Battle of Egypt Renewed

British, Axis Desert Forces Fight Fiercely

Report English, U.S. Planes Disable Many Nazi Supply Vehicles

CAIRO (AP)—Fierce fighting broke out yesterday between British and axis desert forces on the Mediterranean rim west of El Alamein in a renewal of the battle for Egypt which had been bogged down in an uneasy lull for more than a week. The new fighting erupted after RAF and American planes were reported to have destroyed or disabled 400 to 900 axis vehicles out of a concentration of 2,000 shuttling forward to replenish Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's thrust toward Alexandria, 70 miles from the front. The fighting ended a deadlock of several days during which both exhausted armies dug in under severe sandstorms and awaited supplies and reinforcements.

Front dispatches gave no hint of the trend of the great struggle, but did say the axis apparently had not made any additional gains eastward.

Rommel's German-Italian legions already had been compelled to withdraw part of his curved-back right wing northward toward the sea before yesterday's fighting was resumed.

Huge four-motored bombers of the U. S. air force were reported attacking enemy shipping in the seaports while the RAF concentrated on axis land lanes.

Besides the 400 to 500 vehicles caught in one huge camp the RAF was said to have destroyed 55 other trucks.

The American fliers, using Consolidated (Liberator) bombers, attacked shipping in the Mediterranean in daylight Thursday.

Blast Axis Convoys
It was certain that the Germans were moving supplies and reinforcements to their army threatening Alexandria, 70 miles to the east, because for the second time in a week the British told of attacks on Mediterranean convoys.

A British submarine sank two ships of a sea train bound for Libya, an admiralty announcement said. It was probable that the Liberators (Consolidated) of the U. S. army air corps assaulted the survivors of the same convoy.

The reforming of the axis right wing was forced by a clash in the southern sector between stalling British armored column and axis tank forces, recorded by the British command communique. The effect is that Rommel's line now describes a rough arc from the (See EGYPT, page 5)

Ways, Means Group Votes to Up Income Tax by 1 Per Cent

Increase to Be Added To Previously Agreed 12-81 Per Cent Levies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house ways and means committee decided last night to increase surtax rates on individual income tax returns by one per cent above the previous agreement providing for levies ranging from 12 to 81 per cent.

At the same time, the committee decided that the present individual exemptions of $1,500 for married persons and $750 for single persons should apply to military and naval personnel. The committee previously had decided to reduce the exemptions for all to $1,200 and $500.

Would Up Total Revenue
Representative Cooper (D-Tenn) said the increased exemptions for military and naval personnel would reduce the total revenue yield of the new tax bill by about $310,000,000.

The two actions were taken at a night session of the committee, arranged in an effort to complete final action on the big bill without a Saturday session. Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said after the meeting, however, that a session tomorrow would be required.

Hold Freight Measure
During the day, the committee decided to leave in the pending $5,800,000,000 bill a five per cent levy on freight and express charges, despite opposition from Price Administrator Leon Henderson and the treasury.

Henderson, with treasury support, had objected that such a tax would increase pressure for an upward boost in price ceilings. It is estimated to produce $292,000,000.

The committee agreed, however, from the percentage tax and a flat levy of 5 cents a ton should be imposed.

Two AWOL Fort Sill Privates Charged With Kidnaping Iowa Girl

SIoux CITY (AP)—Two AWOL soldiers were charged yesterday with kidnaping a 16-year-old Iowa high school girl who claimed she was forced to accompany them on a wild week-long automobile ride through a half dozen states.

These charges also were filed by Assistant U.S. District Attorney Franklin Gill against Elmer Frank Kuske, 23, of Lakewood, Col., and David Westman, 19, of Trinidad, Col.

Violation of the Mann act prohibiting interstate transportation of women for immoral purposes, and of the Dyer act forbidding movement of stolen vehicles across state lines.

War Information Director Davis Promises to Give 'All the News'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Elmer Davis, director of the new office of war information, promised the public yesterday it would be given all the news of the war except information of value to the enemy.

The army and navy, he said, remain the judges of what would constitute data of help to the axis, but he added that rulings of the services on such points could be appealed to the president. In most cases, however, he thought an agreement could be reached without burdening the chief executive with such problems.

As far as he could observe in his few days in Washington, Davis said, the navy has been "telling the truth adequately" about the sinking of merchant ships in the Atlantic. In no event, he asserted emphatically, "just because it is bad news."

Davis held a press conference

BERLIN, FEARING BOMBS, TRIES TO HIDE ITSELF

Here's proof of the terror-inspired respect with which nazis now regard the British Royal Air Force—by ingenious camouflage, the Germans are trying to disguise and hide Berlin, their capital and heart of the axis. Top view shows how the Lietzensee (Lietzen Lake) in Lietzensee park, Berlin, has been covered with colored nets to represent non-existent lawn. Fake rooftops surround the lake. At lower left is a view of a bomb-damaged Berlin Woolworth store. In lower right is shown the reinforced roof of the Staatsopera (State Opera House) in Berlin. An anti-aircraft battery now crowns the structure. These photos were approved by the United States censor.

4 More Allied Merchantmen Sunk by Subs

THE DEATHS of 16 seamen aboard four merchant vessels torpedoed by axis submarines in the western Atlantic and the rescue of 230 others were disclosed yesterday in the navy's announcements of the sinkings.

With the sinking of a fifth ship, a Honduran merchant vessel, being reported by the Cuban navy, the unofficial Associated Press tally of allied and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor swelled to 354.

2 British Ships
The other U-boat victims were two medium-sized British ships, a small United States merchantman and a medium sized Belgian cargo ship. No members of the crew of the Honduran ship, shelled off the north coast of Cuba, were lost.

Two torpedoes, and shells from the submarine's large deck gun, blasted one of the British merchantmen to the bottom of the south Atlantic June 1, killing three crewmen on duty in the engine room.

Largest Sub
Among the vessel's 78 survivors was Quartermaster B. G. Cook, of London, who described the raider as being the largest submarine he had ever seen, and "big enough to carry a plane."

A 30-year-old submarine commander, speaking perfect English, pointed out the shortest route to land to 86 survivors of the second British cargo vessel—wishing them good luck and expressing his hopes of meeting them again. The lone fatality was a British Indian, who was blown to pieces by the torpedo. Two hours after continuous shelling, the merchantman sank. The raider signalled another submarine as it cruised away.

Charged German Spy Held for Grand Jury Hearing Without Bail

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, accused of going to Germany as an exchange student and returning as a nazi spy, faced the death penalty as a federal grand jury prepared yesterday to consider charges against him.

Attorney General Francis Biddle said in Washington the jury would be asked to indict Bahr on a charge of violating the espionage law, which provides the death penalty or imprisonment up to 30 years for violations committed during wartime.

