U.S. Establishes World Wide Military Air Transport System

To Carry Men, Materials, Mail To Army Posts

Gen. George, Head Of U.S. Ferry Unit, Will Direct Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Establishment of a world wide military air transport system to carry men, materials and mail to the army's far-flung outposts was announced yesterday by the war department.

The new service was set up by consolidating the army ferrying command and transport operations under one head with Brigadier General Harold L. George, commanding officer of the ferrying command, as commanding general.

General George told a press conference, at which the announcement was made, that the new command "would provide air transport to meet our military operations throughout the world."

Commercial air lines, including Pan-American Airways, which already is at the disposal of the army, will be used wherever practical but the military transport system is to operate wherever it is essential from a military standpoint, the general said.

George indicated the army intended to carry more and more freight to outlying forces by air. He said jeeps and small tractors already had been transported long distances by air, that the large cargo plane was in the immediate future, and that the aircraft industry was now turning out four-motored planes with "extreme range."

The new command will have control over every air transport activity of the nation, other than naval, within and without the United States, including priority rights for travel on commercial air lines.

George said everything would be done to preserve the integrity of the commercial system, both domestic and foreign, but added "we will militarize wherever militarization is essential."

Allied Bombers Blast New Guinea Island

Attack Enemy Vessel Entering Lae Harbor, MacArthur Reports

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Saturday (AP)—Allied bombers heavily attacked Lae and Salamaua on partially Japanese occupied New Guinea island and blasted a Japanese ship coming into Lae harbor, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported yesterday.

An allied communique said the latest raid was more destructive than any previously reported.

The raid had been described earlier but today's communique said, "Further details indicate that the damage inflicted on enemy buildings and other installations was much greater than originally reported."

An enemy supply ship, approaching Lae, was bombed and machine-gunned in low level attacks, the communique declared, "despite heavy anti-aircraft fire."

Two probable hits were scored on the ship's bridge, it was stated. Eighteen heavy Japanese bombers attacked the allied air base at Port Moresby, New Guinea, "without serious damage," the communique said.

Between six and 10 enemy planes were shot down, MacArthur's headquarters reported, while four allied planes were lost. Two of the pilots were rescued.

Enemy Sub Base? Possibility that an enemy submarine base has been established in the remote delta of the Gurupy river, separating the Brazilian states of Maranhao and Para, is seen in reports that naval and air forces are carefully searching the area. Several enemy subs have been sunk in the vicinity. The area is shown on the map above.

King Sees Iowans In Mock Battle

By RICE YANNER

WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN NORTHERN IRELAND (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth, for the first time in this war, have watched United States forces demonstrate the power with which they intend to help British armies in repulsing any German invasion of the island kingdom.

In a full-dress mock battle, the boys from the United States put on a show which displayed everything from operation of an electric doughnut maker to medium tanks in their full striking power.

Bouncing in Jeeps Accompanied by United States Ambassador John G. Winant, the monarchs spent one full day of a three-day visit to Northern Ireland chatting and dining with United States troops and bouncing around in jeeps.

At the army's Ulster encampment, they applauded a precision drill by Iowans, saw anti-tank gunners score 14 direct hits on a moving target and ate roast beef in the enlisted men's mess hall.

At the beginning of their day, their majesties reviewed part of the armored force, watched the infantry pass, and rode in bouncing tanks through pits and over bunkers while sirens wailed over the din of make-believe battle.

Queen Elizabeth asked weather-browed Sergeant Reuben Krage, of Elroy, O., half a dozen sharp questions about his howitzer. "It is a beautiful weapon," he (See AEF, page 5)

Wallace Votes CCC Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a move that may save the civilian conservation corps from extinction, Vice President Wallace broke a senate tie yesterday by voting to supply the agency with $76,520,000 for the coming fiscal year.

Confronted with a 32-32 ballot which would have rejected an amendment restoring CCC funds previously eliminated by the house, Wallace cast a deciding vote for the first time in his tenure as presiding officer of the senate.

The CCC funds were part of an appropriation bill for the labor department federal security agency and other bureaus. The senate, after increasing the house figures by more than $98,000,000 to a total of $1,157,800,000, passed the measure, and it will presumably go to a senate-house conference which will seek to reconcile the differences.

Among other things the measure called for a $5,000,000 increase over house-approved social security funds to finance a nation-wide survey of manpower.

Bremen Reported Still Burning After Thousand-Bomber Attack

Heaviest RAF Raid Of War Ruins Nazi Submarine Arsenal

LONDON (AP)—Fires kindled Thursday night at Bremen, principal target in what was probably the RAF's biggest night so far, were still burning yesterday afternoon in that port city, heretofore known as the German arsenal for the battle of the Atlantic.

British reconnaissance planes hunted Bremen out by daylight to study her ruins and brought back that word, announced here last night.

Relays totalling more than 1,000 bombers converged on Bremen last night in a precision movement at first facilitated by the moonlight and northern lights and later by the beckoning glare of bomb-set fires which studied the city.

German twin-engine night fighters, searchlights in their noses, challenged the attacking waves. At least two of these were shot down. Aircraft of the royal Dutch naval service, Polish and Czech squadrons and the royal Canadian air force's demon squadrons participated with the RAF bomber, coastal and army cooperation commands in the battering of Bremen.

The attack was jammed into 75 minutes, or a quarter hour less than the recent all-out assault on Cologne.

Early last night, American-made Boston bombers attacked Le Havre, while other squadrons swept the French coast from Cherbourg to Boulogne. Two RAF planes and one German fighter were destroyed.

The Bremen attack was the third of the great city-by-city annihilation raids, and indications were that the number of attackers exceeded the 1,130 which razed Cologne on May 30 and the 1,036 which devastated Essen two nights later.

The air ministry announced that a single force of "more than 1,000 bombers" chose Bremen for their main blows while a second force of bombers and fighters made intensive harassing attacks on German airdromes in the low countries. This latter force was believed to have been in the hundreds.

Although the night's total loss was 52 planes, highest in RAF history, informed persons said this was less than five per cent of the participating aircraft (thus indicating that more than 1,040 planes were used.)

Bremen is the home of Deschmag Werke, which builds submarines, and a Focke-Wulf factory, making sea-ranging Condor planes. In addition it has large shipyards, warehouses and oil refineries.

In the series of massive attacks moving slowly northward across western Germany, industrial experts in Britain estimated conservatively that 25 per cent of the industrial production of Cologne, Essen and Bremen combined had now been knocked out.

Government Charges 21 Corporations With Anti-Trust Violation

Illegal Restrictions On Acid Production Basis for Indictments

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Twenty-one corporations and approximately 100 individuals were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws in the manufacture and sale of acids described as vital to defense industries.

