Nazis Push on Stalingrad

HOW 'SMART' NAZIS MAKE FOOD SUPPLY STRETCH

Faced with a serious food supply problem on the Russian front because of the Soviet scorched earth policy, the nazis apparently have found one way to make available food go further. The corpses pictured above were Russian soldiers captured by the Germans, but the nazis cut down on the prisoners' food so that their own troops could eat.

Germans 175 Miles From City; Reds Evacuate Two More Towns

Soviet Press Warns 'Menace Is Great' on Caucasus Approaches as Two Enemy Columns Smash Ahead in South

MOSCOW Thursday (AP)—Two German columns driving in separate sectors toward the steel city of Stalingrad have forced Russian troops to evacuate the towns of Boguchar, on the Don river in the north, and Millerovo, on the Moscow-Rostov railway supply line and only 175 miles from Stalingrad, the Russian high command reported early today.

On the northern limits of the battlefield, Soviet troops fought off a renewed series of German attacks against Voronezh, the midnight communique said. There were no material changes in other sectors of the long fighting line.

The official Russian press meanwhile warned that the "menace is great" on the approaches of the caucasus. Fighting in the Voronezh area is "developing with increased ferocity," the Russians said. "A number of fortified positions have changed hands several times."

Soviet troops, counter attacking after German thrusts in several sectors, have forced nazi tank and infantry units to withdraw with heavy losses.

British, Australian Units Smash Rommel Drive

U.S. May Face Meal Famine Under Present Beef Price Ceiling, Live Stock Men Report

DES MOINES (AP)—Testimony given here yesterday by livestock producers and feeders at a national livestock advisory council hearing was to the effect that the United States may be heading toward a meat famine under present beef price ceiling regulations.

Livestock men from California to Ohio testified that millions of pounds of beef are being lost as cattle are marketed a hundred and more pounds under usual marketing weights.

Dry-feed lots were reported empty in many sections of the corn belt and feeders were reported not producing stock.

Thirty producers, representing fourteen states, were questioned during the first session of the hearing. Taking of testimony will be continued tomorrow.

From this evidence the council will prepare a brief to be presented to the office of price administration and the U. S. department of agriculture in an effort to have adjustments made in price regulations. The information is being submitted at the request of government officials.

Frank B. Davis, Greely, Colorado, testified that under current price ceilings he would lose $18,000 in one year if he continued normal operations. Davis based this figure on feeding out 3,000 head of steers, at an average loss of $6.40 per head.

Numerous Axis Captives Taken During Attack

Imperials Hit Enemy In Center as Rommel Battles on Coast Road

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—British forces striking suddenly in the central sector of the El Alamein battleground captured an "appreciable" number of prisoners in a sharp offensive last night while Australians on the coastal road were throwing back a strong attempt by Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to regain lost ground.

A considerable amount of British armor was known to have been massed in this central sector of the desert battleground some 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The British hit the axis in the center while Marshal Rommel was fiercely engaged on the coast road. There, too, he was repulsed and attacks in other sectors also were thrown back.

The RAF was considerably active, fighter bombers and night bombers scoring many direct hits on tanks.

The new nazi effort to retake the desert coastal ridge five miles west of El Alamein began with a sundown attack by motorized infantry and tanks Tuesday, wore on through the night and continued until it was beaten off last evening.

After being repulsed in a daylight attack Monday with considerable losses, Marshal Erwin Rommel apparently decided to try his luck on the night side, still trying to dislodge the allies from Tel El Eisa—the Hill of Jesus—which was taken by Australian troops last Friday in the first half of a 10-mile Imperial advance west of El Alamein.

Third Axis Attack
It was the third axis attack so far on the heights.

The Imperial defenders had the continued backing of the royal air force, which has maintained mastery of the skies over the battlefield, and the fliers pounded at the enemy tank and motorized infantry columns in large-scale attacks.

In one swoop the RAF destroyed all but one vehicle in a desert convoy of 15 armored cars and transports and one tank, besides taking the customary toll of axis aircraft.

The RAF also attacked the port of Tobruk in force, sowing fires that eventually blended into one great conflagration.

Below the coastal strip the desert floor actions were confined to minor engagements of columns and patrols.

Second Front Fever Rises

Russian Plea: Invade Europe

Prime Consideration, Anti-Sub Campaign, Reported Favorable

LONDON (AP)—Advocates of a second land front in Europe to help Soviet Russia pressed firmly last night for quick action while British sources reported definite and favorable progress in the battle against nazi submarines which looms as an important factor in all second front considerations.

Qualified London sources who declined to permit use of their names said Russia was pleading again through her envoy, Ivan Maisky, for prompt help by a British-American expedition to Europe to take some of the tremendous nazi pressure off the Red army.

The Russians in Moscow were indirectly presenting a case for a second front with official reports that the nazis, suffering huge losses in the battles in southern Russia, had in the last few days hurriedly transferred several divisions from France and Belgium to the Russian front.

Japs Might Attack
One argument advanced by second fronters here is that if the Germans can set the stage with victories in southern Russia, the Japanese might attack Siberia.

While an RAF commentator noted "definitely good results" in the American-British war upon nazi submarines, Soviet strategists declared themselves not satisfied that the British air offensive against Europe was heavy enough to pull German troops from the eastern front.

But with all the talk of a second front, military sources here envisioned such an effort as a permanent, well-considered attempt requiring exhaustive preparation and not just a hit-run affair.

Meanwhile, William C. Bullitt, special assistant to U. S. navy Secretary Frank Knox, arrived in London yesterday. It was understood he would talk with admiralty shipping officials on the best means of combating submarines. The RAF commentator who reported progress in the war on submarines said British fliers are hammering at submarines in all stages of production and are keeping up "large-scale attacks on German war industry."