Biddle said it was possible also that an indictment would be sought under the general conspiracy law, which covers unlawful acquisition and use of information affecting national defense. The penalty for such a violation is imprisonment for not more than two years and fine of not more than $10,000.

Citizen's Defense Corps

H. I. Jennings, director of the Iowa City Civilian Defense Corps, announced yesterday that volunteers are needed immediately to fill the following positions:

A total of 50 persons, 25 men and 25 women, to act as messengers for the corps;
Men interested in serving with volunteer police and fire squads under the supervision of the city fire and police chief, and
Applicants for instruction in the nurses aide corps.

Members of the Citizen's Defense Corps, now numbering approximately two hundred, will attend general instruction classes to be conducted in the junior high school building every Monday and Friday night beginning July 20.

Allied Bombs Sink Jap Ship At Nanchang

CHUNGKING, Saturday (AP)—Allied bombers have delivered a second smashing blow to Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi Province, sinking one transport in the river and destroying ten Japanese planes on the ground. Chinese dispatches reported today.

Allied planes heavily bombed this Japanese base last week, during that raid two, or possibly three, Japanese hangers were struck by direct hits and three Japanese planes were hit on one runway.

All the allied planes returned safely from the second attack on Nanchang, the dispatches said. The term allied planes is generally taken to mean United States machines belonging to the regular air force in China.

Meanwhile, Chinese forces in Kiangsi were reported pushing the Japanese back at several places.

The Chinese high command announced yesterday the recapture of Chungshu, 45 miles southwest of Nanchang, in a sharp setback of the invaders' latest push along the Kiangsi rail line to Hunan province. The Chinese also announced the recapture of Tsungjen, 70 miles south of Nanchang.

The official communique confirmed Chinese reports Thursday that a Japanese force of 30,000 had been ambushed and beaten back in heavy fighting in Kiangsi.

Senate Group Boosts OPA Appropriation

Raise House-Approved Figure $45,000,000; Restricts Use of Fund

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate appropriations committee recommended a $120,000,000 operating fund for the office of price administration yesterday, but in raising the house-approved total $45,000,000 wrote in sharp restrictions on the use of the money.

First of all, it directed that none of the money be used for subsidies. (Price Administrator Leon Henderson has urged that provision be made for subsidies to producers who, because of higher costs, cannot operate under present price ceilings.)

It also stipulated that: None of the appropriation could be used to enforce any price ceiling on commodities manufactured in whole or in part from agricultural products, until the secretary of agriculture had determined that the price so established would reflect to the producer of the raw material a return not less than any of the following: 110 per cent of parity; the market price last Oct. 1; the market price last Dec. 15, or the average price from 1919 to 1929.

None of the OPA fund could be used to enforce a regional increase in the price ceiling of any commodity on the theory that the rise was made necessary by increased transportation costs, unless in fact the cost of transportation had risen.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) insisted upon the latter amendment declaring Georgia was being unfairly penalized by the 2 1/2 cent per gallon increase in the price of gasoline recently allowed by OPA in the rationed eastern states. Russell said the cost of bringing gasoline to Georgia had not increased because it was carried in pipe lines.

Until another amendment requires senate confirmation of OPA employees receiving more than $4,500 a year. Some legislators have complained that Henderson has made appointments to regional OPA posts without consulting them—in some cases giving jobs to their political foes.

Malta Defenses Shoot Down 24 Axis Planes

VALLETTA, Malta (AP)—Malta's anti-aircraft defenses and RAF fighters maintained an enemy plane loss of one an hour for the second time this week, official British reports said last night.

Seventeen axis aircraft were shot down within four hours, a British communique said, and seven more during a second raid on the island fortress.

Last Tuesday, 24 planes were also shot down inside 24 hours.

Red Bombing Planes Launch Counter Attacks On German Airdromes in Norway and Finland

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet bombing squadrons entered the battle of the Arctic sea lanes yesterday, striking in force at nazi airdromes in Norway and Finland from which swarms of German warplanes have been raiding U. S. British convoys bound for Russia.

The counter-action was in the Barents sea area, where a Soviet submarine commander this week reported he had damaged the German super-battleship Tirpitz and forced it out of action against a big allied convoy.

Nazis Now Stand Halfway Across Russia As Reds Have Lost Almost All of Ukraine

MOSCOW, Saturday (AP)—German troops have driven into Rossosh, 150 miles east of the industrial city of Kharkov, and cut the main railway linking the central and southern red armies.

A communique early today announced the Russian withdrawal from Rossosh before a German wedge thrust parallel to the steel arm now plucking at Voronezh, 100 miles to the north. Rossosh itself is 20 miles short of the Don river which already had been crossed by the Germans striking at Voronezh, but it also is a point on the Moscow-Rostov railway.

The Russians were fighting fiercely "west of Voronezh," the communique said, but by evacuating Rossosh the red army acknowledged that the nazis in their second year of war stood halfway across European Russia to the Ural mountains from the old Polish demarcation line. Moreover, the nazis were some 70 miles east of a line drawn directly south of Moscow, and had virtually cleared the last Russian armed forces from the fertile farm lands of the Ukraine.

The Russians also disclosed increased enemy action nearer Rostov, southern gateway to the Caucasus. The communique reported the Germans had gone on the offensive in the locality of Lisichansk, on the Donets river about 140 miles northwest of Rostov.

The two long steel arms of the enemy were reaching out to envelop a 100-mile stretch of the central waterway and its vital adjacent railway which links Moscow and the central armies with the rich Caucasus and the red forces in the south.

The German strategy was clearly aimed at wrapping the red army forces west of the sluggish Don in a great sac, and to drive on to the Volga isolating the entire Caucasus.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, realizing the peril, was reported counter-attacking vigorously on the German flanks. He was pictured as determined to sell the rich earth and its industrial establishments only at the most exacting price in German lives and material.

Situation Serious
The situation admittedly was serious. Red Star, the official army newspaper, called for a stand to the death and said conditions near Voronezh were growing "more complicated" and near Rossosh "very difficult." Rossosh is but 235 miles from industrial Stalingrad, a key to the Caucasus.

Rossosh, on a tributary 20 miles from the big bend of the Don, is on the Moscow-Voronezh-Rostov railway, last remaining north-south railway still held by the Russians. The city and district now has become a battlefield. At the closest point, the Don flows within 45 miles of the Volga.

(The German high command said "the retreating enemy" is being pursued on a broad front in the south and that local resistance was broken. Russian attacks with tanks northwest of Voronezh were said to have collapsed with heavy casualties. Red attacks north and northwest of Orel with strong infantry and tank forces were "repulsed in violent fighting" and "local breaches were sealed off and mopped up in counter-attack" (See RUSSIA, page 5)

Back to Mr. Roosevelt Himself--

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON—The press has reported learning "on good authority" that the administration is considering legislation to freeze the wage-price economic level hard.