The firms indicted included such large corporations as E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company of Wilmington, Del., and the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

There were six indictments and Otto T. Engelhart, special assistant to the attorney-general who directed the government's case, said they "involve charges of conspiracy to establish and maintain throughout the United States non-competitive price levels of sulphuric acid, oxalic acid, formic acid, muriatic acid, chromic acid and bi-chromates."

Engelhart said the acids are vital to industries manufacturing airplanes, tanks, submarines, steel, aviation gasoline, trucks, textiles and explosives.

He added that the government charges that the arrangements entered into by the various corporations and individuals "constituted a serious threat to the war production effort."

The broadest indictment was that covering the manufacture, sale and distribution of sulphuric acid. It named 15 companies and 37 individuals.

Thirteen individuals and five companies were named in the formic acid indictment; which charged the defendants had for six years "conspired to fix, control and stabilize the price of formic acid."

Possibility of Bigger Sugar Rations—OPA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although present supplies of sugar in this country are "far below normal," the office of price administration announced yesterday it was exploring the possibility of bigger sugar rations.

Any decision on a "modest increase" in the present weekly ration of one-half a pound per person would necessarily depend on prospects for shipments from Puerto Rico and Cuba in the next six months, OPA said, because stocks of sugar now on hand "do not of themselves justify any increase."

SCOUTS BEGIN SCRAP RUBBER COLLECTION

Iowa City Boy Scouts (l. to r.) Billy Heincy, Dick Emmert and Don Fryauf got a head start on the scrap rubber collection drive yesterday. The Scouts are shown as they deposited their collections at the Bob and Henry filling station. All local scouts have been asked to help in the two-day drive beginning at 7:45 Monday morning. Residents are asked to have their rubber scraps ready when the scouts call. City service stations will close from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday and send trucks to collect the scrap. The ten county areas will be canvassed Monday and Tuesday by trucks donated by local garages and transfer companies. All youths participating in the collection should get a receipt for the number of pounds of rubber collected in order to participate in the contest sponsored by the Moose and Elks lodges. Prizes of $25, $10 and $5 in war bonds and stamps will be given to the youths bringing in the most rubber. Collectors have declared that no article is too small to donate.

Senate Passes Naval Ship Bill After Attempt to Cancel Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate, after discussing naval matters in an extraordinary secret session, summarily rejected yesterday an effort by Senator Clark (D-MO) to cancel the navy's authority to construct new battleships.

Then, it passed by voice vote an $8,500,000,000 naval expansion bill authorizing the building of 500 combatant ships—carriers, cruisers and destroyers.

The bill, which now goes to the White House, does not provide for any battleships. However, the navy is left free to build, or not, as it chooses, battleships previously authorized. Rep. Vinson (D-GA) recently disclosed that the navy planned to differ construction of certain battleships in order to concentrate on aircraft carriers.

Clark said the navy had decided to build no new battleships at present, and hence the authority should be cancelled. But when his amendment came to a vote his was the only audible affirmative vote.

Eastern Coast Asks Mid-West Gas Rationing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayors of eastern seaboard cities asked yesterday that the government extend gasoline rationing to the mid-west primarily as part of a program of increasing movement of petroleum, particularly oil for home heating, to their own communities.

At a conference attended by Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes and Transportation Chief Joseph B. Eastman, the mayors suggested specifically that rationing be instituted in western New York state, western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan "and such other midwest states as may be necessary."

There was no immediate hint as to official reaction to the proposal which contemplated that rationing should continue in the mid-west until a new pipeline, already approved, is completed from Texas to Illinois. The pipeline is expected to go into operation in about six months.

Meanwhile, the office of price administration announced details of the permanent gasoline rationing to be instituted in eastern states July 22.

It disclosed officially that the basic unit would be four gallons and that the minimum-value cards would have 48 units intended to last for a year.

Walter P. Hedden, an official of the port of New York authority, outlined for the mayors an overall program aimed at bringing 200,000 additional barrels of petroleum products to the east daily.

Nazis Pound British Defenses; Reds Withdrawing at Kharkov

Germans Claim Soviet Stronghold of Izyum Taken As Russian Lines Bend Before Tanks; Liberators' Bomb Tobruk

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT Associated Press War Editor

The battle for Egypt was taking form last night with all the swift violence that armored warfare can command, but at the zero hour of Hitler's African and Russian offensives his great homeland naval arsenal, Bremen, lay burned and broken by the largest single aerial smash of history.

Before the Matruh line, chosen by Britain's hard-hit eighth army, the German armored columns and the British mobile covering forces were fighting the preliminaries to the struggle for Alexandria, the Nile and Suez. The striking power of the U.S. army's air force's "Liberator" command was turned on Tobruk harbor in an effort to choke off Marshal Rommel's axis supplies.

It seemed quite possible that by last nightfall the main forces were in collision before Matruh, which is 130 miles deep in Egypt and 160 miles from the Alexandria naval station.

Russia's Ukraine front bent backwards before a massive onslaught of nazi tanks which now is five days old, and Sevastopol on the Crimea fought through another day of savage storm.

Reds Withdraw Struggling to hold a straight, unbroken line protecting the Caucasus from the north, the red army had retreated into terrain not previously contested, giving up the rail junction of Kupyansk and the west bank of the Oskol river, 60 miles southeast of Kharkov.

Nazi broadcasts also claimed the capture of Izyum, about 40 miles below Kupyansk near the confluence of Oskol and Donets. If this was true they held all the triangle southeast of Kharkov formed by these two rivers.

No confirmation of the Izyum report was contained in the mid-night Moscow communique, which said merely that the Germans still were attacking in the Kharkov sector.

The Germans said they seized 21,827 Russian prisoners, 100 tanks and 250 guns in "outflanking" the Russians here.

"Too Little" Again Right now the trouble in Africa was that the British eighth army did not have enough big planes, or tanks or guns, and it was up to the eighth army to fight and hold until help could be transported from Palestine, Syria, Iraq and Iran, and later from the united nations arsenals of America.

Outside Matruh, Rommel was mustering tanks estimated variously as from 230 to 600, and some experts thought he might be able to bring up 100,000 men for his all-out blow.

Meanwhile Tokyo broadcast congratulations from the naval command to "the supreme commander of ground forces in the eastern Pacific"—i.e., the Aleutian toe-hold theater—and to Admiral Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the combined fleet.

Brilliant Successes These gentry were praised for "brilliant successes over a vast area" of the east Pacific this month, "despite stormy weather." But the Aleutian commander's name was not disclosed, an invariable Japanese trick when they are not certain of the success of a developing operation. Yamamoto will be remembered as the man who said he would "dictate peace in the White House," but who ran into "stormy weather" recently in the battle of Midway.

On the soil of free China, the Japanese meanwhile were coming under Chinese siege at Nanchang, southeast Kiangsi province, and thus the large-scale enemy mop-up drive in east China struck another snag.

U.S. Industry Outstrips Axis

President Announces Nearly 4,000 Planes Produced During May

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announcing the completion of nearly 4,000 planes and more than 1,500 tanks in May, President Roosevelt said yesterday that "We are well on our way towards achieving the rate of production which will bring us to our goals."