200 Spitfires Blast German-Held Coast

LONDON (AP)—Two hundred daring spitfire fighters flying only a few feet above the ground shot up 200 miles of the French coast in a low-level attack yesterday, blasting camps, gun posts and scattering German troops "all over the countryside."

A squadron of fighting French airmen played a leading role in the attack, the air ministry news (See AERIAL, page 5)

3 Sales Engineers Make Huge Profits On War Materials

Commission Contracts Net $646,701 During First Months of War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house naval committee was informed yesterday that three self-styled "sales engineers" stood to garner commissions on millions of dollars of government war work in a plant which the government itself built.

The disclosure, drawing expressions of amazement and concern from committee members, came from J. B. Decker, vice-president and general manager of the Triumph Explosive company at Elkton, Md., where the government spent $4,000,000 to supplement the company's facilities with factories of its own.

Decker testified that Triumph, which operated the government plant as well as its own, had a contract with the Washington Sales Engineering company of Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, entitling the latter to one per cent of the amount of navy work secured for the government-owned plant.

He said that Triumph now held war contracts for work to be performed in the government factories amounting to approximately $24,000,000 and that, "on the book value" of its contract with Shirley, Olcott and Nichols, the Washington firm would receive about $256,000 in commissions.

He reported that the Washington company received a two and one-half per cent commission on contracts awarded for performance in the plants which Triumph itself owns and estimated that business (See FEES, page 5)

Recruiting for WAAC Will Begin Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department announced yesterday that recruiting of enlisted members of the women's army auxiliary corps would begin next Monday at all army recruiting stations.

Initial enlistments, said Mrs. William P. Hobby, director of the WAAC, would be chiefly among women with special occupational experience. The first basic training course for enlisted members will begin August 17 at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, with 128 women in training. By the middle of October, the WAAC expects to have 800 women entering the training course each week at Fort Des Moines.

At present, the WAAC wants particularly to enlist clerks, cooks, bakers, bookkeepers, stenographers, switchboard operators and supervisors, chauffeurs, cafeteria dieticians and cashiers, hostesses, aides, receptionists, library aides, machine record operators and motion picture projectionists.

Farm Deadlock Ends As House Gives Way

WASHINGTON (AP)—A two-month congressional deadlock over an agriculture department program to convert government-owned surplus wheat to united nations war needs by feeding it to livestock to produce meat, eggs and milk came to an end yesterday as the house gave way to a senate proposal designed to make the program effective.

After rejecting a new compromise proposal offered by Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of its appropriations committee, the house agreed to go along with the senate and allow the sale of 125,000,000 bushels of government-owned wheat at 85 per cent of the parity price of corn, or about 83 cents a bushel, for livestock feed and industrial uses.

Expect F.D.R. To Ask More Price Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—An influential member of congress said last night that President Roosevelt soon would request more stringent price control legislation, including some form of wage stabilization.

The new proposals are to be transmitted to congress within a week or two said the congressman, who is an authority on the situation but preferred not to be quoted by name.

Members of the house reported they had been told unofficially not to count too much on plans originally laid for a recess of perhaps 30 days starting next week.

This disclosure came as the senate granted some concessions to Price Administrator Leon Henderson but put off until today a final vote on a $1,857,151,710 appropriation bill for his and 17 other war agencies.

Henderson failed to get the fund of $140,000,000 he sought for the current fiscal year but the senate $120,000,000 approved by the appropriations committee and $75,000,000 by the house.

A ban against subsidies to help maintain price ceilings was approved against his wishes. But an amendment which would have imposed new restrictions on his authority to fix price ceilings on processed farm commodities was toned down to what administration leaders called a mere restatement of existing law on parity, and another amendment, requiring senate approval of appointing to jobs paying more than $4,500 a year, was eliminated entirely.

CIO President Says Price Boss Seeking Wage Fixing Powers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray yesterday declared Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, was seeking to take over wage fixing powers from the war labor board and warned labor has "not yet given up its power to bargain for a fair living pay."

The assertion was made to newsmen during a recess of a special session of a 125-man policy committee of the union's representatives from mills of the four "little steel" companies, Bethlehem, Republic, Youngstown sheet and tube and Inland.

The meeting had been called, Murray said, so the representatives of some 157,000 steel workers could decide whether they would accept or reject the expected decision of the labor board on demands of the CIO united steel workers union for a $1 a day wage boost.

Churchill Asks F.R. To Use All Available Ship Space for Arms

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—In a letter to President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill asked today that the flow of individual gifts and supplies from the United States to Britain be diminished to save shipping space for war materials.

To this end the foreign office announced that hereafter cargo space would be allocated only to direct consignments through the American Red Cross to the British Red Cross and women's voluntary services, and through the British war relief society to the personal service league.

Several German reserve divisions have been rushed eastward from France and Belgium, the communique said, to fill the gaps in the Russian front caused by tremendous nazi casualties.

At Voronezh, where the Germans made their first great plunge southeastward nearly two weeks ago, eleventh-hour counterattacks on the south side of the city pushed the Germans back to the point where they crossed the Don, and on the north approaches the Russians stopped the upper arm of an encircling movement, then threw the attackers into retreat.

One important position west of Voronezh, together with a forest, was reported recaptured in the Russian counter-attacks. A small railway crossing also was retaken.

There was, however, no room for quick optimism as to the city's fate, for the Germans were sending fresh troops and new machines every hour into the battle area on the eastern bank of the Don.

