These boys will get a look at their opposition in today's trials. The seventh running champion—Les MacMillan of New York university, in the mile—will meet his opposition in the finals tomorrow night.

Two of the lads have more than a one year championship to protect. Ewell who has won both the dashes two straight years, and Kane in the 880.

Chief Attraction In the field the chief attraction will be Al Blozis of Georgetown, holder of the N.C.A.A. shot put record and favored to repeat for the third time in that event and to win the discus.

Blozis, regarded as the most likely of all the athletes to set a new record, will get his first chance in the evening trials.

For team honors, there just isn't any talk except for Southern California's 17 man squad. The Trojans are seeking an eight straight team title and they're rated a near cinch to get it.

Cubs' Claude Passeau Annexes 9th Victory As Phils Bow, 7 to 1

CHICAGO (AP)—Claude Passeau pitched a five-hitter yesterday, his eleventh straight complete game of the season, and won his ninth victory of the season while the Cubs whipped the Phillies, 7 to 1, in the final of the series.

The only run the Phils were able to score resulted from a fumble by Nicholson in the second inning after Nick Etten had singled.

Passeau only Sunday was released from the hospital after having suffered an attack of appendicitis. On June 3 he pitched against and beat the New York Giants while in the throes of the appendicitis attack. Yesterday's triumph was Passeau's seventh in a row.

Bill Terry Likes Giants' System Of Ball Farms

NEW YORK — What makes a good baseball farm system? Offhand the obvious answer would seem to be good farms, but there is more to it than that. The classification of the various clubs, for example.

Bill Terry thinks the lineup of his New York Giant farm system is just about right, although he admits it's more or less on a miniature scale and he'd like to expand if conditions were favorable, which they are anything else but right now.

"We own or have working agreements with seven clubs now," he says. "We had two other class D clubs—Natchez, Miss., and Milford, Del.—but their leagues have folded. We have three class D clubs, one class C, one B, one A-1 and one AA. That's a good lineup."

This is Terry's first year in devoting his full time to farm club operation, and he picked a hot time for the debut, what with the war and all its varied repercussions making minor league baseball a jittery proposition.

However, he's sure that, barring the unforeseen, the Giant clubs still operating will finish the season. And what's more, make money. "We have had to turn off the lights at Jacksonville," he says, "and that undoubtedly will hurt attendance there. However, our farm system always has made money, and attendances have been better everywhere this year, except at Salisbury, N. C., where the club hasn't been doing so well."

"We've lost I should say about 60 players to the armed services, but the suspending of the Natchez and Milford clubs has given us players to fill in any gaps that may come up."

"I think we have the best bunch of minor league managers you'll find anywhere. Take Freddy Lindstrom at Fort Smith, for example. He has one of the finest class C clubs you'll see anywhere. It's leading the league now. Just listen to this..." Terry read off a list of scores showing the Fort Smith club really is pounding the ball.

"The transportation of the clubs is assured," he continued. "Fort Smith was traveling in a chartered bus, and when that was banned, the club started using the players' private cars."

It was suggested that the players

Little, Nelson Team Takes Lead in Toledo Pro Golf Tournament

TOLEDO (AP)—Lawson Little's putter was the best club in the business yesterday as the "grand slam" amateur king of 1934-35 scored seven birdies in the opening round of the eighth annual Inverness invitational best-ball matches.

The 1940 national open champion, with the aid of two birdies by Partner Lloyd Mangrum, came home with a best-ball count of 62, nine under par, to take a one-up victory over "Lord Byron" Nelson, host pro, and long-hitting Jimmy Thomson.

The Nelson-Thomson 63 was the second best score of the day among the eight pairs of professionals.

Results of the day's opening round in the race for $7,650 in cash and war bonds, with the best-ball scores:

Ben Hogan and Jim Demaret (65), four up on E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Denny Shute (69). Henry Picard and Sam Byrd (67), two up on Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper (69). Little and Mangrum (62), one up on Nelson and Thomson (63). Horton Smith and Chick Herbert (67), even with Jimmy Hines and Herman Barron (67).

Thus Hogan and Demaret, the transplanted Texans who copied the first prize a year ago, were off in front in the race for this season's top award of $2,150.

might not take kindly to wearing out their own tires in this manner, but Terry had an answer for that. "What do they care," he said. "They want to play baseball."

Explaining what he considered a good classification grouping, Terry said it was a good idea to have several class D clubs, including some not so good.

"There are good class D leagues and bad class D leagues," he said. "You can use the poorer class D clubs to give all the kids a try-out. We've had as high as 15 youngsters on the Milford payroll during a season."

"The class D leagues are the proving grounds, and if the boys make good we have clubs in every high classification group to take care of them. Sometimes a boy will jump a classification. The opportunity is there."

The Jersey City club, which the Giants own, look, stock and barrel, is the pride and joy of the Giant officials. The Giants have a working agreement with Oklahoma City in class A-1, and own Jackson, Miss., in class B, Fort Smith in C, and Oshkosh, Wis., Bristol, Va., and Salisbury in class D.