The authority was "very" good. There is none better. The notion can be traced back to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

His congressional leaders report him worried. He took the matter up with the big four of the house and senate at their last weekly private meeting at the White House, but only in a general way along the same lines he previously had suggested to them.

They did not understand that he had anything immediate in mind, but that he rather generally shares the opinion which his price fixer Leon Henderson suggested to a senator recently:

"Something will have to be done."

Meanwhile, wags around congress are popularizing the quip that the immediate problem is to bring the "all-in economy up to the all-out war effort."

While the conversationalists are using "all-in" only facetiously, the problem is growing fast, against only such verbal brakes as the president and Henderson are using.

Congress is inflationary-minded. The farm bloc wants higher prices, not necessarily what they consider inflationary prices, but higher than presently allowed. Labor as always, wants wage increases.

Together they represent majority opinion in the legislature. They were the ones who turned down all strong freezing devices in the present price-wage law and limited Henderson's devices.

But you cannot blame it all on congress. The farm bloc justifies itself, for instance, by rightly claiming that the administration policy on labor and wages has also been inflationary.

Furthermore, behind these generalizations, the situation is criss-crossed with innumerable political self-interests. Current White House worry, for instance, is deepened by congressional failure to levy all taxes Mr. Morgenthau wants and by obstreperous antics of the farm bloc on the feed-selling program.

Congressional antagonism to Henderson likewise lies in his failure to give them patronage in his vast organization.

It may be some time before anything effective is done.

Nelson Forgot the Criticized Points—

Donald Nelson's latest reorganization of his successful war production board did not materially touch one point of inner-criticism—the preponderance of investment bankers and financial business men in his organization.

His personnel assistant happens to be Sidney Weinberg, of Goldman-Sachs, who naturally happens to know practically everyone in Wall street or in the finance end of corporations, rather than the production end.

The result is one official was able to number on his fingers 16 such men in front WPB positions, the most prominent being:

Cliff Hill, Guaranty Trust company; Ed Locke, Chase National bank; Arthur Bunker Lehman brothers; James S. Knowlson, president, Stewart-Warner; Arthur Newhall, vice-president Talon, Inc., and Lessing J. Rosenwald, Rosenwald foundation.

Wall street business being what it is, Mr. Weinberg seems to be running a $1 a year unemployment relief program for investment bankers in WPB.

Scrap Rubber Drive Serious, Not Political—

The idea that the rubber scrap campaign is somewhat political and has produced little real rubber of use for tires is thoroughly disproved by the detailed results.

It is true that old tires and tubes are about the only scrap articles containing sufficient rubber for use in re-capping or making new ones. Some raincoats, shoes and garden hose are helpful.

But most of the other articles contain so little rubber and so much foreign substance, their practical value must fall in other less critical lines.

The evidence shows, however, more than half the scrap rubber acquired comes within the suitable category. From July 1 through the 7th, according to the petroleum war industry council, 534 carloads of casings and 414 carloads of mixed rubber were shipped out of the bulk storage points to the reclaimers.

Public Spirited Enthusiasm and High Shipping Costs—

Extraordinary success of the campaign out west (short of the Pacific coast) is attributed by authorities to two factors—

Public spirited enthusiasm generally runs stronger in those communities than along the more densely populated coast; also reclaiming by junk dealers was more intensive in populous centers before the campaign started. High shipping costs worked against depletion of western stocks.

They Didn't Know the Fourth—

There was an embarrassing moment on the radio the other evening for one of the armed forces in the New York area. During a question and answer program, the military men were given three of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed freedoms for which they are fighting and asked to state the fourth. No one knew.

Apparently some educational propaganda work is needed.

Freedom of Religion— Supreme Court Errs

—Freedom of the Press

We are fighting a global war, as the Roosevelt administration which appointed a majority of the present supreme court justices keeps telling us, to bring the "four freedoms" to the whole world. One of these freedoms is freedom of expression, a term which includes freedom of the press as guaranteed by our Bill of Rights. Another is freedom of religion.

Yet five out of the supreme court's nine justices saw fit recently to hand down a decision curtailing somebody's freedom of both press and religion. True, the somebody was nobody but the small and cantankerous sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses. But this decision, which held that town governments can force this sect's tract-pushers to pay license fees as peddlers, can be used to legalize the licensing of producers of any publication sold on streets or newsstands.

The license fees can be of any size. That means that any publication or tract-spreading religious group whom the licensing power happens not to like can be driven out of business in the licensing power's balliwick by fees placed prohibitively high.

This decision's threat to religious and press liberty in this country is real and urgent. These two freedoms can be wiped out if this decision stands. The decision was handed down by Associate Justice Byrnes, Frankfurter, Jackson, Reed and Roberts, with loud and vigorous dissents from Chief Justice Stone and Associate Justices Black, Douglas and Murphy.

While freedom of religion and of the press are being done to death in this country, our boys will be fighting to bring those blessings to the rest of the nations of the world. There is some discrepancy somewhere in all this.

We have a suggestion. Here it is: Let one or more of the big, powerful, well-organized and well-financed churches challenge this decision. Let one of these organizations, or a group of them if they feel so minded, turn loose some "peddlers" of religious literature in two or three towns which insist on licensing such persons; let these "peddlers" refuse to pay the license fees; let them be arrested; let the case be fought through the courts on the constitutional issue involved. And see how soon the supreme court finds that it erred when it sought to particularize.

Unless press and pulpit want their liberties whittled away by virtue of this supreme court decision, they had better get together now to carry this fight to a reversal of the decision. If those liberties go by the board, most of the things that make life worth living in the United States will go with them.

(The above editorial is reprinted from the current issue of Collier's magazine, through the courtesy of Collier's public relations department. The issue discussed has not been one of tremendous import to the general public, but the supreme court's decision has made it so. Through its decision, it has encroached upon the rights of the people of the United States to freedom of religion and freedom of the press. We join Collier's in voicing the opinion that action should be taken immediately to have this supreme court decision reversed. — THE EDITOR)

A MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

He Enters a Room, His Presence Fills It

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This beau ideal of a soldier has what is known as dash. He enters a room as Jeb Stuart would enter a room. When he gets there, his presence fills it. He doesn't wear Stuart's plume, but it plumes were in order he would have one. His trousers are the only pleated trousers in the army. The new summer officer's blouses do not have belts, but his has one. He is Brigadier General James Doolittle, who came to New York by devious ways, including Tokyo and Washington.

With him was Paul V. McNutt, and the occasion was an informal party given by an old friend, Charles E. Rochester, of the Lexington hotel. Maj. Gen. William Ottmann was there, and so was Brigadier General Wolf; there, too, was Capt. John S. Baylis, of the coast guard, formerly captain of the Port of New York, but now en route to take command at San Juan, Puerto Rico. It was the first time I had seen Capt. Baylis in more than two years. He was a commander then.