Thousands of soldiers were fighting from behind every natural barrier and tanks were charging over the battlefield, where walls of fire were twisting into huge columns of smoke.

Southeastward, on the rim of the north caucasian area south of Boguchar, the Russians were reported holding today after a considerable withdrawal to new positions.

There was no news, however, from the region east of Lisichansk, some 135 miles southwest of Boguchar, or from the Rzhhev front northwest of Moscow—both areas of powerful German offensive action.

Guardsman Discovers Nazi Sub Agents--

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quick-witted coast guardsman, stumbling through the fog, discovered the nocturnal landing of nazi saboteurs from a submarine on the beach at Amagansett, Long Island, it was disclosed officially yesterday, and started them down the path to their life-or-death trial now under way.

As this story was unfolded, the military commission trying the eight nazis announced it had devoted the afternoon to hearing "a very long statement which had been made by one of the accused to the FBI." The prisoner who made the statement was not identified but there has been speculation that George John Dasch, one of the defendants, helped the government prepare its case.

The office of war information made public the coast guard's part in the case, explaining that the details came from the official files of the coast guard, that the information was assembled before the start of the trial, and that its disclosure "does not violate the rules of secrecy" imposed by the military commission.

Midnight Patrol
The guardsman, John C. Cullen, 1, had left his station for a midnight patrol six miles east along the lonely beach in the foggy night and had covered but 300 yards when he saw three men—one in civilian clothes on the shore and two in bathing suits, knee deep in the water.

"What's the trouble?" Cullen called.
No answer.
"Who are you?" Cullen called again.

Still no answer.
Cullen reached for a flashlight. The man on shore apparently thought Cullen reached for a gun, for he spoke:

"Wait a minute, are you coast guard?"
"Yes," said Cullen. "Who are you?" (See GUARDSMAN, page 5)

I.C. Citizen Defense Corps Will Sponsor Weekly Broadcasts

Programs to Explain Urgency of Civilian Defense Organization

The Iowa City citizens' defense corps will launch a series of 15-minute weekly broadcasts with a discussion entitled "Defending Your Home and Mine" over WSUI tomorrow from 12:30 to 12:45.

Participants in the first program of the series will be H. I. Jennings, director of the corps, and Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law, corps commander.

The discussion will stress the need and organization of civilian defense from a local standpoint. Recent criticism by United States army officials concerning the lack of interest in civilian defense shown by Iowa Citizens has incited the promotion of the series.

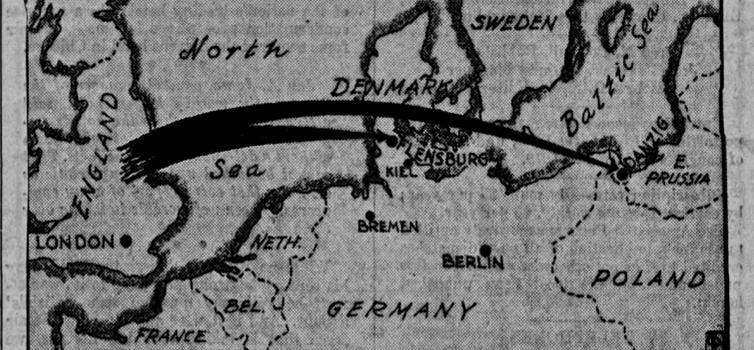

Purpose of the broadcasts is to explain civilian defense in all its phases to the citizens of Iowa City. Local corps directors feel that the lack of interest which has been manifested may be due to lack of knowledge of the aims and aspects of civilian defense.

The series will be continued from week to week until directors believe that their purpose has been accomplished. Various members of the civilian defense corps personnel will take part in the programs.

RAF SPANS GERMANY TO BLAST DANZIG BASE

Flying high all the way across a Germany bristling with air defenses, the British royal air force successfully bombed the German submarine-building yards at Danzig. The 1,750-mile round trip flight was conducted in daylight by at least 60 giant, four-motored bombers. The British also bombed Flensburg, another submarine-building base, on the German-Danish border.

Not Worth Wasting Your Breath-

Yale Adopts New Enlistment Plan For Undergraduates on Campus-

With the nation now engaged in the full swing of its drafting program, Yale university of New Haven, Conn., has taken steps to aid in the drive for manpower.

A faculty ruling of that university requires that all undergraduates register for duty with the armed forces or war industries whether physically qualified or not.

Charles R. Walker, secretary of the Yale war council, stated "the university is following the concept that students are only loaned to universities in order to prepare them better for duty with the armed forces and industry. The army, navy and marine corps have set such generous quotas for enlistments of undergraduates on a reserve basis until graduation that the majority of all Yale students will be able to prepare for active duty while remaining in college.

"At the present time 70 per cent of the student body is being enrolled in the army and navy enlisted reserves, with more than 100 others now enrolled in a marine corps officer candidates class. Others are scheduled for service in the army air forces, navy air corps, naval specialist branches, war industries and medicine."

This is the first move of its kind by any university or college in the country, but should the plan prove successful it might be adopted by similar schools. Since our entry into the war most universities and colleges have enlarged their R.O.T.C. programs.

Should the situation become too severe on the war front there is the possibility that all students throughout the country may be asked to enlist to better meet the demands of the nation's all-out effort for victory.

R.O.T.C. Training System Providing Valuable Men

The war department's report of the vital service being rendered by officers commissioned from the Reserve Officers Training Corps proves that the United States did learn some valuable lessons from the first World War. We learned that a reserve of trained officers is one of the country's best war preparedness assets.