He warned, nevertheless against over-confidence and said there were serious production problems ahead, some of them arising particularly from shortages of raw materials.

(Though axis plane production is a closely guarded war secret, President Roosevelt's report probably means this country is now (See PRODUCTION, page 6)

Strikers to Return As Coach Company Settles Wage Dispute

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Officials of the Yellow Truck & Coach Co., said yesterday they had agreed to pay night shift workers for 20 minutes of time lost during a practice blackout, and that 11,000 strikers would return to their war production jobs today.

In return, an announcement following a joint union-management parley said, spokesmen for the United Automobile Workers-CIO promised to discipline leaders in the unauthorized walkout.

Be ALIVE on the Fifth--

A Statement by the National Safety Council

July 4, 1941, found the United States celebrating its independence. July 4, 1942 will find it fighting to preserve that independence.

To gain the victory that will insure future celebrations of Independence Day, America needs every ounce of manpower and every scrap of vital war material she can muster into service.

This year, of all years, the nation cannot afford the huge toll of life and property that Fourth of July accidents invariably bring.

For that reason, the National Safety Council and 130 other national organizations are uniting in a mass attack on Fourth of July accidents of every kind.

It has been the ironic custom of the United States to celebrate Independence Day by turning it into a day of horror and bloodshed through wholesale disregard for common sense, care and caution.

This year America cannot afford the luxury of this annual jamboree of carelessness. This year manpower and materials must be saved for the all-out victory drive.

The curtailment of cars and tires and the rationing of gasoline may clear the highways this year of part of the traffic jam that always has contributed so heavily to the huge Fourth of July toll.

It is a fact, too, that many loyal Americans regard it as a simple patriotic duty not to drive their cars on pleasure trips when their government is asking them to conserve vital resources.

Nevertheless, there still will be heavy traffic on the Fourth. Many factories will keep on working over the holiday, that no time may be lost in turning out the weapons of war.

Hundreds of thousands of war workers will be going to and from their jobs, despite the holiday. To this necessary travel will be added the holiday burden—lighter than usual, but still a burden.

Curtailment of traffic does not eliminate the causes of many holiday accidents. There still will be drownings, fireworks, falls and other holiday hazards—all of which lurk near our homes as well as a thousand miles away.

This fourth of July, as never before, public officials, traffic officers and the public must unite in preventing accidents that delay victory. THE PRESERVATION OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE DEMANDS IT.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

JULY--Annual National Disaster

Killed—9,600.
Injured—900,000.
Cost—$300,000,000.

That was July, 1941! At the devastating pace of 13 people killed every hour, July swept through the United States like a hurricane.

Every year accidents mount to a staggering total in July. Over the past five years, July's Accident Losses have been 15 per cent higher than that of the average month.

Every 13 days of the average July as many Americans are killed by accidents as lost their lives in the Revolutionary war.

Approximately one of every 150 persons is injured by an accident in July.

Two of the important reasons for July's heavy slaughter are the Independence Day celebration and HEAT.

The cost of America's traffic during the month of July last year—including holiday trips and everyday driving—was 3,290 lives.

Public accidents, other than motor vehicle, reach the year's peak in July. For 1941, this meant 2,100 deaths and about 250,000 injuries. The July totals were more than twice as great as those of any winter month.

In the latest year for which complete figures are available, July topped every other month of the year for lives lost by drowning, excessive heat, electric shock and food poisoning. It bowed only to January and March in the matter of deaths from falls.

One-fifth of all drownings occur in July. Most of these happen at beaches where there is no supervision.

In July an average of 70 people are killed every day of the month by falls—in the home, at work and in the street.

Another factor which contributes to July's high accident rate is fireworks. Despite widespread legislation against this common cause of blindness and infection, many small children continue to stage private fireworks displays, with disastrous results.

July's usually clear weather is no safety panacea to motorists. Four out of five accidents occur when the weather is clear and the pavement dry.

Will July, 1942, leave an equally bloody trail behind? The answer depends on whether or not we, the individual citizens, are willing to take the simple precautions which will stop this national disaster.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Now Who's Balancing The American Dollar?

WASHINGTON—The house banking and currency committee has been in a state of stupefaction since hearing recent testimony by Federal Reserve Chairman Eccles. He announced officially and persistently that our gold reserves have nothing whatever to do with the value of our currency, that we are completely off the gold standard.

If there was stupefaction in congress, there must have been confusion fits around the treasury at such a plain official suggestion that the gold (and silver?) buying policy was a flop, that the value of the dollar was really only what the government says it is.

Rep. Frederick Smith, an Ohio republican, led Mr. Eccles up to the subject, suggesting that the country is getting near flat money; that the war might cost $300,000,000,000; that even if the cost only gets up to $200,000,000,000 (appropriations already have reached $208,000,000,000) the question of gold reserves becomes important.

"No," said Mr. Eccles. "There was a feeling that by increasing the price of gold, you recall, that the increase would be immediately reflected in increasing the price of goods. Well, of course, that, we all know, didn't work, so I say the question of the gold reserve doesn't have any relationship to the stability of value of the currency."

Mr. Smith: "Either bank currency or circulating currency?"

Mr. Eccles: "No, I don't think so." Mr. Smith: "What then is the fundamental principle of the federal reserve banking act?" Mr. Eccles: "Well, it isn't that." Mr. Smith was obviously flabbergasted. He pleaded: "I don't believe you want to go on record as saying that. I don't believe you want to do that."

Mr. Eccles: "That is right, yes I do." Then later on: "I do deny that the amount of the gold reserve, or the gold requirements have anything to do with the price level, which means they have nothing to do with the value of currency."

Mr. Smith: "Aren't you, in effect, saying there is no relation whatever of gold in this country to our currency?"

Mr. Eccles: "That is right."

Mr. Smith: "There is no relation whatever?"

Mr. Eccles: "That is right."

Mr. Smith: "You then take the attitude we are completely off the gold standard?"

Mr. Eccles: "Yes, completely."

Mr. Smith: "I am rather astonished. It makes no difference then whether we have an ounce of gold or whether we have 700,000,000 ounces?"

Mr. Eccles: "It has made no difference to Russia for 20 years; no difference to Germany for a long while. Most of the countries of Europe had to give up the idea of a gold reserve. Their currencies have gone into managed currencies. . . The Russians have mined gold as a commodity to sell to the democracies and get foods that they wanted to get and they haven't looked upon gold as a necessary item to support their currency."

In other words, gold is good for teeth and for selling to Mr. Morgenthau at the arbitrarily inflated figure of $35 an ounce, not much otherwise.

Mr. Morgenthau is sitting on the world's largest amassing pile of it, and there is nothing he can do with it, except to increase the problem by buying some more gold from Britain or Russia, which means giving away public money for gold.