You walked in and there were whole roasted turkeys and hams and lobsters. There was a special floral plane built of white and red carnations and orchids, which McNutt presented to Doolittle. Doolittle accepted it, then seized what appeared to be an African bush knife and carved out a huge slice of turkey. He seemed fascinated with the knife. "How about borrowing this," he called to his host. If I get in trouble I could use it."

Over a platter of French fried shrimp I said:

"General, I don't want to keep harping on this—but what were your reactions, what did you think when you came in there, in broad daylight, and saw Japan suddenly come up out of the ocean in front of you?"

"I was astonished," he said. "That we weren't anticipated at sea."

After they got that close, they knew they were going to do all the things they had set out to do. Just about then the door burst open, and, with bull-like roars, Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson came in. Confusion reigned. Johnson and Olsen are old pals of the general's. There was much loud talk and laughter. Paul V. McNutt, who is the handsomest man I ever saw, sank back on a couch and laughed for fifteen minutes.

Later, I sat in a corner and divided my attention between a strawberry pie and the general. Perhaps a dozen, maybe twenty, of his officer friends came in to greet him. When he shakes hands, you can feel it to the elbow. Having one son in the army and another in West Point, he must be close to fifty. But he has the step of a tennis player. He's hard as a buck private marine.

When news of the Jap attack on Hawaii first broke last December 7, Doolittle was standing with several of his pals, in St. Louis, I believe. As one of the men who was with him recalls, Doolittle banged his fist against a table and said, "I'm gonna get in this."

It appears that Jimmy Doolittle knew exactly what he was talking about.

Close 3 Youth Camps

SIoux CITY (AP)—Two youth camps in Sioux City and one near So. Sioux City, Neb., were closed yesterday on advice of Dr. John A. Cowan, city health supervisor. It was disclosed that Joan Bright, Sheldon, was seriously ill of Rocky Mountain spotted fever, caused, it was believed, by the bite of a woodtick.

Dr. Cowan said that ticks are present in unusually large numbers in wooded areas, where these and other camps are located.

Australia normally produces a 40-million-dollar fruit crop.

Artist Guston Lectures Here

"Cubist discoveries, begun by Braque and Picasso in 1910, accelerated the movement toward a new graphic vision," Philip Guston, visiting artist in the art department, explained yesterday in the third lecture in the fine arts series.

Discussing "Formal Values in Contemporary Art," Guston compared the work of the medieval artists, the post impressionists, Signac, Seurat, Matisse and Cezanne, and the cubists, Braque and Picasso.

Picasso redefined the value of line and color, Guston said, refusing to render only visual reality.

"Picasso's paintings are startling in their pattern effect. It is difficult to explain Picasso because he resembles nothing we have ever seen. He achieves a potent directness, with a total effect of vitality and liveliness."

Concluding his talk, Guston advised artists, "Paint what you know and feel. The sensitive painter can do nothing else."

Virginia Dale Weds Lieut. Charles Heaton

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Virginia Jean Dale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dale of Boone, to Lieut. Charles Curtis Heaton, nephew of Mrs. E. E. Blythe, 121 N. Duquesne. The wedding took place April 25 at Enid, Okla.

Mrs. Heaton attended Boone junior college and the American Institute of Business in Des Moines.

Lieutenant Heaton attend Boone junior college and University of Iowa. He has been stationed at Moore Field, Mission, Tex., and has recently been transferred to a tactical unit at Savannah, Ga.

Lieut. and Mrs. Heaton are visiting Mrs. Blythe for a few days before leaving for Georgia.

Phoenix Fund Officials Will Contact Summer Students Next Week

Beginning next week students living in organized houses will be contacted by representatives of the Phoenix fund for contributions, it was announced yesterday by Francis Weaver, originator of the plan.

All contributions are voluntary for the fund, which is designed to aid students to return to school after serving in the armed forces. Last year contributions of ten cents per week were solicited.

Maxine Miller Weds D. Bender Tonight

In a 7 o'clock service this evening Maxine Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Mack Miller, 530 E. Washington, will be married to Donald Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bender of Coralville.

Garden flowers and candles will decorate the home of the bride's parents where the Rev. Raymond Ludwison will perform the single ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a street length dress of white eyelet made with a fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline, full skirt and short puffed sleeves. She will wear a corsage of sweet peas and daisies.

Shirley Miller will attend her sister as maid of honor. Her dress will be of white eyelet styled with a fitted bodice, square neckline and a full skirt. Her shoulder corsage will be of sweet peas.

Best man will be Lester Harris.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held in the bride's home for the wedding party.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding will be Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller and daughter, Julia, of Cedar Rapids.

The bride was graduated from Iowa City high school. Mr. Bender was graduated from University high school. He is employed by the Western Union Telegraph company.

The couple will make its home at the Harmon apartments.

Cadet G. Holoubek Gets 2nd Lieutenant Rating in Air Corps

Navigation Cadet G. H. Holoubek, son of Mrs. Amelia J. Holoubek, 804 E. Davenport, was recently commissioned as a second lieutenant in the army airforce at Turner Field, Albany, Ga. Now at home on leave, he will report at Pope Field, N. C., Wednesday for duty as a navigator in troop transport.

Lieutenant Holoubek was a member of Co. G., medical regiment of the national guard, and left Iowa City with that unit in February, 1941, for Camp Claiborne, La. He completed a course in pharmacy in an army pharmacy school at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., in June, 1941.

Entering the air corps at Ft. Dix, N. J., as an aviation cadet, he was later transferred to Napier field and Maxwell field, both in North Carolina. He received his advanced training at Turner field.

All-State High Pupils to Give Comedy Here

All-state high school pupils will present G. Martinez Sierra's comedy, "The Cradle Song," July 20 and 21 in the university theater as part of the fine arts festival.

Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic art department, announces.

Prof. Vance M. Morton of the dramatic art department will direct the production, assisted by Horace Hoover, G. West Union. High school students from many sections of the country are cast in the all-state production.

The two-act Spanish comedy received critics' acclaim during performances at the Teatro Lara, Madrid, in 1911; the Times Square theater, New York, in 1921; the Fortune theater, London in 1926, and the Civic Repertory theater, New York, with Eve Le Gallienne in the leading role. The play was translated into English by John Garret Underhill.

Each role in the play is cast with two students at present, and actors for the opening performance will be chosen by Professor Mabie next week.

The players are Margaret Shuttleworth of Hamden, Conn.; Kathryn Bellew of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.; Isabel Sarvis of Oskaloosa; Patricia Weir of Mt. Pleasant; Jean Stocking of Omaha, Neb.; Jean Donahue of Iowa City; Marion Rice of South Bend, Ind.; Kaaron Kubik of Vinton; Barbara Horrabin of Iowa City; Mary Alice Wareham of Iowa City; Barbara Beye of Iowa City; Dolores Korfhage of South St. Paul, Minn.; Dorothy Schulze of Ossain; Joan Huston of Columbus Junction; Eleanor Tucker of Washington, Susan West of Waterloo.