The R.O.T.C. system began with the Civil War. During that war the land grant college plan was put into practice. One of the requirements for obtaining financial aid was compulsory military training. Officers so trained gave a good account of themselves in the World War, but their number was too limited. Also, another plan was devised prior to the last war, a plan to create an emergency officers corps.

Following the World War, congress, overcoming strong opposition of peaceful groups, extended the R.O.T.C. to many more of the nation's schools. At the present time almost every large college or university offers this training. Even many of the larger high schools permit students to take R.O.T.C. training on a small scale.

This extensive system of training officers of war, of which Iowa is a part, has prepared thousands of men vital to the war effort. And thousands more will be ready to go into the ranks in the next few years, thanks to this democratic system of training our army officers.

New York Veteran Explains It-

The annual convention of the New York state Veterans of Foreign Wars reaffirmed its opposition to "communism in this country."

Its attitude toward Russia was summed up by a New York City delegate. "While we now agree that Russians are putting up a heroic fight," said this delegate, "those millions of Soviet soldiers who have died are probably not communists."

Well, that's one big load off our minds.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

No One Can Possibly Know When The End of This War Will Come-

WASHINGTON — Congressman Andrew Jackson May set the military men a-muttering when he announced the war might be over this year, certainly next.

Mr. May is an exceptionally able legislator and chairman of the house military affairs committee, but he is also known as a teller of tall stories. He has long insisted, for instance, that down in Pike county, Kentucky, he never shoots at a squirrel directly, but at the limb on which it is perched, so he can kill it by concussion.

An off-set to Mr. May's amazing prediction has been offered by Senator Tydings, of Maryland, who thinks the war will not end until 1944.

Everyone like to hear good news, and such statements as these are given prominence in the press for that reason, although they are not worth the breath it took to utter them.

No one in authority knows when the war will end. No one can have a good guess. And such wild stabs as are being made fluctuate from day to day with news from the front.

One official, who knows as much about it as either Mr. May or Mr. Tydings, says the war will last five years, if Egypt falls.

All that can be truthfully and safely said is this: Many air-minded authorities hope for great things from the second front of air bombing which has been opened by the British. It has been announced this is to be greatly intensified with our help soon.

Those who think the war can be won this way naturally expect an early conclusion. They are in the minority. The vast majority of authorities see the end nowhere in sight.

On That Peculiarly Timed Occasion-

It will snow gold for dependents in the armed services next November 2, the day before election. On that peculiarly timed occasion, around $235,000,000 of held-up allowances will be shoveled out of the clouds here in payments to wives, children, fathers and mothers. No payments will be made until then.

The war department says it never heard of the election which is to occur November 3. It says it chose November 1, two days preceding — keep a straight face please — because bookkeeping and investigation will delay the preparation of checks until precisely that moment from June 1, the date from which the allowances are to be made.

A tremendous amount of administrative labor and bookkeeping is no doubt necessary to get such a vast system going. But the most peculiar and still unexplained phase of the matter is, why payments are not to be made as cases are completed in the coming months, but are to be held up for one great lump sum payment of five months' arrears just before the voters go to the polls to elect a new congress?

The inhuman aspect of the matter is that the dependents are assumed to be needy, else the payment would not be made. These are not gratuities, but are for subsistence. How the dependents will live until two days before election, is not quite clear.

Note—the basic allowance for a dependent wife is $50, the government contributes $28 and the soldier $22. In addition, the government furnishes $20 for one child, $10 for each additional child, $5 for parents and other relatives, etc. Maximum possible payment is $112.

Any Place You Find it, It Will Burn— Any place you touch the rubber situation, it burns, with a usual resultant aroma. Only now has the OPA increased the price offered for guayule from 17½ cents per pound to 28 cents per pound, in order to get some of that rubber base product which Mexico has been selling to others.

Our whole Latin American buying policy is still continuing along the same old faulty low-priced line. Argentine, Brazilian and Chilean manufacturers have been topping our fixed minimum and getting the rubber we need.

Incidentally, a large synthetic rubber interest will announce within a few days a new plan for super-synthetic production which is supposed to provide tires capable of traveling 60 miles an hour.

Now Able to Get Preliminary Instructions by Landing Elevators

Recently the army air corps and the newly organized WAAC have been taking over some of the nation's leading hotels. In a surprise condemnation proceedings last week, the air force acquired the Stevens hotel in Chicago.

Jay A. Jones, general manager of the Stevens, the world's largest hotel, said afterward in a speech to the hotel's employees: "The Stevens is not going down without a determination of the facts. That cannot be looked upon as unpatriotic as we know that every report of army engineers has been unfavorable to taking over the hotel."

While no patriotic American would deny his country anything necessary to its war effort, he still may question some officials' actions. And if it were anything but the air force that is taking over the Stevens, we could see why the management would have a legitimate gripe. But as it is, just think of the excellent basic training aid cadets could get zooming up and down in the elevators of the world's largest hotel!

BRIDGE HANDS LEFT OFF OF PLAY BILLS

NEW YORK — Something has gone out of the Broadway scene that meant a lot to bridge players. These were the trick hands and problems in contract bridge printed each week in the playbills of the new shows. Almost always they were impossible hands, the solution of which lay only in the promiscuous sacrifice of aces and kings. They called for a sort of scorched earth policy which enabled, eventually, some insignificant try to take the winning trick.

RECORDED: Recently this corner reported a discussion on birettas that took place in the office of one of Broadway's leading producers. A biretta is a head-dress or square official cap worn by Roman Catholic ecclesiastics.

We fell into the error of saying that canons wore birettas but that cardinals did not. This misinformation came from a house that deals exclusively in accoutrements of the church, which also added that there was but one canon at the present time in the United States.