If Mell Ott and the Giants, and the Jersey City club, have fine seasons Terry says he won't ask for anything more.

Army Pay Bill Sent To the White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress dispatched to the president yesterday the military pay adjustment bill which would raise the minimum pay of soldiers, sailors, marines and coastguardsmen from $21 to $50 a month.

Congressional action on the measure was completed when the senate approved by a vote of 69 to 0 the scale favored by the house. The $50 base rate had been assured Monday when the senate on the motion of Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) rejected a suggested compromise of $46 a month.

The bill would raise the salaries of all members of the armed services up to and including second lieutenants and ensigns. Officers of higher rank would get increased rental and subsistence allowances. If President Roosevelt approves the legislation, the new rates will become effective as of June 1.

WASHINGTON—

ately open the question of exactly what was the understanding reached as to a second front. There have been reports, however, that Russia was dissatisfied because no second European front had been established, and the fact that an understanding had been reached with her was hailed enthusiastically by members of congress.

It contains no mention of Japan but to observers in this country, there seemed little reason to doubt that Tokyo must view with foreboding this disclosure of closer understanding between Moscow, Washington and London.

The White House did not make known what officials accompanied Molotov here. Presumably, however, there were high representatives of the red army and navy since it was announced that those participating in the conversations for the United States included General George C. Marshall, the army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, the chief of naval operations and commander in chief of the fleet.

Other participants included

Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet ambassador; Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

MIDWAY—

commander of the Hawaiian bombardment command.

Transports largely made up this enemy fleet. Attacking from medium altitude, the flying fortresses hit and damaged one cruiser or battleship, a transport and a destroyer. Next morning they took to the air again with marine fliers and the latter dive bombed enemy ships, causing further damage.

The flying fortresses attacked from high altitude this time and hit an enemy carrier. Further hits may have been obtained, as all reports have not been received.

Enemy carrier based planes meanwhile were attacking Sand island in Midway. They were followed by dive bombers and pursuit planes which strafed the area.

Nearly two hundred enemy planes took part in the attack, and were met by marine fighters and a veritable curtain of steel from the ground defenses. Runways were not bombed. Apparently the enemy expected to occupy the islands and use them as an airbase for further operations.

A critical moment of the battle came, General Hale said, when the enemy air units withdrew and the heavy bombers returned for fuel and more bombs.

"But the enemy didn't come back," said Hale. "They were too busy protecting themselves. From then on the Japanese were withdrawing and it was a series of mopping operations.

A foreign office communique, read to the house of commons by Eden, contained the reference to a second front. For obvious reasons, there was no elaboration.

The military talks which led to the agreement on this vital military point were attended by all the British chiefs of staff and by two senior Russian officers, Maj. Gen. Issayev and Rear Admiral Kharlamov.

These conversations, carried further in Washington, also were concerned with improving deliveries of planes, tanks and other war material to Russia.

The Anglo-Russian treaty, embracing more than five-twelfths of the world's surface and nearly 700,000,000 of its people, marks the emergence of the Soviet Union from isolationism and in its final form represented a sacrifice by Russia in the interests of international harmony.

This was the concession not to press her demand for a guarantee of her pre-war frontiers. These included in the Baltic states, Finnish territories ceded under the treaty of March 15, 1940, Bessarabia and northern Bucovina—in all an area of 96,841 square miles with a population of nearly 10,000,000.

Before the discussions began Russia also was intent on reaching agreement concerning the Polish-Russian frontier. These demands were withdrawn at once when Molotov realized that Britain was dealing with Russia in good faith, and once he saw there was no ground for Soviet fears that Britain and the United States wanted to see Russia fight a war of exhaustion with Germany.

Iowa Towns To Have File Of Farm Help

State Director Says U.S. Hopes to Use All Available Workers

A farm labor registration and placement service in every Iowa town, village and cross roads trading center is the immediate objective of the United States employment service in its "Food-for-Victory" campaign announced yesterday by William S. Barnes, state director, and Harold N. Hoyt, farm placement supervisor for the service.

Local community representatives will register all available farm help for use in planting, tending, or harvesting crops.

Advance estimates place the probable number of local employment centers as high as 1,200 for an average of about 12 in each Iowa county. At these centers farmers will be urged to make known their future need of workers so far as can be anticipated and available workers will be registered.

Each local center will operate as a clearing house where the farmer may go in need of help and where the worker may go in search of work.

"Iowa farmers are planning to increase production in accordance with requests from the war production board," said Hoyt. "With normal seasonal conditions sufficient farm help now appears available in most sections of the state.

"Increased use of improved labor-saving farm machinery, higher wages now being offered for farm help, better working conditions, and the return of many workers from non-defense industries to the farms from which they were recruited, were cited as contributing factors to the outlook for an adequate supply of farm labor.

"Never before have the farm crops of Iowa been so important and never before has it been so necessary to make sure that there will be no serious shortage of manpower on the farms.