Educators Discuss Religious Training

Three suggested solutions to the problem of where, how and when the child should receive his religious education were discussed by five educators at a panel forum on "Religious Training—How Can Our Day School Cooperate?" yesterday morning in the Methodist church.

The discussion was a project of the Vacation Bible club. Members of the panel were Prof. Maude McBroom of the university college of education, discussion leader; Iver A. Opstad, city superintendent of schools; Frank L. Jones of the political science department of Iowa City high school; Mrs. Isabel Porter, and Ernest Read principal of Roosevelt school.

Suggested solutions to the problem were: (1) The establishment of separate public schools for week-day religious classes and (3) More teaching in the churches and more teaching in the home.

John J. Niel Attends Price Ceiling Meeting

John J. Niel, secretary of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, attended a price ceiling meeting in Des Moines Thursday.

The purpose of the meeting was to ask chamber of commerce organizations throughout Iowa and the entire nation to cooperate with local rationing boards in helping retailers to post costs of necessary items.

Moot Court Sessions Bring 6th Annual Police Course to Close

Moot court sessions brought to a close the university's sixth annual peace officers' short course, yesterday concluding the series of lectures and demonstrations.

This year's five-day course featured special classes in wartime duties, such as organization and training of auxiliary police departments, control of incendiary bombs, enforcement of black-out regulations, police communications and evacuation problems.

Iowa's war traffic conservation program, including the staggering of hours, sharing rides, elimination of needless and careless driving, preservation through law enforcement, and conservation through street and highway engineering was discussed.

The moot court sessions, in charge of Dean Mason Ladd and Arthur O. Leff of the college of law, presented demonstrations of various problems of legal proof. This part of the program replaced the lectures on court room conduct offered in previous short courses.

Use of exhibits in court was demonstrated in a car accident case. Expert witness on the stand was Jack Swink, Iowa City lawyer. Fingerprint evidence in a breaking and entering case was presented by Paul E. Hodgson of the department of public safety in Des Moines.

Past memoranda recorded as evidence was used in a holdup case demonstration, with Joseph H. Strub, chief of police at Dubuque, as the testifying witness.

Intoxication Case

Proper and improper conduct of officers on a witness stand was shown through presentation of an intoxication case. Witness on the stand was Joe Dolezal, assistant chief of police, Iowa City.

Right and wrong methods of obtaining confessions and testifying to them was demonstrated in a larceny case. F. B. Nesper, sheriff of Muscatine, served as the witness.

Character testimony through impeaching alibi witnesses was presented by R. E. O'Brien, city detective of Des Moines, as witness.

Throughout the demonstration, Dean Ladd served as prosecuting attorney and Leff as the attorney for the defense. Ed Rate, Johnson county attorney, acted as judge.

Following the moot court sessions, Dean Ladd selected at random several officers from the group and questioned them on techniques used in the examinations.

Yesterday afternoon's session concluded with a discussion of hearsay testimony. Peace officers heard an address by Carl J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament and author of "I Saw it Happen in Norway" at the last session last night.

Hambro Says Occupied Norway United Against Nazi Aggressor

Revealing the important part Norway is playing in the battle against the axis, Carl J. Hambro, president of the exiled Norwegian parliament, declared here last night that "there are no classes or parties in an occupied country—those who have, give to those who haven't, and all rival parties have formed a united front against the aggressor."

The address was the fourth in the university's summer lecture series and was delivered on the south union campus.

Hambro stated that Germany has lost a psychological battle in Norway. The Nazi attempts to terrorize Norwegian schools and churches have failed miserably due to united resignations of professors, students and clergymen.

"The Germans have since threatened to arrest any of these scholars if they attempt to leave their positions," the speaker said. He explained, moreover, that the Gestapo has failed to find the "Liberty" radio which for the past two years has been broadcasting to Norwegians informing them of the true state of affairs in their country.

"The nazis have also failed to stop the circulation of an illegal newspaper which is being sent to the public through the German controlled mail system in envelopes of the enemy police department."

In pointing out the effectiveness in aiding the allied cause, Hambro asserted, "We still carry 40 per cent of the fuel for the united nations and 25 per cent of Great Britain's provisions. Experts have declared that this merchant marine was more important than the RAF or the expeditionary force sent to the continent in the fight for victory."

Concerning the strong battle put up by the Norwegians against the Germans, he said that the number of Nazi losses in Norway was much greater than enemy losses in France. Over 100,000 tons of German shipping was destroyed by the Norwegian navy during the invasion.

"No air force has been recruited like the one Norway is training in Ontario," the speaker revealed. "Men travel from all over the world facing the dangers of the Nazi police, the Russian winter and starvation in order to join this flying force which will avenge Norway. Escaping from Norway, some travel to Sweden, then to Moscow, to Vladivostok, to Japan and (after Pearl Harbor) through Singapore across the Pacific to Canada."

Hambro described the ostracization of the German occupation army in Norway by various anecdotes. He quoted John Steinbeck's description of the invading army as "a fly who attacks fly paper; it will get there, but will never leave alive."

In conclusion, he declared that no matter how many are shot or imprisoned by the nazis, Norway will continue her fight. "The Germans may kill, but they will not conquer. In a democracy, which has experienced hundreds of years of freedom, every person is a potential leader and the more they kill off, the more will come to the front to lead the fight."

Foxx Helps Passeau In Thirteenth Victory As Cubs Win, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP)—Jimmy Foxx's third hit, a single in the eighth inning, yesterday gave the Chicago Cubs and Claude Passeau a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves. Passeau pitched a five-hit game to best Jim Tobin and end a four-game losing streak. It was Passeau's 13th win against five losses.

Tobin allowed only six hits and none until the Cubs tied the score with three hits in the fifth inning. Passeau pitched to 18 batters in the last six innings.

Foxx's winning hit came with Phil Cavarretta on second as a result of Tobin's wild throw trying to start a double play on Stringer's grounder.

The Braves scored their two runs in the second, when Lombardi singled, West walked and after Miller forced West, Grempp doubled to score Lombardi and Miller.

Bill Welch Knocks Out Marvin Ward In Quarter-Finals

SPOKANE (AP)—The national public links golf champion beat the national amateur champion yesterday in a quarter-finals match of the Western association's championship. It was poker-faced Bill Welch of Houston, back on the scene of his triumph a year ago, who knocked defending titlist Corp. Marvin "Bud" Ward out of competition, 2 up.

Ward, stationed with the army air force here, snapped out of the slump that overtook him Thursday but he didn't snap far enough. Welch chopped par to bits. He toured the par 72 course in 69 and double clinched the match on the 18th green with a birdie.