The result of this has been communications from good people in all sections of the country, setting us right. There are four cardinals in the U.S., not one. Cardinals do indeed wear birettas.

One correspondent sent us a picture of a cardinal blessing a boat, saying, "The enclosed photo proves that he definitely does wear a biretta—it's on his head." Another pointed out the differences in birettas, which vary in color according to rank, and a third said, "A cardinal does receive the 'Red Hat' as the symbol of his rank at the time his title is officially conferred upon him by the Pope. However, he never wears this hat, but after his death it is hung in the sanctuary of his cathedral provided he is a bishop or archbishop. A cardinal always wears the biretta."

Sorry.

The meadowlark is the official bird of seven western states: Kansas, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Kursk, springboard for Germany's attack on Russia's central front, is in peacetime headquarters for a fruit region famous for its apples.

John gets called to the set, so we go next door. Carmen Miranda is lying flat on her day-bed, her feet propped high against the wall. "Bet's the way to rest," she says. "I feel the blood come down — dancing like these" — business of whirling hands — "to my head. Then get goes dancing back again."

Carmen says she is trying to buy her contract from the Shuberts because she wants to stay in California's climate and make pictures.

Next door is Charlotte Greenwood, waiting. Nothing to do all day. In a paper sack is her contribution to the rubber drive: her Peke's raincoat, an old rubber glove.

"Tomorrow I bring his rubber bone—and the mat from the rear compartment of my car," she says.

Last stop on the line is Betty Grab's "house." She's entertaining Cesar Romero and a couple of the girls are sitting around. There's chatter, laughter, small talk.

But back on the set they're really making movies. Cummings rehearses a scene with Payne, Miranda, Edward Everett Horton gets it in one take.

Interpreting War News—

Soviet Lines Bulging, Not Breaking Before Battering Nazi Army

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

Diehard red army defense of the critical Voronezh north anchor of the Don front and an indicated deflection eastward of the southern flank of the nazi clutch on the Donets lightens slightly the somber cast of Russian war news.

There is an implication, at least, that Marshal Timoshenko has managed to withdraw his battered armies on the east, southeast and south faces of the huge German attack bulge without a serious rupture of his lines. If that is true, the tremendous German thrust still is contained. Gaining nazi encirclement traps have been avoided. The Russian army of the south still is a fighting entity although still in retreat.

An unconfirmed report of a new nazi thrust eastward from Taganrog to within six miles of Rostov suggests that a broad Russian with draw below the Don-Donets basin also may be in progress. With the southern prong of the German main attack spearing down the Donets to Lisichansk and reported to have pressed don southeastward to Voroshilovgrad, a Russian retreat on the coastal flank to escape entrapment has seemed inevitable.

Whether it means Russian surrender of the whole great eastward bend of the Don or an attempted stand short of that is not yet clear. The roughest terrain of the Don steps lies north of Rostov and the lower Don. Just south of the Lisichansk-Voroshilovgrad sector also is good defensive ground. Timoshenko may hope to stand north of the Don and across the great bend of that river.

A stand behind the Don could halt the German effort to reach Stalingrad and the Volga to cut off the Caucasus completely. If the Don line could be held, there would still remain a 50-mile wide strip between the Don and Volga in Russian hands and a 250-mile span between Stalingrad and Astrakhan giving entry from the east to Russian reinforcements for the Don front and exit eastward for Caucasus oil cargoes.

It is obvious that Timoshenko must also brace himself for a German flanking attack on the Caucasus itself from the Crimea via Kerch strait. It has been clearly on Hitler's war books since he recaptured Kerch isthmus and finally broke Russian resistance at Sevastopol.

Furious and costly German assaults on the Voronezh anchor of the Russian Don line illustrate the German conception that it must be cracked to protect the massive southern campaign, as an essential pivot for renewal of the effort to capture Moscow. So far as can be discerned from either German or Russian reports it is only in the Voronezh region that the Don has been crossed.

Whirly Buries Old All-Time Earnings Mark

By SID FEDER

BOSTON (AP) Whirlaway buried Seabiscuit's all-time money winning record deep in Suffolk Downs "graveyard of champions" yesterday.

And with the $43,850 paycheck he picked up Whirly added enough to his earnings to give him a total of $454,336 for his 2-1-2 years of racing, thereby wiping out the Biscuit's $437,730 mark.

In spite of the 130 pounds on his back, in spite of the fact he was spotting the front-runners up to 6 pounds apiece, in spite of the fact he'd never tangled with Suffolk's "grave yard" before, Whirly came from 11 lengths back to hit the wire in 1:48 1-5 for the mile-and-an-eighth, lopping two-fifths of second off the track record War Relic chalked up in this same stake a year ago.

At the finish, he had a clear edge of 2 1-2 lengths on Rounders, the Irish-bred invader from Texas Emerson Woodward's barn—and the margin was getting bigger with every stride, so fast was he moving, to the accompaniment of roars of cheers from a jam-packed crowd of 33,000 customers who knocked Mr. Big Tail down to even money in the betting.

Another length farther back came Mrs. Parker Corning's speedy Attention and four lengths behind him was William Woodward's Apache.

They were supposed to be the horses Whirly had to beat, because they're able to turn loose lightning, too, and Apache was carrying only 107 pounds while Attention had 122 aboard.

Well, Whirly made them holler "uncle" completely and decisively. In fact, Trainer Ben Jones, the Missouri magician of the turf, said he thought it was the best race his four-year-old champ ever ran.

For a while there, Plain Ben probably was a little nervous about it. This was in the first three quarters of a mile, when Rounders and Apache hooked up in a duel out in front. Whirly, making his usual leisurely exit from the starting gate, trailed them by as much as 11 lengths at one point in this early stage of the race.