Thus has the cut from old ties now been officially conceded for the first time by the head of the banking system. Mr. Eccles has merely recognized the obvious effects of administration policy, which any reader of this column will recall having read from time to time for years back.

The important point is that it is now official. No one can be accused of being against the administration for saying the policy was a failure.

The value of currency, it appears, is not in the hands of Mr. Eccles or Mr. Morgenthau, but in the hands of Leon Henderson. When you read the prices of food in your grocery, you will find out the real value of the dollar these days.

What this pretends for post-war policies, domestic and international, cannot be foretold yet, but they are all rooted in the basic gold theory.

Certainly this seems to mark an official end of the new deal era of grand economic formulas to control prices indirectly by taxation, by the Warren theory, by gold or silver.

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

The Old Men Will Probably Be There

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I have a hunch the old man will be there when the U. S. Army, led by Irving Berlin, invades Broadway next July 4th.

By old men I mean Maxwell Anderson, the playwright. By old man I mean Victor Moore, the actor, and Ernest Truex, the comedian. By old man is meant Joe Cook, the comic.

Their sons will be here. That's why. Alan Anderson, Robert Moore, Philip Truex, and Joe Cook Jr.

These sons of famous fathers are a part of the most discussed adventure that has happened to Broadway in many months. This Irving Berlin composed show has a cast of 300—all soldiers. They'll sing such ditties as "My Sargeant And I Are Buddies," and "I Left My Heart At the Stage Door Canteen." They'll pool their talent for the benefit of the United Service Organizations, and if you are able to buy a ticket it will surprise this corner. It's the main theme of conversation already. It's the talk of the bars and the cafes and restaurants.

Not only are the sons of famous fathers present. If you saw "Arsenic and Old Lace," you'll remember Tony Ross, who was the cop in that delightful opus but who has now been gobbled up by the army. Milton Rosen, ex associate conductor for the Brooklyn symphony, and Carl Fisher, George Abbott's stage manager, are in the company.

The name of the show. "This is the Army." The place, The Broadway theater. The time: July 4, and every day thereafter.

Make a note of this if you like to keep tab on little oddities out of real life—for a paragraph in a novel, perhaps, or a scene in a play.

The scene is a court room. The magistrate looks the defendant squarely in the eye and says "What's the matter with you? Are you CRAZY?"

Off to one side a girl looks at the defendant coldly. She whispers to her lawyer. The lawyer snaps out a snappy jibe.

What has the defendant done? Well, he's a musician. One night at a dance he became excited and tossed a burning cigarette down the front of the girl's dress. The girl was a singer. She suffered painful abdominal burns. They called the cops. That's why the judge demanded, "Are You Crazy?"

They gave him a tongue-lashing, and a sentence, which was suspended—but only after the musician's wife arose and testified that he had never done anything crazy like that before.

He was a sober young man, I can tell you, when he walked out of the judge's chamber.

M.V.C. Dept.: George Sebastian is a composer and conductor. . . For a number of years he was hired by Stalin to arrange all the musical programs broadcast by the official radio of the Soviet Union. . . George likes coffee. . . Anytime you see him he says, "Let's go get coffee, M.V.C. I like it best M.V.C." . . . George doesn't mind telling you what the M.V.C. stands for, if you ask him. It means "mit vip cream."

THE BOOK PARADE

By JOHN SELBY

"AMBASSADORS IN WHITE," by Charles Morrow Wilson (Holt; $3.50).

Publishers and reviewers are often caught using the word "epic" to describe a book, or a story, and usually they should be ashamed of themselves. But the publisher of "Ambassadors in White" calls it "the epic story of medicine in the American tropics," and that is precisely what the book is.

This epic is another great service to mankind which has grown out of commerce and war. Sick men cannot work, nor can they fight. Fortunately, as Charles Morrow Wilson points out in "Ambassadors in White," the race for trade need not blot out humanitarian considerations, and has not in many cases. Yet the impulse behind most of the extraordinary and successful fight against disease in the tropics has been the so-called practical activities of men.

The battle has covered a variety of fronts, from malnutrition to yellow fever, by the way of snakebite and malaria and macehete wounds. Mr. Wilson has provided a good deal of drama, too, by a simple means. He has stripped off the false heroics and left the story bare and stark. It is probably a half dozen times more effective than any

Retailers to Act for July Bond Sale in Stores

Billion Dollar Goal Set for Nation-Wide 'Victory' Campaign

The Iowa City committee in charge of the "Retailers for Victory Drive" started contracting local retailers yesterday morning to sell United States war savings stamps and bonds during the month of July. H. S. Ivie, committee chairman, has announced.

Pledge cards to be signed by Iowa City retailers who agree to participate in the campaign were distributed to members of the committee at a meeting yesterday morning.

The drive will open in every town in America at noon Wednesday and will continue throughout the month. A goal of a billion dollars has been set for the nation. Stores will stop selling regular merchandise at noon on the opening day of the campaign and will concentrate on the sale of war savings stamps and bonds for 15 minutes. Efforts will be made to induce customers to take part or all of their change in defense stamp every day during July.

Mayor Henry Dillingbrock will issue a proclamation commanding Iowa City stores to close Wednesday from 1 to 3 p.m. in order that employees may participate in the "Victory Drive Parade." The naval pre-flight training school, the university R.O.T.C. unit and the SUI Highlanders also will take part in the parade.

Posters and other display materials will be distributed to the pledged retailers before the drive opens.

Committee members and the type of retail agencies of which they are in charge are Elza Means, grocers; Bob Sheridan, coal concerns; Bur Sheinbaugh, oil stations; George Nagle, lumber companies; Leonard Myers and Herman Kadera, restaurants and cigar stores.

Ray Baker and Cal Tanner, national firms; William Grimm and Steve Brody, men's stores; Harold Hands, jewelry stores; Carl Telander, appliance stores; Joe Cilek, hardware stores; Earl Snyder, shoe stores and shoe repairs.

Feminine Army Corps—

39-Hour Week for WAAC

—Have Full Activity Schedule

PORT DES MOINES (AP)—Learning to become a WAAC theoretically will be a 39-hour week job, the first official women's army auxiliary corps training school curriculum showed yesterday.

That schedule, however, doesn't include two hours of study decreed for most weekday nights and the school faculty retains the right to keep the girls working an extra hour a day as well.

The first 440 officer-candidates for commissions in Uncle Sam's feminine army corps will report here July 20. The WAAC's will qualify for noncombatant duty, thereby relieving a corresponding number of soldiers for combat service.