Ward, seeking his third straight western crown, had to scramble but he racked up a 35-36-71 and at the ninth hole was 1 up on Welch. The latter put together nines of 36-33 against the pair of 36s for the layout's par.

Ward was 2 up at the 10th but his rival grabbed the next two to square things and they battled even until the 16th. Ward hooked his drive into the woods on this 197-yarder and lost it to a par 3, Welch being on the green. The Texan laid his second up to within three feet on the last hole where Ward's drive hit a tree and he was on the green but far past the pin on his third.

In other matches Fireman Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles whipped an old rival and fellow Californian, Skee Riegel of Glendale, 3 and 2, while Corp. Pat Abbott of Denver blasted the hopes of Marsh Hammond, local entry, 4 and 3.

Former Walker cup star Harry Givan of Seattle, gave Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., a links lesson to the tune of 5 and 4.

Welch meets McCormick and Abbott takes on Givan in today's semi-finals.

A's Get Only 4 Hits As Indians Win, 4-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mel Harder's four-hit pitching gave the Cleveland Indians a 4 to 2 victory over the Athletics at Shibe park yesterday. The triumph preserved the Tribe's hold on third place in the American league, four games behind Boston.

'Ox' Hughson Pitches Red Sox to 6-1 Win Over Detroit Tigers

BOSTON (AP)—Cecil "Ox" Hughson drove in three runs with a double and single yesterday for half his team's tallies, as he notched his ninth victory of the season while the Boston Red Sox were defeating the Detroit Tigers, 6-1.

The Sox got to starting Pitcher Paul "Dizzy" Trout in the second inning after his erratic hurling gave successive bases on balls to Bob Doerr and Tony Lupien. Jim Tabor chased them both home with a double to the left field corner and Hughson drove in Tabor with a sharp single to right.

Billy Hitchcock, shortstop, and Barney McCosky led the futile Tiger attack.

Reds Triumph Over Dodgers

Winning Tally Comes In Tenth Frame On McCormick's Bingle

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank McCormick singled home Bucky Walters in the tenth inning last night to give Cincinnati a 2-1 victory over Brooklyn. Walters hurled six-hit ball in earning his tenth victory and the first in four starts against the Dodgers.

The winning run was unearned. Walters led off the Reds' half of the tenth with a single, and Hugh Casey replaced Kirby Higbe and fanned Eddie Joost. Lonnie Frey then tapped to Casey, and shortstop Peeewe Reese dropped the pitcher's low throw to second. Max Marshall popped, but McCormick lined a single through mid-diamond, and Walters slid home under Pete Reiser's throw.

Each side got only one man on base in the first two innings, but in the third the Dodgers scored when Higbe bounced a single over Walters' head, took third on Reese's single and scored on a force play. The Reds tied it in their half of the third on singles by Ray Lamanno and Harry Craft, a sacrifice by Walters and Joost's long fly.

Walters' second single off Higbe in the tenth was the sixth safety big right-thunder yielded. In the six innings before the winning rally, not a Redleg reached third.

Only Salvation
 "And this is the only salvation for golf," says Rangy Ed Dudley, president of the professional golfers association with the Georgian draw. "This repossessed ball isn't bad. It cuts down your drives 10 or 15 yards but it does the job. Golf balls certainly aren't plentiful these days."

Weekend Plan Strong
 "Lessons and play, both, have dropped off a lot compared with last year, but weekend play is holding up as well as any of us could expect. Cars going to country clubs these days carry full loads, now that people are doubling up."

Dudley said that even the pros have hung up their clubs in favor of war work were keeping up their dues. These range from $10 to $25 per year, depending on the pro's classification, based on his experience.

An effort to get a prediction as to how extensive next year's pro money circuit might be found the PGA money peggy.

"Couldn't tell you much about that," he said. "Anybody's guess is good right now."

Pinchhitter Triplett Singles in 9th Inning To Save St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals snatched a victory over the New York Giants out of the fire yesterday after being shutout by Bob Carpenter on four hits for 8 2/3 innings.

The trouble started with Whitney Kurovski's apparently wasted single in the ninth, but pinch-hitter Walker Cooper doubled and everybody quickly realized the heat was on. Manager Mel Ott of the Giants flagged Ace Adams in from the bullpen and Coaker Triplett batted for Max Lanier.

On the first pitch Triplett singled to score both runners and tie the game. In the tenth Terry Moore singled, Enos Slaughter singled and Stan Musial bunted down the third base line. Both Adams and third baseman Bill Werber charged in for the ball. Adams fielded it and uncorked a quick throw to third for a force play—but nobody was there and the ball sailed into leftfield to let the winning run score unopposed.

November 2 Date Set For Baptist Meeting

Committee Chairmen Chosen in Preliminary Meeting This Week

The annual convocation of the Baptist churches of eastern Iowa will be held in the Iowa City Community building Nov. 2, according to plans which were formulated at a preliminary meeting held here this week.

This is to be one of the 200 previously planned by the Northern Baptist convention in an effort to prepare members to meet the additional responsibilities which face Christians in a world at war.

Baptist representatives who met in Iowa City Monday selected committee chairman to handle arrangements for the convocation.

Committee Chairmen They are the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks of Iowa City, convocator; Charles R. Wilhelm of Davenport, publicity; the Rev. Rodney Gould of Cedar Rapids, deputation; Virgil Copeland of Iowa City, details; Mrs. E. H. Rief of Kalona, literary; Morris Hammond of Iowa City, visualization, and Mrs. C. E. Beck of Iowa City, entertainment.

Convocations are to be of an inspirational and informative nature in order to equip those attending to impart the spirit of the meeting when they return to their communities. At each convocation a team consisting of four members, a pastor, missionary, secretary and layman, will be in charge.

Eastern Iowa Plans Tentative plans for the eastern Iowa meeting call for a team composed of the Rev. Ralph A. Jensen, executive secretary of the Southern California convention; the Rev. Cecil C. Hobbs, missionary recently returned from Burma; Mrs. Joseph Anderson, lay leader from Chicago, and Julius Fishbach, prominent church worker.

The preliminary meeting in Iowa City was under the direction of the Rev. Edwin A. Bell, regional director of the council of religious education for the northern Baptist convention, and the Rev. E. H. Ward, promotional director for Iowa and Nebraska.

Meetings similar to the one which is to be held in Iowa City will be conducted in Des Moines, Mason City and Sioux City.

Roberts to Interview RAF Pilot on WSUI At 11 This Morning

Sergt. Pilot Robert Williams of the RAF will be interviewed by Prof. T. Hew Roberts of the college of education on the "Views and Interviews" program over WSUI at 11 o'clock this morning.

Sergeant Pilot Williams is a flying instructor in Canada. Originally from Canterbury, England, he joined the RAF in England when he was 19 and saw the first big blitzes over England. Now on two weeks leave from Canada, he is visiting friends in the United States.