Then Jockey George Woolf, the colt's regular rider in the last month, clucked to him that it was time to go. And he went.

While turning in his double record-smashing performance Whirlaway returned $4.00, $3.00 and $2.20 to his hosts of supporters. Rounders paid $6.60 and $3.80 and Attention returned $3.40 for show.

By smashing Seabiscuit's mark in the Massachusetts handicap, Whirly went right along with the drama and color that has marked his entire career, from the time he could run straight as a two-year-old, through his record-cracking Kentucky Derby triumph last year and the Preakness and Belmont which followed it to make him one of five triple crown winners in turf history.

NEYLAND, WADE Combine to Coach Army Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Two college football coaches whose rivalry is almost a tradition will blend their talents in coaching the army all-star squad for its series of games with national pro league clubs in August and September.

Appointment of Lieut. Col. Robert R. Neyland, formerly of Tennessee, and Major Wallace Wade, ex-Duke mentor, as leader of the service athletes was announced yesterday by Grantland Rice, president of the war football fund.

To date an eight-game schedule has been lined up, with the squad being split into two divisions. Major Wade will tutor the western group, and Colonel Neyland the eastern players. It was pointed out, however, the two squads would work together closely, and players might be shifted back and forth as needed.

Numerous details are still to be worked out, such as the way the squads will be split and how they will train, but it is known the coaches will have a complete squad of approximately 80 players, selected from the more than 1,500 college and pro players nominated by two coaches in each of six sections who are familiar with the players' ability.

Yanks Smother Indians, 4 to 0

NEW YORK (AP)—The resurgent New York Yankees chalked up their fourth straight victory and second successive shutout yesterday as Atley Donald blanked the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 0, on four hits.

It was Donald's sixth success contrasted to two defeats and he was supreme throughout—keeping the Indians' quartet of singles well spaced, fanning five and walking only one. No runner reached second against him.

The Yanks shelled their old nemesis, Lefty Chubby Dean, for 10 hits, three of them by Buddy Hassett and another by Joe DiMaggio, extending his modest batting streak to 12 games.

The shutout was New York's ninth of the year and followed on the heels of Hank Borowy's white-washing of the Detroit Tigers Tuesday.

Red Sox's Hughson Bests Edgar Smith In 10 to 1 Triumph

Bill Dietrich Gives Split to Chicago Sox With Tough 11-5 Win

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox split a double bill yesterday, Boston lambasting Edgar Smith, 10-1, in the opener and the Pale Hose surging back with a rash of basehits to capture the nightcap, 11-6.

Smith went the distance in the first game and was doing fairly well until the Red Sox combined hitting and two Chicago errors for a total of seven runs in the eighth inning. It was Tex Hughson's 10th victory of the season against three defeats; Smith was charged with his 15th loss of the year.

The White Sox settled the issue in the first two innings of the second game, scoring twice in the initial frame and chasing six more across in the second while shelling Charlie Wagner from the mound.

Bill Dietrich had little trouble after that although he left the game in the sixth inning after injuring his thumb. Tony Lupien, Boston first baseman, suffered a gashed forehead in the eighth inning when he fell into the Red Sox dugout while chasing a twisting foul by Mike Tresh. Manager Joe Cronin finished out the string for him.

Bucky Walters Wins As Cincinnati Divides With Boston Braves

CINCINNATI (AP)—After losing their tenth straight game to Cincinnati in the opener 6-2, the Boston Braves yesterday put together a five run fifth inning in the nightcap to beat Paul Derringer, 7-2.

The big blow of the Braves' splurge in the second game was a double by catcher Clyde Klutts to score three runners. Two singles, a walk and Froilan Fernandez' double had already accounted for two runs in this frame. Derringer now has lost six games against four victories.

In the opening game, three Boston miscues contributed to the Red's first three runs—one in the second and two in the third.

Bucs' Rip Sewell Quiets Giants, 6-2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Truett (Rip) Sewell quieted the noisy bats of the New York Giants yesterday, holding them to six hits and scoreless until the ninth, as the Pittsburgh Pirates rang up a 6 to 2 victory.

Pittsburgh made nine hits off three pitchers, the big blow being Vince DiMaggio's double for three runs in the seventh.

Jim Pofahl Singles With 2 on in Eleventh To Beat Detroit, 4-3

WASHINGTON (AP)—A single by Jimmy Pofahl with two on in the 11th inning enabled the Washington Senators to defeat Detroit, 4-3 last night.

Early Wynn went the route for Washington while Del Baker called upon Tommy Bridges and Hal White. It was White's loss.

Washington took a one run lead in the fifth when Wynn walked after one out and went to third when George Case lined a single to center. Jimmy Bloodworth went to short center for Spence's fly and Wynn beat Bloodworth's throw to the plate.

Detroit sent the game into extra innings with a score in the ninth. Barney McCoskey walked, stole second and scored on Rudy York's single.

Sox Pitching Staff Loses Orval Grove

CHICAGO (AP)—The battered Chicago White Sox pitching staff received another blow yesterday with the loss of pitcher Orval Grove who will submit to a knee operation today or tomorrow and may be out of competition for two months.

The Sox still are without the services of the veteran Thorn Lee who has been bothered with a sore arm since the start of the season. Another regular, John Rigney, now is in the navy.

Laabs' Hitting Enables Browns to Win, 7 to 4

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chet Laabs' second inning home run with the bases loaded sent the St. Louis Browns off to a flying start last night and they went on to trounce the Philadelphia Athletics 7-4.