The president and the war production board have asked for greatly increased amounts of food machinery. This neighborhood plan of recruiting farm labor is the answer of the United States employment service to any threatened shortage. This method can be used to make it a simple matter for each community to survey its potential manpower and mobilize for any emergency.

"Each local employment center will report daily to the state's central employment service office the number of workers available, weather and crop conditions, demand for workers and other valuable information. In case of a shortage in one section immediate steps will be taken to shift available workers from another section.

"Farmers are going to cooperate this year more freely than in the past. They will share their machinery with less fortunate neighbors in order to get the work done.

"The United States employment service offers this plan to the farmers and farm workers of Iowa to meet any emergency and to take care of any shortage in farm labor. The sponsors of the plan strongly urge the active cooperation of the farmers and farm workers and all available farm manpower in every community as the best and most practical of any farm labor shortage that may arise."

State Fair Officials Announce Final Plans For 7-Day Exposition

Iowa's wartime state fair will be seven days instead of the customary ten days and will be held from Aug. 28 through Sept. 3, according to final plans for the exposition announced yesterday by fair officials.

All major activities of this summer's fair will center around the "food for victory" campaign and the Iowa farmer's part in the war effort, Secretary L. B. Cunningham said.

Principal entertainment features during the seven days of the fair will include racing, circus and thrill events in the afternoons. Musical shows and fireworks spectacles will be held in the evenings.

The program each day will be augmented by special contests including the state's second annual quiz derby, farm women's chorus tournament, state horseshoe tournament and many other contests open to Iowans.

Interpreting The War News

Nazi War Makers Get New 2nd Front Notice From Allies

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World Analyst

What sticks out like a sore thumb in announcements of the London-Washington-Moscow treaties is the phrase "a second front in Europe in 1942."

The rest could have been taken more or less for granted. But the formal statements that second front measures for 1942, this year, not at some indefinite future time, formed the main theme of discussions with Molotov had a meaning all their own.

The Anglo-British war planners have taken a leaf from Hitler's own war-of-nerves manual, and enlarged and expanded on it. They are deliberately telling any German radio listener who dares Hitler to pick it out of the ether what they propose to do and when they propose to do it. They conceal only the where and how of projected operations.

No German who has defied Hitler to harken to British or American radio news broadcasts can have much doubt about the situation. Such listeners have more than the wreckage of Cologne and Essen by which to judge second front possibilities of the near future.

They have been told, for instance, that those thousand-planes-a-night shots are but a starter to test out the technical arrangements for air warfare on that unprecedented scale.

Army in England Discouraging They know, also, by allied announcements, that a considerable American army is in the British Isles training in invasion tactics. They were promptly informed of the arrival in London of an American army-navy staff charged with the execution of second front plans. No secret was made, quite to the contrary, of the arrival in British waters of a powerful American naval task force, including craft heavily enough gunned and armored to deal with Germany's powerful von Tirpitz.

That disclosure was particularly disheartening for thoughtful Germans who heard it. It meant that Japanese intervention to involve this country in two-front war had not diverted American attention from the Atlantic to the Pacific exclusively.

And now comes official word of the Molotov visits and their results, headlined by the formal declaration from London and Washington that the most urgent matter under consideration was the setting up of a second front against Germany now, this year. That gave an official time element to it all, a time element duly revealed instead of concealed.

Exactly what either Washington or London may know about the state of public morale in Germany at this moment is not revealed. There have been whispers from Scandinavia and Switzerland, particularly since the bombing of Cologne, of growing resentment that Hitler had depleted his western defenses to attempt renewal of his Russian offensive. They seem credible, nor can it be doubted that whatever else is to come in second-front operations in the months ahead, a formidable allied attack on German nerves is already in full swing.

Oasis Garrison Bir Hacheim Is Withdrawn

LONDON (AP)—The melting pot garrison of Bir Hacheim, target of at least 13 land assaults and uncounted bombings in the battle of Libya, was withdrawn from that former southern anchor of the British line during the night.

Announcement of the withdrawal came last night from the middle east command at Cairo as a sequel to the German high command's statement that Bir Hacheim fell yesterday morning to axis forces that stormed the fortified oasis from their encircling lines.

The fortified oasis had been dearly sold to the axis by the hardy fighters under the Alsatian General Koenig. Most of its defenders were Free Frenchmen. There were also leathery French legionnaires from Syria, and fighters of other nationalities, even Germans opposed to Hitlerism, and a contingent of British Indians.

Military circles in London said that the immediate effect of the loss of Bir Hacheim was to assure shorter and safer axis supply lines. Of itself, the loss was not, however, deemed a vital setback for the British and their allies.

Transfer of Pastors Announced by Bishop

Bishop Ralph S. Cushman of the Methodist St. Paul area announced yesterday that Dr. W. O. Ecklor, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church of Cedar Rapids, is being transferred to the Endion Methodist church of Duluth, Minn., effective Sunday.