National Hero's Day Will Be Held Here

A national hero's day celebration will be held in Iowa City next Friday to honor men in the service of the United States in the present war, it was announced by H. S. Ivie, chairman of the local "Retailers for Victory" committee, which is sponsoring the event.

Capt. D. C. Hanrahan, commander of the naval pre-flight school, has granted the navy band permission to participate in the celebration.

American heroes of the second World war will be honored throughout the nation on this day. The Columbia Broadcasting system will present a program, "Featuring Heroes of the Present War," Thursday at 10 p.m.

Iowa City Grenadiers To Exhibit Saturday On Waterloo Program

The Iowa City Grenadiers, junior drum and bugle corps, will perform on the baseball booster program for the Three-I league in Waterloo Saturday, July 18, it was announced yesterday.

They will present a 45-minute exhibition, preceding the baseball game, which will include precision drills, fancy formations and baton twirling.

Stamp No. 7 in sugar rationing books became valid yesterday and will be good for two pounds of sugar until Aug. 22, according to the local rationing board.

This in addition to the amounts already authorized for stamps No. 5 and 6. Stamp No. 5 will be accepted for two pounds until July 25, and stamp No. 6 will entitle the owner to two pounds from July 26 to Aug. 22.

Authorization of stamp No. 7 provides the householder with an additional pound of sugar for the June 28 to July 25 period, and another additional pound for the July 28 to Aug. 22 period.

Admiral Chester Nimitz, Chief of Pacific Fleet, Injured in Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, was injured recently in a west coast airplane crash in which a naval reserve pilot lost his life.

The accident, which occurred when the plane was landing at an airfield in an unidentified port, was announced yesterday by the navy department in a statement emphasizing that the foremost naval officer in the Pacific area had "escaped serious injury."

The flier who was killed was the co-pilot, Lieutenant Thomas Morton Rose, 29, of Oakland, Cal.

Nimitz, whose headquarters are in Hawaii, was on the continent for a conference with Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, who inspected west coast naval establishments.

The German marshal's realignment—only a slight move—was a tactical corrective move to eliminate a sharp angle out of the line taken several days ago to forestall a British flanking move on the south, above the Qattara depression. The newest move was a further axis safeguard against threatened envelopment.

Of the renewed American participation in the attacks on the axis overseas supply line, the British communique said:

"United States army heavy bombers operating over the Mediterranean shot down two enemy fighters which attempted to intercept."

The admiralty announced in a separate communique that a British submarine stalking an axis convoy in the Mediterranean had destroyed two enemy ships en-

Down 2 Jap Bombers

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Saturday (AP)—Allied forces shot down two Japanese bombers this morning when 21 enemy bombers and eight fighters attacked Port Moresby, New Guinea, an allied communique said today.

In the immediate battle area, some 70 miles west of Alexandria where the axis forces have been deadlocked for a week after their long sprint across the desert, British fighter-bombers kept up the attack on corralled enemy transport. The communique reported more than 50 vehicles were destroyed in current operations.

The glider was first successfully flown in 1810.

I.C. Sells 400 Boutonnieres

Approximately four hundred war savings stamps boutonnières were sold in Iowa City yesterday, John J. Niels, secretary of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, announced last night.

Niels said the remaining stamps will be available in downtown Iowa City again today. The boutonnières, containing nine 10-cent war savings stamps, sell for $1. The entire supply of 500 was made by the Jessamine chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Prof. Karl E. Leib Speaks on Wartime Business Situation

"The future of business after the war is the future of the United States after the war," said Prof. Karl E. Leib of the college of commerce, chairman of the university athletic board of control, in an address yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the Masonic service club.

Professor Leib explained the old theory of business as a situation where the accumulation of capital was left to the individual, with a minimum of governmental control. The country grew and prospered under this regime, but changes have been occurring, and are occurring and will occur. The biggest business of the United States is now the federal government, he said.

Today the tremendous proportion of the national income is in the hands of the federal government, explained Professor Leib. "If we continue to change as we have changed, the control of the flow of income will continue to be in the hands of the government."

Professor Leib feels that the future of business will be just what we make it. Therefore it will be necessary to exercise extreme care in selecting men to fill public offices who have confidence, wisdom and ability.

"Political economists are now working to judge the effectiveness of men who are working in public offices," Professor Leib declared. He outlined on the board the existing graphic method used for cost control at the present time.

Professor Leib believes that in the changed set-up of business, small business enterprises are going to find the competition difficult. The federal government will be the greatest industry in the world, and a large proportion of our income will probably be used to provide for national protection.

Lieut. Robert Blythe, security officer of the navy pre-flight school, will speak on "Civilian Defense as it Affects us in this Community" before members of the club and their wives, at the luncheon meeting in the Masonic temple next Friday.

Those planning to attend the luncheon are asked to make advance reservations at the home of H. A. Lindsley, phone 7342.

University Symphony To Broadcast Today Over Radio Network

The University of Iowa Summer Session Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department will be heard over the mutual broadcasting system from 2 to 2:30 this afternoon, thus marking the first time that a University of Iowa orchestra has broadcast over a national chain.

It will be the first of the series of four university programs which will be heard over national radio networks. Approximately three hundred stations will carry the program.

Included on this afternoon's performance will be "Prelude to Act I of Lohengrin" by Wagner, and "Capriccio Espagnol" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, in five movements, alborada, variazioni, alborada, scena e canto gitano, ad fandango asturiano.

I.C. Scout Overnight Camp Is Postponed

The overnight camp planned for next weekend by the Boy Scouts of Iowa City for cubs and their fathers has been postponed until the weekend of July 25-26, Owen B. Thiel, scout executive, announced yesterday. The outing will be held at Camp Wo-Pe-Na on that date.

Many of the local scouts are now attending the Buffalo Bill camp at Davenport, and this is the chief reason the Cub-Dad outing has been postponed.

450,000,000 Chinese Have Fought Aggression 5 Years

OUR PACIFIC ALLIES CHINA UNITED NATIONS

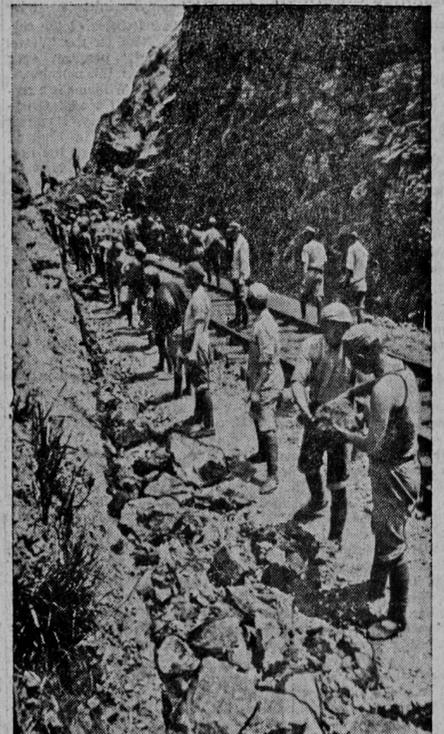

AMONG the 28 United Nations China is the first to be invaded by an Axis aggressor and the first to put up a successful fight against the enemy. More than ten years ago Japan invaded and occupied China's northeastern provinces of Manchuria. Exactly five years ago this month the Japanese armies began their series of brutal assaults all over China and were met with the unprecedented armed resistance of a united people which today has broadened into the world-wide struggle for freedom.