Network to Air SUI Orchestra

The University Symphony orchestra under the direction of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, will be heard over the National Broadcasting company at 8:30 Saturday night.

This is the second time that the orchestra has been presented over a national network. Its first appearance was with the Mutual Broadcasting company last Saturday.

Compositions by Gustav Mahler will be played on Saturday's program, including the "Adagio" from his symphony. Concluding the program will be Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" with Prof. Herald Stark of the music department as tenor soloist.

Johnson County Short In Bond, Stamp Drive

Johnson county is $74,462 short of its United States war bond and stamp quota for the first six months of 1942, Frank D. Williams, general chairman of county sale, announced yesterday.

Total sales in the county for the first half-year amount of $1,033,437.80—and the designated quota was $1,107,900. The reported total was made up entirely of cash purchases and did not include any of the thousands of dollars in pledges that have been made.

service said last night, sweeping over the cliffs at LeCamp to attack light anti-aircraft field artillery batteries, wireless stations, freight cars and troops.

Four offensive operations were reported, centering on the Etaples area, across the channel from England, and over LeCamp, St. Valerien-Caux, and Dieppe.

In another operation, a 500-ton coaster towing a target for German anti-aircraft batteries was sunk by spitfires off the Dutch coast, the ministry added.

GUARDSMAN—

"Then take $300," said the man. "OK," replied Cullen, thinking fast.

"Now look me in the eyes," the man ordered.

Cullen later reported a fear that he was going to be hypnotized, but the man merely asked whether Cullen would recognize him if he saw him again.

"No," said Cullen.

Cullen moved away in the fog, then raced to the coast guard station and reported to his superior, and the search was on, not to be ended until the FBI had rounded up the four who landed near Amagansett and four others who landed from a U-boat on the Florida coast.

One of the guardsmen reported that through a rift in the fog he saw a long, thin object, about 70 feet long, about 150 feet off shore—probably the submarine. Cullen also heard the sound of powerful diesel engines.

When Cullen turned in the bribe money, he found that the saboteur had short-changed him $40 on the promised $300.

Citizens' Defense Corps Asks for 700 Volunteers

Statement That Army May Take Over Here Prompts New Action

Corps Officials Blame Lack of Organization On Public Disinterest

The Iowa City citizens' defense corps issued a call for 700 volunteers yesterday after the United States army declared it would take over local operation if progress is not made on the organization immediately.

It was revealed that three army officials, who were in Iowa City last week, expressed extreme disapproval of the local program. Under the supervision of H. I. Jennings and Prof. Rollin Perkins of the university law college, director and commander of the corps, respectively, preliminary organization has gained momentum rapidly during the past two weeks.

But local supervisors have been hindered by the apparent disinterest in the project on the part of local citizens and failure to establish a control center for emergency use.

The United States army has designated 10 cities in Iowa as possible targets for enemy bombers. Iowa City is among the 10. The army is convinced that this city cannot afford to be without an active civilian defense machine.

Plans are now being made to set up a control center in the basement of the post office building. This is not yet definite, however. When this control center is established, hundreds of Iowa City people will have to be taking active part in the corps before the task is accomplished.

Atty. William R. Hart, executive officer of the local civilian defense organization, said yesterday, "Iowa citizens must anticipate the worse and prepare for it. If we never have a bombing—fine—but if we do have a bombing, we should be ready for it and know what to do."

"We have squads acquainted with and prepared to handle the tearing up of streets and the blowing up of the gas and water mains. We have our groups already prepared to handle the sick and the injured.

"We have our ambulance drivers already trained to handle the disabled persons. We have a competent but too small group of nurses' aides to help care for the injured.

"We do not have any messengers who are trained. We do not have the rescue squads completed. Our auxiliary police and firemen are still ignorant of their duties in the main. Our air raid wardens and fire watchers are still unacquainted with their duties.

"Our decontamination squads have not yet completed their work of preparation. We have an excellent canteen service organized under the Red Cross, but it is not prepared to handle emergency housing.

"We do not have a control center. We do not have an alarm system. The public is not advised of the signals to be used in the event of a raid. Nobody in this city has any training for blackouts."

The operational committee of the Iowa City citizens' defense corps is composed of Professor Perkins, commander; Jennings, director; Attorney Hart, executive officer; Fred W. Ambrose, air raid warden; Lieut. Robert Blythe, liaison officer; Police Chief Frank J. Burns, auxiliary police; Fire Chief James J. Clark, auxiliary firemen.

Ray Justen and Walter J. Buchels, emergency public works; W. T. Hogeboom, publicity; Dean E. M. MacEwen of the university college of medicine, emergency medical division; Willis W. Mercer, industrial plants and public buildings; Rescoe E. Taylor, emergency utility; Allan C. Tester, chief controller.

Albert Muenzer, Violin Soloist, Scores Triumph With Orchestra

By BILL HILL

Prof. Charles B. Richter led the all-state high school orchestra in a concert in Iowa Union last night featuring as soloist the remarkably talented young violinist, Albert Muenzer.

Seldom has anyone hereabouts received such an ovation as young Muenzer. He was recalled again and again by the large audience, an audience, by the way, so enthusiastic it broke the time honored rule of no applause between movements.

Muenzer was heard in the "Symphonie Espagnole" for violin and orchestra by Lalo. His playing was nothing short of masterful and his tone was wonderfully rich and singing. He imbued the music with warmth and life, and with Professor Richter's sympathetic accompaniment, the total effect was irresistible.