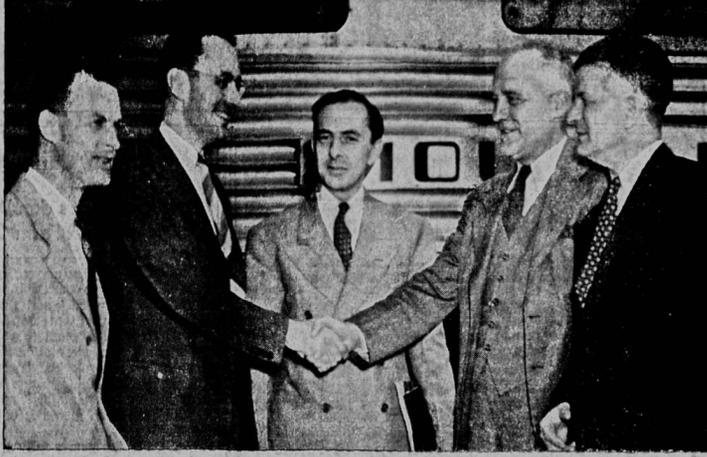

The officer-candidates' weekly course of study calls for five 7-hour days and four hours of training on Saturdays. The candidates will be off duty Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

Indications that some WAAC's may be used to help induct men into military service were seen in the allotment of 21 training hours to a course on "processing."

The course will include instruction on "vaccinations, inoculations, records, the drawing of clothing" and the like.

Down on the schedule, but assigned no hours as yet, is a course

Radio, Visual Instruction Forum to Feature Movies and Prominent Speakers on Program

Four nationally known radio and educational film officials will appear on the radio and visual instruction forum from 2 to 4 this afternoon in senate chamber, Old Capitol.

"Radio as a Public Service in Wartime" will be the topic of Thomas D. Rishworth, director of public service programs, eastern division, NBC, New York City. Rishworth has been with NBC since May 1, 1941.

Before that he was educational director of KSTP, St. Paul, and he arranged and directed the KSTP educational radio conference each year, which has been considered one of the best of its kind in the United States.

Prof. H. B. Summers, manager of the public service division, Blue Network company, New York City, will speak on "Public Discussion in Wartime."

Newcomer to Radio
Professor Summers is an educator of wide experience, with a background of more than 24 years as teacher of speech and economics in midwestern high schools and colleges. A comparative newcomer to commercial radio, he joined the National Broadcasting company in January, 1941, and the Blue Network company at its inception, in February, 1942.

At the Blue Network, Professor Summers is in charge of such programs as "America's Town Meeting of the Air," "Men, Machines and Victory," "National Radio Forum," "Wake Up America," "Between the Bookends," and many others.

"Motion Pictures in Education" will be discussed by Roger Albright, administrative assistant to the Trustees of Teaching Film Custodians, Inc., and assistant to the director of the community service department of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.

Makes Educational Films
Albright has served on the staff of the latter organization, also known as the Will Hays office, for the past eight years, having joined it to develop and administer a series of character education films for school use.

Responsible for providing photographic appreciation materials to school and public libraries, Albright has administered the detail of Teaching Film Custodians since its beginning several years ago.

Paul C. Reed, educational field adviser in the office of the coordinator of government films, Washington, D. C., will talk on "Government Films for Civilian Information."

On Leave of Absence
Reed has been connected with the Rochester, N. Y., public schools since 1929 and for the past several years has been director of visual and radio education. At present he is on a leave of absence to serve in Washington, D. C.

He has taught courses in visual and radio education at Northwestern and Syracuse universities and was president of the Education association in 1941.

Following the discussions a sound motion picture, "Americans All," first of a series for promoting better understanding between North and South America, will be shown.

Many of the companies represented here are engaged in war production of planes, motors, radio, armament and rubber products. Six men came from war plants in Canada.

Local Girl Scouts Canvass I.C. Stores In Grease Salvage

Iowa City Girl Scouts yesterday began canvassing local grocers to aid in the city's participation in the national campaign to save fats and greases.

The amount collected will be sold and the money turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross. Clark Caldwell, chairman of the local drive, made the following statement in connection with the campaign:

"More than two billion pounds of fats are wasted in the kitchen each year. The cut-off of the oils from the far east plus the increasing need of fats and oils for our allies makes it necessary to take immediate steps to salvage these waste kitchen fats. Also fats are a source of explosives now vitally needed for the armed forces."

Barbara Allen To Be Shown At SUI Theater

Initial Performance Of Folklore Fantasy Will Begin Monday

"Barbara Allen," a folk play written by Howard Richardson, will be presented for the first time on any stage when it opens Monday at the University theater for five consecutive evening performances.

Barbara, John the witch boy, Marvin Hadler and Preacher Hagler are the main characters in this fantasy of folklore and superstition with its setting in the Smoky mountains. There are 25 characters in the whole cast.

The story of John, the witch boy, who wants to become human because he has fallen in love with Barbara Allen, is set in nine scenes with seven settings. Settings were designed by John Boyd, senior dramatic art student from Bloomfield, N. J., under the supervision of Prof. Arnold S. Gillette of the speech and dramatic art department.

Unique Scenery

A basic ramp of rock is used for the witches' scene in front of the colorful, stylized suggestions of a small village square, the Allen home, a general store, a clearing in the woods, John and Barbara's cabin, and the village church. All backgrounds beyond are projected on a cyclorama by means of light.

Background music furnishes atmosphere in the witches' scenes. Throughout the play mountain characters sing mountain ballads and dance square dances to guitar and accordion music. Old revival hymns are sung in the church scenes.

The whole play is in verse, based on the idioms and cadences in the speech of the mountain people. Choral speaking is employed in many of the scenes.

Costumes for the production were designed by Helen Forrest Lautner, visiting lecturer in the speech and dramatic art department.

Technical Staff

Serving on the production staff for "Barbara Allen" are Rodman Jones, stage manager; Violet Hautau, bookholder; John G. Felton, sound; Gerald Giles, Shirley Bunze, George Anderson, Ted Ritter, Julian Benjamin, Vernon Schump, stage crew.

Brooklyn Clips Cincinnati in 10 Innings, 5-4

Joe Medwick's Streak Ended

French Wins Seventh; Winning Brook Tally Comes In on Squeeze

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers tripped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, in ten innings yesterday to give Larry French his seventh pitching victory without a defeat, but the batting streak of Joe Medwick was snapped after he had hit safely in 27 consecutive games.

Medwick went hitless in five appearances against a trio of Cincinnati hurlers, failing by six games to reach the national league record of 33 games, set in 1922 by Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals.

French, last of three Dodgers pitchers, entered the game at the start of the ninth with the score tied for the third time in the season. He held the Reds to one hit in two innings and the Dodgers resorted to the old squeeze play to score the winning run.

Clyde Shoun, who took the mound for the Reds in the ninth and absorbed his first defeat against one win, was nicked for a triple by Billy Herman with one out in the tenth. He walked Mickey Owen and pinch-hitter Babe Dahlgren intentionally to fill the bases and Pee-wee Reese laid down a perfect bunt that squeezed Herman across the plate and ended the game.