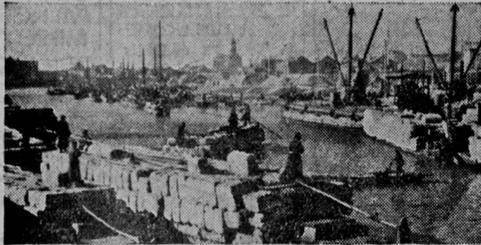

The 450,000,000 Chinese who live on 4,000,000 square miles of territory, represent one of the largest and most powerful of the United Nations. Recognizing from the very beginning the long-term and world-wide character of the war, they have, under the leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek made "Resistance and Reconstruction" their twin objectives. During the five years of war China has not forgotten to build for peace. More exciting than news from the fighting fronts have been reports of colleges and factories being picked up and transplanted into Free China, of railroads built and highways blazed, of hand industry cooperatives springing up in numerous provinces, and of war orphans being cared for and trained to become useful citizens. These and other events are the result of China's conviction that she is fighting not only for the world that is but for a new and better world.

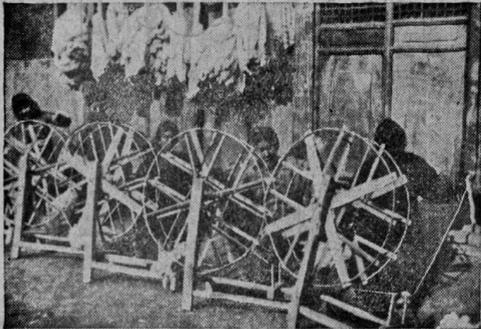

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is the fighting leader of the Chinese Republic. Shown with General Chiang in this photograph is Owen Lattimore, his political adviser from America. In spite of the welcome lend-lease aid which we now send, many more U. S. planes, guns and supplies are desperately needed so China can hold her vital sector in the United Nations battle line.

When they are not fighting the invader, Chinese soldiers do their part in the job of building vitally needed roads and railways for New China.

This waterfront scene is typical of the barge traffic on China's great rivers. China is rich in many raw materials the U. S. needs, but Japanese blockade must be lifted before they can get here.

Old-fashioned spinning wheels provide yarn to clothe China's millions. Tiny home industries like this are encouraged in China where they exist side by side with modern factories and machines.

Children sing for the workers of an industrial cooperative in Kiangsi Province. 3,000 of these small industries help sustain China's millions and supply her armies' war needs.

Workmen forge a steel machine-gun part at a factory in western China. Under tremendous handicaps, the Chinese have started from nothing and built up modern industrial plants behind their fighting lines.

Japanese militarists introduced total war to the world two years before Hitler attacked Poland. Shanghai and its citizens became military objectives for the Mikado's bombers.

Farmers and refugees, driven from their land and occupations, moved south and west to continue the struggle.

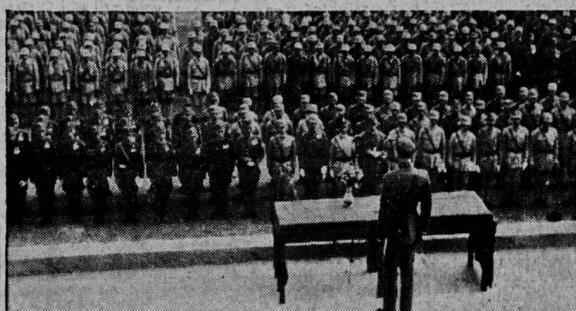

Two million Chinese worked to open the Burma Road, vital supply route for U. S. materiel, which is now closed.

CHINA ENTERS 6TH WAR YEAR

ON JULY 7, 1937, at Marco Polo Bridge, Japan struck the blow that started the "China Incident." On Dec. 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor, Japan dropped the bombs that brought war to America. Sadly lacking in mechanized weapons, China has come up the long and hard way from fighting aggression single-handed—almost barehanded—to the position of valued ally among the United Nations. To her allies China has brought many things from her five years' experience with the powerful Japanese military machine. There is the sheer fighting ability proved in the countless battles all along the 2,500-mile front and behind it. There is the civilian morale that has stood the test of the worst bombings. And then, there is the manpower—ten million trained men, five million armed soldiers, including 800,000 guerrillas and 600,000 regular troops operating in supposedly enemy-occupied areas.

China's value as a fighting ally is only equaled by the strategic importance of that country as a base for Allied air offensive against Japan proper. After Doolittle's raid on Tokyo the Japanese have launched a determined drive to seek out and destroy actual and potential Allied air bases in the Chinese provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsi. The current enemy offensives are also aimed at seizing some of China's strategic railways, a complete hold on which would enable Japan to have unbroken land communication all the way from the Siberian border to Singapore. By once again stalling the invaders at all cost, the Chinese are making it difficult for Japan to consolidate her gains in the southern Pacific or to strike at Soviet Russia in the north. Only with more bombers and pursuit planes from America, however, can our Chinese ally play her full role in the Allied offensive from Asia promised by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, United Nations Commander-in-Chief of the China theater of war.

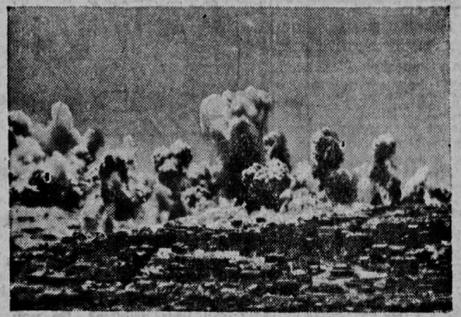

Under Chiang Kai-shek, China's manpower was mobilized. Thousands of peasants, students and workers trained in the interior to become soldiers.

Often underequipped, with no plane support, Chinese soldiers broke war rules, defeated Jap invaders three times at Changsha, the last time in January '42.

Biggest thorn in Japanese occupation forces have been some 800,000 guerrilla warriors, who have carried on a ceaseless war behind Jap lines.

Chungking, since becoming China's wartime capital, has been the worst bombed city in the world.

Flying Tigers, a lone example of what China can do if and when she can be reinforced in the air.