Professor Richter, so successful as a band conductor, turned his talents to the symphony orchestra and achieved remarkable results. While his association with the orchestra has been of such short duration as to make it almost impossible to achieve a close personal

Standard Oil Head Predicts U.S. Synthetic Rubber Production May Reach Million Tons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional committees received hopeful reports on the synthetic rubber situation yesterday, one of them a statement that new processes might lead eventually to an annual production of 1,000,000 tons instead of the 800,000 contemplated in the government's program.

This word came from W. S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil company (New Jersey). Newly developed methods, he said, would make it possible to turn out the additional 200,000 tons, and extra quantity which might go toward filling essential civilian transportation needs.

"This is good news," he told a house mines subcommittee, "but it does not warrant undue optimism on the part of American motorists. We are not yet out of the woods in this business of synthetic rubber, and nothing should be done to waste supplies that may turn out to be critical."

Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones relayed to the senate banking committee a statement from the rubber industry that "with a minimum amount of natural rubber and a modest amount of scrap, existing tires can, with careful driving and constant attentions, be kept going for two years or longer."

Prof. Arnold Small Discusses Technique In Present Day Music

"Expressive Techniques in Contemporary Music" was discussed by Prof. Arnold Small of the music department in the fifth of the series of lectures on the fine arts program yesterday in the auditorium of the art building.

"The general scheme of contemporary works of the Schoenbergian type is such that most contemporary ears are not able to follow sufficiently well the compositional scheme from the music itself. At such a time as one may follow the score and hear the work as well, it may become possible for us to comprehend the logic back of the music even if it has no expressive significance for us. Whether it ever will is a matter of some concern and much argument," Professor Small said.

In explaining the development of techniques the speaker used illustrative compositions which were played for the audience.

Bach's "Adagio from Sonata in A Minor" was played on the violin by Julia Mueller. Professor Small and Gibson Walters, violinists, accompanied by Prof. Phillip Greeley Clapp at the piano, played the "Slow Movement from Concert for Two Violins." Professor Clapp also played "Opus 11" and "Opus 19" by Schoenberg.

The university string quartet played Debussy's "Slow Movement in G Minor—String Quartet" and Shostakovich's "Scherzo from Quintet for Strings." Members of the string quartet are Professor Small and Walters, violins; Otto Jelink, viola; and Prof. Hans Koelbel, cello.

A woodwind quartet, composed of Ruth Williams, oboe; Anna Pickering, bassoon; John Webster, clarinet; and George Morey, flute, played "Theme and Variations" by Tschernbergski.

McKee Warns CAP Faith Is Necessary For Winning the War

"If we are to win this war we must instill within ourselves the belief that the group or unit to which we belong is the best in the world," Capt. W. A. McKee of the university military department declared before members of the civil air patrol at a meeting last night in the Dental building.

Captain McKee instructed the group in a two hour course in military courtesy and discipline.

"There is no definite definition of discipline," Captain McKee stated. "One either has discipline or does not have it." Proper discipline arises from the development of the spirit of comradeship, loyalty and cooperation, the strong efforts of the leader in front of a group and his ability to see that orders are carried out.

Captain McKee mentioned three methods of promoting military discipline. They were close order drill, physical exercise and group games.

"The salute is the outward symbol of military courtesy," Captain McKee stated. He described the salute and how it should be rendered according to military courtesy, emphasizing the importance of doing it correctly, easily and graciously.

"Men are required to extend courtesy to the position, not the individual," he said. "The senior officer is a senior in job, not in age."

John Piper, commander of the civil air patrol, announced that the group will drill Monday night at the armory.

21 Seamen Killed as U-Boats Sink Four More Allied Ships

549 Passengers, Crew Rescued as Sinkings in Atlantic Hit 374

By The Associated Press

Twenty-one seamen were killed and four navy gunners reported missing in enemy submarine attacks on four more allied merchant ships in the Atlantic but 549 passengers and crew were rescued, the navy's announcements of the sinkings disclosed yesterday.

The ships included two United States merchant vessels, a large British merchant vessel, and a medium-sized Norwegian cargo carrier, boosting the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of allied and neutral ship losses in the Atlantic area to 374.

Carrying 381 passengers and crew, one of the American merchantmen was torpedoed and sunk June 30, several hundred miles off the Atlantic coast. Only nine men were lost despite a four-minute sinking.

The second United States vessel was the victim of a bold daylight U-boat attack in the Caribbean July 1. The vessel's skipper, Captain William R. McDonough, of Mobile, Ala., expressed belief that "the crew of the submarine knew we carried a valuable cargo, and our destination and route were known to them."

Navy gunners aboard the ship managed to fire four shells at the raider's periscope, but without apparent results. Three crewmen were lost and four of the 14-man gun crew were reported missing. Forty-nine others in lifeboats were picked up in six hours.

The British merchantman was torpedoed 1,500 miles off the Atlantic coast. Survivors were landed at an eastern port.

The survivors included 77 crewmen and 20 passengers. Three seamen were killed when the torpedo struck, three others were lost in abandoning ship and two died in lifeboats from injuries. One lifeboat carried 47 persons and the other 2. Both groups were picked up after drifting four days. Survivors of the Norwegian vessel presented evidence that axis U-boat commanders have advance information on merchant ship movements. They related that following the sinking the submarine officer halted their lifeboats, asked the ship's name, nationality and tonnage, then correctly recited the name of the port from which they had sailed and their destination.

One seaman was killed in the attack, staged May 17, but 31 others were rescued.

Meanwhile, the torpedoing of the 7,000-ton British freighter Cortona of Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, last Monday was disclosed in a dispatch from Rio De Janeiro, quoting advices from the Brazilian port of Fortaleza. Additional details were not available.