With two out, Keller singled and Joe Gordon doubled him to third. However, Bill Dickey grounded to second baseman Don Kolloway.

The Sox got six hits off Lefty Gomez, but took advantage of eight bases on balls. They got four walks in the second inning and aided by three singles scored three runs. Poor base running in this inning cut down additional scoring. Both Myril Hoag and Wally Moses ran preceding runners off the bases. Another walk and Tom Turner's single produced the other Sox run in the sixth.

Red Sox Turn Back Cleveland Indians, 3-2; Newsome Gives 6 Hits

CLEVELAND (AP)—The second-place Boston Red Sox turned back the Cleveland Indians' bid to gain on them last night with a 3 to 2 victory pitched by Dick Newsome, who allowed the Tribe only six hits in taking his seventh win of the season.

Newsome's only nemesis was big Les Fleming who got four of the Tribe's safeties and ran his batting average to .352.

Chisox Upset Yankees, 4-2

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's White Sox, who had lost nine straight games to the New York Yankees since last Aug. 25, broke the string last night with a 4 to 2 triumph. The victory was accomplished behind lefty Edgar Smith, who pitched the Sox to their previous Yankee conquest.

A crowd of 25,934 saw Smith, the Sox hard luck hurler, limit the American league leaders to six hits. One of the blows was Charley Keller's eighth homer. It came after Joe DiMaggio's double in the second inning and accounted for all the Yankee scoring.

Smith, who last night was named to the American league's all-star squad despite his hopeless record, turned back a ninth inning challenge to clinch his second victory against 11 defeats.

With two out, Keller singled and Joe Gordon doubled him to third. However, Bill Dickey grounded to second baseman Don Kolloway.

The Sox got six hits off Lefty Gomez, but took advantage of eight bases on balls. They got four walks in the second inning and aided by three singles scored three runs. ## De la Torre, Tatum Reach Golfing Finals

Collegé Championship To Be Decided Today In South Bend Tourney

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
 SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Manuel de la Torre of Northwestern, a son of Spain, and Frank Tatum Jr., of Stanford, a Phi Beta Kappa, will meet today for the national intercollegiate championship.

Tatum eliminated Harold Gjolme of the University of Washington, 4 and 2, yesterday in the 36-hole semifinals, while the native of Madrid disposed of Bob's Kuntz, 6 and 5.

In the 36-hole final, which begins at 9:45 a.m. (Central war time) "Sandy" Tatum, an engineering student, will be shooting the works for his first major golf championship and his last intercollegiate play because his college days are over.

De la Torre, groomed into a stylist by his father, a former Madrid pro and European tournament competitor, became the third Big Ten player to make the final in the meet's 45-year history. John Fischer of Michigan won in 1932 and Chuck Kocsis, also of Michigan, repeated in 1936.

Gjolme, the 1939-40 national intercollegiate champion who maneuvered the Chain O' Lakes course in 66 Thursday, faded badly yesterday before the hot-putting Tatum and took a 78, seven over-par, in the morning trip to trail 2-down. Tatum held the same edge at the 27-hole milestone as both rounded the afternoon outgoing nine in par 35.

Tatum was one-up after bogeying the 28th but only needed to card even pars on the 29th and 32nd for wins. He wrapped up the third in fine fashion of the 34th green by holing a 30-foot putt for a birdie duce.

The game of long-driving de la Torre was nearly perfect as he dispatched Kuntz. He was 2-up at the end of the first 18 after firing a 71 and has increased it to 3-1 at 27.

Kuntz lost the 28th with a bogey 4 and de la Torre whisked away the victory with a nine-foot putt for a birdie 4 on the 30th green and a par 4 on the next.

Cochrane's Woes

Service Star's Pilot Loses His Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Lieut. Mickey Cochrane, whose job it is to put together a service club for the all-star benefit clash at Cleveland July 7, already is experiencing managerial woes to match any pain he endured while piloting the Detroit Tigers in two world series.

Before his athletes even report at Great Lakes naval training station for preliminary practice he has lost in the neighborhood of $200,000 worth of star talent, with the end not in sight.

Both Hank Greenberg, the prize clouter, and Pitcher Hugh Mulcahy, are attending officers training camps and will not be available. Johnny Berardino, St. Louis Browns' shortstop, is out of the service temporarily, having failed in his pilot training, and hence will not be eligible.

Greenberg is, of course, the biggest loss. Cochrane, now either will have to play Johnny Sturm, the former Yankee, on first, or send out a call for the ever-willing Zeke Bonura, who is soldiering down south.

Mulcahy's loss is one Mickey probably can shake off without loss of sleep, considering he still has Bobby Feller and Johnny Rigney and a few others to fall back on for his pitching.

At the moment, Cochrane is anxiously awaiting word when he can expect the bulk of his players to report to him.

St. Louis Browns Nip Senators, 8-5

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Louis (Buck) Newsom fanned 10 batters in six innings but the St. Louis Browns nipped him for seven runs and then went on to defeat Washington, 8 to 5, last night to break a four-game losing streak. It was Elden Auker's ninth victory against six defeats.

Errors Help Giants To 4-2 Win in Series Opener With Pirates

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2, in their series opener yesterday with Cliff Melton pitching six-hit ball and the Bucs chipping in with five costly errors.

Rip Sewell of the Pirates also yielded only six hits, but two unearned runs cost him the game. He worked eight innings before stepping out for a pinch-hitter.

Melton collected two of the Giants' hits, one of which opened a three-run rally that brought them from behind in the third inning and gave the lanky south-paw his ninth triumph against five defeats.

Vince DiMaggio drove in both the Pittsburgh runs in the second frame with his seventh home run.

All-Star Tilt Almost Like World Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The runaway races in the major leagues have caused a lot of joking about playing this year's world series immediately after the Fourth of July, but the all-star game at the Polo Grounds July 6 may furnish a reasonable facsimile.

Nine members of the New York Yankees and seven of the Brooklyn Dodgers are on the all-star squads just announced by the American and National leagues.

All of them won't be in the starting lineups, of course, but the flavor will be there, even to the strategy of the rival managers—Joe McCarthy and Leo Durocher.

Walker Sad Figure

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the saddest figures in baseball these days is Gerald "Gee" Walker, of the Cincinnati Reds, who was bought to add punch to the Reds' batting order and instead has been shackled by a slump such as few players ever have endured.

Phyllis Otto Advances To Golf Meet Finals

Will Oppose Texas' Betty Jameson Today In Western Open Play

By DAVE HOFF
 CHICAGO (AP)—Texas' Betty Jameson and Iowa's Phyllis Otto yesterday won their way to the finals of the women's western open golf tournament, which will be played over 36 holes of the Elmhurst country club today.

Miss Jameson, 24-year-old San Antonio girl, won her semifinal match from Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., 4 and 3, while Miss Otto, 17, of Atlantic, Ia., had a scrap on her hands in subduing Marjorie Row of Detroit, 1 up.

The Texas wallflower was only one over par with her 39 on the first nine yesterday, and led Miss Cline at the turn, 2 up. For the six holes of the back nine she was one under par, aided by an eagle four which enabled her to take the 15th and end the match.

Miss Otto carded a 40-40-80 to excel Miss Row's medal 40-42-82. On the outgoing nine won two holes and halved the others to stand even at the turn. Miss Row notched a birdie two on the 13th for a momentary lead but Miss Otto came back to win the 14th and 15, the latter with an eagle four, and took a lead she held to the end. They split the last three holes.

The Jameson-Cline match was nip and tuck the first seven holes, Miss Jameson taking the third and fifth with superb putting to square the contest. They halved the sixth and seventh, each having birdie twos on the latter, but Betty won the next two for a 2 up halfway edge.

Miss Jameson held the women's national championship, an event cancelled this year because of the war, in 1939 and 1940. Miss Otto never won a major title although she was Iowa state champion two years ago. She shot a 78 in Monday's qualifying to tie for runnerup medalist honors.

Grid Tilt Average

University of Iowa football teams under Dr. Eddie Anderson for the past three seasons have played before an average crowd of 29,030 fans each game, an official capitulation showed yesterday.

A total of 696,736 spectators saw the Hawkeyes in action in 24 games since Anderson became head coach. Biggest crowd for the club was the 64,000 turnout at the Minnesota game in Minneapolis in 1940.

Ersatz Exhibition Games An Evil

Big Leaguers Can Do Their Part by Playing Against Farm Clubs, Army Camps

NEW YORK—When a guy flips down his two-bits to see "the biggest fish in the world" and then walks through the tent flap to face a mirror he's bound to yelp a little about misrepresentation and threaten to punch somebody's ears into muffins, so the reaction of fans who pay to see major league clubs in exhibition games is only natural.

They go to the games fully expecting to see the big stars they have read so much about, and what do they see? Too often they see a bunch of athletes named Gus who get into the regular league games only if somebody breaks a leg and are identified by their managers only by such expressions as "Hey, you there with the washboard face, you're playing shortstop today."

Not that all major clubs at all times send only their ballast on these day-off excursions. Just the other day the world champion Yankees played at Toledo, and we noted that the Toledo folks saw all the regulars in action. That example isn't exactly typical, however, as the Yankees were knee-deep in a slump and Joe McCarthy probably figured they needed the work. The Toledo club gave them the works, at that.

But all too often the lineup of the major club for such games lists two or three regulars, with the other players listed in the season's records under x—played less than 10 games.

MacPhail "Generous" The Brooklyn Dodgers in Larry MacPhail's usual diplomatic manner created no little ill will at Kansas City not long ago by showing up with a few grade A players well mixed with pumpkins. MacPhail was perturbed over the letters he received from Kansas Cityans, and in a mollifying way even asked one protesting author to be his guest at the game next time the Dodgers played in Kansas City. Which was a grand gesture, particularly as you could travel around the world a few times, even now, before the Dodgers play there again.

The part of the exhibition farce that really burns, though, is when a major club presents only an upper berth lineup when appearing at army camps. Perhaps upper berth is used inadvisedly, as the regulars sometimes are lucky to get an upper right now, but you get the idea.

If anyone is entitled to the best in entertainment it is the service men, and it is the height of something or other when ball players, living the life of Riley, and not Fort Riley, are too indifferent to make a little trip to please boys who are giving up everything so that games like baseball can continue to be played.

Possible Excuse In some instances when a major league club is playing an exhibition with a minor club there might be some excuse for withholding some players from the lineup. It might give a needed rest or give minor injuries a chance to heal, for example.

But the boys in camp are entitled to major league ball played by the top major leaguers, and just because the game doesn't count in the standings and involve no profit is no excuse for offering a class B attraction.

Ball players, whether they know it or not, are on a spot continually in war times, and anything they do which tends to create ill will just tips them a little more.

And putting spring training lineups on the field for exhibitions, particularly in army camps, certainly doesn't promote enduring respect.

Fox's Round Tripper Gives Cubs 6-4 Win

BOSTON (AP)—Jimmy Foxx's first National league homer, which came with two out in the ninth and a mate on base, yesterday gave the Chicago Cubs a 6-4 victory over the Boston Braves.

In addition, Foxx drove in two other runs by flying out and grounding out in the first and third innings.

The Cubs opened with a two-run blast in the first inning against starter Tom Earley, who was belted for a double by Stan Hack before he forced in the first Chicago run by passing three consecutive batters. Dick Erickson then took over the Boston mound and Phil Cavarretta registered after Foxx's fly.

2,500 Protestant Ministers in Service
 CINCINNATI (AP) — More than 2,500 Protestant ministers have enlisted as army and navy chaplains and an average of 75 more weekly must be provided, Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert of New York, executive secretary of the Federal Council of Churches, told the general synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church yesterday.

 replied. Later, he said "She was a swell girl. She talked like she knew something about guns."
 Sergeant William R. Wright of Anderson, Ind., told the queen his men could put 240 feet of pontoon bridge heavy enough to support the biggest tanks over a river in an hour.

An anti-tank crew described as "probably one of the world's best," put 14 out of 15 shells into a moving target at 700 yards.
 The crew was commanded by Sergeant Robert L. Cooper of Dallas, Tex., and was composed of Corporals Worth Waugh, of Columbia City, Ind., Milton Mischitz, of Bethlehem, Pa., and Privates Leonard Johnson, of Harrisburg, Neb., and Wallace Hall, of Preston, Mo.
 The royal party went to the mess hall. While Maj. Gen. Russell P.

Hartle, commander of American forces in Northern Ireland, sat between the king and queen, 58 officers and men filed by the kitchen and received the same meal as the royal party.
 It was roast beef, peas, tomatoes, pear salad, cherry pie and coffee. Then the king and queen viewed a demonstration of weapons of the field organization of modern infantry divisions.
 The queen took Sergeant John Murray, of Des Moines, Ia., a radio set so small that it could be held in one hand and talked with Private Earle T. Teague, of Statesville, N. C., who was miles away.
 The sovereigns then saw an army combat team of mechanized and motorized troops stage a battle problem.
 The king rode in a jeep with Lieut. Russell Mann, of Oxford, Ia., and the queen was accompanied by Major General Hartle and Lieut. Robert J. Brown, of Des Moines.

drill by a unit, mostly from Villages, Ia., commanded by Lieut. Alfred E. Moss, of Washington, D. C., the king said to a British general: "We had better introduce this at once."
 The royal entourage came to Ireland in the Cruiser Phoebe. After the visit was over, the king sent this message to Major General Hartle: "The queen and I thank you sincerely for your kind hospitality and for the most interesting and enjoyable day which we shall long remember."
 As a final formality, the king and queen inspected the tanks of American marines.
 "Do you mind if I have a picture made while standing in front of you?" the queen asked the First Sergeant Albert Battle of Griffin, Ia., as she moved down the line.
 "Of course not," Battle answered. He was wearing an array of medals he has won as a sharpshooter as an expert with pistols, bayonets and hand grenades.

284 Cadets Form Third Contingent to Arrive At Iowa City Naval Pre-Flight Training School

Flying Units From Wisconsin, Illinois Universities Included

The third group of 284 cadets arrived at the navy pre-flight school Thursday. The third battalion included 54 cadets from the University of Illinois called the "Flying Illini" and approximately the same amount from Milwaukee, Wis., called the "Flying Tornados."

For the first few days the new men will be introduced to their new shipmates and will spend the time in the issuance of athletic equipment and other necessary clothing. This is the first group to arrive at the Iowa base that is quartered in the Hillcrest dormitory; the first two contingents moved into the men's quadrangle.

Yesterday afternoon was spent in giving the cadets physical examinations and inoculating them for various diseases. Saturday they will receive the first actual training in military drill. Monday will begin the regular athletic program.

This third group will use the Hillcrest mess hall which has been completely re-equipped to suit the needs of the cadets. The first contingent that arrived May 28 has gained, on the average, 3.32 pounds per man during the first three weeks of training.

GERMAN PARATROOPS TRAINED AT CRETE

Reports from the Middle East say that thousands of German parachute troopers have been trained and prepared on the German-held island of Crete for attacks on Egypt and other allied defense points in the Middle East. Some of them were reported used in the axis attack on Tobruk. Nazi paratroopers are pictured dropping from transport planes in practice, top. Lower photo shows German paratroopers after they had landed on Crete when axis forces occupied that island.

Capture of Kupyansk First Blow in Drive To Encircle Rostov

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

While Britain's badly mauled eighth army and its reinforcements rally in Egypt for a "last-ditch" defense of Alexandria, as London puts it, Nazi legions in the Ukraine have bored an ominous hole in the Russian communications system east-southeast of Kharkov.

Nazi capture of Kupyansk, important rail junction 60 miles east and a little south of Kharkov, is admitted by the Soviet high command.

The thrust gives a clue to the strategy of the German attack, even though it may be only a preliminary operation rather than the beginning of an all-out offensive in Russia.

Kupyansk junction was a connecting rail link of Marshal Timoshenko's north-south communications. Triple rail systems coming down from the north merge into a single line at that point to link up with the lower Donets basin rail network. The line bypasses on the west a huge sweep of virtual badlands in which no railroad of consequence or major highway is shown on recent Russian maps.

The next north-south railroad lies east of that wide stretch of rough country which is nearly 200 miles long and averages perhaps 75 miles wide. Loss of Kupyansk has cut the western route, forcing the Russian general to depend on the railroad east of the rough country for effective communications contract between the northern wing of his armies about Kharkov and the southern elements reaching to the sea of Azov.

Just how wide a wedge the nazis have driven in the Kupyansk area is not indicated. Moscow insists there has been no breakthrough, that the Russian front is still secure. It seems obvious, however, that the German drive at Kupyansk was aimed at cutting Russian forces apart southeast of Kharkov in preparation for rolling-up operations southward aimed ultimately.

Two Allied Merchant Ships Sunk in Pacific

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, (Saturday) (AP)—Two allied merchant ships have been sunk by Japanese torpedoes in the Pacific, it was disclosed today by survivors who reached an Australian port.

All of the crew of a freighter with the exception of anti-aircraft gunners were saved after days of drifting in the lonely reaches of the Pacific.

The survivors told how the submarine attacked without warning shortly after midnight. The explosion of one torpedo killed the gun crew outright.

Demos Divide On Convention Delegates Vote

In a stormy two and one-half hour session yesterday, Johnson county democrats voted to divide their support between two favorite sons, Mayor Henry F. Willenbrock and Vern W. Nall.

By sending 30 delegates empowered with one-half vote apiece, each candidate will receive 15 votes from the Johnson county delegates at the district convention to be held July 6 at Davenport.

Delegates were also elected for the state judicial convention July 21 at Des Moines and for the 8th district judicial district convention to be held here July 16.

First decision to be reached by the convention was that a minority rather than a majority rule would apply in the voting. The meeting then turned into a political melee as Prof. W. Ross Livingston, appearing for Henry F. Willenbrock and Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, representing Vern W. Nall, headed the convention two lists of delegates for the Davenport convention.

As the group was trying to decide which candidate to back, a substitute motion was submitted to send each group of 30 delegates to the district meeting with an unstructured one-half vote apiece. The official voting on the motion was 135 and one-half in favor of sending the 60 delegates and 91 and one-half votes against it.

James Bell of Burlington and LaMar Foster of West Branch are the other candidates who will be seeking the democratic congressional nomination at that time.

Party officers for the coming year were elected after the convention: Attorney Jackson was re-elected chairman; Mrs. Regina C. Hogan as vice-chairman; Harry Shulman as treasurer, and J. A. Parden as secretary.

Charles Chansky was re-elected congressional committeeman. Atty. Ingalls Swisher and Atty. E. L. O'Connor were named judicial committeemen. John Novotny served as secretary of the convention.

Six resolutions were adopted by the convention, (1) pledging united support and loyalty to President Roosevelt for an all-out war effort; (2) endorsing Sen. Clyde L. Herring for his support to the government; (3) criticizing Rep. Thomas E. Martin; (4) endorsing Rep. William R. Hart for first district committeeman of the state democratic central committee; (5) endorsing the state and county democratic candidates; and (6) expressing sympathy over the death during the last two years of prominent county democrats.

The following are delegates who will attend the first district congressional convention at Davenport:

Denny Says Public Refuses to Accept Uncongenial Views

"People of the world today are so sure of their own infallibility that they won't accept the other fellow's point of view," George V. Denny, chairman and moderator of "America's Town Meeting of the Air," proclaimed here last night in an address on "Freedom of Speech in Wartime."

According to Denny, the American public before Dec. 7 of last year was guilty of the same mistake that people were making before the Civil war. "They were listening and accepting only congenial views," he said.

In speaking on the south union campus last night, Denny not only analyzed freedom of speech, but freedom of press, religion and education as well. He described these freedoms as dangerously insecure unless they are used purposely.

"We must be honest with ourselves, and also tolerant and reasonable in approaching the baffling problems of our day," the speaker declared. "We must use our freedom with integrity of purpose and accept its responsibilities willingly."

He manifested his belief that the Miltner Sr., J. W. Carey, John O'Connor, J. P. Burns, Charles Pudil, Phil Michel, M. E. Baker, Clair Hamilton, William Prybil, Eldon Stutsman, John Grady, Bruce Mahan, H. J. Reichardt, James Parden, Mrs. F. A. Stromsten, Vern Nall, F. B. Volkringer, Dale Welt, J. G.
